BILL FOR INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM TO COME UP WEDNESDAY

Made Special Order in the House on Motion of Bjorge.

Bill Is Introduced for Registration and Licensing of Cooks.

Bill Increasing Automobile Registry Tax Advanced in the House.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The initiative and referendum, put up to the people last election and rejected by them, will be again before the house Wednesday morning at 1, which time was fixed this morning for a special order on the bill on motion of Representative Bjorge of Lake Park, co-author of the measure with Representative Bendixen of Morgan. A somewhat similar bill is before the senate, but no disposition has yet been made of it.

Cooks, too, want state licenses, Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis by request this morning put in a bill providing for the registration and licensing of cooks, and prohibiting any cooks not licensed from cooking. There is no provision for the examination of cooks as to their competency in the preparation of foods, but the bill provides for cancellation of licenses for drunkenness, incompetency, etc.

The house, 83 to 11, passed the Devold joint resolution asking congress to make naturalization easier, though Representative Christianson said he thought the house had enough to do handling the legislation before it without going into congressional fields.

Automobile Registry Tax.

The Palmer senate bill, increasing the state automobile registry tax from $1.50 to $5 for three years, was advanced to the calendar by the house in committee of the whole this morning, with the privilege of amendment. The bill also carries a penalty for putting tacks, broken glass or other tire-destroying substances on the streets or roads. It is estimated that the bill will bring in $500,000 in the next three years, and all the receipts above expenses are to go into the road fund.

BAD EXPLOSION ON MEXICAN GUNBOAT

Thirty Persons, Including Five Women, Killed on Progreso.

Galveston, Tex., March 1.—Dispatches reached the Mexican consulate here today telling of an explosion on board the Mexican gunboat Progreso, which resulted in the death of thirty persons, including five women. The explosion, according to the first report, occurred yesterday morning while the gunboat was at Progreso. It is said that what purported to be a barrel of rice sent on board was in reality, a bomb, prepared by persons opposed to the Carranza regime.

The Mexican consul here has cabled for further information as he is inclined to doubt the report reaching him today.

BELIEVES SHE WAS TRAPPED

Wife of Stegler of Passport Case Arrested in Hotel.

Charged With Assaulting Man Who Enticed Her There.

New York, March 1.—A young woman who, according to the police, gave her name as Mrs. Annette Stegler and is described by them as the wife of Richard P. Stegler, a prisoner in the Tombs in connection with alleged passport frauds, was arrested early today on a charge of felonious assault made by Arthur Mateiket.

The arrest was made in the Hotel Grenoble. Mateiket, who is said by the police to be a reporter on a German newspaper, charged that the woman attacked him with a seltzer bottle and also beat him with a cane.

At the Grenoble hotel it was learned that the woman, who describes herself as Mrs. Stegler, and Mateiket came to the hotel about 9 o'clock Sunday night. They arrived in an automobile and were accompanied by another young man and woman. Both men carried suitcases, which, according to the hotel people, they guarded carefully, even refusing to allow bellboys to carry them to adjoining rooms, which were assigned to the two couples after they had registered at the hotel desk.

Call for Police.

About 1 o'clock this morning a call for the police came from the room to which Mateiket had been assigned and when Detective Burgess arrived he was asked by the man to arrest his companion. He charged that the woman had thrown a seltzer bottle at him, but that he had dodged it and that the

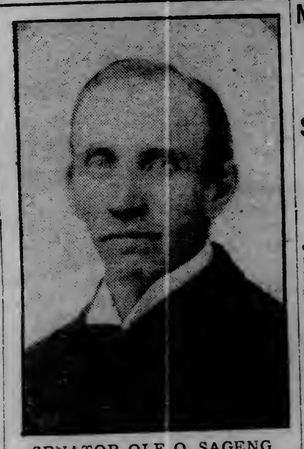
AUTHOR OF SENATE BILL FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE



SENATOR OLE O. SAGENG Of Dalton.

OUTLOOK IS DOUBTFUL

Senate Very Evenly Divided on Woman Suffrage Bill.

Second Hearing on County Division Bill Wednesday Afternoon.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—This week, the ninth week of the session, will see action, so far as the senate is concerned, on another more or less vexed issue—woman suffrage.

The Sageng woman suffrage constitutional amendment is a special order in the senate for Thursday, when it will be voted upon and either passed or rejected. If it is rejected, that is the end of it for this session, even though the house membership may be put on record on it by action on the Larson bill pending in that body. If it is passed, it will go on to the house to be substituted there for the Larson bill.

Whether the Sageng bill can be passed in the senate is still a debatable question, and very close. If it passes it will be by a very narrow margin, and it may not pass at all. It is no such hotly agitated question as county option, for instance. There are no members who feel that their political future depends upon how they vote upon it, and therefore there is more independence regarding it.

One thing that makes interest in woman suffrage a little languid at this time is the fact that it seems very doubtful if a real service to the cause of votes for women will be done by submitting the question to the voters at the 1916 election. It is by no means established that the state is

DACIA HELD IN NAVAL HARBOR

Fate of American Steamer Rests in Hands of French Government.

Brest, March 1, via Paris.—The American steamer Dacia, formerly a Hamburg-American liner, which was captured last week by a French cruiser and brought into this port, has been towed from the roadsted into the Brest naval harbor.

Now Up to France.

Washington, March 1.—Seizure of the American steamer Dacia, formerly a Hamburg-American liner, by a French cruiser, which took the vessel to Brest, places the entire question of the validity of a transfer of flag after the outbreak of hostilities before the prize courts of France for an adjudication.

Whereas the practice of England, it has been contended by officials of the American government, conforms pretty much to the doctrines of the United States, many transfers having been recognized in the past, the claim has been sent in various quarters during the present war, that France has a traditional and unalterable objection to any transfer of register whatever, during war.

Officials of the state department and senators who have argued the point in congress have pointed out, however, that, while this doctrine has been proclaimed by France since the time of Louis XVI, the practice of the French admiralty has been different and that in many cases France has actually acquiesced in the right of a vessel to change its registry after the outbreak of hostilities.

No move will be made by the United States until the French prize courts render a decision. If they fail to recognize the validity of the transfer, a protest will be entered.

The steamship Brindilla, which transferred from German to American registry recently, was taken to a French port and released. In this case the ownership of the vessel was continuously American, and Great Britain already had announced that such transfers would not be questioned.

WILL STOP ALL SHIPPING TO GERMANY

France and Great Britain Give Notice to United States.

Note Outlining Measures of Reprisal Received By State Department.

Secretary Bryan Declines to Make Statement on Matter.

Washington, March 1.—France and Great Britain served notice on the United States today that they would hold themselves at liberty to stop all shipping hereafter to and from Germany.

A communication outlining measures of reprisal on the part of the allies for the submarine warfare on merchant ships conducted by Germany was delivered to Secretary Bryan by the French and British ambassadors here, who called personally at the state department together for that purpose.

Secretary Bryan promptly apprised President Wilson of the new move, but declined to make any statement. What the nature of the step is was not disclosed by the ambassadors who intimated that the state department would make all announcements on the subject.

Since the first report from London that the allies had decided to hold up all shipping to and from Germany, a notification along this line has been expected here, but officials have refrained from expressing any opinion as to the course of the American government in recognizing the validity of the proposed measures until the text of the declaration to be made had been carefully examined.

COUNTY OPTION BILL IS SIGNED

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor W. S. Hammond this afternoon signed the county option bill recently passed by the Minnesota legislature, which reached him just before noon. The measure, originally introduced in the senate by Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead, provides for the disposition of the prohibition issue by counties. Supporters of the bill have predicted that approximately fifty counties will vote dry under its provisions as a law.

PRISONERS FROM THE BEST GERMAN CORPS.

Petrograd, March 1.—Semi-official announcement is made in Petrograd today as follows: "Russian troops should be credited with the initiative of the offensive movement north of Grodno.

"Prisoners and artillery captured by the Russians north of Grodno are from the best corps of the German armies now on the eastern battle front.

"Russian progress in the region of Przasnysz has been notable. We have captured one village after another, taking several hundred prisoners in each place. In other sections the Germans are delivering counter-attacks, bringing fresh troops into action, and certain villages pass from the possession of one side or the other. Nevertheless our front advances measurably each day."

STEAMSHIP ADRIFT IN ATLANTIC OCEAN

Unidentified Steamer With Propeller Blades Broken Reported in New York.

New York, March 1.—An unidentified steamship with all propeller blades shorn off, was adrift last week near the middle of the Atlantic, according to the log of the American line steamer New York, which reached here today from Liverpool.

The New York was spoken by wireless on last Thursday by the British steamer Milwaukee, bound from Canadian ports, for Liverpool. The Milwaukee advised the New York of the drifting steamer's plight and fixed her location as latitude 41, longitude 46.20. The name of the steamship was given as "Tritonian" in the wireless message, but maritime records here failed to disclose any such name.

According to the wireless message, the "Tritonian" requested a tow and added that except for the loss of her propeller blades all was well aboard.

SAYS THERE IS NO TRUTH IN REPORT

Germany Has No Intention of Recalling Ambassador, Declares Dernberg.

New York, March 1.—Dr. Bernard Dernberg, former German colonial minister, characterized as untrue today a report that Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, would be recalled and Baron Treutler, said to be with Emperor William now at the battle front, would be sent to Washington in Count von Bernstorff's place.

"The report is part of a deliberate attempt of English agents to discredit prominent Germans in America," Dr. Dernberg said. "As far as I am concerned the whole story is untrue."

The report stated that Dr. Dernberg was believed to be the German emperor's personal representative in America and it was thought he had reported to Berlin concerning the state of feeling here and the course pursued by Count von Bernstorff in the discharge of his official duties.

TURKS PLAN TO MOVE CAPITAL

Broussa in Asiatic Turkey Selected as New Seat of Government.

Flags of Great Britain and France Fly Over Turk Forts.

Public Warned Not to Expect Immediate Fall of Constantinople.

London, March 1.—The flags of Great Britain and France are now flying at the entrance to the Dardanelles over the Turkish forts reduced by the sea power of the allies.

While it would appear to be a fact that the allied fleet has reached Chanak, fifteen miles from the Mediterranean entrance to the straits, the British press warns the public not to expect the immediate fall of Constantinople. Nevertheless the operations of British and French warships against the sea defenses of Constantinople are creating a tremendous stir in the Near East. Broussa in Asiatic Turkey has been selected by the Turks as their new capital in case it becomes necessary to evacuate Constantinople. The Germans in Turkey, it is declared, wanted the Turks to move to Adrianople, in European Turkey, but the Turks would have none of this and started shipping their archives to Broussa.

Interest in the fighting along the eastern battle front has been deflected for a moment from the Carpathians to

SPENT NO MONEY TO DEFEAT BILL

Official of Mercantile Marine Appears Before Senate Committee.

Washington, March 1.—P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the International Mercantile Marine, today told the senate ship-bill investigation committee that the company "had not spent a cent in propaganda against the bill, but that he had received letters from Senators Bankhead, Burton and Lodge asking for information on the subject which he gave.

"Senator Bankhead wrote to me," said Mr. Franklin, "stating that he would like to confer with me about the bill. I came to Washington last December and talked to him. I told him that in my opinion there was nothing the United States could do to intelligently deal with the shipping emergency that existed.

"Senators Burton and Lodge merely asked me about certain rates and foreign ships held in American ports, which I supplied."

BATTLE OF IMPORTANCE DEVELOPING

Report From Berlin Says Allies Have Launched Assault.

At Least Two Army Corps of the French Are Engaged.

Slight Progress of Allies in Vosges Reported From Paris.

A new attempt to force back the German line in France apparently is under way, in the Champagne region. The communication from the German war office today indicates that an assault in force has now been launched and a battle of importance is developing. It is said at least two army corps of French were engaged and that they were repulsed after fierce fighting at close quarters.

In the Argonne, Berlin reports, the French made five efforts to break through the German positions, being thrust back in each instance. The French statement asserts that the allies made slight progress in the Vosges.

In the house of commons, Premier Asquith announced that at no time previously had the British government been more confident that the allies would achieve victory.

The Roumanian minister of the interior is credited with the statement that a representative of his country has made a formal agreement with Great Britain, France and Russia for entering the war with them. Bucharest advices say that ten classes of Roumanian reserves have been called out for March 13. It has been expected that should Roumania enter the war she would do so in the hope of obtaining Transylvania, which is populated largely by Roumanians from Austria.

A semi-official statement from Petrograd deals with the Russian offensive movement in Northern Poland, near the Prussian border, where, it is said, the Germans are being pushed back steadily. In Eastern Galicia, at the other extreme of the Russian front, the Austrians are reported to have suffered reverses. These claims, however, have not been borne out from either Berlin or Vienna.

The great Anglo-French fleet is still smashing at the Dardanelles fortifications. A large force of Turkish troops is said to have been assembled on the isthmus to oppose any attempts of

WILL FIGHT WITH ALLIES

Roumanian Minister Says His Country Has Made Agreement.

Says Proof Is Found in Loan Recently Made in London.

Paris, March 1.—Take Jonescu, Roumanian minister of the interior, informed a meeting of Conservative Democrats who were discontented with the party's policy, according to special dispatches from Bucharest, that he had not attacked the government because J. J. C. Bratiano, former premier and minister of the interior, had concluded a formal agreement for common action with the Tripie entente powers (Great Britain, France and Russia). Proof of this would be found, Jonescu said, in the Roumanian loan made in London, which it would have been impossible to arrange if the Bucharest cabinet had not made a categorical statement of its position.

A Bucharest newspaper has announced that ten classes of reserves have been called out for March 13, and that senior students in the military colleges have been drafted into the regular army with the rank of non-commissioned officers.

The confident belief has been expressed in England, France and Russia that Roumania eventually would enter the war on the side of the allies. A dispatch from Paris on Feb. 24 said the Matin's Bucharest correspondent had obtained information that Nicholas Misu, Roumanian minister to London, soon would return to England with a note assuring the British government that the Roumanian army would take the field in April.

An agreement was signed in London on Jan. 27 providing for a loan of $25,000,000 from the Bank of England to the Bank of Roumania against Roumanian treasury bills. The loan was a result of the visit to London of the Roumanian finance commission.

Take Jonescu was reported in December to have declared that any nation keeping out of the present struggle commits moral, political and economic suicide. He was credited with having declared that Roumania "must not commit such a crime."

Just what caused him to fall will probably never be known, as there were no witnesses, fellow employes being attracted to the place on hearing him call out as he struck the ground.

In addition to having his skull fractured, Carkner sustained a broken leg and arm as well as several severe bruises about the head. He was rushed to the hospital, but failed to regain consciousness.

Carkner has been in West Duluth for the last eleven years. He has made his home with his brother, Robert Carkner, 120 North Sixty-fifth avenue west. He is also survived by his father, residing in Canada, who is expected to arrive tomorrow noon to attend the funeral.

Feds to Build Permanently at Former and Will Fight for Jumpers.

St. Louis, Mo., March 1.—President Gilmore of the Federal league today said the league would build a permanent ball park at Newark, N. J., and had no intention of transferring the Newark club to New York. Another club would be transferred to New York next year.

President Gilmore said the Federal league still claimed James Austin, the third baseman who jumped from the Pittsburg Federals back to the St. Louis Americans and that if Judge Landis in his approaching decision upheld the contention of the Federal league, the league would fight for Austin, Walter Johnson and other players who signed with the outlaw organization and then went back to organized baseball.

Wausau May Be Sixth in Wisconsin-Michigan Ball Organization.

Appleton, Wis., March 1.—Five teams have been lined up for the Wisconsin-Michigan baseball league, according to President Frank Weeks, while Wausau is being negotiated with for six places. Mr. Weeks was hopeful of getting Appleton in the circuit in place of Racine, so as to make the league more compact and save traveling expenses, but has abandoned the Appleton plan. The teams so far in the league are: Green Bay, Marinette-Menominee, Escanaba, Oshkosh and Racine.

EMPRESS DARK; SHOWS "FALL DOWN"

Manager Abrahamson Cancels Engagement; Will Restore Musical Comedy.

Manager W. M. Abrahamson this morning canceled the engagement of the Manhattan Opera company at the new Empress theater. There will be no more appearances of this company in Duluth. Manager Abrahamson is now trying to make connections with Chicago theatrical men and he expects to start next Sunday afternoon with tabloid musical comedies.

"Before the Manhattan company came to Duluth," said Manager Abrahamson this morning, "I understood that the players would be of the best and the productions all first class. The company has fallen down and, to protect my patrons, I am canceling their engagement in Duluth. If the production had been good I would have continued the company indefinitely.

"However, I am now arranging for tabloid musical shows, which will begin next Sunday afternoon if present negotiations go through."

COSTS MORE THAN TAXES

County Loses Money in Collecting From Many Taxpayers.

St. Louis county loses money on the collection of personal property taxes from several hundred taxpayers.

Joseph Nelson, deputy county treasurer, figures that it costs about 12 cents, for the county to make each one of its 16,000 personal property tax collections, figuring postage, stationery and office hire.

A large number of taxpayers who have valuations of $1, $2 and $3 to pay taxes on, after the deduction of the $100 exemption to the head of each family, pay taxes ranging from 1 cent to 12 cents and it is figured that on these collections the county would be money ahead if the collection was not made.

Mr. Nelson declared that a statement was recently sent to a range town man whose personal property taxes were listed at 1 cent and that the taxpayer came to Duluth to register a kick. He thought that a mistake had been made and that they should have been $1 and he wanted to know where he stood.

HAVING THEIR DAY IN COURT

Seventh Street Owners Protest Against Paving Assessment.

Seventh street property owners are having their day in court today before District Court Judge Cant, where their appeals from the city's assessment of benefits for improvement are being given an audience.

Twenty-nine property owners have filed separate appeals from assessments levied against their lots for the grading of Seventh street from Chester Park to the Boulevard with combined cement curb and gutters on both sides. The work was completed last year at a cost of $54,469.31.

The appellants claim that the amount assessed is greatly in excess of the benefits derived and assert that the assessment is illegal. The court is asked to cancel it.

The property owners who took the stand this morning were Alex Lindrose, John Rodahl, Frank Hawkinson, Bert Olson, John B. Braden and Anthony Grabarkiewicz. John Jenswold, Jr., appears as attorney for the property owners and the municipality is represented by Harvey Clapp, city attorney.

COUNCIL MEETS TWICE THIS WEEK

Besides Regular Session, Special Will Be Held Thursday.

Two meetings will be held this week by the city commission, one this afternoon, for the transaction of regular business, and a special on Thursday morning to pass on payrolls and the monthly bills of the various departments.

One of the principal matters of business to come up this afternoon, besides the calling of the election and the adoption of an official ballot, will be the amendment to the employment agency ordinance, put over by Mayor Prince from last week. The amendment permits employment agents to keep offices along Michigan street, from Fifth to Sixth avenues west, this block having been placed in prohibitive list by the original ordinance passed last April. The amended ordinance will receive its third reading and will in all probability be passed by the commissioners.

The resolution introduced by Commissioner Merritt and which was laid over a week, granting the contract for fifty tons of pig lead to the Crane-Ordway company on its bid of $4,087.50, will be acted on today.

The contract for the printing of the water and light department's annual report will be granted to Merritt & Hector, which company made a bid of $143, the lowest submitted.

On Thursday morning the council will meet again to pass the monthly payrolls and bills of all the departments.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR DRUG FIENDS

New Federal Regulation for Distribution of Drugs in Force.

The new Federal law regulating the sale and giving away of narcotic drugs went into effect today. Henceforth the "dope fiend" will be deprived of his "inspiration," and the handling of such drugs will be under drastic regulation.

A telephone message received from the collector of internal revenue at noon today states that those Duluth applicants for registration, who filed applications previous to last Saturday, will receive their registry numbers tomorrow. Prescriptions showing the doctor's number may then be filled. Order blanks will not be sold in Duluth, but must be ordered from the collector at St. Paul.

It is requested that requisition be made for only ten blanks at this time. The blanks cost one cent each, and private checks are not accepted.

Although due notice was given by the internal revenue department here that the new regulations would go into effect today, some dealers were caught napping, and may find it difficult to get stock for a time. The order blanks have not yet arrived at St. Paul and no purchases can be made without them.

BIDS OPENED ON CONCRETE MIXER

FEW DELINQUENT IN FILING RETURNS

Income Taxpayers Are Prompt in Complying With the Law.

Today is the last day for filing income tax returns, and a large number filed their statement at the internal revenue office at the Federal building today. Those who are delinquent will have to pay a heavy penalty.

It is not expected, however, that there will be many delinquents, as the filings have been made steadily for some time. The statements after being received here are forwarded to the St. Paul office.

Duluth is a city of millionaires and has many large corporations; for that reason the income tax from this city will be large. All statements filed at the internal revenue office are kept secret.

Those who are unable to file returns during the stipulated period because of absence or sickness may secure a thirty-day period of grace upon making proper application through the internal revenue office.

Chicago, March 1.—A. W. Trenholm, general manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, continued his testimony today before the board of arbitration of the demands of engineers and firemen on western railroads.

WOULD SECURE WILL FOR STATE OF VIRGINIA

Washington, March 1.—Attorney General Pollard of Virginia today asked the supreme court of the United States for leave to file a suit in behalf of the state against J. P. Morgan to recover Martha Washington's will.

The will, it is alleged, was taken from the Fairfax county, Virginia, courthouse, during the Civil war, and eventually found its way to the late J. Pierpont Morgan's collection of historical documents. The state of Virginia contends that J. P. Morgan, who inherited the will from his father has no title to it, and that he has refused to return it.

CO-OPERATE IN EVANGELISM

Superior Will Support Duluth's Efforts to Engage Billy Sunday.

Joint Committee Will Visit Evangelist at Winona Lake.

Superior churches will co-operate with members of the Duluth Interchurch council in their efforts to secure Rev. "Billy" Sunday for a campaign in Duluth. The Superior Men's Interchurch council, after an enthusiastic meeting yesterday, passed resolutions pledging their support.

Four members of Duluth's interchurch council addressed seventy-five Superior men, telling of the recent trip to Philadelphia to present to the noted evangelist a petition asking that he consider Duluth's request for his services. They were: W. J. McCabe, vice president of the Duluth Interchurch council; B. C. Wade, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; J. H. Cook and Thomas C. Thorburn.

As soon as Mr. Sunday finishes the campaign he now is conducting in Philadelphia, he will go to his home at Winona Lake, Ind., for a week's rest, and a delegation of Duluth and Superior churchmen and laity will make a trip to Winona Lake to again urge their request upon him.

Although Mr. Sunday has signed contracts for campaigns which will take most of his time for the next three years, Duluthians believe that it may be possible to secure him for a two weeks' campaign early in the fall of 1915 or 1916.

He gave no answer to the committee at the time of the conference in Philadelphia, and his reply probably will be secured during the Winona Lake visit or some time soon, according to Mr. Wade.

At the Superior meeting there was no discussion of a tabernacle to be used by the evangelist in case he comes to Duluth, the entire time being devoted to a discussion of ways and means by which his visit could be assured.

Has Own Organization.

In case the ex-ball player evangelist comes to the Head of the Lakes the plan of his campaign will be mapped out by one of his own organizers, who will visit Duluth and cover the ground thoroughly some time before the campaign starts.

Phenomenal successes recently in Philadelphia, where Mr. Sunday is said to have "turned the town upside down" with his remarkable conversions, have been due to his organization, as much as to his wonderful personality, say churchmen.

As a part of his organization, Mr. Sunday has an official "tabernacle builder," who erects all the tabernacles in which he holds services. These are "built to order" as near the center of the city as possible, it is said.

This program will be followed in Duluth, say members of the local interchurch council, and so no steps will be taken to provide an assembly halt for his use until after a conference with his co-workers.

G. H. St. John of Superior is chairman of the evangelism committee of the Wisconsin city's inter-church council, which has started a campaign of co-operation with Duluthians.

Promoting interest in "Go-to-church" Sunday, March 14, also was discussed at yesterday's meeting and various plans were formulated. Duluth churches have appointed a committee, headed by W. B. Patton, which already has started the work of getting every citizen to church on March 14.

CUPID DOING FAIR BUSINESS

Marriage Record for February Shows Increase Over January.

Duluth marriages for February 1915 fell short of those for the corresponding month for 1914 by four, according to marriage license records kept by J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court.

During the last month, sixty-eight couples took out wedding permits as against seventy-two in February 1914. In February 1913, the record was sixty-four.

Despite the decrease shown with reference to the corresponding month of the previous year, February records show a gain over January, when sixty-three licenses were issued.

Since the first of the year, 131 weddings have been authorized as compared with 161 for the first two months of 1914.

CHIEF FINDLAY HERE WEDNESDAY

Head of Scottish Clans Is Due in Superior Tuesday.

Royal Chief A. G. Findlay of the Order of Scottish Clans, will be the guest of Scotsmen on both sides of the bay for the next two days. He will arrive in Superior tomorrow morning and will be entertained by Clan Cameron at its hall tomorrow evening, but previous to that, members and officers of the clan will entertain the head of the order in various ways.

On Wednesday, Royal Chief Findlay will come to Duluth and will be entertained during the day by clansmen. At 6:30 that evening he will be the guest of honor at a supper to be served at the Vienna cafe, following which there will be an initiation at clan hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, a large class being put through. A program will follow. This will be for clansmen only.

Clan Stewart has just started the publication of a monthly pamphlet called, "The Thistle," not because it stings but because the thistle is the national emblem of the Scots. A. G. McKnight is the editor.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the body; that the secretion of the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Automobile ice racing on Lake Superior, a novelty in winter sport, was witnessed by at least 10,000 people yesterday afternoon.

Arranged by the Duluth automobile dealers as the closing event of their first automobile show, held all of last week at the Auditorium, the races were a complete success. Not only was the course lined by a crowd of 6,000 men, women and children, but the shore for nearly two miles was dotted with people.

The races, which were virtually the first ever attempted on Lake Superior, as the program of last Monday had to be postponed because of bad weather, will be given at least once a month next winter, according to E. J. Filiatrault, chairman of the committee in charge yesterday afternoon.

Great Interest in Races.

"This large crowd shows the interest of the Duluth public in automobile racing," said Mr. Filiatrault, "and, if we can get the support of the business men, we will arrange similar programs throughout next winter. By spending a little money we can easily make this course the best in the world and possibly induce the world-known drivers to come here and enter the races. Such a program would advertise Duluth all over the world and would establish the fame of the city as a center of winter sports."

Long before 2 o'clock the crowd began swarming on the lake, coming in almost every known vehicle of transportation. Some came in automobiles, others in large sleighs, automobile trucks, motorcycles, bob-sleds, auto-sleds and horse and dog-drawn vehicles of every description. It was an ideal day for such an event, the weather being crisp and clear, with a warm sun shining all day long. Tags sold to onlookers to make up a purse for the winners netted the committee $74.38, which was divided after the races.

The course, dotted and flagged all the way around, was soon lined with people, and for a time the police had considerable difficulty in keeping the track clear. However, after the first event was started, the track was cleared and the program, beginning with a four-mile race between high-powered cars, went through without a hitch. Harry Webster, who was to have made a flight in his aeroplane and also race eight miles with Alex Cosgrove, winner in the twenty-mile event, was unable to repair his machine in time and this feature of program was canceled. But one auto-tricycle appeared for event No. 8 and in its place the committee entered the 1907 Olds and 1905 Franklin to see which car could win out in a four-mile race. This event created quite a hit, especially when Earl Bradley, driving the Olds, cut across the ice and came in first. For failing to keep on the track, Chairman Filiatrault awarded the honors to the Franklin, driven by Charles Anderson, who cleared the four miles in 16 minutes, while Earl Bradley made the distance in 14 minutes.

Nine Events on Program.

There were nine events on the program, the feature of which was the 20-mile race between Alex Cosgrove, Olds; Ray Buchanan, National; Norman Rosto, Overland, and William Wilson, Palmer-Singer. The races were started at intervals of fifteen seconds, and on the first lap Buchanan in his National got the lead and held it past the judges' stand for the start of his second lap. However, a few minutes later Cosgrove passed Buchanan and the pair fought like demons for the lead, but Cosgrove nosed ahead, after the third lap was able to safely hold his margin. The boys were going a mile a minute and Duluthians were treated to some real excitement, especially when the racers would make the turns, all of which were extremely dangerous, as there was no banking on the sides and but very little sand to prevent the skidding of the wheels.

On starting the fifth lap Cosgrove was safe in the lead, but he kept up his fast pace and on passing the wire had made the twenty miles in exactly 19 minutes and 20 seconds. Wilson in the Palmer-Singer came in second, making it in 20 minutes, 48 seconds. Buchanan and Rosto both had considerable engine trouble after the second lap and they were compelled to drop out.

Buchanan Makes Best Time.

The best time in covering the course was made by Ray Buchanan driving the National in the 4-mile event for high-powered cars. His time was 3:46 and this was the record for the day. He came in first in this event, defeating Cosgrove, 4:01, and Rosto, 5:00. Wilson, who had also entered, had engine trouble and was unable to finish. Cosgrove won the 8-mile race between these cars, making the two laps in 7 minutes, 36 seconds.

Another interesting race was that between two standard equipped Fords, driven by Dr. D. W. Riesland and Ralph Hoyman. The former took the lead and kept it half way round the track, but on the home stretch, Hoyman slipped ahead and came in first, negotiating the four miles in 5 minutes flat, while Dr. Riesland crossed the wire just a second later. The race was probably the most exciting of the day, as the two cars were but a few feet apart on the entire home stretch, a distance of one and three-quarters miles.

In the second event the crowds witnessed some fast racing between medium-powered cars in negotiating one lap of the track. Ralph Hoyman, driving a Ford, won out in 5 minutes, 15 seconds, the others crossing the line in the following order: Clifford Oppel, Napier, 5:40; Douglas McCulloch, Ford, 6:10; Gordon Flatt, Metz; Norman Rosto, Overland, and Elmer Jacoby, Ford, dropped out because of engine trouble. Rosto defeated these cars in an 8-mile event, making the two laps in 8 minutes, 28 seconds.

In a trial race between Cosgrove, winner of the 8-mile event, and Buchanan, winner of the 4-mile event, the former drove his 60-horse power National across the wire nearly a half minute ahead of Buchanan. He negotiated the four miles in 3:57, while Buchanan made the distance in 4:28.

The Spindler brothers, driving the Henderson motor-sled, made the four miles in 6 minutes, 20 seconds, winning easily over Guy Earl in his Harley-Davidson sled.

ARE IN FAVOR OF PAVING AID FUND

Commissioners May Indorse Bill Prepared By Senator Adams.

Duluth may soon be able to create a "paving aid fund," which can be used in paving arterial streets, so that the assessments against property owners will be reduced from one-third to one-half, if a bill prepared by State Senator Charles E. Adams of this city passes. A copy of the bill was received this morning by Maybr Prince and will probably be indorsed by the council.

The bill will affect all first-class cities of the state and was prepared by Senator Adams for the purpose of enabling cities to pave streets that are the arterial roads of a municipality, the improvement of which is prevented by the objections of property owners.

By creating a "paving aid fund," as provided for in the bill, a municipality of the first class may turn over its wheelage taxes or it may issue bonds. These bonds cannot run more than five years and must not pay more than 5 per cent interest, according to the bill.

Out of this fund a city may pay 50 per cent of the paving of an arterial street.

Should this bill pass, among the Duluth streets to benefit by the "paving aid fund" are East Superior, Grand avenue and Second street, all of which now need paving. However, objections by property owners against the heavy assessments have caused postponements in each case from one to three years.

Members of the city commission are in accord with the bill and it is probable that they will indorse it at one of the future sessions of the local body.

Isaacson-Friederici.

The wedding of Miss Hilda Mary Isaacson to Fritz Friederici took place at 12 o'clock today at West Duluth.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. O. Sievers of the German-Lutheran church.

The bride wore her going-away suit of blue and was attended by her sister, Miss Senia Isaacson as bridesmaid. Max Friederici was the other attendant. Mr. and Mrs. Friederici left on a short wedding trip and will be at home at 305 Eighth avenue east after April 15.

HOAX ORIGINATED WITH KITCHENER

Story of Arrival of Vast Body of Russians Accomplished Its Purpose.

London, March 1.—The famous hoax of the first week of war when a body of Russian soldiers said to number from 100,000 to 200,000 men were reported to have circled around from Archangel, landed in Scottish ports and been shipped through at night to reinforce the British forces in France, originated with Lord Kitchener himself, according to a statement made by a British officer to a correspondent of the Daily Dispatch.

It is a noteworthy fact that although the myth, spread like wildfire through the United Kingdom, with any number of witnesses to swear they had seen and talked to the Russians in their native language, the press bureau did not issue an official contradiction for a long period.

The Russian story, says the British officer, was designed to impress the German commanders in Belgium and Northern France, and to keep them in fear of a surprise either in the rear or on the western flank. It accomplished its purpose, for this dread was real among the German staff, and accounts to some extent for the retreat of Gen. von Kluck from Paris.

To give color to the report, Lord Kitchener is said to have caused a hundred transports laden with sundry goods to be sent from Scottish ports to Archangel, after insuring them in Holland. And when the British troops were moved from various points in Scotland and the north of England to the channel ports, he ordered the blinds of the trains to be lowered so as to arouse popular curiosity and speculation.

CONGRESS ENTERS UPON ITS LAST LAP

All Business Must Be Finished Before Adjournment Thursday.

Washington, March 1.—Congress today entered upon the closing week of the session in a rush to wind up all business before it when final adjournment is taken on Thursday. A large amount of work confronts the senate, but in the house business is pretty well cleaned up.

Both houses began today consideration of conference reports on the big appropriation bills.

House Republicans filibustered the administration ship bill off the program for today at least and probably for the remaining three days of the session. When the bill appeared in the form of a conference report, the Republicans blocked it so successfully that administration leaders abandoned their plans of putting it through today.

THREE NEGLECTED CHILDREN AT RAY.

International Falls, Minn., March 1.—Judge Berg has returned from Ray, where he went to inquire into the case of the reported neglect of three children belonging to the Couture family. The result of the investigation is that they will be sent to the state school at Owatonna. There are three of the children, two boys and one girl. The oldest is a boy of 12, the others being 9 and 7. The youngest boy is a cripple, but the wonder is that either one of them is alive, as they have been half clad all winter.

DECLARES GOD IS A SPIRIT

Dr. George R. Gebauer Discusses the Personality of the All-Father.

Human Life Is But Symbol of Divine, He Asserts.

That God is a spirit permeating all things was the keynote of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church. His sermon, in part, follows:

"But finally this divine life, looked at in its wholeness and as the eternal foundation of thought and aspiration and life itself, is God: the All-father. And the name father suggests several things. It means that the divine life is not merely a vague, invisible force within nature and the universe, a life without form. That name gives spiritual concreteness to the idea of the Eternal. It means that the Eternal transcends his own manifestations or creations, just as our own spiritual self transcends our bodily self. We know that we are not bodies filled with soul-stuff, but that we are souls manifested through bodies; but never completely. Beyond all our feeling and thinking we realize the soul that feels and thinks; beyond our highest aspiration is the spiritual self. And so we may conceive of God as ever far transcending his creation of an infinite world of sensation. Yes, not only does this eternal life transcend all its manifestations, but what is best in us, our moral self and conscience, demand that we think of this all-life, the All-father, as eternal goodness.

Evil Not a Contradiction.

"And even if there be evil in this world, this does not contradict the eternal goodness, if we but hold to the thought, that the evil is the servant of a greater good to come. Further this loving spirit in and through and beyond all things can not be blind. If so, then it were less than ourselves. Our own reason demands that this loving life or will in the universe be more than reason, be wisdom, eternal knowledge. Our own little knowing only hints at the infinite wisdom in all things, just as the incandescent lamp tells of the wonderful electrical power through which it lives and shines, and in which it has its being. Indeed, God is wisdom, God is love, is the infinite spirit, soul, to whom the master taught us to pray: 'Our father, which art in heaven.' Perhaps some of you remark here, well, the same old story: a human God. Yes, I have given you a human God, but what of it? It was not a matter of choice but of mental and psychic necessity. Whenever you dip the bucket into the ocean of life and bring up the water, it will assume the form of the bucket. And yet, is it too much to assume, that the divine life would not have become mind in us, if that mind would give us a false conception of God? No, I must hold that my thought of God, though 'imperfect,' is containing an essential and living truth. Indeed the idea of a divine personality or better spirituality as suggested by the name of God transcends in its true sense what is properly called 'human's;' in our personality or spirituality we are suprahuman.

What Personality Is.

"Personality is not a bag of skin in which our sensations and emotions are filled; it is not the person, but that which transcends the person and makes it possible. So when we think of God as our father, we need not have in mind the picture of a pleasant old gentleman, but we may think of him, as living soul immanent in every speck of dust and at the same time transcending all worlds. The trouble with people, who sneer at the notion of the spirituality, or spiritual personality of the divine, is that they do not know themselves. They are living too much away from themselves. Know yourself and you will as in a mirror see the vaster truth of the God-life throughout and beyond all worlds. Notice how your spiritual self, the intangible life is in and through all your bodily being, how in the tiniest cell there is the life of your soul; and every cell in turn an entity, itself with its own inner life. If such a cell could think, would it be so far wrong, if it thought of your life in terms of cell structure, spoke of you as, if I may be permitted to coin this barbarism, a 'celluality?' Its own little cell-life would have pointed it to a deep truth. Certainly our own life is a symbol of the Divine. God is the great 'I am,' which holds in itself all the infinitesimal 'I's' of which this universe is made up. He is the soul of all souls, the spirit of all spirits, the reality behind all phenomena. He is the alpha and the omega, the beginning out of which all things and all life came, and into which all must return."

URGES CHURCHMEN TO STUDY BIBLE

Gospel Will Clear Up Many Mysteries, Declares Rev. Mr. Black.

A more careful study of the Bible was urged by Rev. Bruce Black, pastor of the Union church, in his sermon yesterday on the subject, "Our Religion a Fountain of Joy." With a better understanding of the Bible he declared the people would crowd the churches. His sermon in part follows:

"It is a perilous moment in our religious life when we lose the first joys of conversion and fall to the dead level of the faith that is purely perfunctory church of Ephesus of having left its in its nature. Christ accused the first love; I take it that the trouble was that the church was waning in its former joy and zeal for the gospel. Our religion is everything or nothing; it is either a joy or a bore, to be gladly practiced or half-heartedly entertained.

"There are two sources of continued joy for the believer that never cease; the first is the joy of every new experience with God. When we permit God to have His way with us, He leads us through varied experiences, which often begin in sorrow and perplexity, but blossom in a full bloom of blessing and joy. In the consecrated Christian's life there is no monotony, but rather each day becomes a new world, where God is in His heaven and all is well. The disciples began the day at Capernaum, but often ended it in a program of blessed experiences with Christ, where they learned anew the power and peace of His daily companionship. Theirs was the experience of walking the sea, calming the storm, beholding the transfiguration and fellowship in his suffering. Our experience with Him today leads by the still waters, into the secret place of prayer, through the valley of the shadow of death, and at last into power over all evil. Christ is not simply a theological character, but the friend who bears our weaknesses and redeems our soul literally and absolutely.

"The second source of joy is an understanding of the Bible. No Christian is happy in his faith and at the same time ignorant of his Bible. Amidst the storm of perplexing creeds and philosophies an ignorant Christian is helplessly miserable; he never knows what he is or what he believes; like the camelion he must suit his colors to every environment in order to be safe. Life is full of mysteries; the Bible reveals and illumines these mysteries. The present war is a mystery to many, in view of modern peace claims, but to the Bible student this war is no mystery. Christianity too is full of mysteries to which some are foolishness, but to the Bible student is the glad tidings of great joy. Without exception where religious indifference is found, there you will also find a closed Bible and an ignorant mind.

"Duluth needs a great revival, not of emotionals, but of highest searching of the unsearchable Word, and then may I predict that our churches will be crowded with those who will cry out with Andrew, 'We have found the Messiah,' who being interpreted is the Christ and with the scientist shall we share the joy of understanding in part the infinite plan, who cried out, 'Oh, God, I am thinking thy thoughts after thee.'"

BIBLE FORETOLD TURKISH DEFEAT

Turks' Expulsion From Europe Foreruns End of World, Says Pastor.

"When Turkey's forced exit from Europe shall cause him to 'plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain' at Jerusalem, this long foretold event will usher in the close of human probation, and the pouring out of the seven last plagues, which will be immediately followed by the second personal coming of Jesus as King of Kings to destroy the wicked nations of earth on the field of Armageddon," declared Pastor Stemple White last night at the Seventh Adventist church, corner of Sixth street and Tenth avenue east, where he spoke on, "Is the World Ready for the Turk's Exit From Europe?"

The Turk in Prophecy.

After carefully tracing how and why the Turk comes in the Daniel eleventh prophecy as the K"ing of the North" power; also calling attention to the Revelation symbol, the "Euphrates river," which fittingly presents this Ottoman power, which has for ages ruled the territory of the whole Euphrates basin, Mr. White said: "In 1453 the Saracens stormed and took Constantinople, and in 1006 the banners of the Porte waved over 2,000,000 square miles of territory which equaled nearly double the size of Europe, Russia excepted. About the time of the French Revolution this great power began to lose its power, prestige, and possessions, and little by little this 'Euphrates river' power has been 'drying up' through war and the results of European treaty, until today he has but a bare foothold around Constantinople, which Turkish wishbone is muchly coveted by the European war dogs. He lost his own independence in 1840; is living today by the suffrance of the great powers through European treaty; and, as Lord Salisbury declared in 1895, was protected in his stay on the Bosporus 'for the peace of Christendom.'"

End of Turk Near.

"While the jargon and discordant notes of the European concert are harshly grating on the ears of the whole world, Turkey has plunged in among the war dogs on the crimson stained, white mantled fields of the East, only to be notified at once by the allies, that not only had he now signed his own death warrant, but that they would see that it was surely executed. It is reported that England has agreed to the Russian occupancy of Constantinople, and with the Dardanelle forts crumbling before the terrific naval fire of the allies, the Turk's exit from Europe seems near at hand. We can but read history, after it is made, and when or how soon shall take place this world-wide sign of the closing of human probation, is in the restraining hand of Him who has commissioned the four angels to hold the winds of strife, until the gospel ultimatum shall have been preached in all the world for a witness, and until the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads with the seal of the living God. So it is written, 'and at that time shall Michael stand up, and there shall be a time of trouble such as never was, since there was a nation, even to that same time; and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book.' Is your name in the Lamb's Book of Life? Are you now ready for the Turk's exit from Europe? Now is the time to enter the gospel ark. Nothing awaits procrastinators but the 'second death.'"

ACCURACY AKIN TO RELIGION

Perfection Has No Fellowship With Inaccuracy, Says Dr. Hovis.

Accuracy is one of the best assets of religion, according to Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, who preached yesterday morning on "Accuracy and Religion." His sermon in part follows:

"Accuracy is the state or quality of exactness, precision or correctness arising out of a careful conformity to truth, or to some standard, rule or model. It indicates an exemption from error, failure and defect which is the result of thoughtful consideration and painstaking care. Religion is first of all a belief binding the spiritual nature of man to a supernatural being on whom he is conscious that he is dependent and whom he feels impelled to worship; and in the second place, it is the practice that springs out of the recognition of that relation involving scrupulous and conscientious conformity to the precepts and principles respecting conduct of life and duty toward God and fellow-man.

Adjunct of Religion.

"It must therefore be evident that accuracy is an adjunct of religion. It is impossible to conceive of the latter in the practical phases of its relationship to the human heart apart from the presence of the former. In a very real sense a man's religion is his life; not what he claims to be, but what he is. Jesus said, "By their fruits ye shall know them." One is known by the work he does, as a tree is known by the fruit it bears: not the kind of work he does, but the way in which he does it. This is true whether a man's business be sweeping the street, painting a picture, splitting rails or writing a president's message.

"Religion has to do with bags and balances and yardsticks and half-bushels. Accuracy has been called the twin brother of honesty, and honesty is not only 'the best policy,' but the surest way to win renown both with God and man. The heart must have a just and perfect weight and measure to meet the test of 'the God of things as they are.' Character is both the poor man's and the rich man's only incorruptible capital. If you would know the value of any man's religion, don't listen to him while he says his prayers, but watch him in the realm of commerce with his fellows. There is a smack of modern pragmatism in the words of the prophet Micah, 'What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God?'

Has Credit Value.

"The world believes in scrupulous integrity. Conscientious character has a credit value; it creates confidence.

"It is said that when Petrarch, the celebrated Italian poet, approached the tribunal to take the customary oath as witness, he was told that such was the confidence of the court in his veracity that his word would be sufficient, and that he would not be required to swear to his testimony. Hugh Miller, the Scottish geologist and editor, was offered the position of cashier in the Commercial bank of Cromarty without a bond by a bank president whom he had never met, because of a reputation for accurate honesty. It was their character rather than recognized ability which elected both Washington and Lincoln to the presidency.

"In matters of the heart, perfection can have no fellowship with inaccuracy. So far as intentions and purposes are concerned, the only kind of a life that will pass muster with God is one that is 'perfect and entire, wanting nothing.' Honesty, justice, sincerity, truthfulness, demand exactness. It is not possible to be 'nearly' honest, 'almost' just, 'largely' sincere, 'fairly' truthful, and satisfy the demands of a Creator whose purposes are right and who demands heart accuracy on the part of His children.

"Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well. God is pleased when he sees man weighing with a delicately poised balance and measuring with a strictly accurate line. 'There is only one failure in life,' says Canon Farrar, 'and that is, not to be true to the best one knows.' The perfection of Christian principle is a most magnificent achievement, but it is only acquired after long and careful work."

PROPER EDUCATION OF CONSCIENCE

First Baptist Pastor Declares It to Be Supreme Modern Problem.

Personal guidance and its value to every person was emphasized in the morning sermon of Rev. R. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, yesterday.

"The supreme modern problem is the proper education of conscience," he said. "We all have need of some form of guidance and we have many old problems and many new ones daily.

"Jesus, as an example, guides us. He gives us no example of the domestic life, of His attitude towards modern amusements, or vice, or poverty, or war, or modern industry. He gives us principles, insight, and ideals.

"This is a deeper form of guidance than that of example."

SALVATION GAINED BY SOUL GROWTH

Faith Does Not Insure Spiritual Safety, Says Dr. Ryan.

Salvation is not an immediate transformation, but the growth and development of the soul, according to Dr. A. W. Ryan, in a sermon on "The Church and Salvation" in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church yesterday morning.

"Salvation through faith does not mean the elevation of the Christian to a plateau of spiritual safety, but it means getting the spiritual life in harmony with the ideals that Jesus taught. It means development of the soul forces to a place where one may not only help himself, but others," he declared.

"The early church depended on spiritual guidance. The church was organized for a great work, to be the means of the salvation to the world, and this idea of the church has lived through the intervening centuries.

"This is the mission of the church, the unity of strength and of purpose, which can accomplish the work of our Lord in the manner planned when the early church was organized."

SAVE NEGRO AFTER A ROPE IS AROUND NECK.

Waxahachie, Tex., March 1.—A minister, a district judge, the county sheriff and the county attorney pleaded nearly an hour with a mob about to lynch a negro just before daylight here yesterday, and as a result obtained his release after a rope had been placed about his neck.

Joseph Lockett, the negro, was arrested in connection with the killing of John Jones, 21, whose body was found in a garage which he was employed in.

Rev. A. C. Parker, Lee Hawkins, district judge; J. Whipple, county attorney and W. S. Dearborn, sheriff, followed the mob, catching it just as members were about to draw the noose around the negro's neck.

JAP BOYCOTT IN DULUTH

Chinese in All Countries Will Refuse to Buy Jap Goods.

Chin Ong Says the Chinese Are Clamoring for War.

The German blockade of the British Isles may be serious, but it has nothing on the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods and products. So strict is this boycott to be, that absolutely nothing raised or manufactured in Japan will be purchased by Chinese even in Duluth, according to Chin D. Ong, proprietor of the Mandarin cafe.

This will not deprive Duluthians of their chop suey, however, says Ong, for there is nothing in that pot pourri of edibles that is produced in Japan. "But we are not going to buy any more Japanese lanterns," he said as he pointed to a lamp adorned with beautiful Japanese beads.

"The Chinese people all over the world are clamoring for war with Japan," said Ong, "and they are willing to give up their money to pay the expenses. Japan has made unjustifiable demands of China, and our country will never make these concessions. However, I do not look for war as the difficulties will probably be settled by the diplomats of the two countries."

The Chinese press at San Francisco has been urging a boycott on Japanese goods for more than two weeks, and every Chinese in the world will in some way get word to carry out the wishes of the home government. There is strong feeling among all Chinese against Japan, he says.

DISCOVERIES ARE MOST IMPORTANT

Government Engineer Has Perfected Valuable Chemical Processes.

Washington, March 1.—Two discoveries both of vast importance to American industries and one regarded as a priceless military asset, were announced yesterday by Secretary Lane of the interior.

They are chemical processes developed after years of research by Dr. Walter R. Rittmann, chemical engineer of the bureau of mines.

One will enable oil refiners to increase their output of gasoline by 200 per cent; the other makes possible the production from crude petroleum of toluol and benzol, bases for dyes and high explosives, for which, in the past the United States and the rest of the world have depended almost exclusively upon Germany.

Dr. Rittmann has applied for patents upon his processes to prevent the possibility of any monopoly in their use and will dedicate them to the American people.

"These processes," said Secretary Lane, "are brought with the utmost importance. The Standard Oil company has had a big advantage over the independents in production of gasoline, having a patented process obtaining three times the amount of gasoline from a given quantity of petroleum the independents now obtain. Independent producers, as a whole, never have been able even to approach these results. Now, the federal government, through the efforts of Dr. Rittmann, proposes to make free for the use of all, a process confidently expected to increase their yields of gasoline fully 200 per cent and perhaps more. Dr. Rittmann claims this process is safer, simpler and more economical. These are economic factors of great importance."

WILL ORGANIZE AMERICAN LEGION

Plan for First Reserves of Former Members of Army and Navy.

New York, March 1.—Formal announcement was made here last night of the formation of an organization of first reserves to be known as the American legion, to be composed of former members of the army, navy and militia, which will better insure the nation's preparedness in case of war. Capt. Gordon Johnston, aide de camp to the major general, Leonard Wood, commanding the department of the east, made the announcement in behalf of the group of army and navy men who, in an unofficial capacity, are acting with civilians in promoting the movement.

Capt. Johnston said it is planned to establish within a short time a first reserve of between 250,000 and 300,000 former army and navy militiamen, for instant call in case of emergency.

Major General Wood already has given the plan his unofficial indorsement and former President Roosevelt has written a letter approving the proposal. Other public men have indorsed the project and a statement by the promoters says that former secretaries of war and of the navy have indicated their willingness to act in an advisory capacity.

Asserting that he and his four sons will become members of the legion, Col. Roosevelt in a letter to the organizers says that in the event of war, he intends to ask congress for permission to raise a division of cavalry.

Capt. Johnston in supplementing the formal statement said that while the legion was being organized independent of the army or navy and would have no official connection with either, it would be organized along the lines of the geographical divisions of the army.

MILL CITY SALOON MAN SLAIN BY ROBBER.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—John C. Andren was shot and killed Saturday night in his saloon by a robber who attempted to hold up the place. John D. Roberts, a pedestrian, was struck on the shoulder by a random bullet. Only the quick action of a messenger boy who leaped on the back of the fleeing robber, saved Frank Brunskill, a city detective, from the revolver fire. Brunskill captured the escaping man, who gave the name of Alfonso Clancy.

Argyle Man President.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—R. Meisch of Argyle was re-elected president of the Farmers & Grain Dealers' association at the session here for a third term.

L. A. Smith of Truman was elected vice president, and Adam Brin of Stewartsville, treasurer. The by-laws were so amended as to place the selection of a secretary in the hands of the board of directors.

A resolution opposing the Teigen anti-option bill was referred to the committee on legislation.

CAN'T RESIST CALL TO ARMS

George E. Gibson, Former Duluthian, on Way to European War.

Fine Record in American Army—Enters King's Service as Private.

George E. Gibson, a resident of Duluth for many years, a veteran of the Spanish-American and Philippine wars, and until recently a resident of Prince Rupert, B. C., has started for the front as a soldier of the king. He was twice severely wounded in the Philippine campaign, but that has not deterred him from taking chances in the great war.

Maj. Gibson, as he was known here, left Duluth about seven years ago. Thomas Gibson of the Board of Trade building, is a brother and Mrs. John McLeod of Woodland and Mrs. G. J. Frantz are sisters.

The call to colors proved too much for the veteran, so he enlisted in the British Columbia regiment, Thirtieth battalion, as a private, after reaching the rank of brevet major in the United States army. For some time he has been assigned to the duty of drilling the men, because of his knowledge and experience, and he went East as a non-commissioned officer. R. J. McLeod, while attending the Winnipeg bonspiel last week, saw Mr. Gibson while the troops were passing through, and spent an hour with him. The regiment was under sealed orders and it was not known when it would sail, but is believed that it is still at the Valcartier camp in Quebec.

Long Military Service.

Mr. Gibson came to Duluth from Scotland, his native land, many years ago, and when the first Duluth militia company was formed, old "K," he was one of the first to become a member. He continued in the militia service during his whole residence in Duluth, becoming a member of Company A, when K company was changed. When the first call for men was issued in the Spanish-American war he was enrolled in Company G as first sergeant and started out with that company in the Fourteenth Minnesota. Later, when the Fifteenth Minnesota was organized, Sergt. Gibson was given a commission as captain of Company L.

When the Spanish-American war ended, he was not satisfied, for none of the Minnesota troops had reached Cuba or Porto Rico, so he joined the Philippine volunteers and was commissioned first lieutenant. Soon after reaching the Philipines he was made captain of a company and saw a great deal of active service in guerilla warfare that ensued. He was severely wounded twice, once in the right shoulder, and a bullet pierced and almost shattered his jaws. For a long time the latter wound gave him a great deal of trouble, and for a time, serious consequences were feared. He had to have several operations on the wound.

In the Philippine service the volunteers were mustered into the United States regular army on a two-year basis, and after their services was over Capt. Gibson was brevetted major, and offered a commission in the regular army. Owing to the conditions of his wounds, however, he declined, and returned to the private walks of life.

Prominent Oarsman.

In athletics in Duluth's early days of national sport, he took a prominent part. He was an oarsman of considerable merit, and was always one of the leading members of the Duluth Boat club while here. He was a member of several crews that tried for national and international honors. He was a member of a winning four at Lake Minnetonka in 1894 and of a winning eight in 1895 over the same course, during regattas of the old Northwestern Rowing association. He was a member of crews from 1890 to 1894 and again from 1896 to 1898.

HEAVY RECEIPTS FROM TAXPAYERS

Traction Company Pays $42,645 Saturday; Delinquents to Pay Penalty.

Receipts into the county coffers were heavy Saturday, the occasion being the last day allowed by law for the payment of current personal property taxes without penalty. Those who failed to pay their taxes are now obliged to pay an additional 10 per cent. The number of delinquents is no larger than in former years.

The largest check Saturday came from the Duluth Street Railway company and was for $42,645.85.

The 1913 delinquent real estate tax list, recently published by the county auditor's office, contains about 7,000 descriptions on which taxes have not been paid. According to L. A. Marvin, deputy county auditor, taxpayers must pay an additional fifty cents for clerk's fees and publication fees in addition to the amount of the tax in arrears and penalty before receipts can be issued to them.

Accused of Fargo Thefts.

Fargo, N. D., March 1.—Six men were arrested Saturday afternoon in Moorhead for complicity in the recent burglary of the Emery & Johnson Hardware store of Fargo. One, who gave the name of Olson, was a walking arsenal, three revolvers being taken from his person, two of them loaded, together with a box of shells, a number of pocket knives, and a new watch. The men gave the names of Iver Peterson, Ingvald Amundson, Olaf Wold, Henry Hanson and Henry Dunsted. They are thought to be floaters, who have been "camping" in Fargo for the last few months.

WOLFORD, N. D., OBJECTS

Wolford, N. D., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable indignation among local business men that the Great Northern has arbitrarily changed the name of the station of Wolford on its maps to Orkney. For some time there have been complaints because of the confusion of the shipments sent to Wolford and Watford, the latter a town in McKenzie county. It was anticipated that some change might be made but as Wolford has been established a dozen years, while Watford is only a few months old, the change was naturally expected at Watford. The business men will hold a meeting to protest and possibly will take the matter into the courts. The postoffice will continue as Wolford and it will be a source of a great deal of embarrassment and confusion to have a town by one name and a postoffice by another in the same town.

Without Foundation.

Washington, March 1.—Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, upon his return here from New York late last night, stated that he had investigated published reports of unpleasantries alleged to have been suffered by Admiral Dewa at a New York railway station and had definitely ascertained that they were wholly without foundation.

Small Zeppelin Was Lost.

Geneva, Switzerland, via Paris, March 1.—Reports received here apparently confirm the loss in the Adriatic sea of one of the smaller type of Zeppelins with its crew which was sent from Friederichshafen to Pola, the Austrian naval base, early in February. Work is said to be continuing daily and nightly on airships at the Zeppelin base at Friederichshafen. These are intended to replace four which were recently lost. Some difficulty is being experienced in finding capable pilots.

Killed By Yaqui Indians.

On Board U. S. S. San Diego, San Diego, Cal., March 1.—The gunboat Annapolis at Guaymas reported to Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard on the San Diego yesterday that Jean Cameron, an American employed as a lineman on the Mexican branch of the Southern Pacific railroad, was killed last Friday at Lencho, Sonora, by Yaqui Indians. No details were given.

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

DECLARES GOD IS A SPIRIT

Dr. George R. Gebauer Discusses the Personality of the All-Father.

Human Life Is But Symbol of Divine. He Asserts.

That God is a spirit permeating all things was the keynote of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Lutheran church. His sermon, in part, follows:

"Of finally this divine life, looked at in its wholeness and as the eternal production of thought and aspiration and life itself, is God, the All-father, and the name father suggests several things. It seems that the divine life is not merely a vague, invisible force within nature and the universe, a life of good born. That nature gives spirit-ual expressiveness to the best of the eternal. It seems that the eternal transcends its own manifestations of energies just as our own spiritual life transcends our bodily self. We know that we are not bodies filled with soul-stuff but that we are souls manifested through bodies; but never completely. Beyond all our feeling and thinking we realize the soul that feels and thinks, beyond our highest aspiration is the spiritual self. And so we may conceive of God as ever far transcending his creation of an infinite world of sensation. Yes, not only does this eternal life transcend all its manifestations, but what is best in us, our moral self and conscience, demand that we think of this all-life, the All-father, as eternal goodness.

Evil Not a Contradiction.

"And even if there be evil in this world, this does not contradict the eternal goodness, if we but hold to the thought, that the evil is the servant of a greater good to come. Further this loving spirit in and through and beyond all things can not be blind. If so, then it were less than ourselves. Our own reason demands that this loving life or will in the universe be more than reason, be wisdom, eternal knowledge. Our own little knowing only hints at the infinite wisdom in all things, just as the incompleteness in life tells of the wonderful electrical power through which it lives and shines, and in which it has its being. Indeed, God is wisdom, God is love, is the infinite spirit, soul, to whom the master taught us to pray: 'Our father, which art in heaven.' Perhaps some of you remark here, well, the same old story, a human God. Yes, I have given you a human God, but what of it? It was not a matter of choice but of mental and psychic necessity. Whenever you dip the bucket into the ocean of life and bring up the water, it will assume the form of the bucket. And yet, is it too much to assume, that the divine life would not have become mind in us, if that mind would give us a false conception of God? No, I must hold that my thought of God, though 'imperfect,' is containing an essential and living truth. Indeed the idea of a divine personality or better spiritual-ity as suggested by the name of God transcends in its true sense what is properly called 'human'; in our personality or spirituality we are supra-human.

What Personality Is.

"Personality is not a bag of skin in which our sensations and emotions are filled; it is not the person, but that which transcends the person and makes it possible. So when we think of God as our father, we need not have in mind the picture of a pleasant old gentleman, but we may think of him, as living soul monument in every speck of dust and at the same time transcending all worlds. The trouble with people, who sneer at the notion of the spirituality or spiritual personality of the divine, is that they do not know themselves. They are living too much away from themselves. Know yourself and you will see in a mirror the wider truth of the God-life throughout and beyond all worlds. Notice how your spiritual self the intangible life is in and through all your bodily being, how in the tiniest cell there is the life of your soul; and every cell in turn an entity, itself with its own inner life. If such a cell could think, would it be so far wrong, if it thought of your life in terms of cell structure, spoke of you as if I may be permitted to coin this barbarism, a 'cellularity?' Its own little cell-life would have pointed it to a deep truth. Certainly our own life is a symbol of the Divine. God is the great 'I am,' which holds in itself all the infinites-imal 'I's' of which this universe is made up. He is the soul of all souls, the spirit of all spirits, the reality behind all phenomena. He is the alpha and the omega, the beginning out of which all things and all life came, and into which all must return."

URGES CHURCHMEN TO STUDY BIBLE

Gospel Will Clear Up Many Mysteries, Declares Rev. Mr. Black.

A more careful study of the Bible was urged by Rev. Bruce Black, pastor of the Union church, in his sermon yesterday on the subject, "Our Religion a Fountain of Joy." With a better understanding of the Bible he declared the people would crowd the churches. His sermon in part follows:

"It is a perilous moment in our religious life when we lose the first joys of conversion and fall to the dead level of the faith that is purely perfunctory church of Ephesus of having left its in its nature. Christ accused the first love; I take it that the trouble was that the church was waning in its former joy and zeal for the gospel. Our religion is everything or nothing; it is either a joy or a bane, to be gladly practiced or half-heartedly entertained.

"There are two sources of continued joy for the believer that never cease; the first is the joy of every new experience with God. When we permit God to have His way with us, He leads us through varied experiences, which often begin in sorrow and perplexity, but blossom in a full bloom of blessing and joy. In the consecrated Christian's life there is no monotony, but rather each day becomes a new world, where God is in His heaven and all is well. The disciples began the day at Capernaum, but often ended it in a program of blessed experiences with Christ, where they learned anew the power and peace of His daily companionship. Thirs was the experience of walking the sea, calming the storm, beholding the transfiguration and fellowship in his suffering. Our experience with Him today leads by the still waters, into the secret place of prayer, through the valley of the shadow of death, and at last into power over all evil. Christ is not simply a theological character, but the friend who hears our weaknesses and redeems our soul bitterly and absolutely.

"The second source of joy is an understanding of the Bible. No Christian is happy in his faith and at the same time ignorant of his Bible. Amidst the storm of perplexing creeds and philosophies an ignorant Christian is helplessly miserable; he never knows what he is or what he believes; like the camelion he must suit his colors to every environment in order to be safe. Life is full of mysteries; the Bible reveals and illumines these mysteries. The present war is a mystery to many, in view of modern peace claims, but to the Bible student this war is no mystery. Christianity too is full of mysteries to which some are foolishness, but to the Bible student is the glad tidings of great joy. Without exception where religious indifference is found, there you will also find a closed Bible and an ignorant mind.

"Duluth needs a great revival, not of emotions, but of highest searching of the unsearchable Word, and then pray I predict that our churches will be crowded with those who will cry out with Andrew, 'We have found the Messiah,' who being interpreted is the Christ and with the scientist shall we share the joy of understanding in part the infinite plan, who cried out, 'Oh, God, I am thinking thy thoughts after thee.'"

BIBLE FORETOLD TURKISH DEFEAT

Turks' Expulsion From Europe Foreruns End of World, Says Pastor.

"When Turkey's forced exit from Europe shall cause him to 'plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain' at Jerusalem, this long foretold event will usher in the close of human probation, and the pouring out of the seven last plagues, which will be immediately followed by the second personal coming of Jesus as King of Kings to destroy the wicked nations of earth on the field of Armageddon," declared Pastor Stample White last night at the Seventh Adventist church, corner of Sixth street and Tenth avenue east, where he spoke on, "Is the World Ready for the Turk's Exit From Europe?"

The Turk in Prophecy.

After carefully tracing how and why the Turk comes in the Daniel eleventh prophecy as the King of the North" power; also calling attention to the Revelation symbol, the "Euphrates river," which fittingly presents this Ottoman power, which has for ages ruled the territory of the whole Euphrates basin, Mr. White said: "In 1453 the Saracens stormed and took Constantinople, and in 1906 the banners of the Lorn way d over 2,060,000 square miles of territory which equaled nearly double the size of Europe, Russia excepted. About the time of the French Revolution this great power began to lose its powers, prestige, and possessions, and little by little this 'Euphrates river' power has been 'drying up' through war and the results of European treaty, until today he has but a bare foothold around Constantinople, which Turkish wishbone is muchly coveted by the European war dogs. He lost his own independence in 1840; is living today by the sufrance of the great powers through European treaty; and, as Lord Salisbury declared in 1895, was protected in his stay on the Bosporus 'for the peace of Christendom.'

End of Turk Near.

"While the jargon and discordant notes of the European concert are horribly grating on the ears of the whole world, Turkey has plunged in among the war dogs on the crimson stained, white mantled fields of the East, only to be notified at once by the allies, that not only had he now signed his own death warrant, but that they would see that it was surely executed. It is reported that England has agreed to the Russian occupancy of Constantinople, and with the Dardanelles forts crumbling before the terrific naval fire of the allies, the Turk's exit from Europe seems near at hand. We can but read history, after it is made, and when or how soon shall take place this world-wide sign of the closing of human probation, is in the restraining hand of Him who has commissioned the four angels to hold the winds of strife, until the gospel ultimatum shall have been preached in all the world for a witness, and until the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads with the seal of the living God. So it is written, 'and at that time shall Michael stand up, and there shall be a time of trouble such as never was, since there was a nation, even to that same time; and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book.' Is your name in the Lamb's Book of Life? Are you now ready for the Turk's exit from Europe? Now is the time to enter the gospel ark. Nothing awaits procrastinators but the 'second death.'"

ACCURACY AKIN TO RELIGION

Perfection Has No Fellowship With Inaccuracy, Says Dr. Hovis.

Accuracy is one of the best assets of religion, according to Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, who preached yesterday morning on "Accuracy and Religion." His sermon in part follows:

"Accuracy is the state or quality of exactness, precision or correctness arising out of a careful conformity to truth, or to some standard, rule or model. It indicates an exemption from error, failure and defect which is the result of thoughtful consideration and painstaking care. Religion is first of all a belief binding the spiritual nature of man to a supernatural being on whom he is conscious that he is dependent and whom he feels impelled to worship; and in the second place, it is the practice that springs out of the recognition of that relation involving scrupulous and conscientious conformity to the precepts and principles respecting conduct of life and duty toward God and fellow-man.

Adjunct of Religion.

"It must therefore be evident that accuracy is an adjunct of religion. It is impossible to conceive of the latter in the practical phases of its relationship to the human heart apart from the presence of the former. In a very real sense a man's religion is his life; not what he claims to be, but what he is. Jesus said, "By their fruits ye shall know them." One is known by the work he does, as a tree is known by the fruit it bears; not the kind of work he does, but the way in which he does it. This is true whether a man's business be sweeping the street, painting a picture, splitting rails or writing a president's message.

"Religion has to do with bags and balances and yardsticks and half-bushels. Accuracy has been called the twin brother of honesty, and honesty is not only 'the best policy,' but the surest way to win renown both with God and man. The heart must have a just and perfect weight and measure to meet the test of 'the God of things as they are.' Character is both the poor man's and the rich man's only incorruptible capital. If you would know the value of any man's religion, don't listen to him while he says his prayers, but watch him in the realm of commerce with his fellows. There is a smack of modern pragmatism in the words of the prophet Micah, 'What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God.'"

Has Credit Value.

"The world believes in scrupulous integrity. Conscientious character has a credit value; it creates confidence.

"It is said that when Petrarch, the celebrated Italian poet, approached the tribunal to take the customary oath as witness, he was told that such was the confidence of the court in his veracity that his word would be sufficient, and that he would not be required to swear to his testimony. Hugh Miller, the Scottish geologist and editor, was offered the position of cashier in the Commercial bank of Cromarty without a bond by a bank president whom he had never met, because of a reputation for accurate honesty. It was their character rather than recognized ability which elected both Washington and Lincoln to the presidency.

"In matters of the heart, perfection can have no fellowship with inaccuracy. So far as intentions and purposes are concerned, the only kind of a life that will pass muster with God is one that is 'perfect and entire, wanting nothing.' Honesty, justice, sincerity, truthfulness, demand exactness. It is not possible to be 'nearly' honest, 'almost' just, 'largely' sincere, 'fairly' truthful, and satisfy the demands of a Creator whose purposes are right and who demands heart accuracy on the part of His children.

"Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well. God is pleased when he sees man weighing with a delicately poised balance and measuring with a strictly accurate line. 'There is only one failure in life,' says Canon Farrar, 'and that is, not to be true to the best one knows.' The perfection of Christian principle is a most magnificent achievement, but it is only acquired after long and careful work."

PROPER EDUCATION OF CONSCIENCE

First Baptist Pastor Declares It to Be Supreme Modern Problem.

Personal guidance and its value to every person was emphasized in the morning sermon of Rev. R. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, yesterday.

"The supreme modern problem is the proper education of conscience," he said. "We all have need of some form of guidance and we have many old problems and many new ones daily.

"Jesus, as an example, guides us. He gives us no example of the domestic life, of His attitude towards moderu amusements, or vice, or poverty, or war, or modern industry. He gives principles, insight, and ideals.

"This is a deeper form of guidance than that of example."

SALVATION GAINED BY SOUL GROWTH

Faith Does Not Insure Spiritual Safety, Says Dr. Ryan.

Salvation is not an immediate transformation, but the growth and development of the soul, according to Dr. A. W. Ryan, in a sermon on "The Church and Salvation" in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church yesterday morning.

"Salvation through faith does not mean the elevation of the Christian to a plateau of spiritual safety, but it means getting the spiritual life in harmony with the ideals that Jesus taught. It means development of the soul forces to a place where one may not only help himself, but others," he declared.

"The early church depended on spiritual guidance. The church was organized for a great work, to be the means of the salvation to the world, and this idea of the church has lived through the intervening centuries.

"This is the mission of the church, the unity of strength and of purpose, which can accomplish the work of our Lord in the manner planned when the early church was organized."

SAVE NEGRO AFTER A ROPE IS AROUND NECK.

Waxahachie, Tex., March 1.—A minister, a district judge, the county sheriff and the county attorney pleaded nearly an hour with a mob about to lynch a negro just before daylight here yesterday, and as a result obtained his release after a rope had been placed about his neck.

Joseph Lockett, the negro, was arrested in connection with the killing of John Jones, 21, whose body was found in a garage which he was employed in.

Rev. A. C. Parker, Lee Hawkins, district judge; J. Whipple, county attorney and W. S. Dearborn, sheriff, followed the mob, catching it just as members were about to draw the noose around the negro's neck.

JAP BOYCOTT IN DULUTH

Chinese in All Countries Will Refuse to Buy Jap Goods.

Chin Ong Says the Chinese Are Clamoring for War.

The German blockade of the British Isles may be serious, but it has nothing on the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods and products. So strict is this boycott to be, that absolutely nothing raised or manufactured in Japan will be purchased by Chinese even in Duluth, according to Chin D. Ong, proprietor of the Mandarin cafe.

This will not deprive Duluthians of their chop suey, however, says Ong, for there is nothing in that pot pourri of edibles that is produced in Japan. "But we are not going to buy any more Japanese lanterns," he said as he pointed to a lamp adorned with beautiful Japanese beads.

"The Chinese people all over the world are clamoring for war with Japan," said Ong, "and they are willing to give up their money to pay the expenses. Japan has made unjustifiable demands of China, and our country will never make these concessions. However, I do not look for war as the difficulties will probably be settled by the diplomats of the two countries."

The Chinese press at San Francisco has been urging a boycott on Japanese goods for more than two weeks, and every Chinese in the world will in some way get word to carry out the wishes of the home government. There is strong feeling among all Chinese against Japan, he says.

DISCOVERIES ARE MOST IMPORTANT

Government Engineer Has Perfected Valuable Chemical Processes.

Washington, March 1.—Two discoveries both of vast importance to American industries and one regarded as a priceless military asset, were announced yesterday by Secretary Lane of the interior.

They are chemical processes developed after years of research by Dr. Walter R. Rittmann, chemical engineer of the bureau of mines.

One will enable oil refiners to increase their output of gasoline by 200 per cent; the other makes possible the production from crude petroleum of toluol and benzol, bases for dyes and high explosives, for which, in the past the United States and the rest of the world have depended almost exclusively upon Germany.

Dr. Rittmann has applied for patents upon his processes to prevent the possibility of any monopoly in their use and will dedicate them to the American people.

"These processes," said Secretary Lane, "are fraught with the utmost importance. The Standard Oil company has had a big advantage over the independents in production of gasoline, having a patented process obtaining three times the amount of gasoline from a given quantity of petroleum the independents now obtain. Independent producers, as a whole, never have been able even to approach these results. Now the federal government, through the efforts of Dr. Rittmann, proposes to make free for the use of all, a process confidently expected to increase their yields of gasoline fully 200 per cent and perhaps more. Dr. Rittmann claims this process is safer, simpler and more economical. These are economic factors of great importance."

WILL ORGANIZE AMERICAN LEGION

Plan for First Reserves of Former Members of Army and Navy.

New York, March 1.—Formal announcement was made here last night of the formation of an organization of first reserves to be known as the American legion, to be composed of former members of the army, navy and militia, which will better, insure the nation's preparedness in case of war. Capt. Gordon Johnston, alde de camp to the major general, Leonard Wood, commanding the department of the east, made the announcement in behalf of the group of army and navy men who, in an unofficial capacity, are acting with civilians in promoting the movement.

Capt. Johnston said it is planned to establish within a short time a first reserve of between 250,000 and 300,000 former army and navy militiamen, for instant call in case of emergency.

Major General Wood already has given the plan his unofficial indorsement and Former President Roosevelt has written a letter approving the proposal. Other public men have indorsed the project and a statement by the promoters says that former secretaries of war and of the navy have indicated their willingness to act in an advisory capacity.

Asserting that he and his four sons will become members of the legion, Col. Roosevelt in a letter to the organizers says that in the event of war, he intends to ask congress for permission to raise a division of cavalry.

Capt. Johnston in supplementing the formal statement said that while the legion was being organized independent of the army or navy and would have no official connection with either, it would be organized along the lines of the geographical divisions of the army.

MILL CITY SALOON MAN SLAIN BY ROBBER.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—John C. Andrea was shot and killed Saturday night in his saloon by a robber who attempted to hold up the place. John D. Roberts, a pedestrian, was struck on the shoulder by a random bullet. Only the quick action of a messenger boy who leaped on the back of the fleeing robber, saved Frank Brunskill, a city detective, from the revolver fire. Brunskill captured the escaping man, who gave the name of Alfonso Clancy.

Argyle Man President.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—R. Meisch of Argyle was re-elected president of the Farmers & Grain Dealers' association at the session here for a third term.

L. A. Smith of Truman was elected vice president, and Adam Brin of Stewartsville, treasurer. The by-laws were so amended as to place the selection of a secretary in the hands of the board of directors.

A resolution opposing the Teigen anti-option bill was referred to the committee on legislation.

CAN'T RESIST CALL TO ARMS

George E. Gibson, Former Duluthian, on Way to European War.

Fine Record in American Army—Enters King's Service as Private.

George E. Gibson, a resident of Duluth for many years, a veteran of the Spanish-American and Philippine wars, and until recently a resident of Prince Rupert, B. C., has started for the front as a soldier of the king. He was twice severely wounded in the Philippine campaign, but that has not deterred him from taking chances in the great war.

Maj. Gibson, as he was known here, left Duluth about seven years ago. Thomas Gibson of the Board of Trade building, is a brother and Mrs. John McLeod of Woodland and Mrs. C. J. Frantz are sisters.

The call to colors proved too much for the veteran, so he enlisted in the British Columbia regiment. Thirtieth battalion, as a private, after reaching the rank of brevet major in the United States army. For some time he has been assigned to the duty of drilling the men, because of his knowledge and experience, and he went East as a non-commissioned officer. R. J. McLeod, while attending the Winnipeg bonspiel last week, saw Mr. Gibson while the troops were passing through, and spent an hour with him. The regiment was under sealed orders and it was not known when it would sail, but is is believed that it is still at the Valcartier camp in Quebec.

Long Military Service.

Mr. Gibson came to Duluth from Scotland, his native land, many years ago, and when the first Duluth militia company was formed, old "K" he was one of the first to become a member. He continued in the militia service during his whole residence in Duluth, becoming a member of Company A, when K company was changed. When the first call for men was issued in the Spanish-American war he was enrolled in Company G as first sergeant and started out with that company in the Fourteenth Minnesota. Later, when the Fifteenth Minnesota was organized, Sergt. Gibson was given a commission as captain of Company L.

When the Spanish-American war ended, he was not satisfied, for none of the Minnesota troops had reached Cuba or Porto Rico, so he joined the Philippine volunteers and was commissioned first lieutenant. Soon after reaching the Philippines he was made captain of a company and saw a great deal of active service in guerilla warfare that ensued. He was severely wounded twice, once in the right shoulder, and a bullet pierced and almost shattered his jaws. For a long time the latter wound gave him a great deal of trouble, and for a time, serious consequences were feared. He had to have several operations on the wound.

In the Philippine service the volunteers were mustered into the United States regular army on a two-year basis, and after their services was over Capt. Gibson was brevetted major, and offered a commission in the regular army. Owing to the conditions of his wounds, however, he declined, and returned to the private walks of life.

Prominent Oarsman.

In athletics in Duluth's early days of national sport, he took a prominent part. He was an oarsman of considerable merit, and was always one of the leading members of the Duluth Boat club while here. He was a member of several crews that tried for national and international honors. He was a member of a winning four at Lake Minnetonka in 1894 and of a winning eight in 1895 over the same course, during regattas of the old Northwestern Rowing association. He was a member of crews from 1890 to 1894 and again from 1896 to 1898.

HEAVY RECEIPTS FROM TAXPAYERS

Traction Company Pays $42,645 Saturday; Delinquents to Pay Penalty.

Receipts into the county coffers were heavy Saturday, the occasion being the last day allowed by law for the payment of current personal property taxes without penalty. Those who failed to pay their taxes are now obliged to pay an additional 10 per cent. The number of delinquents is no larger than in former years.

The largest check Saturday came from the Duluth Street Railway company and was for $42,645.55.

The 1913 delinquent real estate tax list, recently published by the county auditor's office, contains about 7,000 descriptions on which taxes have not been paid. According to L. A. Marvin, deputy county auditor, taxpayers must pay an additional fifty cents for clerk's fees and publication fees in addition to the amount of the tax in arrears and penalty before receipts can be issued to them.

Accused of Fargo Thefts.

Fargo, N. D., March 1.—Six men were arrested Saturday afternoon in Moorhead for complicity in the recent burglary of the Emery & Johnson Hardware store of Fargo. One, who gave the name of Olson, was a walking arsenal, three revolvers being taken from his person, two of them loaded, together with a box of shells, a number of pocket knives, and a new watch. The men gave the names of Iver Peterson, Ingvald Amundson, Olaf Wold, Henry Hanson and Henry Dunsted. They are thought to be floaters, who have been "camping" in Fargo for the last few months.

WOLFORD, N. D., OBJECTS

Wolford, N. D., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable indignation among local business men that the Great Northern has arbitrarily changed the name of the station of Wolford on its maps to Orkney. For some time there have been complaints because of the confusion of the shipments sent to Wolford and Watford, the latter a town in McKenzie county, it was anticipated that some change might be made but as Wolford has been established a dozen years, while Watford is only a few months old, the change was naturally expected at Watford. The business men will hold a meeting to protest and possibly will take the matter into the courts. The postoffice will continue as Wolford and it will be a source of a great deal of embarrassment and confusion to have a town by one name and a postoffice by another in the same town.

Without Foundation.

Washington, March 1.—Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, upon his return here from New York late last night, stated that he had investigated published reports "unpleasantries alleged to have been suffered by Admiral Dewa at a New York railway station and had definitely ascertained that they were wholly without foundation.

Small Zeppelin Was Lost.

Geneva, Switzerland, via Paris, March 1.—Reports received here apparently confirm the loss in the Adriatic sea of one of the smaller type of Zeppelins with its crew which was sent from Friederichshafen to Pola, the Austrian naval base, early in February. Work is said to be continuing daily and nightly on airships at the Zeppelin base at Friederichshafen. These are intended to replace four which were recently lost. Some difficulty is being experienced in finding capable pilots.

Killed By Yaqui Indians.

On Board U. S. S. San Diego, San Diego Cal., March 1.—The gunboat Annapolis at Guaymas repeated to Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard on the San Diego yesterday that Jean Cameron, an American employed as a lineman on the Mexican branch of the Southern Pacific railroad, was killed last Friday at Leneho, Sonora, by Yaqui Indians. No details were given.

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

LIGHT AND SHADOW OF POLICE COURT

"PICKINGS" WERE BETTER THAN USUAL

Pickpockets Made Two Rich Hauls in Duluth During February.

ALTHOUGH February was one of the quietest months in the city's history, according to the "blotter" at police headquarters, the value of property lost or stolen was larger than almost ever before, aggregating $2,351.58. This is shown by the monthly report of Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, inspector of pawnshops, made public today.

The month was featured further by the theft of the largest amount in money ever secured by a pickpocket in Duluth. Pickpockets relieved Ross Garver, manager of the Orpheum theater, of $1,900 in bills Feb. 6, when they jostled him in the vestibule of a West Superior street cafeteria. Two men, Edward O'Regan and George E. Roach, nationally known pickpockets, were arrested and charged with the crime.

Chief Troyer stated this morning that with one exception this was the largest sum ever secured by crooks in Duluth. In 1900 Mrs. Ross Palmer of this city was relieved of $2,500 through a clairvoyant scheme, which is the record theft.

Frank Gramegna, "greenhorn" from New York city, was relieved of $350 in bills Feb. 18, while he was asleep in a West Superior street rooming house. This case also involves one of the largest sums ever stolen here.

Because of these two cases, the percentage of recovery by police is lower than for some time, according to Lieut. Terry's report, which shows that property valued at $823.58 was found and returned, or 24½ per cent of the aggregate amount stolen.

Petty larceny was more in evidence than usual, there being thirty cases reported. There were four cases of grand larceny, one of larceny from the person (picking pockets) and four of burglary.

In January Duluthians lost $1,261.61 through theft, or otherwise, and 34 per cent of the missing property was recovered.

ACTRESS IS ARRESTED.

Business of Amusing Tired Business Men Not Booming.

WHILE business generally in the United States may be good, the market is surfeited with actresses, according to Marie Lester, age 24, arrested Sunday by Lieut. F. A. Schulte on a charge of vagrancy. She pleaded not guilty in municipal court this morning and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Marie is a Minneapolis girl, she told the police, and at various times she has been engaged in the business of amusing tired business men. Tired business men are saving their money, she thinks. At any rate, the theatrical business is "on the bum."

Her artistic temperament has hindered her in obtaining a living as a domestic since she was compelled to forsake the glare of the calcium, she said, when found in a rooming house at 25 West Second street, by the police. Artistic temperament hasn't as much to do with the case as the fact that Marie probably is a bad actress, according to Lieut. Schulte.

She will be given a hearing this afternoon.

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one or two applications of Danderine rubbed well into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store and save your hair. After a few applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any falling hair, and the scalp will never itch.

TEDDY OUTDONE.

Police Court Prisoner Earns $1 By Speaking Five Words.

Theodore Roosevelt, said to receive 10 cents a word for his articles, has a rival in William Larson, who benefited to the extent of one dollar in municipal court this morning by a 5-word speech.

Larson had been fined $7 or five days at the workfarm by Judge F. H. Cutting, for a minor offense, and when he volunteered to act as interpreter for Swan Swanson, alleged vagrant, his services were accepted.

"He says he's guilty," Larson told the judge after a moment's conversation with Swanson, and his fine was reduced to $6. Swanson was sentenced to forty days at the work farm.

Larson now is trying to raise $6 and pay his fine, as the dollar earned doesn't do him any good if he has to serve five days in lieu of the fine.

NERVES SHATTERED.

Victim of Drug Habit, Unable to Secure Supply, Goes to Hospital.

Completely unnerved by two days' abstinence from drugs, William W. Lawyer, aged 40, arrested Saturday morning on a charge of assault, was unable to answer to the charge in municipal court this morning, and was removed to St. Luke's hospital after being examined by Police Surgeon Murphy.

Although the Federal law restricting the sale of drugs went into effect this morning, Lawyer's supply was exhausted at the time of his arrest, according to police, and he has been unable to secure any more.

He was arrested on the complaint of Dr. C. H. Clark, 215 New Jersey building, who stated that Lawyer had entered his office in search of another physician, and becoming enraged when he found that he wasn't there, threw a cuspidor at Dr. Clark.

He is an old offender, say police. Officers were compelled to carry him from his cell to the emergency patrol, because of his physical condition.

WHITE WAS BLACK.

But Black Was Not White and He Drew Sixty Days.

White was Black and Black was White in municipal court this morning and this fact probably made a difference of fifty-five days to Mr. Black.

Frank White was arrested Saturday because of his near-success in cornering the saloon trade of Duluth, but was recognized as Frank Black, when Patrolman Le Beau reached headquarters with his guest.

While a Frank White is unknown to the police, Frank Black is an old offender. He pleaded not guilty, but was convicted after a hearing and sentenced to sixty days in the county's care.

DATE IS SET FOR ELECTION

Council Names Judges and Polling Places for April.

On Tuesday, April 6, Duluth voters will select two commissioners for a term of four years each, a judge of the municipal court and in addition vote on two charter amendments submitted by the charter commission.

At the regular council meeting this afternoon the commissioners formally named April 6 as the regular day for the municipal election. The form of ballots for the candidates and amendments was decided on and the city clerk instructed to prepare for the election.

AMENDMENTS ARE APPROVED

Council Will Submit Proposed Charter Changes to Voters.

The two charter amendments to be voted on at the spring election on April 6 were formally presented to the mayor this morning by T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission.

The two amendments provide for an increase of the non-advertised purchasing limit from $100 to $500 and reducing the limit for the payment of special assessments in annual installments. They were passed on by the charter commission last Friday night and were approved by the city council this afternoon.

If the amendments receive two-thirds of the total vote cast at the election, they will become part of the city charter.

The members of the charter commission who signed the communication to the council, submitting the two amendments, are: T. T. Hudson, chairman, H. H. Phelps, M. B. Cullum, John G. Williams, T. W. Hugo, S. A. Foster, J. H. Crowley, Thomas Olafson and W. E. McEwen.

This Skin Peeler All the Rage in Society

There is a growing tendency among women of culture and fashion to pay more attention to hygienic means of preserving their charms. The advent of mercolized wax doubtless has been largely responsible for this. This remarkable substance produces complexians so natural in appearance, so magnetically beautiful, artificial complexions are no longer desired. Instead of "doctoring" an offensive skin, the skin is peeled off. The wax peels the skin so gradually, in such fine particles, no discomfort is experienced. The fresher, younger skin beneath, wholly in evidence within a week or two, is lily white, satiny soft and smooth. It's not a patched-over complexion, but a brand new one. That's why mercolized wax has become such a rage among society folk. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings. All druggists have it; one ounce will do.

Another hygienic treatment now much in favor is one to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Used as a wash lotion it "acts like magic." —Advertisement.

CUSTOMS COLLECTOR MEETS ONLY OPTIMISM

Returns From West Baden With Reports of Renewed Activity.

There is a remarkable optimism in business circles and a general revival is being felt all over the Middle West according to Harris Bennett, collector of customs for Duluth, who has just returned from West Baden, Ind., where he has just passed ten days. Stopping in Chicago on the return trip he says that he found unusual activity in business and business men in general optimistic.

"It seems to me, after talking with prominent men in Chicago and other places, that nearly the whole country is feeling the new business revival.

"President Wilson appears to be more popular than ever and whatever depression there is, is no longer laid at the door of the Democratic administration. The war is responsible for a large part of it, and thinking people are considering matters in that light. The president is inspiring great confidence because of his safe foreign policy, and the American people are bound to respond to this feeling and go ahead with business matters that otherwise might be deferred."

Mr. Bennett went to West Baden for a short vacation and rest, and declared that he feels much improved.

THIEF RIVER FALLS GUN CLUB ELECTION.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Thief River Falls Gun club has elected the following officers: Harry Brumund, president; J. H. McKinney, secretary and treasurer; C. A. Nason, field captain. Various committees have been appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the state gun club tournament, to be held here June 7. A large sum of money will be provided for prizes for the different events of the tournament and it is expected that several hundred visitors will be in the city on that day.

PREDICT DECREASE IN THROUGH FREIGHT

Traffic Men Say Duluth Will Be Affected By Panama Canal.

Local traffic men are of the opinion that the opening of the Panama canal is going to result in decreasing the through freight traffic at this point.

As one instance, it might be stated that salmon can be shipped to New York via the Panama canal for 50 cents a hundred, while the rail and lake rate via Duluth is 70 cents.

This is just one example. There are other commodities that have been shipped through this traffic point. All of the roads reaching into this territory have maintained offices in the East, and it was the business of these offices to solicit business for the lines running from the Head of the Lakes and the Twin Cities to the Pacific coast. It is the prediction of a certain Duluth railroad man that the working forces in the offices in Buffalo and other Eastern points, will be greatly reduced because of the fact that the Panama canal route will work a severe handicap to the transcontinental lines of the country.

"The great transcontinental lines will have to develop business at intermediate points for their own protection," said a Duluth railroad man today. "The officials of the railroads will have to co-operate and take an active hand in the developing of business at the smaller points. The Panama canal in my estimation means the beginning of the end of the heavy transcontinental tonnage movements. The major portion of bulk freight can more cheaply be transported by way of the canal. But in the end there will, I believe, be more intermediate business developed."

"TIED HERE BY THE LEGS," SAYS PRESIDENT

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson told callers today the European situation was demanding so much of his attention that he was doubtful if he would be able to leave Washington this spring, even, possibly, to make his proposed visit to the San Francisco exposition.

"I am tied here by the legs," was the way the president expressed the situation.

ONE SPOONFUL GIVES ASTONISHING RESULTS

Duluth residents are astonished at the QUICK results from the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka. This remedy acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and is so THOROUGH a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. ONE SPOONFUL of Adler-i-ka relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. ONE MINUTE after you take it, the gasses rumble and pass out.

Mrs. William Asher, whose husband was superintendent of the Bethel about ten years ago, is now traveling with Billy Sunday's party, and has full charge of all factory work and the gatherings of maids on their Thursday afternoons off.

After Mr. and Mrs. Asher left the Bethel they were associated in evangelistic work with Wilbur Chapman, giving saloon and shop meetings in the United States, Canada, England and Australia. Mrs. Asher has been with the Sunday evangelists for about two years.

L. A. Marvin, who was in Philadelphia while Billy Sunday was conducting meetings there, saw Mr. Asher, but as he had no opportunity to speak to him did not know whether he was conducting meetings in outlying districts in connection with the Sunday revival or was engaged in independent evangelistic work.

INDIAN MUSIC.

Cadman and Princess Tsianina Give Unique Program in West.

A unique musical program was given in Los Angeles Saturday when Charles Wakefield Cadman, the American composer-pianist, and Princess Tsianina, the Indian mezzo soprano, presented Indian songs, Indian music played on Indian instruments, Cadman compositions on Indian themes and Mr. Cadman gave a talk on Indian musical lore.

Concerning this program Mr. Cadman wrote:

"In my entertainment I begin from the soil and show that all musical expression has its inception in a common emotion. I parallel my Omaha Tribal Prayer, sung by Tsianina in the vernacular, with a Gregorian chant of the seventh century (the beginning, you know, of the Caucasian musical utterance,) and an ancient Egyptian chant, and you'd be amazed to see how strikingly similar they are in content and musical-religious significance.

"I next show how some of the songs sound when they are but partly idealized, and from that on the illustrations used become more heterogeneous with their affiliation of modern harmonies. I refer not to the 'Sky-blue Water' or that bunch of songs you are familiar with, but to the other songs and pieces you nor anyone else in Los Angeles have heard, since I have reserved no less than five for exclusive use in the music-talk.

"I bring out the matter of 'involved rhythms,' found in many of the songs and tell of five rhythms being maintained simultaneously. All this I have experienced myself in the corroboration of Miss Fletcher's work in 1909 on the Omaha reservation, so I know.

"I use the drum and the piano, playing the songs in bare octaves to retain their barbaric and crude effect. I aim to bring out many interesting facts with regard to the collection and preservation of Indian lore and try to brighten my afternoon a trifle with a few lighter episodes and 'stunts' which stage tricks, by the way, are necessary to hold an audience.

"A word about Tsianina. You will find her charming in her simplicity if you do not try to compare her to her white sisters who have had operatic or long concert careers. The girl, for one of her race, is highly gifted with interpretative ability and voice."

"JACK" NOYES WILL BECOME BENEDICT

Former Duluthian, Now Resident of Portland, to Wed in West.

Duluthians who have resided in the city more than ten years will be much interested in the news of the approaching marriage of "Jack" Noyes, formerly of this city.

Mr. Noyes is now a resident of Portland. He left Duluth about ten years ago. Before leaving here he was chief clerk of the First National bank and very prominent socially. He was an excellent entertainer and, with Lansing R. Robinson and other well-known Duluthians, he helped present many amateur theatricals.

Few young men had a wider acquaintance at that time in Duluth. The following extract from the San Francisco Examiner tells of the approaching wedding:

"Club men yesterday found much for pleased discussion in the cards announcing the approaching wedding of John Harvey Noyes, familiarly known as 'Jack' Noyes. He was long applauded as one of the most delightful of amateur entertainers, and before he moved to Portland a year or more ago was a member of The Family, the Burlingame Country club, the Merchants' Exchange club and the Cosmos club up to the time of its disbandment. In Portland he is the general manager of the Globe Milling company's Northwestern interests.

"The cards announce that he is to be married on March 11 at the First Presbyterian church, Portland, to Mrs. Bessie Selover Bennion, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Selover. Mrs. Bennion is widely known in San Francisco social circles, her home having been here until quite recently."

Thief River Falls Temperance Rally.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A general temperance rally was held in this city Sunday. In the morning H. R. Cobb of the Anti-Saloon league spoke in the Methodist church and Emil Youngdahl spoke in Hauges Synod church. In the evening a union meeting was held in the Auditorium. Youngdahl was the principal speaker at the evening meeting, which was attended by a packed house.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Tess of the Storm Country."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX BEAUTIFUL—"Little Angel of Canyon Creek," photoplay.

MISS OLSSON A REAL "TESS."

Gives Excellent Interpretation of Many Sided Character.

Duluthians, after this week, will never think of "Tess of the Storm Country" without thinking of Doris Olsson. Miss Olsson, barefoot, ragged, uncouth, unmannered, profane; lovable, charitable, game as a pebble, a friend, a stickler, and, withal, a woman, is Tess.

Those who witnessed Miss Olsson's first appearance in Duluth last week as leading woman for the Baldwin Players saw a nervous little woman, placed in a bad light because of her limited opportunity; this week they see her as she really is—an actress of real ability—and the crowded matinee house at the Lyceum appreciated her excellent work and showed its delight.

Tess has beauty, wears poor clothing, swears a lot, helps her dad to steal fish, and is classed by others than those of her immediate environment as "trash." Yet she rises above it all—and marries the son of the millionaire land owner, Fred Graves, a minister of the Gospel. But a story of want, privation, immorality—and the latter casts an unjust shadow upon Tess—intervenes between the first and last curtains that makes a story of heart interest, that forces tears, teaches a lesson, or many lessons, and, when the spectator becomes convinced that poor little Tess is to get the man she loves, there must of necessity be a moment of huge satisfaction. It is a play that will remain with one after the seeing.

A rich man has a daughter and a son. The son would be a minister; the daughter loves a game warden. The father, high of estate and intolerant, opposes the marriage. Clandestine meetings between the daughter and her lover follow. Meanwhile, poachers are fishing the lakes upon the rich man's property, using unlawful nets. Arrests are made by the young game warden, and he becomes hated by the squatters. The bad man of the play shoots and kills the game warden, using Tess' father's rifle to accomplish the crime.

When the assistant game warden arrives upon the scene, he arrests Tess' father; a trial results in his conviction and sentence to death for first degree murder.

When the young game warden is killed, the rich man's daughter loses an honorable name for her child, born while the father and brother of the girl are in New York city. The untangling of this problem provides a very gripping little drama.

Homer Barton this week finds himself in a serious part, sans all chance to create a laugh. As the serious-minded young minister, in love with the squatter's daughter, he does impressive work. The Sunday early audience waited, apparently, for a chance to laugh, and when Barton or somebody else upset the baptismal bowl, just at the most impressive moment of the play, the house rocked with laughter and clapped its collective hands. Some in the audience claimed that "the baby" had accidentally and forcefully been bumped against the "bowl."

Margaret Lotus takes, with unusually good effect, the difficult and not over-welcome part of the rich man's daughter, Teola Graves. Walter Baldwin, Jr., making a very manly and likable game warden, Dan Jordan, plays her lover with satisfactory ardor.

To William Donovan falls the part of Ben Letts, unscrupulous, a coward, and father of an illegitimate child by the daughter of "Satisfied" Longman, Myra Longman, taken by Miss Jeanette Roy. Ben Letts' character is bad enough in all conscience, and Donovan makes the most of it. "Satisfied" Longman is very well done by Chris Young, and Ezra Longman, the feeble-minded son of "Satisfied," is enacted with good ability by Chester McLeod. Miss Helen Keers appears but once, and that briefly, as a maid in the Graves' home.

Joseph de Stephani, cast as Elias Graves, landowner, severe, dominant, a power over his less fortunate neighbors, the squatters, received his usual fine reception from the audience.

William A. Mortimer plays the part of Tess' father, Orn Skinner. Mr. Mortimer is a forceful, accomplished actor, and he seldom fails to "deliver." This week he does his usual good work.

Al Smith takes the part of Jake Brewer, a fisherman, and appears as the assistant game warden who makes the arrest of Tess' father.

"The Third Degree" is billed for next week's attraction by the Baldwin Players. "Tess of the Storm Country" will run throughout this week with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. It is reasonable to expect that the play will be a favorite this week. It is new to Duluth, except in motion pictures, and the dialogue, scenes and climaxes are all good.

At the Grand.

An excellent entertainment is promised in the new bill opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon.

A novelty rarely seen is promised by King and Brown, comedy monopede acrobats. These two men have but a pair of legs between them, but in spite of their handicap they accomplish many thrilling and daring as well as amusing feats in acrobatics.

Rooney and Bowman are two stunning and handsomely-gowned girls with a repertoire of popular and character songs. Numerous changes and a winning personality register them as popular vaudeville favorites. The De Mehlee Brothers, comedy musicians, using the harp and violin in their offering, render all classes of music with plenty of comedy.

Tiny May, said to be the smallest elephant in the world, together with a trick pony, dog and clown, form a miniature circus that is a pleasing and entertaining a diversion.

Among the photoplays the three-reel feature, "The Attorney for the Defense," is an exciting story of justice and ambition. "The Call of Her Child," a biograph drama; "Bud, Bill and the Waiter," a comedy, and a scenic flirt in colors, Mount St. Michal, complete the bill.

Safeguard Against Intruders.

I have often wondered why women who are left in their homes all alone, or in company with small children, or perhaps a member of their own sex of their own age, do not more securely safeguard themselves against the entrance of strangers and thieves. The front and rear doors of the average house are, I find, nearly always left so that all one has to do is to turn the handle and enter.

Besides those who come to a house with the avowed intention of stealing what valuables they can lay their hands on, there is another class who make themselves very obnoxious, and who are often impudent and even threatening in their attitude. These are the people who come to the doors and even the windows with things to sell. You are sorry for them and you can overlook their whinings and sarcasm sometimes, but there are many who are so bold and insultingly familiar that one's blood fairly boils to teach them a lesson, and one they will not soon forget.

This is the class that one feels safest in talking to from the inside of a stout locked door and always uneasy if they catch you unaware and get one foot over the threshold. Not until they are gone with their leering impudence does one feel safe from bodily harm. Yet notwithstanding that hundreds of women have undergone just such experiences of fear and doubt, the greatest difficulty is had in impressing them with the necessity for care and caution in this respect.

The demands that children make upon the home mean that the back door must open practically at their will, when not at school, but this does not necessitate an unlatched front door and, after all, where a thief is concerned, this is where he usually works most successfully and in most security. The busy housewife who spends several hours of each day in the back part of her home should see to it that the front door is securely fastened. If it is not it offers an opportunity or temptation to passing strangers to step in and help themselves.

During the present stress of hard times, and thousands of men out of employment, we read in the press every day of houses being ransacked while occupied, and in many cases those who are the trespassers are actually in need of means of sustenance and would become desperate indeed if detected in the act of making their haul. So it is wisest and safest to take precautions that will save us the annoyances of peddlers and strangers who may be looking for just such opportunities as an unlocked door and a defenseless woman present.

Mrs. William Asher, whose husband was superintendent of the Bethel about ten years ago, is now traveling with Billy Sunday's party, and has full charge of all factory work and the gatherings of maids on their Thursday afternoons off.

After Mr. and Mrs. Asher left the Bethel they were associated in evangelistic work with Wilbur Chapman, giving saloon and shop meetings in the United States, Canada, England and Australia. Mrs. Asher has been with the Sunday evangelists for about two years.

L. A. Marvin, who was in Philadelphia while Billy Sunday was conducting meetings there, saw Mr. Asher, but as he had no opportunity to speak to him did not know whether he was conducting meetings in outlying districts in connection with the Sunday revival or was engaged in independent evangelistic work.

INDIAN MUSIC.

Cadman and Princess Tsianina Give Unique Program in West.

A unique musical program was given in Los Angeles Saturday when Charles Wakefield Cadman, the American composer-pianist, and Princess Tsianina, the Indian mezzo soprano, presented Indian songs, Indian music played on Indian instruments, Cadman compositions on Indian themes and Mr. Cadman gave a talk on Indian musical lore.

Concerning this program Mr. Cadman wrote:

"In my entertainment I begin from the soil and show that all musical expression has its inception in a common emotion. I parallel my Omaha Tribal Prayer, sung by Tsianina in the vernacular, with a Gregorian chant of the seventh century, the beginning. You know, of the Caucasian musical utterance,) and an ancient Egyptian chant, and you'd be amazed to see how strikingly similar they are in content and musical-religious significance. "I next show how some of the songs sound when they are but partly idealized, and from that on the illustrations used become more heterogeneous with their affiliation of modern harmonies. I refer not to the 'Sky-blue Water' or that bunch of songs you are familiar with, but to the other songs and pieces you nor anyone else in Los Angeles have heard, since I have reserved no less than five for exclusive use in the music-talk.

"I bring out the matter of 'involved rhythms,' found in many of the songs and tell of five rhythms being maintained simultaneously. All this I have experienced myself in the corroboration of Miss Fletcher's work in 1909 on the Omaha reservation, so I know.

"I use the drum and the piano, playing the songs in bare octaves to retain their barbaric and crude effect. I aim to bring out many interesting facts with regard to the collection and preservation of Indian lore and try to brighten my afternoon a trifle with a few lighter episodes and 'stunts' which stage tricks, by the way, are necessary to hold an audience.

"A word about Tsianina. You will find her charming in her simplicity if you do not try to compare her to her white sisters who have had operatic or long concert careers. The girl, for one of her race, is highly gifted with interpretative ability and voice."

It is reasonable to expect that the play will be a favorite this week. It is new to Duluth, except in motion pictures, and the dialogue, scenes and climaxes are all good.

At the Grand.

An excellent entertainment is promised in the new bill opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon.

A novelty rarely seen is promised by King and Brown, comedy monopede acrobats. These two men have but a pair of legs between them, but in spite of their handicap they accomplish many thrilling and daring as well as amusing feats in acrobatics.

Rooney and Bowman are two stunning and handsomely-gowned girls with a repertoire of popular and character songs. Numerous changes and a winning personality register them as popular vaudeville favorites. The De Michie Brothers, comedy musicians, using the harp and violin in their offering, render all classes of music with plenty of comedy.

Tiny May, said to be the smallest elephant in the world, together with a trick pony, dog and clown, form a miniature circus that is a pleasing and entertaining a diversion.

Among the photoplays the three-reel feature, "The Attorney for the Defense," is an exciting story of justice and ambition. "The Call of Her Child," a biograph drama; "Bud, Bill and the Waiter," a comedy, and a scenic film in colors, Mount St. Michal, complete the bill.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Safeguard Against Intruders.

I have often wondered why women who are left in their homes all alone, or in company with small children, or perhaps a member of their own sex of their own age, do not more securely safeguard themselves against the entrance of strangers and thieves. The front and rear doors of the average house are, I find, nearly always left so that all one has to do is to turn the handle and enter.

Besides those who come to a house with the avowed intention of stealing what valuables they can lay their hands on, there is another class who make themselves very obnoxious, and who are often impudent and even threatening in their attitude. These are the people who come to the doors and even the windows with things to sell. You are sorry for them and you can overlook their whinings and sarcasm sometimes, but there are many who are so bold and insultingly familiar that one's blood fairly boils to teach them a lesson, and one they will not soon forget.

This is the class that one feels safest in talking to from the inside of a stout locked door and always uneasy if they catch you unaware and get one foot over the threshold. Not until they are gone with their leering impudence does one feel safe from bodily harm. Yet notwithstanding that hundreds of women have undergone just such experiences of fear and doubt, the greatest difficulty is had in impressing them with the necessity for care and caution in this respect.

The demands that children make upon the home mean that the back door must open practically at their will, when not at school, but this does not necessitate an unlatched front door and, after all, where a thief is concerned, this is where he usually works most successfully and in most security. The busy housewife who spends several hours of each day in the back part of her home should see to it that the front door is securely fastened. If it is not it offers an opportunity or temptation to passing strangers to step in and help themselves.

During the present stress of hard times, and thousands of men out of employment, we read in the press every day of houses being ransacked while occupied, and in many cases those who are the trespassers are actually in need of means of sustenance and would become desperate indeed if detected in the act of making their haul. So it is wisest and safest to take precautions that will save us the annoyances of peddlers and strangers who may be looking for just such opportunities as an unlocked door and a defenseless woman present.

THE NEW JUDGES.

Governor Hammond's appointments so far indicate that he pays but little attention to the recommendations and pressure of the politicians. Merit, and not political pull, is the recommendation that weighs most heavily in his estimation. In the selection of heads of state departments it is generally admitted that he acted wisely. His latest appointments are to the judiciary, and again he has given the politicians a surprise by going outside those who were generally regarded as likely to be considered and appointing men whose legal ability alone had commended them to his consideration.

In the appointment of Albert Schaller of Hastings to be associate justice of the supreme court, Governor Hammond has elevated to the bench a lawyer of extended practice and of marked ability. Because Mr. Schaller served as a member of the state senate for many years, he had become associated in the public mind with politics, but while representing his district in the senate he also was actively engaged in the practice of law and has occupied a high position among the members of the bar. He possesses a judicial temperament, has been a great student of the law and should be admirably fitted for a position on the highest appellate court of the state.

James C. Michael of St. Paul and Richard T. Daly of Renville, who have been appointed district court judges, are lawyers of high standing in the communities where they reside, and the governor's personal knowledge of their legal ability undoubtedly led to their selection.

Which is it to be this year—clean house or move?

A SELF-SUPPORTING ARMY.

Imagine a nation with a vast army that cost it nothing; with a million men fit and ready to fall into line at a moment's notice if the country needed their services for defense; with that same million men in no need of putting in weeks upon weeks in a training camp, learning the rudiments of military drill and being taught to handle a rifle without the likelihood of blowing off their own heads.

All that, mind you, without expense to the country. Can you think of any way that it could be accomplished? Or if it could be accomplished, do you suppose there would be anything short of chaos itself that could keep a nation from adopting the system? Wouldn't every nation on the face of the earth welcome the self-supporting army as a thing to be cultivated and cherished?

Maybe the idea sounds a bit wild, but for all that it has been suggested in all soberness—and the more you think of it the more you think what a splendid thing it would be for the army as well as for the country. Here is the suggestion, made by the Madison, Wis., State Journal, which would have Uncle Sam go to every unemployed man who wants work, and make this proposition:

"If you will enlist in my army for just one year, and you can re-enlist as often as you want to, I will put you in a fine school, teach you to read, to write, to figure; also teach you to do productive work. Out on the great Federal reservations, where nature is still almost virgin, I will establish army colonies to receive part-time training in army life and also to receive training in the mechanic arts.

"We will till the soil and raise the food that will soon be needed to keep the rest of the world from starving.

"We will study the trees and learn how to care for our forests, protecting them against fire, cutting out the surplus timber and safeguarding the headwaters of our river systems.

"We will mine the minerals and grow live stock and build roads and dam water courses for water power and irrigation, and build dikes to keep destructive floods from sweeping over our rich valleys.

"We will drain swamps and make crops grow where once floated mosquitoes and scum.

"In short, we will combine with the tasks of learning how to shoot, to march, to drill at arms, the profitable, interesting educational tasks of learning how to produce and conserve the things that civilization needs. We will be in real truth, an army of defense.

"While you work for me I will give you a man's pay and you will do a man's useful, man-building work. We will make our army earn its keep. And when your term of enlistment is at an end you will not have to go back to the city to float and drift—you will have been fitted to be a self-supporting, self-reliant soldier of peace, but ready, if war comes, to be an efficient unit of defense."

What would an army like that be worth to the country?

If March were very much more lamblike it would be in danger of losing its identity as March.

MINNESOTA'S LAND.

Two important actions were taken by the Commercial Agricultural club at its meeting at Moose Lake the other day. One was the decision to advertise the unsettled lands of Minnesota, and the other was to support the present method of having a state immigration bureau.

Every wide-awake person knows and acknowledges that advertising pays. If you have something to sell, how can you expect to sell it unless you let possible buyers know that you have it? Minnesota has valuable homestead lands, and the only logical thing for Minnesota to do is to let outsiders know of these lands and that they are obtainable. More of this kind of work has been done in the last ten years than in all the previous history of the state, but it can profitably be extended still further.

In its memorial to Governor Hammond, the club urged him to use his power to maintain the office of immigration commissioner, and to have the annual appropriation for that work increased. Whether there is any real chance of an increase or not, the work should at least be kept up to its former standard. We not only need settlers, but good settlers, and the immigration bureau helps to make sure that desirable ones are secured. The work is important, and the action of the Commercial-Agricultural club in memorializing the governor is more than justified by the efforts being made to have the legislature cut off the immigration bureau.

The Indiana legislature is to adjourn on March 8. There are some things in which other states could take lessons from Indiana.

EXPENSIVE INFORMATION.

There doesn't seem to be any great sensation over the report of Raymond B. Fosdick, special investigator for the Rockefeller Bureau of Social Hygiene, that the best policemen and police heads are those who have been trained for that work. The investigator spent some months and probably several dollars in Europe in the course of the investigation that led to that conclusion.

Inasmuch as the trained man in any occupation is very likely to be more valuable than the untrained one, it will hardly be considered that the expense of getting this particular information was justified from the standpoint of economy and efficiency. But since the acquisition of the information resulted in the putting in circulation of a few of the oil magnate's dollars, maybe it's just as well that the money was spent and the knowledge, already common to the rest of mankind, obtained for the enlightenment of the founder of the bureau and its employes.

Isn't there some way that merchant ships can be surrounded with a flotilla of mines?

Wise Was Dangerous.

Indianapolis News: One day last week Mrs. Thomas Wise called her husband's attention to the fact that his clothing was growing shabby.

"In 'The Song of Songs' you are a dude," she remarked, "but on the street you look like a tramp."

After a debate, in which Mr. Wise, being a husband, lost miserably, it was decided that he should purchase a new outfit.

"But what shall I do with these old clothes?" asked Wise, pointing to his expansive exterior.

"Send them to the destitute," suggested his wife.

"Great idea!" exclaimed Wise, removing his coat of 52-inch measurement, and his three-laps-to-a-mile trousers. "Send this suit to four or five Belgians."

China's Wall Firm.

Tit-Bits: Few people realize what an almost perfect condition prevails along a large part of the great wall of China. The bricks of the parapet are as firm as ever, and their edges have stood the severe climatic conditions of North China with scarcely a break. The paving along the top of the wall is so smooth that one may ride over it with a bicycle, and the great granite blocks with which it is faced are smooth and as closely fitted as when put in place more than 2,000 years ago. The entire length of this wall is 1,400 miles; it is twenty-two feet high and twenty feet in thickness. At intervals of 100 yards or so there are towers some forty feet in height.

Applied Geography.

Boston Transcript: She was eating her first Country Club ice cream, and pointing to the pistachio part in the center, she said to the young man she was dining with: "What is that?"

"Oh, that's an oasis," he replied.

"A what?"

"An oasis—a little green spot in the dessert, you know."

Love and Riches

New York Letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

They had been deeply in love when they married. That was ten years ago. Much had happened in ten years, and in their case they had drifted apart. At first there were little scraps, mended by a kiss and a few loving words. By degrees the rift became larger. She wanted the comforts, if not the luxuries of life, and told him many times of the motor cars and theater boxes she could have had if she had married Tom, Dick or Harry instead of him. Once he used to weave stories of a tomorrow, but tomorrow never came, and finally the friction became too much for him.

"You are never satisfied," he said after one of these quarrels. "You have no belief in me. Perhaps I don't amount to much. We don't get on. You remain here and I'll find a place for myself. I'll let you have enough to keep you going—$25 a week."

She agreed to this joyfully, and in a few days he removed to a furnished room not many blocks away. Each week she received an envelope with the stipulated amount in it. Otherwise they lived as strangers.

The man had only left himself enough out of his salary to keep himself alive. There was no overplus for amusements, and his chief recreation was reading at the public library.

One evening, having finished his evening paper, he took up a pencil and began to draw on the edge. He had a sense of humor and was making a comic picture of something he had just read. He was fond of drawing and had given much time to it before his marriage. Then he took a sheet of paper and drew comic sketches, and they amused him so much that just for fun he sent one to a comic paper. It was accepted and the editor asked for more. He kept on drawing and in three years had attained a reputation under the name of "Scorn." Meanwhile his wife lived on in the old house, perfectly contented and only slightly curious when her allowance was gradually increased. When one day the envelope contained $50 she decided to go after him. She called at the place where he had been employed when they parted and asked to see him. The clerk grinned.

"He left over a year ago."

She rushed to the house where he had roomed. "He left over a year ago," she was informed. Still the $50 arrived regularly.

In California lives a thin man who is something of a cynic. His reputation as a comic artist is established and money comes easily to him. Once a pretty woman asked him why he lived alone.

"I have a wife," he told her. "I left her because she didn't believe in me. I am never going to take her back. It hurts a man to be tied to a bundle of pessimism in petticoats."

"And did she love you?" the pretty woman asked.

"I hardly think so."

Once his agents wrote him that she wanted to know where he lived.

"Tell her," he wrote, "that I am in the Town of Tomorrow."

And she understood.

Some Compliment

Preston, Minn., Times: It is not often an editor hands himself a compliment. But this is the exception, and that is just what we are doing, because a certain well-known citizen of this community has persistently recognized the value of this paper as a disseminator of local news, and has paid us this peer of all compliments in a manner which speaks volumes for his knowledge of the good things of life. He is not destitute of this world's goods, and he possesses the rare faculty of holding on to that which he gets, lest the pangs of poverty overtake him in his declining years. He possesses a wide knowledge of local affairs, because he is a constant reader of this paper, and the knowledge extracted therefrom is turned to good account in his own behalf. If an important event is soon to occur he knows of it in advance, because he has read of it in this paper. If there is a bargain to be had anywhere in the community he is promptly apprised of the fact, because that, too, he has read of in this paper.

He is a man of wisdom—a pillar of strength—with a brain which absorbs to the utmost of the essence of life. Few things escape his notice—he is ever on the alert. But the one thing which he never overlooks is this paper, and therein lies the compliment which we take unto ourself. It gives us a feeling that we are something more than a mere human worm, that we are even a whole cog in the community wheel. True, he is not a subscriber to the paper—his dollar never reaches this office—but he reads the paper just the same. His neighbor is a subscriber, and pays in advance, and in his generosity he sends the paper to the "pillar of strength"—by request.

But it may not always be so. In time we have hopes that the "pillar" will pay us the super-compliment of permitting us to humbly add his own distinguished name to our subscription list. Time works wonders—even in the newspaper field. Yes, we have hopes—strong hopes.

The Party Man.

Perham, Minn., Enterprise-Bulletin: The Democratic administration is undergoing the severest criticism in its history. The era of good feeling departed when the opposition found that it meant a return to the Democrats of power for another four years. But it is good to have criticism. There is nothing sacred about an administration. It must be able to withstand the most searching and often unfair criticism. If it cannot it will inevitably fall. Much of the criticism is biased, much of it is founded upon partisanship; but there is always that which goes unerringly to the mark and is essentially just. To be able to tell the false from the true is the duty of the citizen and it is a heavy duty.

That is why parties hold so many in line. The formula never changes; the great parties are supposed to stand for certain things; the strict party man joins that with which he is in agreement. Thence onward he is never required to think.

His thinking is done for him. He is never required to weigh and consider; to taunt himself with the possibility of making a wrong selection.

The selecting is done for him; he is immune from worry. He cheers for its candidates, votes its ticket, rejoices in its victory, weeps over its defeats and dies happy in the thought that he has faithfully discharged his duty as a citizen. We need the party man, however, for he is the ballast in the ship, the thing that is carried when there is nothing else worth while.

Set No Bounds.

J. C. Hare: We need not be afraid that we shall go too far in serving others. There is no danger that any of us will ever go too far in the walk of active love. There is no likelihood that any of us will become too bountiful, too kind, too helpful to his neighbor.

How Turkey Got In

Editorial in the Kansas City Times.

Turkey, for weeks professing earnestly its neutrality, finally plunged into the war apparently without provocation. What was the inner history of the event?

Sir Edwin Pears, the great English authority on things Turkish, gives the answer in the London Nation. Residence in Constantiople up to the last, as well as his prolonged experience in the empire, gives him the right to speak with authority. His explanation is that from the outset there was a peace party and a war party in the Turkish government. The superior energy of the war party finally triumphed.

The head of the peace party was Said Halim, grand vizier. With him were a majority of the ministers. But the minority war party, headed by Enver Pasha, minister for war, had the advantage of prestige and of bold determination. Said Halim repeatedly assured the British ambassador that Turkey would remain neutral, and everybody who knew the grand vizier believed him sincere. "Too much confidence," Sir Edwin says, "was placed in his statements, though not in his good faith."

Meanwhile Enver Pasha was in constant conference with the German ambassador and with Admiral Suchon, who was in command of the Goeben, one of the German ships that took refuge in Constantinople at the outbreak of the war. Enver had the prestige of being the one man who kept his confidence in the darkest days of the Balkan war, and of being the conqueror of Adrianople.

Through the matters that came under his direction in the war department he constantly tried to commit breaches of neutrality that would provoke the allies to war, while Said Halim was as assiduous in explaining everything away and in making apologies. The peace party felt confident that by preserving Turkey inactive, neutrality could be maintained.

Because of the popularity of Enver Pasha and his power with the army the minister dared not dismiss him. But early in October a council was held in the palace at the request of the crown prince at which it was announced that no declaration of war could be made without the council's consent. In the light of subsequent events the Russians felt that the time to the end of October was used by Turkey for military preparations and that the protests of Said Halim were lies. Sir Edwin does not accept this view. "The case was one of drift on the one side," he says, "and unscrupulous endeavor on the other."

To force the issue Enver in conjunction with his German advisers sent the German ships to bombard Odessa. On the evening of Oct. 29 a party of Englishmen dining in Constantinople received a telegram announcing the bombardment. One of them, who had just left Jemal Pasha, minister of marine, felt sure the telegram could not be true. So he went at once to Jemal's club, called him into a private room and showed him the dispatch.

"Jemal went green, expressed intense and genuine suprise and incredulity, and swore on the head of his daughter—an oath which no Turk lightly utters—that he, minister of marine though he was, knew nothing of it." It was found that the grand vizier and the minister of the interior were similarly ignorant. Enver Bey was rung up. He knew what had happened. The strong man had dominated the situation and forced his country into war against the will of a less determined majority.

No Room for Hate

From a French officer's letter to his fiancee in Paris, published in the New York Call: There are two other men lying near me, and I do not think there is much hope for them, either. One is an officer of a Scottish regiment, and the other a private in the Uhlans. They were struck down after me, and when I came to myself, I found them bending over me, rendering first aid.

The Britisher was pouring water down my throat from his flask, while the German was endeavoring to stanch my wound with an antiseptic preparation served out to them by their medical corps. The Highlander had one of his legs shattered, and the German had several pieces of shrapnel buried in his side.

In spite of their own sufferings, they were trying to help me, and when I was fully conscious again the German gave us a morphia injection and took one himself. His medical corps had also provided him with the injection and the needle, together with printed instructions for its use.

After the injection, feeling wonderfully at ease, we spoke of the lives we had lived before the war. We all spoke English, and we talked of the women we had left at home. Both the German and the Britisher had only been married a year.

I wondered, and I suppose the others did, why we had fought one another at all. I looked at the Highlander, who was falling asleep, exhausted, and in spite of his drawn face and mud-stained uniform, he looked the embodiment of freedom. Then I thought of the tricolor of France and all that France had done for liberty. Then I watched the German, who had ceased to speak. He had taken a prayer book from his knapsack and was trying to read a service for soldiers wounded in battle.

Centenary of Trousers.

Boston Globe: One hundred years ago Napoleon returned from Elba, the battle of Waterloo was fought—and trousers were introduced into polite society at the capitals of Western Europe.

When powdered wigs disappeared, save from the craniums of lawyers in court, and the wearing of high hats became general (the historians of fashion say), it quickly became obvious that some appropriate change must also be made at the other end of the male figure. Knee breeches and silk stockings did not correspond with the stovepipes. So the reformers set themselves to work to devise nether garments congruous with the new headpieces. The result was pantaloons as we know them.

And the Duke of Wellington had the moral courage to don the strange things in London before they were regarded there as strictly en regle.

The centenary of trousers should be commemorated by American men in 1915 with such ceremonious observances as may be deemed most suitable.

Excellent Fishing.

Indianapolis News: He had just returned from Lake Manitou and, of course, was telling his friends of his success at fishing.

"Are there many fish up there?" asked one friend.

"Thousands of them," replied the angler.

"Will they bite easily?" asked another friend.

"Will they? Why, they're absolutely vicious. A man has to hide behind a tree to bait a hook."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the senate was holding all-night sessions recently and the members were sleeping about in committee rooms on hired cots, there was no senator so little concerned about the sleep proposition as Hoke Smith of Georgia. Although there is more of him to go to sleep than any other senator, Ollie James alone excepted, Hoke Smith can sleep on a moment's notice at almost any time or place and regardless of distracting influences. He closes up his mind just as one might close a Saratoga trunk, and none of the worries or petty annoyances of the day enter therein. Hoke Smith did not lose a minute of sleep during the all-night sessions of the senate—even though he expressed some little jealousy of Senator Chilton, who occupied the bridal chamber, as the president's room in the capitol was called when it was converted into a temporary bedroom. Although he was aroused to come in and vote several times during the night, Hoke Smith suffered no inconvenience. Having voted, he returned to his couch and was asleep again on the instant.

Some years ago Hoke Smith was on a campaign tour and was asleep on the train. A rival candidate had just uttered some vicious things about Smith which might have changed the entire aspect of the campaign—so much so that Ralph Smith, one of the newspaper men on the train, felt justified in arousing Smith to tell him what had happened.

"That will require considerable thought," remarked Smith, "but I'll let it go till morning. Just now I want to get my sleep." And without further delay he was asleep.

The next morning he was extremely angry over the remarks of the rival candidate—as angry as any one could have been. But he had calmly postponed his anger until he had first disposed of all the sleep in his system.

Senator Culberson of Texas dislikes nothing so much as to be asked questions. It does not matter how harmless the question, Culberson prefers to keep his own counsel and tell no one exactly what he thinks about a given proposition. As one of Culberson's friends puts it:

"He would walk a block to avoid meeting a man who might ask him the time of day."

The same man put into language another trait of the Texas senator. Culberson likes to play things safely, taking just as few chances as possible.

"If he were going to kill an ant," his friend says, "he would like to have the ant fastened securely in a vice and then shoot it with a ten-inch gun."

Members of congress are called upon to perform many a cute little chore. The other day Representative Kettner of California received a letter from a constituent who wished to obtain the full ramifications of his family tree. He knew his ancestry as far back as his grandfather, but that was all. What he wanted was to get his English line of descent clear on back to William the Conqueror or some of the rest of his early kin, whoever they might be. So he wrote to Kettner:

"I voted for you both times, and this is the first trifling favor I have asked of you. Get hold of the British ambassador and see if you and he can't trace out my full genealogical entitlements."

The man doubtless assumed that the congressman and the British ambassador would link arms, stroll over to the Congressional library, and there stick by the task until they had ascertained the pedigree in detail along with all the quaint and delightful little traits of his earliest ancestors, from the cave folk on down.

Fathers—Mothers!

Madison, Wis., State Journal: Scold the boy.

Nag him all the time.

Make home a dismal place, still as a graveyard, clean as a new pin, chilly as ice.

Tell him often how bad boys are now, and how good they were when you were a boy.

This method can not fail. The boy will soon see that there is no use of his trying to be good.

Forget that you ever were a boy and govern him accordingly.

Sentence the boy to be an old man.

Choose what he shall read. Be careful that it is dry as dust, heavy as lead, old as the hills—fine "conservative" "literature" with no nonsense in it.

See to it that he is constantly "improving his mind" and never wastes any time on mere fun.

And may God have mercy on your boy—and you, for boys reared according to this ironclad plan are more than likely to bring your gray hairs to shame. But—to make him happy—and perhaps good and useful is easy!

Be young with him—young at heart—and you can have much to do with the guiding of his ship of life.

No Christian There.

Boston Advertiser: Some years ago a Philadelphia merchant sent a cargo of goods to Constantinople. After the supercargo saw the bales and boxes safely landed, he inquired where they could be stored.

"Leave them here—it won't rain tonight," was the reply.

"But I dare not leave them thus exposed; some of the goods might be stolen," said the supercargo. The Mohammedan merchant burst into a loud laugh as he replied:

"Don't be alarmed; there isn't a Christian within fifty miles of here."

Song From "Drake."

Now the purple night is past,
Now the moon more faintly glows,
Dawn has through thy casement cast
Roses on thy breast, a rose;
Now the kisses are all done,
Now the world awakes anew,
Now the charmed hour is gone,
Let not love go, too.

When old winter, creeping nigh,
Sprinkles raven hair with white,
Dims the brightly glancing eye,
Laughs away the dancing light,
Roses may forget their sun,
Lilies may forget their dew,
Beauties perish, one by one,
Let not love go, too.

Palaces and towers of pride
Crumble year by year away;
Creeds like robes are laid aside,
Even our very tombs decay!
When the all-conquering moth and rust
Gnaw the goodly garment through,
When the dust returns to dust,
Let not love go, too.

Kingdoms melt away like snow,
Gods are spent like wasting flames,
Hardly the new peoples know
Their divine thrice-worshiped names!
At the last great hour of all,
When Thou makest all things new,
Father, hear Thy children call,
Let not love go, too.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Ah, and the Summers!

Red Lake Falls Gazette: The Duluth Herald is boasting about the mild winter weather in Duluth. We'll take your word for it—and attend the editorial outing next summer.

Some Price, Though.

Virginia Enterprise: The servant is worthy of his hire and Billy Sunday is cheap to the average town at any price. Duluth could pay a million for him and make money. This being true, what would he be worth to the ranges?

Would Prefer Live Man.

Ely Miner: The ideal husband as pictured by a Duluth minister must possess the following virtues: "He must be truthful, industrious, temperate, clean, cheerful, optimistic, tidy, steadfast, the soul of integrity, honest, shrewd in business, kind, fond of children, strong, stalwart, a sworn enemy of liquor and tobacco, amiably disposed, of quiet domestic tastes, a fair cook, and he mustn't gamble." The girl that wants to marry a corpse is at liberty to do so, but we believe the ordinary girl would prefer a live man.

Would Effect Economy.

St. Cloud Times: Chester A. Congdon, multimillionaire Duluthian, believes that if he were governor of Minnesota and the reorganization bill prepared by the economy and efficiency commission became a law he could save one-fourth of the present cost of administration of the state government. Mr. Congdon was a member of the commission. If he can, Governor Hammond can.

Duluth Sure Will.

Bemidji Pioneer: With more than 200 editors in attendance the annual convention of the Minnesota State Editorial association was held at St. Paul. The state association will be asked to join the Northern Minnesota Editorial association at its Duluth outing next summer and from all indications the party will be most enjoyable. Let's all join and help make it a success. Duluth will do its share.

Little Danger.

Stillwater Gazette: No doubt Congressman Miller of Duluth was thinking of his city when he yesterday declared New York city could be bombarded and taken in five hours by foreign foes. Possibly Miller fears the foe might sail in and capture Duluth, putting him out of the running.

Has Arrived.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Duluth is arriving at the real city state. It has an automobile show.

The World Needs Fixing.

Tower News: "Closed for Repairs" is the way a cartoon in The Duluth Herald announces the arrival of Lent. The old world does need fixing at times. There are many reasons why Lent should continue for the twelve-month instead of the forty days. Should everybody observe Lent during the entire year, there would be much to commend in their action.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

To every truly established Christian there ought to be a fixed standard of faith and duty, a great revelation from God of His privilege and obligation in every respect from the beginning to the end of eternity. We must put God to the end of eternity. We must put God to the front, and then remember that the standard of holiness which we are to attain must never be lowered to meet the necessity of man's circumstances, but must remain the same, the absolutely true and perfect standard of God Himself. If God were ever to lower His standard to meet my requirements there could never be satisfaction through eternity for us creatures, because we hope to rise higher and higher, to be nearer and nearer to God. If I fouhd that God had lowered His standard of holiness to meet my ideas down here in my imperfection, how could I reverence Him as the absolute and all-perfect one.—H. W. Webb-Peploe.

The more your religion costs you, the richer returns it will bring you.—Theodore L. Cuyler.

Three things to govern—Temper, tongue, conduct.

Three things to cultivate—Courage, affection, gentleness.

Three things to despise—Cruelty, arrogance, ingratitude.

Three things to wish for—Health, friends, contentment.

Three things to admire—Dignity, gracefulness, intellectual power.

Three things to give—Alms to the needy, comfort to the sad, appreciation to the worthy.—Exchange.

A Cloudburst of Baby Shoes.

Editor and Publisher: A few days ago the stork left an infant at the White House. It was a somewhat notable event.

No sooner had the news been published than a bright idea occurred at the same moment to a large number of enterprising shoemakers, namely, that it would be a good advertising stunt to send the baby, Francis Sayre, a pair of shoes. Every one of those manufacturers forthwith got busy and forwarded by messenger, parcel post or express the choicest pair of liliputian boots they had in stock.

For two weeks it rained infant shoes at the White House. They came from all parts of the country, and came so fast that one member of the president's staff was detailed to sign the receipts for them. And still they came. At first they were piled upon a table, and then on the floor, until they overflowed into a storeroom. They came in individual pairs, in half-dozen lots, in boxes holding a dozen, and finally in cases. Before the tide ebbed there were enough shoes in the White House to supply a foundling asylum for several years.

As an advertising scheme the sending of shoes to the new Sayre baby was a failure. If only one manufacturer had made a present to the youngster possibly his name might have found its way into print. But when several hundred did the same thing it killed the scheme. Their experience simply confirms what seasoned advertisers already know, namely, that it is originality that counts.

A well-constructed ad full of punch and pulling power may be used with great success by one man, but it does not follow that a hundred other advertisers can win similar success by using the same ad. It is up to them to use their own wits, not lean on the inventive intelligence of the other fellow.

To Be Sure.

The Funny Printer.

From Associated Advertising: Let us all try to console ourselves, when our clients tear their hair over some typographical error, that to err is human—especially to err typographically. Some of the finest jokes extant come through the fact the printer's finger slips. Here are some which, like all others, are funny a long, long, long time afterward—never at the time.

A Chicago paper, in reporting a political meeting, said that the vast audience rent the air with their snouts.

Another Chicago paper reported that the propeller Alaska was leaving port with a cargo of 40,000 bushels of cats.

A Buffalo paper, in describing the scene when Roosevelt took the oath of office as president, said it was a spectacle never to be forgotten when Roosevelt, before the chief justice of supreme court and a few witnesses, took his simple bath.

Protecting the Horses.

New York American: An officer on the retired list tells of a raw recruit just enrolled in a crack cavalry troop of our army. He was paying his first visit to the riding ground.

"Here's your horse," said the instructor. The recruit advanced, took bridle gingerly and examined his mount with great care.

"What's it got this strap around it for?" he asked, pointing to the girth.

"Well," explained the instructor, solemnly, "you see, all our horses have a keen sense of humor, an' as they sometimes has sudden fits of laughter when they see the recruits tryin' to ride, we puts them bands around 'em to keep 'em from bustin' their sides!"

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of certain religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

ARTICLES IN THE HERALD ARE APPRECIATED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to express the deep appreciation felt by the officers and directors of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association and by myself personally of the splendid co-operation extended by The Herald in connection with the fourth annual farm crops show.

The Herald has always been very loyal and liberal in connection with the valley and with our development association and has been a big factor in making our gatherings and general work successful.

It was a splendid feature and will add to the ever-increasing number of friends which The Herald has in this section of the state.

When we get that Wonderland trail finished from Duluth through Crookston, I promise you an automobile tour, under the auspices of the development association, with at least 100 autos.

Again thanking you for your valuable assistance, I remain, yours very cordially, N. S. DAVIES.

Secretary Minnesota Red River Valley Development Association.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 25.

BELTRAMI'S AUDITOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly tell me, through the Open Court, who is county auditor of Beltrami county and his address? Yours very truly, R. C. MURRAY.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 25.

J. L. George of Bemidji, Minn.—The Editor.

LOOTING THE PINERIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would like to have some one, a retired state politician, for instance, tell me who gave Weyerhaeuser, O'Brien and a few others permission to go ahead and loot and plunder the great pineries of Northern Minnesota.

These men, through their greedy, unsystematic logging operations, driven on through a fear that the public would awaken before they had completed their destruction, have left in their wake a burned-over area of such utter desolation that any one who had viewed the forests before their annihilation would, if he had any sentiment or conception of deliberate waste, feel inclined to weep.

But, you see, they wanted to get rich quick, and the state officials were too kind-hearted to interfere and compel them to use a little system and at least give the seedlings and second growth a chance by burning the slashings.

Mr. Weyerhaeuser and Mr. O'Brien are now millionaires several times over; the state, I guess, got a little something out of the stumpage, and as for the dear people, the lumber trust will take care of them.

WILLIAM GRISSINGER.

Hinckley, Minn., Feb. 25.

SUFFRAGE DEBATE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We are about to have a debate on the woman suffrage question. I would like to have information on both sides of that question printed in the Open Court columns. Thanking you in advance, I remain, Yours very truly,

ANTON J. EID.

Flaming, Minn., Feb. 24.

The limited space of the Open Court column does not permit of the arguments being presented here, but the Editor feels confident that this will reach the eye of some good suffragist and you will receive some literature—The Editor.

CIVIL SERVICE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in your issue of Feb. 24, that a civil service examination for stenographers for the canal zone service will be held in Duluth on March 15. Will you kindly give particulars in your column as to this examination, where it will be held and at what time conducted? Yours truly,

A REGULAR SUBSCRIBER.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 26.

Write to E. M. Barker, Duluth postoffice, and he will give you detailed information—The Editor.

SETTLING A BET.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you please settle this bet through your Open Court column?

"A" bet on Red Watson.

"B" bet on Pal Brown.

No newspaper decision was to be taken, but bets were to be paid on whom the referee awarded the decision. Thanking you, I am, yours very truly,

J. S. K.

Duluth, Feb. 27.

No referee's decision can be given under Wisconsin laws. You should both get your money back—The Editor.

GRAIN PRICES AND THE PUBLIC.

To the Editor of The Herald:

For fifty years the industrial promoter, whether transportation, mechanical, mining or merchandising, with the aid of the stock jobber, has cost the innocent investor hundreds of millions of dollars. Organized lotteries in their day have also been a great menace to the general public, just the same as the horse and other forms of gambling, to which a dormant public at last awoke and had laws inaugurated prohibiting those plundering concerns from their nefarious practices.

In like manner, for fifty years the agriculturist has permitted a system of merchandising his products, which has cost him many millions of dollars annually. At this late day he continues to wait (as the helpless infant) for some leader (no more capable than himself) to create and inaugurate an honorable and just system of exchange of these products between man and man. We all observe that after harvest the prices of our products are usually depressed, and the moment these same products reach the hands of the speculator the prices start up at leaps and bounds, until they are boosted to the highest possible limit.

From Feb. 15 to 20, Chicago prices of wheat hovered around $1.60 to $1.65. The following week started with a decline of from 1½ to 14 cents, which, we all know, is unnatural, unbusinesslike and debasing in its effect in any manner you look at it. Last week the miller who quoted you $8.50 per barrel for flour, offers the same flour for $8 this week. Has the miller been defrauded by the price inflator to the extent of 50 cents per barrel? Was he not, therefore, obliged to extort this additional 50 cents from his clientage? However, in the end the unsuspecting public pays the bill.

War or no war, if supply and demand, which should be the regulator of prices, instead of the privileged gambler, the consumers of bread in the United States alone would have profited in the last six months to the extent of more than $200,000,000. These conditions, we all know, are true, and we all know they can be remedied. The question then arises: "Why does not a public conscience arise and demand a halt to this high-handed robbery which benefits the few at the expense of the many?" Yours truly,

WILLIAM ZINSMASTER.

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 25.

A QUESTION OF FORM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In being introduced to a woman, is it proper to take her hand or to merely bow? If both are admissible which is better form. Yours respectfully,

Duluth, Feb. 27. E. J.

If it is merely a casual introduction, it is better form to simply bow and smile and perhaps give some spoken acknowledgment, such as to repeat her name. If you are meeting her at an informal gathering in your home, or hers, or among intimate friends, it is permissible to shake hands and make the meeting a little more cordial.—The Editor.

GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Does the government of the United States own the public buildings in Washington, D. C., or are they owned by private individuals. If owned by private individuals what rent does the government pay for the use of them.

GEORGE COFFRON.

Biwabik, Minn., Feb. 27.

The government owns most of them. A few buildings are rented by the government.—The Editor.

ELECTRIC CARS AND NATIONAL HOLIDAYS.

To The Editor of The Herald:

Here are a few questions for your Open Court column:

Where was the first electric street car operated in the United States or the world?

How many (and what are they) national legal holidays have we? Respectfully yours, T. H. B.

Ranier, Minn., Feb. 25.

In 1835 Thomas Davenport built the first electric railway at Brandon, Vt. It was a working model only.

There are no national legal holidays. —The Editor.

WHO WAS FREDA?

To the Editor of The Herald:

With your permission I would like to ask if some one could, through the Open Court column, give me a little information on a subject that has given me more or less concern lately.

Who was Freda? What time did she live? Is she mentioned in the Scriptures? If so, where? I think the answer to these questions will set the party right that was asking, through this column about who Adam and Eve's children married. I would like to hear from some one who is better posted on this subject than the writer. Yours respectfully, A. L. J.

Duluth, Feb. 24.

HEATING APPARATUS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please answer the following questions: Which is the more healthful and most economical, hot-air or hot-water heat? Thanking you in advance, I am, yours truly, CARL NELSON.

Duluth, Feb. 27.

Mr. Nelson's question is too general to be answered definitely one way or the other. The choice depends on climatic conditions, the size of the building, and the purpose for which it is to be used. For a large building, hot water or steam is now used almost exclusively, in cold climates like Minnesota. In houses where an equable temperature is desired, the hot water is generally recommended. Both systems have much to recommend them, and the Editor would advise Mr. Nelson to go to some reputable firm handling heating apparatus, and get an opinion, which would undoubtedly be given free. If the dealer knew the size of the building, the location, the uses to which it was to be put, and the desires of the occupants as to letting the temperature fall at night or maintaining an equable temperature throughout the twenty-four hours, he would get much more valuable advice than the Editor could give him.—The Editor.

HEALTH TALKS

William Brady, M.D.

Giving the Baby a Fair Start

IN ORDER to give the baby a really fair start you must begin, as Holmes wrote, about a hundred years before he is born. But, assuming that you have been preparing for his arrival these past hundred years, there are still a few lesser details you must consider.

To begin right, he has to have the food the Creator designed for him, else he cannot be an A-1 baby. True, he may worry along somehow on modified milk if you have lots of time and the inclination to fuss with artificial food hours each day. But if you want to raise a prize winner you must raise him on Old Doctor Nature's Peerless Baby Food.

Now, the first thing to teach the baby is that there is no such thing as a bogey-man in the dark. He must go to bed early, 4 o'clock in the afternoon at first, 5 o'clock after he is a year old, 6 o'clock after 2 years, 7 o'clock after 4 years, 8 o'clock after 6 years. And he must go to bed in a darkened room, and alone. Nothing worse than a light in his room, or a foolish mother or nurse crooning foolish slumber songs. Baby must be taught to retire at bedtime regularly without any artificial hypnotics or how-de-do. That is best for baby's health and for mother's, too. And the only reason every baby does not acquire that desirable habit is that every baby's mother is not as careful as she might be in training her baby.

Regular Habits.

Regularity in feeding is the next essential in the raising of a prize baby. Not every time he cries, but only when the clock says feeding time, and then only the regular amount of food. It is very easy to err in this, and by erring to start digestive troubles which make the baby cry a lot more.

Be it strictly ordered that under no circumstances shall grandma or the neighbors take up the baby and churn his dinner in his little tummy. Jiggling must be prohibited absolutely unless you really want to have the doctor in. After meals the baby should rest quietly if he cannot sleep. Surely it is the worst time of day to shake him up. No other little animal gets jiggled after meals, and a baby is nothing but a little helpless animal.

Questions and Answers.

That Uric Acid Nonsense Again: Another reader sends in a circular entitled "The ———s Treatment," which informs the victim that "rheumatism is caused by uric acid"—rheumatism and a whole lot of other troubles beside.

REPLY.

Uric acid has nothing whatever to do with rheumatism. If it had, no such all-round panacea would help matters.

Abusing the Pharmacopoeia: By the way, one of the common tricks of the patent medicine trade is to claim that "all ingredients are standard drugs listed in the United States Pharmacopoeia, the official standard for doctors and druggists." Incidentally, it would be hard to concoct a shotgun formula without incorporating official Pharmacopoeial drugs, for the simple reason that nearly all drugs, good, bad and indifferent, are there listed. This trick is like the one which tells you the nostrum "contains no alcohol" but fails to mention the opium or other dope in the formula. It is also like the trick of saying "prescribed by scores of doctors and highly recommended by druggists." Unfortunately certain members of both professions sell honor to any bidder.

Acetone Breath: What is the cause of the heavy, sweetish odor on the breath of a child who has frequent attacks of acute indigestion with high fever?

REPLY.

It is acetone in the expired air, acetone being formed by fermentation. Alkalies are useful—milk of magnesia, ordinary saleratus or Seidlitz powders.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"Where the Silvery Colorado Wends Its Way," from Ethel McKeever of Duluth, and a Hermantown subscriber.

"The Cremation of Sam McGee," from Albert Johnstad of Duluth, and M. H. Girard of Ashland.

"The Cruel Hiss," from Gladys Fitzpatrick of Iron River, Mich.

"If You Love Them Tell Them So," "Opportunity" and "Begin Again," from Mrs. Tillie Anderson of Boy River, Minn.

Requests have been received for the following: "The Spell of the Yukon," from Albert Johnstad of Duluth.

From R. J. Gray of Pine City the rest of the poem beginning: "Go kneel as I have knelt; go pray as I have prayed; strive that besotted heart to melt, that downward course to stay," etc.

From Mrs. E. J. D. of Cook, "The Dying Cowboy," which begins "As I went to Linden," and "Fanny More" or "Down in Yonder Valley."

"Opportunity."

Master of human destinies am I.
Fame, love and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk, I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote—and passing by
Hovel or mart or palace, soon or late,
I knock unbidden once at every gate;
If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate;
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate
Condemned to failure, penury and woe
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore;
I answer not and I return no more.
—John J. Ingalls.

"Begin Again."

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every day is a world made new;
You who are weary of sorrow and sinning,
Here is a beautiful hope for you—
A hope for me and a hope for you.

All the past things are past and over,
The tasks are done and the tears are shed;
Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover;
Yesterday's wounds, which smarted and bled,
Are healed with the healing which night has shed.

Yesterday now is a part of forever,
Bound up in a sheaf, which God holds tight;
With glad days, and sad days, and bad days which never Shall visit us more with their bloom and their blight,
Their fullness of sunshine or sorrowful night.

Let them go, since we cannot relieve them,
Cannot undo and cannot atone;
God in His mercy, receive, forgive them;
Only the new days are our own,
Today is ours, and today alone.
—Susan Coolidge.

If You Love Them, Tell Them So.

Oh, my friend, it would be better
If to those we love we gave
Tender words while they are with us,
Than to speak them o'er the grave.
Those who die no longer need them;
Words they longed so much to know
While they lived are only wasted
On the cold, deaf ear below.

Many a heart is, oh, so hungry
For a little word of love;
Speak them, and as the sunshine
Gilds the lofty peaks above,
So the joy of those who hear it
Sends a radiance down life's way,
And the world is brighter, better,
For the loving words we say.

Tell the wife who walks beside you
Faithfully, whate'er betide,
That you love her, and the telling
Makes the day seem glorified.
Just a little, simple telling
Of your love for her! Ah, me!
If we knew each poor heart's longing,
How much kinder would we be!

Tell the children how you love them,
With a tender clasp and kiss;
Tell your friends about your friendship,
Let them know how warm it is.
Loving words will cost us little,
But their value who can know
To the hearts that hunger for them?
If you love them, tell them so.
—Author unknown.

"Where the Silvery Colorado Wends Its Way."

The twilight softly gathers 'round my home among the hills,
And all nature will soon settle down to rest,
While I sit and sadly ponder and my heart with longing fills,
As I often think of one that I loved best;
We were wedded in the June-time, and our hearts then knew no pain,
Fair nature seeme to smile on us that day;
Now she sleeps beneath the lilacs and she'll ne'er come back again,
Where the silv'ry Colorado wends its way.

There's a sob on every breeze,
And a sigh comes from the trees,
And the meadow lark now croons a sadder lay,
For the sun light plays no more
'Round my cheerless cabin door,
Where the silv'ry Colorado wends its way.

The silv'ry snow is gleaming on yon distant mountain side,
Where we often used to wonder, Nell and I,
And the birds are gaily singing in the valley far below,
Where I long some day to lay me down and die;
Then our lives were gay and happy, in the shadow of the hills,
My heart beat fonder for her day by day;
And I feel her presence near me as I sit alone tonight,
Where the silv'ry Colorado wends its way.

The Cremation of Sam McGee.

There are strange things done in the midnight sun
By the men who moil for gold,
The Arctic trails have their secret tales
That would make your blood run cold,
The Northern Lights have seen queer sights,
But the queerest they ever did see
Was that night on the marge of Lake Lebarge
I cremated Sam McGee.

Now Sam McGee was from Tennessee, where the cotton blooms and blows,
Why he left his home in the South to roam 'round the Pole, God only knows.
He was always cold, but the land of gold seemed to hold him like a spell,
Though he'd often say in his homely way that "he'd sooner live in hell."

On a Christmas day we were mushing our way over the Dawson trail.
Talk of your cold, through the parka's fold it stabbed like a driven nail.
If our eyes we'd close, then the lashes froze till sometimes we couldn't see,
It wasn't much fun, but the only one to whimper was Sam McGee.

And that very night, as we lay packed tight in our robes beneath the snow,
And the dogs were fed, and the stars o'erhead were dancing heel and toe,
He turned to me, and "Cap," says he, "I'll cash in this trip, I guess,
And if I do, I'm asking that you won't refuse my last request."

Well, he seemed so low that I couldn't say no, then he says with a sort of moan:
"It's the cursed cold, and it's got right hold till I'm chilled clean through to the bone.
Yet 'taint being dead—it's my awful dread of the icy grave that pains,
So I want you to swear that, foul or fair, you'll cremate my last remains."

A pal's last need is a thing to heed, so I swore I would not fail,
And we started on at the streak of dawn, but, God, he looked ghastly pale.
He crouched on the sleigh, and he raved all day of his home in Tennessee,
And before nightfall a corpse was all that was left of Sam McGee.

There wasn't a breath in that land of death, and I hurried, horror driven,
With a corpse half hid that I couldn't get rid, because of a promise given,
It was lashed to the sleigh, and it seemed to say: "You may tax your brawn and brains,
But you promised true, and it's up to you to cremate those last remains."

Now a promise made is a debt unpaid, and the trail has its own stern code.
In the days to come, though my lips were dumb, in my heart how I cursed that load.
In the long, long night, by the lone firelight, while the huskies, round in a ring,
Howled out their woes to the homeless snows—O God, how I loathed the thing.

And every day that quiet clay seemed to heavy and heavier grow,
And on I went, though the dogs were spent and the grub was getting low,
The trail was bad, and I felt mad, but I swore I would not give in,
And I'd often sing to the hateful thing, and it hearkened with a grin.

Till I came to the marge of Lake Lebarge, and a derelict there lay,
It was jammed in the ice, but I saw in a trice it was called the "Alice May."
And I looked at it, and I thought a bit, and I looked at my frozen chum,
Then "Here," said I, with a sudden cry, "is my crema-tor-eum."

Some planks I tore from the cabin floor, and I lit the boiler fire,
Some coal I found that was lying around, and I heaped the fuel higher,
The flames just soared, and the furnace roared—such a blaze you seldom see,
And I burrowed a hole in the glowing coal, and I stuffed in Sam McGee.

Then I made a hike, for I didn't like to hear him sizzle so,
And heaven scowled, and the huskies howled, and the wind began to blow.
It was icy cold, but the hot sweat rolled down my cheeks, and I don't know why,
And the greasy smoke in an inky cloak went streaking down the sky.

I do not know how long in the snow I wrestled with grisly fear;
But the stars came out and they danced about ere again I ventured near;
I was sick with dread, but I bravely said: "I'll just take a peep inside.
I guess he's cooked and it's time I looked" . . . then the door I opened wide.

And there sat Sam, looking cool and calm, in the heart of the furnace roar;
And he wore a smile you could see a mile, and he said: "Please close that door.
It's fine in here, but I greatly fear you'll let in the cold and storm—
Since I left Plumtree, down in Tennessee, it's the first time I've been warm."

There are strange things done in the midnight sun
By the men who moil for gold;
The Arctic trails have their secret tales
That would make your blood run cold;
The Northern Lights have seen queer sights,
But the queerest they ever did see
Was that night on the marge of Lake Lebarge
I cremated Sam McGee.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

FOREST FIRES CAUSE HEAVY LOSS IN 1914

Flames Sweep 50,000 Acres in Minnesota; Most Fires During May.

Minnesota forests sufered heavily from fire losses during the last year, according to the annual report of State Forester William T. Cox issued recently.

"Although it was not particularly a dry season," the report says, "the number of fires reported, and the number of acres burned over in strictly forest region was only slightly less than in 1913. This is due to the fact that more fires occur in May than in any other month and that May was as dry in 1914 as in previous years.

"Forty-nine per cent of the total fires for 1914 occurred in May and these fires did 96 per cent of the damage reported for the year. The total number of fires reported for 1914 was 228. These burned over an area comprising 50,000 acres, causing an aggregate loss of merchantable timber, forest products, reproduction, hay and buildings, amounting to $61,832.

"Of these fires, 10 per cent were started by campers and hunters, 16½ per cent by railroads, 20 per cent by settlers clearing and burning brush, 16½ per cent escaped from slash burners, 8 per cent miscellaneous and 31 per cent unknown. Outside of the ranger districts, the damage done and the area burned over was about the same as in previous years."

FUR CROP STILL HOLDING ITS OWN

Nets Nearly $1,000,000 Yearly According to Report of State Forester.

Minnesota's annual fur catch runs in value from one half million to one million dollars and the trade in skins is nearly if not quite as important now as it was fifty or 100 years ago, according to William T. Cox, state forester, in an annual report which has just been issued.

"The fur crop," says the report, "is something not to be despised. It brings into the state each year a considerable sum of money and puts it into circulation in the rural and frontier districts. With a better understanding of our wild life and their requirements and the enforcement of wise laws to give the animals a chance to increase, a much larger catch would be possible. Trapping and killing only during periods when fur is prime, and handling the skins so as not to damage them would mean still further gain, for there is great waste through unwise and illtimed trapping and incorrect handling of fur.

"Desuite the encroachment of civilization, despite the devastation of the best pineries, the fur bearing animals have not disappeared, but have persisted on a remarkable way. Beaver and otter, marten and fisher, lynx and bobcat, fox, wolf, bear, raccoon, badger, mink, ermine and muskrat all are with us still."

EXTENSION PLAN EMBRACES MUSIC

Sextet Will Be Heard at Central as Part of Program.

Heralded as the biggest number of the year's university extension program, the Bostonia Sextet club will give a concert at the Central high school tonight. The club, under the direction of C. L. Staats, will be accompanied by a soprano soloist.

Since its organization in 1898, the Bostonia Sextet has acquired considerable note as a musical organization, and ranks high among those of the United States, according to critics. It has appeared in every state in the Union and throughout Canada during the many years on tour.

Director Staats, a celebrated clarinet virtuoso, who founded the club seventeen years ago, has been conductor of the sextet ever since that time.

Judging from notice given the sextet in other cities and towns of Minnesota this year, where they have appeared as part of the extension program, Duluth music lovers will be given a treat tonight.

"Tell Me the Secret"

"How do you make such delicious muffins? Mine are always so dry. And if I make the better thin they fall. How do you do it?"

"I make them about as you do, only I use K C Baking Powder. Mine always turn out well, so it must be the baking powder."

It is the baking powder. To make muffins, cakes and pastry rich and moist, yet light and feathery, a modern double acting baking powder must be used—one that will give off leavening gas in the oven as well as in the mixing bowl.

KC BAKING POWDER

is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which starts to raise as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. This sustains the raise until your muffins, biscuits or cake is done.

K C Baking Powder costs less than the old fashioned quick acting kinds, yet you need use no more and it is superior to them in every way.

New York Sails Through War Zone With Searchlights on American Flags.

Lifeboats Ready for Instant Use in Case Liner Struck a Mine.

New York, March 1.—The American liner New York arrived here today from Liverpool after having taken unusual pains to make known her nationality while passing through the war zone declared by Germany around Great Britain. In addition, extraordinary precautions against mines were observed, to the extent of having the lifeboats swung outward, ready for immediate use if necessary.

Flying the American flag, the New York left her dock in Liverpool shortly after midnight on Feb. 26. Her lights were all lighted as she steamed out to sea and some of the passengers said that searchlights played on American flags, which flew from almost every mast. The ship remained ablaze with light and with all flags up while steaming through the war zone, and until safe waters were reached. To guard against the possibility of contact with mines, a sharp lookout was maintained and everything aboard was in readiness for launching lifeboats in case a mine were encountered. Women passengers asserted that it was suggested to them that perhaps it would be better if they did not go to bed until the vessel were clear of the war zone. Some of them stayed up all night.

No Guards Seen.

Although it was reported that the New York's course was guarded by British torpedo boats to the limit of the war zone, no such craft were seen by those aboard.

The New York has 221 passengers aboard. Thirty-one of them, mostly women buyers for American business firms, came from Paris to Liverpool to catch the boat. They were delayed before reaching Liverpool, but the New York was held at her dock until they arrived, at the request of the American ambassador in London. On their way from Paris to Liverpool, whither they had hurried upon receiving word that the English channel would be closed, the party reached Dieppe ten minutes after the last boat left for Dover.

"We then hurried to the train that took us to Havre, where we caught a boat for Southampton," said Miss Elizabeth Purcell of this city, one of the number. "The boat to Southampton left Havre at 1:30 o'clock in the morning and steamed at full speed through the channel, traveling in a zigzag course with all lights out. The lifeboats were swung out, ready for emergency use and officers aboard told us to be prepared to take them at a moment's notice."

Held up at Queenstown.

Charles F. Rogers of this city, another passenger, sailed from this port for Liverpool on the Transylvania, which left New York on Jan. 23. Mr Rogers said the American passengers aboard the Transylvania were held up five days at Queenstown. The Transylvania carried a heavy cargo of guns, ammunition and aeroplanes.

"We took on thirty-five passengers at Halifax," Mr. Rogers said. "Before we reached British waters it was reported that German submarines were watching for us. The captain changed the vessel's course, going into Queenstown where we were not supposed to call. We reached there Jan. 31.

"For three days all passengers were held aboard the ship. Then the British passengers were landed. The American passengers were held two days longer. With the permission of the Transylvania's captain I sent a telegram to Ambassador Page at London, protesting against our detention. Apparently this telegram was heeded, for we were landed and transported to London. I understand that the Transylvania is still at Queenstown."

woman had then beaten him over the head with a cane. According to the police, Mateiket showed no signs of the encounter, but the police had to entertain the complaint and they locked up the woman in the West Forty-seventh street precinct in care of the matron. Detective Burgess says the woman was fully clothed when he entered the room to make the arrest.

The young woman who claims to be Mrs. Annetta Stegler, according to the police, told the matron that she considered she had been trapped. She said that a woman friend of hers, Anna Hoffman by name, had called her up by telephone and made an appointment to meet her in the evening as she had something important to communicate. When they met, her woman friend was accompanied by two well-dressed young men who invited her into their automobile and, later, she said, they went to the hotel for dinner. It was later, when Matelket, it is stated, began questioning her regarding the passport fraud case that the row occurred.

Calls for Counsel.

The young woman requested that Charles Griffith, who is counsel for Richard P. Stegler, be sent for and it is believed that he will appear in court later today when the young woman is arraigned.

The police, when they heard the story of the carefully-guarded suitcases, were inclined to believe that they sheltered telephonic devices for recording conversations. The men carried the grips with them when they left the police station. The police learned that during the night Mateiket several times called a German newspaper on the telephone and held conversations with some person in German.

Mrs. Stegler Discharged.

Mrs. Stegler was discharged later in police court. Had certain evidence been more definite, the magistrate said, he would have been inclined to send her accuser to the workhouse.

Almost at the moment of Mrs. Stegler's discharge in police court, the Federal grand jury returned an indictment charging her husband with conspiracy against the United States, in obtaining an American passport falsely. Stegler is a German naval reservist.

Two others were indicted with him, Richard Madden, in whose name the passport was issued, and Gustave Cook of Hoboken, who, it is charged, participated in obtaining the passport. The three men were to be arraigned later in the afternoon.

Communication Received.

Washington, March 1.—The German embassy's communication to the state department on the Stegler passport case, which has involved the name of Capt. Boy-Ed, the naval attache at the embassy, was received today and laid before Counsellor Lansing at the department.

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in a statement given out at the embassy yesterday, characterized the communication as one "giving the main facts of the Stegler affair, so far as the naval attache is concerned."

The embassy's communication, it was learned, was a copy of the statement Capt. Boy-Ed issued shortly after the charge was made by Stegler implicating the naval attache in the passport case. Capt. Boy-Ed acknowledged he knew Stegler and that he tried to help him to get work, but denied emphatically any knowledge of fraud in securing the passport which Stegler possessed.

The state department acknowledged receipt of the embassy's communication.

ATTEMPT TO FORCE GERMANS BACK IN FRANCE HAS BEGUN

landing parties to advance on Constantinople.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 1, by wireless to London, 2:55 p. m.—The official announcement on the progress of the war given out in Berlin today contains a statement that the French forces have begun the use of a special artillery shell which spreads its poisonous gas on exploding.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the western area of the war: Near Vervico, north of Lille, an English flying machine has been forced to descend by our fire. At a certain part of our front the French have made use, as they have done on previous occasions, of a particular kind of shell, which, on exploding, threw out evil smelling and poisonous gases, which, however, did no damage.

"Our positions in the Champagne country were repeatedly attacked yesterday by two army corps. These forces were repulsed after fierce fighting at close quarters. In the Argonne we captured mine throwers. Between the eastern border of the Argonne and Vauquois the French made five attempts yesterday to break through our line. All these attacks were broken down with heavy losses to the enemy.

"The positions which we have occupied to the southwest of Badonvillers were retained yesterday, in spite of the attempts of the enemy to recapture them.

"In the eastern arena of the war: We repulsed Russian attacks north of Consha and northwest of Ostrolenka. Otherwise there was nothing of importance to report."

French Statement.

Paris, March 1, via London, 3:22 p. m. —The war office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"There is nothing to add to the communication of yesterday evening except that in Champagne the different supporting positions we successively secured now form a continuous chain two kilometers in length to the north and northwest of Perthes, and that in the Vosges our attacks made slight progress at Chapaelotte, three kilometers north of Celles."

Defeat Important.

Petrograd, March 1.—The highest importance is attached by the Russian military authorities to the German defeat at Przasnysz. It is asserted by Russian staff officers that the Germans' hope of success during their operations of the last fortnight along the northern front was based upon their confidence in breaking the Russian line at Przasnysz. This attempt by the Germans to strengthen the position of their left wing, which was an important part of their plan for a gigantic encompassing movement extending from Augustowo to Eastern Galicia, is said today by the Russian leaders to have failed definitely.

The Russians assert that the retirement of the Germans in the north is more precipitate and disorderly than any previous retreat in this theater of the war. They state that the Germans have abandoned large numbers of heavy and light guns, and have even left behind slightly wounded soldiers in an effort to execute a hasty retreat.

This condition of affairs, according to the Russian viewpoint, assumes added significance from the fact that the Germans are said to have employed some of their best troops in this fighting. There are many indications that the Germans were entirely confident of success.

The report in the German plan for undertaking a siege of Grodno would now appear to be venturesome, with the Russians advancing along the left bank of the River Niemen toward East Prussia, and endangering the position of the German left flank. The claim is made here that all the German troops which recently crossed the Niemen have again been forced back to the other bank.

Although reports from the operations in Galicia are incomplete, it would appear that the Austrians were making little headway in the attempt to force the Russians to retire from that province.

ALLIED FLEET HAS REACHED CHANAK IN THE DARDANELLES

the north of Poland, where the Russians appear to be making a desperate effort to regain the ground Field Marshal von Hindenburg won when he threw them back from East Prussia. Consequently the stubborn struggle continues on the line from the Bobr to the Narew, where Grand Duke Nicholas has yet to establish his ascendancy.

Nothing About Outcome.

Vienna reports a violent engagement in Bukowina without saying anything about the outcome, while Petrograd claims to have checked the Austro-German advance in this region.

In the west, interest is centering on the fighting in the Champagne region, where fierce attacks and counter-attacks have marked the operations of the last week. Berlin claims to have repulsed the continued French advances in this region, while Paris asserts the French troops have been successful in making progress and repulsing the German counter-attacks. Paris claims also the capture of 2,000 yards of trenches to the northwest and north of Beausejour.

Practically all discussion of the diplomatic situation has been suspended in the expectation of the statement Premier Asquith is to make in parliament this afternoon on the steps which the allies probably will take to meet the menace of the German submarine blockade.

BILL FOR INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM TO COME UP WEDNESDAY

are required to meet annually, under a new bill offered by Representative McGrath and others, to formulate the rules of practice in probate court.

County Option Bill.

Speaker Flowers signed the county option bill at 9:30 this morning and it reached Governor Hammond shortly before noon. It is expected that he will act upon it late this afternoon or tomorrow morning. He has stated that the bill will not be delayed in his office a moment longer than necessary.

Under a bill introduced this morning by the house committee on taxes, all property hereafter would be assessed as of April 1 instead of May 1.

Representatives North and Konzen this morning introduced a substitute for their bill providing for public school education of the deaf. Under it, on application, the state superintendent can issue permits to any schools to give education to deaf children, the state paying such schools $100 a year for each pupil educated.

Bonds for Road Construction.

Counties are authorized to sell up to $50,000 in bonds to aid in road construction in other counties by a bill introduced by Representatives Sanborn and Sudheimer of St. Paul, providing they act before May 15.

The house committee on state libraries this morning reported back without recommendation the Magnus Johnson bill repealing the law of 1913 providing $500,000 for a building for the state historical library and the supreme court, and the Gilman bill allowing the purchase of a new site for this purpose and leaving out the supreme court, which would remain in the capitol.

To Regulate Gas Rates.

Gas rates in first-class cities are limited to 75 cents a thousand, certain qualities are regulated, by a bill introduced in the house this morning by Representative Dunleavy of Minneapolis.

Every passenger coach and sleeping car, under a new bill by Representatives Lydiard and Dwyer, must be equipped with appliances for first aid to the injured.

A new bill by Representative Pratt allows district courts to receive pleas of guilty from persons charged with offenses for which the sentence may be as high as twenty years. The limit now is ten years.

The house committee on board of control this morning introduced a bill authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of seven to investigate and suggest a revision of the laws of this state relating to children.

The oil inspection service is extended to all petroleum products by a bill introduced in the house this morning by Representative Bjorklund.

The house sat alone this morning, the senate gathering at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

ready to grant women the ballot, and it is clear enough that if there is doubt on the question a presidential election, with a large vote and many things to distract attention, is a poor time to submit it. Moreover, if the question should be submitted to the voters in 1916 and decided by them in the negative, it would be difficult to induce another legislature to bother with submitting it again.

In short, it would be easier to put through a woman suffrage amendment at this session if it were clearer that the state wants a chance to vote on it and is ready to vote "yes" upon it. This situation is a decided handicap to the friends of the Sageng bill.

Nevertheless, they are going to push the bill as hard as they know how, and they do not despair of its passage.

The Efficiency Bill.

The house tomorrow will face the responsibility of acting on the efficiency and economy bill, without much help from the committee to which the bill was referred.

That committee met Saturday night, with a bare quorum present, and voted to report the bill for passage Tuesday, with a recommendation that it be made a special order for Friday afternoon, the understanding being that it should not be decided then, but should be continued from day to day until the house is ready to act upon it finally.

This action came following a series of public hearings, but without a single meeting of the committee to consider the merits of the measure. Chairman Spooner's idea was that the house should put the bill clear to the senate as speedily as possible, on the ground that that body has more time than the house to consider its details and to make amendments if any are found necessary.

Some of the committee members objected to this program. Representative Wefald thought that the committee should ask the house for more time. Under the Adams resolution the committee is required to report the bill back to the house by tomorrow; but Mr. Wefald thought that if the committee asked for more time the house would grant it.

However, it was decided that so long as it is not necessary for the house to act upon the bill immediately, the committee could work while the house is considering the measure. The vote to report the bill favorably was unanimous.

The members of the Gordon committee had been invited to be present at Saturday night's meeting, and a number of them were present. The purpose of this committee, under the terms of the Gordon resolution, is to prepare a substitute bill amalgamating state departments in case the efficiency bill fails to go through; but as a large majority of the committee members are favorable to the enactment of the commission's bill, no hostile action is expected from the committee.

The Telephone Bill.

The Minnette-Burrows telephone regulation bill, which passed the house by the unprecedented vote of 123 to 0, will also pass the senate, though possibly not in the precise form in which it passed the house.

There will be a fight in the senate on one or two features of the bill, particularly on that provision which requires a referendum vote in any community where it is proposed to establish a competing exchange. Some of the senators believe that this is inconsistent with the theory of the bill, which is that telephone service and rates shall be regulated by the state railroad and warehouse commission. They argue that if regulation amounts to anything, competing exchanges will not be necessary, and that the commission, if it is directed to regulate the telephone business, ought to have real power and not partial power.

There will also be opposition, coming from the Bell telephone interests, to the provision putting upon the defendant company the burden of proof as to the need of physical connection between competing lines. Under former bills, those requesting such connection were required to prove its need. Under this bill, it is assumed that the need exists unless the company asked to connect can prove that it does not exist. This is looked upon by the Bell interests as a reversal of the usual rule that the burden of proof should be upon the plaintiff.

Somewhat unexpectedly, opposition has arisen in the senate to the Borgen bill changing the primary election date from June to September. The senate committee on elections has voted to recommend the bill for indefinite postponement, and a minority of the committee will recommend its passage. The senate will have to fight it out between these two reports.

County Division Bill.

The members of both houses are showing a good deal of interest in the question of dividing St. Louis county. possibly because it is the only county on this issue that the delegation from that county is divided for the first time in its legislative history.

The range men have had a chance to argue their case before the senate and house committee on towns and counties, and Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 there will be a joint meeting of the two committees at which the opposition will have a chance to be heard. The hearing will be held either in the house chamber or the senate chamber, and many members of both houses outside of those who belong to the committees will be present to hear the arguments. Though the range men have had a full hearing, they will have representatives present to hear the opposition and to reply to its arguments.

As the issue is of the highest importance to Duluth, a large and representative gathering in opposition to the bill is looked for by the Duluth members.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

DARDANELLES ONLY DEFENSE

If Fleet Gets Through Constantinople Will Fall Without Struggle.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary in Turkish Capital Tells of Conditions There.

"Once they are through the Dardanelles the ships of the allies will find little to stop them, and I believe Constantinople will be theirs without a struggle," said D. A. Davis last evening at the Y. M. C. A.

For several years Mr. Davis has been secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Constantinople. He left that city last July, shortly before the war broke out, and has been touring America in the interests of the foreign work of the association during his furlough in America. He spoke last evening at the Y. M. C. A. and, following his address, talked in a most interesting way with a few friends, regarding the bombardment now in progress.

"Judged from the telegraph reports I read last night and this morning," he said, "the fleet is about one-third of the way through the straits. There are some strong forts at the outside entrance to the Dardanelles, and these have evidently been silenced. All the way along the straits are other forts, but the strongest fortifications are at the inside end, and these have yet to be overcome.

Hard Fighting Ahead.

"The fleet is a long way from the Sea of Marmora yet. It may be only a few miles actually, but it will be a very dangerous and difficult few miles to go. But once the fleet has passed the forts of the Dardanelles there is nothing to stop it. The Sea of Marmora is a big sea, some forty miles across at its narrow point, and the fleet will simply steam through it to Constantinople. It is mined, of course, but the ships will watch for the mines. Constantinople is right in the corner of the Sea of Marmora at the Bosporus end, and is unfortified from the sea. There are strong fortifications twenty miles inland to protect the city from a land attack, but the fleet could stand off a few miles and destroy the entire city if it cared to. I doubt if any defense will be made, if the fleet once gets through the Dardanelles.

The Turkish Fleet.

"True there is a Turkish fleet, but it is not the equal of the fleet of the allies, and probably would not give battle. It might retire to the Bosporus, which is also fortified, but if it went through to the Black Sea it would be forced to meet the Russian fleet, so it would be between the devil and the deep sea in the straits of the Bosporus, but backed up by the forts there, it might be able to put up an effective resistance.

"But, in my opinion, Constantinople will succumb without a struggle when the fleet enters the Sea of Marmora.

"You hear much in this country about the Terrible Turk and the Holy War. The Holy War does not mean a wholesale massacre of Christians, as so many believe. It simply calls on all good Moslems to come to the aid of Turkey in her fight against her enemies.

Americans Are Safe.

"Americans and American property are just as safe in Constantinople today under the Turkish rule as they are in Duluth. Henry Morgenthau, the American ambassador, stands exceptionally well there. He has not only the respect, but you might also say the love of the Turkish people. By his kindness, geniality, and fairness he has won their thorough esteem. I was in Constantinople during the Balkan war and at one time the forces of the enemy were so close we could hear the cannonading. During that time there were probably 50,000 Greeks and Bulgarians in Constantinople, but not one of them was molested. The police force was doubled, and the Moslems were warned to be more careful than ever not to attack Christians or destroy their property.

"The first American missionaries went to Turkey in 1819, nearly 100 years ago, and they have been there ever since. During all that time only one American missionary has been killed, and that was an accident.

No Interest in War.

"The Turkish people have no interest in this war. They are a peace-loving people, and the average Turkish soldier would much rather be at home attending to his business. But they follow their leaders blindly, and the party in power evidently believed Turkey's best interests would be served by casting her lot with Germany.

"But I do want to emphasize the fact that as long as Constantinople is in the hands of Turkey, Americans are safe there, I firmly believe. I left Constantinople last summer, but have been constantly in touch with my assistant there, and expect to go back shortly. Our schools are still running as usual, and all our work is being continued. The French and English schools are closed.

A Modern City.

"Constantinople is a modern city. During the last four or five years it has progressed wonderfully. It has a population of about 1,250,000, and a very cosmopolitan population it is. About half of the people are Turks, and the rest come from every country in the world. The city has electric cars, pavements which are kept cleaned by automobile street sweepers and not by dogs as formerly, telephones and electric lights. Turkey is now only about as large as the state of Connecticut, but in Asia the Turkish government rules a country as large as Germany, Austria-Hungary and France put together."

HUNDREDS CHARGED WITH BUYING VOTES.

Pikeville, Ky., March 1.—The trials of the large number of men charged with vote buying were resumed in the circuit court here today. Eleven hundred indictments against 800 men were originally found and more than 200 of the cases were heard two weeks ago. It was learned here today that the circuit court of Perry county, meeting at Hazard, Ky., has also begun an investigation of the trafficking in votes.

RAILROAD CHARGED WITH DISCRIMINATING.

Washington, March 1.—Complaint was filed with the interstate commerce commission today by commercial organizations in six cities in Ohio and Michigan against the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and other railroads, charging discrimination in rates for the transportation of commodities from Chicago, Milwaukee, Davenport, Iowa; and other points in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Missouri to Atlanta and other points in the South.

The complaint sets forth that the manufacturers in the complaining cities obtain raw materials from the same sources and that despite the nearer location to southern points, they do not enjoy equally advantageous rates.

Temptation to Burglars.

Police are making an appeal to property owners, and particularly those holding property in the downtown sections of the city, to be more careful in seeing that their places of business are locked at the close of the day's work. The scarcity of robberies is not due to precaution or care on the part of many of the house and store owners, they state. Three open doors were reported at 3:30 a. m. yesterday morning. The Zelda theater, the Manhattan Optical store and Stack & Co. were the offenders.

Eight Join U. S. Navy.

Although February was a short month with two holidays, the United States naval recruiting office did a good business. Want New Trial.

Arguments were made before Judge Page Morris of the United States district court today for a new trial in the action brought by the Poor Handmaidens of Jesus Christ against the Duluth Log company. The case was tried in January, and a jury decided the case in favor of the defendant. The action is to recover more than $2,000 alleged to be due the Sisters for hospital tickets for employes, sold to the defendant company.

Takes Case Under Advisement.

Attorneys' arguments were made to the court this morning. James A. Wharton appeared on behalf of the plaintiff and Louis R. Taylor presented the defendant's side of the case. Mrs. Komay is suing for a separation and alimony on the grounds of cruelty. She also asks for a division of their common property and the custody of their 3-year-old son.

It will take about two weeks before Mr. Tifer will be granted a transfer of his license.

TWO CHINESE TRY TO USE SAME PAPERS; PUZZLE: WHICH OWNS THEM?

Two Chinese cannot be the same man at the same time nor return to their native land on one legal document made out for but one of them. So says the immigration officer of Duluth, and so Wok Hang Lun, or Fook Sury, the latter name being the one he took when he took a wife, has found out.

The use of such a document has just caused the arrest of Sury, and he is now under a $400 bond, which was imposed by United States Court Commissioner Pressnell Saturday afternoon. The immigration officer declares that the additional charge of uttering a forged instrument may also be pressed against the Celestial.

Lun is a cook at the Peking cafe, International Falls. According to Chinese custom, Lun also goes by the name Sury, a name acquired at his marriage to Gee Shee, a native of Wong Toon village, Sun Ning district, Canton, China. Lun claims he was born in San Francisco, thirty-nine years ago, and lived there until he was 17 years old. Then he went to China with his father, his mother having died several years before.

He returned to this country in 1897 and was arrested in Ritchford, Vt. He was discharged and later arrested at Peoria, Ill., in 1900, and was ordered deported. He pressed the claim that he was a native of the United States, and was discharged by the United States court.

In December Sury came to the immigration officer here, and presented a certified copy of this discharge preparatory to returning to China. This document, according to the immigration officer, could be used when properly registered with the authorities to establish Sury's claim to citizenship upon his return from China and prevent any possible detention at Seattle, the port at which he was to land on his return trip.

Previously another Fook Sury of Chicago came to the immigration office and presented a certified copy of the same paper and sailed for China. Now the question is, which Sury is the one who is the owner of the original document? The authorities here believe that the International Falls man is not the real Fook and on that suspicion he was arrested. The United States attorney at St. Paul drew up a warrant against him and Deputy United States Marshal Mallory put him under arrest. The case is now in the hands of Chinese Inspector Robert F. Davis of Minneapolis.

GERMAN RESIDENTS OF DULUTH REVIVE OLD GAME OF "SCHEIBEN"

"SCHEIBEN" ON THE LAKE.

Scots of Duluth who dearly love their national game of curling were horrified this morning to hear of a curling match with H. J. Achenbach, Col. F. E. Resche and John Bierhalter, three of the Zenith City's best Germans, among the participants.

They were not relieved until the above picture proved that it wasn't their game with stanes, but German curling, known to the citizens of Kaiser Wilhelm's land as ice "scheiben."

"Ice scheiben is an old Bavarian game," said Mr. Bierhalter this morning, "and has been played for years in Germany, as well as in the Tyrolean Alps, where they have cold weather seven or eight months in the year."

Corresponding to the Scot's stane, the Germans have an "ice stick," made of wood and bound with iron hoops. The "stick" slides along the ice with another block of wood called "marsal," as an objective point. The object of the game is to throw the "stick" so that it caroms off the "marsal," pushing it in one direction or the other.

Germans say it is a much better game than curling, as it does not require a "house," or a marked course. The length of the player's throw varies with the position of the "marsal," and may cover almost any distance.

The game pictured above was played yesterday afternoon on Lake Superior, about the time the automobile drivers were tuning up for the races.

We Heartily Congratulate Mme. Burns On Winning the $1000 Trophy At the Chicago Fashion Show

Duluth may well be proud of her success! Think of it—the best gown of American design was created right here in Duluth—and Mme. Burns most loyally named her model "The Zenith."

And right here—let us say that Mme. Burns' great triumph is no great surprise to many fashion experts—who have long considered Duluth women as notably well dressed!

You surely appreciate that fact—Duluth stores are uncommonly good—Duluth modistes know how to make good clothes—and Duluth women know how to wear them.

And we're all big enough and broad enough to rejoice on the honor that Mme. Burns has earned for herself and her city.

During the past three weeks we have had nine people in New York city looking for the newer—the finer—and more desirable things you like. Probably eight of them will have come home by tomorrow—the goods they have been buying are rolling in rapidly.

Come and see the charming Silks and Suitings we've gathered for your choosing!

NEW YORK PAPERS Received Today pay glowing tribute to Mme. Burns.

DOES NOT WISH TO EXPERIMENT

Works Commissioner Would Stick to Horse-Drawn Flushers.

Because he objects to experimenting with motor flushers and sprinklers, Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, will this afternoon order all bids rejected and ask the council to continue using the present horse-drawn flushers until the new kind are more practical.

"These combination flushers," said Commissioner Murchison this morning, "are now in the experimental stage, as the oldest in use was made but two or three years ago. I would rather wait and have their practicability determined before buying any for Duluth."

The bids submitted two weeks ago on furnishing the city with a combination flusher and sprinkler follow: E. G. Hilliard, White, 1,200 gallons, $6,500; Gallon Iron works, 1,000 gallons, $4,750, and 1,400 gallons, $5,670; Interstate Auto company, 1,200 gallons, $4,500; Mutual Auto company, 1,400 gallons, $4,100, and Kinney Manufacturing company, 1,000 gallons, $6,500, and 1,200 gallons, $6,200.

ASSESSMENTS FOR SHADE TREES FAVORED

Assessments against property owners for the planting of trees or shrubbery as provided for in a bill introduced by Senator Charles E. Adams of this city, are approved by Mayor Prince.

At the present time, trees or shrubbery are planted by the city only at the request of property owners, who must subscribe to a fund in payment for the trees.

The bill would permit cities to assess property owners for the planting of trees or shrubs, just as is done now in pavements or improvements ordered for a highway.

In addition the city could legislate regarding the care of shade trees planted by the park department, the head of which would enforce the regulations.

CITY WILL PURCHASE TWO AUTOMOBILES

Motor Service Truck and Car for Chief Randall.

Contracts for the motor service truck to be used in the fire department and an automobile for Chief Randall will be awarded to the American-La France Fire Engine company and the Interstate Auto company, respectively.

Commissioner Hicken, who returned Saturday night from the Twin Cities, where he inspected the fire equipments of both Minneapolis and St. Paul, will introduce a resolution at the council meeting this afternoon awarding the contract to the above two firms.

The bid of the American-La France company was for $5,750, while the Interstate company of this city will furnish a KisselKar for $2,000.

SCHOOL ONE OF THE SMOKE LAW VIOLATORS.

One of the buildings that violated the smoke ordinance during February was the Bryant school at Thirtieth avenue west, according to the monthly report of Inspector J. W. Schneider, submitted this morning to Mayor Prince.

The Bryant school and the Oak Hall building, the report states, were the only violators of the ordinance, which prohibits dense smoke being emitted from chimneys for a period over six minutes. Both these buildings, Inspector Schneider claims, were checked and had emitted dense smoke for a period of ten minutes each.

During February, 110 buildings and 62 locomotives were checked by the inspector, according to the report.

FINDS VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

Sealed Verdict of Hibbing Jury Is Made Public.

Hibbing, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—After district court resumed its session here this morning Judge Hughes opened the sealed verdict returned by the jury Saturday in the case of Mary Glad vs. Peter Aha and found it was for the defendant and assessed $50 damages.

The woman sued for $450 and interest from Nov. 21, 1913, from Aha, whom she accused of borrowing the money from her, he giving her mining shares in return, which she refused.

Another Damage Action On.

A jury was then drawn and trial begun in the case of George Babich, who is seeking $1,875 damages from D. B. Wujunovich, for injuries which he declares he sustained through rough handling by the defendant in a saloon.

Both were dismissed by Municipal Judge Brady following the saloon fracas.

The plaintiff claims that one Saturday night he helped the defendant roast a pig. He was supposed to have some money coming for this, he declared, despite the fact that he and Wujunovich got into an argument when deciding who was to pay for some drinks. Because he did not pay it, he alleges, Wujunovich assaulted him and inflicted several injuries.

NEW MEMBERS IN EVELETH CHURCH

Italians Who Attended Mission Meetings Now Presbyterians.

Eveleth, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Services in the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning were of an impressive and interesting nature, there being reception of new members, ordination of elders and deacons and the administration of the Lord's supper.

Thirty-eight new members were received, most of them coming in on confession of faith. They were all Italians, who have have been attending the meetings conducted by Rev. Gaetano Lizzi, under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, and they were received into the church by Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, the pastor.

Ordained as Elders.

The men who were ordained as elders were John Clagne, Gaetona A. Lizzi and Leonardo Cunitteri. Rev. W. J. Bell, director of the immigration work on the range, conducted the ordination service. The following were ordained as deacons: James De Paul, Dominick Santucci, Liborio Mescatelli, Dominick De Marco and Fabio Di Paolis. Rev. Lizzi conducting this part of the service. These officers have been elected and ordained to serve the Italian branch of the local Presbyterian church and are well known men in Eveleth.

Services in Italian are held in the church every Wednesday evening and are well attended, the subjects discussed being illustrated by stereopticon views. The meeting this week will be of unusual interest, as Rev. Dr. Swearingen of St. Paul will address the same.

TO HAVE INCINERATOR.

Expected Hibbing Will Go Ahead With Proposed Idea.

Hibbing, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—With it practically settled that an incinerator will be built on a location near Brooklyn addition, it is probable that the village council tomorrow night will take steps to advertise for bids for the contract.

The incinerator committee, headed by Dr. G. N. Butchart, health officer, went to Grand Forks and Chisholm, investigating the merits of various incinerators. This committee reported in favor of the Chisholm plant. The council had gone on record to give the contract for a two-unit plant to a Chicago company, when proceedings were delayed because of the lack of a location. Now that this is practically decided, it is probable that there will be no further delay. Dr. G. N. Butchart especially urged the council to have the plant ready for the spring cleanup campaign, which it is expected will be pushed vigorously this year.

Material for the Alice sewers may also be ordered.

MANY HEAR BURWICK.

Iron Range Road Evangelist Conductor Draws at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Conductor "Jim" Burwick drew crowds at the revival meetings held in the city. The evangelist railroad man delivered an earnest appeal. From Brainerd he went to International Falls, where he will hold special services and will close his winter's work at Superior, Wis., and then go back to his caboose on the Duluth & Iron Range railway for the summer.

BEATS NELSON-DEWEYS.

Two Harbors Quint Takes Game By 19 to 8 Score.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday night the local high school five defeated the Nelson Dewey high school team of Superior, 19 to 8. The visitors were outclassed. In the first half the game was closer and more interesting, the half ending with the locals in the lead, 10 to 6. In the second half the visitors were held to one lonely basket, while the local boys kept up their regular pace. The Superior boys defeated the locals earlier in the season, but those who witnessed the game Saturday evening cannot help but wonder how they ever did it. Johnson and Richards were the bright and shining stars for the local team. Their great work was in evidence at all stages of the game. For the locals, Moose was the most effective player.

The lineup:

Nelson Dewey—	Two Harbors—
Wheeler	Johnson
Horst	Richards
Moose	Cleveland
Emerson	Haugstein
Lynch	Knutson

Baskets were made as follows: Superior—Emerson, 1; Lynch, 1; Moose, 2. Two Harbors—Johnson, 5; Richards, 1 and 3 free throws; Cleveland, 2. Referee—Conlift.

IOWA TRAIN VICTIM IS LAID TO REST

Body of Former Two Harbors Man Interred in That City.

Two Harbors, March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Thomas Gardner, aged 30 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vol Gardner of this city, was held this morning at 8 o'clock from the Holy Ghost Catholic church, Rev. Father Patt officiating. Interment was made at the Calvary cemetery.

The body was brought here Saturday morning from Mason City, Iowa, where he was killed last week while working as a brakeman on the Northwestern railway. He was last seen alive by other members of the train crew when he went back on the train to set a brake. When he did not return, another member of the crew investigated and found him dead beside the track. It is thought that he fell and was hurt internally.

Mr. Gardner was well known in this city, having resided here with his parents for several years. He also worked a short time for the Iron Range railroad.

VIRGINIA IS SUED FOR ROCK CRUSHER

West Virginia Concern Wants $1,470 From Range Municipality.

Virginia, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The alleged failure of this city to take over and pay the Wheeling Mould & Foundry company of Wheeling, W. Va., $1,470 for a rock crusher, has resulted in suit being brought against the city in district court for that sum. Last summer the council discussed buying the crusher when it considered buying land bearing sufficient rock to keep the machine going. An agent for the company came here to sell a machine.

The street and alley committee thought it advisable to order at once and did so. No resolution to purchase had been passed by the council then, but later was. The crusher arrived and the city had no rock.

Taken to Keewatin.

It was then turned over to J. McKusick of Keewatin, who tried it. The general agent of the company who took the order went to Keewatin and aided Mr. McKusick to operate it. The tests were unsatisfactory. Mayor Boylan passed several times, but did not see it working in good shape. He talked with the agent, who said he would notify the mayor and council when working satisfactorily. This was never done. Mr. Kusick stated that he never ran one-half of the guaranteed capacity. The local council regarded that as a test and when it failed were not willing to pay for it.

When the council could not purchase land with rock thereon for a reasonable price the crusher was not needed.

Ski Jumpers, Professional and Amateur, Delight Throng.

Virginia, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The slide of the Virginia Ski club near here on the Eveleth road was the mecca for many Mesaba range and other people yesterday afternoon when the big tourney put on by the Virginia Ski club was pulled off before 2,000 or 3,000 people under fairly favorable conditions. What are believed to have been the longest average jumps at a tournament this winter were recorded.

Fearing an accident because of the chute at the bottom of the slide Axel Hendrickson of Duluth did not do his somersault stunt. Some of the professionals also objected to this chute. It develops that he bought a ticket in Duluth for Wallace and got on the train, although the conductor told him it would not stop at Wallace. After passing Wallace the conductor, on checking up the train, missed the farmer and wired to the dispatcher at Proctor that he feared the man had jumped from the train. The train crew of the Hibbing local was notified and picked the farmer up, where he had fallen from the train when he lifted the vestibule trap and jumped while the train was going rapidly. One leg was broken and the other was badly bruised.

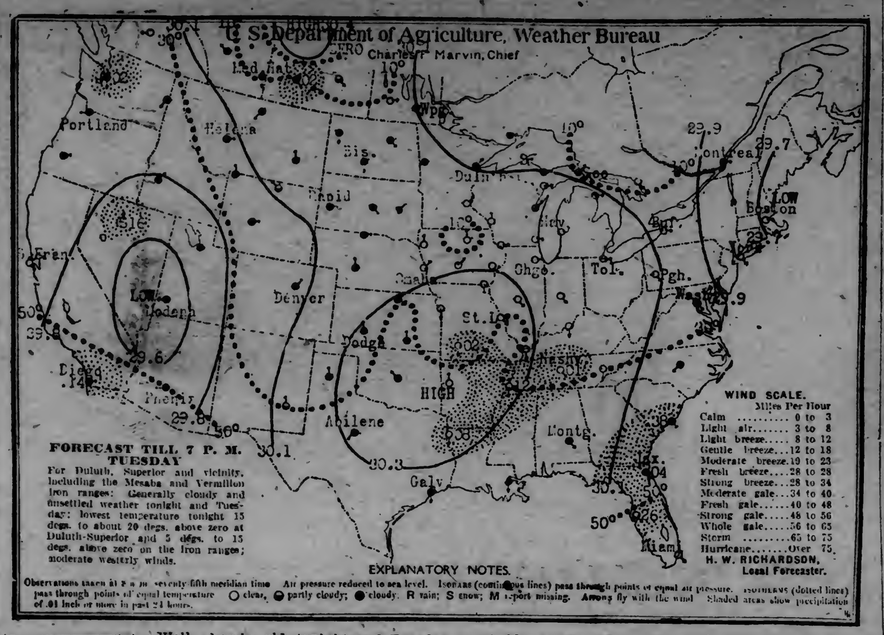
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



CLOUDY

Well, here's old March coming in like a lamb. If tradition holds good, look out for the finish. Nothing could be asked in the way of a milder and less aggressive reappearance of what thousands consider the crucial month as regards the breaking up of winter. The lionesque proclivities are yet to be developed. This morning started out cloudy but balmy, there just being cold enough to maintain a firm under-footing. But even yet it is not too late for a breaking loose of the savagery with which the month is credited.

A year ago today was cold. March started in like a lion. The sun rose this morning at 6:43 and will set this evening at 5:53, giving eleven hours and five minutes of sunlight. The twelve-hour day will begin on the 13th and the first official day of spring will be on the 21st.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours rain or snow fell over the Lower Mississippi valley, South Atlantic states, Southern Saskatchewan, Nevada and Southern California. The temperature is moderate generally except that a turn to colder has occurred over the Eastern Dakotas, Western Manitoba and Saskatchewan, while over the Lake Superior region there has been a rather marked rise compared with 7 a. m. Sunday. Zero weather prevails in Northern Saskatchewan."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 1.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Tuesday:

Minnesota—Mostly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; probably unsettled Tuesday.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

South Dakota—Probably snow or rain tonight and Tuesday; colder Tuesday.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight.

LEGISLATURE ON FINAL WEEK

North Dakota Solons Expect to Clean Up Bills By Thursday.

No Vetoes By Governor of Any Appropriations Anticipated.

Bismarck, N. D., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state legislature today entered upon its final week with the boards well cleared. The two houses have a total of less than 100 bills remaining in committee, with only about 150 bills all told remaining to be finally acted upon.

There are many legislators who are confident of being able to clean up the passage of bills by Thursday afternoon, thus leaving all day Friday for the consideration of the final resolutions and possible vetoes by the governor.

By tomorrow afternoon, every appropriation measure will have been passed and will be in the hands of the governor for approval. Coupled with the fact that the governor already has been empowered by the legislature to bring about an increased assessed valuation, it is practically certain that there will be no vetoes of any appropriations.

Senator in Each County.

Today the Gibbens bill, providing that the county shall be the basis for representation in the upper house, each county being entitled to a senator irrespective of the population, comes up for consideration, with the committee divided in its report. The majority, however, is for the passage of the bill.

It is probable that the proposed corporation franchise tax will be reported back about Wednesday with extensive amendments. There is much opposition to the bill that is being redrafted, and a hot fight is likely to be made.

Governor Hanna today receives the board of regents bill, and it is expected that he will sign it immediately. Already three appointees to the board have been announced, Dr. J. D. Taylor of Grand Forks, L. F. Crawford of Sentinel Butte, and Frank White of Valley City.

Deficiency Bills Passed.

The senate took great strides Saturday in rounding up its work, passing a total of twenty-four bills, most of which were appropriation measures. These include the set of deficiency bills, aimed at clearing up the records in the state auditor's office and starting the state out on an even basis for the coming two-year period.

Among those passed was Bratton's bill, which permits clerks of courts to retain naturalization fees collected up to Jan. 1 of this year. Fees collected subsequent to that time will be turned into the county treasury. The purpose of this bill is to clear up a situation created by the recent opinion given by Attorney General Linde, which holds clerks liable to counties for fees so collected.

The state budget board bill also passed, creating a board made up of the chairmen of the appropriations committee of this assembly, the state auditor, the secretary of state and the governor. This board meets in advance of each legislative assembly for purposes of outlining the budget requirments.

For Single Tax.

The senate refused to accept the majority report of the committee for indefinite postponement of the Langedahl bill for single tax on farm property receiving the minority report and placing the bill on the calendar for final passage.

The Burgett and Westdahl bill, providing for taxation of moneys and credits, was recommended with an amendment reducing the tax from 3 to 2 mills. The provision for taxation of mortgages on that basis remains.

Purcell's bill, creating a state vice commission, was reported for passage.

Representative Dickinson's resolution calling on the railroads for a statement of gross earnings to be supplied to the board of equalization for the purpose of aiding that body in determining valuation, was passed by the senate.

County Seat Removal.

County seat removal bills "made to order," is a new specialty the house of representatives indulged in when it amended and reamended Senator Mudgett's bill providing for the removal of county seats. After the house, sitting in committee of whole, had worked on the measure, it was reported out with an absolute guarantee that it would prove inoperative against every county seat except those in Rolette and Nelson counties, and those county seats located off railroads. With all these amendments the bill was reported back to the house for passage. Even if the house passes the bill, it will have to go to conference committee for final action, as the senate has refused, up to this time, to pass any special county seat legislation aimed at affecting only certain counties.

Enactment of the bill abolishing the educational mill tax and instituting a fixed appropriation in its stead, was sompleted in the senate when it passed the Lathrop committee bill providing this important change in the method of financing the institutions of learning.

BRAINERD SALOONS CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

Brainerd, Minn., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Campaigning by the dry forces led by the Law and Order league will soon be under way for the election, April 6, when Brainerd votes on the license issue. The league plans a house-to-house campaign, including newspaper advertising and speakers. Leaders say a clean campaign will be conducted and the economic phase of the liquor question will be brought to the front. Brainerd has twenty-three saloons, of which the license was recently tilted from $500 annually to $1,000.

Crosby will vote on the licensing of saloons, and petitions may also be filed in Deerwood and Cuyuna.

A special meeting Wednesday evening at the chamber of commerce will give the opportunity for the discussion of the new Brainerd charter which will come before the people at the spring election.

BRAINERD MAN IS NEARLY DECAPITATED.

Brainerd, Minn., March 1.—In a drunken fight, Matt Hay of Brainerd had his head almost severed from his body by a knife wielded by a companion. Hay nearly bled to death before a doctor could be reached.

The quarrel ensued near the Cass-Crow Wing county line. Frank Hubbard and Hay were occupying seats in a wagon driven by Oscar Heino. Hubbard has been lodged in jail here.

TOO PRO-GERMAN TO SUIT CANUCKS.

Casselton, N. D., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two sons of Ferdinan Piper, formerly residents of the county south of this place and now living in Canada, are reported to have become involved with the authorities in Canada as a result of their strong pro-German proclivities. No details have been received here but relatives are considerably alarmed over the situation and are anxiously wiring for more information and urging the boys to use discretion.

THE AMERICAN DISEASE

Neurasthenia may be called a distinctively American disease because the condition of nervous strain that produces it is more prevalent here than in any other country. Overwork and worry, ambition, haste, the high tension at which business is conducted, all use up the nerve force and produce neurasthenia, for the disease is simply exhaustion and excessive irritability of the nerve centers.

A tendency to neurasthenia is inherited by many Americans whose ancestors had but a small stock of nervous energy to bequeath. Grief, excessive worry or disappointment in love, business or school work may cause neurasthenia.

The symptoms include a feeling of exhaustion upon rising in the morning, of disturbed sleep, headache, with a sense of weight and tightness about the head. The patient is irritable, difficult to please, and suffers from depression.

The treatment is to remove the cause if possible (as when overstudy is responsible) take abundant rest, spend ten hours in bed out of every twenty-four, eat as much nourishing food as possible and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore the nerves. NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

AGITATORS ARE SCORED

Mass Meeting of Men of Finnish Nationality Held in Copper Country.

"Red" Socialists Blamed for Former Miners Not Being Employed.

Calumet, Mich., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — Representatives of nearly every Finnish family in the Copper country gathered here Sunday and after a parade of the principal streets, in which American flags occupied conspicuous places, and banners warning agitators to leave the district were carried, held monster massmeeting in the Calumet armory, in protest against the activity of so-called "red" Socialists and labor agitators, who are charged with giving the Finnish people a black eye among employers of labor because of a rousing class and labor discontent.

The addresses were made in Finnish by ex-miners rehearsing the unkept promises made during the strike of 1913, by labor agitators.

Gust Hamina, a miner, the chairman, quoted Governor Ferris' words, spoken during the governor's ineffectual attempts to bring the strike to an end, saying: "Red Socialism is the root of all the trouble in the Copper country."

He declared that the work of the agitators can be found in dozens of Finnish homes, where women and children are starving because their husbands and fathers have followed the doctrines of "Red" Socialism. A recitation of the wrongs, it is alleged, the Finnish people suffered during the strike at the hands of the agitators, roused the unemotional Finns to a frenzy of excitement and speakers voiced the determination of the Finns to drive out the agitators, at all costs.

Any Means Justifiable.

A big feature of the massmeeting was the address in English by John A. Doelle of Houghton, superintendent of schools, who told the Finnish people they must drive the agitators from this district by fair means, if possible, but if not, to employ any means, fair or foul, and that they must do this for their own peace and contentment.

Resolutions were adopted citing the wrongs alleged to have been forced upon the Finnish nationality by the Socialist agitators and declaring the intention of forcing the agitators to leave. It is claimed that 80 per cent of the 40,000 Finnish residents of the Copper country's four counties, Houghton, Keweenaw, Ontonagon and Baraga, are in sympathy with the movement to oust the agitators.

UNCLE SAM RESPONSIBLE.

Court Holds That When Government Agent Makes Mistake It Holds.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 1.—Judge Geiger in dismissing a temporary injunction to restrain the Holt Lumber company of Oconto, Wis., from cutting timber on the land of John Cook, a Pottawattamie Indian, holds that the United States is responsible for its agents when an error is made. Cook filed a petition with the clerk of the federal court at Wausau to be permitted to use his grant of land for homestead purposes. The clerk gave him a patent in fee, the clear title, instead of a patent in trust. The Indian sold the timber rights to a man named Albert Anderson, who, in turn, assigned his rights to the Holt Lumber company.

United States District Attorney Goff obtained a temporary injunction to restrain the lumber concern from disposing of the timber on the land. Judge Geiger dissolved the injunction, holding that the mistake of the clerk at Wausau must stand.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach or Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

RICE LAKER IS HELD FOR DEATH OF WIFE

Barron, Wis., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Norton of Rice Lake, arrested last Monday on orders of District Attorney Charles A. Taylor charged with having caused the death of his wife Feb. 6, has been held to circuit court and is now in the Barron county jail here awaiting trial. At Norton's hearing Ray Fitch, a young fireman who roomed at the Norton home, gave what is considered damning testimony against the accused when he detailed a struggle between Norton and his wife on the fatal day. Fitch said he was awakened by the woman's cries for help, saw two persons struggling in the hall outside his door and recognized them by their voices, as the light was dim, to be Mr. and Mrs. Norton; that he was told by Mr. Norton to go back and that they bumped against his door; that he could not open his window to get out and summon help and finally dressed and left the house by the hall, seeing Mr. Norton strangling his wife with a handkerchief and that he asked Mr. Norton if his wife was dead and the answer was that she was not but soon "would be." Arriving at the depot he told of the affair to Ernest Saucier and called up central later to see if a doctor had been summoned. A call for Dr. Sattre went in just at that time.

Norton, according to his statement, was in the kitchen building a fire when he heard his wife fall upstairs and hastened there to find that her head had struck heavily against a sewing machine and that she was unconscious. Dr. Sattre was called by phone and after a short time Mr. Norton called for him again by phone and was told by a woman's voice that the doctor was on his way there. Heart failure was given as the cause of her death.

EQUITY SOCIETY HAS BIG GROWTH

Speakers Tell Farmers at Staples of Organization's Popularity.

Staples, Minn., March 1.—Nearly 300 farmers with their wives and children attended the Equity meeting held in the Grand theater here last week. George Lindren of South St. Paul spoke on the conditions of livestock markets and what is being done by the farmers who are uniting and directing the shipment of their livestock through Equity channels. Mr. Lindren showed how the American Society of Equity had grown during the past two years so that today it is the strongest farmers' organization in existence, having local organizations in nearly every town in the United States. He said that every farmer and business man of the community should become a member and receive the benefits to be derived from concentrated organized effort. He further stated that not only is the Equity society securing better prices for the farmers' products, but it places the farmer in a position where he can buy many articles at a great saving to him and yet in a way that protects and helps the local merchant.

Staples Organization Grows.

Merritt Osborne of Verndale said he considered the Staples local organization had made great progress during the past year, having increased its membership over 300 per cent. Many farmers, said Mr. Osborne, would join the local society if they knew what great benefits were to be derived from such organization, the trouble at present being that the people at large did not correctly understand what the organization was doing and could do to benefit the community as a whole.

Moving pictures of the national convention of the American Society of Equity, recently held in St. Paul, were shown. A business meeting was held after the public meeting, and a large number of names were proposed for membership and their applications accepted by the society.

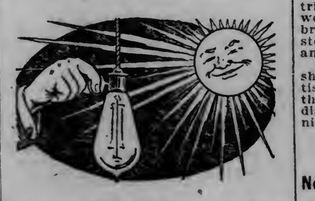
Blood Sufferers Want to Know

The Light is Turned on to a Subject of Darkness.



The mere fact that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, drives out disease is a world's story, a topic of conversation wherever men get together.

They wonder why, simply because most remedies are mystified and put before them as "discoveries." The facts are that we pay too much attention to possibilities and not enough to real, homespun accomplishment. S. S. S. is a remedy of our fathers. It has a history that is written deeply in men's minds because it has done the work, driven out deep seated disease, revived hope, put the O. K. on appearance and clamped down tight any effort of germs to get the upper hand. Any sore spot on the skin is an immediate demand for S. S. S. since the first principle of this famous remedy is to strike out for places of trouble. This is a physiological fact and S. S. S. is true to the workings of our body.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at any druggist and begin blood health. It will master any blood disease and do it in a way to emphasize its influence. And if you would like definite advice write The Swift Specific Co., 56 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is where most people first seek advice that puts them on the straight road.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

IN THE wake of most sporting events of note there is the ebb and flow of many-sided opinion. In cigar stores, on street corners and in hotel lobbies of our fair city Saturday many-tongued expression was given regarding the contest between Red Watson and P. Lawrence Brown.

"Who would win if the boys fought a twenty-round contest?" was perhaps the most familiar expression heard.

Now, who would win? It attests the closeness of the contest to state that opinion on the outcome of the bout of Friday evening was largely divided.

On one corner you will find a Brown believer valiantly shouting forth that the range lad was the stronger at the finish of the hair-raising tenth round, while ambling along down the avenue you may run headon into a citizen carrying around the belief that Watson would have won in several additional rounds.

The promoter who could so arrange details as to permit the lads to clash over the twenty-round route, and stage the contest in this enthusiastic portion of the state, would collect handsomely at the gate.

Allow it to be said that Pal Brown won back in heaping measure the prestige and following he lost on that ill-fated evening he made so unfortunate a showing against John Tecumseh Tillman.

It was a great fight the range lad made. It amounted to at least a moral victory over Watson, for in wisely scattered quarters Brown was accounted a beaten man before he entered the ring. Watson in no wise fell short of the advance measurement of his prowess, therefore the encomiums falling to the lot of the prominent citizen of Chisholm are the more abundant.

Waino Ketonen Here.

WAINO KETONEN yesterday shook the dust of travel from his person and once again breathed the local atmosphere. The little Finn has arrived on the scene and will today start industrious training for the clash with Old Mike Yokel, that is to be staged at the Auditorium on the evening of March 9.

After his thrilling and thoroughly sensational contest with Walter Miller, Ketonen hurried down to Nebraska and administered a decisive beating to Tom Doctor. The little Finn had a number of contests scheduled, but when he received a wire from Tilt Lewis, stating that the date had been definitely set for his big match with Yokel, Waino canceled all of his bouts, hurried down to Lincoln and started training for what should prove the most important battle of his career.

All of the railroads operating between here and the Twin Cities have arranged to hold their trains at St. Paul until after the last special arrives from Hudson. This will give the fans going from this city an opportunity to arrive home early Wednesday morning.

The Affair of Juarez.

IN SOME ways it appears as if Jack Curley was on a bloomer. Knowing the large promoter personally and realizing his resources, we hesitate to believe that he has abandoned all efforts to bring Johnson and Willard together.

But the affair has a rather peculiar look. Possibly never before in pugilistic negotiations has a similar situation arisen.

Johnson is a fugitive from justice and dare not put foot on the justly revered soil of the U. S. A. In Mexico there is a civil war, and two opposing generals are waging a semi-political contest for the capture of the black heavyweight pugilistic champion of the world.

Villa would like to capture Johnson to assure him safe escort to the scene of the contest that was apparently all arranged for; and Carranza would like equally well to lay hands on the big smoke—not for friendly purposes, mind, but in order to turn him over to the United States Federal authorities.

Can you beat it? The United States and two military factions of Mexico all after a prize fighter! Whether a superlative craving for the limelight has led Johnson to develop ability to thrust himself into the glowing light of the national attention, or whether circumstances of no making of his own have conspired to keep his notorious name before the public, the fact remains that Johnson has achieved perhaps more notoriety than has fallen to the lot of any pugilist since the halcyon days of John L. Sullivan, the most famous fighter of all times.

In the beginning there was no demand for a meeting between Willard and Johnson. Circumstances with remote connection with the actual battle, have somewhat whetted the curiosity of the public, and there are a lot of persons who would not possibly attend the battle, but who are just curious enough to know the result of a meeting.

TAKES GRAND PRIZE CUP

Resta Wins Auto Race in Peugeot Car at San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 1.—Darius Resta of London, England, driving a Peugeot from Paris, France, Saturday took from America to Europe the international grand prize cup. And in doing so he won one of the most difficult, dangerous and exhausting road races ever run in America. The Englishman who drove his first race in the United States to victory, was cheered the 403.7 miles of the race over the exposition course by 86,000 persons.

The $6,000, like the drivers, braved heavy rains, sitting in the uncovered grandstand practically eight hours to see the race. Resta's time was 7 hours 7 minutes and 58 seconds, an average of 57.8 miles an hour.

Howard Wilcox was next behind the winning car, bringing the Stutz into second place in 7 hours 14 minutes and 36 seconds. He fought for this honor mile by mile and clinched second place when Hughie Hughes, who had driven a wonderful race for ninety-four laps in an Ono car, ran out of gasoline a mile from the pits.

Hughes had led by several laps during the early part of the race. He made a wild and spectacular dash at the finish to make up the lost time. Hughes' time was 7 hours 21 minutes and 47 seconds. Disbrow in a Simplex finished fourth and Anderson, driving a Stutz, was fifth. Of the thirty-one starters, fifteen finished.

The race was run under the most extraordinary conditions that ever marked a road contest. More than half of the exposition race was through a downpour and over a course that was made as treacherous as a greased pavement. The immense crowd was indifferent to the downpour. The asphalt invited skids at every foot and the boarded section was so slippery it required the greatest skill and strength of the drivers to prevent disasters in every lap.

Ralph de Palma found the conditions so bad that he withdrew at the end of the sixty-seventh lap. Caleb Bragg, the 1912 Grand Prix winner, was forced to quit in the twenty-fifth, when mud smeared his goggles and dirt filled his eyes.

Eddie Pullen and Gerucksteil, who figured prominently in the early running, withdrew at the sixty-eighth and seventieth laps respectively, when they found it impossible to longer keep their high-powered cars on the course.

CRACK PIN MEN TO ROLL IN DULUTH

Northern Bowling Tournament to Bring Strong Teams From Many Portions of Northwest.

Entries for the Northern Bowling association tournament are continuing to come in and from present indications the bowlers are going to have a busy week.

Among the latest entries are the City Hall team of Minneapolis and the Virginia, Minn. team. Duluth is showing more enthusiasm in the bowling game than ever before and results already indicate there will be a great many more local teams entered than in previous years. Entries close tonight and until then it is difficult to say how many local teams Duluth will have, but it is estimated the number will be twenty.

P. Bosalis, proprietor of the Central alleys of Minneapolis, where the I. B. A. was held, is coming to take part in the tournament.

One of the strongest teams entered in the Lumber Jacks of Ashland. They made a good showing at the I. B. A. and it is expected that they will repeat at the N. P. A.

The Major league will resume bowling Tuesday evening after a week's idleness, on account of the Minneapolis trip.

The big league scouts have been going over the Grand league circuit and reports are that several promising youngsters have been signed for next season.

Quesnell, the Grand league sensation, was in fine form Monday evening, running a total of 671 pins, but this is not a season record as claimed by the secretary of the Grand league. Firestone bowled 676 and Delles hung up a 675 count early in the season.

FINAL GAME IN HERALD

Bradley and Dinham Rinks Will Meet for the Trophy.

The beginning of the last lap of the curling season is in sight. The final game of The Herald event—the first event to be completed—is scheduled for this evening. Ralph Bradley and Billy Dinham, crack skips of crack rinks, are scheduled to fight it out.

On Saturday Billy Dinham met and vanquished Dr. Gillespie—not Catterson, by the way—and progressed with flying colors into the finals with Bradley. Ralph had beaten Bishoff and was waiting the coming of William.

The contest between Bradley and Dinham should be one of the best played this season. These two boys are among the real stars of the club. Both have steady and well-seasoned rinks. The game is expected to bring out a large gallery and to be heavily fraught with interest.

WORLD'S SKI MARK BROKEN IN NORWAY.

The news has just reached this country that Able Ommunden of Norway has made a ski mark of 176 feet, beating the old mark of 169 feet, held for several seasons by Ragnar Omtvedt of the Norge club of Chicago.

It is believed that the war conditions are responsible for the delay in the news reaching this country. The jump is the greatest on record, and it is believed will hold for years.

GIBBONS TO BOX M'GOORTY

Famous Middleweights Will Clash at Hudson, Wis.

Big Head of Lakes Delegation to Witness Bout.

BY BRUCE.

All roads lead to Rome—likewise all boxing roads will lead to the former Gretna Green, that whilom paradise of lovesick maidens and youths, Hudson.

Two of the greatest middleweights in the world will clash under the calcium glare of the arena lights of Mike Collins' club tomorrow evening. Followers of the game of boxing throughout the West and East and down the Southern stretches as far distant as New Orleans, have an ear alert for the result of the impending meeting.

Strange as it may seem, the former meeting between the two furnishes not one scintilla of evidence to base a conclusion that Mike Gibbons is the superior of the man from Oshkosh in a boxing sense; and yet it is now assured that Gibbons will go to the post a heavy betting favorite with the followers of the game.

Gibbons Was Ill.

In the sporting columns of The Herald several weeks ago was published an interview with Marty Perkins, former manager of Eddie McGoorty, in which Perkins stated that he knew Gibbons was in no shape to meet McGoorty at the Garden, Dec. 4, 1912. McGoorty is the only boxer in the world who has ever made Mike Gibbons look bad. The Oshkosh Whale is the only pugilistic luminary who has taken a handful of mud and splashed it on the escutcheon of this wonderful St. Paul boxer—is it any wonder that Gibbons, smarting under the memory of that setback, is going to try desperately to wipe out that stain?

McGoorty sure did make Gibbons look bad in that Madison Square Garden meeting. Mike "dogged" it at several stages and made himself look bad before one of the greatest boxing audiences that has ever been crowded into the historic old Garden. Tomorrow evening Gibbons has the golden opportunity to slap another of the middleweight contenders on the wrist and gain the unanimous verdict as the world's greatest middleweight boxer.

What About McGoorty?

Yes, there is some sense in that—what about McGoorty?

Well, there is a lot to be said on that score. In many respects the Oshkosh Whale is the most dangerous middleweight in the world. Eddie knocked out Dave Smith and Jack Harrison in the Garden in two consecutive meetings, it requiring but a round to demolish the hopes of each man.

It is the McGoorty left hook. A fighter with a soporific potion in his port hand is always one of the most dangerous things, speaking now of pugilists, that the ring can breed. It is simply a question of mathematics. The left hand is much nearer your opponent than the right—therefore the man with a knockout wallop in the left is always a bad proposition to bet against.

McGoorty confidently expects to knock Gibbons out and thus be recognized the greatest of all the middleweights—to be virtually crowned the successor of the late Stanley Ketchel. The claims of Al McCoy have been discounted; the fight for the double discounted; the fight for the middleweight title lies between Gibbons, Clabby, McGoorty and possibly George Chip. If the boy from the unromantic environs of Oshkosh should stow Gibbons away he would blossom forth as the recognized title holder.

Should Be a Great Bout.

Gibbons and McGoorty are not merely going to fight for the $9,500 guarantee that Mike Collins had the nerve to offer; the two men are virtually meeting tomorrow evening for the title and the emoluments that the winning of the title will entail.

McGoorty has got to make good—he may not get another chance for many moons. Gibbons is on trial—all the fans of his old home town are going to watch with eagle-eyed closeness in the effort to discover whether McGoorty has really got it on their beloved pugilistic idol.

As to the class of the contestants—two of the greatest middleweights in the world, if not the two greatest.

Gibbons is one of the greatest combination boxers and fighters we have had since the salad days of men like Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy and Joe Gans, three positive masters. McGoorty can both fight and box, and he is liable to win in a punch.

Gibbons for ours. Since the days of Jim Corbett it has never been our pleasure to look at a man so fast on his feet. Mike is in and out like a flash. Often he leads and then works over another punch and gets away without a return. It is our opinion that Mike Gibbons is about the class of the world—and it is another of our opinions that he will prove too fast for McGoorty, just as he proved too fast for Jimmy Clabby, the Hammond streak.

A large Head of the Lakes delegation will be at the ringside tomorrow evening. Dr. McNulty will head the Duluth delegation. Followers of the game from various range towns, Superior and little towns down the lines between here and the Twin Cities will help to swell what will, without a doubt, prove the largest crowd that has ever attended a boxing bout in the Northwest.

TWO CHAMPIONS ARE MATCHED FOR BATTLE.

Philadelphia, March 1.—Definite announcement that the six-round bout between Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, and Kid Williams, holder of the bantamweight title, will be held in this city, March 17, was made last night by Harry Edwards, president of the Olympia Athletic association, which will stage the fight.

Both men agreed to make 122 pounds ringside. Each will receive $5,500 or the privilege of 35 per cent of the receipts.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—Catcher Wilbur Smith, for five years with the Minneapolis American association ball club, has been released to St. Joseph, Mo., of the Western league.

CRACK CANADIAN TEAM TO PLAY HOCKEY HERE

Western University Septet of London Here Friday and Saturday.

Cleveland May Meet the Linderites Here Next Week.

Manager Jacobi of the Duluth Curling club hockey team announced today that the Western University hockey team of London, Ont., has been scheduled for a series of two games for Friday and Saturday of the present week.

Following in the wake of this announcement is one that holds glowing promise that Cleveland will also be brought here for two games, possibly the latter part of next week.

The Western University septet is composed of some of the star players of Canada. Volumes are spoken of the class of the team when it is merely mentioned that the Canadian university players are the only ones to win a round from the Cleveland team on the Forest City ice.

Manager Jacobi is of the opinion that this team is without doubt the classiest that has been dated for local games this season. His opinion is based both on the result of the games with Cleveland and the personnel of the university team.

Working For Cleveland.

Duluth is working with the Auditorium Rink company of Winnipeg in the effort to date a series of games here with Cleveland. The Sixth City stars, including the immortal Cobby Winters, are wanted at the Peg, and a series of four games is being held out as an inducement for a Western trip.

It is a long way to Tipperary—likewise it is quite a distance from Cleveland to Duluth. The gladsome sight of Coddy dashing up the side ice and fondly skating circles around some of the defense men, would be one calculated to bring a thrill to the hearts of followers of the game. By all means, Jack, bring on Coddy and Co.

It is believed that games with the Western university and Cleveland will prove the climax of a hockey season that has set success far beyond the loftiest precedents of the past. Both from the bright side of victories won and the lurid side of filthy lucre, the season that is drawing on to the last lap has been a darb.

Going back over the record of the team so far this season, it will be found that but three games have been lost. St. Paul won one, Port Arthur another and the Winnipegs the last one. Opposed to these defeats is the fact that in each instance Duluth has won the round, thus keeping its record clear.

Speaking from the standpoint of the ledger, it can be said that the curling club has enjoyed a great year—and deservedly so.

Duluth has one of the great teams of the country. The members of it play with the smoothness and perfection of a well oiled machine. The season has gone to the extent where success has been well established; no reverses could greatly tarnish the shining shield of victory.

The season promises to be wound up in a literal blaze of glory. Western university and Cleveland—whew! Some hockey dish that.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—Manager Hendricks, twelve players and the trainer of the Indianapolis American association team departed late last night for San Diego, Cal., for their spring training. The trip is said to be the most pretentious ever taken by a minor league organization.

DULUTH WINS FROM PEGS

Second Hockey Game of Series Won By 6 to 3 Score.

Curling Club Team Has Too Much Class for Visitors.

Duluth took the second hockey game of the series with the Winnipegs by the score of 6 to 3. Those who witnessed the second game are wondering just how it happened that the visitors were able to cop the opener.

Henry and Anderson did some remarkably fine individual playing on the offense for the visitors, and Winkler at goal for the Winnipegs gave one of the greatest displays of defensive skill that has ever been witnessed on a local rink. But in team play and in working repeated combinations, Duluth clearly excelled the visitors.

Another thing—the defense play of Nicholson, Linder and Bogan, combined with the rooming rovership of Bert Mohon, was about as clever an exhibition of stonewall defense as the Duluth team has given this season.

Linder was a veritable rock of Gibraltar and executed several sensational stops, in addition to rushing the rubber repeatedly into the Winnipeg territory.

The goal guarding of Nicholson was of a nifty brand. Harry stopped some vicious shots at the cage and received several tumultuous hands from the assembled onlookers.

Visitors Score First.

In just thirty-five seconds after the call of play Henry dashed up the side ice and cracked one in from a position rather far back. In a few seconds later Mahan came back and tied up the score. Mahan made the second Duluth goal on a pretty pass from Bogan, directly in front of the net, and Bert Mohon received a neat pass from Mahan just before the call of time and caged the rubber.

In the second half the visitors made a desperate and courageous attempt to tie up the score. After Jack Barkell and Mahan had increased the score, Henry, the dashing left wing of the invaders, came back and caged a neat goal on a pass from Munro. Mahan of Duluth shot a goal from almost the

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

IN THIS week's most sporting events of note there is the colossal bow of many-sided opinion, at cigar stores, pool parlors and in hotel lobbies of our fair city Saturday morning regarding the contest between Mike Watson and Bombardier Brown.

"Who would win if the boys fought a twenty round contest?" was perhaps the most notable expression heard.

Now, who would win? It affects the closeness of the contest to state that opinion on the outcome of the bout of Friday evening was largely divided.

On one corner you will find a Brown believer valiantly shouting forth that the range kid was the stronger at the finish of the fast-raising ninth round, while nodding along down the avenue you may run headon into a citizen carrying around the belief that Watson would have won in several additional rounds.

The promoter who could so arrange details as to permit the lads to clash over the twenty round route, and stage the contest in this centrastic purpose of the state, would collect handsomely as the gate.

After it is said that Pal Brown was back in fighting trim—save the pressing and following he is sure that ill-fated evening he made no unfortunate choice of seconds. The chinese Bill and

It was a great fight the referee said made. It amounted to at least a moral victory over Watson, for in widely scattered quarters Brown was accounted a dozen men before he entered the ring. Watson in the wee hours showed that a minor assortment of his prowess, therefore the opposing fighting of the boy, if the promotion of a big fight are the least important.

Waino Ketonen Here.

WAINO Ketonen, the Finnish sporting writer who has been covering the European war for the Boston Post, has arrived in the city and will today start publishing stories relating the last week of Mike's visit. He is to be starred at the conference on the evening of March 5.

But when he received a wire from Tilt Lewis, stating that the date had been definitely set for the big match with Yoder, Wain annulled all of his bouts, hurried down to Lincoln and started training for what should prove the most important battle of his career.

Hudson a Boxing Mecca.

DR. NED McNULTY will lead a delegation from Duluth and range boxing fans to the Gibbons-McGoorty contest. The majority of the fans will leave here tomorrow. All of the railroads operating between here and the Twin Cities have arranged to hold their trains at St. Paul until after the last special arrives from Hudson. This will give the fans going from this city an opportunity to arrive home early Wednesday morning.

The Affair of Juarez.

IN SOME ways it appears as if Jack Curley was on a Bloomer. Knowing the large promoter personally and realizing his resources, we hesitate to believe that he has abandoned all efforts to bring Johnson and Willard together.

But the affair has a rather peculiar look. Possibly never before in pugilistic negotiations has a similar situation arisen.

Johnson is a fugitive from justice and dare not put foot on the justly revered soil of the U. S. A. In Mexico there is a civil war, and two opposing generals are waging a semi-political contest for the capture of the black heavyweight pugilistic champion of the world.

Villa would like to capture Johnson to assure him safe escort to the scene of the contest that was apparently all arranged for; and Carranza would like equally well to lay hands on the big smoke—not for friendly purposes, mind, but in order to turn him over to the United States Federal authorities.

Can you beat it? The United States and two military factions of Mexico all after a prize fighter! Whether a superlative craving for the limelight has led Johnson to develop fidelity to thrust himself into the glowing light of the national attention, or whether circumstances of his making of his own have conspired to keep his notorious name before the public, the fact remains that Johnson has achieved perhaps more notoriety than has fallen to the lot of any pugilist since the halcyon days of John L. Sullivan, the most famous fighter of all times.

In the beginning there was no demand for a meeting between Willard and Johnson. Circumstances with regard to connection with the actual battle have somewhat whetted the curiosity of the public, and there are a lot of persons who would not possibly attend the battle, but who are just curious enough to know the result of a meeting.

TAKES GRAND PRIZE CUP

Resta Wins Auto Race in Peugeot Car at San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 1.—Dario Resta of London, England, driving a Peugeot from Paris, France, Saturday took from America to Europe the international grand prize cup. And in doing so he won one of the most difficult, dangerous and exhausting road races ever run in America. The Englishman who drove his first race in the United States to victory, was cheered the 348.5 miles of the race over the exposition course by 80,000 persons.

The strain, like the drivers, braved heavy tasks sitting in the uncovered grandstand practically eight hours to see the race. Resta's time was 7 hours 11 minutes and 42 seconds, an average of 48.4 miles an hour.

Howard Wilcox was next behind the winning car, flinging the Stutz into second place in 7 hours 14 minutes and 56 seconds. Fought for this honor from start to finish and clear to the end when Hughie Hughes, who had driven a wonderful race for ninety-four laps and 376 miles, ran out of gasoline a mile from the finish.

Hughes had but several laps during the early part of the race. He made a wide and spectacular dash at the finish to retire on the last time. Hughes' time was 7 hours 21 minutes and 47 seconds. Next was a Stutz driven by Gil Anderson, driving Stutz, was fifth of the thirty-one starters to finish.

The race was run under the most extraordinary conditions that ever marked a speed contest. More than half of the 350 miles was through a downpour and over a course that was made as treacherous as a greased pavement. The immense crowd was indifferent to the downpour. The asphalt invited skids at every foot and the boarded sections were slippery. It required the greatest skill and strength of the drivers to prevent disasters in every lap.

Ralph de Palma found the conditions so bad that he withdrew at the end of the sixty-seventh lap. Coach Bragg, the 1912 Grand Prix winner, was forced to quit in the twenty-fifth, when mud smeared his goggles and dirt filled his eyes.

Eddie Pullen and Gruckstell, who figured prominently in the early running withdrew at the sixty-eighth and seventieth laps respectively, when they found it impossible to longer keep their high-powered cars on the course.

Northern Bowling Tournament to Bring Strong Teams From Many Portions of Northwest.

Entries for the Northern Bowling association tournament are continuing to come in and from present indications the bowlers are going to have a busy week.

Among the latest entries are the City Hall team of Minneapolis and the Virginia, Minn., team. Duluth is showing more enthusiasm in the bowling game than ever before and results already indicate there will be a great many more local teams entered than in previous years. Entries close tonight and until then it is difficult to say how many local teams Duluth will have, but it is estimated the number will be twenty.

P. Bosalls, proprietor of the Central alleys of Minneapolis, where the I. B. A. was held, is coming to take part in the tournament.

One of the strongest teams entered in the Lumber Jacks of Ashland. They made a good showing at the I. B. A. and it is expected that they will repeat at the N. B. A.

The Major league will resume bowling Tuesday evening after a week's idleness, on account of the Minneapolis trip.

The big league scouts have been going over the Grand league circuit and reports are that several promising youngsters have been signed for next season.

Quesnell, the Grand league sensation, was in fine form Monday evening, running a total of 671 pins, but this is not a season record as claimed by the secretary of the Grand league. Firestone bowled 676 and Delles hung up a 675 count early in the season.

FINAL GAME IN HERALD

Bradley and Dinham Rinks Will Meet for the Trophy.

The beginning of the last lap of the curling season is in sight. The final game of The Herald event—the first event to be completed—is scheduled for this evening. Ralph Bradley and Billy Dinham, crack skips of crack rinks, are scheduled to fight it out.

On Saturday Billy Dinham met and vanquished Dr. Gillespie—not Catterson, by the way—and progressed with flying colors into the finals with Bradley. Ralph had beaten Bishoff and was waiting the coming of William.

The contest between Bradley and Dinham should be one of the best played this season. These two boys are among the real stars of the club. Both have steady and well-seasoned rocks. The game is expected to bring out a large gallery and to be heavy wrought with interest.

Bradley and Dinham will also play off to determine which rink goes into the semi-finals of the Bagley, Bishoff, Ditzel and Hall are already out there. It is expected one of the games in the semi-finals will be played off tomorrow evening.

The Bagley will be finished this week. The Columbia, Manley-McLennan and Universal are also going along speedily. There is little doubt but all of the games will be completed in good season.

has given prime pleasure to manly men for over half a century. A PEERLESS man never switches to another brand; he knows he's just losing time and pleasure on a needless experiment. Many brands come and go into the discard—but old PEERLESS is still in the lead.

There's a snappy taste to PEERLESS that policemen and other big fellows like. It's got that man-size quality about it; not one of those insipid, next-to-nothing tobaccos—but the big king-brand for the he-men on the force.

A week's trial will make you a permanent user of PEERLESS — go to it today.

Morton of the invaders scored the final goal of the game shortly before the call of time. The visitors played with redoubled strength and speed right up to the call of time, but the home team had the shade all the way and possessed the class.

Duluth Wins Round.

While the Winnipegs will share with Port Arthur the honor of being the only team this season to get an even break with Duluth in the matter of games won and lost in a series, the home team gets the round, which is the total score of the two games. The Winnipegs scored eight points in the two games and Duluth nine. Against Port Arthur Duluth scored 13 to the Canadians' 7.

BOND LOST TO WHITE SOX

Star Hitter Will Not Be With Darby's Dooks This Year.

News was received at the Duluth baseball office late Saturday that Handsome Harold Bond, the sweetest swatter that the Sox have had in years, will not answer the blithesome call of spring. Harold is lost to the team. Being superintendent of schools is taxing the time of the three-base-hit kid.

The loss of Bond means that seven of the stars of last year will be missing, with the possibility that two more will fail to report.

Bond, Edmunds, Brackett, Withers, Ezell, Cunningham and Blancke are lost to the team. Collins and Sweeley may not be back. In place of these players the well-known second baseman has signed up a raft of young material. Darby has some well recommended youngsters on his contract list and, with optimism, looks forward to a good year.

Schedule-Making On.

On the first of the present month the schedule-miking starts. The magnates of the league will foregather in Minneapolis. Each club of the league is required to deposit $1,000 to furnish the sinews of war and as a guarantee of going through the season.

As is the case in baseball in general, from the two majors to the lowest rung of the organized forces, salaries in the Northern league are being lopped right and left.

Roy Thomas, star outfielder of the Fort William team, it is stated in a dispatch from that city, has refused to sign because of a reduction in the promised size of the pay envelope. It is understood that Jimmy Collins was tendered a contract with a pay reduction.

The decreasing of salaries is no deliberate attempt upon the part of the Northern league magnates to pay ball players less than they are worth, but is a necessary stand in the interests of self protection.

Last year team salary lists ran to so high a figure that teams like Fargo, Grand Forks and Winona lost so heavily that some of the backers, in the game primarily for the sport of it, registered a healthy protest. For instance, Stanchfield of the Grand Forks club is authority for the statement that the Flickers dropped $6,200 on the season.

Economy is the watchword in baseball. The Northern is no exception to leagues scattered over the length and breadth of the country. While some of the veterans are balking at proffered contracts that call for less money than received last year, it is believed that there will be a number of promising young players in the league.

CREW CANDIDATES OF BOAT CLUB WILL MEET

Lord Nelson fervently cried upon a famous occasion that England expected every man to do his duty. Beginning with this evening Duluth expects a lot of her young men to do their duty—get out and try for the crew.

The big rally of the season is on tonight at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Jimmy Ten Eyck, head of the well known school of rowing, is on deck and is instilling enthusiasm into the boys. Every old man and a whole bunch of new candidates are requested to be on hand and get the spirit.

This promises to be the greatest season in the history of the club. Speculation as to the success of the Duluth Boat club has ceased to be a speculation. The club has arrived; but it must hold its proud place as the greatest rowing organization in the United States. Each season new material is needed. Tonight the real campaign of the 1915 season starts. New men are wanted and needed. The meetin_ is called at 8 o'clock—be there youths.

After a New Title.

Jimmy Ten Eyck is after a new title this year. The indomitable James says he is thoroughly convinced that his men can win the national quadruple rowing championship away from the Riversides of Boston.

This crew is coached by ancient George Faulkner. He was one of the crack professionals back in the dawn of the American sculling game. His son, C. Faulkner, strokes the quadruple four and Livingstone is at No. 3. Frank Davy, the man who has made most of the Duluth shells, is at 2, and Will Faulkner, another son of old George, is in bow.

Form time dating many years the Riversides have clung tenaciously to the quadruple title. They are considered invincible. Ten Eyck says the impression along this line is erroneous. Jim generally goes through with anything he starts.

But, anyway, remember that the mass meetings is this evening. Pictures of the national regatta races at Philadelphia will be flashed, talks will be made and in general a good time is expected to be had by all.

Better go.

MIKE YOKEL VERY LIGHT

Emil Klank Says Rocky Mountain Lion Weighs 157 Pounds.

"Mike Yokel weighs 157 pounds at the present time. He will weigh 156 when he steps into the ring to wrestle Ketonen. "KLANK."

A wire came today from Emil Klank from Hot Springs, Ark. The former manager of Frank Gotch left for Chicago yesterday. In the wire was the above statement. Yokel will step on the platform under the middleweight poundage limit of 158 pounds, according to the words of Klank.

Klank is speeding to Chicago to complete all arrngements for Yokel's final week of preparation for the mat battle with the little Finn. Marin Plestina, a big heavyweight who assisted in the conditioning of Gotch for several of his big battles, will be one of the chief workers in the Yokel camp. A raft of wrestlers, large and small, selected from the Chicago colony, will fill out and endeavor to fit the Rocky Mountain Lion for the battle of his life. It is the general consensus of opinion that Yokel will have to be right to flop the wise and crafty Ketonen, one of the headiest wrestlers that the mat has produced among the little men since the active days of Ed Adamson.

Ketonen arrived here yesterday and today starts on the hardest work he has ever done in preparation for any contest. The little Finn has the opportunity of his life—and he fully realizes it. Down in his heart Ketonen believes that he has Yokel's number.

That Klank and Yokel believe the Finn one of the greatest men that Mike has ever been matched with is indicated by the seriousness both the men are attaching to the coming bout.

DOUBLE BILL IS SCHEDULED

Universals to Meet Northerns—Centrals and Bagleys to Play.

One of the big Duluth Amateur league hockey games of the season is scheduled for this evening in the meeting between the Northern and Universals. Both of these teams are fighting for the leadership. The Northerns are in the lead at the present time, while the Universals are coming strong. The Bagleys and Centrals will also meet. This will serve as a curtain raiser to the big contest of the evening—a game that has been eagerly anticipated by the followers of the league for some time.

Ed Harris has gotten his flour makers to the point of efficiency where the boys are playing a game like the brand of hockey furnished last season. Andy Grenner has had the Northerns up there in front for some time and the followers of the hardware boys think the team unbeatable by any thing in the league.

However the Universals have a host of followers who pin exceeding faith on the stars playing under the flour trade mark. The members of the team did not find themselves apparently at the start of the season. In the past few games the Universals have shown some real hockey. The game should be a darb.

ASK PRESIDENT TO CALL CONFERENCE

Promoters of Peace Pass Resolutions at Chicago Conference.

Chicago, March 1.—Resolutions asking President Wilson to call a conference of neutral nations to attempt to end the European war were passed by the Emergency Peace federation last night and plans were made for the organization of a permanent body to be known as the national peace organization. A resolution protesting against any increase of armament in the United States also was passed.

The new organization committed itself to these principles:

"1—Favoring a concert of nations instead of alliances providing for a balance of power.

"2—Abolition of armament and prohibition of the manufacture of ammunition for belligerents.

"3—Protection of private property at sea.

"4—Self-government and universal adult suffrage.

"5—Prohibition of the transfer of provinces except by the consent of the people.

"6—No alliances to be entered in by nations except after approval of the people."

The resolution expresses the belief that the time has come for an extension of the principle of neutrality by a conference of neutral nations.

WHEAT PRICES SELL OFF WITH HEAVY HAMMERING

Market Slumps Sharply With Foreign Weakness on Dardanelles News.

Flaxseed Steady, With Fair Crushers' Inquiry and Light Offerings.

Duluth, March 1.—The market showed further weakness at the close on selling pressure. May wheat closed 5¼c off, and July 5¾c off. May durum closed 4c off and July 4c off.

Oats closed 2⅝c off at 51¾c for on the track. Rye closed 3c off at $1.10@1.11; barley, 2@3c off at from 64@74c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 64½c bid, and July 1⅛c off at 64⅜c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.33½, and July at $1.43½.

A number of factors combined to produce extreme weakness in the wheat market again today. Quotations ran off 4c at the opening as a result of reports regarding the progress of the allies' fleet in forcing the passage of the Dardanelles. A rally extending to nearly 2c then came about on the reported buying of exporters at the seaboard. Weakness again developed around the noon hour on the appearance of the American visible supply report showing a much smaller decrease than had been counted upon. Wheat stocks were placed at 19,686,000 bu, a decrease of 2,073,000 bu in the week. Last year stocks were 57,021,000 bu at this time.

Under ordinary conditions the statistical position of the market would have been regarded as bullish, with stocks 8,000,000 bu smaller than last year. Snow placed wheat reserves on March 1 at 169,000,000 bu and the exportable surplus in the next four months at only 44,000,000 bu. Against that, however, came the likelihood of a large movement from Russia in the event of the opening of the Dardanelles and expected liberal Argentine shipments during the next few weeks. It was noted by operators that the market situation has become weak at Liverpool, spot wheat there being down 2s from its recent high point.

In the meantime American receipts have fallen off with indisposition on the part of growers to let go on the present basis. Receipts today were 908,000 bu against 1,396,000 bu last year. Clearances made a good showing today, being reported at 1,521,000 bu of wheat and flour.

May wheat opened 3½c off at $1.46 and after selling up to $1.47, it stood at $1.45⅝ at the noon hour. July opened 4c off at $1.41, and declined 3¾c more. Drum also showed marked weakness. The May future opened 2c off at $1.51, and declined ½c more. There was no trading in July during the morning.

Flaxseed Strong.

While trading in flaxseed was limited, the market in flaxseed was firm with scattering buying by crushers and with fair inquiry from exporters at the less favorable advices regarding the Argentine crop.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.85¾, and 3¼c up at $1.86½, and closed opened ¼c up at $1.86½ and closed opened ¼c up at $1.87¾ asked. September 1¼c up at $1.87¾ asked. September closed ¾c up at $1.86¾ nominal.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¼c off at $1.66¾ asked, and July ¾c off at $1.69⅝ asked.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Strength in American and firmer offers of winters helped to hold the market steady and served to minimize the effect of favorable reports from the Dardanelles. Spot markets were quiet, with winters offered at 6d advance. Plate offers were firm at unchanged prices. Cargo market was weak and one to two shillings lower as influenced by Dardanelles news.

"Corn was neglected nominally unchanged. Chicago advance was offset by the Argentinen official report."

Argentine weather is clearing, and appears settled. An official report places the new crop of corn at 335,946,000 bu and the exportable surplus at 204,000,000 bu. Since April 1914 exports have amounted to 147,900,000 bu. Last year the crop was officially placed at 324,000,000 bu.

Exports of copper during February from the ports of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore totaled 14,778 tons.

Boston News Bureau says: "An interest well posted in recent developments in North Butte and with the property generally, says: The recent strikes in connection with operating of the Edith May vein on the 2,800-foot level is the richest ever made in Butte. The vein faces both east and west and shows the most remarkable ore values ever found. It is thought likely that the Jessie vein will show improvement from now on, as these two veins were almost identical on upper levels."

Mohawk ouput for February was 729 tons of mineral.

Guggenheim Exploration company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 3½ per cent payable April 1. Books close March 12 and open March 18.

The Goldfield Consolidated Mining company has declared a dividend of 10 per cent payable April 30, to stock of record, March 31.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following from Boston: "New Baltic during past year has been marking time and awaiting interesting developments of its near neighbor, New Arcadian. New Arcadian vein has been shown to be rich within less than 200 feet of the New Baltic line, and consequently the developments at New Arcadian mean much to the New Baltic. There is now no reasonable doubt that the New Arcadian vein traverses the entire New Baltic property, and it is said to be the intention of New Baltic management to begin exploration work on this new vein as soon as the snow is off the ground."

Copper visible supply in England, France and afloat thereto decreased 1,192 tons from Feb. 15 to March 1.

Wolverine output for February was 364 tons of mineral compared with 388 tons in January.

BANK CLEARINGS KEEP INCREASING

That a large volume of business is being put through in Duluth and this district is attested in the record of current bank clearings at this point.

For February the report of the Duluth Clearing House association showed clearings of $13,888,887.76 as against $11,565,347.70 for the same month last year, being an increase of $2,323,540.06.

For January and February, clearings aggregated $30,575,441.47, an increase of $4,343,531.04 over the corresponding period of 1914.

During the last four months Duluth has enjoyed the distinction of being one of the few cities in the United States to report regular increases in bank clearings. While that has been attributed largely to the liberal grain movement and the high prices prevailing, other lines of business have been making relatively good showing.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Higher Opening Followed By Decline and Then Partial Recovery.

Trading Stagnant in Late Dealings on the Allies' Announcement.

New York, March 1.—A one-point advance in Union Pacific and a two-point decline in Louisville & Nashville to 110, its new minimum, were the principal features of today's early stock market. Prices otherwise inclined to irregularity, Reading responding favorably to a moderate inquiry, while Pennsylvania was heavy on its poor statement of earnings for January. Shares of the motor companies were again active at advancing prices. Americans, with the exception of Canadian Pacific, were lower in the London market.

Imports of $750,000 gold from London, where the metal was obtained at the low exchange rates of a fortnight ago, acted as a partial stimulant in the early dealings of today's market, but prices fell under their best before the end of the first hour, with especial heaviness in New York Central and Canadian Pacific. United States Steel yielded most of its gain after one lot of 3,000 shares had changed hands at 43. By midday trading became exceedingly dull. Latest developments in the eastern war zone were reflected in another severe decline in grain options. Selling of bonds for foreign holders continued.

Gradual recovery to the high level of the morning was made by some of the leaders after midday. Specialties were heavy, however, American Locomotive preferred and American Express failing to minimum prices.

Trading became more stagnant in the late dealings, following the announcement of the British government's more stringent policy against Germany. The closing was steady.

DULUTH'S TRADE SHOWS GROWTH

Gately Official Finds Very Encouraging Conditions Here and Elsewhere.

Fred F. Harwood, vice president of the Gately Clothing company, entertains optimistic views regarding business conditions and prospects in all sections of the country. Said he today:

"The trade situation in the territory tributary to Duluth is showing special improvement and the indications now point to much better times in the near future."

He pointed out that many American industries besides arms and ammunition factories are benefiting through the placing of orders by the European belligerents. One of the big wastes of the war is cloth and clothing, and that, to Mr. Harwood's knowledge, is leading to the booking of heavy contracts by the leading manufacturers in those lines. As a result clothing manufacturers are, generally speaking, operating to fully capacity, and it is thought that many of the clothing stores will experience difficulty in getting their orders filled.

"Reports coming to my desk from the Gately stores scattered over the country from Maine to Oregon are all encouraging, and in my opinion form a most reliable barometer of business conditions," said Mr. Hardood. "In Duluth our sales are rapidly increasing and afford good reason to consider that the trade movement is forward and not backward."

LIQUOR DEALER WINS HIS CASE

U. S. Supreme Court Dismisses Injunction Against Kansas Man.

Washington, March 1.—The supreme court today dismissed an injunction issued by the Kansas supreme court against M. Kirmeyer, a Leavenworth, Kan., liquor dealer.

Kirmeyer established a warehouse just over the Missouri boundary, when barred from doing business in Leavenworth and continued to deliver beer in Kansas.

The Kansas supreme court established the contention, now not upheld, that Kirmeyer's trade was not interstate commerce "in good faith" but a mere device to evade the Kansas liquor laws.

Justice McReynolds stated in the opinion that the Kirmeyer case arose before the passage of the Webb-Kenyon law, prohibiting shipments from wet to dry territory and that neither its construction nor application was involved or would be passed upon. Advocates of the Webb-Kenyon law claim that measure would apply to such cases now.

Justice McReynolds said decisions of the supreme court precluded further discussion of the following facts:

Beer is a recognized article of commerce. The right to send it from one state to another and the act of doing so are interstate commerce, the regulation whereof has been committed to congress; and a state law which denies such right or substantially interferes with or hampers the same is in conflict with the Constitution of the United States. Transportation is not complete until delivery to the consignee or the expiration of a reasonable time therefor and prior thereto the provisions of the Wilson act of 1890 have no application.

The justice did not undertake to say whether the Webb-Kenyon law was effective to change those propositions.

CONSULS PROMOTED.

Three Minnesotans Given Advancement By President.

By a Staff Correspondent.

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson sent to the senate today the promotions of the following Minnesota consuls: William C. Magelssen, now consul at Melbourne, to be consul of Class 5; William Dawson, Jr., now consul at Rosario, to be consul of Class 6; Clement S. Edwards, now consul at Acapulco, to be consul of Class 7.

ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF SUPPLIES FOR BELGIANS

Rotterdam, Holland, March 1, via London.—The largest amount of gifts from the United States to the destitute people of Belgium which has been received on any day since the relief work began, arrived today at Rotterdam. The steamer Great Coty, carrying 9,400 tons of goods, representing the generosity of people in every state in the Union, docked here as did the steamer South Point, which brought 7,000 tons of flour contributed by millers of Northwestern states.

Possibility of a shortage of food supplies during March now is removed.

DEARTH OF FILINGS.

Candidates for Municipal Offices Slow in Getting Papers in.

No candidates for a municipal office filed today.

So far three candidates have filed for municipal judge and but one for commissioner. These are Capt. W. H. Smallwood, M. E. Louisell and John H. Norton, who would be municipal judge, and J. A. Farrell, candidate for the commission.

Candidates have until next Monday night to file their nomination papers.

Hearing on Recall.

Whether or not there will be a recall of Mayor J. S. Konkel early this spring will probably depend on the hearing to be held at the courthouse before Judge G. N. Risjold of Ashland this afternoon. The hearing on the injunction will be held and both sides will have a strong array of counsel to debate the question. If the injunction can be made permanent it will probably put an end to the activities of recallers in ousting the mayor.

Protest Against Paving.

The Karon Investment company has filed a protest with the city commission protesting against the paving of Fourth street from Tower avenue to the Omaha tracks. The complaint states that the traffic on the street does not warrant the pavement. Several other property owners on the street are said to favor the project and it is probable that the protest of the investment company will not be given much attention.

Exposition Well Attended.

The exposition held last week under the auspices of the Superior Rotary club had an attendance of 12,000 during the week, according to reports given out yesterday. Admission fees totaling $1,050 were paid. The attendance, claim directors of the affair, shows up the need of a large municipal auditorium where such affairs of the future can be held.

Kragnes Elevator Burns.

Moorhead, Minn., March 1.—The Imperial elevator at Kragnes was totally destroyed by fire, Feb. 26, together with its entire contents, said to be approximately 20,000 bushels of grain.

The elevator was a line elevator belonging to the Imperial Elevator company, and was doubtless covered by a blanket insurance policy.

St. Paul Stores Scorched.

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—Fire of unknown origin caused $17,000 damage to three firms occupying a building at Seventh and Robert streets, Saturday night. The New Store, a department store, lost $10,000; J. T. Presley, ladies' cloak dealer, lost $5,000, and L. Oesterricher, milliner, lost $2,000.

MEASURES OF RETALIATION

Allies Will Prevent Commodities of All Kinds Reaching Germany.

Proposed Reprisal Will Strictly Observe Dictates of Humanity.

London, March 1.—"Germany has driven her opponents to adopt retaliatory measures to prevent commodities of every kind from reaching or leaving Germany," said Premier Asquith in the house of commons today.

The proposed measures of reprisal against Germany, the premier said, would be enforced with strict observance of the dictates of humanity, but the allies did not propose to "allow their efforts to be strangled in a network of judicial niceties."

There was no intention, he explained, to confiscate detained ships or cargoes unless they were liable to confiscation under the ordinary conditions of war.

The premier declared the allies would hold themselves free to capture goods wherever there was a presumption that such goods were destined for the use of their enemies or had been sent from hostile countries.

Violated Conventions.

Referring to the German naval campaign against British shipping, Premier Asquith declared that Germany had violated systematically all the conventions intended for the mitigation of warfare. She had taken further steps, the premier said, by organizing "an under-sea campaign of piracy and pillage." Germany, he declared, was not blockading and could never blockade English shores.

Referring to what he termed whispers of peace, Mr. Asquith said it was not time to talk of peace; that this time would arrive "only when the great purpose of the allies are in sight of accomplishment."

Premier Asquith made the declaration that at no time had the government been more confident than today that the allies ultimately would achieve victory.

GARRISON AT PRAGUE KILLS ITS OFFICERS.

Paris, March 1.—The correspondent at Bucharest, Roumania, of the Havas agency, has sent in a telegram repeating the report that the Russians had reoccupied Kolomea, in Galicia, and that they were investing Stanislau. Kolomea was taken after a fierce fight on Wednesday, Feb. 24.

"The Ninety-first Czech regiment," the Havas correspondent continues, "in garrison at

NORMANNA CHORUS AND MAYOR PRINCE

Double Attraction Draws Big Crowd to Sunday Concert.

The Normanna chorus and Mayor Prince proved to be a combination attractive enough to draw a capacity audience to the Temple yesterday afternoon.

Owing to absence from the city of several of its members the chorus was somewhat depleted, but what it lacked in volume was fully compensated by the sweetness of tone, delicacy of shading and musicianly interpretation of the various numbers.

After a brief talk by A. F. M. Custances on Scandinavian music, the chorus twenty in all, under the faultless direction of J. H. Flaaten gave "Olaf Trygvason" by Reissinger, giving as encore the quaint folk-song "Kari an Mari." Their second number was Durand's beautiful "Kyrie at Sea," and the last number was "Spirit of Peace" arranged to a melody by Tait. As encores to these songs they gave the popular "Hawaiian Farewell" and "Sveena Venson," the solos parts in both being ably handled by Mr. Meyers. Scandinavian music was represented in the organ selections by Grieg's "Triumphal March" and Sibelius' "Finlanadia," a collection of Finnish folk melodies. A brilliant "Tarantella" by Mossenet was very effective with its striking staccato passages and quick tempo. The program ended with a potpourri of songs popular during the Civil war, entitled "Echoes of the Sixties."

Mayor's Talk.

The mayor, introduced as the "Prince" of good fellows, spoke on "The City as a Good Fellow." After paying a deserved tribute to T. W. Hugo as a "good fellow" in the highest sense of the term, the speaker called attention to the fact that too much attention was attracted to what he called the negative forces of municipal activities, such as the police and fire departments, while too little notice was given to the positive or constructive activities which go to promote and conserve human values. Among these positive activities he named the work of the probation officer of the municipal court, the municipal lodging house for women and children, the gratuitous services of members of the local bar, the care of homeless men, the work farm, the social centers, playgrounds, parks and boulevards, band concerts, public libraries. He reminded his hearers that in all these constructive activities the city was only fulfilling its bounden duty and obligation and emphasized the axiom that the city exists only for the citizens, not the citizens for the city.

CASES WILL BE HEARD IN ORDER

Cases for trial at the March term of the district court will be disposed of in the order appearing on the calendar according to a rule which will be put into effect this week.

The new term will open Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Judge Cant will make the call of the calendar of civil cases at that time and attorneys are being notified that the cases are to be set for trial in the order which they appear on the calendar, unless good cause to the contrary is shown.

The March term calendar has 210 cases listed for trial by the court and jury. A large number are divorce cases. The divorce grist will be disposed of first. The March grand jury will also convene Wednesday. About twenty criminal cases are to be considered.

MACCABEES WILL ASSEMBLE HERE

Minnesota delegates to the annual camp convention of the Knights of Maccabees will convene at the Maccabee hall, 21 Lake avenue north, March 3. The convention will last two days and an extensive program has been planned for the entertainment of the visiting knights.

Duluth tent, No. 1, will have a candidate in the convention for the office of great record keeper, one of the highest in the state, and the fight to land this office for the local lodge will be one of the features of the gathering, according to Duluth members of the order.

Duluth's degree team expects to win the $100 cash prize and the state silver cup in the degree team contest March 3, say local Maccabees and the 700 knights living in Duluth are planning to set a record at this convention.

A joint meeting of Duluth tents will be held at the Maccabee hall tonight, when final arrangements will be made to insure the success of the gathering. The committee in charge of arrangements includes: C. G. Futter, Joseph Selner, A. F. Braun, R. J. Gundry, J. A. Bethune, C. C. Anderson, O. S. Buell and G. Diebell.

CASH SUBSCRIPTIONS TO HURRY EXTENSION.

Beach, N. D., March 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the subscribers to the right-of-way fund for the Northern Pacific extension south of here to Burkey and Ollie will pay 80 per cent of their subscriptions by June 1 the line will be built and ready for operation by Nov. 15. This is the latest statement by the officials of the road and it now appears to rest entirely with the people along the right-of-way as to whether they will make good with their subscriptions.

SUSPECT REPEATEDLY ASSERTS INNOCENCE.

Chicago, March 1.—Henry Miller, arrested here today as a suspect in the Aurora murder case, was closely questioned by the police and repeatedly asserted that he was innocent of any crime.

"I was never in Aurora in my life," he said. "I know absolutely nothing about the murder of Miss Peterson, except what I have read in the newspapers."

Miller denied that he had attempted to attack a woman just before he was arrested.

Increase Brainerd Shop Force.

Brainerd, Minn., March 1.—This morning the Northern Pacific railway shops added 128 men, there being 93 added to the locomotive side which takes in machinists, boilermakers, helpers and 35 on the car side.

TO ASK REPEAL OF ALIEN LABOR LAW.

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—Governor Whitman will request the legislature in a special emergency message to-night to immediately repeal the alien labor law.

This law, held constitutional last week by the state court of appeals, would compel the discharge of several thousand aliens employed in building the New York city subways and seriously interfere with that work.

STRIKING LABORERS HAVE RESUMED WORK.

London, March 1.—Many of the striking laborers at the Clyde Engineering works resumed work today in accordance with instructions issued by the government. These labor troubles threatened to interfere seriously with the supplying of equipment and war material for the troops in the field and the government took a hand in their settlement on the basis of national necessity.

It is expected that all the strikers will be back at work not later than Wednesday.

UNITED STATES WILL ADHERE TO ITS POSITION ON SHIPPING IN SPITE OF NOTE OF ALLIES

NO NATION HAS RIGHT TO CHANGE RULES

Washington to Endeavor to Have Belligerents Respect American Ships.

Note Will Be Sent Allies Asking More Details in Matter.

British-French Note Outlines Policy Only in General Terms.

Washington, March 2.—The United States will send a note to Great Britain and France in answer to the one received yesterday inquiring what means will be taken in carrying out the policy of holding up supplies being carried to and from Germany. President Wilson told callers today that the British-French note outlined in very general terms a policy, but did not define the means of carrying it into effect.

President Wilson refused to discuss the subject in detail, but said that no nation has the right to change the rules of warfare because the methods of war have changed. He indicated that the United States will not change its previously announced position, but will continue to make efforts to have the belligerents respect American shipping of a non-contraband character.

Not Clear as to Blockade.

The president said it was not clear in his own mind whether the new action of the British and French governments established a blockade of Germany, although that would be the general effect of the order. He indicated that even though a real blockade were established, no questions affecting the neutrality of the United States would be precipitated by the continued voyages of American ships to Germany.

The president added that he had not had opportunity as yet to thoroughly

VILLA REPORTED TO BE DEAD AND BURIED.

San Antonio, Tex., March 2.—A message dated Feb. 27 from Aguas Calientes and delayed in transmission says rumors that Francisco Villa is dead and buried are again circulating. Col. Tomas Ubina is reported as having made the statement that he attended the funeral and that the burial was in Juan, a village in Durango, which was Gen. Villa's birthplace.

Hipolito Villa, a brother of Francisco and who strongly resembles the general, came from Northern Texas two weeks ago and is taking an active interest in the affairs of the Villa forces.

The message was received here at the Mexican consulate in charge of Carranza representatives.

BEER FLOWS IN BEMIDJI

Six Vats in Bemidji Brewery Yield Amber Fluid in Foaming Stream.

Let Loose By Government Agents Because Injunction Has Expired.

Bemidji, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beer valued at approximately $4,500 is flooding the Bemidji brewery today and is running in a stream to the lake, the shore line of which is covered with billows of foam.

The beer is being destroyed by the squad of government agents enforcing the Indian treaty and the liquor provision. Under the personal direction of Chief Special Officer Larson, six enormous vats have been tapped and the beer is gushing in great streams from each.

The floor of the brewery is covered seven inches deep with the beverage and the government men wade in it with boots. The liquor ultimately drains into the lake.

Injunction Has Expired.

The destruction of the beer takes place at this time because the injunction obtained by the brewing company has expired. The brewery has attempted, under the protection of the injunction, to ship its product out of the restricted zone, but found it impossible to dispose of its product, with the result that for a short time "dry" Bemidji has a small river of beer flowing freely but closely guarded by the government men.

The Bemidji brewery has been in operation for several years and employed an average of twelve men and did an average business of about $5,000 a month.

A. H. Jester, manager of the brewery, assisted the government to expeditiously destroy his own product that he no longer could legally dispose of, and Deputy Revenue Collector Aubol of Crookston was another witness.

ADDITIONAL TIME IS ALLOWED FOR REPORT ON EFFICIENCY BILL

Committee Will Consider Measure Further Before Making Report.

House Kills Bill Regarding County Boards Aiding Development.

Two Measures Aimed at Blind Pigs Introduced By Frye.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instead of reporting the efficiency and economy bill for passage this morning, as expected, and asking that it be made a special order for Friday, Chairman Spooner asked for more time and got it. On motion of Representative Adams, author of the resolution requiring a report today, additional time, not to exceed fifteen days, was allowed. Mr. Spooner said the attempt to get a meeting of the committee Saturday night was not completely successful, and another attempt to get a meeting this morning before the session also failed. The committee will consider the bill further, therefore, before reporting to the house.

Boyd Bill Killed.

The house this morning by a large vote refused to make more elastic the law allowing county boards to appropriate money for development and settlement work, indefinitely postponing the Boyd bill allowing such action by a four-fifths vote. A unanimous vote is now required. A number of members objected to any such use of public funds declaring it was a misuse of public money for private purposes, and Representative Christianson announced his intention of introducing a bill repealing the whole law.

Representative Rooert Carmichael this morning moved that his resolution calling Representative Corning to the bar of the house to apologize for attacking the governor and impugning the motives of those opposed to county option be returned to him to be burned. "I do this," he said, "in the interest of brotherly love and of getting down to work."

Industrious Body.

In a spirit of industry the house adopted a resolution by Representative Frye and Bendixen, from the farmers' organization, stating its purpose to meet twice a day until general orders are cleaned up. The resolution was adopted as a substitute for one by

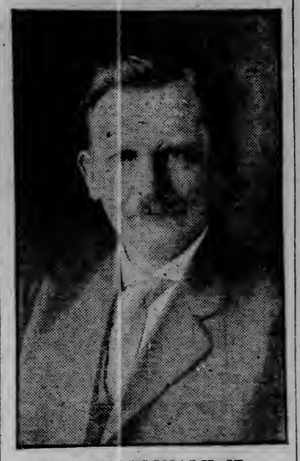
HAS WORKED OUT PLAN FOR RECLAMATION WORK



PAUL MARSCHALK, JR., Representative From Warroad.

RECLAMATION PLAN OFFERED

Companies to Do Development Work on Large Scale Proposed.

Senator Knopp Offers Bill to Establish Poor Debtors' Court.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bill authorizing the formation of reclamation companies, to do land-clearing and development work on a large scale and to have liens on the lands benefited for the payment of their bills, will be introduced in the house in a day or two by Representative Paul Marschalk, Jr., of Warroad.

This measure will be the result of nearly two months' careful study by Mr. Marschalk and Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, who have been searching virtually ever since the session began for the best and most practical system possible to facilitate reclamation work that will stand the test of legality.

Mr. Marschalk had in mind at the opening of the session the introduction of a bill authorizing the creation of reclamation districts, these districts to be permitted to issue and sell bonds for land-clearing and other development work just as counties, cities, school districts, etc., do now.

Constitutional Question.

The only doubt in his mind as to this plan came from the question of constitutionality, and this doubt he referred to the attorney general. The result of the attorney general's researches was the inescapable conclusion that the plan would not be constitutional. Various other similar plans were re-

READY TO GIVE UP TO GEN. CARRANZA

Provisional President Gutierrez Expresses Willingness to Gen. Gonzales.

Vera Cruz, March 2.—An afternoon paper published here reports that Eulalio Gutierrez, former provisional president of the republic, has expressed to Gen. Pablo Gonzales his willingness to surrender unconditionally to Gen. Carranza.

Gen. Gutierrez was elected provisional president by the Aguas Calientes convention in November in place of Carranza. He occupied the palace at Mexico City early in December, but remained only a little over a month, fleeing the capital early in the morning. The flight of the provisional president was attributed to a disagreement with Gen. Villa, whom he was said to have denounced as a dictator. Villa, in a statement, later accused Gutierrez and his party with having looted the national treasury and "abandoned all interests, lives and the honor of society entrusted to their care."

Gen. Gonzales was last reported by the Carranza agency at Washington as having begun on Feb. 26 an attack on Monterey.

BOMBARDING IS HINDERED BY BAD WEATHER

Gale of Wind and Heavy Mist Prevail in the Dardanelles.

Efficient Marksmanship By Gunners Is Rendered Impossible.

Little News of Fighting From Either the East or West.

London, March 2.—Operations of the French and British fleets against the Turkish fortifications on the Dardanelles, which during the past week had taken the warships of the allies some fifteen miles through this well defined and narrow waterway, are at a standstill today on account of a gale of wind accompanied by a heavy mist which hinders the efficient marksmanship of the naval gunners necessary to reduce the second line of forts concealed by the hills. This respite is likely to prove of benefit to the Turks, but the allies, realizing the necessity of pushing any Oriental offensive movement with energy, will resume the attack as soon as possible.

From Athens comes a report that Essad Pasha of Albanian fame, the Turkish soldier who made his reputation as a strategist by the defense of Janina in the Balkan war, has been placed in command of the Turkish forces at Gallipoli, flanking the straits.

Petrograd reports the completion of Russian military operations around Przasnysz and claims to have thrown back to the frontier at this point two German army corps. Petrograd announces also the resumption of the offensive by the Russian forces in Galicia.

Russians Repulsed.

Berlin officially announces the repulse of Russian attacks north of Lomza and northwest of Ostrolenka, but says that otherwise there is

BREAKWATER AT DULUTH ENTRANCE

Survey Provided for in the Rivers and Harbors Bill.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 2.—Authority for a survey with a view to the construction of a breakwater outside the entrance to Duluth harbor is carried in the emergency rivers and harbors bill, which was reported to the senate today from the committee on commerce.

No specific appropriations are carried in the emergency bill for the Northwest. But an appropriation of $25,000,000 is carried for the maintenance of existing works, allotments to be made by the secretary of war.

The emergency bill also authorizes a survey with a view of the construction of a turning basin in the Superior end of Duluth-Superior harbor.

An examination of Rainy lake with a view to the construction of a breakwater at Ranier is also authorized.

It is expected that the survey of the Duluth breakwater will be made during the coming season, and a report submitted to congress next session, with a view to authorizing the construction in a rivers and harbors bill to be reported then.

ATTEMPT BY ANARCHISTS TO BLOW UP CATHEDRAL REVEALS PLOT FOR REIGN OF TERROR

MILITIA OF COLORADO SCATHINGLY ARRAIGNED IN COMMITTEE REPORT

Treatment of Striking Miners and Families Severely Condemned.

Voluminous Report Submitted to House By Sub-Committee.

Action of Mine Operators in Many Cases Warmly Criticized.

Washington, March 2.—A scathing arraignment of the Colorado militia for its treatment of striking miners and their families is contained in a voluminous report submitted to the house today by the mines and mining sub-committee which, under a resolution adopted a year ago in January, investigated conditions in the Colorado coal fields. While scoring conditions generally in the coal fields and criticising many of the acts of the mine operators, including alleged violation of state laws, the committee reports that no evidence was found of a conspiracy in restraint of trade to limit the output of the mines, nor conclusive proof of the existence of peonage.

Appeals for Arbitration.

The strike was settled long before the committee completed its report, so no specific recommendations are made. The committee appeals for arbitration, however, in such situations. It declares that these disturbances are nation-wide in their importance; that the Federal government is the only purveyor competent to deal with them, and, after referring to the testimony of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who disclaimed res-

ALLEGED SWINDLERS FREED IN LONDON.

London, March 2.—When the case against Sir James H. Renals and Henry Mather, alias Walter G. Furnald of San Francisco was called in the Old Bailey court for rehearing today, the prosecution announced that the charges against the two men had been dropped. Subsequently a formal verdict of not guilty was returned.

Early last December Henry Mather and Sir James Renals were arrested in London on a charge of conspiracy to defraud by a bogus money-lending scheme. A jury heard the case Feb. 19, but disagreed. The defendants were then released on bail.

Sir James Renals' father was at one time lord mayor of London. Mather was arrested in New York in September, 1913, charged with swindling.

MANY MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

Explosion Occurs in Coal Mine Near Thurmond, W. Va.

Rescuing Parties Are Endeavoring to Reach Men Through Debris.

Hinton, W. Va., March 2.—An explosion occurred in the mine of the New River & Pocahontas Consolidated Coal company three miles from Thurmond, W. Va., at 8:30 o'clock today. The mine connects with another mine, each employing eighty men, all of whom are believed to have been in the pits when the explosion occurred.

Rescue parties were at once organized, and the fans were set going within 15 minutes after the explosion, but at 10:30 o'clock none of the miners had been brought out.

Assistance was hurried to the mine from nearby towns, and a rescue car of the bureau of mines was ordered from Glenalum, W. Va., to the scene.

Great Volumes of Smoke.

The explosion occurred in Mine No. 3, great volumes of smoke pouring out of the openings. As it is directly connected with Mine No. 4, it was feared that the men there had also felt the force of the blast. Throngs of excited people hurried from nearby mining towns and rescue parties were formed to penetrate the workings in the hope that some of the entombed men might be found alive.

After repeated attempts one rescue party penetrated the main drift at Mine No. 3 for a distance of about 100 feet and there found an unidentified miner still living, but unconscious.

PLANS FOR AN EXTRA SESSION ABANDONED.

Washington, March 2.—President Wilson stated definitely today that he had abandoned plans for an extra session of the senate immediately after March 4, and up to the present has not seriously considered the suggestion of a special session of congress in October.

BOMB THROWN NEAR ALTAR IN ST. PATRICK'S

Detectives, Forewarned, Put Out Fuse and Arrest the Thrower.

Wrecking of Cathedral to Be Signal for Widespread Outrages.

Banks to Be Blown Up and Rich Men to Be Murdered.

New York, March 2.—An attempt to blow up St. Patrick's cathedral with a bomb today and the arrest of two men by detectives who had been informed for months of their activities, was followed by an announcement made at police headquarters that the arrests had balked an anarchist plot to kill with bombs Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and other wealthy men. Thereafter the anarchists, according to the police, were to inaugurate in New York city a reign of terror comparable only to the days of the French revolution.

It was part of the plot, the police assert, for gangs of men armed with rifles and revolvers to appear, simultaneously in various parts of the city to shoot and to pillage; the biggest banks of New York city were to be blown up and many wealthy men were to be slain.

Wrecking of Cathedral Signal.

The wrecking of the cathedral was to be the signal for the opening of the elaborate campaign of murder and looting. The next move, according to the police, was to place bombs in the homes of Andrew Carnegie, the Rockefellers and Cornelius Vanderbilt. So far had the plot progressed toward this end, that the manufacture of the bombs, the police say, had already been started.

With these and other capitalists disposed of, the anarchists planned, according to the police, to invade the financial district and lay their bombs in the city's biggest banks. General looting was to follow.

For months a Central office detective had worked in the inner circle of the anarchists, according to the police story, and had kept the detective bureau advised of all their plans. This detective, Frank Baldo, assisted in the manufacture of the bomb with which the attempt was made today to blow up the cathedral. The detective accompanied the bomb thrower to the edifice and sat with him while he lighted the bomb and hurled it at the altar.

Alive With Detectives.

DACIA FORMALLY SEIZED BY FRENCH

American Flag Lowered and Prize Committee Takes Possession.

Paris, March 2.—As soon as the American steamer Dacia, formerly a Hamburg-American liner, was towed into the harbor of Brest yesterday by the auxiliary cruiser Europe, Chief Naval Commissioner Lemoine, a member of the prize committee, formally seized the vessel and hoisted the French colors.

No action regarding the cargo of cotton consigned to Germany will be taken until the cargo goes before the prize tribunal. The crew of the Dacia, it is understood, will be landed and sent back to the United States in accordance with the conditions under which they signed articles.

Message From Captain.

New York, March 2.—This information was contained in a message from Capt. McDonald of the Dacia to Edward N. Breitung, the vessel's owner. The message read as follows:

"Dacia detained here; flag down; French official on board; American consul sending crew to New York. Will I remain and look after interests?"

Capt. McDonald was instructed to remain. Mr. Breitung addressed an inquiry to the minister at Brest as to why the flag was hauled down and asking the consul to look after his interests there.

BEGINS TO LOOK BAD FOR MR. TURKEY.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Washington is considering today what steps shall be taken by this country following the announcement by the British and French governments that they would attempt to cut off trade to and from Germany. Great Britain's reply to the American proposals respecting this general situation, however, is yet to be received. Germany has accepted the proposals in the main, in a reply which probably will be made public in Berlin in a day or two.

The attack of the Anglo-French fleet on the Dardanelles has been interrupted by unfavorable weather, but a dispatch from Athens states that before operations were suspended the two Turkish forts at the narrowest part of the straits had been silenced. It is stated that the Turkish army massed on the peninsula for defense of Constantinople consists of 100,000 men.

Of the land operations, the most important at present under way are along the east Prussian frontier, in Northern Poland and in Champagne on the western front. Concerning the latter engagement France and German reports disagree sharply. Berlin states that the allies have been driven back, while Paris claims that the French have repulsed strong German counter-attacks and gained more ground.

In Poland the Russians are on the offensive along the entire front. In the most important operations around Przasnysz, the Germans are said to have been defeated decisively and forced back across the border.

BELIEVES GUNS OF TWIN CITIES HAVE BEEN SPIKED

Traffic Commission Members Return From Freight Rate Hearing.

Ten Days to Digest Huge Mass of Testimony and File Brief.

Decision Will Affect 60 Per Cent of Tonnage of Country.

"I do not want to be understood as anticipating the decision of the interstate commerce commission," said G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, this morning, "but I have a feeling that we have spiked the guns of the Twin Cities in their attack on rates recently argued before the commission, and that that body will return the verdict in Duluth's favor."

Mr. Hall and F. W. Sullivan, the latter attorney for the traffic commission, have been in the East for more than two weeks in behalf of Duluth interests in the matter of railroad rates. The case was that of the Twin Cities against practically every railroad line in the East, the Central Freight association and the boat lines, in which case Duluth was intervenor. The case involved the old question of rate-spread, but was on a new complaint filed by the Twin Cities in which it was argued that similar issues have arisen as in the old case, made necessary by recent rate adjustments, namely, the 5 per cent increase.

The oral arguments in the case took place in Washington on Feb. 15, and Duluth as intervenor, was given only ten days in which to file its reply brief. Mr. Hall and Mr. Sullivan went from Washington to New York and there prepared the brief, tackling a job that would stagger most people, and has left them in a thoroughly exhausted condition. They had 2,500 typewritten pages of testimony and many exhibits to digest and then had to prepare their brief, and have it printed in the limited time. But they got under the wire, so to speak, in time at the sacrifice of much sleep and everything in the way of personal comfort.

Case Far-Reaching.

Mr. Hall said this morning that the outcome of the case will have marked effect on rates of all lines east of the Indiana state line, to Duluth, and will affect about 60 per cent of the tonnage of the United States. He considers the case one of the most far-reaching with which the interstate commerce commission has ever had to deal.

In this case, the Twin Cities claim that the 83-cent scale is too high and that they should have rates from the East no higher than the rates to St. Louis. The roads claim that the commission was wrong in granting Duluth rates on a Chicago basis, claiming that circumstances and conditions make that basis unfair.

However, it was pointed out that formerly Duluth rates, as compared to the Chicago rates, had been made on the percentage of disadvantage of the Duluth route as compared with the Chicago route, and it has been found that whatever that original disadvantage was, it has disappeared and that the advantage of route is with Duluth now.

"We did not care about the fixing of rates to the Twin Cities on the St. Louis basis," said Mr. Hall, "but we did contend that the spread should be adjusted.

"Also as to the matter of lake and rail rates, we have shown, according to the statements of the boat line officials themselves, that these lines have been making money on Lake Superior and losing money on Lake Michigan. Well, we don't propose to be used to make up any deficit that there may be to aid Twin City houses by donating a subsidy out of our rates."

The reply brief filed by the Duluth representatives with the interstate commerce commission, fills 183 printed pages and is exhaustive. It is predicted that it will stand as a text book for the whole case.

Profits From Lake Superior.

In their argument that Duluth should not be asked to pay the bonus necessary to maintain competing jobbing houses at the Twin Cities, Messrs. Sullivan and Hall submit in their brief the following:

"It has been shown conclusively upon this record that the Lake Superior route is profitable, and that the boats lose money practically every year upon Lake Michigan. Such net profits as they have made must have come from profits upon Lake Superior so large as to leave a surplus, after paying the Lake Michigan losses. The commission has found that it is this lake-and-rail route through Duluth that actually and potentially controls rates to the Twin Cities and the entire Northwest.

"But on the Lake Michigan route, which is at a disadvantage as compared with Duluth even up to the lake ports, and on which the rail haul to the Twin Cities beyond the lake ports is nearly threo times as long as the rail haul from Duluth to the Twin Cities, the through rates are maintained at exactly the same basis. The boat lines shrink their revenue so that they receive 20.2 cents out of the Lake Michigan service to the Twin Cities, while they formerly got 29.2 cents out of the Twin Cities business via Duluth, and now receive 26.4 cents on that business via Duluth. A considerable portion of their losses upon Lake Michigan must be due to the maintenance of these low divisions on Twin City traffic via that lake.

"It has been shown here that the low rate to the Twin Cities, made on the Duluth route, is due to the low differential accepted by the Northwestern lines beyond Duluth for the purpose of preferring the Twin Cities, to enable them to compete with other jobbing centers. That sort of preference cannot be called anything but a subsidy; it is a bonus to these jobbers and manufacturers, to enable them to continue in a business which, admittedly by these rail carriers, they would not be able to continue without the aid of the preferential rate.

"The boat lines complain that they are not receiving now adequate return upon their entire business done upon the two lakes. If they were to give up any portion of the earnings which they now receive on the Lake Superior route, it would still further depiete their net earnings. They have been demanding most persistently from the commission both in the advanced rate cases and in this case that they should be allowed an increase in the Duluth rate, for the purpose of giving them more revenue.

Bonus to Twin Cities.

"In other words, in order to enable the northwestern rail lines to escape a loss upon their business to the Twin Cities via Duluth, the boat lines must give up a portion of their present earnings to Duluth, which will so depiete the present earnings of the boat lines as to make it necessary for them to secure a raise in the rates to Duluth; with the net result that there will be a continuance of the bonus to the Twin Cities, which has been paid in the past, the northwestern rail lines will not suffer under the losses which they have sustained in the past by reason of allowing this subsidy; nor will the boat lines suffer by reason of giving up any portion of their earnings to save the northwestern rail lines from loss; but the entire bonus, to maintain the Twin City jobbing houses will be made up by charging higher rates to the Duluth jobbers and manufacturers."

That Duluth's advantages should be fully recognized is argued in that part of the brief which is as follows:

"The entire Twin City argument seems to be based largely upon a sympathetic plea for the maintenance of their present conditions. Their attitude towards Duluth is very clearly set forth in their brief, where it is said that Duluth alone stands behind the proposed increase, that her appetite for advantage seems insatiable, that she has secured within the last year three advantageous changes in rates, the removal of the free storage privileges, the reduction of the Duluth rate to 62 cents, and the incidental establishment of the 21-cent spread to the Twin Cities; yet, that Duluth in this case is in strenuous defense of a new schedule from which she can derive no benefit, except through the disadvantages of her competitors and the consumer, that the defense of this increased scale comes with rather poor grace from Duluth.

Duluth's By Right.

"There is no pretense that any of the changes in rates which came to Duluth were through the aid of the Twin Cities, or were any favors conferred upon Duluth by the Twin Cities, or were any privileges given to Duluth which were carved out of the natural advantages of the Twin Cities location. It is admitted that these changes in the rate to 62 cents, and in the 21-cent spread, were Duluth's by right; that they had been her right for a great many years, but had been denied to her in order to favor the Twin Cities. The argument seems to be that the Twin Cities, having possessed for many years the enjoyment of privileges which belonged to Duluth, and having reaped great profits from their possession, and having been compelled to return to Duluth a part of what has always been her lawful right, it 'comes with rather poor grace' from Duluth to demand the restitution of the rest of her lawful goods, to which the commission has already decided that she is entitled. It is an argument that would scarcely be listened to with patience, did it not come from one of the most eminent lawyers in the world.

"Only a very small percentage of their (the Twin Cities') inbound business will be affected at all, and none of their outbound business will be affected. They have grown great and powerful; they have jobbing houses and factories in every line, which have well established trade, backed by unlimited money, skill and salesmanship; they have the prestige of having done business with the retail trade for many years. All of these advantages will remain to them. All of their advantages from their all-rail inbound tonnage will remain. They can secure the advantages of Duluth's location to all points where Duluth might have an advantage over them by virtue of its location otherwise, by the mere shipment of their goods from Duluth instead of insisting upon taking them through the warehouses in the Twin Cities. They will suffer no real damage whatever.

"But, even if they were to suffer to some extent, is that any reason why there should be conferred upon them, contrary to the law, a basis of rates to which they are not entitled?

Asks Only Justice.

"Duluth is a comparatively small community, without influential friends in the rate-making world. It has had to fight this battle alone against the combined resources and ability of the trunk lines, the boat lines, the northwestern lines, the Twin Cities and Chicago, and particularly against the C. F. A. lines, which have always been implacable enemies of the lake route. We were able to convince this commission in I. C. C. 4335 that a great wrong had been done to us; that we had been deprived of that opportunity to grow and to prosper, to make something of ourselves, which is the boasted right of every American citizen. Thousands of our people have lived long, in Duluth in the hope that they would prosper there, and the wonder of the country has been, among all who have known of its advantages, that it has not grown more rapidly. There is only one reason why it has not grown, that it has been subjected to great injustice in its rate structure, and the decision of the commission in this case shows that the injustice has not all been removed yet.

"We stand in this case asking only that the commission shall put into effect, on this record, where it has the power to do so, that full measure of justice for Duluth to which the commission itself has decided that we are entitled. We have asked for no sympathy; we have always tried to get along without it; and if we are given a fair chance to make the most of what is ours, we will be well content. But are we not entitled at this time, after the great delays which have occurred, and the great expense to which we have been put, at least to a full measure of justice? We ask no more, and we think that we should not be asked to be satisfied with less."

FAREWELL TO COCKROACHES

Roller Towels Also Disappearing From Bakeries and Restaurants.

First Scoring for 1915 Shows Much Improved Conditions.

Duluth restaurants and bakeries are becoming cleaner and more sanitary, according to Joseph Pratts, bakery inspector, who presented his first quarterly scoring for 1915 to Health Director Webster this morning. Roaches are fast disappearing and roller towels are also going to the discard, he states.

The Zinsmaster-Smith bakery of the West end still leads all the other institutions in the city, with a score of 99. Many other bakeries and restaurants are very close behind with a scoring of 90 or over and according to Inspector Pratts, the figures all show that improvements are constantly being made by the proprietors and that the law is being obeyed better at present than at any time in the history of the health department.

Baudette, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Raymond Allie was found dead in his bed Sunday morning. His home was in St. Paul, where he was employed as bookkeeper. About two months ago the doctors recommended that he come here for his health as he had consumption. He was living on the homestead of his uncle, Sam La Court, of this place. He was 28 years old. The remains were shipped to St. Paul.

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the telltale symptoms. KNOTTY PROBLEMS BEFORE CONGRESS

Rural Credits and Ship Purchase May Interfere With Appropriations.

Washington, March 2.—Two knotty problems, rural credits legislation, and the administration ship purchase bill, today confronted congress in the tangled rush of business to be disposed of before adjournment at noon Thursday. The rural credits plan, attached to the agricultural appropriation bill, now in conference, and the ship bill before the house as a report from a conference committee, both threatened to complicate the steady grind of appropriation bills, which must be continued to the last minute of the session.

Conferees on the naval bill agreed on two battleships, two submarines of ocean-going type, sixteen coast defense submarines, six or more torpedo boat destroyers and one oil fuel ship. The senate amendment appropriating $1,000,000 toward construction of an armor plate factory was stricken out.

When the administration ship bill was brought into the house again today Republican Leader Mann at once blocked all proceedings with a filibuster and the upshot of it was the Republicans and Democrats agreed to vote on it at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and take up other business in the meantime.

Administration Democrats today agreed on a program to cut the rivers and harbors bill to $25,000,000 to be expended by the war department for present projects. Work on the Mississippi from the head of the passes to the mouth of the Ohio, would be done in accordance with the plans of the Mississippi river commission.

Culver post has been observing Appomattox day for several years, but this year being the fiftieth anniversary, a more elaborate program will be arranged. The great victories of the Army of the Potomac will be recalled by special speakers and the music will be of a patriotic nature.

Dr. C. M. Wilson is chairman of the committee that will have charge of the program.

MONTANA DOUBLE KILLING.

Ranchman Slays Two Brothers-in-Law for Persuading Wife to Leave.

Billings, Mont., March 2.—Grant Martin, a paper hanger, shot and killed his brothers-in-law, George and John Lockridge, Monday at their ranch, forty miles southwest of Billings. He had accused them of persuading his wife to leave him.

Mrs. Martin, who had been living for several weeks with her brothers, witnessed the shooting and clung to Martin until the officers arrived.

Must Serve Sentences.

Helena, Mont., March 1.—The state supreme court held "Muckie" McDonald, Joseph Bradley, Owen Smith and William Winchester, mine workers' leaders, must serve prison terms imposed on them by their participation in labor troubles at Butte last summer.

The defense in appeal contended the men were not guilty of kidnapping as alleged in the indictment.

Prohibition for Utah.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, and stomach-ache are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. BELIEVES GUNS OF TWIN CITIES HAVE BEEN SPIKED

Traffic Commission Members Return From Freight Rate Hearing.

Ten Days to Digest Huge Mass of Testimony and File Brief.

Decision Will Affect 60 Per Cent of Tonnage of Country.

"I do not want to be understood as anticipating the decision of the interstate commerce commission," said C. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, this morning, "but I have a feeling that we have spiked the guns of the Twin Cities in their attack on rates recently argued before the commission, and that that body will return the verdict in Duluth's favor."

Mr. Hall and F. W. Sullivan, the latter attorney for the traffic commission, have been in the East for more than two weeks in behalf of Duluth interests in the matter of railroad rates. The case was that of the Twin Cities against practically every railroad line in the East, the Central Freight association and the boat lines, in which case Duluth was intervenor. The case involved the old question of rate-spread, but was on a new complaint filed by the Twin Cities in which it was argued that similar issues have arisen as in the old case, made necessary by recent rate adjustments, namely, the 5 per cent increase.

The oral arguments in the case took place in Washington on Feb. 15, and Duluth as intervenor, was given only ten days in which to file its reply brief. Mr. Hall and Mr. Sullivan went from Washington to New York and there prepared the brief, tackling a job that would stagger most people, and has left them in a thoroughly exhausted condition. They had 2,500 typewritten pages of testimony and many exhibits to digest and then had to prepare their brief, and have it printed in the limited time. But they got under the wire, so to speak, in time, at the sacrifice of much sleep and everything in the way of personal comfort.

Case Far-Reaching.

Mr. Hall said this morning that the outcome of the case will have marked effect on rates of all lines east of the Indiana state line, to Duluth, and will affect about 60 per cent of the tonnage of the United States. He considers the case one of the most far-reaching with which the interstate commerce commission has ever had to deal.

In this case, the Twin Cities claim that the 83-cent scale is too high and that they should have rates from the East no higher than the rates to St. Louis. The roads claim that the commission was wrong in granting Duluth rates on a Chicago basis, claiming that circumstances and conditions make that basis unfair.

However, it was pointed out that formerly Duluth rates, as compared to the Chicago rates, had been made on the percentage of disadvantage of the Duluth route as compared with the Chicago route, and it has been found that whatever that original disadvantage was, it has disappeared and that the advantage of route is with Duluth now.

"We did not care about the fixing of rates to the Twin Cities on the St. Louis basis," said Mr. Hall, "but we did contend that the spread should be adjusted.

"Also as to the matter of lake and rail rates, we have shown, according to the statements of the boat line officials themselves, that these lines have been making money on Lake Superior and losing money on Lake Michigan. Well, we don't propose to be used to make up any deficit that there may be to aid Twin City houses by donating a subsidy out of our rates."

The reply brief filed by the Duluth representatives with the interstate commerce commission, fills 182 printed pages and is exhaustive. It is predicted that it will stand as a text book for the whole case.

Profits From Lake Superior.

In their argument that Duluth should not be asked to pay the bonus necessary to maintain competing jobbing houses at the Twin Cities, Messrs. Sullivan and Hall submit in their brief the following:

"It has been shown conclusively upon this record that the Lake Superior route is profitable, and that the boats lose money practically every year upon Lake Michigan. Such net profits as they have made must have come from profits upon Lake Superior so large as to leave a surplus, after paying the Lake Michigan losses. The commission has found that it is this lake-and-rail route through Duluth that actually and potentially controls rates to the Twin Cities and the entire Northwest.

"But on the Lake Michigan route, which is at a disadvantage as compared with Duluth even up to the lake ports, and on which the rail haul to the Twin Cities beyond the lake ports is nearly three times as long as the rail haul from Duluth to the Twin Cities, the through rates are maintained at exactly the same basis. The boat lines shrink their revenue so that they receive 20.2 cents out of the Lake Michigan service to the Twin Cities, while they formerly got 29.2 cents out of the Twin Cities business via Duluth, and now receive 26.4 cents on that business via Duluth. A considerable portion of their losses upon Lake Michigan must be due to the maintenance of these low divisions on Twin City traffic via that lake.

"It has been shown here that the low rate to the Twin Cities, made on the Duluth route, is due to the low differential accepted by the Northwestern lines beyond Duluth for the purpose of preferring the Twin Cities, to enable them to compete with other jobbing centers. That sort of preference cannot be called anything but a subsidy; it is a bonus to these jobbers and manufacturers, to enable them to continue in a business which, admittedly by these rail carriers, they would not be able to continue without the aid of the preferential rate.

"The boat lines complain that they are not receiving now adequate return upon their entire business done upon the two lakes. If they were to give up any portion of the earnings which they now receive on the Lake Superior route, it would still further deplete their net earnings. They have been demanding most persistently from the commission both in the advanced rate cases and in this case that they should be allowed an increase in the Duluth rate, for the purpose of giving them more revenue.

Bonus to Twin Cities.

"In other words, in order to enable the northwestern rail lines to escape a loss upon their business to the Twin Cities via Duluth, the boat lines must give up a portion of their present earnings to Duluth, which will so deplete the present earnings of the boat lines as to make it necessary for them to secure a raise in the rates to Duluth; with the net result that there will be a continuance of the bonus to the Twin Cities, which has been paid in the past, the northwestern rail lines will not suffer under the losses which they have sustained in the past by reason of allowing this subsidy; nor will the boat lines suffer by reason of giving up any portion of their earnings to save the northwestern rail lines from loss; but the entire bonus, to maintain the Twin City jobbing houses will be made up by charging higher rates to the Duluth jobbers and manufacturers."

That Duluth's advantages should be fully recognized is argued in that part of the brief which is as follows:

"The entire Twin City argument seems to be based largely upon a sympathetic plea for the maintenance of their present conditions. Their attitude towards Duluth is very clearly set forth in their brief, where it is said that Duluth alone stands behind the proposed increase, that her appetite for advantage seems insatiable, that she has secured within the last year three advantageous changes in rates, the recoval of the free storage privileges, the reduction of the Duluth rate to 62 cents, and the incidental establishment of the 21-cent spread to the Twin Cities; yet, that Duluth in this case is in strenuous defense of a new schedule from which she can derive no benefit, except through the disadvantages of her competitors and the consumer, that the defense of this increased scale comes with rather poor grace from Duluth.

Duluth's By Right.

"There is no pretense that any of the changes in rates which came to Duluth were through the aid of the Twin Cities, or were any favors conferred upon Duluth by the Twin Cities, or were any privileges given to Duluth which were carved out of the natural advantages of the Twin Cities location. It is admitted that these changes in the rate to 62 cents, and in the 21-cent spread, were Duluth's by right; that they had been her right for a great many years, but had been denied to her in order to favor the Twin Cities. The argument seems to be that the Twin Cities, having possessed for many years the enjoyment of privileges which belonged to Duluth, and having reaped great profits from their possession, and having been compelled to return to Duluth a part of what has always been her lawful right, it comes with rather poor grace' from Duluth to demand the restitution of the rest of her lawful goods, to which this commission has already decided that she is entitled. It is an argument that would scarcely be listened to with patience, did it not come from one of the most eminent lawyers in the world.

"Only a very small percentage of their (the Twin Cities') inbound business will be affected at all, and none of their outbound business will be affected. They have grown great and powerful; they have jobbing houses and factories in every line, which have well established trade, backed by unlimited money, skill and salesmanship; they have the prestige of having done business with the retail trade for many years. All of these advantages will remain to them. All of their advantages from their all-rail inbound tonnage will remain. They can secure the advantages of Duluth's location to all points where Duluth might have an advantage over them by virtue of its location otherwise, by the mere shipment of their goods from Duluth instead of insisting upon taking them through the warehouses in the Twin Cities. They will suffer no real damage whatever.

"But, even if they were to suffer to some extent, is that any reason why there should be conferred upon them, contrary to the law, a basis of rates to which they are not entitled?

Asks Only Justice.

"Duluth is a comparatively small community, without influential friends in the rate-making world. It has had to fight this battle alone against the combined resources and ability of the trunk lines, the boat lines, the northwestern lines, the Twin Cities and Chicago, and particularly against the C. P. R. lines, which have always been implacable enemies of the lake route. We were able to convince this commission in I. C. C. 4335 that a great wrong had been done to us; that we had been deprived of that opportunity to grow and to prosper, to make something of ourselves, which is the boasted right of every American citizen. Thousands of our people have lived long in Duluth in the hope that they would prosper there, and the wonder of the country has been, among all who have known of its advantages, that it has not grown more rapidly. There is only one reason why it has not grown, that it has been subjected to great injustice in its rate structure, and the decision of the commission in this case shows that the injustice has not all been removed yet.

"We stand in this case asking only that the commission shall put into effect, on this record, where it has the power to do so, that full measure of justice for Duluth to which the commission itself has decided that we are entitled. We have asked for no sympathy; we have always tried to get along without it; and if we are given a fair chance to make the most of what is ours, we will be well content. But are we not entitled at this time, after the great delays which have occurred, and the great expense to which we have been put, at least to a full measure of justice? We ask no more, and we think that we should not be asked to be satisfied with less."

FAREWELL TO COCKROACHES

Roller Towels Also Disappearing From Bakeries and Restaurants.

First Scoring for 1915 Shows Much Improved Conditions.

Duluth restaurants and bakeries are becoming cleaner and more sanitary, according to Joseph Pratts, bakery inspector, who presented his first quarterly scoring for 1915 to Health Director Webster this morning. Roaches are fast disappearing and roller towels are also going to the discard, he states.

The Zinsmaster-Smith bakery of the West end still leads all the other institutions in the city, with a score of 99. Many other bakeries and restaurants are very close behind with a scoring of 90 or over and according to Inspector Pratts, the figures all show that improvements are constantly being made by the proprietors and that the law is being obeyed better at present than at any time in the history of the health department.

WOMEN'S BEAUTY NO SECRET

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell-tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs, and restore their health to a normal condition.

KNOTTY PROBLEMS BEFORE CONGRESS

Rural Credits and Ship Purchase May Interfere With Appropriations.

Washington, March 2.—Two knotty problems, rural credits legislation, and the administration ship purchase bill, today confronted congress in the tangled rush of business to be disposed of before adjournment at noon Thursday. The rural credits plan, attached to the agricultural appropriation bill, now in conference, and the ship bill before the house as a result from a conference committee, both threatened to complicate the steady grind of appropriation bills, which must be continued to the last minute of the session.

Conferees on the naval bill agreed on two battleships, two submarines of ocean-going type, sixteen coast defense submarines, six or more torpedo boat destroyers and one oil fuel ship. The senate amendment appropriating $1,000,000 toward construction of an armor plate factory was stricken out.

When the administration ship bill was brought into the house again today Republican Leader Mann at once blocked all proceedings with a filibuster and the upshot of it was the Republicans and Democrats agreed to vote on it at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and take up other business in the meantime.

Administration Democrats today agreed on a program to cut the rivers and harbors bill to $25,000,000 to be expended by the war department for present projects. Work on the Mississippi from the head of the passes to the mouth of the Ohio, would be done in accordance with the plans of the Mississippi river commission.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, and stomach-ache are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. OPPOSE ONE; FAVOR OTHER Commissioners See No Benefits in Paving Aid Fund.

Approve Plan to Assess Property Owners for Shade Trees.

Of the two bills proposed by Senator C. E. Adams and submitted to the council for approval yesterday, the commissioners favor one and oppose the other.

The bill giving the city power to plant shade trees and make assessments to cover the cost, is favored, while the commissioners are opposed to the bill for a "paving aid fund."

At first glance yesterday, some of the commissioners were inclined to favor the latter bill, but after discussing it at the meeting yesterday afternoon their sentiment changed, and while no action was taken, the commission was inclined to oppose it.

The present charter, it is claimed, permits the council to do everything provided by the bill. The bill permits the city to pay a part of the cost of paving "arterial" streets, or those used for through traffic, in cases where the property owners would not be sufficiently benefited to warrant a heavy assessment for paving. An example in point would be Grand avenue, which is a through route to West Duluth, and would accommodate heavy traffic, but where paving would be of little benefit to the property owners along the street.

The city already pays for street intersections and this fund is already overdrawn to the extent of nearly $100,000. The thirteen mill limit prevents any larger levy for such a fund as is proposed, and the commissioners therefore felt that the bill at best would be useless.

The second bill, giving cities the power to plant shade trees and make assessments, appeals to the commissioners and it will be strongly endorsed, and its passage urged in a resolution to be prepared within a few days.

Mayor Prince, head of the welfare department, declared that the bill would greatly help beautify the city. He added that Park Manager Cleveland is also in favor of the proposed law.

APPEAL TO SHERIFF.

Russians Employed in Nymore Box Factory Ask for Protection.

Bemidji, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Andrew Johnson has been called upon by Russians, who are now employed by the Bemidji Box company, for protection against riots, which they say are threatened by men who take exception to the small amount of wages accepted by the Russians. The sheriff was handed a petition several weeks ago charging the Russians with carrying concealed weapons. In speaking of the alleged violence on the part of the citizens of Nymore, where the riot is said to have taken place, Sheriff Johnson says that the Russians will get as much protection as any of the other citizens of Bemidji.

WINTER LAYING OF GRAVEL SATISFACTORY

Crookston, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first unofficial run of Crookston automobilists to Grand Forks for 1915, was made Sunday and was lead by E. W. Robbins. This was also the first trip over eight miles of gravel which was laid last winter on the snow, and it proved to be in very good shape. The laying of gravel in winter has been experimented with by Crookston Automobile club for several winters and has proved the most economical way because of cheap labor, and also the most satisfactory as the gravel catches just enough snow to permit of sleighing and is thus packed down gradually, thus avoiding "breaking a road" through gravel laid all at once in the summer, which makes very hard going for some time.

Plaster of Paris and Ammonium Chloride Placed in Bread.

Boston, Mass., March 2.—Bakeries in this city and New York are making bread which contains calcium sulphate, otherwise known as plaster of paris or gypsum, according to a report by Inspector James O. Jordan of the board of health made public by Mayor Curley last night.

The addition of gypsum and ammonium chloride, the inspector said, made the loaves much larger and lighter.

A representative of one bakery said: "Gypsum and other chemicals used in bread-making are those taken from flour at the time of milling, and are not injurious."

Mayor Curley announced that the legislature would be asked for a law forbidding the use of anything not a food product in the manufacture of bread.

AFRAID OF KIDNEY TROUBLE--THE REMEDY

In 1908 I was taken very sick with Kidney trouble and being afraid, I went to a prominent physician at Libertyville, Iowa. After doctoring for some time without cure or relief I began the use of Swamp-Root and found immediate relief. After using several bottles which I bought of Jericho's Drug Store of Fairfield, Iowa, I became a well man and can honestly say that I have never had any signs or a return of any Kidney trouble. I am so grateful toward your medicine that I never hesitate to recommend it to anyone I know who is suffering with Kidney trouble.

FOREST FOR THE INDIANS

Will Embrace Last Stand of Virgin White Pine in Minnesota.

Permission Given Indian Office to Build Hospital at Cloquet.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 2.—Senators Nelson and Clapp late yesterday secured the adoption of an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill authorizing the creation of the Red Lake Indian forest, which will embrace the last stand of virgin white pine in Minnesota.

Under the terms of the amendment the forest will be administered by the secretary of the interior, who is authorized to sell the dead and down timber and the mature timber and to retain the green standing timber as a perpetual forest. The Red Lake Indians are to receive the proceeds of the sales of timber and are to retain title to the lands and standing timber. Permits to occupy camp sites not exceeding twenty acres each along the shores of Upper and Lower Red lakes are to be issued to the Indians by the secretary, these permits to run ten years.

Senators Nelson and Clapp also secured amendments providing for assessments for road improvements against Indian lands over which the state roads pass, and also appropriating $25,000 for a hospital on the Leech lake reservation. Permission is also given the Indian office to build the Fond du Lac Indian hospital in the city of Cloquet.

READY FOR BEACH WORK

Park Manager Cleveland Awaits Only Break-up of Winter.

Plans Include Portable Bathhouses and Improved Roads.

Plans for the improving of Fairmont park addition and the construction of a bathing beach and pavilion have already been completed, according to an announcement made this morning by Park Manager Henry Cleveland, and all that remains for the beginning of operations is the breaking up of winter.

As soon as weather permits, the marshy ground on Kingsbury creek and adjoining St. Louis river will be dredged and improved for a bathing beach, Mr. Cleveland said this morning. After this work is finished, portable bathhouses are to be constructed, so that they can be moved about to permit further improvements to the park.

A total of $7,000 will be spent this spring and a like amount next year. In this way the park manager plans to have the park completely improved and a large bathhouse and pavilion constructed after two or three years. There is a limited amount of money to work with this year, he said, and an effort will be made to use it so that buthing can be enjoyed by the middle of July this year. Mr. Cleveland asks the public to make suggestions at any time before the work is started, which will be some time in April.

The portable bathouses will be of corrugated iron, with wood floors, and arranged so that four can be moved at one time. The dressing rooms will be 30 inches wide and 4 feet, 9 inches deep, with a small closet in which to hang clothes. About 5 or 10 cents will be charged bathers for their use.

In addition to improving the park, Manager Cleveland plans to better the condition of the roads leading into the grounds so that automobiles can drive right up to the beach. Pulaski street and Seventy-first avenue west will be graded and improved during this spring.

DESTROYING TREES.

Boys Chopping Down Trees on Hillside Above Park.

Residents living near Fairmont park are aroused because of the wanton destruction of trees on the hillside above the park and in that vicinity. It is claimed that boys have been busy chopping down young trees, some of which have attained a height of 15 to 20 feet.

The young trees are a second growth on the land and have taken away the barren appearance of the hillside. Most of the trees are said to be birch and spruce. The trees have been cut principally on property belonging to outside owners.

"The city should foster the growth of these trees," said one of the residents this morning. "That district some years ago presented a ruined appearance. The new growth is covering that up. If we wish to have a city beautiful there should be a stop made to the destruction of these trees."

OPPOSE COUNTY DIVISION.

West Duluthians Will Appear Before Legislative Committee Wednesday.

At least five members of the West Duluth Commercial club will be in St. Paul tomorrow morning to represent this section of St. Louis county in opposing the bill before the legislature providing for a division of the county. Several other members may go and will be present at the state capitol tomorrow.

The representatives of the club will be W. A. Pond, M. J. Murray, W. B. Getchell, H. H. Phelps and Thomas Olafson.

BANKRUPT STOCK BRINGS $7,725.

At a trustee's sale of the stock and fixtures of the bankrupt estate of Frank Brand of New Duluth this morning the property brought $7,725. There were a number of bidders from the city attending the sale. The stock inventoried at about $13,000 and the fixtures were valued at $2,500.

Quiet Month for Police.

The record for the lowest number of arrests for any month in ten years was set by the West Duluth station during the month of February. Only twelve offenders came within the dragnet of the West Duluth police during the twenty-eight days.

Seven of these prisoners were charged with drunkenness. There were two for trespass, one alleged to be insane, one for begging and one for larceny in the third degree.

STOP COUGHING

Mr. Andor Kiss, No. 318 Clinton Place, Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for being cured. For seven long years I doctored steadily for my catarrh and cough, which cost me hundreds of dollars. But my catarrh grew worse all the time. Even though I was under the treatment of some of the most famous doctors, I still had a terrible cough and thought sometimes that I would choke. I could get no air. I then bought a bottle of Peruna, and that evening and all night my wife gave it to me according to the directions, and I felt better the following day already. Three days later I felt much improved, and today, after the use of the fourth bottle, I feel entirely cured. I can conscientiously recommend this grand medicine to every citizen."

A Good Cough Tablet.

There are people who object to taking fluid medicines. For such people the Peruna Tablets are especially valuable. They are convenient to carry in the pocket.

CONVOYED BY DESTROYERS

Duluthians Have Exciting Passage on Return From Ireland.

Mrs. Anna Connolly and daughter, Josie, have returned from Ireland, where they have been spending two years visiting Mrs. Connolly's relatives and are now guests at the home of her father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Connolly, 114 North Sixty-third avenue west. Mrs. Connolly had some interesting experiences in securing passage across the Atlantic and arrived in New York early last week on the steamship Cymric which was the last boat but one to leave Liverpool prior to the German submarine blockade.

Mrs. Connolly left Dublin, Ireland, on a tug boat and made the passage across the Irish sea to Liverpool at night with all lights out. It was not considered possible to make the trip at any other time, owing to the presence of hostile vessels. It was necessary to go to Liverpool because every harbor on the coast of Ireland is mined against the possibility of hostile fleets.

On leaving Liverpool a consort of five torpedo boat destroyers traveled ahead of the steamship out into the sea. This flotilla of warships made the trip almost the entire distance across the Atlantic and it was understood among the passengers that the torpedo destroyers intended going to Canada for the purpose of convoying transports with troops from Canada to England.

When Mrs. Connolly left here two years ago she intended to spend only six months in Ireland. When she was ready to come home she was injured in an accident that confined her to the bed for nearly a year. After recovering from the accident her mother was taken ill and died last December.

Mrs. Connolly was accompanied across the ocean by her nephew, John Byrne, who intends making his home here.

NO FURTHER RISE IN MILK PRICES

"Bossy" Will Soon Get a Bite of Grass; Price Will Fall.

No further advances in milk and cream prices are expected in Duluth this season and lower prices may be looked for as soon as the weather becomes more favorable for an increase in the milk supply. This is the opinion of N. F. Russell of the Bridgeman-Russell company.

"The present prices—9 cents a quart and 24 cents a gallon—will be continued for some time if conditions remain as they are," said Mr. Russell today. "The advance in prices of other articles of food, because of the war, will not affect milk and cream. Butter prices govern milk prices very largely, and butter is a shade lower. The milk supply is plentiful, and no changes either way in price is looked for."

St. Louis county is producing more and better dairy products than ever before, Mr. Russell says, and the public may look for plenty of milk and reasonable prices. When the pastures begin to get green, milk prices should be lower, as the milk supply will be greater and the cost of production less.

ORGANIZE FOR WINTER SPORT

Auto Races Inspire Duluth Men to Form Association.

Midwinter Carnival Would Attract Thousands Here, Promoters Say.

Winter sports will be promoted by an organization being considered by E. J. Fillatrault, Bentley P. Neff and W. E. McEwen to be known as the Twin Ports Winter Carnival association.

The organizers are so enthused with the success of the automobile ice races last Sunday afternoon that they propose to organize a permanent association, which will provide carnivals and winter sports on Lake Superior and at the local clubs each winter season. A tentative plan already outlined provides for one carnival week each winter, with automobile ice racing, the national ski tournament, the Northwestern curling bonspiel, horse races on Lake Superior, ice-skating contests and races, motor, ice and push-sled races and tobogganslide events, all included on the program.

Last Sunday Mr. Neff was a member of a bob-sled party that enjoyed the novel sport of tying a bob to an automobile and then shooting across the ice at top speed. This is another novelty in winter sport and was watched by hundreds of people last Sunday afternoon.

"If we organize a permanent association," said Mr. Fillatrault, "it will be easy to secure famous automobile drivers to come here and race on Lake Superior. With a little expense, we could bank the track with snow and sand it to avoid skidding. If advisable, a large grand stand could be erected on the hill along the lake shore between Fourth and Sixth avenues east, to seat from 5,000 to 5,000 people."

Mr. Fillatrault is now arranging to hold a public meeting shortly for the purpose of completing a permanent organization.

CASES GO TO GRAND JURY

Charges of Selling Under-Sized Fish Dropped By Municipal Court.

Charges of selling under-sized fish, made against the M. M. Gasser company and the Kolling Produce company, Feb. 23, by Game Warden George Wood, were dismissed in municipal court this morning and will be presented to the grand jury during the present session.

Judge F. H. Cutting had previously ruled that the municipal court had no jurisdiction in the Kolling and Gasser cases, as the offense charged may call for a fine of more than $100. Rather than have the case dismissed by the court, the city attorney moved for dismissal when Mr. Gasser appeared in the court this morning. The Kolling trial was scheduled for Wednesday morning.

The Gasser company was charged with having for sale three undersized whitefish, while ten "small fry" were discovered at the Kolling company's plant, 116 West Michigan street, according to Warden Wood.

Under the state law a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100 may be assessed for each fish.

The Booth Fisheries company was arrested by the game warden the same afternoon, but the case was not disposed of today, as no plea had been entered by the defendants. L. J. Hogstad, local manager, asked the court to be allowed to consult other officials of the company before pleading.

The game warden is said to have found eleven sacks, containing nearly 1,000 undersized fish, at the Booth plant, as well as several partridges. The case comes up for a hearing March 9.

Under the provisions of the Federal law pike must be fourteen inches in length and weigh one pound, round; whitefish must weigh two pounds when dressed and lake trout must weigh at least one and one-half pounds when dressed

AWAIT PURCHASE OF SCHOOL BONDS

If Completed Friday Board Will Act on Lincoln School Matter.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of education will be held next Friday evening, but, unless the matter of the disposing of the authorized school bonds will have been settled by that time, it is expected that the business of the meeting will be purely routine. Should the bonds be disposed of by that time, it is quite likely that bids for the construction of the proposed Lincoln junior high school at the West end, will be called for. The plans have already been prepared.

The school board, at a special meeting on Saturday afternoon, opened bids for the purchase of $100,000 of the $200,000 issue of school bonds, and the contract was awarded to Wells & Dickey of Minneapolis, which company bid par, accrued interest and $1,125 premium; but the transaction has not yet been completed and no action as to building will be taken until it is.

LONG WALK TO BROADWAY

Members of Manhattan Opera Company Stranded Far From Home.

Benefit Performance to Raise Railroad Fares Is Being Considered.

"Somewhere the sun is shining,
Somewhere the people shout,
But it's a long way back to Broadway,
When you're flat broke—down and out."

With apologies of De Wolf Hopper.

"Not a jitney!" said the little blonde chorus girl. "Can you beat it?"

The L. B. C. G. was sitting on the edge of a trunk in her room, philosophizing, and wondering just how far it was to New Yawk, and just how long it would take to walk it.

In various other rooms in that hotel and others, the twenty odd members of the Manhattan Opera company were deep in similar soliloquies.

"There's nothin' to it," said the L. B. C. G. finally, "this show is on the rocks right, and I'm one of the show. Who's got a meal ticket? I want some coffee and."

After showing at the New Empress theater for two weeks and a day, presenting musical comedies, the company's contract was withdrawn by Owner William Abrahamson, without notice.

When the troupe visited the show house Monday afternoon for rehearsal the place was as empty as a country school house on circus day.

Manager Abrahamson stated that the company was in no sense a "high-class" company, as the terms of the contract provided, and that he didn't intend to go any further with it. He will reopen the theater with a new bill Sunday, he said.

Seeking Salaries.

In the meantime the thesplians, headed by Manager M. J. Knill, have started proceedings to recover the back salaries they claim are due them. Mr. Knill claims the contract was lived up to in every respect. He is a veteran manager with forty years' experience, and says the company was the best he ever saw assembled for the money.

The company came here from New York Feb. 7, according to the story, with a guarantee of six weeks. After a week's rehearsal, without pay, they put on a week's performance, followed by "Twenty-five Minutes from Broadway," the second week. Sunday night the company opened in "The Telephone Girl," which lasted one day.

Miss Mabel Day, prima donna, and Manager Knill stated this morning that they were to receive $1,050 a week for six weeks, that Manager Abrahamson was to receive the next $700, and that all receipts above that were to be divided equally.

Mr. Abrahamson advanced the fare from New York and paid one week's salaries. Since that time no remunerations have been received by the thesplians, they say, excepting a few "touches" at the box office on account of the second week's salaries.

A delegation headed by Miss Clara Thropp conferred with Mayor W. I. Prince this morning, in an attempt to adjust their difficulties. They were referred to the city attorney, with whom Manager Knill will confer this afternoon.

Fear Broadway's Comment.

"What will they say on Broadway when we get back—if we ever do?" exclaimed Clarence Rockwell, a member of the chorus. He is a six-foot-tall, broad-shouldered individual, and was completing his toilet, musing the while on the adversities of fate.

"I'm blessed if I know what they will say," he continued, answering his own question. "It's all so silly. We came out here just for the experience and because we thought it was just a terribly good joke. I'm blessed if I don't still think it's a joke."

Eighteen cents in change,—a dime, a nickel and three pennies,—lay on the table, just for a show, as "Billy" Graves, his roommate, explained.

"We've still got part of a meal book," said Billy hopefully, in conclusion, "65 cents of it. There's five of us, three girls and Clarence and I using it, though, so I guess we stop eating this afternoon."

At this juncture Miss Mercedes Lee entered the room.

Had to Have Tiffin.

"Give me that meal book, Clarence," she said. "I've got to have my tiffin—shew or no shew."

Whereupon Clarence surrendered the precious book.

Manager Knill stated that he hoped to compel the owner of the theater to give them their fares back to New York.

A benefit at the Orpheum theater Saturday and Sunday is being considered, the proceeds to be invested in railway fares from Duluth eastward, providing the theater can be secured.

Just how far east depends upon the size of the audience.

The stranding of a theatrical company has always been considered fair game by professional jokesmiths, but the members of the company say it is far from being a joke to be "broke" among strangers and 1,500 miles from home. Mr. Knill says he has funds sufficient to take him home, but he intends to remain until the last member of the company is taken care of.

LIGHT JOB FOR MARCH GRAND JURY

Less Than Twenty-Five Criminal Cases Will Be Probed.

From present indications, the grist of criminal cases for trial at the March term of the district court will be a light one. Less than twenty-five cases will be presented to the grand jury by the county attorney's office when the inquisitorial body convenes for the new term.

Edward O'Regan and George E. Roach are each under $4,000 bonds while awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of stealing $1,900 from Ross Garver, manager of the Orpheum theater. The police claim that the men are professional pickpockets.

Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, will be in charge of the grand jury at the March term.

LIGHT AND SHADOW OF POLICE COURT

"BOB" BACK ON JOB.

Veteran Policeman Again Patrols His Old-Time Beat.

EVERYTHING is quiet and orderly along West Superior street, as far as Third avenue west this morning, because "Bob" Smollett, holder of Police Badge No. 1, is back on the job.

On Dec. 8 "Bob" was incapacitated by an attack of pneumonia and ordered out of uniform by Police Surgeon Murphy. He recovered from this illness after about a three weeks' absence, but was compelled to lay away his "billy" again on Jan. 14.

Years of service before the mast off the Gloucester coast have hardened "Bob," however, and he is too tough to stay out of the ring very long, in the face of the doctor's orders.

This morning he appeared for duty and was duly assigned to his beat by Capt. A. G. Fiskett. Smollett is the oldest man on the force, in years as well as in point of service.

ONCE TOO OFTEN.

Frank Verkutz Too Regular an Applicant for Free Lodgings.

Riding a gift horse is a pleasant sensation, according to Frank Verkutz, aged 29, who rode his nag to death last night and received a present from the city of sixty days at the work farm for his John Gilpinesque performance.

Since Jan. 24, according to Jailer Andrew Wanvick, Verkutz has been applying regularly for a night's lodging at headquarters. He has his own corner on the floor and his newspaper, upon which he sleeps, has become worn, soiled and frayed at the edges.

Last night when Verkutz appeared for the nth time, the jailer decided that he was carrying it too far and arrested him for vagrancy. The erstwhile guest slept in a cell instead of the lodgers' room and his corner was occupied by a newcomer.

CITY VERY ORDERLY.

Police Report for February Shows Few Serious Offenses.

Cold weather and crime are more friendly than warm weather and crime, say police, and the monthly reports for February, the warmest month since 1882, show that it was the most orderly one since 1909.

Fred Johnson, assistant secretary to Chief of Police Troyer, in his monthly report, issued this morning, shows that there were 309 males and twenty-three females arrested during the twenty-eight days. Of this number West Duluth contributed twelve males, New Duluth two males, and the West end thirty-one males and two females.

February always is the quietest month in the year from a policeman's point of view, but this year the short month has been unusually quiet.

RETAIL COAL PRICES FIRM

Furnace Operators Don't Benefit From Surplus of Bituminous Coal.

Although wholesale coal prices still are lower than usual at this time of the year, Duluthians won't be able to save any money on their fuel bills from now until spring arrives, because the hard coal business is good, and prices show no signs of weakening. Coal men say that the present scale of prices to the "furnace operator" will remain unchanged until April 1.

At the beginning of next month, however, a 50-cent reduction in the prices of grate, egg, stove and nut coals will go into effect. Pea coal will go down 25 cents in price also, according to coal men.

This reduction is made on April 1 every year, in order to stimulate the spring movement and encourage the consumers in laying in a winter supply early. On the first of every month after April prices will advance 10 cents until the old level is reached on Sept. 1. In the case of the pea coal a 10-cent advance will be enforced for two months, and a 5-cent one the third month.

C. A. Beuglet, local agent for the Northwestern Fuel company, stated this morning that the local retail business in domestic coals was as good as it ever had been at this time of the year, although the wholesale business was dull.

Recent reports from range towns state that agents for docks at the Head of the Lakes had been offering Youghiogheny coal (bituminous) at $3 and $3.05 a ton. Youghiogheny coal is the principal steam coal in the Northwest, more of it being consumed than of all other grades combined.

The circular price on this grade was $3.55 until the recent drop. The $3.05 price is said to be the lowest ever quoted on Youghiogheny in the Northwest. Since that time the market has improved, however, say coal operators, so that the standard grade now is selling at $3.30 a ton.

ALIMONY PROBLEM STILL BEFORE COURT

Annie Komay Is Given Divorce and Custody of Small Son.

Annie Komay, 38, is entitled to a divorce from Joseph Komay, 46, and the custody of their 3-year-old son, Joseph, according to a decision announced yesterday afternoon by District Judge Ensign after a brief consideration of the contested divorce action which has been on trial in his division of the court for the last week.

Although the court granted Mrs. Komay a decree and the custody of the child, it withheld for further consideration the question of alimony and the division of property—a bone of contention at the trial.

Mrs. Komay sued for a legal separation on the grounds of cruel treatment, alleging that her husband was of a sullen and morose disposition and that he treated her with contempt except on occasions when he thought of something exceptionally insulting to say to her.

Komay's contention was that his five step children were responsible for the family mixup. He claimed that they schemed against him to get him to leave his home to them. Komay had two daughters of his own by a former marriage.

As soon as the court fixes the alimony to be paid by Komay and settles the disputed question of how the property is to be divided, findings will be filed and judgment entered.

SUPERIOR

COMPANY WILL PAY.

Street Railway Agrees to Share in Cost of Connecting Pavement.

The final opposition to the paving of a thoroughfare between the West end of Superior and the East end was removed last night by the announcement that the Duluth Street railway company would pay the cost of the improvement between its tracks for the entire distance. The company's share of the work will amount to approximately one-third of the total cost.

The announcement of the company's decision was made by George B. Hudnall, at the meeting of the East End Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hudnall, as chairman of the committee, recently secured the decision of the company from Herbert Warren, vice president and general manager of the company.

To Pen for Brass Stealing.

Frank Tol was sentenced to four years at Waupun prison yesterday by Judge Smith of the superior court. Tol pleaded guilty to having stolen brass bearings from box cars. He had removed these by jacking up the axles of the cars. Agents of the Great Northern railroad claim that more than 100 brasses had been removed. Each brass is valued at $3.

Want City Auditorium.

Citizens of Superior will be called upon at the spring election to decide whether or not they wish to spend $75,000 to build a municipal auditorium. A resolution to that effect has been introduced by Commissioner Tomlinson and will be voted on by the commissioners next week. There is said to be considerable agitation among the residents of Superior for such a building.

Cottage Is Looted.

A cottage belonging to E. P. Alexander of Duluth, located on the Wisconsin side of the St. Louis river, has been stripped of its equipment, according to a report made yesterday afternoon to the Superior police. Among the loot taken were shot guns, hunting coats, blankets and other articles valued at more than $100.

MANY PETITIONS TO ASSEMBLY

Numerous Requests Are Presented to Wisconsin Lawmakers.

Madison, Wis., March 2.—Numerous petitions were presented in the assembly today, one from students of the Whitewater normal school protesting against the bill which aims to prohibit student voting.

More petitions from railway employes and others were presented in favor of an increase in passenger rates.

Petitions also were presented in favor of the bills aimed at the white slave traffic.

The senate resolutions on the death of Former Lieutenant Governor S. S. Fifield of Ashland were adopted.

The assembly today killed the Smith joint resolution to amend the Constitution increasing the salaries of members of the legislature from $500 biennially to $750 annually.

The senate advanced to engrossment the Fairchild bill providing a penalty against making false statements to obtain money or credit, and laid over until Friday the Fairchild bill against the issuance of worthless checks, drafts and orders.

The senate killed the Burke bill allowing appeals from state commission decisions to be tried in the county where they arise. It passed the Baxter bill permitting foreign corporations to enforce payment of mortgage loans in the state without taking out a Wisconsin charter.

Governor Philipp sent to the senate the name of Dr. Charles Sutherland of Janesville to succeed himself as a member of the state board of health for two years. Action was deferred under the rules.

The assembly passed the senate resolution memorializing congress to pass legislation that will abate flood conditions on the Lower Mississippi river.

A spirited fight developed in the senate when that body was called upon to vote on a joint resolution by Senator Bray inviting Prof. E. A. Gilmore of the University law school to aid and advise the legislature upon water power legislation. A motion by Senator Hanson to refer to the committee on conservation was defeated 15 to 13, and one by Senator Fairchild to make it a special order for tomorrow morning was adopted 17 to 11.

FAILED TO REACH CENTURY MARK

James Rappe, Veteran of Three Wars, Dies in Marinette, Wis.

Marinette, Wis., March 2.—James A. Rappe, aged 99 years, veteran of three wars, the Seminole, Mexican and Civil, died today, failing to achieve his ambition to live 100 years.

He would have rounded the century mark had he lived until next October 13. He was born at Fort Stanrix, N. Y., and had lived in Wisconsin since before the Civil war. He settled with his family near Fond du Lac and moved to Marinette thirty years ago.

He was with the Second United States artillery in the Seminole war, fighting in the swamps of Florida and with Gen. Taylor in most of the important battles of the Mexican war and served with the Thirty-second Wisconsin regiment during the Civil conflict.

Rappe had become quite a notable character at G. A. R. encampments. He rode a bicycle to the national encampment at Philadelphia and walked to another national encampment at Cincinnati. He was quite spry up to the time of his death. He is survived by his widow, who resides in California, and several children. He was the oldest living Mexican war veteran.

EL PASO MEN MAKE JOHNSON OFFER.

El Paso, Tex., March 2.—Promoters of the Johnson-Willard boxing contest announced today that a committee of El Paso business men had telegraphed Jack Johnson a guarantee for his safe conduct to Juarez and return, offering a cash bond as assurance.

San Francisco, Cal., March 2.—The Equitable Trust company of New York filed a petition with Judge Van Fleet of the United States district court today, asking that the Western Pacific railroad be placed in the hands of a receiver. STATE MINE INSPECTION

House Committee Favors Increase in Appropriation for Work.

Blue Sky Bill Introduced By Larimore Recommended to Pass.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative C. L. Spooner's bill raising the annual appropriation of the state mining inspection service from $20,000 to $32,000 was recommended for passage and referred to the finance board by the house committee on appropriations yesterday afternoon.

A subcommittee to consider the request of F. A. Wilds, chief inspector, that $38,000 more for equipment and two buildings at Hibbing be appropriated was appointed. Mr. Wilds told the committee that the state looked after its fee interests less carefully than any other fee owners on the iron range. He recommended that enough equipment be purchased to make the inspection adequate and that the buildings occupied by the state now at Hibbing be bought and another near it be purchased and converted into a chemical laboratory. Representative Spooner's bill provided for the employment of a chemist.

Blue Sky Bill.

The so-called blue sky bill introduced in the house by Representative J. A. Larrimore of Minneapolis, was recommended for passage by the house committe on corporations other than municipalities yesterday afternoon.

The bill provides that the companies selling contracts embracing payment of installment and repayment back with profit, must come under the jurisdiction of the state superintendent of banks.

Further, the bill stipulates that such companies must pay regular fees and submit to the proper examinations. This character of business cannot be carried on by private parties, but must be incorporated with a capital stock of at least $25,000. The corporation would be compelled to make a deposit with the superintendent of banks the same as do trust companies.

The bill has met with favor in both houses, and its enactment into law is considered probable.

Teaching Deaf and Blind.

Two strong arguments in favor of the Konzen-North bill for teaching deaf and blind children in public schools, were made before the house committee on education yesterday.

Friends of the measure argued that it would be of great benefit to the children, as they could receive instructions at a tender age. Parents are adverse to allowing children to enter the Faribault school before the age of twelve.

Senator G. E. Scott of Barron, Wis., member of the Wisconsin senate, told the committee that in Wisconsin $150 a year is appropriated for each pupil by the state. He said that such instruction of the deaf had been in force in Wisconsin for twenty-five years.

W. J. Winnia, head of the department for the instruction of teachers of the deaf in the Milwaukee Normal school, spoke before the committee and gave in some detail the methods employed. He came to St. Paul at the solicitation of parents of deaf children here.

Dr. E. A. Meyarding, school physician of St. Paul, said that deaf children of tender years could better be taught in day schools than in larger state institutions.

Gordon Committee Meets.

Representative Sam Y. Gordon's committee of twenty, appointed to investigate the so-called needless departments and unnecessary employes of the state government, held a meeting Tuesday at which plans of procedure were discussed. No action was taken.

Mr. Gordon stated that the committee would be divided into subcommittees which probably will be announced today or tomorrow.

Blind students at the state universities or normal schools may receive $300 per annum aid from the state if Senator F. L. Glotzbach's bill, introduced into the senate yesterday afternoon, becomes a law.

The bill provides that not more than five students a year may receive such aid and that the money shall be taken from the funds of the state school for the blind. It is to be used by the student receiving it for employing readers and aiding him in the purchase of board, lodging and clothing.

Representative A. F. Pratt's dance-hall bill, once killed by the house general legislation committee, was resurrected yesterday afternoon and reported out without recommendation. The measure gives villages the right to regulate and license dance-halls.

Representative Magnus Johnson's bill to permit co-operative societies to incorporate was recommended for passage.

UNITED STATES WILL ADHERE TO POSITION

digest the contents of the communication from Great Britain and France, but that the question was under serious consideration. He reiterated that he was still uncertain whether he would be able to follow out his plan of going to the San Francisco exposition this month, and that was taken as another indication that the European situation was considered of such importance as to keep the president in Washington.

No Violation of Neutrality.

The president made it clear, however, that for American ships to sail for Germany would involve no violation of neutrality, but merely the usual risk of the owner of vessels and cargo in legal proceedings.

The minister from The Netherlands inquired at the state department what reply the United States intended to make. He desired to send word to his government, and the opinion was expressed that The Netherlands, along with other neutrals, could send representations similar to those which the country might make. No indications were given as to just when a reply might be sent, but the general belief was that it would not be delayed long.

ponsibility for Colorado conditions, adds:

"Absentees owners or directors by their absence from the scene of such disturbances cannot escape their moral responsibility for conditions in and about properties in which they are interested."

Liberal extracts from the 2,000 pages of testimony taken by the committee are embodied in the report, with comment:

"Considerable testimony on both sides of the controversy, we believe to be unreliable and no confidence should be placed in it. Colorado has good mining laws that ought to afford protection to the miner if they are enforced, yet in this state the per centage of fatalities is larger than any other, showing there is undoubtedly something wrong in reference to the management of its coal mines. It is contended by the miners as one of their grievances that the operators do not obey the law, and however good the laws may be if not observed they are of no protection.

Laws Violated By Operators.

"The testimony of James Dalyrimple, state mine inspector, calls attention to the many violations of the law by the operators, and the miners claim this as one cause leading up to the strike. The report of Mr. Dalyrimple also said he found in some cases the operators had put in operation new devices and systems of an advantage to the miners.

"It seemed the militia was on the side of the operators in this controversy," says the report after reciting the action of the governor in calling out the state troops, "and the evidence seems conclusively to prove such to have been the case. The sooner the men armed in the service of the state learn that the men with whom they may deal may be poor and ignorant and even violators of the law, but are still human, the better it will be for all concerned.

"The recruiting of mine guards as members of the militia, in our judgment was a mistake, since intense animosity had existed for some time between the mine guards and the miners and it was difficult or even impossible for the miners to feel that these men were neutral conservators of the peace. Some of the militiamen seized this opportunity, while clothed with the authority of the state to engage in various lawless acts.

Immoral and Brutal Acts.

"In other instances the acts were of an immoral kind and of such a nature as to be unfit for publication in this report. There were acts of brutality testified to before the committee which might be enumerated; men on slight provocation were thrown into jail and kept there without the opportunity of proving their innocence. There were many good men in the militia, both officers and privates, and the strikers testifying said that certain companies were composed of kind men and if their houses were to be searched they asked that members of these companies be sent; but if others were sent to do the searching they would be subjected to indignities and would probably be robbed of whatever they might have that the militia wanted."

Adjt. Gen. Chase Denounced.

The committe denounces John M. Chase, adjutant general of the militia of the state, for his refusal to testify except upon condition that he would not be questioned by representatives of the miners, and declares that he "was overbearing to all who came in contact with him."

Reviewing the testimony of many witnesses, the report says from the time the strike was called until the Federal troops were sent into the field by the president of the United States, there was a series of battles which seemed to be fierce while they lasted, and a number of people were killed and wounded on both sides. It condemns as inexcusable both the attack on Berwind camp by men alleged to have been strikers as well as the assault upon Forbes tent colony by armed guards using a machine gun.

"A private guard system may be thought necessary," the committee here contends, "but wherever it exists sooner or later trouble will recur, and proper officers of the law should be substituted who will be impartial in maintaining peace and order."

Tried to Control Elections.

Testimony of present and county officials is quoted to show efforts of mine operators to control elections in Las Animas and Huerfano counties, and the committee remarks that the manner of selecting juries in those counties, where, according to witnesses in one case at least, seven out of twelve jurors were deputy sheriffs, "appears to be against the provisions of the law."

Some of the men brought into Colorado by detective agencies employed to guard the mines, the committee finds, had been in the same kind of service in West Virginia and they brought with them the same machine gun which had been used in an armored car against strikers in that state.

Concerning the charge that the operators were guilty of peonage, the committee reports:

Peonage Not Proved.

"We did not find it clearly proved that a condition of peonage existed in the coal fields of Colorado, but we fund that during the strike men were brought in from other states by the trainload and were delivered to the mining camps under guard of the militia, many of them being foreigners and unacquainted with the work of mining coal. We do not believe it was proved that the operators forcibly kept men in camp until their debts were paid, but that they rather endeavored to hold those who already were in camp before the strike and to prevent those who had been taken in as strike-breakers from going outside."

Declaring that the mine troubles are nation-wide in scope, the committee reaches this conclusion:

"It should be the duty of the government to assist any states in settling a dispute that is nation-wide in its scope; and if any Federal law can be enacted that will help not only Colorado, but any other state that may be similarly situated it is the duty of congress to speedily put upon the statute books such laws so that such industrial disturbances may forever cease."

ATTEMPT BY ANARCHISTS

800 persons sat at worship, became alive with detectives, whose presence had been unsuspected by the bomb carrier. Baldo, sitting beside him, placed him under arrest; detectives sitting in the pew behind dashed into the aisle and stamped out the sputtering fuse. The congregation hardly realized what had happened when it was all over and there was no panic.

At police headquarters the alleged bomb thrower said he was Frank Abarno, a lithographer, 24 years old. Soon after he was taken to headquarters, detectives acting upon information given them by Baldo, arrested Charles Carbone, an 18-year-old boy, and charged him with complicity in the plot and with helping to make the bomb.

When Abarno entered the cathedral door, his bomb in a package under his coat and Baldo at his side, he walked on to a stage whose every setting had been placed there by detectives. Two scrub women on their knees in the vestibule through which he passed were in reality central office detectives. The white-winged priest who met them at the door and took them to a seat down near the front of the church and close to the altar was a sergeant of police. Just behind Abarno there entered the church quite casually two more detectives, who followed the pseudo priest and took seats at his bidding in the pew behind. It was these men who saved the cathedral from damage by beating out the fire in the fuse.

Quickly Arrested.

Abarno realized the identity of his companion a moment after he had lighted from the glowing end of a cigar the fuse of the bomb which he carried under his coat. The missile had barely left his hand to lie for a moment on the carpet at the foot of the altar, when Baldo pinioned Abarno's arms behind him and told him that he was under arrest. Abarno permitted himself to be handcuffed to his captor without resistance, and walked meekly down the aisle with other detectives surrounding him.

Baldo had lived with the alleged anarchists since last December. He had obtained Abarno's complete confidence and had discussed with him and with others, the police assert, the details of the widespread plot. From Baldo the police learned that the anarchists' plans were to be developed in separate phases by groups of two and three men working together. Detectives were assigned to watch these groups, and two men from the central office were shadowing Carbone when he was arrested.

Trailed to Church.

According to Baldo, Abarno had planned to wreck the cathedral a week ago, late in the afternoon, but had postponed execution of the idea, partly at Baldo's suggestion. Today, when he left his room with Baldo, half a dozen detectives, some of them disguised as laborers and carrying dinner pails, trailed him to the church.

The bomb hurled at the altar was made of scrap iron inside a plaster of paris body. Inspector Egan of the bureau of combustibles, said it was the deadliest he had ever seen. The scrap iron consisted largely of round knobs which had been wrenched from iron fences in front of the houses of New York city's wealthy residents.

Centered in Bresci Group.

According to the police the plot was centralized in the group of anarchists known as the Bresci group, so named because of the admiration which its members expressed for Gaetano Bresci, the man who killed King Humbert in Italy in 1900. At the time of this assassination it was reported that a group of anarchists in New York and Paterson, N. J., shared in the plot.

An unusual development of the case upon which Police Commissioner Woods said he did not care to comment for the present was the detention at police headquarters of Frank Baldo, the detective through whom headquarters had learned of the gan's alleged activities. Baldo was placed under arrest—technical arrest it was assumed. Baldo is the assumed name of the detective. His real name, Mr. Woods said, is Emelio Polignani.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

If you suffer from catarrh, head noises, sore throat, asthma, or catarrhal deafness, here is a fine recipe that often gives relief after other treatments have failed.

Its effect in the worst cases is usually most striking and positive. The correct method of treating catarrh we believe is to employ a remedy that will quickly drive the catarrhal poisons from the system and at the same time by tonic action increase the vitality, which is always lowered by this insidious disease. To do this, we believe the following formula to be really the best prescription, as it acts quickly, costs little and can be easily prepared at home.

From your druggist obtain one ounce of Parmint (double strength), about 75c worth, take this home and add to it one-quarter of a pint of hot water and four ounces of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the most miserable headache, dullness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal discharges, head noises and other loathsome symptoms that always accompany this disgusting disease.

Loss of smell, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrh and which may be overcome by the use of this simple treatment.

Every person who has Catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. —Advertisement.

nothing to report along the eastern front. News dispatches reaching here from Berlin say that a certain degree of pessimism prevails there on account of the reported reaction in favor of Russia all along the eastern battle line. Vienna, more communicative than her allies, reports successful action in the western sector of the Carpathians and artillery engagements in Falicia, where the Russians are said to have been heavily reinforced.

The British press is virtually unanimous in praise of Premier Asquith's announcement yesterday of Great Britain's reprisals against the submarine warfare of Germany. The only discord in the chorus of praise is the criticism that possibly neutral protests might have been obviated by the proclamation of a formal blockade.

The only reported activity in connection with Germany's submarine vigil is provided by a story from a British collier, which claims to have rammed a German submarine in the channel after the under-sea boat had made an unsuccessful attempt to strike her with a torpedo.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 2, by wireless to Sayville.—The German war office today gave out a report on the progress of the fighting dated March 2 and reading as follows:

"Renewed French attacks in the Champagne district have, in most cases, already been repulsed. The French were in strong force. Before the German fire their losses were enormous. At some places there were hand-to-hand encounters, but in all of them we were victorious. We hold firmly our positions.

"In the Argonne district we have taken several trenches, capturing eighty prisoners and five mine throwers.

"French attacks on Vauquois have been driven back.

"The advantages won by us in the Vosges during the past few days have been maintained in spite of the violent counter attacks on the part of the enemy. The French losses were especially heavy during an attack yesterday evening at a point east of Celles.

"In the eastern arena of war, the Russian advances to the southeast and south of the Augustowo forests have resulted in failure. Russian night attacks to the northeast of Lomza and to the east of Plock have been repulsed."

French Statement.

Paris, March 2, via London, 3:45 p. m. —The developments yesterday at the front were reported by the war office today in the following statement:

"Between the sea and the Aisne the day was fairly quiet. The enemy attacked only in the southeast of St. Eloi, south of Ypres. He was repulsed by British forces.

"In Champagne, Reims was again bombarded, about fifty shells falling in the town.

"In spite of the storm, our progress continued between Perthes and Beausejour during the whole day, notably to the northwest of Perthes. To the northeast of Mesnil and to the north of Beausejour we hold the chief positions parallel to our attacking line. It is confirmed that the contingents of guards which made counter attacks on our forces during Sunday night sustained very heavy losses.

"In the Argonne, in the Bagatelle-Marie Therese sector, there has been mine and infantry fighting in an advance trench we occupied after having momentarily abandoned it. In the region of Vauquois we have progressed and held ground captured by two counter attacks and made some prisoners.

"In the Vosges, at La Chapelotte, we have captured trenches and gained 300 meters of ground."

Report From Sir John French.

London, March 2.—The following report from the headquarters of Sir John French, commander of the British forces in the field, was given out today by the official information bureau:

"The enemy's activities in the neighborhood of Ypres, reported in the last communiqua, have been checked. During the last three nights patrols which have been active in front of our trenches have found that the enemy has not ventured to leave his lines.

"Early this morning (March 1) an attack preceded by a heavy bombardment made on a portion of our line was successfully repulsed. On our left a party of Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry captured a German trench with great dash. After killing eleven of the occupants and driving off the remainder, they succeeded in blowing up the trench. Our losses were trifling.

"On our right, near La Bassee, we gained ground steadily by skillful trench work and in this zone we obtained complete mastery over the enemy's snipers and in consequence our casualties were greatly reduced.

"On several positions along our front our artillery forced the enemy's batteries to change position and increased the ascendancy over the opposing guns which has been observable for some time past."

Civilians Executed.

Lemberg, Galicia, March 2, via London.—When the Austrians recaptured the town of Stanislau, in Galicia, they condemned to death and executed something like 200 civilians, according to trustworthy information which has been brought into Lemberg.

Among the men executed were two Polish restaurant proprietors and a number of railroad laborers. All had been warned by the Russian authorities, the Russians having been in possession of Stanislau, to leave prior to the coming of the Austrians, but the men refused, relying on their Austrian citizenship for protection.

The Austrians are said to have come into Stanislau with prepared lists of citizens upon whom they had decided to inflict punishment for alleged offenses against the state.

Hundreds of prisoners, including Russians and Turks, are arriving daily in Lemberg from the south. Many of them come in with their limbs partly frozen. All except the Germans are half clothed, their feet tied up in rags.

MANY MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

His legs had been broken and doctors said he probably would die.

The mine where the explosion occurred is a drift, high up on Quinnimont mountain, and is in charge of H. M. Bertolet as general manager.

Blocked by Debris.

As the day wore on additional volunteers entered the mine and by noon two forces of twenty men each were clearing away the fallen coal and rock in the main entry of Mine No. 3. Half a mile from the opening they came across another miner badly hurt and unable to tell anything about the explosion. Here they encountered a mass of debris and it was said that two or three hours must elapse before it could be removed and the workings beyond penetrated.

Rescue Cars Ordered.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 2.—George S. Rice, chief mining engineer of the Pittsburg station of the bureau of mines, upon receipt of the news that an explosion had occurred near Thurmond, W. Va., ordered Rescue Car No. 8 at Glenalum, W. Va., to proceed at once to the place, picking up volunteers along the way, as it was feared many men would be needed in the work of rescue. Arrangements were also made to have the rescue car in Pittsburg held in readiness should it be needed. James R. Paul, chief engineer in charge of rescue work, left for Thurmond on the first train and Rice prepared to follow tonight.

volved, all with the same result.

The upshot of it all is the bill which Mr. Marschalk is about to introduce, this being the most feasible plan he has been able to figure out that would stand the legal test.

If the bill is passed, authorizing the organization of reclamation companies, it is hoped that capital can be induced to interest itself in development work. The fact that the claims of these companies will constitute a lien on the land benefited will tend to make their position solid, and should enable them to issue and sell bonds to carry on their work if this is necessary.

There is much regret among those who, with Mr. Marschalk, had been hoping that they could devise a practical and legal system of public development work based on bond issues, but at the same time there is a strong feeling of hopefulness that the plan finally settled upon will work out to provide a strong impetus to development work —which means settlement.

Attorney General Smith is now drafting the bill, and Mr. Marschalk will introduce it as soon as it is ready.

Poor Debtors' Court.

A "poor debtors' court," where people of small means can get their just dues without expense, is provided in a bill introduced in the senate yesterday afternoon by Senator Samuel M. Knopp of Winona.

The plan is modeled on a system now in use in Kansas. Topeka and Leavenworth both have such courts, and in the last year 800 claims have been adjusted by them without a penny's expense to the claimants, who were seamstresses, day laborers and the like.

Except such help as the free legal bureau in Duluth, provided voluntarily here and there, there is now no provision whatever for such litigants as these. A seamstress whose employer has refused to pay her wage, a washerwoman who is unable to collect her pay for a day's work, a day laborer who is held at arm's length by a laggard employer—the law now makes no provision whatever for any of these that is within their reach.

Senator Knopp's bill provides for the creation of small debtors' courts by any county or any city. The court would be created by the county board, and a city court by the council or city commission. The judge is to serve without pay, and he is to be "some reputable resident citizen of approved integrity who is sympathetically inclined to consider the situation of the poor, friendless and unfortunate." Such court is to be created whenever it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the county board or a city governing body "that there is need for the establishment of a small debtors' court for the administration of justice concerning the collection of small sums for wages, work or labor or other small debts."

Hold Court in Home or Office.

The judge of the small debtors' court is to hold his office during the pleasure of the appointing power for a term not to exceed four years. The appointing power is also to provide the judge with stationery, postage, a docket and a telephone. The judge may hold court in his own home or office, or at some place provided by the appointing power.

Claims to be handled in such courts are not to be more than $20. Before a claim can be entertained, the plaintiff must show to the satisfaction of the court that his financial means are so limited that he cannot with justice to himself or to those dependent upon him hire a lawyer and invoke the jurisdiction of any of the courts provided by law.

Proceedings in the small debtors' court are informal. Defendants are to be notified by mail or telephone. The judgment is to be conclusive upon the plaintiff, though the defendant may appeal to the district court, providing that if he loses he must pay the plaintiff an attorney's fee of $15. It is provided that "no attorney at law or other person than the plaintiff of defendant shall concern himself or intermeddle in any manner whatsoever with the litigation in the small debts court, nor shall it be necessary to summon witnesses, but the judge may informally consult witnesses or otherwise investigate the controversy between the parties, and in every case give judgment according to the very right of the cause."

State-Wide Prohibition.

The senate will vote March 10 at 2 o'clock on the question of whether or not statutory state-wide prohibition shall follow on the heels of county option. The Lobeck prohibition bill was made a special order for that date yesterday afternoon.

Senator George H. Sullivan yesterday afternoon introduced in the senate a bill authorizing the state board of control and the warden of the Minnesota penitentiary to abandon the old state prison and to transfer all remaining prisoners into the new prison, which is now completed. All but a few of the prisoners already have been transferred.

Frog Bill Advanced.

The house yesterday afternoon concluded that the Frye frog bill is not a joke, and in committee of the whole advanced it to the calendar by an overwhelming vote.

Representative Robert Carmichael proposed to amend it so as to make it apply only to frogs that can jump more than six and a half feet, but did not offer the amendment.

Representative Lydiard opposed the bill, which prohibits the catching, killing or sale of frogs for any purpose except bait, on the ground that it would interfere with a valuable source of food supply now amounting to $250,000 a year.

Representative Frye, however, declared that frogs destroy the eggs of crop-ravaging insects, and that they also eat the germs that convey hog cholera and other diseases; and he proved his case so well that the house all but unanimously favored his bill when he had done.

The house also advanced to the calendar the bill by Representative Charles L. Stevens of Warren proposing a constitutional amendment doing away with the requirement by the Constitution of a decennial state census. A motion by Representative Lydiard to indefinitely postpone the bill was defeated, 32 to 41, and the bill recommended to pass.

Despite the fact that the senate has killed a similar bill, the house advanced to the calendar the Wilson-Swanson-Devold bill extending state fire insurance to county property at the option of the county boards.

Thirty-Five Americans File Claims Against British Government.

Philadelphia, March 2.—T. Cuyler Patterson, an attorney of this city and thirty-four other Americans have filed claims against the British government for $1,000 each because of their detention on the Hamburg-American liner Prince Adalbert in Falmouth harbor from last Aug. 4 to Aug. 8, according to a statement by Mr. Patterson here last night.

"The act of the British in seizing the Prince Adalbert the night they declared war," says the statement, "was an act of piracy on the high seas. The passengers of the vessel protested against this action before they left the boat and as soon as they landed, they filed their claims with American Ambassador Page.

"The matter recently was reopened by President Wilson and the state department asked me to draw up a statement of our claims. I did so and the matter is now presumably the subject of discussions between the department of state and British foreign office."

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin Folks

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Boyce Drug Store and other leading druggists of Duluth and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution: While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

STATE MINE INSPECTION

House Committee Favors Increase in Appropriation for Work.

Blue Sky Bill Introduced By Larimore Recommended to Pass.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative C. L. Spooner's bill raising the annual appropriation of the state mining inspection service from $20,000 to $32,500 was recommended for passage and referred to the finance board by the house committee on appropriations yesterday afternoon.

A subcommittee to consider the request of F. A. Wilds, chief inspector, that $28,000 more for equipment and two buildings at Hibbing be appropriated was appointed. Mr. Wilds told the committee that the state looked after its fee interests less carefully than any other fee owners on the iron range. He recommended that enough equipment be purchased to make the inspection adequate and that the buildings occupied by the state now at Hibbing be bought and another near it be purchased and converted into a chemical laboratory. Representative Spooner's bill provided for the employment of a chemist.

Blue Sky Bill.

The so-called blue sky bill introduced in the house by Representative J. A. Larrimore of Minneapolis, was recommended for passage by the house committee on corporations other than municipalities yesterday afternoon.

The bill provides that the companies selling contracts covering payment of installment and repayment back with profit, must come under the jurisdiction of the state superintendent of banks.

Further, the bill stipulates that such companies must pay regular fees and submit to the proper examinations. This character of business cannot be carried on by private parties, but must be incorporated with a capital stock of at least $25,000. The corporation would be compelled to make a deposit with the superintendent of banks the same as do trust companies.

The bill has met with favor in both houses, and its enactment into law is considered probable.

Teaching Deaf and Blind.

Two strong arguments in favor of the Konzen-North bill for teaching deaf and blind children in public schools, were made before the house committee on education yesterday.

Friends of the measure argued that it would be of great benefit to the children, as they could receive instructions at a tender age. Parents are adverse to allowing children to enter the Faribault school before the age of twelve.

Senator C. E. Scott of Barron, Wis., member of the Wisconsin senate, told the committee that in Wisconsin $150 a year is appropriated for each pupil by the state. He said that such instruction of the deaf had been in force in Wisconsin for twenty-five years.

W. J. Wimmia, head of the department for the instruction of teachers of the deaf in the Milwaukee Normal school, spoke before the committee and gave in some detail the methods employed. He came to St. Paul at the solicitation of parents of deaf children here.

Dr. I. A. Meyerding, school physician of St. Paul, said that deaf children of tender years could better be taught in day schools than in larger state institutions.

Gordon Committee Meets.

Representative Sam Y. Gordon's committee of twenty, appointed to investigate the so-called needless departments and unnecessary employes of the state government, held a meeting last night at which plans of procedure were discussed. No action was taken.

Mr. Gordon stated that the committee would be divided into subcommittees which probably will be announced today or tomorrow.

Blind students at the state universities or normal schools may receive $300 per annum aid from the state if Senator F. L. Glotzbach's bill, introduced into the senate yesterday afternoon, becomes a law.

The bill provides that not more than five students a year may receive such aid and that the money shall be taken from the funds of the state school for the blind. It is to be used by the student receiving it for employing readers and aiding him in the purchase of board, lodging and clothing.

Representative A. F. Pratt's dance-hall bill, once killed by the house general legislation committee, was resurrected yesterday afternoon and reported out without recommendation. The measure gives villages the right to regulate and license dance-halls.

digest the contents of the communication from Great Britain and France, out that the question was under serious consideration. He reiterated that he was still uncertain whether he would be able to follow out his plan of going to the San Francisco exposition this month, and that was taken as another indication that the European situation was considered of such importance as to keep the president in Washington.

No Violation of Neutrality.

The president made it clear, however, that for American ships to sail for Germany would involve no violation of neutrality, but merely the usual risk of the owner of vessels and cargo in legal proceedings.

The minister from The Netherlands inquired at the state department what reply the United States intended to make. He desired to send word to his government, and the opinion was expressed that The Netherlands, along with other neutrals, could send representations similar to those which the country might make. No indications were given as to just when a reply might be sent, but the general belief was that it would not be delayed long.

sponsibility for Colorado conditions, adds:

"Absentees owners or directors by their absence from the scene of such disturbances cannot escape their moral responsibility for conditions in and about properties in which they are interested."

Liberal extracts from the 2,000 pages of testimony taken by the committee are embodied in the report, with comment:

"Considerable testimony on both sides of the controversy, we believe to be unreliable and no confidence should be placed in it. Colorado has good mining laws that ought to afford protection to the miner if they are enforced, yet in this state the per centage of fatalities is larger than any other, showing there is undoubtedly something wrong in reference to the management of its coal mines. It is contended by the miners as one of their grievances that the operators do not obey the law, and however good the laws may be if not observed they are of no protection.

Laws Violated By Operators.

"The testimony of James Dalrymple, state mine inspector, calls attention to the many violations of the law by the operators, and the miners claim this as one cause leading up to the strike. The report of Mr. Dalrymple also said he found in some cases the operators had put in operation new devices and systems of an advantage to the miners.

"It seemed the militia was on the side of the operators in this controversy," says the report after reciting the action of the governor in calling out the state troops, "and the evidence seems conclusively to prove such to have been the case. The sooner the men armed in the service of the state learn that the men with whom they may deal may be poor and ignorant and even violators of the law, but are still human, the better it will be for all concerned.

"The recruiting of mine guards as members of the militia, in our judgment was a mistake, since intense animosity had existed for some time between the mine guards and the miners and it was difficult or even impossible for the miners to feel that these men were neutral conservators of the peace. Some of the militiamen seized this opportunity while clothed with the authority of the state to engage in various lawless acts.

Immoral and Brutal Acts.

"In other instances the acts were of an immoral kind and of such a nature as to be unfit for publication in this report. There were acts of brutality testified to before the committee which might be enumerated; men on slight provocation were thrown into jail and kept there without the opportunity of proving their innocence. There were many good men in the militia, both officers and privates, and the strikers testifying said that certain companies were composed of kind men and if their houses were to be searched they asked that members of these companies be sent; but if others were sent to do the searching they would be subjected to indignities and would probably be robbed of whatever they might have that the militia wanted."

Adjt. Gen. Chase Denounced.

The committee denounces John M. Chase, adjutant general of the militia of the state, for his refusal to testify except upon condition that he would not be questioned by representatives of the miners, and declares that he "was overbearing to all who came in contact with him."

Reviewing the testimony of many witnesses, the report says from the time the strike was called until the Federal troops were sent into the field by the president of the United States, there was a series of battles which seemed to be fierce while they lasted, and a number of people were killed and wounded on both sides. It condemns as inexcusable both the attack on Berwind camp by men alleged to have been strikers as well as the assault upon Forbes tent colony by armed guards using a machine gun.

"A private guard system may be thought necessary," the committee here contends, "but wherever it exists sooner or later trouble will recur, and proper officers of the law should be substituted who will be impartial in maintaining peace and order."

Tried to Control Elections.

Testimony of present and county officials is quoted to show efforts of mine operators to control elections in Las Animas and Huerfano counties, and the committee remarks that the manner of selecting juries in those counties, where, according to witnesses in one case at least, seven out of twelve jurors were deputy sheriffs, "appears to be against the provisions of the law."

Some of the men brought into Colorado by detective agencies employed to guard the mines, the committee finds, had been in the same kind of service in West Virginia and they brought with them the same machine gun which had been used in an armored car against strikers in that state.

Concerning the charge that the operators were guilty of peonage, the committee reports:

Peonage Not Proved.

"We did not find it clearly proved that a condition of peonage existed in the coal fields of Colorado, but we found that during the strike men were brought in from other states by the trainload and were delivered to the mining camps under guard of the militia, many of them being foreigners and unacquainted with the work of mining coal. We do not believe it was proved that the operators forcibly kept men in camp until their debts were paid, but that they rather endeavored to hold those who already were in camp before the strike and to prevent those who had been taken in as strike-breakers from going outside."

Declaring that the mine troubles are nation-wide in scope, the committee reaches this conclusion:

"It should be the duty of the government to assist any states in settling a dispute that is nation-wide in its scope; and if any Federal law can be enacted that will help not only Colorado, but any other state that may be similarly situated it is the duty of congress to speedily put upon the statute-books such laws so that such industrial disturbances may forever cease."

800 persons sat at worship, became alive with detectives, whose presence had been unsuspected by the bomb carrier. Baldo, sitting beside him, placed him under arrest; detectives sitting in the pew behind dashed into the aisle and stamped out the sputtering fuse. The congregation hardly realized what had happened when it was all over and there was no panic.

At police headquarters the alleged bomb thrower said he was Frank Abarno, a lithographer, 24 years old. Soon after he was taken to headquarters, detectives acting upon information given them by Baldo, arrested Charles Carbone, an 18-year-old boy, and charged him with complicity in the plot and with having placed the bomb.

When Abarno entered the cathedral door, his bomb in a package under his coat and Baldo at his side, he walked on to a stage whose every setting had been placed there by detectives. Two scrub women on their knees in the vestibule through which he passed were detectives, who followed the pseudo priest and took seats at his bidding in the pew behind. It was these men who saved the cathedral from damage by beating out the fire in the fuse.

Quickly Arrested.

Abarno realized the identity of his companion a moment after he had lighted the glowing end of a cigar the fuse of the bomb which he carried under his coat. The missile had barely left his hand to lie for a moment on the carpet at the foot of the altar, when Baldo pinioned Abarno's arms behind him and told him that he was under arrest. Abarno permitted himself to be handcuffed to his captor without resistance, and walked meekly down the aisle with other detectives surrounding him.

Baldo had lived with the alleged anarchists since last December. He had obtained Abarno's complete confidence and had discussed with him and with others, the police assert, the details of the widespread plot. From Baldo the police learned that the anarchists' plans were to be developed in separate phases by groups of two and three men working together. Detectives were assigned to watch these groups, and two men from the central office were shadowing Carbone when he was arrested.

Trailed to Church.

According to Baldo, Abarno had planned to wreck the cathedral a week ago, late in the afternoon, but had postponed execution of the idea, partly at Baldo's suggestion. Today, when he left his room with Baldo, half a dozen detectives, some of them disguised as laborers and carrying dinner pails, trailed him to the church.

The bomb hurled at the altar was made of scrap iron inside a plaster of paris body. Inspector Egan of the bureau of combustibles, said it was the deadliest he had ever seen. The scrap iron consisted largely of round knobs which had been wrenched from iron fences in front of the houses of New York city's wealthy residents.

Centered in Bresci Group.

According to the police the plot was centralized in the group of anarchists known as the Bresci group, so named because of the admiration which its members expressed for Gaetano Bresci, the man who killed King Humbert in Italy in 1900. At the time of this assassination it was reported that a group of anarchists in New York and Paterson, N. J., shared in the plot.

An unusual development of the case upon which Police Commissioner Woods said he did not care to comment for the present was the detention at police headquarters of Frank Baldo, the detective through whom headquarters had learned of the gan's alleged activities. Baldo was placed under arrest—technical arrest it was assumed. Baldo is the assumed name of the detective. His real name, Mr. Woods said, is Emelio Polignani.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

If you suffer from catarrh, head noises, sore throat, asthma, or catarrhal deafness, here is a fine recipe that often gives relief after other treatments have failed.

Its effect in the worst cases is usually most striking and positive. The correct method of treating catarrh we believe is to employ a remedy that will quickly drive the catarrhal poisons from the system and at the same time by tonic action increase the vitality, which is always lowered by this insidious disease. To do this, we believe the following formula to be really the best prescription, as it acts quickly, costs little and can be easily prepared at home.

From your druggist obtain one ounce of Parmint (double strength), about 75c worth, take this home and add to it one-quarter of a pint of hot water and four ounces of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the most miserable headache, dullness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal discharges, head noises and other loathsome symptoms that always accompany this disgusting disease. Loss of smell, defective hearing and nausea dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrh and which may be overcome by the use of this simple treatment.

Every person who has Catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. —Advertisement.

BOMBARDING IS HINDERED BY BAD WEATHER

nothing to report along the eastern front. News dispatches reaching here from Berlin say that a certain degree of pessimism prevails there on account of the reported reaction in favor of Russia all along the eastern battle line. Vienna, more communicative than her allies, reports successful action in the western sector of the Carpathians and artillery engagements in Falicia, where the Russians are said to have been heavily reinforced.

The British press is virtually unanimous in praise of Premier Asquith's announcement yesterday of Great Britain's reprisals against the submarine warfare of Germany. The only discord in the chorus of praise is the criticism that possibly neutral protests might have been obviated by the proclamation of a formal blockade.

The only reported activity in connection with Germany's submarine vigil is provided by a story from a British collier, which claims to have rammed a German submarine in the channel after the under-sea boat had made an unsuccessful attempt to strike her with a torpedo.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 2, by wireless to Sayville.—The German war office today gave out a report on the progress of the fighting dated March 2 and reading as follows:

"Renewed French attacks in the Champagne district have, in most cases, already been repulsed. The French were in strong force. Before the German fire their losses were enormous. At some places there were hand-to-hand encounters, but in all of them we were victorious. We hold firmly our positions.

"In the Argonne district we have taken several trenches, capturing eighty prisoners and five mine throwers.

"French attacks on Vauquois have been driven back.

"The advantages won by us in the Vosges during the past few days have been maintained in spite of the violent counter attacks on the part of the enemy. The French losses were especially heavy during an attack yesterday evening at a point east of Celles.

"In the eastern arena of war, the Russian advances to the southeast and south of the Augustowo forests have resulted in failure. Russian night attacks to the northeast of Lomza and to the east of Plock have been repulsed."

French Statement.

Paris, March 2, via London, 3:45 p. m. —The developments yesterday at the front were reported by the war office today in the following statement:

"Between the sea and the Aisne the day was fairly quiet. The enemy attacked only in the southeast of St. Eloi, south of Ypres. He was repulsed by British forces.

"In Champagne, Reims was again bombarded, about fifty shells falling in the town.

"In spite of the storm, our progress continued between Perthes and Beausejour during the whole day, notably to the northwest of Perthes. To the northeast of Mesnil and to the north of Beausejour we hold the chief positions parallel to our attacking line. It is confirmed that the contingents of guards which made counter attacks on our forces during Sunday night sustained very heavy losses.

"In the Argonne, in the Bagatelle-Marie Therese sector, there has been mine and infantry fighting in an advance trench we occupied after having momentarily abandoned it. In the region of Vauquois we have progressed and held ground captured by two counter attacks and made some prisoners.

"In the Vosges, at La Chapelotte, we have captured trenches and gained 300 meters of ground."

Report From Sir John French.

London, March 2.—The following report from the headquarters of Sir John French, commander of the British forces in the field, was given out today by the official information bureau:

"The enemy's activities in the neighborhood of Ypres, reported in the last communique, have been checked. During the last three nights patrols which have been active in front of our trenches have found that the enemy has not ventured to leave his lines.

"Early this morning (March 1) an attack preceded by a heavy bombardment made on a portion of our line was successfully repulsed. On our left a party of Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry captured a German trench with great dash. After killing eleven of the occupants and driving off the remainder, they succeeded in blowing up the trench. Our losses were trifling.

"On our right, near La Bassee, we gained ground steadily by skillful trench work and in this zone we obtained complete mastery over the enemy's snipers and in consequence our casualties were greatly reduced.

"On several positions along our front our artillery forced the enemy's batteries to change position and increased the ascendancy over the opposing guns which has been observable for some time past."

Civilians Executed.

Lemberg, Galicia, March 2, via London.—When the Austrians recaptured the town of Stanislau, in Galicia, they condemned to death and executed something like 200 civilians, according to trustworthy information which has been brought into Lemberg.

Among the men executed were two Polish restaurant proprietors and a number of railroad laborers. All had been warned by the Austrian authorities, the Russians having been in possession of Stanislau, to leave prior to the coming of the Austrians, but the men refused, relying on their Austrian citizenship for protection.

The Austrians are said to have come into Stanislau with prepared lists of citizens upon whom they had decided to inflict punishment for alleged offenses against the state.

Hundreds of prisoners including Bosnians and Turks, are arriving daily in Lemberg from the south. Many of them come in with their limbs partly frozen. All except the Germans are half clothed, their feet tied up in rags.

MANY MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

His legs had been broken and doctors said he probably would die.

The mine where the explosion occurred is a drift, high up on Quinnimont mountain, and is in charge of H. M. Bertolet as general manager.

Blocked by Debris.

As the day wore on additional volunteers entered the mine and by noon two forces of twenty men each were clearing away the fallen coal and rock in the main entry of Mine No. 3. Half a mile from the opening they came across another miner badly hurt and unable to tell anything about the explosion. Here they encountered a mass of debris and it was said that two or three hours must elapse before it could be removed and the workings beyond penetrated.

Rescue Cars Ordered.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 2.—George S. Rice, chief mining engineer of the Pittsburg station of the bureau of mines, upon receipt of the news that an explosion had occurred near Thurmond, W. Va., ordered Rescue Car No. 8 at Glennallum, W. Va., to proceed at once to the place, picking up volunteers along the way, as it was feared many men would be needed in the work of rescue. Arrangements were also made to have the rescue car in Pittsburg held in readiness should it be needed. James R. Paul, chief engineer in charge of rescue work, left for Thurmond on the first train and Rice prepared to follow tonight.

volved, all with the same result.

The upshot of it all is the bill which Mr. Marschalk is about to introduce, this being the most feasible plan he has been able to figure out that would stand the legal test.

If the bill is passed, authorizing the organization of reclamation companies it is hoped that capital can be induced to interest itself in development work, the fact that the claims of these companies will constitute a lien on the land benefited will tend to make their position solid, and should enable them to issue and sell bonds to carry on their work if this is necessary.

There is much regret among those who, with Mr. Marschalk, had been hoping that they could devise a practical and legal system of public development work based on bond issues, but at the same time there is a strong feeling of hopefulness that the plan finally settled upon will work out to provide a strong impetus to development work —which means settlement.

Attorney General Smith is now drafting the bill, and Mr. Marschalk will introduce it as soon as it is ready.

Poor Debtors' Court.

A "poor debtors' court," where people of small means can get their just dues without expense, is provided in a bill introduced in the senate yesterday afternoon by Senator Samuel M. Knopp of Winona.

The plan is modeled on a system now in use in Kansas. Topeka and Leavenworth both have such courts, and in the last year 800 claims have been adjusted by them without a penny's expense to the claimants, who were seamstresses, day laborers and the like.

Except such help as the free legal bureau in Duluth, provided voluntarily here and there, there is now no provision whatever for such litigants as these. A seamstress whose employer has refused to pay her wage, a washerwoman who is unable to collect her pay for a day's work, a day laborer who is held at arm's length by a ingard employer—the law now makes no provision whatever for any of these that is within their reach.

Senator Knopp's bill provides for the creation of small debtors' courts by any county or any city. A county court would be created by the county board, and a city court by the council or city commission. The judge is to serve without pay, and he is to be "some reputable resident citizen of approved integrity who is sympathetically inclined to consider the situation of the poor, friendless and unfortunate." Such court is to be created whenever it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the county board or a city governing body "that there is need for the establishment of a small debtors' court for the administration of justice concerning the collection of small sums for wages, work or labor or other small debts."

Hold Court in Home or Office.

The judge of the small debtors' court is to hold his office during the pleasure of the appointing power for a term not to exceed four years. The appointing power is also to provide the judge with stationery, postage, docket and a telephone. The judge may hold court in his own home or office, or at some place provided by the appointing power.

Claims to be handled in such courts are not to be more than $20. Before a claim can be entertained, the plaintiff must show to the satisfaction of the court that his financial means are so limited that he cannot with justice to himself or to those dependent upon him hire a lawyer and invoke the jurisdiction of any of the courts provided by law.

Proceedings in the small debtors' court are informal. Defendants are to be notified by mail or telephone. The judgment is to be conclusive upon the plaintiff, though the defendant may appeal to the district court, providing that if he loses he must pay the plaintiff an attorney's fee of $15. It is provided that "no attorney at law or other person than the plaintiff of defendant shall concern himself or intermeddle in any manner whatsoever with the litigation in the small debts court," nor shall it be necessary to summon witnesses, but the judge may informally consult witnesses or otherwise investigate the controversy between the parties, and in every case give judgment according to the very right of the cause."

State-Wide Prohibition.

The senate will vote March 10 at 2 o'clock on the question of whether or not statutory state-wide prohibition shall follow on the heels of county option. The Lobeck prohibition bill was made a special order for that date yesterday afternoon.

The time of the special order on the Sageng woman suffrage bill was changed from 2 p. m. Thursday to 11 a. m. on motion of Senator Sageng, author of the bill.

A joint resolution protesting against the collection by the government of the internal revenue tax on intoxicating liquors where the dealer transacts his business in dry territory was offered in the senate yesterday afternoon by Senators F. H. Peterson of Moorhead and O. A. Lende of Canby.

J. Rockne of Zumbrota. Inspection every two years instead of every year is also provided for by the bill.

Senator George H. Sullivan yesterday afternoon introduced in the senate a bill authorizing the state board of control and the warden of the Minnesota penitentiary to abandon the old state prison and to transfer all remaining prisoners into the new prison, which is now completed. All but a few of the prisoners already have been transferred.

Frog Bill Advanced.

The house yesterday afternoon concluded that the Frye frog bill is not a joke, and in committee of the whole advanced it to the calendar by an overwhelming vote.

Representative Robert Carmichael proposed to amend it so as to make it apply only to frogs that can jump more than six and a half feet, but did not offer the amendment.

Representative Lydiard opposed the bill, which prohibits the catching, killing or sale of frogs for any purpose except bait, on the ground that it would interfere with a valuable source of food supply now amounting to $250,000 a year.

Representative Frye, however, declared that frogs destroy the eggs of crop-ravaging insects, and that they also eat the germs that convey hog cholera and other diseases; and he proved his case so well that the house all but unanimously favored his bill when he had done.

The house also advanced to the calendar the bill by Representative Charles L. Stevens of Warren proposing a constitutional amendment doing away with the requirement by the Constitution of a decennial state census. A motion by Representative Lydiard to indefinitely postpone the bill was defeated, 33 to 41, and the bill recommended to pass.

Despite the fact that the senate has killed a similar bill, the house advanced to the calendar the Frye frog bill by the overwhelming vote of 72 to 19.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin Folks

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes unchecked. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Boyce Drug Store and other leading druggists of Duluth and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution: While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

DETAINED ON SHIP; SUE FOR DAMAGES

Thirty-Five Americans File Claims Against British Government.

Philadelphia, March 2.—T. Cuyler Patterson, an attorney of this city and thirty-four other Americans have filed claims against the British government for $1,000 each because of their detention on the Hamburg-American liner Prince Adalbert in Falmouth harbor from last Aug. 4 to Aug. 8, according to a statement by Mr. Patterson here last night.

"The act of the British in seizing the Prince Adalbert the night they declared war," says the statement, "was an act of piracy on the high seas. The passengers of the vessel protested against this action before they left the boat and as soon as they landed, they filed their claims with American Ambassador Page.

"The matter recently was reopened by President Wilson and the state department asked me to draw up a statement of our claims. I did so and the matter is now presumably the subject of discussions between the department of state and British foreign office."

NEW PIANOS

AT REAL BARGAINS

Piano manufacturers overloaded; European war stops exporting pianos to Europe and the very highest grade piano manufacturers, whose exporting business has been great, are now forced to sacrifice in order to unload these stocks at home. Almost unbelievable reductions are now open at 26 Lake Avenue North Piano Store. Mr. John Korby, manufacturers' representative, has returned from Chicago, and while there selected the highest grades of pianos and player pianos in the market, such as the celebrated Crown piano, Bush & Gerts, the only piano on the market bearing the union label; old-reliable Chase Bros., Hackley, Schaeffer and Price & Teeple, the most popular pianos on the market; the Baldwin line, almost everybody knows their real value. Such an assortment of standard makes of instruments has never been offered at such reductions in this city or elsewhere. The store is now overloaded with upright pianos and no room for grand pianos, therefore Mr. Korby offers the greatest discount ever known, to any who will place their order for the new baby or parlor grand piano, and the purchaser will get not only the new piano direct from the manufacturer but the style and finish to suit everybody. In order to give some idea what this sale means to the piano purchaser at this time, $375 values now go at $195; $500 pianos at $295; $800 player pianos, $475; $1,150 player pianos, $650. Do not put off piano buying as such offers may never be offered again. Write or call.

SURETTE ON MUSICAL EDUCATION

Children Should Be Taught First to Love Music, Then to Read It—Grand Opera a Fetish—Singers' Salaries Absurd—Experimental Age in Music.

Thomas Whitney Surette, a staff lecturer on music for the Oxford university extension delegacy, University of London, and also associated with various university courses in the United States, his native land, is of the opinion that music in this country is gradually growing better, and that the people are being gradually educated to a finer appreciation of it.

Mr. Surette is in Duluth today. This afternoon he is giving a lecture to the students of the high school on school music. This evening Mr. Surette will lecture at the Congregational church on romantic music, and tomorrow evening his subject will be, "What Part Does Music Have in Education?"

"Music in the public schools of America is a most important phase of musical education," said Mr. Surette. "My idea is that children should not be taught sight reading of music until they have been in school three years. Children should be taught to love music, should be first taught naturally to sing, and should be taught to become more or less acquainted with its beauty before being plunged into learning sight reading.

School Music Largely Bad.

"Music furnished to the public schools of America is more or less bad. No real effort has been made to distinguish the good from the bad. The school is where the real education of the people should start, and hence it is vastly important that we should start in aright. The old folk songs are excellent for school purposes; excellent, because they are good music, and excellent for school use because they teach the child to love and become interested in music."

Mr. Surette abruptly asked if Duluth supported grand opera. When informed not so as you could notice, he abruptly replied, "That's most fortunate."

Grand Opera Exotic.

"Grand opera is not indigenous, you know," he continued. "The real art of any nation must be indigenous. Grand opera is exotic, more or less a fetish, you might say. We have gotten to the stage in this country where we learn to listen to some famous singer, regardless of whether or not that singer really knows how to sing. Education will teach us to be more discriminating; will, perhaps, teach us to demand technique and artistic endeavor.

"In France and Germany such a condition does not prevail. An opera company comes to a city, say Dallas, Tex., and drains the town. Rather than stimulating artistic craving, it has the effect of starving it.

Salaries Absurd.

"Possibly the day is coming when we will have operas on a more sensible basis. The salaries paid singers like Caruso are absurd, and we pay too much to see our opera.

"Some day, no doubt, America will have its native composers and we will produce our own grand operas; but I believe that day is far distant. It will be an expression of our national life, and as yet we are not exactly a homogeneous people. It requires time and thought to develop art."

Mr. Surette is not a pessimist regarding the modern trend of music, neither can it be said that he is an intense admirer of the music being produced at the present time.

Experimental Age.

"We are in an experimental age, in regard to music," said he, "Great good may grow out of the drift of the present experimenting; especially is this true of the efforts being made on harmonic material. The composers of the present time are by no means especially great; and yet I am not one of those who wails that there will not be any more great composers.

"Some great composers will be born in the future, surely; though what conditions create a great composer it is quite impossible to explain or reason out.

"Undoubtedly some great music will grow out of the present war. The war of 1812 produced Tolstoi, and the French revolution produced a dozen geniuses. Great events produce artistic endeavor.

"I believe that there are movements afoot, such as the music centers and local movements upon the part of public-spirited citizens that are resulting in a steady cultivation of the better class of music to the common people, and they will listen to it. Maybe they will like ragtime best at first, but the twentieth time Beethoven or Wagner is played they will like it better."

BOSTONIA SEXTET SCORES A HIT

Musical Part of University Extension Course At Central High School

Duluth music lovers were treated to an excellent program last evening at the Central high school when the Bostonia Sextet club gave a concert before an audience of 300. The entertainment was the sixth of a series under the auspices of the University of Minnesota extension division.

Every member on the program scored a hit and from every viewpoint, the concert was a big success. At least one encore was given for every number and in a number of instances several encores were given for the benefit of an insistent audience.

One of the features of the evening's entertainment was the playing of the violin solo "Humoresque" by Misha Muscanto, who displayed unusual talent. Miss Ellis proved herself a favorite with her several soprano numbers. Especially pleasing was her Stern's "Printemps." The solo work of C. L. Staats on the clarinet was also well received.

Fergus Falls Man Back From the Caucasus With Thrilling Tale.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 2.—Still unnerved by the terrifying experiences through which he passed in escaping from the Caucasus, and bearing as souvenirs Turkish bullets which passed through windows of a hospital in which he took refuge after fleeing from the Russian trenches, Arthur McFadden of this city arrived home yesterday for a visit with his parents.

Mr. McFadden has been master mechanic for the Caucasus Mining company, which operates the largest copper mine in Russia. It is situated at the east end of the Black sea, in a narrow mountain pass, one of the three passes between Russia and Turkey, and only three miles from the Turkish border.

BIG AUDIENCES AT GRAND

New Show Offers Many Bright and Attractive Features.

That Lent is having little or no effect on the business of the New Grand was shown yesterday when large audiences saw the opening performances of another good bill. Good vaudeville and photoplays made up an attractive program.

The "classiest" act of the bill is that of Rooney and Bowman, two attractive young women who appear in an endless number of handsome costumes and sing a number of good songs.

King and Brown have a novel gymnastic turn. The players have but one leg each, but their activity and skill in performing athletic stunts is remarkable. One of them performed the difficult feat of walking across the stage on a crutch without the use of his leg.

The de Michele Brothers are good entertainers on the harp and violin. They are both skillful musicians and play a number of classical and popular airs. Their comedy made a big hit with the audience.

Tiny May, said to be the smallest elephant in the world, seems to be gifted with unusual cleverness and to be highly trained. A dog and trick pony are able assistants.

The photoplay as usual were good and the three-reel feature film, "The Attorney for the Defense" is a strong dramatic play well acted. "The Call of Her Child" is a film play with strong heart interest. "Bud, Bill and the Waiter" is a corking good comedy picture. Several good pictures of travel round out the bill.

Like Humble Role Best.

From a princess to an untutored, barefooted child of the forest is the change effected by Miss Doris Olsson, the leading woman of the Baldwin Players, this week, and on the whole the patrons of the Baldwin company seem to much prefer her in the humbler role. Last week Miss Olsson played the part of the princess of the mythical kingdom of Borovino, and the role was a colorless one, giving her little opportunity. This week the part of Tess dominates the play of "Tess of the Storm Country." Tess is the daughter of a poor squatter on the shore of Lake Champlain, and her father makes his living and hers by poaching. Tess is an unschooled little tomboy, barefoot and ragged. She bravely shields her friends even at heavy cost to herself, and the finish of the play holds out hopes of much better things for Tess.

The play has never been seen before in Duluth, although the photoplay of the same name, with Mary Pickford featured in the title role, has been presented here, and the story is more or less familiar to the movie fans. The story has also been popular in novel form, but the Baldwins are giving it its first presentation on the stage.

It will continue all week with the usual matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Last night the Knights of Pythias gave a benefit and the S. R. O. sign was out.

Brady Story at Rex.

A big audience showed its appreciation of the best in motion pictures by a large attendance and generous applause given last evening to "The Little Angel of Canyon Creek" playing at the Rex yesterday and today. This is a dramatic story told as only Cyrus Townsend Brady can tell them. Col. Jasper Erwing Brady (late U. S. A.) picturized the play. "I wish every man, woman and child in Duluth could see that picture," is one of the many complimentary remarks made after seeing "The Little Angel of Canyon Creek."

Spooner, Minn., March 2.—The Dominion government is taking no chances on some German or other enemy of the empire blowing up the international bridge of the Canadian Northern railway at Rainy River, Ont., near here, as a squad of soldiers numbering twenty-two are on guard at the span. It is said that all international bridges from the eastern to the western part of Canada are similarly guarded during these war times.

Hancock Men Bankrupt.

Marquette, Mich., March 2.—William Merila, William Aho, and Matti Erkkila, engaged in the grocery business at Hancock, have filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with Fred J. Schultheis, deputy clerk of the United States district court. Their liabilities are given as $5,654.04, and their assets as $9,826.23. Unpaid accounts constitute the greater part of their assets.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Pay Cash When You Can.

I have listened to lengthy arguments setting forth the good points of both the cash and credit systems, and I must say, having seen the latter demonstrated in anything but a successful fashion, and having recently witnessed the workings of the former, which has thus far been eminently satisfactory, that the cash system is by far the preferable. Whether we are poor or rich, few of us are inclined to pay much more than the market price of an article simply because we are credit customers.

It has been said that the credit customer gets better treatment from the dealer than as though he paid cash. I cannot believe that is so in the long run. It may be that a dealer who has had a good customer for a number of years will give particular attention to everything that is purchased by this customer. But let a family run a bill for two or three months at a time and the result is not the very best assortment of edibles and the prices are a little higher than if payment was more prompt.

Every man or woman who has ever owed a grocer, butcher or any other bill, knows what a coward it makes of him or her, and how easily they are imposed upon by those to whom they owe money, if the creditor is "that sort" and alas, our creditors too often seem "that sort." On the other hand, as every tradesman is in business for the sole purpose of making a fair profit, it is only just that he should be paid interest on the money that he loans us to maintain ourselves for some period of time, for that is what it amounts to.

In many instances a dealer will supply a credit customer with second and even third-class goods and charge first-class prices. You have certain redress if you pay your bills promptly at the end of each week or month, but if you fail to pay at stated periods you feel too timid yourself to raise objections, and as a result are systematically cheated and robbed.

Pay cash if you possibly can. Of course I know that there are men who do not receive a stated sum of money at the end of the week or the month. Their money may come in the hundreds today and perhaps not another cent for several weeks or months. It is better for these people to practice the strictest economy when their funds get at a low ebb instead of going recklessly into debt. Form the habit of paying cash and you will live happier and have money in the bank to pay your bills, if some unfortunate event overtakes you.

THE OARSMEN.

It is encouraging to see such a turnout as that last night at the first meeting of Coach Ten Eyck with the rowing candidates. One hundred and fifty sturdy young men to pick from would gladden the heart of any coach, and Duluth has every reason to believe that Ten Eyck is just the man to make wise selections and train them well.

Duluth's oarsmen have been very much in the limelight in the last few years. They have taken first prizes at the biggest events on the continent, outside collegiate rowing, and have spread the name and fame of their city wherever the rowing game is noticed.

The great trouble Ten Eyck has found has been in the lightness of the bulk of the men he has had to pick from. This year's men average over a hundred and fifty pounds apiece, and the coach is correspondingly pleased. He predicts better crews than ever this year for Duluth, and though coaches are constitutionally and professionally optimistic at this time of the year, the records show that Jimmy Ten Eyck is no hot air artist, but a real judge and trainer of oarsmen.

Duluth has been proud of her crews in the past, and she expects to have reason to add to that pride this year. Coach Ten Eyck has hinted at new worlds to be conquered, and Duluth will look to her 1915 oarsmen to achieve those conquests as they have achieved others.

Some prehistoric ruins have been found in Nebraska, but reports fail to say whether there are any inscriptions of "the first battle."

MORE POLITICS.

More politics is being played by certain Republicans in the United States senate. Ever since the session opened there has been a clique that has ignored everything but politics, their operations reaching a climax in the smothering of the ship purchase bill for fear it would stop for all time the chances of a ship subsidy.

Now they have broken out again, and this time it is on the personnel of the new Federal trade commission. President Wilson nominated five good and experienced men to that body, and in compliance with the law he named not more than three from one party. Three of his nominees are Democrats, one is a Progressive and the fifth is classified as a "Progressive Republican," whatever that is.

That is the inspiration of this new outbreak of political fury—the president did not name a single old line stand-pat Republican on the commission, and the G. O. P. leaders are weeping and wailing and gnashing their teeth and having a series of fits over it. They can't even see that by his action the president has recognized the only part of their party that was worth recognizing at all.

But having no legal ground to stand on for their objections, they have hunted around and located another ground, and that other ground is the most amusing proposition the country has had before it for many years. As stated by the Boston Herald, it is that the trade of the country is in danger of being "Wisconsinized" if the men the president nominated are allowed to take office.

It is argued out like this: We don't know all about some of these men, but here is Davies, a Wisconsin man, and Rublee, who was born in Wisconsin, but left there, and has been associated with John C. Spooner. Now if there is another man on the board with the same tendencies as these two, the country would soon find itself tied tight with the restrictions of Wisconsin radicalism, and there's too much danger in it.

Joke? It's the funniest thing ever pulled off. The idea that everybody from Wisconsin is a radical is funny, but the thing becomes a scream when anybody even hints at association with John C. Spooner as a sure sign of radicalism. Nobody but a politician could possibly take such notions as these seriously, and yet we see the Republicans in the senate trying to hold up the whole trade commission with the excuse of just those notions.

It's foolish and disgusting and all that, but at least it serves a purpose: it helps to emphasize the truth of what has been charged all along—that the senate opposition to the president's policies is based on nothing but politics.

In spite of the fact that the big fair has opened, the war continues to get a fair amount of attention.

THE ALLIES' ANNOUNCEMENT.

Indications now are that the present war, besides changing the map of Europe, will change the whole code of international law. There have been from the very outset violations of custom, and there is rarely a week now that does not bring with it some new affair of that kind.

Most interesting of all to this country at present is the announcement of the allies that they propose to stop all traffic with Germany, wherever vessels bound to or from Germany may be found. This is a decided step beyond former custom, which sanctioned only the blockading of the actual ports of an enemy instead of the seizure of commerce anywhere on the seas.

The matter is of interest to us especially because of the possibilities—uncertain, to be sure, but still possibilities—that we might sell food or at least cotton to the German people. Now the allies propose to cut off any such trade that may be attempted by anybody.

How far this move will actually affect commerce it would be hard to say. The limits have been closing tighter and tighter around the carriers of trade ever since the outbreak of the war, and there really has not been possible a great amount of traffic with Germany. So it may be that whatever effect the new policy may have on Euroupean neutrals, it will not be a really serious blow to this country's trade.

But whether the commercial effect be great or small, the fact remains that the announcement of the allies introduces a new and heretofore undreamed of element into the relations between neutrals and belligerents, an element that under other circumstances might prove a serious and provoking menace to neutral trade. Whatever action may grow out of it during the war, it is certain to be the subject of some strong representations and of demands for drastic action among nations when peace shall have been restored.

In view of this announcement by England and France, the seizure of the Dacia is likely to fade into the background. England has succeeded in side-stepping what threatened to be a nasty bit of business, by arranging to have the Dacia taken up by a French vessel. It has been the policy of England—a policy which has played a large part in bringing about her naval development—to regard interned ships of a belligerent as proper subjects of sale to neutrals. It was partly to avoid any such loss of her own vessels, indeed, that she increased her navy as much as she did, in order that there might be ample protection for merchantmen and no need for internment. Therefore she could not reasonably object to the adoption of that policy by other nations.

With France it is different. France never has acceded to the British view either regarding the transfer of registry of ships of even the sale of them. So for France to seize the Dacia, even though France is the ally of England, presents no such embarrassment as for England herself to do it.

There are plenty of questions arising and being noted for future reference. Meanwhile every such act as Germany's threat regarding ships going to Great Britain and the allies' threat regarding ships going to or from Germany, serves only to emphasize to the rest of the world the desperation with which both sides are carrying on the fight.

The reports about the men in the trenches playing cards are aggravating in that they fail to specify the game.

THE PRIMARY LAW.

One of the surprises of the legislative session is the sudden outcropping of opposition to the change of time in the state-wide primary. It had been supposed that was all settled, and that we would go back to the system of voting in September, and letting the candidates keep things before the people while the political pot still boiled. Now it looks as if the whole thing might have to be gone over again before it is finally determined. Which is rather too bad, with so much other business before the legislature.

Maybe time could be saved by digging up the literature on the subject that came out while the bill was in the house. In that case, let them call in the excavators and start the digging. The September primary is preferable. The state has tried both kinds, and prefers the later date.

Congress can turn back the clock, but it took militarism to turn back a whole continent.

A "God of Cannibals"

From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

A "god of the cannibals" in Congo Free State, Africa, for fifteen years, according to his own story, George Grant Washington, 39, a chemist of Elm Grove, near Wheeling, took out a license here to wed Mrs. Anna Fischer. The ceremony was performed in the bride's home, and the couple then left for Baltimore, where they will reside.

Following a delay in procuring a marriage license, the bride having neglected to bring her divorce papers, Washington, a swarthy-skinned man of small stature, regaled the clerks at the marriage license office with a tale of his adventures.

Washington said he was born in Bolobo, Congo Free State, the only son of Charles A. and Helena Washington, who were doing missionary work among the natives. When he was 3 years old he was stolen from his mother by a cannibal tribe known as the "Madguquana." Washington said the cannibals carried him to a distant village, which took several days of traveling through dense forests.

"When I was 8 years old I was made the god of the tribe," said Washington, "and held that position until I was 18. During that time I was treated with the greatest respect and honor. When I went before them, decorated with feathers and paint, the natives would fall down before me and offer up sacrifices of wild animals, as homage to me. At no time was I left unguarded.

"After being a 'god' for fifteen years I was rescued by Dr. W. C. Ferguson, a Methodist missionary of Washington, D. C., who belonged to the same group of missionaries as my parents, and residing in the same town where I had been kidnaped.

"On the day I was rescued word came into camp, by one of the cannibals, that a group of white people was in the vicinity. We immediately went out to meet them. As we came upon them a woman in the crowd refused to flee, but came toward me, I being the leader of the party. She threw her arms about my neck and at that instant my guards killed her.

"That night I was aroused by Dr. Ferguson, who came back to rescue me, having recognized me as the child stolen from Bolobo. After much difficulty we reached Cape Town, South Africa. I was placed in a Catholic missionary college, and after five years I mastered the English language.

"Not until I left the missionary college did I learn that I had been kidnaped, or that the woman who had thrown her arms about my neck was my mother, who had recognized her son. Dr. Ferguson then took me to Cairo, Egypt, where I completed my education. In company with Dr. Ferguson I traveled through the Holy Land and then came to the United States with my rescuer. After visiting several of the important cities here I settled in Wheeling. During my education in Cape Town I took up the study of chemistry and have followed that ever since."

Cubes of Truth and Spheres of Falsehood

Oliver Wendell Holmes: When we are as yet small children, long before the time when those two grown ladies offer us the choice of Hercules, there comes to us a youthful angel holding in his right hand cubes like ice, and in his left spheres like marbles. The cubes are of stainless ivory and on each is written in letters of gold—TRUTH. The spheres are veined and streaked and spotted beneath, with a dark crimson flush above, where the light falls on them, and in a certain aspect you can make out upon every one of them the three letters—L I E.

The child to whom they are offered very probably clutches at both. The spheres are the most convenient things in the world; they roll with the least possible impulse just where the child would have them.

The cubes will not roll at all; they have a great talent for standing still, and always keep right side up.

But very soon the young philosopher finds that things which roll so easily are very apt to roll into the wrong corner, and to get out of his way when he most wants them, while he always knows where to find the others, which stay where they are left. Thus he learns—thus we learn—to drop the streaked and speckled globes of falsehood and to hold fast the white angular blocks of truth. But then comes Timidity, and after her Good Nature, and last of all Polite Behavior, all insisting that truth must roll or nobody can do anything with it; and so the first with her coarse rasp, and the second with her broad file, and the third with her silken sleeve, do so round off and smooth and polish the snow-white cubes of truth that when they have got a little dingy by use it becomes hard to tell them from the rolling spheres of falsehood.

Asked for It.

Washington Post: Raging and half-mad with toothache, Biggs rushed to the dentist.

Bearing untold agony, he tried to fix his attention upon the old magazines provided at the establishment of tooth luggers, until, just on the last lap of endurance, he sank into the operating chair.

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the dentist, as he surveyed the massive jaw of Biggs. "Had any advice about these teeth before?"

"Yes," gurgled Biggs. "Went to the chemist last night."

The dentist sniffed.

"What idiotic thing did he tell you to do?" he demanded.

"To come to you!" murmured poor Biggs.

City Streets.

They took a little gravel,
And they took a little tar,
With various ingredients
Imported from afar.
They hammered it and rolled it,
And when they went away,
They said they had a pavement
That would last many a day.
But they came with picks and smote it,
To lay a water main;
And in time they called the workmen
To put it back again.
To run a railway cable
They took it up once more;
And, later put it back again,
Just where it was before.
They took it up for conduits
To run the telephone;
And then they put it back again,
As hard as any stone.
They took it up for wires
To feed the 'lectric light,
And then they put it back again,
Which was no more than right.
Oh, the pavement's full of furrows;
There are patches everywhere;
You'd like to ride upon it,
But it's seldom that you dare.
It's a very handsome pavement,
A credit to the town;
They're always digging of it up,
Or putting of it down.

The Pure Ballot

By Sargvard.

Washington, March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is just one way to put an end to "bossism" in American politics and that is the pure ballot. When Tweed was master of New York in 1868 he had a subservient administration at Albany and he was supreme in New York city. He issued the order, before election, that Seymour's plurality over Grant in the state must be 10,000. His henchmen took the boss literally and Seymour's vote in the Empire state was precisely 10,000 greater than Grant's. In effect there was but one citizen of the greatest state in the nation in 1868 so far as national politics were concerned.

Well, there has been a heap of that sort of thing in our country, in every section of our country, the past half century. An unfair count is a more insidious evil than a bought majority and a more serious menace to free institutions. Both sides can buy votes, and the harm of it may thus be measurably neutralized; but both sides cannot do the counting, and thus it is imperative, if free institutions founded on the ballot are to be conserved, that the count shall be fair. The only way to secure a fair count is to select honest, high-minded, upright officials having the confidence of their fellow citizens to conduct and be responsible for the elections.

Take the case of the Goebel election law of Kentucky, which raised a rebellion in the Democratic party. It was not so bad, if honestly administered. True, the dominant party had a majority of every election board, state and county, but that was not a fatal fault if the boards were composed of honest men—men who would refuse to steal a vote as they would scorn to pick a pocket. And it turned out that the men chosen to compose the majority of the state board, the rankest Democrats you ever heard of, had some pride in the character they had made as men of honor and men of honesty, and the election was not stolen. It would have been all right and old Kentucky would have escaped foul calamity if assassins had not come on the scene to occupy the center of the stage and employ the rifle to do the office of the ballot. But old Kentucky has recovered from that affliction and she will have none more of it forever.

I believe that in the sister state of Tennessee they have an election law patterned after the Goebel law. It is notorious that in Tennessee there is one county where negroes are imported from Mississippi and from Arkansas to swell the "majorities" the Democratic bosses deem it necessary to "count" in that community. No state can get along with that sort of system. A boss like Tweed will arise and be "every man himself," and without his consent nobody can be chosen to office, state or Federal, great or small. It is none of my business, but I am sure that I have a large constituency in Tennessee, more numerous than I have in any other state, and I hope that the legislature of that state will choose men of the highest character and incorruptible in every particular to administer the election law of the state. If the fount be corrupted, the stream necessarily must be foul.

The fanaticism of religion is the most odious to the liberal mind in the world. Through it, or by it, men hate their fellows for the love of God. Political fanaticism is not quite so bad, but it is next thing to it. The best men in the world have not only winked at, but aided, in the corruption of the ballot. There is an error that has plagued mankind since the murder of Amasa—that it is acceptable to God to do evil that good may come of it.

Louis XIV was a very religious man in his later life. He had been brought to piety by "Scarron's widow," and Saint Simon tells us that she had made him to hate the sect known as Jansenists. There is a very interesting anecdote connected with the story that I shall not plague you with, but the burden of it is that this pious, hoary old scoundrel of a devotee, master of the greatest nation of the world, preferred an atheist to a Jansenist for great place.

We have that sort of folks in our country now. In Ohio many a Methodist class leader honestly thinks he is serving God and promoting patriotism by opening his purse to the political boss who uses the boodle to corrupt the electorate of Adams county. It is perfectly natural if the Republican machine of Edgar county, Ill., makes alliance with the Democratic machine of Vigo county, Ind., to elect Joseph G. Cannon to congress for the twentieth time. The Edgar county machine is labeled "Republican" by the accident of politics, and the Vigo county machine is called "Democratic" because Democracy is fashionable in that bailiwick.

So, as Lady Teazle remarked, let us leave the honor of the thing out of account. Some of the best men in our country have morally tolerated and materially assisted in the corruption of the electorate, but it was in times of great political excitement. They believed they were rendering their country patriotic service and they were to be excused from the error.

But calm reflection must convince all people capable of serious reflection that dishonest election is the most odious despotism. It is worse than a bribed jury, for it affects the entire community, while the jury sits to adjudge between individuals only. It is as true as it is trite to say that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

As for the negro vote—that no longer alarms or threatens the South. The Republican party by its recent order curtailing the power of the South in national conventions not only condones but indorses Southern nullification of the Fifteenth amendment. Therefore the whites rule the South. Let their elections be honest.

There is no escape from a bossism that is as bad as negro rule, other than an honest election. I do hope the Tennessee legislature will choose election commissioners who have the confidence of all the honest men of both parties in that state.

There is no other way out of the woods. It is absolutely essential to free government in any and all of the states of our Union.

Concentration.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: An editor of the Ohio State Journal went to see a vaudeville performer who does a dozen or more interesting stunts in an almost perfect way. Then he returned, the editor returned, to his sanctum and wrote an excellent little sermon for the young on the beauties of concentration.

This recalls the story of a Chicago lady who told Author Arnold Bennett that his famous chapter on "Concentration" had greatly aided her.

"Why," she said, "I never knew what it was to concentrate before."

The author was interested.

"And on what have you concentrated, madam?" he asked.

"Oh, on lots and lots of things," she replied.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Senator Henry French Hollis of New Hampshire was about to try one of his first lawsuits his father happened to be a witness for the opposing side.

"I'm very sorry, my son," remarked the elder Hollis at breakfast that morning, "but it will be impossible for you to win in the face of my testimony."

"Oh, I'll win all right," answered the future senator, and he said it with an unconcern that provoked his father.

"I tell you you won't win!" repeated the parent. "Nobody could win after what I testify to."

"Well, I don't know what your testimony is going to be or whether you'll testify at all or not," observed the young lawyer, "but I'll win. Just watch me."

By that time the father was completely exasperated with the son's assurance. He was anxious to see him lose the case just to show him.

Young Hollis got to thinking about the case and decided that it would be best not to permit his father to testify because his evidence might be just as vital as he had asserted. The question was how to keep him from testifying. On his way to the courtroom he thought of a little scheme.

After seating himself at the trial table he leaned over and asked of the opposing counsel:

"Is father going to testify for your side?"

"Yes," replied the other lawyer.

Hollis made no comment, but he assumed a satisfied, wise little expression of countenance, as if he knew something good that nobody else knew.

The other lawyer noted this and decided that the two Hollises—father and son—must have fixed up something between them. So he did not call Hollis, Sr., to the witness stand, and Hollis, Jr., won his case.

One of the tales that Speaker Clark likes to tell is about the Missouri farm agent who was trying to sell a piece of land along the river. The river had an annoying habit of overflowing the land every spring, and this made it necessary to sell to somebody from out of the neighborhood. As the agent was showing a possible customer over the place and telling him of the great fertility of the soil, the prospect noticed the muddy high-water mark at a height of about two feet on the trunks of the trees.

"Is this place ever under water?" inquired the victim.

"No, indeed. I've been around here for—let me see—seventeen years next July, and it hasn't ever overflowed yet."

"Then what causes those muddy ridges along the trees?"

"Oh, those ridges. Why, the man who used to be on here had some hogs, and he didn't keep them as clean as he should have. They contracted some kind of skin disorder that caused them to scratch a good deal and those marks are where they rubbed the mud off their backs as they scratched themselves against the trees."

A few moments later they had walked to a still lower level of the land and there the high-water mark was about eleven feet high on the trunks of the trees.

"I don't believe I want your land," said the prospective customer, "but I'll give you $1,000 for a pair of those big hogs that rubbed the mud on that tree yonder."

Praise From Caesar

Chicago Journal: Sir Edward H. Holden, chairman of the London City & Midland bank, recently made a speech to his shareholders which the London Statist thought worthy to print as a supplement to its regular issue. For the most part, the speech deals with Germany's financial mobilization for the war and England's counter moves, but Sir Edward's side remarks about American finance are interesting.

He considers the new regional banking system one of the greatest assets the finance and commerce of this country possess. He points out that, owing chiefly to this system, American foreign trade is being financed without any serious dislocation, in spite of the terrific strain of war. And then he pays this tribute to American ability in finance:

> There is no body of financiers in the world who can so rapidly extricate themselves from a position of difficulty as the American bankers.

Praise from Caesar is praise indeed. The ability and—save for a disreputable fringe of both high and low finance—the high character of American bankers are well known. The Federal reserve act has given these qualities a chance to show themselves.

That one measure is enough to mark the Wilson administration as greater in constructive reform than any other since the Civil war.

The Unsentimental Inventor.

Toledo Blade: "A machine for beating carpets has been invented." This is not an advertisement. It is a news item, a typographical sigh, a soft-pedal requiem to old-fashioned spring. It marks the passing of the season when the housewife ruled with a magic wand made of a combination of wooden stick, broomcorn and wire—when John beat the carpet for love of Mary. It was his way of publishing to the world the fact that the old fire still burned.

This is the scene that is to pass. No more will facetious men stop to ask perspiring, dust-clouded John if he is beating the carpet. And never again can he come back with the good-natured reply that he is not beating the carpet, but is sitting on a moonbeam, reading Lalla Rookh—and wasn't Tommy Moore the sweet singer?

One trouble with the inventor is that he is too aggressive at times. He goes blunderingly ahead, trampling down tradition, destroying institutions, and leaving nothing by which the present may be linked with the past. He has no sentiments.

Here's a Tangle.

Louisville Times: How easy it is to mix up the average business man was demonstrated the other day when the son of a local merchant leaned against his father's knee and innocently asked:

"Daddy, is today tomorrow?"

"No, my son, of course today isn't tomorrow," answered the father.

"But you said it was," continued the son.

"When did I ever say today was tomorrow?"

"Yesterday," answered the son.

"Well, it was; today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but is yesterday today, and tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play."

"But they didn't say anything about a 6-cent loaf," he protested.

The County Option Law

What the State Press Thinks of Recent Legislative Action.

Dry Anyway.

Bemidji Pioneer: County option has passed the house. We should worry.

Fight Would Be Futile.

Virginia Enterprise: The result of the county option vote in the Minnesota legislature emphasizes nothing so emphatically as it does the rapidity with which the anti-liquor sentiment is growing the country over. The liquor interests are not without conservative and long-headed men in their inner councils. How badly they misjudged the trend of the times as affecting their traffic is indicated by their frequent predictions that county option was at least four years distant in Minnesota. However, the evil that they greatly feared has come upon them. It will be some time in the estimation of this newspaper before option will be indorsed by the people. Eventually, unless some measure more appealing and more direct with a promise of accomplishing more is submitted, it will triumph here. There is but one thing for the liquor interests to do to delay the finale here. It is to obey the letter of the law, to clean up their business as much as they can clean it up, and so maintain the tolerance that the large democratic element in this section exercises toward them. In so doing they may preserve the license system of selling liquor here longer than in most sections of the state. Further abuse of the privileges they now have here will certainly react. Whether or not they will be able to see also that it is no use to further fight the inevitable in this state remains to be seen. They will probably fight, however. That has been their course in the past in the face of similar conditions. That means simply that they have one more battle to lose.

And There You Are.

Red Wing Eagle: The county option law is apt to drive the revenue-producing liquor traffic from the country into the larger cities. As an offset woman suffrage may be expected to be given a boost which will put the women in position to drive the traffic and its resultant revenues out of the larger cities. And there you are.

Opposed But Indorses.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Minnesota legislature has passed up to the governor a county option bill. It speaks well for the house members that a majority stood up against the pressure of the brewery interests. The Journal-Press has stated many times that it was unable to see the logic in making the county the unit for the test of the saloon question, and it is opposed to the theory of home rule of cities and villages. There is no more reason for making the county the unit than there would be in making a judicial or congressional district. Under this law it seems certain that a large majority of the counties in the state will vote out the saloons. There will probably be an era of blind-pigs, but the vigorous enforcement of the law will soon bring about a much better condition, and money which is now spent in the saloons in the dry counties will be spent with the merchants and dealers generally, and there will be a big increase in the savings deposits of the banks. If county option proves a success, it will be only a short time when Minnesota will be a prohibition state.

One Good Effect.

Breckenridge Gazette: The enactment of a county option law by the legislature will have at least one good effect—it will remove from Minnesota politics an issue that has allowed more narrow-minded and dishonest cranks to creep into office than anything that has been before the voters since the state was organized. And that is going some.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlin, the Sunshine Man.

Do not be discouraged at life's difficulties. Through God's encouragement and help enough of them, if not all, may be overcome that you may achieve great success.

Do not make up your mind too soon when seeking to solve some hard problem. Take time to consider every phase of it before making a final decision. Time thus spent is well spent.—"W. W."

Do not fail to give God praise for whatever blessings and successes you have. You would have failed miserably if he had not helped you more times and in more ways than you can count.—"Friend."

When the days are dark and dreary
And the heart is sad and weary,
Look to him, keep sweet and cheery,
Do your best.

Be the duties great or small,
Though you falter, often fall,
He will hear when'er you call,
Do your best.

Give a loving word of cheer,
Bear your burdens, never fear,
He will strengthen, He is near,
Do your best.

Look to Him in all you do
For some work He's planned for you,
And be faithful, loyal, true,
Do your best.

A Wilderness of Words.

Philadelphia Inquirer: And now comes along Boston, of all places in the world, to say that we have too many words. An educator has been making an investigation into the matter of spelling in the public schools and he comes to the conclusion that the children are not as proficient in that branch of their work as they should be. He says that the total number of words used by eighth grade pupils in their written work is about 2,100, and that the spelling books contain about 10,000 words. As a result of this a spelling book is to be compiled which is to contain words "more nearly suitable to the pupil."

It appears that the words which have given the youthful highbrows of Boston the most trouble are "their," "separate" and "there." If it is any consolation it may be said that these innocent words have given some older persons trouble, too. However, the purpose at the Hub seems to be to supply the children with fewer and better words. Whether this is good or desirable cannot be determined offhand. A large vocabulary is usually regarded as a mark of culture, although it must be said that the important thing is to write and talk in the way that can be best understood. In short, as has been said, get 100 per cent out of your words. Do that and it makes no difference whether you use a few or many words.

Taxes and Tax Collection.

Washington Star: Suggestions of new forms of tax are not regarded with as much interest as would attach to some reliable methods for full collection of the old varieties.

Wet Ledgers in Maine.

Portland Argus: What is probably the "last word" in schemes for smuggling into the city through the embargo that is being quietly maintained by the deputies of Sheriff Pennell's staff was brought to light yesterday when the liquor deputies discovered a copper tank with a capacity of about two gallons in the oven of a stove in a shop at 81 Center street. The tank, which in all probability had been used for the transportation of contraband booze, was of the exact size and form of a book such as is generally used for ledger accounts by business concerns. A person with this tank done up in paper under his arm would easily pass for a bookkeeper taking home his ledger to fix up his accounts. With the tank was found a syphon of the latest type with a long hose attached. Bottles can be filled from the tank by attaching this arrangement to the nozzle with a specially adjusted stopper. No liquor was found about the shop, but in the cellar a case of about three dozen pints was found concealed in a small hand cart such as is used by ice cream venders and very much on the type of the so-called hokey-pokey carts.

Quite a Surprise.

Philadelphia Ledger: A builder's man was seen walking with his right arm raised above his head and slightly bent, as if carrying an object of some weight.

"What the dickens are you walking like that for?" asked the puzzled foreman.

"Can't I walk blooming well as I like?" replied the man.

"Yes, perhaps you may; but what about the chap behind?"

Turning, the workman saw his mate standing two yards in the rear holding his arm in precisely the same way.

"Well, I'm blowed, Bill," he said, after a moment's reflection, "we've left the blooming ladder behind!"

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MILITARY SERVICE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to have you give me some information through your Open Court.

Can you give me the address of manufacturers of dry cleaning machines, also can you please settle this argument: H. says if the United States declares war on Germany, the United States cannot force men to go there to fight, cannot draft them; but if Germany (or any country) comes here to fight, and if men are needed, can draft them.

L. says if this country declares war on Germany or any country, and if there are not enough volunteers, men will be drafted and will have to go.

Thanking you in advance, yours truly,

R. R. R.

Thompson, Mich., Feb. 28.

The Herald cannot give addresses of business firms in the Open Court column. You might ask some firm of dry cleaners.

The United States has no compulsory military service law, and men cannot be forced to serve unless they are already members of the army or militia. If the need became great enough, congress might pass such a law.—The Editor.

REGARDING A MINE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Can you give me any information regarding a mine located in the Black Hills in South Dakota, incorporated under the state laws of Michigan in 1880 by the name of Gold Star Mining company.

Can you inform me in any way if this mine is still running and under what name, and if so, in what city is the main office. Please answer in the Open Court.

Yours truly,

GUST KINDSTRAND.

Duluth, March 1.

The only Gold Star Mining company we have been able to find any record of is in Washington. Its mine is at Index, Wash. The company you refer to is probably no longer active. —The Editor.

RUNE STONES.

Can you give me any information in regard to the rune stone found in Ottertail county some years ago? Was it proved authentic, and where is it located at present. Very truly,

E. H. JERRARD.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 28.

The rune stone to which the above inquirer refers was not proved to be authentic, although some authorities were inclined to regard it as authentic. The Herald has no information as to its present location—The Editor.

BASKET BALL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Could you please tell me the score of the last game between the Fond du Lac and Oswego basket ball teams?

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"The Cremation of Sam McGee," from "A Blue Nose."

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew," from T. A. Crothy of Virginia.

"Where the Silvery Colorado Wends Its Way," from Agnes Hunt of Winegar, Wis.

"The Preacher and the Bear," from Miss Hattie McKay of Kelsey.

Requests have been received for: "The Lighthouse," from Agnes Hunt of Winegar, Wis.

The Preacher and the Bear.

A preacher went out a hunting; 'twas on one Sunday morn.
It was against his religion, but he took his gun along.
He shot himself some very fine quail and one big Belgian hare,
And on his way returning he met a great big bear.
The bear marched out in the middle of the road and he waltzed to the coon you see;
The coon got so excited that he climbed a persimmon tree.
The bear sat down upon the ground, and the coon climbed out on a limb;
He cast his eyes to the God in the skies, and these words he said to Him:

Chorus.

"Oh, Lord, didn't you deliver Daniel from the lions' den?
Also delivered Jonah from the belly of the whale, and then
Three Hebrew children from the fiery furnace, so the good books do declare;
Now, Lord, if you can't help me, for goodness sake don't you help that bear."

This coon stayed up in the tree, I think it was all night.
He says, "Oh, Lord, if you don't help that bear, then you'll see one awful fight."
Just about then the limb let go and the coon came tumbling down—
You should have seen him get his razor out before he struck the ground.
He hit the ground, cutting right and left; he put up a very game fight.
Just then the bear hugged this coon; he squeezed him a little too tight.
The coon he then lost his razor, but the bear held on with a vim;
He cast his eyes to the God in the skies, and once more he said to Him:

Chorus.

COUNTY OPTION BILL NOW LAW

Governor Hammond Calls Peterson Law Fair One and Signs It.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—Governor Winfield S. Hammond affixed his signature to the Peterson county option measure late yesterday and it is now a Minnesota law.

The executive attached his name without any ceremony and handed the pen to Charles M. Andrist, his secretary, who had asked for it. The pen was a plain one of the office stock.

Governor Hammond made a brief statement after giving his approval to the act.

"I read the bill over," he said, "and it looked like a very fair bill to me.

"Some question has been raised as to how one or two provisions of the law may work out. In dry counties it prohibits the sale or storage of liquor and the question arises whether one, by keeping liquor in his own house for his own use, would be violating the law.

"But elsewhere it says that the law is to be construed liberally, so I assume it will be construed not to have any such meaning.

"The election features of the law seem fair and well drawn. A difficulty might arise in some districts in finding representatives of both factions to act as election judges as the law provides, but the provision is a fair one, nevertheless."

The law went into effect immediately when the governor signed it. It was deposited with the secretary of state at once.

DISSOLUTION OF DISTRICT FOUGHT

County Board of Education Will Hear Complaints on Friday.

A squabble over the proposal of dissolving a school district will be aired before a meeting of the county board of education, Friday, March 5. At the last meeting of the board a majority of the freeholders of School District No. 41, near Cook, presented a petition for dissolution of the district, but owing to opposition which developed from a large minority to any change in the school district, the petition was laid over for future consideration.

School District, No. 57, located a few miles South of Aurora and consisting of one township, was dissolved at the February meeting of the county commissioners after having been under consideration since the November meeting of the county board of education when it was ratified by the education board members and the county school superintendent.

In the territory embraced by the old district, there are at present four teachers, two one-room buildings, one one-room building and 159 pupils.

NO INTERFERENCE.

Working Girls to Have Same Liberty With Costumes as Society Dames.

Chicago, March 2.—Society women riding horseback on Lake Shore drive wear costumes to make the most hardened blush, Mayor Harrison said yesterday, in refusing to permit interference with the conduct of Saturday night dances among working girls.

A self-appointed committee had visited some dances Saturday night and reported to the mayor that they had seen shocking sights. A party of girls at a masquerade, dressed in baseball suits, had been complained of in particular.

"At some of the balls in society I have seen costumes worse than those worn in the worst of the so-called dance halls," said the mayor.

Bank Robbers Get $1,500.

Williamsville, Mo., March 2.—The president, cashier and three directors, one of them a woman, of the Williamsville State bank, were locked in the bank vault yesterday afternoon by two masked robbers, who escaped with loot of about $1,500. A posse is pursuing the robbers.

Restorative Treatment for Nervous Men

Coming from a source of unquestioned authority on the ailments of men it is presumed to be infallible, while the profession generally indorse the ingredients and prescribe them in many different forms of various diseases. The following formula is highly efficient in quickly restoring in nervous exhaustion, melancholia, anxiety, timidity in venturing, dizziness, heart palpitation, trembling limbs, insomnia, thinness, cold extremities, tired-all-in feeling and general inability to do those natural and rational acts upon which depend a man's success and happiness in social and everyday life.

The instructions for obtaining in three-grain tablets are simple, as a physician's prescription is no longer necessary, because the tablets do not contain any opiates or habit-forming drugs. Just ask for three-grain cadomene tablets, in sealed tubes, with full directions for home use. Astounding nervous force and equilibrium follow the treatment, no matter how serious the case, and the joy of a healthy body and strong nerves is soon experienced.—Advertisement.

GERMAN LOSS ENORMOUS

Number of Killed Was Greatest Early in War, Says Officer.

Canadian Troops Being Drilled for the Spring Campaign.

"I find it impossible to conceive of the German losses during the early part of the war and in the retreat from Mons," writes Lieut. Allen D. Connor of the First Canadian division, British Expeditionary force, in a letter received yesterday by his brother, Dr. F. H. Connor of Duluth.

"It isn't so bad now," the letter says "but when the Germans were fighting the hardest earlier in the war, the losses were simply enormous. You or I have no idea how enormous they were."

Lieut. Connor, when he wrote the letter, was en route to St. Nazaire on the west coast of France, with a shipload of supplies and ammunition for the use of the Canadian troops.

He is amember of the first Canadian contingent, consisting of 33,000 men, who sailed for Europe last fall and who have been drilling on Salisbury Plains since that time, getting whipped into shape for the spring campaign.

The letter was written while the transport was in the Bay of Biscay. Lieut. Connor said that after leaving West Downs, Salisbury Plains, his consignment was shipped to Amesbury and thence to Avonsmouth (Bristol), where he boarded the transport.

Judging from the letter, a large force of British troops is being assembled in France, most of them graduates of the short-term training school on Salisbury Plains inaugurated by Lord Kitchener. It is planned to use these men, including many of the Canadians about May 1, when "the war begins."

The letter carried no postage, as none was available. It was stamped by the field postmaster and passed through the hands of Censor No. 2399, as a large red stamp testified.

TOO MUCH HOME TALENT IS BAD

Local Teachers Not Always in Interest of School System.

Washington, March 2.—A city may easily have too much "home talent" in its teaching force, as a result of preference for graduates of its own teacher-training school, according to Dr. Frank A. Manny, of Baltimore, in a bulletin on "City Training Schools," just issued by the United States bureau of education.

"No greater misfortune can come to any school system than to have a steady inbreeding of home talent," declares Dr. Manny. "The board of education should insist upon the selection of at least one-third of the new teachers each year from outside the city limits. The preference in appointment for local graduates is not always in the interest of the school system. To say that a teacher must suffer the penalty of being accounted less worthy because she has graduated from some other training school than the one in the city where application is made for a position is to strangle healthy competition among teachers. Inbreeding is today the blight of a great many school systems in this country."

The city of Spokane, Wash., closed its city-training school for teachers some years ago, Dr. Manny declares, mainly for the reason that "the school authorities were embarrassed by the necessity of selecting as teachers those trained in the local institution, even though they were inferior to others."

Some of the cities that have training schools for teachers have endeavored to meet the inbreeding problem by limiting the number of teachers to be selected from the local training schools. Thus Pittsburg, in opening such a school, made a rule that not more than 60 per cent of the city teachers could be drawn from this school. Indianapolis has for years limited the number of teachers trained in its own school to not more than four-fifths of the need. In Burlington, Iowa, every fourth teacher must come from outside the city. Newark, N. J., places the proportion of experienced teachers from outside sources at from one-fourth to one-third. Harrisburg, Pa., secures half its teachers from elsewhere.

Reports from forty-three cities show, according to Dr. Manny, that "Baltimore, Md., and Paterson, N. J., have the smallest proportion of teachers from outside sources, while Newark, N. J.; Cleveland, Ohio; Rochester, N. Y.; Birmingham, Ala., and Omaha, Neb., have the largest percentage of teachers trained elsewhere."

Trials Postponed.

Pikeville, Ky., March 2.—The trials of the men charged with buying and selling votes at the last October election were indefinitely postponed by the circuit court here yesterday.

HERE IS PROOF THAT RESINOL STOPS ITCHING

The best evidence of what the Resinol treatment will do for YOUR tortured skin is what it has done for others. Here is a man whose WHOLE BODY was covered with tormenting eczema. When HE says that Resinol stops itching immediately, he knows what he is talking about. Just read his simple, straightforward letter:

"My entire body, even my eyelids, was completely covered with blisters. The burning and itching were something terrible, and I COULD NOT SLEEP nor rest. I think I had one of the worst cases of eczema a human being ever had.

"I used eight different kinds of remedies without success. I then tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it stopped the itching IMMEDIATELY. I gradually noticed a change for the better. Now I am entirely cured."—(Signed) Edward F. McCullough, 249 River St., Boston, Mass., Aug. 11, 1914.

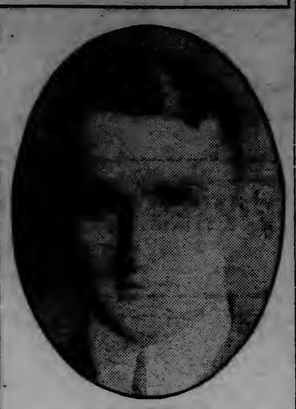
Now ask yourself this question: "If Resinol could heal THIS man's skin, will it not also heal mine?" You can get Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap at ANY drug store, or for free trial, write to Dept. 10-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

CHURCH BECOMES MANAGER OF NORTHERN SHOE COMPANY

Interest in local wholesale circles has been aroused in the announcement yesterday afternoon of the appointment of Frank E. Church as general manager of the Northern Shoe company in succession to L. D. Stickles who has severed his connection with the business.

Mr. Church's rise in the local shoe company's service has been rapid, and bears tribute to his recognized ability. He became connected with its credit department in 1907, coming over from F. A. Patrick, where he had been engaged in a similar capacity. He was shortly afterwards appointed sales manager and three years ago he was also elected secretary and assistant treasurer of the company, serving in both capacities up to the present, and he now comes in for further promotion. He will continue to serve as secretary and treasurer of the company.

The late manager of the company, Mr. Stickles had been connected with it since its inception and directed its course successfully through the early difficulties inseparable with the establishing of a new business. Mr. Stickles is understood to have a number of business propositions under consideration, but he is not yet in position to make any definite announcement regarding his plans.



F. E. CHURCH.

WARMEST FEBRUARY SINCE 1882 HAS JUST ENDED

Sighs of relief were breathed by coal men yesterday, when the calendar read March 1 and the month of February, the warmest at the Head of the Lakes since 1882, was over. The only warmer Februaries since records have been kept were in 1877, 1878 and 1882.

When the mercury dropped to 1 deg. below zero early on the last day of the month, the low record for the twenty-eight days was established, according to H. W. Richardson, local weather forecaster. The only cold days during the month were the 1st, 9th, 26th and 27th.

Forecaster Richardson gives information on the thickness of lake ice interesting to the citizen who refused to go out to the auto races Sunday. The harbor ice average 7 inches thicker than usual and on March 1 it was 12 inches thicker than a year ago; in the lake the ice was 17 inches thick, and the solid field extended beyond vision, while on March 1, 1914, the outside solid field extended but from one to three miles. Seventeen inches of ice will hold the city, says Mr. Richardson, for the benefit of those who refused to go to the races last Sunday. The weather bureau's monthly report removes one more doubt from the minds of weather prophets who were worrying about the ground hog. Ground Hog day, Feb. 2, was officially cloudy, so he didn't see his shadow. There were but seven clear days during the entire month. Precipitation was somewhat above the average, although the snow record was slightly less than normal.

DIVISION BILL 'UN-AMERICAN'

Council Takes Official Action Against Legislative Measure.

Employment Agency Ordinance Amended; Lighting Program Approved.

Officially opposing the county division bill now before the state legislature, amending the employment agency ordinance, so that offices may continue on Michigan street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, and approving the new lighting program of Commissioner Merritt, who will substitute arc and incandescent lamps for all the gas lamps in the city, saving the municipality $636 a year by the change, and the calling of the spring election for April 6, were some of the more important matters acted on by the city council at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

In a resolution introduced by Mayor Prince, the commission declares that there is no public demand for a division of St. Louis county, that the bill now in the state legislature is unjust and un-American, because of the provision that a petition signed by residents of the county can bring about the division. There should, at least, be a vote of all the people in the county, before any change is made, the resolution states. The resolution was passed and it will be forwarded immediately to the members of the St. Louis county delegation in the legislature.

Employment Ordinance.

Mayor Prince's ordinance amending the employment agency ordinance, so that offices may continue on Michigan street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, was passed unanimously. The amendment was passed several weeks ago at the request of every property owner along Michigan and Superior street, between the two blocks in the vicinity of the railroad stations. The original ordinance prohibiting agencies in that one block being in Fifth and Sixth avenues was passed last April and was to have gone into effect on April 1 of this year.

The council adopted Commissioner Merritt's resolution ordering the installation of twenty arc lights and eighty-four incandescent lights in place of the 158 gas lamps now in use. Because of the new electric light rate of 6 cents per kilowatt-hour, Commissioner Merritt expects to save $636 annually in making this change. Recently Commissioner Merritt gave the Weisbach company an opportunity to reduce its present rate of $1.10 to 88 cents a month, to compete with the Edison rates, but the company refused.

Election Called for April 6.

Mayor Prince introduced a resolution formally calling the election for Tuesday, April 6, accepting the ballots prepared by the city clerk and ordering the two charter amendments placed on an additional ballot, as provided for by the state election laws. City Clerk Palmer was also instructed to prepare at once for the election and to notify the judges and clerks of their selection. There will be two registration days, one on next Tuesday and the second the following Saturday, March 13.

City Attorney Clapp was instructed to settle with Thomas Foubister, 5620 Grand avenue, for $125, and N. F. Nelson, 5626 Grand avenue, for $25, in payment for their claims for damages resulting from defective sewer pipes running under their buildings.

The contract for furnishing the city with fifty tons of pig lead was awarded to the Crane-Ordway company on its bid of $4,087.50.

Second reading was given the sign ordinance and the one ordering the purchase of $700 worth of sandstone blocks to be used in repair work during the coming summer. Commissioner Merritt introduced an ordinance appropriating $143 from the public utility fund in payment for the printing of the annual report, the contract for which was awarded during the meeting yesterday to the Merritt & Hector company on its lowest bid of $143.

Miner Matters Settled.

Assessments for the installation of gas and water pipes in Glendale street and East Eighth street and for the sprinkling of streets during 1914 were affirmed by the commissioners.

On a motion of Commissioner Murchison, Seventh alley, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues east, was ordered vacated. A petition for this vacation was recently presented to the council.

The bids on furnishing the city with a combination motor sprinkler and flusher were rejected on a motion of Commissioner Murchison.

Fifth street, from Twelfth to Thirteenth avenues east, and Fifth alley, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth avenues east, were ordered graded and improved. The work will be done by day labor, the expense to be taken from the permanent improvement fund.

Liquor licenses, on motion of Commissioner Hicken, were granted the following: Andrew Miller, 1119 West Michigan street; Albin Ilenda, 411½ West Michigan street; H. C. Ribenack, 605 West Superior street; N. S. Mitchell, 408 West Superior street, this being a transfer of Mitchell & Rennel, same location, and H. B. Weinstein, 216 Lake avenue south.

J. E. Coll was granted permission to hold an auction sale at 418 West Superior street.

FIVE INDICTED FOR SHIPPING FRAUDS

Hamburg - American Line Also Included in Jury's Charges.

New York, March 2.—The Hamburg-American line and five men, one of whom formerly held high offices under the German government, were indicted by the Federal grand jury yesterday on charges of having conspired to defraud the United States government.

The alleged fraud, it was charged, was accomplished through false statements, false clearances of vessels from American ports and false manifests of cargo in the intention of having the vessels proceed to places other than those mentioned in the clearance papers and there deliver supplies to ships belonging to a foreign government.

Two indictments were returned, each of which names as defendants the Hamburg-American line and the five individuals. The latter are Carl Buenz, George Kotter, Felix Seffner, J. Papiphikaus, otherwise known as Walter Poppenhouse, and Adolph Hachmeister.

Buenz is director in charge of the New York office of the Hamburg-American line and is former German consul-general at New York. Konzer is local superintendent of the Hamburg-American line. Seffner is supercargo of the American steamship Lorenzo, which was surprised and captured by a British cruiser while coaling the German cruiser Karlsruhe. Papiphikaus is supercargo of the American steamer Berwind, which cleared for Buenos Aires, but arrived at Rio Janeiro two weeks overdue.

The indictments state also that the alleged conspiracy included other persons unknown to the grand jury. All five of the individuals will be arraigned in the United States district court tomorrow.

The fifth indictment charges the defendants with conspiracy to "defraud the United States in and by causing collectors of customs by means of false statements, to make, record and transmit untrue and inaccurate records." The second charges "conspiracy to defraud the United States in and by obtaining clearance papers by means of false manifests."

Mr. Buenz, named in the indictment, became German consul at Chicago in 1892, after being consul at Port Au Prince, Haiti. Seven years later he was appointed German consul-general at New York, which post he held for about ten years. Then he became German minister to Mexico and later served at Constantinople as German representative on the board of administration of the Turkish national debt. He became American representative of the Hamburg-American line in 1912.

Special services were held at the local synagogue on Saturday evening, while Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits conducted a Purim service last Friday night.

On Sunday afternoon the children of the Temple Emanuel Sunday school entertained at a fancy dress party.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF--25 CENT DANDERINE

Ladies! Men! Here's the Quickest, Surest Dandruff Cure Known.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight — now — anytime — will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

COLDS, HEADACHES, SOUR STOMACH? REGULATE YOUR BOWELS--10 CENTS

You men and women who get a cold easily—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy stomach.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely dosing yourself every few days with salts, pills, castor oil and other harsh irritants? Cascarets immediately cleanse and sweeten the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel bully for months. Don't forget the children.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

MANAGER JACOBI'S announcement of the hockey contest between the curling club septet and the Western university team is one eloquent of savory anticipation.

A team that won the round on the fast-going Cleveland team is some team, as hockey teams are accounted in this section of the country. Cleveland has literally swept the boards this year. Its deadliest knockers could cast no diatribes against the Sixth City team. But on its home ice the aggregation of players that is to meet the Linderites this week outplayed the speedy team that Coddy Winters is playing with.

Duluth sure has a great team in its present aggregation. The injury to Russ Barkell worked a loss in smoothness of play and removed one of the cogs of the machine. This is not to be taken so much against the playing ability of Jack Barkell, as it means that a man who has been drilled into the machine-like play has given way to a player who has small opportunity to work in with the play of his mates.

In meeting the Western university seven Duluth will be oposed to a team that is made up of stars culled from the fastest kind of competition. The games of the present week should be about the best of the season—and, Bill, we have had some games.

Will Yokel Make Weight?

WAINO KETONEN yesterday passed the buck to Mr. Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City. Ketonen deposited $100 weight forfeit with Brother Wilhelm of the morning rag. It is now up to the Rocky Mountain Lion to come through with a forfeit.

Here is what Ketonen said:

"I'll meet any man in the world at 158 pounds. I am in the wrestling game, like the rest of them, for the money. Wrestling is my business. The fans of Duluth want a fair and square contest. I am not asking anything from anyone in the world. All I want is for Yokel to come in at weight. Then we will see who will win. I backed myself against Walter Miller. I bet my own money against Chris Jordon. The fans of Salt Lake City conceded me no chance in the world against Jordon. I beat Chris in a little over an hour and it took Yokel something over three hours for the first fall.

"Some of the fans here thought Miller would rough me and make me quit. I beat Miller and stand ready to wrestle him again when he is willing to bet any money on his chances of defeating me. Lots of the fans here say Yokel will beat me. He wrestled me in Salt Lake City when I was forced to wrestle with one arm, and it took him nearly an hour and a half to beat me, a cripple.

"I knew I was beaten, for one arm was helpless. I simply tried to study Yokel and find out all he had. I know now. I don't think Yokel can beat me. I don't see what he has to beat me with. There is only one thing I ask, and that is that Mike comes in at weight. There may be another surprise for the fans here. I am staking my future reputation against Yokel, so he should be willing to make weight. I honestly don't think there is a man in the world at 158 pounds who can best me—that is why I want Mike to come in at 158 pounds."

The Red-Headed Fury.

LITTLE RED WATSON sure is a card. He is a boy who makes fighting. Not a boxer like Welsh, Shugrue, Mandot and some of the others, the stubby Scotchman fights from the tap of the gong. The followers of the game want to see fighting. The gentle boxer who stalls through ten leisurely and lackadaisical rounds is being regulated to the scrap heap.

Watson was substituted when Mandot could not or would not come. Watson made a better fight than Mandot ever would or ever could make against Brown. Watson fought and Mandot would box—there is the difference.

Now for Brown. He made the best showing of his career. He met one of the real boys of the 133-pound division, and he battled with rare gameness and real ability. Down in the Twin Cities they are wondering how it is that Brown after looking so funny against Tillman, would go in and battle toe to toe through ten rounds with Watson, the demoniac one.

The answer is simple. Against the stalling and clever boxer Brown perhaps will always look bad. Maybe Johnny Tillman could go in again and make Brown look bad. Had Mandot been in the ring against Brown, the followers of the game would not have seen the rousing battle of last Friday evening. It is the fighters that provide the thrills. That, friends, is one of the reasons why Freddy Welsh is not causing any paroxysms of excitement as champion of the world.

A meeting between Welsh and Brown would prove about as exciting as an afternoon session of the elderly ladies' knitting circle. Against the fighters Brown brings his full wares into the open and shows just how tough a ring customer he is; against the elusive and light tapping glovemen, the range lad fails to show his best.

As a tough and enduring battler, there is not the least doubt in the land regarding the class of the citizen of Chisholm, Minn.

PHANTOM AND WHALE CLASH

Middleweight Pugilistic Title at Stake in Hudson Bout.

Battle Between Gibbons and McGoorty Attracts Much Attention.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—Battling for supremacy in the middleweight division, Mike Gibbons of St. Paul and Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., will meet tonight in a bout scheduled to go ten rounds at Hudson, Wis., just over the line from this city. Harry Stout of Milwaukee will referee.

Colloquially termed, the struggle between "The Phantom and "The Whale," the bout bids fair to attract a record house to the Hudson club.

Boxing circles here are on the alert in anticipation of the bout, but although there is much talk of betting, it is said that very little money had been posted. Regarding the possible outcome, Gibbons' backers maintained a quiet confidence in his ability, while adherents of the Oshkosh battler also seem to have plenty of faith in their man.

The men will weigh in at 158 this afternoon at 3 o'clock. By the time the contest begins it is expected McGoorty will outweigh Gibbins by at least three pounds, which will put both men at their best weight.

In the fall of 1912, McGoorty won a popular decision over Gibbons in a New York meeting when the St. Paul fighter first invaded the East.

NEW GAME LAWS.

North Dakota Sportsmen Interested in Bill Before Legislature.

Fargo, N. D. March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The progress in the state legislature of House Bill No. 300, which is a re-enactment of the state game laws, is being closely watched, as hundreds of sportsmen in this section are greatly interested in its success. It was introduced by the game and fish committee of the house after conferences with the state game board. Many sections of the old law are retained intact, some slightly amended, others rewritten and many new features are added which will broaden the scope of the measure and make it more operative. The bill passed the house on a 2-to-1 vote after unsuccessful efforts to have it repealed. It has been reported out by the senate game and fish committee for passage, and while it will have some opposition because of its length, it is expected to receive favorable consideration and be enacted. It provides for new game propagation, game refuges, contains the Pennsylvania law restricting transient foreigners from carrying shotguns and rifles and has many other important features.

Sweeney to Red Sox.

Boston, Mass., March 2.—William Sweeney, recently released by the Chicago Nationals, signed a contract yesterday to play with the Boston Americans during the coming season. Sweeney was formerly captain and second baseman of the Boston Nationals, going to Chicago in connection with the Braves' deal for Johnny Evers.

IMPRESARIO WHO SEEKS TO HOLD THE BIG FIGHT

JACK CURLEY.

This is Jack Curley. He is trying to promote the Johnson-Willard fight. Jack is the same man who promoted that bloomer, the Johnson-Flynn battle. When it looked as if the big smoke was going to cross the Mexican frontier, all the plans of the syndicate behind the Juarez venture were knocked into a cocked hat by the announcement of Johnson that he would not trust himself in the land of the torrilas. What will Curley do next? The question is interesting.

DINHAM IS THE WINNER

Ralph Bradley Loses in Final of Herald Event.

First Curling Trophy Contest to Be Completed This Year.

"Billy" Dinham, one of the best curlers of the Duluth Curling club—and a lad who has without a doubt played the most consistent game this season—last evening won the first trophy event of the season to be completed, The Herald, defeating another of the club's stars, Ralph Bradley, by the score of 13 to 8.

Dinham got away with a two-score lead in the first head, but Bradley came back with two in the second, one in the fourth and two more in the fifth. Dinham caught Ralph in the sixth head and in the latter part of the game scored heavily.

It is rather a peculiar coincidence that the same men will meet this evening in the fours of the Bagley. The game of this evening may give the Bradley rink the opportunity of evening up for the beating administered last evening.

The lineup of the two rinks, the score by ends, and the results of other games, as well as the draw for this evening, follow:

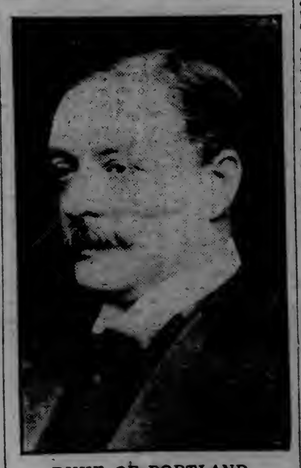
WITHDRAWS ENTRIES FROM EPSOM RACES



DUKE OF PORTLAND.

The duke of Portland has withdrawn his entries at Epsom including those for the 1915 and 1916 Derbies because the Epsom association asked that the hospital now being conducted in the clubhouse be removed before the racing week. The duke protested to the club which then agreed to permit the hospital to occupy part of the building during the race meeting but this did not satisfy the duke and he withdrew his entries.

U. S. HOCKEY TITLE STAKE

Cleveland and Sault Will Play at Calumet Monday and Tuesday.

Sault and Calumet Play to Tie in Fast Game.

Calumet, Mich., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the greatest game of hockey played in the Copper country this year, the Sault and Calumet tied, 4 to 4, last night. The game went ten minutes overtime and was played at a terrific pace on fast ice.

Reynolds of Calumet starred, getting all of Calumet's points. This game is the closest the Sault team has been to defeat this year, having won fourteen straight victories. The score in the first half stood: Sault, 3; Calumet, 1.

Arrangements are being made to bring the Sault and Cleveland teams here for two games next Monday and Tuesday for the United States championship, under the auspices of the American Amateur Hockey association. The McNaughton trophy, donated by James McNaughton of Calumet, and now held by Cleveland, will be awarded to the team making the most points in the two games. Details are now being arranged. Both the Sault and Cleveland clubs have signified their willingness. Calumet is to pay all expenses and import a Canadian referee.

MAGNATES MEET AND DO NOTHING

Six-Game Schedules Fail to Satisfy—Salary Limit Stands.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2.—After an all-day session yesterday, Northern league magnates adjourned until Tuesday without having adopted the playing chart for 1915. Six charts were presented in an effort to cut down mileage and traveling expenses.

It is understood that the adoption of the schedule was the principal business of the day. An effort to rescind the low salary limit adopted at the last meeting was frowned upon by a majority of owners and will stand as adopted earlier in the year.

The magnates who attended the session were: A. J. Kavanagh, Grand Forks; D. M. Mitchell, Fort William; Ed Finch, Virginia; Harry Blume, Duluth; Ed Dickinson, representing Fargo; M. E. Cantillon, representing St. Boniface; Ed Somers, Superior; and H. C. Webb, Winnipeg.

No mention was made officially of the trouble over the shifting of the ownership of the Winnipeg club and the defeat of A. H. Pulford of Winnipeg by the decision of the national board of arbitration. Webb, the new owner, was a busy member at the meeting.

No trades were reported, but it is expected that some deals will be talked up before the magnates adjourn. A. J. Cavanagh of Grand Forks is expected to sign up a new manager for his club before he leaves Minneapolis. Billy Fox is said to be one of the men with whom the Grand Forks owner is dickering for the job.

ST. PAUL RETAINS ITS FRANCHISE

J. W. Norton Will Operate Team and Mike Kelley Will Manage.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—St. Paul will retain its franchise in the American association, according to Thomas Chivington, president of the association, who said last night that arrangements had practically been completed for John W. Norton, a local realty man, to operate the club during the coming season under an option with the privilege of purchase at the end of the season.

President Chivington's announcement came at the conclusion of a protracted meeting of the special committee of the association which was appointed at the recent Chicago schedule meeting to settle the affairs of the St. Paul club.

Mr. Norton said that he expected definite settlement of the matter today.

Mike Kelley, a former manager of the St. Paul team, will appear in a similar capacity this season if the Norton deal goes through, the latter stated. Mr. Norton also stated that negotiations virtually had been completed for a number of new players.

STUDENTS ATTACK UMPIRE QUIGLEY.

Columbia, Mo., March 2.—Umpire Quigley of the National baseball league was attacked here last night by several hundred students of the University of Missouri who were angered by his decisions in a basket ball game. Missouri lost the game and championship of the Missouri Valley conference to the Agricultural college by a score of 28 to 19.

As the game in the Rothwell gymnasium ended, the students attacked Quigley. Beyond numerous bruises he was not injured.

BACK TO THE MINORS FOR MARTY O'TOOLE.

Columbus, Ohio, March 2.—Marty O'Toole, pitcher, formerly with the Pittsburg Nationals, signed a contract yesterday to play with the Columbus American association team the coming season, according to a message from South Farmingham, Mass., where Manager Quinn signed O'Toole. He will be considered part pay for Hinchman and Gerber, sold to the Pittsburg club last fall.

FIRST GUN FIRED IN THE 1915 ROWING CAMPAIGN

Many Rowing Candidates Assemble at Get-Together Meeting.

Ten Eyck May Send a Duluth Sculler After National Title.

BY BRUCE.

The first gun in the 1915 rowing season of the Duluth Boat club was fired at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The first gun was of the 42-centimeter caliber—100 greencrew candidates turned in their names to the registration committee.

From every standpoint the opening of the rowing campaign of the season that may be considered started, was a great success. Jimmy Ten Eyck exhibited the moving pictures of the National regatta at Philadelphia. These pictures are particularly pleasing and exhilerating to Duluthians, as they show Duluth crews winning five of the contests.

Ten Eyck explained the various features of the film contests pointing out the crews, particularly the Duluth crews, and some of the notables present. There was also a picture shown of the rowing tank at Syracuse. Duluth hopes to have a similar tank and the work of the Syracuse oarsmen at the sweeps was watched with interest by the new and old candidates of the Duluth crews.

Ten Eyck Enthusiastic.

Coach Jimmy made a rattling address during the meeting. He assured the boys that there was a chance for every man who came out for the crews. The advantages of rowing, the splendid training received and the pleasure of the trips were dwelt upon. Jim told the boys that much new material was needed this season and that it was upon the new material gathered each season that the future success of the club must largely depend.

Dr. Frank Lynam, a former stroke of one of the famous Harvard crews, and a physician who has had opportunities of making an intimate study of the effects of athletic exercise upon the different organs of the body, classed as absurd and nonsensical the statements that rowing is bad for the heart. The good doctor declared that no exercise could possibly be more beneficial or more sane in its even development of all of the muscles of the body.

"And what is more, and what is more to be commended, is that rowing is an excellent mental exercise," declared Dr. Lynam. "You row with your head. A man without brains or without the ability to use his head, is not as a rule the best oarsman. Rowing requires mental concentration and mental alertness, and the man with the best head is often the most valuable man in the boat."

Following the glowing tribute paid to the sport by a man who was a famous oarsman, and who has kept up the sport as an exercise for nearly a score of years, Bentley Neff touched upon rowing from the business standpoint.

Mr. Neff declared that as a city, Duluth was justly proud of the clean, young men who had brought fame and trophies back home. He declared with emphasis that it had been discovered that oarsmen made good business men, and held up as a shining example the record of Jimmy Ten Eyck as an expert salesman.

President Higgins and W. S. Telford also spoke.

Work Starts Wednesday.

On Wednesday afternoon in the rowing room of the Y. M. C. A. the first work of the season will be inaugurated. The rowing machines have been geared up and set in order and the men will be divided into squads and set to work in muscle-hardening and form acquirement, the preliminary to going on the water in late April.

It is almost certain that the largest squad that has been assembled in the history of the club will be on hand to start the season's grind. The accumulated victories of years have not been without their effects upon the youth of Duluth. To make the crew of the boat club was once considered in the light of a joke; to become a member of one of the Duluth crews of the present day is justly held to be one of the greatest honors that a young man of the city of Duluth can acquire.

Prospects of Crews.

On the eve of the start of what is rich in promise of being even a greater season than the one of last year, it might be well to note briefly the prospects of the crews of the D. B. C.

It is certain that Ten Eyck will send his men in for sculling on a more extended scale than has ever been previously attempted at the local club. It is a recognized tenet of rowing that a good sculler makes a better sweep man. Any man who can scull can be developed into a better sweep man than if he did not scull.

One of the main supports of Winnipeg's rowing supremacy of the past has been the fact that nearly every prominent rowing man at the Peg owns his own single and used it with prodigious effort. Slowly, as time and opportunity would permit, Jim Ten Eyck is molding his men into a sculling outfit. This season Osman, Kent, Hoover, Horak, Grant, Quimby and one or two others of the boys own their singles.

Kent and Osman won the intermediate doubles last season at Philadelphia, and Hoover won the intermediate singles. This places these men in the association senior events. Ten Eyck will probably send the best of these men out for the association senior singles. If a Duluth man should win that event, he would immediately become eligible for the senior championship.

Kelly of the Vespers of Philadelphia; Dibble of the Toronto Rowing club, who has won the senior championship for the last two years, and Butler of Toronto, winner of the national single championship in 1911 and 1912, are the men most likely to go out for the national single event. It is possible that Duluth will have a man entered in this event. It is the firm opinion of Ten Eyck that Hoover could have won the association singles last season.

Good Junior Material.

It is probable that the Moore brothers, Dug and Phil, will go out for the intermediate double sculling event. Gus Grant, Dave Horak and Wallace Quimby will try their hands at the sculling game, and some doubles may be formed for the intermediate event in addition to the Moore boys.

It looks as if Ten Eyck will have at least fourteen of the sixteen seniors of TEMPER, whether good or bad, depends a heap on a man's getting the tobacco satisfaction he has a right to.

Man after man will tell you that "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, gives a comfort and contentment he never had before. He insists on it for himself and he recommends it to his friends.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

last year out this season. All of the old men of last season, with the exception of the boys away at school, were at the meeting. Then the main consideration of Jimmy is that of getting out promising material for the junior and bantam crews. As was stated in this paper yesterday, Ten Eyck is going to make a determined effort to cop off the quadruple sculling title this season. With the sculling fever growing here in the club, it is the most natural thing in the world to believe that the undoubted coaching genius of Ten Eyck will send a great quadruple four after the famous Riversides of Boston.

A resume of present prospects is a candid boost for the future rowing prospects of the club. The men are enthusiastic, the new material looks to be of the best; the equipment of the club is the best in its history—and Duluth has what it considers the greatest rowing coach in the country.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

Macon, Ga., March 2.—Twenty-five members of the Boston Nationals arrived here last night to begin spring training today. Pitcher James, who was not in the party, was said to be holding out for a salary increase. Manager Stallings declared that James dictated the term of his contract and that it will not be altered.

San Antonio, Texas, March 2.—With the temperature only 2 deg. above freezing, the St. Louis Nationals and Cleveland Americans began their spring practice here yesterday. The Cardinals were out early in the morning and put in two long sessions on the diamond.

The Cleveland players were put through a three-hours drill by Trainer Hitte. Manager Birmingham has put a ban to cigarettes, announcing he will impose a fine on any man caught smoking during the training season.

Louisville, Ky., March 2.—Ten players of the Louisville American association club in charge of Manager John Hayden left today for their training camp at Lakeland, Fla. Nine more men will join the party en route. The team will remain in Florida twenty-eight days and will play fifteen games with other clubs while there. On its homeward trip the club will stop for two days at Atlanta and arrive home on Aprile 3 and meet the Detroit American league team for a series of three games.

UNIVERSALS ARE WINNERS

Flour Makers Defeat Northerns at Hockey 4 to 3.

A Three-Cornered Tie in the Amateur League Race Results.

Teams Standing.

	Won.	Lost	Pct.
Northerns	6	2	.714
Big Duluths	5	2	.714
Universals	5	2	.714
Two Harbors	3	3	.500
D. C. H. S.	1	4	.200
Bagleys	0	6	.000

Last evening the Universals executed the somewhat unexpected, defeated the Northerns in one of the bangup games of the amateur league this season and thereby caused a three-cornered tie for leadership in the percentage climb. The flour makers vanquished their hardware rivals by the close count of 4 to 3.

At half time the score was 1 to 0 in favor of the Universals, Asher Taylor, the handsome young banker, caging one after a trifle more than twelve minutes of play, receiving a pretty pass from the flying Bartlett. The play in this period wos of the dashing and dazzling brand, the defense of both teams exhibiting some workmanlike qualities of blocking and checking.

Within fifty seconds after the start of the second half Curly Harris of the cereal crowd scored a pretty cage without the help of his mates, and it looked as if the game was going to be made a more or less one-sided struggle. Clark of the hardware dealers' association came back shortly after this and scored one unassisted. Wharton made the third Universal goal on a pass from Harris, after the two had made a pretty rush up the ice. Roswald, the much disputed player of the Northerns, received a pass from Nelson and scored the next goal. Clark came back and without any assistance from his mates scored the final goal of the game. With a trifle over six minutes of play it began to look as if a tie contest might result. The play from this point on to the finish of the game was about the fastest seen at the rink this year. Some great defense work upon the part of Mahan in the Universal net saved the day for the flour makers, for this lad made some sensational stops and executed some nifty blocking.

President Fenton is authority for the statement that Two Harbors is to remain in the league. With three teams tied for first place, it looks like the remarkably close race of last year is going to be repeated.

The lineup and summary:

Universals—	Position.	Northerns—

OPPOSING IDEAS IN THE NORTHERN AS TO SALARY

Smaller Town Magnates Hold for Low Pay Roll and Big Town Magnates Want to Spend More Money.

In the Northern league there is the city faction, led by Blume and Webb of Winnipeg and encouraged by Mike Cantillon of St. Boniface, holding out for larger salaries for the league. Opposed to this wish for larger pay envelopes is the desire upon the part of magnates of the smaller towns for reduced expenses.

In the Minneapolis meeting of yesterday the smaller town magnates apparently won. Towns like Grand Forks, Fargo and Winona of last year's league lineup cannot compete upon even terms with Duluth, Winnipeg and Superior in a good year.

Grand Forks dropped more than $6,000 in trying the experiment last year. Winona never made any pretense of making expenses meet. Fargo had a bonus from the citizens to start the season. If the league is going to remain intact, according to the viewpoint of the smaller magnates, there will have to be an enforced reduction of salaries.

John Burmeister is a man with large ideas. He is a man used to putting through large business deals. The idea of making a class B league out of the Northern was one of the cherished dreams of John. Harry Blume was strong for the idea, as Duluth is normally a class B city. Duluth's real place, considering the size alone, would be in the Western league. But against the class B idea stood the walls of the smaller town magnates. Farrell ruled against such a move, it is true, on the grounds of population, but it was shown that the smaller towns could not stand the salary pressure. Hence the reduction this year.

G. A. R. MONUMENT ON COURT SQUARE

City Council Will Raise Fund to Finance the Memorial.

Members of the city council yesterday afternoon decided to recommend for passage a bill giving Duluth additional taxing power to raise money for a G. A. R. monument to be erected on the courthouse square. The monument may be a statue of Col. Joshua B. Culver, at one time mayor of Duluth and after whom Culver post is named.

Plans for the erection of the monument and the method of obtaining funds were explained to the commissioners at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon by Servetus W. Clark, prominent G. A. R. veteran. He said that a $10,000 monument is planned, $3,500 of the cost to be raised by public subscription, $1,500 to be donated by the county and $5,000 to be raised by means of an additional tax levy for one year. He recommended a levy of one-tenth of a mill above the charter limitations to raise the required $5,000.

The commissioners declared themselves in favor of the plan. Mayor Prince promised Mr. Clark that a bill will be prepared shortly and submitted to local G. A. R. men before being sent to the state legislature.

Mr. Clark explained that it had been originally planned to erect a $5,000 monument, but the veterans, he said, want one of which the city can feel proud.

Iron and the Blood

BEARING in mind that, with but few exceptions, anemia is secondary to other apparent or concealed disturbances of health and not in itself the cause of poor health, it will still be interesting to the average anemic individual to know that the actual amount of iron that can be absorbed in a day is only three-quarters of a grain—say, about a tenth of the amount you get in a day's ration of iron pills.

In the red blood corpuscles there is a substance known as hemoglobin, which gives the blood its color and serves as a carrier of oxygen and nutriment through the tissues of the body. In health the hemoglobin is arbitrarily assumed to be at its maximum strength, 100 per cent. Most women, engaged at indoor occupations, show 90 per cent. The hemoglobin is easily estimated by drawing a drop of blood from a needle prick of finger tip or ear lobe and comparing its color with a graduated color scale made for the purpose. As a rule the individual does not experience shortness of breath, palpitation on slight exertion, headache, tendency to fainting, perhaps slight swelling of the ankles, and nervous symptoms until the hemoglobin falls as low as 70 per cent.

The Underlying Cause.

Of course it would be mere waste of time to take the famous "Blaud" iron pill, or any other alleged remedy for weak blood, without endeavoring to find out what causes the anemia and, if possible, removing the cause.

One thing the anemic individual must carefully avoid is the alcoholic nostrum. There are a number of "blood tonics" on the market which gently intoxicate the victim and mislead her in the fancy that she is getting better. In fact they make her worse—they carry her along on false stimulation (it is really narcotization), and then, when the hope is discontinued she discovers she is not as well as when she began taking it.

Questions and Answers.

Spreading It On Thick: A reader sends in a circular describing the ——s treatment for imaginary "uric acid" troubles and alleged kidney diseases. Among the many inaccurate and misleading statements in the circular is this: "We will give any one hospital in the United States an absolute present of $50 worth if the management will promise to use it in chronic cases as directed." This reminds us of the fellow who offered to give any one a quart of his whisky free who could prove it contained wood alcohol! We fear a hospital would not be tempted by such an offer.

1. Better purchase what distilled water you may require—it requires an expensive apparatus to distill it yourself; the steam is condensed and collected. 2. Phenolphthalein, in one-grain tablets or wafers, is a good laxative. Pheno-lax sounds like a trade name for the same thing. 3. Yes.

GUARD LIVES OF NEUTRALS

Dictates of Humanity to Be Observed in Retaliatory Measure.

Full Text of Statement of Premier Asquith to House of Commons.

London, March 2.—The decision of the British government to adopt retaliatory measures against Germany was set forth in a formal statement which Premier Asquith read in the house of commons. The premier prefaced the reading of the statement with these words:

"The statement declares in sufficiently plain and unmistakable terms the view we take, not only of our rights but our duties."

The statement is as follows:

"Germany has declared the English channel, the North and west coasts of France and the waters around the British isles a war area, and has officially given notice that all enemy ships found in that area will be destroyed and that neutral vessels may be exposed to danger. This is in effect a claim to torpedo at sight, without regard to the safety of the crew or passengers, any merchant vessel under any flag. As it is not in power of the German admiralty to maintain any surface craft in these waters, the attack can only be delivered by submarines agency. The law and customs of nations in regard to attacks on commerce has always presumed that the first duty of the captor of a merchant vessel is bringing it before a prize court, where it may be tried and where irregularities of the capture may be challenged and where neutrals may recover their cargo. The sinking of prizes is in itself a questionable act, to be resorted to only in extraordinary circumstances and after provision has been made for the safety of all crews and passengers.

Responsibility.

"The responsibility of discriminating between neutral and enemy vessels and between neutral and enemy cargoes obviously rests with the attacking ship, whose duty it is to verify the status of the vessel and cargo and to preserve all papers before sinking or capturing the ship. So also the humane duty to provide for the safety of crews of merchant vessels, whether neutral or enemy, is an obligation on every belligerent.

"It is upon this basis that all previous discussions of law for regulating warfare have proceeded. The German submarine fulfills none of these obligations. She enjoys no local command of the waters wherein she operates. She does not take her captures within the jurisdiction of a prize court. She carries no prize crew which can be put aboard prizes which she seizes. She uses no effective means of discriminating between neutral and enemy vessels. She does not receive on board for safety the crew of the vessel she sinks. Her methods of warfare, therefore, are entirely outside the scope of any international instruments regulating operations against commerce in time of war.

"The German declaration substitutes indiscriminate destruction for regulated captures. Germany has adopted this method against the peaceful trader and the non-combatant with the avowed object of preventing commodities of all kinds, including food for the civilian population, from reaching or leaving the British Isles or Northern France.

Retaliatory Measures.

"Her opponents are therefore driven to frame retaliatory measures, in order in their turn to prevent commodities of any kind from reaching or leaving Germany.

"These measures will, however, be enforced by the British and French governments without risk to neutral ships or neutral or non-combatant lives, and in strict observation of the dictates of humanity. The British and French governments will therefore hold themselves free to detain and take into port ships carrying goods of presumed enemy destination or origin.

"It is not intended to confiscate such vessels or cargoes unless they would otherwise be liable to confiscation. Vessels with cargoes which sailed before this date will not be affected.

"That is our reply."

The reading of the statement was interrupted frequently with loud cheering.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford invited the premier to state whether Germans who engaged in submarine attacks or raids on unfortified towns and were captured would be tried for murder. Mr. Asquith declined to give any definite assurance, but he said: "No doubt the government will take into serious consideration what is the status under international law of persons engaged in this campaign."

CLAIM ST. PATRICK WAS A SCOTSMAN

At Any Rate Clan Stewart Will Celebrate on March 17.

Clan Stewart of Duluth will celebrate St. Patrick's day, March 17, falling on a regular meeting night. A special program for the occasion is being prepared by a committee consisting of Clansmen Robert Tulloch, James Downie, John Gow and Fred Currier.

This will be made a special occasion, because, it is claimed, St. Patrick was a Scotsman, and that, therefore, the Scots have as good a claim as any, and some assert, a prior claim to that of the Irish. At any rate, something special will be furnished following the initiation of a class of candidates for membership.

A week after St. Patrick's day, March 24, there will be another "guid Scotch nicht," for which a fine program will be prepared, to be followed by a dance.

The last meeting of the month, on the evening of March 31, will be the occasion of an initiation extraordinary, and will be followed by a smoker.

ON THE IRON RANGES

CHARGES ARE BEING MADE

Eveleth Gas Franchise Election Develops Warm One Election Day.

Printers Are Aroused From Slumbers to Print Denial Circulars.

Eveleth, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The gas franchise election being held today developed into a lively affair at the tail end of the campaign. After being unusually dull up to the last minute it developed old-time campaign methods at the eleventh hour and today is not the quiet, prosaic affair anticipated.

Messrs. Kennedy and Lynch are seeking a franchise to furnish the city and people with gas. It is on this the people are voting today.

There is quite an element in this city favoring municipal ownership as a result of the Virginia municipal plant and they are naturally fighting the Kennedy and Lynch franchise.

About 8 o'clock last night, a listless campaign took on some ginger when a circular was handed around town signed by G. A. Whitman, president of the First National bank, and W. R. Van Slyck, who represents the fee owners of the Leonidas and other mines here, stating that the "franchise-grabbers," as the document termed the people seeking the franchise, had been dickering with the Virginia water and light commission to secure gas from the Virginia plant and pipe it here, a distance of only a few miles. The dodgers also alleged that a tentative price of 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet had been agreed on and the purchasers proposed to turn around and sell it here for $1.40 per 1,000, thereby making a nice profit without going to the expense of putting up a gas generating plant here.

Another Circular Issued.

Late last night J. C. McGilvery, who is an advocate of the proposed Kennedy and Lynch franchise, got into the campaign circular business himself. He sent out a call for printers and some typos were hauled out of bed, taken to a print shop and placed at work "setting up" a rival circular denying the charges made in the Whitman-Van Slyck document.

The denial dodgers contain a statement signed by Mayor Mike Boylan of Virginia to the effect that the city of Virginia had made no dicker with anyone to sell gas to Eveleth at the figures claimed. On the contrary, he said that Virginia would sell gas to no person or corporation at a less price than $1.35, the price now charged all consumers at Virginia. There is also a statement signed by Kennedy and Lynch denying they had been dickering with Virginia for gas.

The rival circular stirred things up this morning and the campaign is winding up in a lively manner. The polls will close at 9 p. m. In normal times there are about 850 or 900 voters here and it is expected at least 700 votes will be cast in today's election.

SALOON KEEPERS ARE DEFENDANTS

Two Actions Started at Virginia for Alleged Damages.

Virginia, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two actions have been filed in district court here against saloonkeepers for damages.

Suit has been commenced by Soren Johnson Finsland against Peter Larson, formerly a local saloon keeper, and the Illinois Surety company, his bondsmen, for $3,000 damages suffered on Dec. 6, 1914, because of the illegal sale of liquor.

It is charged that liquor was sold on Sunday, Dec. 6, illegally and in such a quantity to Thomas Slenszerk, a woodsman, that he became intoxicated so that he fell from the upstairs of a Chestnut street building and struck the plaintiff, who was just going up the stairs, breaking the plaintiff's leg and causing other injuries about the hips so that the plaintiff is crippled for life.

Sue Chisholm Saloon Keeper.

Marchie, aged 3, and Mary, aged 4, Nosan, in the name of their mother, Mrs. Katie Champa, as guardian, also sue for damages for the death of their father, Frank Nosan, whose death, it is alleged, was caused by his being sold liquor on Sunday, Oct. 13, 1912, at the saloon of John Pavsha and Frank Medvid in Chisholm. Mrs. Champa was the widodw of Frank Nosan.

It is charged that the plaintiffs' father had been sold liquor in such a quantity on that day, that he became intoxicated and while returning to his home, had fallen into Longyear lake and was drowned. The children, it is claimed, were solely dependent upon the deceased for support.

LONG LOOKED FOR REPORT EXPECTED

Engineers to Point Out Weaknesses of Hibbing Power Plant.

Hibbing, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A detailed report of the survey of the Hibbing power plant with recommendations, recently made by the Burns & McDonald company, probably will be submitted to the village council this month.

The report will give village officials all data relative to the conditions of the plant, cost of operating, cost of distributing electricity to consumers, and the advisability of building a new plant, generating all current and installation of new machinery and a desirable location of a new plant. It will also mention the possibilities of the Desiel crude oil engines for generating power.

Some Defects.

The engineers will declare that the present power plant and electric switch board are in a deplorable condition. A belt on one of the big power engines, said to be twelve years old, is standing a terrible strain, it is said, and if it should break, would tear out one side of the building. The boilers are also said to be unsafe, as the proper safety valves to guard from an explosion have not been installed, it being the claim of the engineers that if one of the pipes broke, all the steam would leak out before it could be stopped.

EXTENSION COST IS CONSIDERED

Two Harbors Council Hears Report on Petition for Electric Service.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The matter of constructing a line to the west city limits for the purpose of furnishing farmers and others living on the edge of the city limits with electric current for lighting purposes, was again brought to the attention of the city council last evening.

Last Monday evening, Feb. 22, a petition signed by sixteen farmers, dairymen and others was presented to the council, requesting the city to furnish them with electric current. The matter was refefred to a committee to investigate. Last night the city electrician presented a statement showing the approximate cost of such a line to the city. The line would be about one and one-half miles long and, according to the city electrician, would cost in the neighborhood of $600 or $700.

More Time Required.

The council was of the opinion that the poles could be purchased for less than the prices listed on the statement, and in order to give the committee a little more time to look into the matter, it was laid on the table for a week. It is said that if the city runs a line to the city limits that the farmers living west of the city limits will incorporate, and if the city will furnish them the power, will distribute current to about a dozen farmers. Scott Waite, chief engineer of the water and light department, was present and stated that the work on the new hypochlorite plant was progressing very rapidly and that the job would be completed within a few days.

WARMER

What is so rare as a day in March? Then, if ever, are perfect days. That Duluth is given with apologies to the shade of James Russell Lowell, and also to get pent-up enthusiasm out of our system. But, with that spasm past, one must admit that this is certainly great weather—with the sun shining overhead, and a chance in the early frosty morning to slip and crack one's head, and later to slosh around in a lot of near water. But, eliminating the last two knocks, the weather is fine. Old Mr. Lion is late for his engagement and he can stay late or not appear at all if he wants to.

A year ago today was chilly. The sun rose this morning at 6:46 and will set this evening at 5:54, giving eleven hours and eight minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Decidedly colder weather prevails in Manitoba, Western Ontario, North Dakota, Minnesota and Northwestern Wisconsin, zero temperatures occurring last night over the greater portion of those districts. The temperature has risen somewhat over northeastern and central states. Snow flurries occurred over the Lake Superior region during the last twenty-four hours, and snow or rain throughout southwestern states. Light frost occurred last night at Jacksonville, Fla."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 2.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Wisconsin—Increasing cloudiness tonight and Wednesday, probably becoming unsettled by Wednesday night.

Minnesota — Increasing cloudiness with possibly snow Wednesday and in southwest portion tonight; warmer in north portion tonight.

Iowa—Probably rain or snow tonight and Wednesday.

North Dakota—Probably snow tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight.

South Dakota—Snow tonight and Wednesday.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

Lower Michigan—Fair, colder tonight; Wednesday fair.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight in east portion.

The municipal gas plant, now in successful operation, was accepted. It represents an outlay of about $50,000.

After considering the protest, the commissioners decided that it was a matter to be handled by the city council.

To Put in Repair Shop.

It was decided to install a complete repair and machine shop at Fire Station No. 1.

FICTITIOUS SECURITIES

Absorb All Revenue Gains of Western Railroads, Says Stone.

Head of Engineers Sees No Hope for Men Under Conditions.

Chicago, March 2.—Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today submitted to the board of arbitration which is hearing the Western railroad wage case, a statement in rebuttal to the testimony of the railroad managers, in which he charged that the issuance of fictitious securities had absorbed past, present and future revenue gains of the Western railroads. He declared: "There is no hope for the railroad employes to secure an equitable participation in the fruits of their work so long as the present financial control and administration of the railroads is unregulated."

He pointed out that the employes' associations found economic justice for their demand for increased wages in the productive efficiency of their work, but that the constant contention of the railroads in reply to this argument was that revenue gains arising from increased productive efficiency were absorbed by increased operating costs and by the payment of interest charges on additional capital investments, which have been incurred in the attempt to develop greater efficiency in operation, and because of public demand as to safety and quality of service.

Not Due to These Causes.

"It is now our purpose to disclose that any decline in operating or net income has not been due to the causes set forth by the railroads," said he. Statistics already read into the testimony by experts employed by the brotherhood had shown remarkable gains in railroad revenue and the amount available for the increased compensation of labor.

"We shall show," he continued, "that the constant tendency has been for those in financial control of the railroads to absorb revenue gains arising from increased productive efficiency by the issuance of fictitious securities; that the productive efficiency of the men working today, the operating officials as well as the employes, had already been hypothecated and capitalized before we were born; that measures have already been taken by the issuance of fictitious capitalization to absorb the increased work and productive efficiency of our children and our children's children; and that there is no hope for the engineer and fireman and other classes of railroad employes to secure an equitable participation in the fruits of their work, so long as the present financial control and administration of the railroads was unregulated. In other words, that any advances which the employes have been able to obtain in wages or earnings have been of no financial significance as compared with the indefensible absorption of operating gains by the financial management of Western railroads.

"Finally, we shall show that if gains from past productive efficiency had been properly conserved and administered, enormous advances could be granted to all classes of railroad employes, both organized and unorganized, without prejudice to the interests of the owners of the property, and the financial status of Western railroads today from the investor's standpoint would be all that could be desired.

From Points Presented.

"The points we shall submit in this connection are:

"First. That the proceeds from the munificent grants of land by the Federal and state governments to assist in the building of Western railroads, were not properly used, but their value, as well as the increased business arising from the development of Western territory, was capitalized by the flotation of fictitious securities.

"Second. That the direct financial control of Western railroads, and the potential control of the economic welfare of their employes now rests with a small group of bankers and financial institutions, which make and unmake railroad presidents, and which, by their methods of administration of the railroads, have absorbed present and future revenue gains of employes by the issuance of fictitious securities; in other words, employes and operating officials are the victims of financial administration.

"Third. We shall show from the publicly expressed opinions of eminent financiers and financial experts that this present inequality in the distribution of the output of the industry is wrong.

"Fourth. We shall conclude by showing that despite the financial successes of railroads in the past, that they are still financially able to pay reasonable and fair increases in wages."

Statistics in support of Mr. Stone's contention were introduced and analyzed by W. J. Lauck, a statistician, who took the witness stand.

FLOODWOOD FINANCES.

Village Council Got Through 1914 With Nice Balance.

Floodwood, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The financial statement issued by the Floodwood village council for 1914 shows the total receipts were $5,920.57; disbursements, $3,528.60; leaving balance of hand $2,391.97. The chief revenue came from the four saloons, each paying $1,250 for a license, or a total of $5,000. Nearly $2,000 were spent improving roads, streets, crossings and sidewalks. The other expenses consist of the marshal's salary, upkeep of gasoline lights, justices' fees, salaries of the officials and $100 "inebriate tax" that was paid to the state, besides many other smaller items.

The present village council consists of the following citizens: Mayor, Garfield Blackwood; trustees, Henry Johnson, John Tabja and Charles Williams; recorder, E. B. Robinson; treasurer, M. W. Hingley.

DIETING TO KEEP WELL

Some people are born with a tendency to certain diseases. What they eat either aggravates this condition or tends to correct it.

Anybody can see the importance of a proper diet but human beings, unlike the lower animals, lack the instinct that tells them what to eat and what to avoid.

It is a fact that proper diet and a good tonic will keep people well under most conditions and restore them to health except in acute diseases where the need of a physician is imperative.

Start today by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It is full of useful information and describes the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, for those conditions of flatulency or gas on the stomach, discomfort after eating, caused by lack of tone in the digestive organs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the stomach with well-oxygenated blood without which good digestion is impossible. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic and are free from poisons.

Consolidation Scheme in Four Schools in Pennington County Planned.

Petitions Filed With County Superintendent Asking for Vote on Matter.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Petitions signed by freeholders from four school districts were filed with the county superintendent of schools Monday asking that a special election be held to determine the question of consolidating the four school districts.

The districts concerned are Nos. 47, 50, 56 and 59 and the plan is to consolidate with one modern school building at Erie. This place is in the center of the four districts and will be an ideal location. The proposed building is planned for a four-room structure with a full basement. It will be modern in every detail and of sufficient size to accommodate 250 pupils, if the residents of the districts vote for consolidation the basement of the building will be equipped for use by the manual training and domestic science departments and an agricultural department will be installed.

About 140 Pupils.

About 140 pupils are attending the different schools of the four districts at the present time. All of the schools are crowded and the teachers are unable to give proper attention to all of the pupils. This is one of the reasons for the proposed consolidation. At the present time one teacher is required to instruct about forty pupils, divided into about thirty classes. Superintendent of Schools E. A. Mostue will visit these four school districts tomorrow and it is likely that the special election will be held some time during the month of March.

This is the fifth time that liquor has been found in the possession of Gagnon by the Indian officers. At the Lakeshore hotel a small quantity of liquor and gin was found in the cellar, and at the Nicollet hotel half a gallon of alcohol and half a pint of port wine were found in a suit case. At the Harry Gunsalus place three gallons of port wine and half a gallon of gin were found.

NEGAUNEE MINES WORK FULL TIME

Republic Iron Properties Start Up on Normal Basis.

Negaunee, Mich., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—In pursuance to orders received Saturday from F. J. Webb of Duluth, general manager for the Republic Iron & Steel company in the Lake Superior district, John E. Nelson, superintendent of the Hartford and Cambria mines of the company here, yesterday started those properties to working full time.

The Republic Iron & Steel is the first of the companies operating in Negaunee to resume operations on a large scale since the general reduction of forces at several of the mines here last fall. The men at the Hartford and Cambria have been working only three days a week, one shift, since last August, and the resumption of full time work is most pleasing to Negaunee residents. The mines will be worked only one shift for the present, but it is thought that a second shift will be put on within a few months.

To Double Output.

About seventy men are employed at the properties, and although no additional men will be taken on for the present the output from the mines will be doubled. Over 75,000 tons of ore are now in the stockpiles at the mines, and with the properties working six days a week the tonnage will be considerably increased before the shipping season begins.

During the past week about a dozen men have been taken on at the Breitung company's mine at Mary Charlotte and Breitung mines, and it is expected that the forces at the mines will be gradually increased from now on.

NORTH DAKOTA IS RAPIDLY SETTLING

Williston, N. D., March 2.—Free government land will soon be exhausted in Northwestern North Dakota, according to figures from the Williston land office. Although approximately 100,000 acres are still vacant in the five counties which compose the Williston land district, much of it is unfit even for grazing purposes and the remainder is rapidly being taken by homesteaders. More than 70,000 acres were filed on in the eight months since July 1, 1914.

Of the land remaining to be filed upon in this district very little is in Williams county and only a small portion of the total is in Mountrail, Burke and Divide counties. Nearly two-thirds of the land still vacant is in Southern McKenzie county and much of it is situated in the bad lands along the course of the Little Missouri. There is some excellent grazing land left, but stockmen are hesitating to file upon it, hoping that the section homestead bill now before congress will become a law and enable them to secure larger holdings than under the present law.

Records of the several North Dakota land offices show about 500,000 acres of land still available for filing in the entire state. Twenty-five years ago, when North Dakota became a state, there were nearly 17,000,000 acres of free government land.

FATHER SPECHT, OLD INDIAN WORKER, DIES

Catholic Priest Who Labored Among Minnesota Chippewas, Passes.

Grand Marais, Minn., March 2.—There is general regret among old-time residents of this section over the news from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., of the death there recently of Rev. Father Joseph Specht, S. J., for many years a zealous missionary among the Chippewa Indians in this section.

A native of Alsace, age 61, he came to America when young, entered the Society of Jesus and, studying hard, was ordained to the priesthood on May 22, 1880, at Fort William, Ont. His ardent desire was to consecrate his life for the salvation of the Chippewa Indians. From August, 1880, till December, 1914, Father Specht toiled, labored and sacrificed himself for the Indians. He never had any vacation, neither would he ask for rest.

In Northeastern Minnesota.

His first field of labor was Fort William, Ont., with all the adjoining Indian missions both in Ontario and on the Minnesota side, Lake Nipigon, Long Lake, villages along the C. P. R., also Grand Portage, Grand Marais and Beaver Bay in the northeastern part of Minnesota. He left Fort William in 1898 wher his superiors called him to Wikemikong, Manitoulin island, Ont. In this place he remained till August, 1910. His next headquarters was Sudbury, Ont., from which place he attended a number of Indian villages along the C. P. R. as far as Lake Nipissing. In the summer of 1913 he left Sudbury to take charge of Garden River, Ont. There he remained until last November, and in December he was taken to the general hospital at Sault Ste. Marie.

Spoke at Cloquet.

Father Specht was a master of the beautiful Chippewa language, which he spoke very fluently and correctly. Several times he was called upon by the Indian missionaries to give angular eight-day missions, as for instance, at Odanah and Bayfield, Wis., and Cloquet, Minn., in which last named place he gave two missions, one in May, 1908, the other in October, 1913.

NO FARM COLLEGE PROBE LOOKED FOR North Dakota's New Regents Law Expected to Help Institutions.

Fargo, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The threatened investigation of the North Dakota Agricultural college, as a result of the embroglio between the members of the board of trustees last winter has passed. This is the last week of the legislative session and despite the numerous investigations started by the lawmakers along other lines nothing has been done with the Agricultural college.

The matter was partially covered by the Lathrop committee and the direct result has been the creation of the board of control for all educational institutions. Sentiment favorable to this plan had existed in the state for some years, but had not been crystallized into form until after the agitation over the institutions last winter, and its recommendation in the message of Governor Hanna, who came out strongly in favor of the plan. The bill passed the house unanimously and after a brief amendment in the senate went through that body and has been signed.

May Fill Positions.

It is thought the governor will send to the senate today the names of the five members of the board for confirmation. While they may organize any time they will probably do only preliminary investigation work as the law provides the old boards of the normals and the other institutions shall remain in power until July 1.

Much is expected of the new bill in restoring harmony at the institutions, in eliminating the duplication of the work, in the establishment of a uniform system and making a clear demarkation between the studies that shall be taught in all the institutions.

Locally the new plan will be welcomed for Fargoans are tired of the dissensions between the members of the local board and now hope for peace and harmony.

CROOKSTON WANTS CHEAPER SERVICE

Plans on Foot to Secure Reduced Water and Light Rates.

Crookston, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The thirty-year franchise of the Crookston Water Works, Power & Light company, covering water and light expired last Friday and by the provisions of the franchise, since the city did not take the plant over, automatically extended the franchise for another thirty years.

The city attorney claims the franchise is not valid in this respect, but no steps have been taken to test its validity. At a mass meeting of citizens, a committee consisting of S. A. Wallace, L. D. Foskett and W. A. Marin was named to co-operate with the city council in an endeavor to secure a proposition from the water works company for a substantial reduction of rates for a period of years, and the matter is now in process of adjustment. The company has already signified its willingness to make reductions, but to what extent is not known.

FARMER FLAGS TRAIN.

Prevents Wrecking of Omaha's Duluth-Minneapolis Passenger.

New Richmond, Wis., March 2.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to wreck the southbound Twilight Limited train on the Omaha between Minneapolis and Duluth by placing a steel rail across the track a mile and a half north of Clayton, Wis.

A farmer walking home on the track discovered the obstruction, which he was unable to move, so he secured a lantern and ran north to flag the train. The train was six minutes late out of Turtle Lake and was heading down a long grade at a high rate of speed, when the farmer with the lantern was sighted.

The engineer managed to bring the train to a halt a few rods from the barrier.

Head and Ears of Child. Kept Getting Worse. Very Irritating. Face Quite Disfigured. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Trouble Entirely Healed.

It made her restless at night and her face was quite disfigured.

"I tried different remedies suggested but nothing we did brought any relief. Finally I decided to give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. MARKET SLUMPS AGAIN WITH HEAVY LIQUIDATION

Wheat Has Another Sharp Break With Selling on War News.

Prices Recover From Low Points on Buying By Exporters.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 2.—The market rallied toward the close on good buying by exporters and final prices showed substantial recoveries.

May wheat closed 4¼c off, and July 3½c off. May durum closed 4½c off, and July, 5½c off.

Oats closed ½c up at 51⅞c for on the track; rye 3c off at $1.07@1.08; barley, unchanged, at from 64c to 74c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed 1⅛c off at 63⅜c bid, and July, 1⅛c off at 63⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis, May wheat closed at $1.30, and calls at $1.41.

The wheat market was extremely nervous again today. After an early bulge of 1¼c around the opening, a slump extending to 5¼c from yesterday's close materialized as the result of reported further successes by the allies in forcing the passage of the Dardanelles, and a rumor to the effect that Turkey is about to sue for peace, issued by a New York news agency. On a furore of selling, stop-loss orders were caught on the way down, going to accentuate the weakness.

The world's visible supply statement showing a decrease of 1,882,000 bu in the week, being much smaller than had been expected, further aided the bears, and on top of that came the information that Argentine freight rates to Liverpool had been reduced, and that more steamers are now available for the service.

According to advices received by Duluth operators, seaboard exporters came into the market liberally on the break, and that resulted in steadying up prices materially around the noon hour. Sales of wheat at New York were placed at 1,200,000 bu and of oats 1,000,000 bu. Export trade was also said to have been worked at Chicago in wheat, oats and corn, and it was noted that the market in the latter grain held firm in the face of the weakness elsewhere through the list.

Receipts at Duluth are being well maintained, amounting to 88 cars of wheat today against 52 last year. Stocks of wheat in the elevators here are now 10,376,000 bu and with the recent liberal all-rail shipments to the East, supplies are not increasing to any extent.

May wheat opened ¾c up at $1.45, advanced ½c more, it then took a precipitate tumble to $1.39, and then recovered on export buying to $1.39¾, where it stood at the noon hour. July opened ¼c up at $1.39¾ and broke 4½c later.

Durum also shared fully in the slump. The May future opened unchanged at $1.50, gained 1½c, and then broke 6½c to $1.45. July declined 5¼c to $1.41.

Flaxseed Sells Down.

With wheat monopolizing the attention of traders, business in flaxseed was quiet and through lack of interest on the part of crushers and some realizing, the market sold off moderately.

May flax opened ⅛c off at $1.86, and closed ½c off at $1.85⅝ asked; July opened unchanged at $1.87¾, and closed ¾c off at $1.87 bid. September opened ⅝c off at $1.86, and closed 1⅛c off at $1.85¼ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c off at $1.65½ and July 1¼c off at $1.68¾ asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Fair inquiry for flour from Eastern jobbers on the break was reported by the Duluth-Superior Milling company today. As a result of the unsettled grain markets, however, the working of export trade is difficult and the booking of orders for foreign shipment is at a minimum. It is to be noted that the wholesale price of patent flour today averages around $7.25 a barrel, a reduction of 75c from its recent high point.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat opened dull and was inclined to be lower owing to weakness in America and more favorable political news. Spot market situation is generally steady, as shown by values, with millers absorbing and stocks decreasing. Cargo market was weak with winters offered at 9d decline, and La Plata at 3d to 6d lower. Indian news is favorable and Argentine weather fine. Much here still depends upon the relief of the Dardanelles and Argentine marketing.

"Corn was dull with spot neglected. Weakness in America was off-set by firmer La Plata offers."

Orders were caught by the break in all grains, while in wheat there was buying by a foreign government which has not recently been in the market."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Develop Strength After Nervousness at Start.

Chicago, March 2.—Wheat prices developed comparative strength today after showing much nervousness at the start. The fact that Liverpool quotations did not fully respond to yesterday's severe breaks on this side of the Atlantic had a good deal to do with restoring some measure of confidence to the bulls. Decreasing stocks in the Northwest counted also against the bears. The opening which varied from 1¾c to ⅛c up, was followed by a material advance all around.

Later all of the gains disappeared and the market sagged heavily with increased selling pressure and lack of support. Rumors were current that Turkey was to sue for peace, but were subsequently offset to some extent by large export sales. The close was unsettled, 1⅝c to 5¼c down compared with last night.

Trade in corn was mainly between pit speculators. Prospects of unsettled weather helped give the market a lift. After opening ½@⅝c lower to a like advance, prices scored a moderate general upturn.

Weakness set in afterward when wheat had a setback, but there was a reaction consequent upon improved demand from the seaboard. The close was firm, 1⅛@1¼c to 1½c above last night.

Oats rose with other grain. Buying, however, was only of a scattered sort.

Firmness of the hog market tended to rally provisions. Besides offerings were light, notwithstanding the bearish character of the monthly statement as to warehouse stocks on hand.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Pursues an Uncertain Course Owing to Foreign Situation.

Undertone Firm and General Rise Occurs in the Final Hour.

New York, March 2.—Stocks continued to reflect the cautious attitude of traders at the outset of today's market, price changes being of a mixed character. Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Lehigh Valley were fractionally lower, while Canadian Pacific, New York Central, New Haven and Ontario & Western made substantial gains. Specialties showed a better tone. Dealings were in much smaller volume than on the preceding day. In the London market Canadian Pacific was the only international issue to manifest strength.

Latest developments in the international situation, and the attitude of this government thereto, subordinated all other considerations in the local market today. Prices shadowed slightly, but the undertone was firm. The prominence of New Haven at a further advance was an unusual feature, that stock ranking with the leaders in point of activity. Reading, Union Pacific and United States Steel supplied about 40 per cent of the early trading. May Department stores recovered a part of its recent severe decline, but specialties as a whole were neglected.

Bonds irregular with more future sales at concessions.

Realizing in New Haven canceled its rise in the early afternoon, but other stocks advanced on an increased demand for Eastern railway issues. Specialties continued heavy.

Stocks pursued an uncertain course, the foreign situation giving rise to renewed apprehension.

Extensive buying of Reading resulted in another general rise in the final hour. The notable exceptions were distillers' issues, the stock and bonds scoring 5-point declines. The closing was steady.

DELEGATION OF ONE HUNDRED FROM TOWNS ON IRON RANGE OPPOSING COUNTY DIVISION

PROTEST IS ALSO MADE BY DULUTH

Best Citizens of Communities on Ranges Fight the Bill.

Bill for Initiative and Referendum Is Passed By House.

Senate Passes Bill for the Repeal of the Elwell Road Law.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—The bill repealing the Elwell road law passed the senate this afternoon, 39 to 25. It now goes to the house. The Bjorge-Bendixen bill proposing a constitutional amendment for the initiative and referendum was passed by the house this afternoon by a vote of 106 to 12.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Any idea which may have prevailed that the range country is a unit for county division was forever dissipated this morning when a delegation from the range towns, a hundred strong and including some of the best citizens of nearly every community, came to town to protest with all their power against the passage of the county division bill urged by Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing and his associates. With them were thirty delegates from Duluth. The bill is up this afternoon for a hearing before the house and senate committees in the house chamber, and a large attendance of senators and representatives was expected.

The way for the hearing of this afternoon was cleared yesterday afternoon by a motion made by Representative C. R. Ribenack of Duluth that the house chamber be set aside for the purpose. The motion was adopted unanimously. Mr. Ribenack said that those who would appear had come a long distance, and that it would be appreciated if as many as possible of the house members would attend.

Representative Sawyer of Minneapolis then moved that the house meet half an hour earlier than usual this morning, so as to get through in time for the vacation of the house chamber.

Shortly before noon both senate and house took up special orders likely to carry them into the afternoon. The house had up the Bjorge-Bendixen bill proposing a constitutional amendment for the initiative and referendum. It provides that 10 per cent of the voters can initiate proposed constitutional amendments, to be ratified by 60 per cent of those voting upon them; that 2 per cent of the voters may initiate proposed statutes, which are put up

THIRTEEN DEAD TAKEN FROM MINE

Trained Rescuers Penetrate Entire Length of Main Entry.

Hinton, W. Va., March 3.—Trained miners, working under the direction of engineers of the Federal bureau of mines, today penetrated the entire length of the main entry in the Layland mine, where an explosion occurred yesterday. Three bodies were recovered, bringing the known dead to thirteen.

Leaders of the rescue crews expressed the opinion that when the rooms were reached many more bodies would be found.

A carload of coffins arrived at the mine this morning.

Rescue parties late last night had brought out ten men alive and the bodies of nine victims of the explosion.

The work of rescue is continuing and aided by the crew of rescue car No. 8 of the United States bureau of mines, which reached the scene last night. From all available sources, it is estimated nearly 165 men are still in the mines. The explosion destroyed the stone arch over the main entrance of the mine and caused the death of A. E. Cooper, a negro. Cooper was delivering groceries within seventy-five yards of the mine entrance and was hurled against a telephone pole. A dog which accompanied him was killed also.

For an hour and a half after the explosion, heavy clouds of dense black smoke issued from the workings.

A crowd of anxious relatives of the entombed men stood around the entrance all day and night, but no bodies were allowed to be seen.

WARSAW BOMBARDED BY GERMAN AVIATOR.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, March 3, via Petrograd and London.—A German aviator today bombarded Warsaw. Most of the bombs fell in residential districts. Many windows were shattered, but there were no casualties.

Signs Big Bills.

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson today signed the sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying $156,922,760 and the fortifications bill, carrying $6,060,216.

COUNTY DIVISION WOULD BE BAD THING, SAY RANGE MEN

OFFERS RESOLUTION FOR STATEWIDE PROHIBITION

JOHN A. LARIMORE, Representative From Minneapolis.

Claim It Would Result in Higher Taxes Being Imposed.

Present County Not Too Large and Conditions Satisfactory.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the division of St. Louis county at this time would serve no real good.

That it is not demanded or supported by a large proportion of the population of the range country.

That it is being urged largely by an office-holding class.

That it would result in vastly increasing the burdens of taxation in both the new county and the old, without compensating advantages to anybody.

These are some of the arguments against the county division bill presented by range residents in a large mass of letters that have been received by Duluth members of the St. Louis county delegation, and that will be read this afternoon at the joint hearing before the senate and house committees on towns and counties on the county division bill now before both houses.

The number and character of these letters, and the character and standing of the writers, furnish ample evidence that sentiment on county division in the range country is by no means a unity, and that there is a very large and respectable element among the range business men that is absolutely against dividing the county at this time.

The letters come from all parts of the range, and from the rural districts of the proposed new county.

What John Owens Says.

One of the latter type of letters is from John Owens of Cook, one of the

PROHIBITION BEFORE HOUSE

Larimore of Minneapolis Offers Resolution for Constitutional Amendment.

Likely to Be Made Special Order at Early Date.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house really intended, yesterday afternoon, to settle down to a nice, quiet comfortable grind on the mass of bills that has accumulated on general orders.

An uneasy sense that too much time had been spent in fruitless debate had overcome the house membership, and it was with the best intentions in the world that the house met again after the noon recess.

But the house never touched general orders at all.

Instead, state-wide prohibition was projected into its midst like a shell from a 16-inch gun, and exploded there with a loud report. And the house spent the rest of the afternoon trying to get adjusted to the surprise.

The surprise—and it was a big one—cut several ways.

The measure came from men who had voted against and spoken against county option—John A. Larimore of Minneapolis and Levi M. Davis of Long Prairie. This was a of Long Prairie. This was such a surprise that it took the temperance members a long time to decide whether they ought to fight it or support it—and some of them haven't decided that yet.

Moreover, it not only came in, but it was followed promptly by a pro-

PASS THE RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL

Senators Roused From Sleep to Vote on Big Supply Bill.

Washington, March 3.—At 6:37 a. m. the senate passed the rivers and harbors bill, the last of the big supply bills to come before it and then recessed until 11 o'clock.

It was only by taking the unprecedented step of arousing the vice president and requesting his attendance that a quorum was obtained to pass the bill. Shortly after 4 o'clock Senator Oliver raised the point of no quorum in order to get full consideration for an amendment authorizing a new dam in the Pittsburg harbor.

Only forty-six senators could be found and two more were needed to make a quorum. A motion was made and carried for the issuance of warrants for the arrest of absentees. Senator Bryan temporarily in the chair declined to sign the warrants on the ground they could be signed only by the vice president or President pro tempore Senator Clarke.

After parliamentary wrangle, however, Senator Stone moved that the vice president be requested to attend. This was carried and the vice president was roused from his bed about 5 o'clock. Just before he arrived, however, Senators Nelson, Page and Dillingham reported and made a quorum. The vice president, however, resumed the chair. The rivers and harbors bill passed the senate substantially without amendment.

GERMAN NOTE ENCOURAGING

Unofficial Reports Please Administration at Washington.

Germany Willing to Accept Proposals From United States.

Washington, March 3.—Administration officials were manifestly encouraged today by the unofficial accounts of the German note. While unofficial reports from London on Great Britain's attitude on the same subject have so far been indefinite, officials here take the view that the German note may have some influence upon it.

They hold to the view that the position of the United States is absolutely in accord with international law, although they realize that Great Britain has taken a very advanced stand in her latest note.

Representative Metz, who is in communication with users of dyestuffs in the United States, said at the White House today that there was practically no supply of dyestuffs on hand in the United States at present and only a few days' supply in prospect. American textile mills are practically dependent upon German dyestuffs.

Germany Willing to Accept.

Berlin, March 3, via London.—In its reply to the American note concerning the German naval war zone, the German government agrees that, under certain conditions, its submarines will halt and investigate merchantmen and will proceed against only such vessels as are found to be carrying contraband or are owned in nations hostile to Germany.

The reply declares Germany's readi-

GERMAN STATEMENT ON LOSS OF SHIPS

Says Evelyn and Carib Failed to Heed Notices to Mariners.

Washington, March 3.—A statement issued by the German embassy here yesterday announced that the American steamers Evelyn and Carib, recently sunk by mines in the North Sea, were lost because they failed to heed "advice contained in the notices to mariners."

The statement follows:

"The American ships Evelyn and Carib were lost in the North Sea because, in opposition to the advice contained in the notices to mariners, they took their course along the East Frisian islands. According to statements made by the captain of the Evelyn, this course was followed upon advice of a British man-of-war.

"The imperial government strongly advises all ships sailing from the Dutch coast to the bay of Helgoland to take their course from Terschelling lightboat to about the 55th degree, then to Listertief, where they are to await a German pilot."

"HOBO" MANAGERS STEAL ALL BUT SIGN

Restaurant Furnished By Chicago Women Is Completely Dismantled.

Chicago, March 3.—The equipment of a West Side restaurant furnished by a Mrs. Rebecca Lipshultz and other charitably inclined Jewish women disappeared yesterday together with the four "hobo" managers the women had selected to run the place.

The restaurant was planned to serve a nourishing meal to the needy for 1 cent.

Detectives to whom Mrs. Lipshultz reported the matter have recovered most of the utensils which had been sold to several small restaurants of the neighborhood. "The only thing they left was the sign," said Mrs. Lipshultz in reporting the theft. "They even took the gas range."

CONGRESS DRAWS TO A CLOSE; CONFRONTED WITH BIG TASKS

Less Than Twenty-Four Hours Remain to Complete Work.

House and Senate Conferees Deadlocked Over Rural Credits.

Washington, March 3.—The sixty-third congress swung into the last twenty-four hours of its life today confronted with a mass and jumble of work which must be done before noon tomorrow. Both house and senate will be in practically continuous session until adjournment. One by one, the accumulation of bills and resolutions was being disposed of and sent to the White House for President Wilson's signature, but the closing hours were not without threats of failure for some measures.

Conferees Deadlocked.

Today house and senate conferees were deadlocked over the rural credits amendments to the agricultural appropriation bill; there was likewise a deadlock over the railway mail pay provisions in the postoffice bill. Ultimatums to abandon the disputed points or let the bills fall, already were being exchanged by the contending sides. No difference appeared in the other large bills which were not sure to be composed.

So much work on the appropriation bills remained to be done that administration leaders did not hope to see any of the Democratic legislative program passed. They expected that the ship bill, the Philippine bill, and other measures would have to go over for the next congress.

Watching Closing Hours.

Senators Root, Burton, Smoot and

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Mrs. Helen Angle to Be Tried for Death of Waldo Ballou.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 3.—The trial of Mrs. Helen Angle of Stamford, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Waldo R. Ballou, a prominent resident of Stamford, was set for the superior court here today. Mrs. Angle is charged with having struck Ballou blows that knocked him down a stairway and so caused his death. It was expected that the testimony of the accused woman herself would be the chief defense.

Ballou was found unconscious on the street shortly before midnight on the night of June 23 last, in front of the building where Mrs. Angle had apartments. He died at the hospital about an hour later without regaining consciousness. The police found blood stains leading to Mrs. Angle's apartments and she was arrested. It was the contention of the police that after Ballou had fallen down the stairs, he had been dragged out of the building by Mrs. Angle.

Because of the defendant's shattered health, the trial had been postponed from time to time.

NAVAL EXPERT IS DISPLEASED

Does Not Like American Note Nor Germany's Answer Thereto.

Von Reventlow Says Proposal Would Make Void Submarine War.

Berlin, March 3, via London—Count von Reventlow, a writer on naval subjects, has an article in today's Tages Zeitung, in which he expresses his thorough displeasure both with the American note to Germany concerning the naval war zone and the submarine blockade of the British isles and the German answer to this communication.

In this Germany substantially agrees to accept many of the informal suggestions of the United States made with the idea of bettering the situation arising from the carrying out of the German blockade and the British retaliatory measures, provided Great Britain yields on her side in certain directions, particularly in the matter of shutting out all food shipments to Germany. This American note was delivered to the German foreign office by Ambassador Gerard the evening of Feb. 22, and the German answer was transmitted to Washington several days ago.

Almost Alone.

In his attitude of opposition this writer is almost alone among German commentators, Die Post being the only other paper disposed to express dissatisfaction with the German answer.

Count von Reventlow says the American proposals would have the effect of making Germany's submarine war impossible and Germany's answer gives heed to this demand. Concerning Germany's willingness to proceed according to the general international rules against hostile and neutral merchantmen, provided the CONSTANTINOPLE BANKS MOVING TO ASIA MINOR.

London, March 3.—Telegrams received today by diplomats in London confirm the report that the Ottoman bank and the German bank of Constantinople are transferring their effects to Konieh, Asia Minor, and that the archives of the Turkish government already have been removed to that point.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, March 3, via Petrograd, and London—The Russian army of the Caucasus driving the Turkish forces before it, has reached the river Khopachas, the estuary of the Tchoruk in Armenia. This advance by the Russians cuts the route of Turkish reinforcements and supplies from Constantinople to the Caucasion frontier, through Khopa, Turkish Armenia, and isolated a large section of Turkish territory.

The isolated section includes the districts of Ardanuch, Ardahan, Olti and Sari Kamysh.

The Russian forces advanced from Batum, on the Black sea near the Turkish border and were opposed by the Turks at every step. They were assisted by Russian warships which cleared the shore of Turkish forces and cut off successively several avenues of Turkish communications by sea until only the Khopa route remained.

After a battle of three days this last route was closed effectively.

TWO ANARCHISTS ARE INDICTED

Grand Jury Acts Promptly in Cases of Bomb Throwers.

New York, March 3.—Two hours after it began consideration of the cases of Frank Abarno and Charles Carbone, the anarchists charged with plotting a dynamite war against churches and men of wealth, the grand jury today returned indictments charging them with placing a lighted bomb in a public place in violation of a penal code. Conviction would mean serving of a maximum penalty of twenty-five years.

Emilio Poligani, the young detective who, under the name of Frank Baldo, was taken into the confidence of the anarchists, was the principal witness summoned before the grand jury.

It was not until today, when Abarno and Carbone were brought before the lineup at police headquarters, that they were certain that the man they had known as Baldo was a detective. Carbone was heard to say:

"I warned you to be careful and now you see what the truth was."

WHY IS IT?

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A Russian victory of importance in the war with Turkey is made known in a dispatch from Tiflis, Transcaucasia. A Russian army advanced from Batum, on the Black sea, into Turkish territory, cut off the Turkish army's communications route to Constantinople, and isolated large districts of Turkish territory.

Russia's campaign in the north has developed no new features. Although Petrograd states that the Russians are everywhere on the offensive, this movement apparently is not being pressed with vigor, except in the few districts. Today's report from the German war office says that several attempts of the Russians to advance were repelled.

Active operations in France are still confined principally to the strip of the front in the Champagne region. The French war office announces that a long stretch of German first line positions is now under control of the allies, but the Berlin military chiefs repeat their assertion that the French have been repulsed and compelled to retire to their own positions. At one point in the Vosges, Berlin announces, the Germans have made an advance of five miles in the last few days.

The Montenegrin consul general at London was advised that an Austrian squadron had bombarded the Montenegrin port of Antivari.

An Austro-German submarine squadron, composed of six submarines and a number of torpedo boats, has left the Austrian naval base of Pola, on the Adriatic, presumably to strike at the Anglo-French fleet at the Dardanelles. Athens dispatches state that nine battleships of the allied fleet have advanced to the narrowest part of the Dardanelles, bombarding Turkish fortifications and troops, and landing a force which scattered a Turkish garrison. It is probable, however, that these dispatches refer to operations on Monday before the attack on the Dardanelles was interrupted by a storm, as was announced by the British admiralty.

Italy continues military preparations, having taken up in parliament legislation for increasing the strength of the army. The minister of war announced that all classes were asking to enter the army.

A German correspondent on the Galician front telegraphs to Berlin that the Russians have not won a single complete success in their efforts to regain their lost positions on the crest of the Carpathians. Heavy fighting continues in the snow, the Russians making desperate efforts to ward off the danger of an encircling movement.

German opinion, as reflected in the Berlin press, is divided in regard to the American note to Germany and Great Britain. Some newspapers share the view of the government that the note is an indication of the disinterested friendliness of this country. Other commentators, however, suggest that the note was inspired by regard for American business interests.

ROLLER TOWELS WILL LOWER SCORINGS

Hotels and Bakeries Must Banish Them; Inspector After Toilet Rooms.

In the future local hotels, bakeries and restaurants will suffer low scorings unless they immediately remove roller towels and other articles dangerous to public health.

This warning was given out this morning by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department, in speaking of the quarterly scoring made by Bakery Inspector Joseph Pratts and published in The Hernid last evening.

"We have not reduced these scores because proprietors used roller towels," said Dr. Webster, "but from now on the percentage marks will suffer severe penalties if this law is violated. Many institutions are now using individual and sanitary towels, but there are as many more, who completely disregard this law.

"Many of the proprietors take great pride in their scores and there is an apparent rivalry to keep above the 90 per cent mark, but they will suffer in the future if roller towels are found in their institutions. I have given Inspector Pratt instructions to be on the lookout for violators and to make the scorings accordingly."

Dr. Webster is also planning to make an extensive campaign for more cleanliness in wash and toilet rooms throughout the city, many complaints having been reported to him during the last few months.

Stereopticon slides were used to illustrate the talk.

LIGHT AND SHADOW OF POLICE COURT

HIGH DIVE FROM CURB.

But Carl Wyman Landed in Jail With Badly Skinned Nose.

ANNETTE KELLERMAN is a good diver, but a mere man, with a curbstone as his spring board, can't duplicate her performance, according to Carl Wyman, who exhibited a badly skinned nasal appendage in municipal court this morning.

Wyman, who said his business was picking up, was arrested by Patrolman Nelson Perry about 10 o'clock last night, after his high dive to the street, charged with drunkenness. He furnished $10 bail.

In court today he said:

"I didn't sleep a wink all night, your honor."

He was so voluble in explaining his loss of sleep that the judge ordered him returned to a cell until he could sober up, increasing his bail to $20 so that he wouldn't lose any more rest.

DICE WOULDN'T MIND.

No Wonder, When Harry Bryde Couldn't Talk to Them.

"Seven-come you 'leven!" cried Harry Bryde, a news vender, yesterday afternoon, but the 'leven wouldn't come, and he blamed it on Morris Krupinski, a spectator, who, Bryde said, was in the way.

"How can a man talk to those dice when you're right at his elbow—buttin' in all the time?" he said with righteous wrath.

Convinced by his own argument, Bryde "took a punch" at Morris and was arrested by Patrolman O. Olson, charged with disorderly conduct.

He was found guilty in municipal court yesterday afternoon and sentence will be pronounced this afternoon.

DID HE BUY OR STEAL?

Prisoner Has John Hardy's Watch—Says He Bought It.

Arrested on a charge of stealing a watch from John Hardy, who roomed next door, John Koski, aged 30, told the police last night that he had bought the timepiece from Hardy for $6 only an hour before. Hardy also bemoans the loss of $20 in currency, which he says he had in his trousers pocket. The timepiece is worth $35, according to the former owner.

Both men room at the Sixth avenue hotel, Sixth avenue west and Michigan street.

Koski was charged with grand larceny in the second degree after being arrested by Patrolman Ricketts and W. Monahan. Police believe that Koski entered Hardy's room while he was asleep and took the valuables.

He appeared in municipal court this morning, pleaded not guilty, and will be given an examination on March 5.

BITTER DEBATE IN WISCONSIN SENATE

Resolution Asking University Professor for Advice the Cause.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—The Wisconsin senate engaged in the bitterest debate thus far this session when Senator Bray's resolution inviting Prof. Gilmore of the state university to advise it on the water power legislation was pending.

The senate refused to adopt it without committee action and referred it to the state affairs committee by a vote of 18 to 12.

A resolution to extend the legislative proffer of welcome to any member of the university faculty whenever his help shall be desired, but making reference to no particular measure was finally adopted, 20 to 10.

A resolution asking congress to pass a bill pensioning postoffice employes who had served thirty years and had reached the age of 70 years was killed by the assembly.

A bill permitting pupils at school to be absent to attend confirmation classes was indefinitely postponed.

The assembly discussed the Heim bill disfranchising students most of the forenoon and deferred action on it until tonight.

LIGHT AND SHADOW OF POLICE COURT

HIGH DIVE FROM CURB.

But Carl Wyman Landed in Jail With Badly Skinned Nose.

ANNETTE KELLERMAN is a good diver, but a mere man, with a curbstone as his spring board, can't duplicate her performance, according to Carl Wyman, who exhibited a badly skinned nasal appendage in municipal court this morning.

Wyman, who said his business was picking up, was arrested by Patrolman Nelson Perry about 10 o'clock last night, after his high dive to the street, charged with drunkenness. He furnished $10 bail.

In court today he said:

"I didn't sleep a wink all night, your honor."

He was so voluble in explaining his loss of sleep that the judge ordered him returned to a cell until he could sober up, increasing his bail to $20 so that he wouldn't lose any more rest.

DICE WOULDN'T MIND.

No Wonder. When Harry Bryde Couldn't Talk to Them.

"Seven-come you 'leven!" cried Harry Bryde, a news vender, yesterday afternoon, but the 'leven wouldn't come, and he blamed it on Morris Krupinski, a spectator, who, Bryde said, was in the way.

"How can a man talk to those dice when you're right at his elbow—buttin' in all the time?" he said with righteous wrath.

Convinced by his own argument, Bryde "took a punch" at Morris and was arrested by Patrolman O. Olson, charged with disorderly conduct.

He was found guilty in municipal court yesterday afternoon and sentence will be pronounced this afternoon.

DID HE BUY OR STEAL?

Prisoner Has John Hardy's Watch—Says He Bought It.

Arrested on a charge of stealing a watch from John Hardy, who roomed next door, John Koski, aged 30, told the police last night that he had bought the timepiece from Hardy for $6 only an hour before. Hardy also bemoans the loss of $20 in currency, which he says he had in his trousers pocket. The timepiece is worth $25, according to the former owner.

Both men room at the Sixth avenue hotel, Sixth avenue west and Michigan street.

Koski was charged with grand larceny in the second degree after being arrested by Patrolman Ricketts and W. Monahan. Police believe that Koski entered Hardy's room while he was asleep and took the valuables.

He appeared in municipal court this morning, pleaded not guilty, and will be given an examination on March 5.

"TRAMPS" ARE WELCOME

Spanish War Veterans Will Give Hard Times Social.

"Weary Willies" and "Sleeping Johns" will be much in evidence next Wednesday night at the courthouse, when members of Camp McEwen, Spanish war veterans, will give a hard times social.

"The shabbier the clothes you wear the better," instructed F. L. Bradley, senior vice commander, yesterday, "and don't forget that if anybody wears a white collar, or a piece of jewelry, he will be court martialed with small chance of acquittal."

Prizes will be given for the best costume, which, however, must be adapted for street wear. As a result, old-style, much-tattered costumes are in demand.

BITTER DEBATE IN WISCONSIN SENATE

Resolution Asking University Professor for Advice the Cause.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—The Wisconsin senate engaged in the bitterest debate thus far this session when Senator Bray's resolution inviting Prof. Gilmore of the state university to advise it on the water power legislation was pending.

The senate refused to adopt it without committee action and referred it to the state affairs committee by a vote of 18 to 12.

A resolution to extend the legislative proffer of welcome to any member of the university faculty whenever his help shall be desired, but making reference to no particular measure was finally adopted, 20 to 10.

A resolution asking congress to pass a bill pensioning postoffice employes who had served thirty years and had reached the age of 70 years was killed by the assembly.

A bill permitting pupils at school to be absent to attend confirmation classes was indefinitely postponed.

The assembly discussed the Heim bill disfranchising students most of the forenoon and deferred action on it until tonight.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES

Rehearsals for Minstrel Show in Progress—Cabinet Meeting Thursday Evening.

Rehearsals for the minstrel show of the boys' department Y. M. C. A. are being held every Tuesday after the high school meeting, and the finishing touches are now being put on the big production which will be given in the boys' department auditorium Thursday and Friday evening, March 18 and 19. The proceeds of the show will go towards the purchase of a war canoe for the summer camp.

The chorus will be composed of fifty voices. There will be four end men and their jokes will all be up to the minute. Laurence Duby, who appeared as end man in the first show ever given by the club, will occupy one of the ends. His partner will be Lincoln Brown, another former member of the club but now a member of the Y. M. C. A. Townsend Hoopes and Russell Duncan.

In addition to the minstrels, there will be a short sketch and moving pictures.

For Friday night the club's committee has called a meeting of all the hustlers, for 8 o'clock. After the rally there will be the usual Friday night social.

The special feature will be the discovery of the mysterious member. His description is given and the first boy who identifies him Friday night will be awarded the prize.

Other features of the evening will be games, stunts for points by the hustlers and refreshments.

The boys' department cabinet will meet Thursday at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. F. Salyards, 2311 East Third street. The outing for Saturday will be an afternoon of skiing and sliding at the Duluth ski hill. Members of the boys' department will be guests of the club. The party will leave at 2 o'clock. Sunday, the knights of Sir Galahad will be addressed by E. W. Peck of Minneapolis. The Sunday club will not meet at the boys' department this week but will attend an extension meeting at West Duluth.

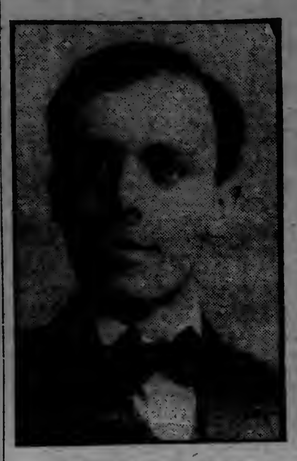
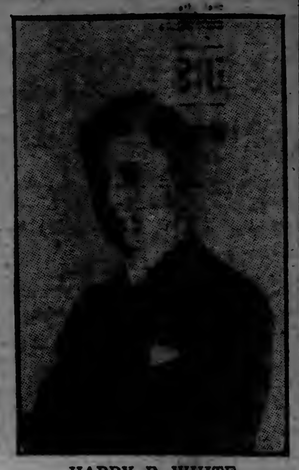
FUNCK SUCCEEDS WHITE AS ASSISTANT COUNTY ATTORNEY



RICHARD M. FUNCK.



HARRY F. WHITE.

Richard M. Funck, practicing attorney at the Duluth bar for the last two years, has been appointed third assistant county attorney to succeed Harry F. White, who resigned recently to engage in the practice of his profession on his own account at Hibbing. County Attorney Greene announced the appointment yesterday afternoon. It will become effective March 15.

Mr. White, retiring assistant, has been two years in the office of public prosecutor and during that time made a splendid record for himself and for the office. He has a wide circle of friends in Duluth who will regret his departure from the city. Previous to his service in the county attorney's office, Mr. White was connected with the law offices of E. P. Towne. He will move his family to Hibbing this month.

Mr. Funck, who will take up the duties of assistant county attorney, is 33 years old, married, and a graduate of the law department of the University of Minnesota, having received his degree in 1906. Prior to coming to Duluth two years ago he was engaged in the practice of law in Cass county for seven years. Mr. Funck has been maintaining offices in the Alworth building.

GERMAN PRISONERS ON THEIR WAY HOME

First Trainload of Maimed Men to Be Exchanged Reaches Geneva.

Geneva, via Paris, March 3.—The first trainload of maimed German prisoners of war who are to be exchanged for wounded French soldiers arrived here from Lyons, homeward bound, at 9:15 o'clock last night. The special glided slowly into the station between lanes of Swiss troops. The cars were immediately boarded by Red Cross nurses, in their uniforms of white, who distributed gifts of oranges, chocolate and other delicacies among the sufferers, relieving their French co-workers of the responsibility of caring for the passengers.

Swiss government physicians went rapidly through the train but found that none of the 240 Germans aboard required medical attention. All of them seemed cheerful and contented. They accepted gratefully the gifts showered upon them. There was no demonstration as the public was excluded from the station while the special was there.

Most of the Germans had been crippled by the loss of a leg or an arm and many of them had lost two limbs. Most of them were smoking cigarettes and all were making the best of their misfortune. They paid tribute to the kind treatment they had received in French hospitals but all declared they would be glad to reach home. After a long stop the train left for Schaffhausen, at the northernmost point in Switzerland, where it will pass the train carrying incapacitated French prisoners on their way home.

UNTRUE, SAYS WOOD.

Denies His Department Has Anything to Do With American Legion.

Washington, March 3.—Maj.-Gen. Wood, in a telegram today to Secretary Garrison, characterized as untrue statements that propaganda had been issued from his departmental headquarters for the organization of an American legion of reservists.

Gen. Wood's telegram was prompted by protests from Bishop Greer and other members of the American League to Limit Armament. He characterized their statement as "audacious."

"I called Bishop Greer up," said Gen. Wood's message, "and asked him his authority, and he replied the press only. I informed him that his statement that propaganda had been issued from these headquarters was untrue and demanded that he correct it and he promised to do so. A more audacious misstatement made without inquiries or investigation has seldom come to my attention and I have so informed the bishop."

CHANGES FLAG ON FIRST DAY OF WAR

Captain of Steamship Tells of His Experience With British Boat.

New York, March 3.—The British steamer Gibraltar reached here today from Gibraltar with a tale of her conversion from the German to the British flag on the first day of the war while she was on her maiden voyage.

For a few weeks the vessel was the German steamer Schneefels, 3,637 tons net, brand new and bound from Calcutta to Boston with produce from the East Indies. She steamed from the Mediterranean into the strait of Gibraltar. A British torpedo boat ran close in, hailed the German and ordered the captain to bear up for Gibraltar.

"To blazes with you," the captain shouted back. "I'm going to Boston."

The torpedo boat's guns were trained on the ship. A threat to open fire caused the Schneefels' captain to obey the order. Later the Schneefels was ordered sold by a prize court.

RUBLEE WILL RECEIVE RECESS APPOINTMENT.

Washington, March 3.—George Rublee of Cornish, N. H., whose nomination to the Federal trade commission has not been confirmed by the senate, will get a recess appointment from President Wilson Friday. Administration leaders said today they did not expect his confirmation at the present session of the senate.

In executive session late last night, the senate confirmed the nominations of four of five members of the Federal trade commission, withholding confirmation only from George Rublee, Progressive, of New Hampshire.

REGENTS HAD NO AUTHORITY

Wisconsin Attorney General Rules on Sending Teachers to Madison.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—That the normal school regents have no authority to permit those in the service of a normal school to come before the legislature at public expense to appear on legislation not of direct interest to the normals is the effect of an opinion of Attorney General Walter C. Owen delivered to the assembly today. The opinion is rendered in response to a resolution offered by Assemblyman W. C. Bradley of Hudson and passed by the legislature. This resolution asked the attorney general whether the board of normal school regents has power to permit any member of a normal school faculty to appear before the legislature in opposition to the repeal of the county board of education bill, and while so engaged to continue on salary.

Prof. C. E. Patzer, against whom the resolution was directed, appeared before the legislature early in February in connection with rural school legislation after the board of normal regents, upon request of the governor, passed a resolution favoring Patzer's appearance.

Thirteen members of the Duluth Launderers' club held an informal dinner at the Commercial club last night, the gathering being purely social in nature. This club meets twice a month, and is composed of the officers of the various laundry establishments in Duluth.

No formalities were observed at the dinner last night, as it is the custom of the club to hold similar dinners "semi-occasionally."

DENIES SAMARITANS WILL INCREASE RATE.

C. E. Lovett, imperial good samaritan of the order of Modern Samaritans, denies the statement attributed to S. D. Works, state insurance commissioner, to the effect that the order will raise its rates on older members. Mr. Works declared that 4,663 of the old members are not paying a sufficient amount. Mr. Lovett declared that the statement is without good foundation and asserted that no increase in rates of older members is planned. Said Mr. Lovett this morning:

"The order was never so prosperous as it is at present. The assets are more than 35 per cent larger than they were eighteen months ago, and the death rate has been reduced from 9.24 per thousand in 1913 to 7.6 in 1914. The order has paid more than $800,000 in death losses and with every authenticated death claim paid it has more than $33,000 cash in its mortuary fund."

BRAZILIANS STOP ANOTHER OUTBREAK

Plot Discovered to Oust the Governor of Rio Janeiro.

Rio Janeiro, March 3.—Discovery of a plot which is said to have had as its object the ousting of Nilo Pecanha as governor of the state of Rio Janeiro, has resulted in several arrests. Among those involved are sailors on the battleships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo. A rigid inquiry is being conducted, and it is believed the movement is similar to the naval mutiny of 1910. Official announcement has been made that no officers were involved in the conspiracy which is considered a complete failure.

Richard Kirk, a Brazilian aviator licensed by the French Aeroclub, was killed when his machine overturned at a great height while he was reconnoitering over a rebel camp in the state of Parana. The naming of a new cabinet caused rioting in Rio Janeiro in November of last year but nothing has been heard of serious difficulties since that time. There has been no recent mention of disturbances in the state of Parana. Most of the trouble last year was in Rio Janeiro and in the state of Ceara.

Sailors on the battleships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo mutinied Nov. 22, 1910, murdered four of their officers and bombarded Rio Janeiro. The mutineers sent the government a strongly worded ultimatum demanding an increase in pay, the abolition of corporal punishment and several other unpopular naval regulations. The movement was believed not to have political significance. Three days after the mutiny began, both chambers passed resolution granting amnesty to the sailors involved in the revolt and the mutineers surrendered Nov. 26.

RELIEF SHIP STARTS OFF BY GOING ASHORE.

Norfolk, Va., March 3.—The British steamer St. Helena, carrying supplies from Charleston, S. C., to Rotterdam, for Belgian relief, is ashore off Currituck life-saving station, on the North Carolina coast, according to advices here today.

The St. Helena, a vessel of 2,708 tons, left Charleston Feb. 28. Her cargo, consisting of 7,000 tons of food and clothing, is the gift of citizens of South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia.

MAIL CLERK KILLED.

Government Employe on Devils Lake-Fargo Line Loses Life.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—John S. Jorgenson, mail clerk on the Great Northern train 196, Fargo-Devils Lake line, was killed Monday by falling from the train a few miles east of Finley. It is surmised that he lost his balance and fell from the fast moving train. An unopened mail sack which was lying in front of the door when the train arrived at Finley, is pointed out as an obstruction over which he might have stumbled. He was missed by the train crew at Hope and a search was begun by section men. His body was found lying on the ice under a railroad bridge. A wife and two sons survive him. It is understood the wife is in the asylum in Jamestown and the two boys are with their grandparents at Hope, where the funeral services will be held.

HOLLAND NEUTRAL.

Rumors That Netherlands Will Enter War Are Without Foundation.

The Hague, via London, March 3.—Reports reaching Holland from the United States and other countries indicate that the belief has been spreading recently that The Netherlands is about to enter into the hostilities. Semi-official circles here declare that such reports are without foundation. It is asserted that Holland's attitude of complete neutrality has not changed, but that she continues determined to protect her national rights.

Henry Van Dyke, the American minister, referring to the reports, said:

Naturally the various naval declarations have caused considerable anxiety among the neutral nations, which, like Holland and the United States, have large commercial interests. But I see no signs whatever of any change in the attitude of Holland. She is both peaceful and calm and as strongly resolved as ever to do all in her power to preserve her neutrality and maintain her rights.'

There has been a considerable influx of Germans into Holland recently. The hotels in The Hague and in other cities are crowded. It is understood many Germans are leaving their country owing to the effects of the food restrictions.

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYE ACQUITTED BY JURY.

Quincy, Ill., March 3.—An appeal to the "unwritten law," yesterday resulted in the acquittal of William Young, a postoffice employe charged with taking letters from the United States mail. Officials here believe this plea to be unique in United States district court annals. It was brought out by attorneys for the defense that Young took from the mails only letters written by his wife to a man with whom, Young charged, she had been intimate. In his charge to the jury, Judge K. M. Landis said:

"You will not ravish the goddess of justice by finding this man not guilty."

TEACH PUPILS OF CONTAGION

Health Director Webster Would Have It Part of School Curriculum.

Will Ask Board of Education to Permit Lectures and Examinations.

Lectures on contagious diseases and public health by local nurses and physicians, and the introduction of such a subject in the curriculum of the Duluth graded and high schools, are advocated by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department, who is planning to take the matter up with the board of education at its meeting next Friday night.

Dr. Webster's object is to acquaint the rising generations with the causes and cures of contagious diseases, so that these can some day be eradicated forever.

"It is only a matter of education," he said, in explaining his plan this morning, "and the work may require ten or twenty years, but the results will be astonishing."

"When Pasteur, the famous scientist, discovered germs in a human body," said Dr. Webster, "he declared that within twenty years the people could eradicate the disease forever—that is, if the people were properly educated. But the people were not taught properly, nor are they being taught at the present time, and the future mothers of our country will know no more about these diseases than do mothers of today or of a generation ago."

Dr. Webster plans to have lectures at least once a month in every school in the city, by both nurses and physicians, while regular examinations will be given to test pupils, just as is done with the other subjects in the curriculum.

Practically all the insurance companies of the country, Dr. Webster declares, are heartily in favor of such a plan, and he is of the opinion that it will be indorsed unanimously by local life underwriters. An educational program similar to this, although on a less general plan, is now being tried out at Rochester, N. Y., Dr. Webster said.

SLEDS COLLIDE.

George Lyes Sustains a Broken Leg While Coasting.

While coasting down the West Fifth street hill shortly after 9 o'clock last night, the bob on which George Lyes, age 19, was riding, was struck by a larger sled, coming down another street at right angles, and the boy sustained a broken leg. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital in the police emergency, and attended by Dr. Frank Lyman. His left leg was broken below the knee.

The Lyes boy, with several companions, was going east along Fifth street, when their sled struck the other bob, which had come down the Lake avenue hill and turned west on Fifth street. An unidentified girl, one of Lyes' party, was slightly bruised.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lyes, 218 Seventh avenue west.

MACCABEES CONVENE HERE

Open Largest Convention Ever Held By Lodge in State.

Great Growth Reported; Dr. Haas Re-Elected Great Commander.

What is probably the largest convention ever held by the Knights of the Maccabees in Minnesota was opened this forenoon at the Maccabee hall on Lake avenue north. There were forty-seven accredited delegates, 195 alternates, and 350 visitors from Duluth and other points. Great growth and development both numerically and financially was reported from all parts of the state.

All of the Maccabee strongholds of the state were well represented. Large delegations were present from the Twin Cities, Little Falls, Mankato, and many other cities. Two Pullman cars from St. Paul and three from Minneapolis were crowded with delegates and visitors.

Hicken Welcomes Guests.

The delegates were given the keys to the city by Commissioner W. A.

DR. E. H. HAAS.

Hicken, who spoke in place of Mayor W. I. Prince now in St. Paul. "Mayor" Hicken's address was responded to by Dr. E. H. Haas of St. Paul, great commander of the Maccabees.

As the meeting is the regular quadrennial convention of the order, reports for the last four years were made by the various officers and committees. According to reports the lodges of the whole state have been reorganized during that period, and remarkable progress has been made. Every Maccabee lodge in Minnesota is now active.

During this period the order has lost 191 members by death. To the widows and orphans of these deceased members the order has paid $246,000 from the great camp and more than $6,000 relief has been paid directly. Various tents have paid more than $300,000 relief and more than $6,000 by the great camp for partial relief.

Insurance Costs Light.

During four years the order has written more than $2,475,000 insurance and 2,057 policies have been taken out. The average policy is for $1,040. The average cost for each policy was less than $8 and the cost of management for each $1,000 has been $1.20.

The net increase in membership has been 2,500; in other words the membership in this state has been nearly doubled.

The remarkable growth of the insurance of the order in the state was shown by the report for the last three years, which follows: Insurance written in 1912, $512,000; 1913, $592,000; 1914, $635,000.

Only One Contest.

The election of officers took place this afternoon. There was only one contest on, and this was between E. M. Sutherland, Minneapolis, the present great record keeper, and J. B. Gelineau of Duluth. It was expected that Dr. Haas would be chosen to succeed himself as great commander by a unanimous vote.

Among the noted guests of the convention will be D. P. Markey of Detroit, Mich., supreme commander of the order, who was expected to reach Duluth this afternoon and remain throughout the convention. He is expected to address the convention tonight. His address will be listened to with great interest as the Maccabees say that he is the best authority on fraternal insurance in the country, and that topic is now causing an unusual amount of discussion.

Among other features of tonight's meeting will be work by eight picked degree teams.

REGALLS OLD AGITATION

Discussion of Statue for Courthouse Square Is Revived.

Movement for Rodin Figure of Du Lhut Allowed to Rest.

The newly started agitation for the passage of a bill which will permit the Duluth commission to levy a special tax for the erection of a G. A. R. statue on courthouse square, recalls the effort made not long ago to arrange for the erection of a statue of Greysolon Du Lhut, the famous explorer and French gentleman after whom this city was named.

The idea, when broached, received instant approval, for it was felt by the public generally that a heroic statue of the man whose name the city bears, carved by a sculptor of first ability, would not only be a fitting honor to the man who really opened up this part of the world, but would be of the greatest value to the city; and also that it would have a significance that no other similar project could possess.

That feeling is still extant, and it is still hoped by many people that such a statue will be erected in courthouse square. These people, who so express themselves, qualify their observations by expressing the keenest and most kindly feeling toward the old soldiers, and their venture.

Business depression checked the Du Lhut statue movement, as it affected everything else. F. E. House, who was chairman of the committee having the matter in charge, said this morning when asked about it, that there is no longer any organization.

Of Universal Interest.

"It really is a shame, however, to let such a movement fall through," declared Mr. House. "A statue of Greysolon Du Lhut on courthouse square would be a thing in which every Duluthian would be able to take the keenest pride and a tribute by the citizens to the man who laid the foundation of the city which would attract world-wide attention. It was suggested that we have M. Rodin of Paris make the statue. M. Rodin is one of the greatest, if not the very greatest sculptor living, and when Mrs. House and myself visited his studio in Paris and suggested to him the thing Duluthians had in mind, the old man grew enthusiastic. He instantly grasped the idea and forthwith began to form his idea of what would be the best thing in the way of an heroic figure of the great explorer. Even though M. Rodin is a very old man, the fire of youth and the brilliancy of his mind have not been quenched. He would like the work and would give Duluth his best; and it would be surprising, could I tell you, how cheaply he would do the statue, because the idea appealed to him.

"Not only would the fruition of the idea and the erection of the statue be a great thing for Duluth, but the fact that Duluth would have the only heroic statue on either of the American continents carved by the greatest sculptor of the age, would, in itself, be something of marvelous value to the city. As time went on the statue would become more and more valuable and in future years would be, most probably, one of the greatest works of the sculptor's art on the continent, something that art lovers would come long distances to see.

Must Not Delay.

"Duluth is losing much of value—much more than her people appreciate—if this opportunity is permitted to pass. I am in hope that the movement will be revived and carried through; but it must not be delayed for Rodin is an old, old man, and life gives no guarantees, and death halts for no contracts.

"As to the payment for the statue, my idea is that, while it could and should be donated by a few men in Duluth who are more than able to bear the expense, the citizens as a whole, school children and all, should be given an opportunity to contribute toward it, no matter how small might be the contribution, the sole object of that being that each might feel a personal interest in the work. The balance could be made up by the men to whom I refer.

"The project should not be allowed to die out. It is of too great value to the city and of too much historical importance to permit it to be lost from sight. Let's liven the interest of the people and get the statue."

HICKEN FILES FOR ELECTION

Public Safety Commissioner Now Official Candidate to Succeed Self.

Platform Will Be His Record for Last Two Years.

Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the public safety division, this morning filed his nomination papers for re-election to the city commission.

Three candidates for the city commission have now filed their nominations, they being J. A. Farrell, Bernard Silberstein and Mr. Hicken. Commissioner Murchison, who is also out to succeed himself, and R. E. McFarlane are expected to file within a day or two.

Although Commissioner Hicken has several hundred petitions, he filed but sixty of these with City Clerk Palmer this morning. Several weeks ago petitions, containing 3,000 names, were presented to Mr. Hicken by residents from all sections of the city asking him to make the race for the four-year term.

Commissioner Hicken, in commenting on his filing this morning, said that he will make the fight purely on his record while in office the last two years.

Next Monday will be the last day on which candidates for office can file their nominations, and on Tuesday Duluth voters will register for the election on April 2. There will be a second registration day also on Saturday, March 13.

TURKISH REPORT ON BOMBARDMENT

Says Allied Fleet Forced to Retire By Shore Fire.

Berlin, March 3, by wireless to Sayville.—Included in the items given out today by the Overseas News agency is the following:

"Turkish headquarters report from Constantinople under date of March 3, as follows: 'The enemy's fleet yesterday unsuccessfully shelled the Dardanelles for a period of three hours. This fleet was then forced to retreat by the successful fire of the Turkish batteries. At the same time another fleet consisting of four French cruisers and some destroyers shelled the Turkish positions on the Gulf of Saros, but without any success whatever.

"'Turkish aviators successfully bombarded the ships of the enemy.'"

The chance of success for the Anglo-French fleet which is attacking the Dardanelles, is considered by Major Moraht, military critic of the Berliner Tageblatt, to be "rather weak." He says the destruction of all the fortifications on both sides of the straits would not permit passage of the fleet or an invasion by land, since it would be necessary to free the waters of mines and subdue the Turkish land forces.

England and France, Mayor Moraht argues, would be unable to bring up land forces of sufficient strength for successful operations, whereas the Turks have strong forces available.

The ships bombarding the coast defenses are handicapped heavily, he continues, by the lack of sufficiently high trajectories and by the fact that the amount of ammunition available for them is limited. Considering all these phases, he states that there is no reason to doubt the ability of the Turks to maintain control of the Dardanelles.

The will also gives Jorgen Peter Jensen the sum of $4,972, on which he will pay an inheritance tax amounting to $243.60. The expense of probating the estate was placed at $2,143.81.

UNDER NEW U. S. LAW.

Battle Lake Man Arrested for Shooting Game Birds Before Sunrise.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 3.—J. Stuart of Battle Lake was arrested on complaint of Federal Game Inspector D. A. Cleasby of Portage, Wis., on the charge of shooting game birds before sunrise, contrary to the Federal law. The shooting was done last fall.

The arrest is the first in this part of Minnesota, and probably the first in the state, under the new national game law, which forbids the shooting of birds before sunrise or after sunset.

Mr. Stuart was bound over to the coming term of U. S. court here, bail being fixed at $250. The penalty is a maximum fine of $100 or imprisonment for ninety days. There is no minimum fixed by the law.

CASH BASIS IN FOUR YEARS

Voss Outlines Policy of Economy for the City.

Would Limit the Paving Program to $250,000 Annually.

How the city of Duluth can get on a cash basis within a period of four years, was outlined this morning by Commissioner Voss, head of the division of finance, who has been preaching economy in all the departments of the administration, for two years.

The most important matter, he said, would be the regulation of paving work and improvements on city streets during the next four years. If but $250,000 is spent each year, making it $1,000,000 up to Jan. 1, 1919, he said, Duluth would then have no outstanding improvement bonds coming due.

In addition to this program of improvements Duluth would be able to construct the firehall at West Duluth, improve Mission creek and make other important improvements without requiring any bond issues, Commissioner Voss explained.

"If a big paving program is planned each year, then we will have to issue more improvement bonds and continue getting into debt, although we would possibly be able to retire those of recent years," he said. "Last year we spent a half million dollars for paving and improvements, for which we also had to issue bonds for the city's share.

Smaller Program.

"If we start this year on a smaller program, say $250,000 each year for the next four years, then we will be able to retire all our bonds by the end of that period and thus bring the city on a clean cash basis. We would then have all our permanent improvement fund bonds retired, with the exception of $99,000 that come due on Jan. 1, 1931, and $50,000 that are payable on July 1, 1940. Then all that would remain would be the general bonds, the first batch of which are not due until Sept. 1, 1918, when $185,000 will be retired. There will be no difficulty in handling these bonds, if we stop all future issues for improvements and paving of streets."

The commissioner is very anxious to work out just such a program and he is planning to take the matter up with the other members of the council.

The improving of Mission creek, so that its course will be diverted and future floods in the Fond du Lac district avoided, will cost about $10,000, while the new West Duluth fire hall, it is expected, will entail an expense of about $20,000.

In addition to these expenses, the commissioner said, the city is now receiving about $20,000 a year less from saloon licenses and about $7,000 less from fines in the municipal court, while the new city and county work farm is entailing an expense each year of $15,000 to $20,000, while prisoners in the past cost the city but $3,000. These and many more expenses could be borne, he said, without getting the city into debt, if the improvement program is cut down about half for the next four years.

CALENDAR IS CALLED

March Term Has 210 Cases to Be Disposed of.

The March term of the district court opened this morning with the peremptory call of the calendar of civil actions by Judge Cant. Attorneys having cases for trial at the present term were in attendance to arrange for the setting of the cases.

In all 210 cases were noticed for trial at the March term, the calendar being somewhat lighter than for previous terms. At the call, nineteen actions were stricken, sixteen were continued and 175 left for trial. The majority are for trial by jury.

Before taking the noon adjournment Judge Cant charged the grand jury, which will convene for business this afternoon. The court appointed P. H. Martin as foreman. The inquisitorial body will investigate and report on such cases as will be presented by the county attorney's office. It is expected that between fifteen and twenty indictments may be returned, as the criminal grist for this term is also a light one.

The personnel of the grand jury is as follows: P. H. Martin, foreman; Donald, Gordon, S. B. Gerard, Thomas Gibson, E. C. Gilluson, John F. Gogins, H. J. Gibbs, A. C. Johnson, Charles H. Matthews, John S. Mason, Peter M. Olson, August Saunder, F. I. Salter, J. H. Cook, Charles A. Johnson and F. P. Timms.

ARE NOW DRILLING AT BELLE PRAIRIE

Cuyuna Mining Interests Are Seeking Ore Near Little Falls.

Little Falls, Minn., March 3.—Drilling is again being done on the Little Falls and Mille Lacs iron range, a diamond drill having been installed on the farm of J. H. Erickson, section 22, Belle Prairie, and put in operation.

The work is being done independently by representatives of Crosby and Cuyuna mining interests and it is said that they expect to locate a large body of valuable ore, the indications being favorable. Magnetic tests were satisfactory and the lay of the land is also said to be a good indication.

Other land owners of that section are planning to have the same men who are now operating the drill do some work on their property in the hope of locating iron.

They were found in company with Charles Seit, who told the police that he and Frances Russe were married a week ago in Kansas City. The young woman said they were married in Milwaukee.

WILL CONFER ON MISSIONS

Wade and McCabe Go to Chicago to Meet Y. M. C. A. Men.

Christian Revival in China Makes New Demands on "Y."

B. C. Wade, general secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., and W. J. McCabe left last evening for Chicago to attend an important missionary conference of the association regarding foreign missions. Z. D. Scott, who is in St. Paul in connection with the state forestry board, of which he is chairman, may go to Chicago from there to take part in the conference.

For years the foreign mission work of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. has been under the guidance of Dr. John R. Mott, world's traveling secretary of the association and associate general secretary of the international committee; Sherwood Eddy, in charge of the work in Asia, and Fletcher Brockman, national secretary for China. The budget of the international committee for foreign missionary work has reached the amount of about $500,000 annually and has grown too heavy for three men to look after. Dr. Mott has asked for relief, and it is with the object in view of reorganizing and establishing a new policy in regard to foreign missionary work that this conference is being held.

"Never in the history of the association," said Mr. Wade, before leaving last evening, "has foreign missionary work of the Y. M. C. A. attained such success and such encouraging a standing. In China, we are given to understand, there have been Christian revivals—if one may call them that—over the entire penetrated empire, which, it is claimed, have made the stories of Pentecost seem small. Christianity is making wonderful strides in China and Asia in general. It is this condition that makes it necessary to form some new plan for the supervision of the work, and secretaries of the association and interested laymen have been invited to this conference to talk matters over."

HANCOCK MINE IS BUSY AFTER SHUTDOWN

Hancock, Mich., March 3.—The Hancock mine resumed operations Monday after being idle since last August, when the property was closed because of the low price of copper and the bad effects which were felt from the European war. A good sized force of men was put at work, the majority of those engaged being men who had worked for the company up to the time the company ceased operations last year. It will take several weeks to get the property in shape for a full crew, but more men will be added as fast as they can be used to advantage. It is stated that the force will soon be fully as large as it was last August and that it is the intention of the company to employ a larger number than ever before in the next few months.

Woman's Realm

The styles of grandmother's days have returned, and short, full skirts, tight bodices, and hats that look as if they would blow off if they encountered anything more violent than the gentlest zephyr, are attracting attention to Superior street windows, and promise to be transferred very soon from the windows to the sidewalks.

One of the most attractive gowns on display has a skirt of wide black and white striped soft taffeta; both the skirt and the stripes are wide, and to make it stand out in a way that is so fashionable now, has three rows of heavy cording just above the hem. A coatee of bright blue taffeta is ornamented with groups of small pink roses and a chick splash of color is added by a green velvet sash. This blue and green combination is shown in a dark blue coat suit that has the coat and the upper tier of the skirt edged with green and blue fringe, not the soft silk of chenille fringe that has been worn recently, but the stiff, twisted kind like that used in furniture.

Black and White.

Black and white are one of the most popular combinations for early spring, and judging from the lightweight materials shown in it, the combination will be equally popular in the summer. Three Superior street stores are showing black and white striped gowns, two of them trimmed in black velvet.

The "Tom tug" blouse is one of the newest articles to make its appearance in Duluth. Like the Tom tug sailor, it is scant of material and closely resembles the basques that were worn when family albums were in style.

The evening gowns are extremely dainty but are more trimmed up than their predecessors were. Of course the skirts are full and the fullness is sometimes obtained by three or four tiers, different materials, or material of different patterns often alternating. A blue dancing frock of Dresden silk has bottom of the skirt finished in points that are knotted and hang over a lace ruffle. The waist consists of points of the silk that are attached to a lace upper part.

One of the newest hats is very much like the "Merry Widow" sailor that supplied cartoonists with an almost inexhaustible amount of material. It is of smooth black straw, faced with white silk. White gros grain ribbon and pink roses are used around the crown and long streamers of the ribbon are attached to the under side of the brim.

Bishop's Club Meets.

The Scottish Rite quartet gave several excellent numbers at the meeting of the Bishop's club last evening, including Dvorak's "Humoresque," "Rockin' in de Win" by Neidlinger," "Songs of By-gone Days" and the sextet from "Lucia," in which Mrs. Jane Everington Scully and Miss Alta Hallock were soprano and alto soloists. The quartet, that is directed by A. F. M. Custance, is composed of Don E. Cole, A. R. Burquist, C. O. Applehagen and D. G. Gearhart. The quartet responded generously to encores.

Mrs. Scully's charming solos, "Spirit Flower" by Campbell Tipton, "Happy Song" by Del Riego, "To My Love" by Mathews and, as an encore, Lohr's "Little Gray Home in the West," were given with excellent accompaniments played by Miss Lucy Wood.

Miss Clara Du Roche, the leader of the evening, read a paper on "Work Among the Lepers," telling the history of leprosy and the work done by the government and the missionaries from different churches, especially Father Damien, for the sufferers.

Miss Lucille I. Wittin, who reported on current events, dwelt on the war. The Bible reading, that was in charge of Miss Theresa Fiebiger, was explained by Rt. Rev. James McGolrick. Mrs. A. Poirier was the hostess.

APOSTLE OF SANITY AND GOOD TASTE IN MUSIC

Thomas Whitney Surette Gives Lecture—Recital On Music and Education—Talks to Teachers—The Laura Jean Libbeys of Music.

An apostle of sanity, good taste, and common sense in music, and an enthusiast in musical appreciation is Thomas Whitney Surette.

Last year a few enthusiasts "discovered" Mr. Surette, as far as Duluth is concerned, at the First M. E. church when he lectured for the Matinee Musicale, although he had long been "discovered" in other cities. They sat and plied him with questions for an hour after he had finished what was called a lecture, but what was far different from the stereotyped Lyceum discourse.

Last evening the Pilgrim Congregational church was well filled and the audience enjoyed another of Mr. Surette's delightful talks. He does not stand and talks "on a number of things," chiefly music, art, and literature, and from time to time he goes to the piano and illustrates his talk. He is thoroughly conversant with music, not only from the standpoint of the artist, but from that of the listener, and he combines with that knowledge the ability to interpret music as few public performers do.

His subject last evening was "Music in Its Relation to Education," and it was discussed as a part of the Matinee Musicale course. He will conclude his engagement this evening with a lecture on "Romantic Music" given in Pilgrim church.

Art As Educator.

"Art is a good educator," he said. "Music is the greatest educative art because it means nothing but deals with great phases of life, as love and adoration. The truth of today in science is not the truth of tomorrow, but the truth in art today is the truth of all time. Darwin, who in his early years loved music and poetry, later found them distasteful, and became, as he expressed it, 'a mere machine to catalogue the habits of earth worms,' and he considered this condition deplorable."

The lecturer advocated the voice or violin as a better medium for teaching music than the pianoforte which he considers a "miserable instrument" for musical education.

Playing several measures from a popular song of the day he said, "That is such a piece as would be played by a sentimental girl just home from boarding school, if she did not have a very good education."

Another reference to the amateur musician was his story of a wealthy man, who seemed unmoved by all the eloquence of a dealer in piano players who labored long and earnestly to sell one of his devices. As a last effort the salesman said, "You have a daughter, have you not?" The wealthy man said he had. "And she plays the piano, does she not?" he was asked. He admitted that she did. "Well," the salesman said, "she could come down here and play a piece and we could make a record of it and you would have that if she died." To which the long suffering father replied, "Young man I have a daughter, and she plays the piano, but I want it distinctly understood that when she dies her music dies with her."

Senseless Songs.

Commenting on the great number of senseless songs that are produced Mr. Surrette quoted Voltaire who said, "What is too silly to be said is sung." He deplored such operas as "Madame Butterfly" and "The Girl From the Golden West," pointing out the incongruity of singing in Italian, a story of cowboys and Indians.

Contrasting good and bad music he played a selection from "Madame Butterfly" that he said, "Has a melody that hits you between the eyes and the composer to be sure you won't miss it has written it in octaves."

As examples of real music he played from Bach, whom he called the greatest of all thinkers in music, Schumann, Wagner and Caesar Franck, concluding with Brahams' "Schicksalslied" that he considers one of the greatest of all compositions, admirably constructed and with possibilities that are discovered each time it is played.

Music in Schools.

In his talk to the supervisors of music and grade teachers given yesterday afternoon, Mr. Surette said:

"There is one thing certain—music in schools has come to stay. It has been accepted as a necessary part of the school curriculum in most schools. My investigation of the part music was playing in the Boston public schools covered the greater part of a year. In that city almost $50,000 a year was spent on music, several systems of teaching music were used and the children used several books put on the market by several publishers, books that contained a vast amount of very poor music."

The speaker advised that during the first three years a child is in school he should not see notes, either in a book or on the blackboard, but sing folks songs chiefly. Sight singing as an end he condemned, saying it is only the means to an end and that the end is loving and understanding music and being able to distinguish between good and bad. As an illustration of the difference between good and bad music for children he played an unchildlike piece on the piano, saying it was in the same class as "Oh, Promise Me" and was to real music what the writings of Laura Jean Libbey and Robert Chambers are to real literature. As examples of good music for children he played Lithuanian, German and English folk songs that have lasted for centuries, he explained, transmitted for many generations by word of mouth before they were printed, because each generation found them good.

Some Parodies.

"Many music books arrange, rather disarrange, the works of the great composers," Mr. Surrette said. As an example he played a short passage from "The Flying Dutchman," truly Wagnerian, a magnificent example of an orchestral composition, following it with a school book arrangement suited for childish voices, an arrangement so absolutely unlike the original that it did not seem in the least related. "That is a disgraceful parody," he said.

Course in Appreciation.

Mr. Surette advocated a course of appreciation of music in every high school. He considered the victrola educative, if it is used to reproduce music instead of to produce musical gymnastics of great singers.

"The only object in the world for music is to convey ideas that emanate from the hearts and minds of men," he said. "Do you realize there are Hall Caines, Robert Chambers and Laura Jean Libbies of music. A reader of good literature may read detective stories but to read only detective stories destroys a taste for better literature. Many persons object to the high cost of teaching children to understand and appreciate music, but as Emerson said, 'There are persons in every community who understand only taxes and the cry of fire.'"

Walter G. Baldwin, Sr., will return to Duluth this week and resume charge of the Baldwin Stock company.

Mr. Baldwin has not been in good health and has disposed of his interests in his Southern stock companies. He will spend the summer in Duluth and devote his time to the local company. His son will continue in active charge and Mr. Baldwin will "take it easy" during the spring and summer months. He will appear with the company next week, however, taking part in the play, "The Third Degree," which is now being rehearsed.

Mr. Baldwin has been away from Duluth about four months. During that time he has directed the road tour of Rose Melville in a revival of "Sis Hopkins" and has organized stock companies in three Southern cities.

This week's bill, "Tess of the Storm Country," is proving a very popular one. It gives Miss Doris Olsson, the new leading woman, the first good opportunity she has had since coming to Duluth and she is making many friends this week with her interpretation of the part of Tess, the little untutored hoyden of the forest. "Tess" will continue until Saturday night with a matinee today and another Saturday. It has never been seen in Duluth before as a play, but as a photoplay and as a novel it is familiar.

Grand Bill Changes.

Today will see the last performance of the excellent bill current at the popular New Grand.

This double headline bill, with De Michlee Brothers and the Tiny May circus featured has proved one of the most popular bills of the season.

Kind and Brown, comedy monopede acrobats, offer their unique diversion in manner that stamps them artists above the ordinary in their line. Rooney and Bowman offer a singing and dancing novelty with changes of costumes. De Michlee Brothers, comedy musicians, and Tiny May, the smallest elephant in the world, heading the circus, are other vaudeville features.

The three-reel photoplay, "The Attorney for the Defense;" a comedy, "Bud, Bill and the Waiter;" a drama, "The Call of Her Child," and a travel picture complete the program.

Tomorrow the bill will change entirely. The Four Konerz Brothers, world's greatest hoop rollers and diabolo spinners; Harry Ellsworth and company in a comedy sketch, "A Pair of Silk Stockings;" Chase and Latour, tip-top topical singers, and the Ernest Alvo troupe of comedy bar gymnasts are among the offerings in a vaudeville way.

The Hearst-Selig News of events of interest in the world's history; one of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life, "The Red Signal;" a two-reel feature, "The Red Blood of Courage," and an Edison comedy, "A Tango Spree," complete the bill.

"The Deep Purple."

At the Zelda for three days commencing tomorrow at 12 o'clock, Mr. Mistachkin will present to the patrons in six complete performances daily, "The Deep Purple" with Clara Kimball Young. The photoplay is founded on the stage play of the same name by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner.

Lovers of the strongly dramatic in motion picture form will find that the story of this photoplay will provide them with plenty of excitement and the opportunity of studying some familiar types interpreted by an efficient cast of performers. Into a peaceful country town goes Harry Leland, one of the vicious band of crooks operating in New York. These people, inter alia, profess to supply country churches with organs, and Harry's mission is to secure a handsome deposit from confiding clergymen and their congregations. Of course, the crooks divide the plunder and the organ is never delivered.

Gaby Deslys at Rex.

Fascinating Gaby Deslys, the world-famous beauty and dancer, appears today and Thursday at the Rex. This is Gaby's first appearance before the motion picture public, although she has danced her way to fame in both this country and Europe on the speaking stage. The photoplay, "Her Triumph," in which she makes her debut, was produced in Gaby's beloved Paris by the Famous Players, and is one of the most original plays ever released by this company, as it was written solely for the talented dancer, and she has adapted herself to it perfectly. "Her Triumph" contains Gaby's most renowned dances, interwoven with a strong plot that holds from the first flash, until the closing climax.

The mean temperature was 25 deg., the highest since 1882. Not a zero temperature was recorded, the coldest day having been the second, when 6 deg. above was placed on record. The highest temperature was 45 deg. on the twentieth.

NEW FARM MANAGER AT AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

Agricultural College, N. D., March 3.—James Kennedy, who has been manager of the experiment station farm at the agricultural college for the last few years, has resigned his position and Carl Gaumnitz has been elected to fill the position left vacant by Mr. Kennedy. Mr. Gaumnitz is a graduate of the Minnesota university and has for the last several years been managing the lands of the Johnston Land & Stock company at Marion, N. D.

Turkish Prisoners.

Petrograd, March 3.—Official returns show that up to Feb. 13, 43,000 Turkish prisoners, including 527 officers, had passed through Pyatigorsk since the war with Turkey began, on their way to the interior of Russia.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

We Are All Vain.

There is an idea that prevails, particularly among men, that vanity is a distinctly feminine quality and that men are less vain than women. Nonsense! Ever since woman first learned the power of beauty she has adopted every conceivable means to enhance her personal attractiveness. Personal adornment is an absorbing subject with her, but that she possesses more personal vanity than man or that she is dominated by the idea of making a good appearance to a greater extent than man—no.

If you are inclined to discredit this statement, take pains today to notice the evidences of man's vanity, which may be witnessed on every side and in every strata of life. Did you ever see a strong man who was not proud of his strength? Is it any more a matter of vanity for a girl to be proud of her pretty face? If the man hasn't broad shoulders, his tailor appeals to his vanity by padding his clothes at that point.

Watch the faultlessly attired and well groomed man of society as he saunters churchward on a pleasant Sunday morning. His manner and facial expression tell you as plainly as though he put it into so many words that he considers himself a paragon of manly grace. Or see the denizen of the slums district who once a week sheds the grime and mire of the dumps and blossoms forth in a fairly decent suit, glaring necktie, shoes shined, and a buttoniere of varied colors. His self-conscious and entirely satisfied air bespeaks vanity.

I know of a store which has a long mirror, near enough to the window and large enough to give almost a full length view of the passer-by. Two or three men out of every ten pass it without a thorough scrutiny of themselves. I suppose these men are either strangers and ignorant of the existence of this mirror or are for the moment absorbed in other things. This is clearly a case of masculine vanity.

But to philosophize—isn't a reasonable amount of vanity in both men and women necessary to our best welfare? It is just as right and proper that we make the best of ourselves in appearance as it is to make the most advantageous use of other natural gifts. Perhaps it is vanity that impels us to select the most becoming things—those most pleasing to the eye—but it is also the same love of the beautiful which actuates us in beautifying our homes. We dislike conceit in men and women, but the kind of vanity which keeps us from growing lax in dress is a good quality to have.

THE COLORADO REPORT.

If the Colorado coal company officials and directors hoped for a coat of whitewash from the investigators of the strike in the coal fields, they got badly left. Rarely, if ever, has there been made to the United States congress such a report on any industry as that presented yesterday by the committee that made the inquiry. State authorities and corporate management alike came in for attention, and if the report does not furnish a basis for a general improvement in that state, then something is distinctly rotten in Colorado.

Not only is the report a scathing arraignment of the activities of the state militia, but it scores conditions generally in the coal fields. The repeated defense of the coal companies has been that they have given their employes privileges and advantages that were not even required by the laws. The investigators grant that this is the case—in some things; but they point out bold defiance of the laws that offsets any such humanitarianism as might appear in the companies' voluntary actions.

The ugly charge of peonage has been made again and again in Colorado's mines, and the friends of the operators hoped for a clean bill of health on this score; but the best that the inquirers can give is that there is "no conclusive proof" of the existence of peonage.

You somehow wonder, as you read the statement, what John D. Rockefeller, Jr., thinks of this declaration:

> Absentee owners or directors by their absence from the scene of such disturbances cannot escape their moral responsibility for conditions in and about properties in which they are interested.

Until the last few years the question of moral responsibility never has been raised, and the answer to all other charges has been, "What are you going to do about it?"—an answer that was perfect and complete as long as the law was evaded, as it always was. Young Rockefeller himself raised the issue of moral responsibility. His personal view on this phase of the report will be interesting, if it is ever made public.

The word "immoral" occurs more than once in the report. So does "brutal." So does "inexcusable"—nice words, all of them, to figure in a public and official statement regarding an industry which is, as the committee says, nation-wide in scope.

The adjutant general of the Colorado militia is denounced for his refusal to aid in the investigation, and for being a partisan on the side of coal operators. It is interesting, too, to note that the report tells of the employment among the armed men in Colorado of men who had been doing exactly that same work in West Virginia, and that they bore the same arms—machine guns—that they used in the latter state.

Regarding the laws the committee found that "Colorado has good mining laws that ought to afford protection to the miner, if they are enforced," but it also found that the laws are not enforced. A partial explanation of this fact is hinted at in the account of the political activities of the company officials.

And yet, with all these criticisms, the committee has thrown out as utterly unreliable portions of the testimony on both sides of the controversy.

As a result of its investigation, the committee recommends practically the very action which President Wilson took some months ago—the appointment of a Federal arbitration board before which future disputes in the industry may be taken for settlement. The committee would have the Federal government act in any state where, as in Colorado, the state government has been found incapable for one reason or another of bringing about a settlement of difficulties.

It has been suggested that the Federal government take over and operate the Colorado coal properties. That may yet prove necessary if states allow such conditions to exist as have been found in Colorado by this congressional committee.

How does it happen that somebody hasn't sent Buffalo Bill to Europe as a war correspondent?

FOR SAFETY OF SHIPPING.

At last it looks as if we may have a breakwater to protect the entrance to the Duluth-Superior harbor. At least we are to have a survey, and that will be regarded generally as a sure step toward the building of a breakwater.

Some such protection for shipping is badly needed. There isn't a harbor on the Great Lakes that is a better refuge for shipping when once a vessel gets inside. But the canal entrance has been found hard to reach in stress of weather, though that is just the time when it is most desirable to reach it.

It has been asserted by men who have studied the situation that the building of a breakwater at a proper distance from the harbor entrance would remove the difficulties and dangers that confront lake men under present conditions. If that claim is well founded, as it certainly seems to be, the survey now ordered will not only establish that fact as of record, but will give a practical basis for the construction of a breakwater.

It's been a long, hard pull to get even this far with the plan. Now is the time to get ready for another effort as soon as the survey shall have been completed.

Now for a race to see which New York theater puts on the first play or the first movies of the big anarchist plot.

AS TO A STATE CENSUS.

There is a great hullabaloo in some quarters over the state census bill. Some of the state papers are calling the measure a piece of graft, and others are denouncing it as a needless extravagance.

When you come to simmer the facts in the case right down, there seem to be only two really good reasons for having a state census at all. One of them is that the pay of certain county officers is based on population, said population to be determined by means of a census. And so closely related to this fact as really to be part of it, is the one that certain city and county powers and privileges are regulated on the same basis.

The other reason is the following, taken from Article IV, Section 23, of the Minnesota Constitution:

> The legislature SHALL provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this state in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter.

It might be interesting to check up the views of the opponents of the census on the subject of a state constitutional convention. They don't want the legislature to pay any attention to the present document—are they willing to have a modern one drawn?

Last month was the warmest February since 1882. If anybody remembers anything else that happened in 1882 maybe we can get a line on what to expect the rest of this year.

WILL IT HIT OLD H. C. OF L?

The bombardment in the Dardanelles and the threatened fall of the forts that guard the waterway may prove of material interest to us in this country. At present those forts are in Turkish hands, and Turkey is an ally of Germany. That means that the Russian grain movement through that outlet is prevented. But once let the allies reduce the forts and take possession of the waterway, and there will be freer movement of the Russian output, and a less demand, perhaps, for our own product, with a corresponding decrease in prices in this country.

Of course this is not all assured at present. It often seems to take a lot longer for a reduction in prices to reach the consumer than for a corresponding increase to go the same distance. But it will not be ground for surprise if the affair should work out in this way. At least a good swat at that well known pest, the high cost of living, would be popular in this country.

In what kind of spirit will Europe celebrate Easter?

NO CHANCE TO FORGET IT.

There seems to be some hesitation at St. Paul regarding putting the woman suffrage amendment up to the people at the next election, for fear it may not get the attention it would if there were to be no presidential contest. It is the same old trouble that confronts any amendment, of having to get a majority of the votes cast in the election instead of a majority of the votes cast on that subject.

It doesn't seem as if the legislators need worry on that score so far as the suffrage proposition is concerned. There is an active woman suffrage organization in Minnesota, and that organization can be trusted to see that the voters do not forget the suffrage amendment. It is due to forgetfulness that many amendments fail, but it isn't every proposition that can boast of as active backing as this one can.

No, the legislators needn't worry for fear it would be forgotten.

The chances are that it wasn't necessary to raise the price of beer in Austria to make war unpopular.

When a Mother Learns Her Son Is Engaged

From the London Chronicle.

"Little mother, I've come to 'fess!"

John slipped down to the floor and rested his head against my knees in the way that had been his habit when he was a schoolboy.

John had met "the one woman in the world"—he was going to be married!

What or how I answered him I do not know, but apparently John saw nothing wrong in my manner, for he said that he would bring his fiancee to see me on the following day. Then he bent down to kiss me and left me alone.

It was one of the most poignant moments of my life, as the event must be to every woman to whom it comes.

At the beginning I met things in a spirit of utter rebellion. My heart was filled with bitter thoughts at the idea of giving up my boy and against the woman who had stolen him from me.

One of the first things I realized when I got my thoughts onto a common sense level was that a wise woman does not lose her son when he becomes engaged; she only shares him. As to how big a share of him she gets—that depends almost entirely upon herself.

After all, the girl whom I had been denouncing inwardly was only doing exactly what I myself had done eight and twenty years ago. And it gave me a feeling of sudden shame to remember the splendid way in which my husband's mother had treated me, while I thought so badly about the girl to whom John was engaged. It was not even as if she was a girl about whom I knew nothing—she was a girl whom I knew quite well and for whom I had a very sincere affection—until she had become engaged to my son!

It is not exactly an enviable position for a girl. It is a great ordeal for her to pass under the fire of criticism of "his" people, and very often the nervous strain has the effect of making a girl appear totally unlike herself, so that she creates an entirely wrong impression.

It would be easy for the average mother to be kinder and more generous to "the other woman" when she enters into her son's life. To adopt a "hurt" attitude—an expression of selfish jealousy—is as futile as it is petty. That a mother should feel rather hurt is natural, but she can hide it—she ought to hide it for the sake of her son. After all, the mother who loves her son should aim first of all at his happiness. If this is done, "the other woman" will receive a real, heartfelt welcome for his sake if not for her own.

Now Doctors Say There's No Such Disease as Colic

Detroit News: All this time the doctors have been fooling you.

You told them the baby had the "colic," and they didn't dispute you at all, but instead nodded and counted out pills for the family pride that was howling its dear little head off and trying to put its toes behind its neck. And there isn't any such thing as colic. There never was any such disease. It isn't a disease at all. It's just a pain that comes from any one of a dozen regular diseases.

You know how it is. The midnight hour is about three laps behind the clock and you get wrapped in slumber and the quilt, your other—and alleged better half having wrapped herself in all the other clothes. Suddenly a wild yell rings out. It echoes through the night and the front hall like a call to arms. You get up. The baby is still emitting the wild yells.

"It's the colic," your wife says. "Get the doctor."

If you have a grandma in the house you do not get the doctor—just then. Instead she gets some peppermint and some ginger tea and some hot water and hot cloths, and you are instructed to lay the baby on its tummy and rub it. All this time the howls continue.

"It's a bad case of colic," grandma finally says. "You'd better send for the doctor."

He arrives. Puts his hat in the fruit bowl and generally steps on the family cat, and even takes a minute to look at the pictures on the wall. He is calm and unruffled and looks sleepy. He seems to be heartless and not to care a hang if your son, "the finest child in the neighborhood," is about to pass on to the pearly gates or not!

Then "doc" takes up the child, pokes it in the ribs, feels its tummy and remarks, "It's a cold night." The baby stops howling to give "doc" the once over and then goes back to the regular business of the order.

"It's the first time he ever had the colic," you say deprecatingly.

"Zasso," says "doc," taking his Masonic watch emblem out of the baby's mouth and reaching for his grip. It's generally under the bed by this time and he gets an idea of your wife's housekeeping ability. He opens up and pours some stuff into the young one without spilling a drop. A wonder in itself. The baby smacks its lips. Doc hands it a bottle—if it's that style of baby—and the kid goes to sleep. Doc takes his hat and goes home. In the morning your wife tells all the neighbors the baby had the colic the night before, but they knew it anyway.

Well, sir, Dr. Lancaster, head of Olivet college, said the other day, "It's absurd to say the child has colic. There is no such ailment. I would walk one hundred miles to see a case. It's merely an indication of lack of nourishment. Proper food is the cure."

Science is sure raising thunder with grandma and her theories.

Irish Agriculture.

Chicago Journal: It will come with a surprise to most American readers to learn that Ireland furnishes about one-third of England's imports of meat, more than one-third of her imports of eggs and about one-sixth of the amount of butter brought into the tight little island. On the other hand, Ireland raises so little cereals that her home-grown supply of wheat would keep her in bread barely three weeks out of the year. Such specialization of agriculture as this indicates depends absolutely on long periods of peace and on open sea commerce. If the German navy were strong enough to blockade the British Isles, or even to dispute command of the narrow seas, bread would soar to unheard of heights in Cork and Dublin, while most of what Ireland has to sell would rot for want of a market.

To Blame for Everything.

Philadelphia Record: Republican organs are not educating the farmers to believe that the high price of wheat is due to the Democrats, but they are working overtime in an effort to induce the consumers to believe that any addition to the price of bread is a crime directly traceable to a Democratic administration at Washington.

Substitutes.

Judge: Tourist (in village notion store)—Whaddya got in the shape of automobile tires?

Saleslady—Funeral wreaths, life-preservers, invalid cushions and doughnuts.

A Meal a Day Enough

Rutledge Rutherford in the New York Mail.

Rutledge Rutherford in the New York Mail: Overeating is the cause of many ailments. Thin people are prone to eat too often and fleshy people too much at a time. If each class would adopt the habit of the other it would not be so bad.

Interest in food matters has brought about a remarkable transformation in the American dietary in recent years. We are more careful about the foods we buy; we have learned to examine labels more cautiously, to demand what we want and not accept substitutes of "just as good" foods. As a rule, we are more moderate in our meals. But there is still room for improvement.

People not handicapped by obesity are learning that up to a certain limit the less often they eat the better. Many sufferers from stomach complaints have found complete cure simply by adopting the two-meals-a-day system. Others who have restricted themselves to one meal a day have obtained even more remarkable results.

It is my opinion that one meal a day is enough for all except those inclined to accumulate flesh too rapidly. Such persons usually find frequent eating beneficial, provided the meals consist of the non-fattening foods. The only reason for advising the fleshy person to eat often is that it impairs his appetite and prevents the assimilative organs from converting the food into fatty tissue.

Once a person becomes accustomed to cutting down the number of meals it is hard to induce him to return to the old three-meals-a-day system. He finds that he enjoys one or two meals far better than the greater number, and that he has a better appetite than he ever dreamed of having.

One does not know how good food can taste until he has restricted his diet in this manner for awhile. There returns a relish to the foods not experienced since childhood. And dietarians agree that food benefits us in proportion to the relish we find in it. The better food tastes the more good it does us. The exception holds again for the overcorpulent person whose appetite is generally too good and needs curbing.

There should never be a reason, for politeness' sake or otherwise, for eating against your desires. If your hostess puts before you a salad—some invention of her own—that is a repellant conglomeration, as often is the case, do not eat it and say it is delicious, merely to humor her vanity. By such deceit you are doing both yourself and her a harm.

Eat only when you are hungry and then only that which pleases your appetite. He who eats to keep from getting hungry cheats himself of half the enjoyment of life, and is in truth digging his grave with his teeth. Nibbling between meals is a pernicious habit that is the chief cause of indigestion and loss of appetite. Here is the main harm of the saloon buffet lunch.

It is to be hoped that the tendency of some of our more imitative classes to copy the English custom of afternoon teas will not lead to a reaction in our improved method of living. If we do, it is sure to prove most disastrous. In the present race of English we behold only those who have proved strong enough to survive their tea and ale.

The English eat from five to seven meals a day. And we have seen that in athletic and other contests the Englishman is going back. Tests show that the English soldier is smaller of stature than formerly, and not capable of anything like his old-time endurance. The extent of ill-health in England is appalling. Dyspepsia and gout flourish there as nowhere else in the world, and tuberculosis is reaping an awful harvest.

Observations by Prof. Russell H. Chittenden have shown that our diets are much too heavy, especially as regards protein. "If the usual amount is consumed," he says, "a large part of it is waste, and there is the possibility of trouble from the elimination of the excess."

Mines.

What are ye trawlin' for, Lucky Jack,
Out on the old North Sea?
An' why is yer trawler all painted black,
As glum as a T. B. D.?

An' what o' the hundreds of East Coast chaps
On trawlers made likewise glum?
They goes somewhere * * * comes home—well, p'raps,
There's one, now an' then, don't come—

But never a fish do they land—an' fish
Is fetchin' a 'normous price! * * *
What are ye trawlin' for, Lucky Jack,
Wi' yer decks all slush an' ice?

"We're trawlin' from dawnin' till dusk,
Old Sam;
"We're doin' a roarin trade—
(The roarin', ye'd hear ten mile, by dam!)—
In eggs what the Germans laid.

"We're poachin' them eggs, as a poet might say—
Slow work, but excitin', too,
For maybe ye poaches yer egg o. k.,
An' maybe it scrambles you!

"I'm gettin' half used to beholdin' 'em bust,
But wishin' to God they was done.
For ev'ry one 'minds me o' good ships lost,
Good chaps as did harm to none." * * *

How would ye punish 'em, Lucky Jack,
As ordered such things to be?
How would ye serve 'em as brought such wrack
An' grief to the old North Sea?

"Why, Sam, I would give 'em a beautiful ship,
An' put 'em on board, well found.
Ten thousand mile I would make the trip,
An' they should be home'ard bound.

"An' ev'ry mile would be sowed wi' mines—
Leastways, they'd be warned 'twas so.
Think I would waste on the blushin' swines
A ha'penny squib?—hell, no!

"So they'd sail an' sail till * * *
'Scuse me, Sam,
'Tis seldom I really smiles."
But, Jack, are ye daft? If 'twas all a sham
'Bout the mines, what'd matter the miles?

They'd all win home!
"Which I'll not deny—
If a wheel knows how to steer!
But ten thousand mile on a mine field—
They'd all ha' died—mad—o' fear!"
—J. J. Bell in the London Chronicle.

New Uses for Skimmed Milk.

The Pathfinder: A process has been developed by an American inventor for using skimmed milk in the manufacture of moving picture films. This material can also be used for making buttons, piano keys, "French ivory," toilet articles, etc. The process converts skimmed milk into a material similar to celluloid which is capable of being manipulated, colored and worked in various ways.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Diplomats have a language and phraseology of their own. The object of diplomatic language is to avoid saying anything directly. A hint is considered far more polite and more desirable than a request. After years of schooling in the use of the diplomatic form of utterance a true diplomat comes to employ hints and indirection even in every-day affairs of comparatively little moment.

For example, if a diplomat were asking a stranger for a match he would not say, "Please gimme a match," but would state that if the stranger should at any time feel disposed to offer him a match for the purpose of assisting him in carrying out any intention he might have of lighting his cigarette, he feels certain the kind offer would be construed by the nation he represents as a friendly act—or something like that.

This brings us to the case of Col. Nicolai Golejewski and the dog. Col. Golejewski is the military attache of the Russian embassy in Washington. He owns an attractive, fashionable-looking dog of the breed known as the chow. One day Col. Golejewski made the acquaintance of a newspaper man who also owns a chow, and this chow took the Russian diplomat's fancy. He asked the newspaper man if he ever chanced to have any little puppies of the type and color of the dog accompanying him. If so, the Russian desired to buy one.

The possibility of such a purchase led to a long diplomatic correspondence between the two men. Being a high-grade and experienced diplomat, Col. Golejewski naturally did not discuss buying a pup in the same simple, straightforward language that you, who read this, might employ. You or I would doubtless have written merely: "Dear Sir—What will you take for a pup?"

That would be to the point, but it would not be diplomatic language.

So when the Russian wrote the first of a number of letters regarding the purchase of a pup it was a letter characterized by diplomatic phraseology. I am not able to give this letter exactly verbatim, but it ran somewhat as follows:

"Dear Sir—Having in mind the desirability of a purchase such as we discussed on the street some days ago, it is my rare privilege to assure you that if such a transaction should appear to you mutually advantageous, I should be only too willing to entertain whatever proposal you may deem proper.

"While not wishing to urge upon you any undue haste in this matter, yet I feel that I should bring to your attention my desire to enter into negotiations having for their ultimate object such a purchase as has been suggested, and if for any reason it should not be convenient for you to further my wishes in this regard at the present time it is quite possible that I may find it expedient to make such other arrangements as may be necessary in the circumstances. Any departure, however, from the tentative transaction we have discussed will, I am sure, in no way detract from our cordial relations or lessen my feeling, which I trust is mutual, of entire good will and esteem."

Getting Acquainted With Mother

Youth's Companion: The sewing room table was piled high with pink and blue and white, with sleeves and skirts and bands and ruffles that at the end of days of rushing work were to result in the dainty little gowns in which Maidie made a picture to rejoice her mother's heart. Mrs. Cameron had been sewing since luncheon, and there was a deep line between her eyes and a tired color in her cheeks. When Maidie slipped into the room and began idly fingering some pieces, she said sharply:

"Maidie, you must let things alone. I can hardly get the work done, as it is. Why don't you go out in the yard to play?"

"Nancy Henderson is down there," Maidie responded slowly.

"Then why don't you go down and play with her? Run away, and don't come until I call you."

Maidie did not run. She started obediently, but at the door she stopped with a wistful hesitancy. Her mother did not look up, and very slowly Maidie went downstairs.

It was a warm spring afternoon and the windows were open, but Mrs. Cameron had no time to look out. The voices came up to her from beneath the window, however.

The first was Nancy's.

"What did she say?"

Then Maidie's—and Maidie's mother knew the wistful look in the brown eyes that went with that note in her voice:

"I—I didn't ask her."

"Why not?" Nancy's surprise was incredulous.

Maidie's voice was embarrassed now and hurt. She was trying to be brave, and pretending not to care.

"Well, you see, she was busy making my dresses. Mother always is busy. Somehow we—we don't have time to get very well acquainted."

Up in the sewing room overhead the work fell from a woman's nerveless fingers. Not time to get acquainted! did Maidie feel that way? Why, in five years Maidie would be in the high school, and in five years more— The sewing was utterly forgotten now; here was something infinitely more important that must be thought out.

That night, after Maidie was in bed, her mother came in. Maidie's eager exclamation and the clinging of her warm little arms were a revelation that pierced her mother with both joy and sorrow. Holding her close, Mrs. Cameron tried to tell her daughter about the busy days and all the time it took to take care of a house and make a little girl's dresses, and that, if a mother and her little daughter were to have time for each other, the little girl would have to help—give up a dress or two perhaps, and do things about the house. It was a long, long talk; Maidie was almost asleep at the end. Did she understand—and care? Her mother wondered during her own sleepless hours that night.

It was Maidie herself who answered—under the window with Nancy again the next day.

"Mother and I got acquainted lots last night," the child sang. "I'm going to help her, so that she'll have more time for it. We've decided there isn't anything so important for mothers and daughters as being acquainted."

As to Latin.

Washington Star: "Latin is a dead language, is it not?"

"Well," said the pharmacist, as he looked at a long prescription, "sometimes I think it's a dead language, and then again I get an idea that it's pretty lively, killing people on its own account."

Northern Minnesota, Land of Opportunity

Chorus of Minnesota Boosters.

Actual Settlers Needed.

Aurora News: State Auditor J. A. O. Preus is urging upon the legislature a law which will keep the state lands out of the hands of the speculators and reserve them for actual settlers. It is actual settlers that are needed to build up this state and make it what it should be, and "Jake" has the right idea. There are many thousands of acres of land in the northern part of the state owned by large companies, and the acres owned by the state should, if possible, be parceled out to those who will live on them and improve them.

Moss-Covered Ideas.

Baudette Region: The story of the old farmer at the circus who, after gazing at a giraffe for half an hour, left with the remark, "there ain't no such animal," illustrates perfectly the attitude of certain Southern Minnesota legislators towards the northern part of the state. They cannot or will not understand that it has wonderful resources, and when a bill comes up that would develop it they promptly do their best to kill it. Like the farmer they appear to think that "there ain't no such animal" as Northern Minnesota with its hundreds of acres of rich but undeveloped land.

Governor Gets Right Hunch.

Princeton Union: Governor Hammond visited Northern Minnesota recently, and returned imbued with the idea that good roads are most needed in that region. Prosperity is bound to follow good roads, and Minnesota should not take one backward step in its road-building program.

Why Ask Its Repeal?

Preston Times: Some northern senator made a powerful appeal for the retention of the Elwell road law the other day. He said it was the salvation of the northern country in that it made it possible to build the roads without which the farmers could not market their produce, which would in turn retard the settling up of the country. This being true, why should we of Southern Minnesota cry out for a repeal of the law? It can only be put in force by the action of the county commissioners and while these gentlemen are sometimes wilful and bull-headed it is not likely that they will go counter to a well-known public sentiment and inflict burdens which they know will prove unpopular. The people of Fillmore county do not desire to build roads under the Elwell law and no one seeks to compel us to do so, hence its remaining on the statute books can do us no harm.

If the undeveloped portions of the state want it, why not let them have it? If it will bring them settlers and develop the country, the entire state, including Southern Minnesota, will be at least indirectly benefited.

Must Conserve Now.

Virginia Enterprise: Minnesota's public lands are going to purchasers at reasonable prices, when the progress made on Northern Minnesota farms during the last few years is considered. Minnesota has reached the time when it can pay some attention to the conservation of its public domain. All around us we have examples of a too liberal policy in this department in states that have given away their public land, often to enrich a few, and are now without the things they should have received in return. State land at the price it is selling is for actual settlers, not for speculators.

Healthy, Wealthy and Content.

Bemidji Sentinel: Governor Hammond, after a personal visit, declares that Northern Minnesota makes a man healthy. She "sure do," governor. Our only ills are political ones.

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Heaviness in the heart of a man maketh it stoop. But a good word maketh it glad.—Prov. xii, 25.

A little thing, a sunny smile,
A loving word at morn,
And all day long the sun shone bright,
The cares of life were made more light,
And the sweetest hopes were born.

What I do thou knowest not now;
but those shalt understand hereafter.
—John xiii, 7.

If we but understood the little thing
That vexes us just at the present hour,
If we but knew—ah, well, 'tis vain to sigh
And speculate on things beyond our ken!
We know that earth is fair and life is sweet,
And something tells us that we cannot die,
And if we live and love the good, ah! then
We, face to face with truth, some day must meet.

—Clarence Hawkes.

Let me but do my work from day to day,
In field or forest, at the desk or loom,
In roaring market place, or tranquil room;
Let me but find it in my heart to say,
When vagrant wishes beckon me astray:
"This is my work; my blessing, not my doom;
Of all who live, I am the one by whom
This work can best be done, in the right way."

Then shall I see it not too great, nor small
To suit my spirit and to prove my powers;
Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours,
And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall
At eventide, to play and love and rest,
Because I know for me my work is best.

Felt Like One of Them.

Kansas City Star: "Tuther day," related old Dad Bing, the Oklahoma cattle baron, who is temporarily in our midst, "I was rumbling along in a street car when a batch of young fellers got aboard. I judged they were college students, by their funny clothes and queer-shaped heads. The car was pretty full and they pushed and snorted back and forth in the aisle, tramping on people's feet and committing frivolties that-a-way. Bime-bye they all r'ared back and fetched loose a long yell. Then the nearest one to me took a look, and, not admiring my face or something, says:

"'Well, my rural friend, don't you like it?'"

"'Shore, I like it,' says I. 'I'm half-witted myself.'"

Reflected Light.

The following account of the discovery of the advantages of the reflected light, now so widely used in lighthouse construction, is given by Tit-Bits. In the latter half of the eighteenth century one of the members of a little scientific society in Liverpool laid a curious wager. He declared that he would read a newspaper by the light of a farthing dip at a distance of thirty feet. His companion, knowing that the feat was difficult even a sixth of that distance, challenged his statement. The scientist merely coated the inside of a shallow wooden box with sloping pieces of looking-glass so as to form a concave lens, put his farthing dip into the box and readily deciphered the small print at the stipulated distance. The experiment was witnessed by a Liverpool dock master. He was a thinking man, and saw great possibilities in this learned jest. He straightway adapted the principle to lighthouse requirements and forthwith the modern reflected light, with its miles of range and greatly multiplied life-saving powers, sprang into being.

OWE MUCH TO BRAVE CATHOLIC PRIESTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Many a man's view of his fellows has been broadened by happenings in the titanic struggle now going on in Europe. Writing to his father in Edinburgh, Private G. McDougall of the Cameron Highlanders says:

"Only those who have been through know how much we owe to the brave Catholic priests. They are always moving about on their errands of mercy among the wounded, and when you're lying out on the field so cold that you don't know whether you're a piece of an iceberg or something that has blown in from the South pole, it warms you up only to think of these brave, good men risking their lives by leaving their peaceful retreats to carry comfort to men like myself who are not of their faith. I used to be as hard as any one at home against the Romans, but after what I have seen out here you can count on me when there's anything to be done in the way of knocking out men who say that the Catholic priests aren't among the finest Christians that God put the breath of life into.

HALL TALKS TO RETAIL MERCHANTS

Traffic Commissioner on "Retailers' Interest in Transportation."

Last evening the Duluth Retail Merchants' association, after the regular monthly dinner at the Spalding hotel, listened to an entertaining and instructive address by G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, on the subject of "The Retailers' Interest in Transportation."

Mr. Hall traced the evolution of transportation and its connection with mercantile expansion and showed conclusively that the growth and development of a community was directly dependent upon its transportation facilities.

He spoke interestingly of the work which was being accomplished by the traffic commissioner of the Commercial club and painted a very optimistic picture of Duluth's position when all unjust and discriminatory rates will have been adjusted. He declared that Duluth is rapidly coming into its own and that this city is destined to be the great manufacturing, retailing and distributing point of this whole Central and Northwestern territory.

In the absence of the president, John J. Moe, Arthur K. Squires, first vice president, presided at the meeting.

EXPOSITION OF PURPOSE OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

William R. Rathvon, C. S. B., Delivers Lecture Before Large Gathering.

Says Right Knowledge of God Is the Essential Thing.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Ninth avenue east and First street, was filled to overflowing last evening by an audience which gathered to listen to a lecture by William R. Rathvon, C. S. B., on Christian Science. The lecturer was introduced by Robert Rankin in a short address. Mr. Rathvon said, in part:

"A Christian Science lecture, like everything connected with Christian Science, is constructive. It is designed to build up, not only to pull down. It takes nothing away from anyone without giving something better in its place. So I have not come to attack or to redicule any one' religious beliefs, or any one's system of medicine.

Nor is it a part of my mission to point out to you in detail the dangers that lurk in certain mental systems that are sometimes classed with Christian Science but which are no more related to it than darkness is related to light, such as will-power, hypnotism, mesmerism, auto-suggestion, thought transference, telepathy, spiritualism, or any of the cults or schools that rely wholly or in part upon the influence of one human mind or human will upon another. Christian Science acknowledges and admits the existence of but one Mind and this Mind is God, the source of all good in man and the universe.

"A Christian Science lecture, however, is not to be regarded as a complete exposition of the whole of Christian Science. The limited time assigned prevents consideration of many of the essentials to right living that have made it the greatest protective, restorative, and reformative agency of modern times.

"In referring to her authorship of the text book, Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy has said the Bible was her only guide and authority. That she adhered to it closely is shown by the fact that a study of Science and Health leads to a study of the Bible. No other religious denomination comprises so large a proportion of Bible students.

Start the Day Aright.

"Every day in Christian Science is made up of twenty-four hours of immense possibilities for good, and it rests with each individual to determine for himself how much of good he gets out of it. The self-willed, self-seeking man works to control events to suit himself. The wise man works to control himself, so that the results of events, whatever they may be, cannot disturb him. The demonstrating Christian Scientist is no longer disturbed by the recurrence of things which formerly made him miserable, for while they now may come and go just as before, they do not leave behind them the results that once made them dreaded. Most of the occurrences that go to make up what men call a 'bad day' are harmless when deprived of their power to harass and annoy. A blank cartridge may make as much noise and smoke as a loaded one, but it is stripped of its power to wound. So a right application of Christian Science removes the sting from evil, turns defeat into victory, and makes adversity the recruiting ground for prosperity.

"Now every man's day is made bright or dull, profitable or empty, good or bad, not alone by what happens, but by how he is affected by what happens.

"Christian Science affords to each one the means of bringing into his day just the brightness, progress and abundance of good that he needs and longs for.

"Each day, then, is an empire and each man must be either its emperor or its slave. It is for him, and him alone, to determine which he will be, the slave of adverse circumstances, or the master of its results. Mrs. Eddy admonishes us in Science and Health to 'meet every adverse circumstance as its master.' Not only does she tell us this, but she also shows us how it is to be done. She supplies not only the impulse, but the method as well.

Prayer.

"To rule the day wisely, justly, beneficently, we must begin it rightly. Christian Science is showing men and women in every walk of life that there is no better way of beginning each day than to launch it with a prayer. Many of these prayerful people of today who have learned how to pray in Christian Science rarely prayed in former days. Some of them never prayed, many came from the ranks of those who had long since ceased to pray, for their prayers had become as empty words, 'vain repetitions,' coming from the lips instead of from the heart. But through Christian Science they have learned to pray aright, and now are glad to testify from their own experience that the prayer of the righteous availeth much, the prayer wherein faith is coupled with understanding, power with humility, and love with purity; the prayer which is based upon the absolute knowledge that all good is already given to man.

"In Christian Science there are no formal prayers for special occasions. It has no prayer book. The Lord's Prayer is repeated in unison at all Christian Science services, and it is invariably preceded by a few moments of silent prayer by the congregation. Besides this, there is one short prayer recommended for daily use. So simple is it, yet so reverent in its phraseology, so direct, yet universal in its inclusions, so free from every suggestion of sect or doctrine, that it can be unreservedly used by any sincere man or woman of any church or of no church. Here it is as Mrs. Eddy has given it to us: '"Thy kingdom come;" let the reign of divine Truth, Life, and Love be established in me, and rule out of me all sin; and may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind and govern them!'

"We can ask no better evidence that a prayer is answered than afterwards to feel so near to the giver of all good as to have lost sight of what we asked Him to give us. The prayer that brings the child close to his Father, that brings man close to his God, the divine Principle of his being, and leaves him there, is not a barren one, whether it was uttered in the silence of one's thought, in the sanctuary, in the noisy street, on the rushing train, or on the rolling sea. Neither time nor place can restrict the prayer of unselfed love, for, after all, love for God and man is the essence of prayer. Coleridge has truly said:

"'He prayeth best who loveth best
All things, both great and small,
For the dear God who loveth us
He made and loveth all.'

Saint James tell us the prayer of faith shall save the sick. What may we not expect then of the prayer wherein there is not only the abundance of faith, but also of understanding, wisdom, spiritual power and, above all, of love? Every Christian Science treatment built up of these elements of righteousness, heals the sick and comforts the sorrowing.

The Open Door.

"In a majority of cases, the man who comes to Christian Science for physical or mental healing does so only after he has exhausted all other promising methods of relief. The lash of pain drives him to it, the fear of death drags him to it. He comes often reluctantly while protesting his unbelief in that which he thinks he will be expected to believe. But he has learned of cases seemingly hopeless as his own that have been healed in this strange way, and he has been urged by his friends to try it. They tell him that it cannot harm him and that it may heal, so, with an air of mingled desperation, resignation and incredulity, he appears before the practioner with little hope and less faith, and with a sense of surrender that would be amusing if it were not so nearly tragic.

"The man who feels his own unworthiness, his own unfitness to attain to a higher, better, and more spiritual life, has nothing to apprehend from Christian Science.

"It makes no distinctions, it imposes no restrictions, upon one man or class of men more than upon another. The devout churchman, the hardened sinner, the incredulous agnostic, the degraded and depraved, the sick and the well, alike are welcomed to all it offers.

"No man ever finds its closed against him because of his past record or early misdeeds. Where there is an earnest desire to know God and to live in accord with this knowledge there is always an open door waiting in Christian Science.

"It does not parade a man's past mistakes and present failures before his gaze or hang them like millstones about his neck.

"It does not peer into the closets of any man's past, but opens wide the door of present opportunity for doing good.

"It does not ask of the beginner how much of wrong have you done in the past, but how much of right are you ready to do now. Not how many mistakes have you made, but how earnest are you in resolving to make no more.

Reformation.

"Reformation in Christian Science is re-formation, being formed over. It is not an affair of words. It is not a mere declaration of intent. It is not only an avowed purpose, but a continuous development. It is not only laying down old tools, but taking up new ones. We are reformed only when we are formed anew, retaining all we ever had of the good, and discarding that which is evil. It is a combined process of elimination and growth, which proceeds progressively and continuously. In this true reformation we leave behind things harmful, but take on things beneficial. Many men hold back because they feel that in order to go forward in Christian Science they must sacrifice too much. It is not merely sacrifice that is expected, but growth. The earnest beginning is not torn away from things harmful, he grows away from them, hence desire to return to them is gone forever. He does not give them up, they give him up when he resolutely strives to put them down.

"Christian Science destroys harmful habits by destroying the harmful causes that form them. Back of every wrong habit is a wrong desire, and Christian Science heals the wrong habit by destroying the wrong desire. The hard drinker may assure you that he does not like the taste of liquor, but he longs for its effects, and that longing, that desire, is what enslaves him. You may break his bottle into a thousand pieces and spill every drop of the envenomed stuff into the gutter, but that does not break the desire. Christian Science does not break the bottle, the man himself is to do that, but it breaks the desire for the bottle, and this is true reformation.

"When the man who is healed in Christian Science realizes that he has restored to him the blessings of health and happiness, usefulness and ability, those valued things that were so sorely threatened, he is almost overwhelmed by a surge of emotions. Amazement, curiosity, and a desire to understand are uppermost. 'What has done this wonderful thing, and how can I get hold of it?' are the insistent questions he propounds: 'I want this marvelous power to help others; I know so many people that need it badly and I want to carry it to them at once,' he earnestly declares.

Mind's Control of Body.

"All intelligent persons agree that a man's mind influences his body to a greater or less degree, they only differ about how far this mental influence extends. All agree that excessive worry, fear, anger, and other mental extremes, are familiar causes of physical disorders. All will admit, for example, that a man may worry himself sick, that excessive fear may produce weakness, and that a violent outburst of anger may cause physical collapse. But how far other forms of bodily derangements are to be attributed to mental causes, authorities do not agree. Just where the vague line should be drawn which the doctors say exists between mental and material causation is a matter of dispute among the doctors themselves. One school of medicine maintains that only so-called functional diseases are mentally produced, while another more progressive admits that certain forms of elementary organic disorders may have a mental origin.

"Here Christian Science enters the arena and boldly declares that the human mind is to be held accountable for every discordant condition of the body; not only in cases where its action is direct and apparent, as in those just named, but where its operations are remote and obscure and are only discernable by those trained in the study of mental causation.

"Then arises a throng of questions by the beginner, typical ones being: 'How about the sickness of an infant, whose mind is undeveloped;' or, 'How can a man's mind be the cause of his pain when he has swallowed something in his food that he did not know was harmful?' It is not the mind of any one individual that causes the mischief, but the minds of all mortals—mortal mind, in other words. It is this mortal mind which has decreed that cerain physical effects will follow certain causes. It is this mortal mind that has laid down many of these trouble-making laws about the physical body and the material world where it claims to have complete control. It holds its subjects in a grip of iron, and sickness, pain, distress, sorrow, and misery are the results. It is a dictator, a tyrant, a despot, and the human body is its obedient servant.

"Yet it may be stripped of all its assumed power and aggressiveness, and be reduced to nothingness.

Knowing God.

"If at this stage of his enlightenment it is explained to the beginner that a right knowledge of God, divine Mind, is essential to his progress, he naturally asks, 'How am I to learn to know God's Divine Mind, that His benign influence may harmonize my troubled life and heal this ailing body that gives me so much distress? How am I to understand the laws under which He operates? Who is to teach me?'

"Jesus of Nazareth was not only the greatest physician but also the greatest teacher the world has ever known. He taught men to know God, and now, as then, man's great need is a right understanding of God and His law.

"Most men know so little about God as Life, Truth, and Love, supreme on earth as in heaven, that they think they can get along just as well without such knowledge as with it. Yet there is nothing within the range of human consciousness that is more essential to man's happiness, health and true success.

Right Idea of God.

"We will then ask the beginner to set aside for the time his inherited and impedimentive beliefs about God and to consider with open mind a little of the teachings of Christian Science about God, good, the God whom Jesus taught men to know.

"Let us explain to him that God is Love; that God is Mind; that He is Spirit; the infinite Principle of being that He is Truth, that He is Life; that He is omnipotence, omniscience, omnipresence. Do these definitions of God quickly appeal to the man who has always thought of Him as a finite personage subject to the limitations of time, space, and circumstance? Perhaps not. But let us propose as an aid towards a fuller comprehension, that he choose from among these definitions the one which most nearly approaches his conception of the highest possible good, and let his thought dwell upon that. A man's highest ideas of God can be no higher than his highest conceptions of good, but they should always be that high. "Or is it the thought of God as Life. The Life that knows no death. The Life that maketh all things new; the eternal source of all being, of health, of growth, of activity, of development and unfoldment, that touches a responsive chord in the consciousness of the man who is seeking a better knowledge of God. If so, let him sound it deeply and it will swell into a diapason of grandeur and harmony and inspiration.

"Or perhaps he may best comprehend the Christian Science idea of God as Principle, the divine First Cause and Creator, the sustaining, actuating, and underlying Principle of the universe who operates through unchanging laws, always beneficent and always comprehensible.

"There are many who readily grasp the idea of God as Truth, the Truth which makes men free from every lie of sickness, want, woe, misery, deficiency or tribulation. The man to whom this larger thought of God appears may add to it day by day and thereby grow into a new freedom, growing away from his sense of limitation or lack of confidence, or restricted opportunity. Not only does it bring him to liberty, but ability to do those things that make for individual progress, growth and true success in commercial, professional, industrial and domestic life.

"Perhaps the beginner in Christian Science may more readily comprehend God as omniscient Mind, possessing all knowledge, all science, all intelligence, all understanding, the Creator of man and the universe, of all that really exists. The man of God's creation, the real man, reflecting these qualities of infinite Mind, does not lack wisdom, acumen, perception, tact, judgment nor perspicacity. He need never be in doubt, nor conjecture, nor wonder. He has no occasion to court luck nor chance nor fortuitous circumstance. No problem can be too profound, no situation too complex, no research too vast for the man who habitually turns to infinite Mind, the fountain-head of all knowledge, for his guidance and direction.

God Is Omnipotence.

"The Christian Science church not only teaches that God is the only power, as other churches teach, but it also insists that its followers put that teaching into practice. This means that they are expected to deny by thought and deed that evil, the opposite of God, has any power or actuality. With them this is not a mere doctrinal theory or an empty assertion, but an actuating, animating truth. To declare that God is omnipotent and at the same time admit that evil has power to confer pleasure or to cause pain is to say one thing while believing another. It is in effect saying that God is the only power while believing that He is not.

"It is sometimes wrongly alleged that in thus denying the reality of evil, Christian Science confers a license to sin. Never was there a greater mistake. When man gains an understanding of the unreality of sin, he no longer turns to it for pleasure or flees from it in fear. This understanding of the unreality of evil is attainable only as we gain an understanding of God as the only reality.

"Jesus proved in his ministry on earth, and Christian Science is today substantiating that proof, that just in proportion that a man gains and applies a right understanding of God, the divine Truth which denies the reality of all things evil, in that proportion does he break the hold of sickness and sin.

Mental Laziness.

"There are times in the experience of every student of Christian Science when he seems to be gaining but little understanding of what he reads, and frequently he wonders why. Mental indolence is a common cause. The remedy is named on page 323 of Science and Health which says: 'In order to apprehend more, we must put into practice what we already know,' an admonition that should be hung on the walls of the consciousness of every student in the school of scientific Mind-healing.

"Industry is essential to advancement in the spiritual world as well as in the material. We must not only know what to do, but do what we know. Nor is it enough to merely refrain from doing evil, we must also be active in doing good. It is not enough that we no longer hate, we must learn to love. Christian Science is not a negative religion. It is forceful, positive, progressive. It is to be judged not only by what it prevents but also by what it produces. It not only destroys weeds, but produces crops.

"The pages of Science and Health are bright with simple statements of Truth that any intelligent man may practically apply if he will. Let us take by way of example that simple admonition on page 261: 'Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionably to their occupancy of your thought.'

Good Always Constructive.

"No two thoughts, one good and the other evil, can prevail at the same time in a man's consciousness. It is as impossible as it is for two diverging lines to meet. Good is always the positive, evil the negative; good the constructive, evil the degenerative; good the real, evil the unreal.

"Every good thought held reverently and steadfastly will improve, develop and multiply and bring others of its kind.

"Right thinking, then, leading to right acting, not only brings us what we need but protects us from the things we most dread, and is effective in every walk of life and available to every type of man.

"It may be claimed that this scientific thought control is not an easy thing to bring about. Granted. But it is a possible thing and it is a thing that is constantly being done by the beginner, as well as by the experienced worker, and is an essential, though elementary, form of right procedure in Christian Science.

"It is only possible, however, to him who understands in some degree the allness of God and the nothingness of every thing or thought which does not proceed from infinite Mind.

"And with that understanding comes a consciousness of God's protecting care and tender love for all His children—a consciousness that leads to higher aspirations and purer desires, that makes men and women want to be better and want to know how to be better, that they may share in His infinite mercy and kindness and love."

LARSON'S SLAYER IN TODD COUNTY JAIL.

Long Prairie, Minn., March 3.—Christ Altenberg, the self-confessed murderer of Anton Larson, is now lodged in the Todd county jail here. The district attorney had given strict orders that the prisoner is not to see any one until he has had a hearing. He employed an attorney to handle the case. It is not known yet whether the grand jury will hear the case, as prior to the Larson murder there was no call for a grand jury.

For Rough, Wrinkled, Freckled, Pimpled Skin

As March winds, flying dust and dirt, are apt to injure any complexion, this information will be of special value right now. If you have any cutaneous blemish, don't use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, sallowness, red or yellow blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If bothered with wrinkles or furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel will prove wonderfully effective. —Advertisement.

Girls, Avoid Yellow Spots on the Teeth

"John, isn't it a pity Stella has such horrid teeth? What ugly yellow teeth she shows when she smiles, with that horrid gold front!"

Now, as a matter of fact, holes in the teeth and yellow teeth are usually caused by pure carelessness. When the teeth begin to turn yellow, blacken inside, little spots appear, when there is grit and tartar between the teeth and gums, when teeth are sore and begin to separate, when they are loose in their sockets and wobble about, rock to and fro by the tongue, one can overcome these conditions quite easily. According to a German scientist, all you need to do is to get from your druggist about four ounces of fluid ergan (you won't need more), and use morning, noon and night, merely holding a teaspoonful in the mouth a minute or so. The infestments and microbes will be washed out, the enamel cleansed of the dirty yellow coating, and your own white enamel appear. The sensitiveness to heat and cold, to sweets and tobacco, will no longer be noticed. Your teeth will be firm and strong again, all the mouth, tongue, upper palate and teeth will be clean, the disease condition disappear, and you save yourself a bill for store teeth. —Advertisement.

"PICKINGS" VERY GOOD

William Elbrant Got 114 Separate Articles From River Cottage.

Shotgun, Silver, Nightshirt and Some Choice Cordials.

One hundred and fourteen separate articles were all that William Elbrant, age 32, could find when he inspected the cottage of E. P. Alexander on Zenith Island in the St. Louis river, yesterday, according to the police complaint, but he took these few little things with him and resolved to call again and try to find some more.

Elbrant was arrested yesterday afternoon by Capt. A. G. Fiskett and Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, in a West Michigan street rooming house, and most of the stolen property was found there. The value of the goods is estimated at from $350 to $400 by the police. Elbrant was taken to Superior this morning, and will be tried there, as Zenith Island is on the Wisconsin side. Mr. Alexander, the owner of the property, is a Duluth real estate man, living at 1211 East First street.

This is what Elbrant is alleged to have taken:

1 shot gun, value, $150.
1 pair of field glasses.
2 razors and a strop.
17 soup spoons.
18 forks.
20 knives.
21 tea spoons.
11 small spoons.
3 blankets.
1 box of sausage.
1 night shirt.
2 pair of hair brushes.
1 bottle of toilet water.
2 bottles of whisky.
2 bottles of cordial.
1 bottle of vermouth.
3 bottles of German Kummel wine.
2 bottles of Dubonnet wine.
2 bottles of gin.
1 carving knife.

Elbrant told the police that he had pawned the shot gun in Superior. Most of the articles, excepting the gun, the wines, the razors, the toilet water, and the sausage, have been recovered.

He admitted entering the cottage, used as a summer home by the Alexander family, but said an accomplice, whose name he didn't know, had carried away a lion's share of the plunder.

He was charged with carrying stolen property from the state to another this morning, but the charge was dismissed and he will be tried for theft in the Wisconsin court.

GERMAN NOTE ENCOURAGING

ness to accept virtually all of the American proposals except the one which would restrict the use of anchored mines to purely defensive purposes. The German government expresses the belief that belligerents cannot afford to abandon entirely the use of mines for offensive operations. It is willing to consider the abondonment of floating mines.

According to Rules.

In case German submarines take action, after investigation, against merchantmen carrying contraband or owned in hostile countries, it is agreed that such action will be in accordance with the general rules of international law. This presupposes, however, the abandonment of the use of neutral flags by merchantmen of hostile nations or the arming of such merchantmen. If such tactics were employed, Germany contends, it would be impossible to restrict the operations of submarines in this manner.

The reply suggests that there be constituted in the countries concerned American commissions to which supplies of foodstuffs for the use of civilian populations could be consigned. This plan, it is said, is contemplated in the American proposals. The reply also suggests that these commissions should be allowed to import and control the distribution of other articles, especially fodder, which are on the conditional contraband list in the declaration of London. Germany states that interferences with articles on the absolute free list in the declaration of London should be abandoned.

posal, half in joke, that it be passed under suspension of the rules.

Likely to Pass House.

It wasn't passed under suspension of the rules, but was referred to the committee on temperance. But the understanding was that the committee would have it back before the house early next week, when it will be made a special order for an early date. It is not at all unlikely that it will pass the house, at least—indeed, it is very likely that it will pass.

It happened this way:

Messrs. Larimore and Davis, the house having reverted to the order of business "introduction of bills," put in a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment absolutely prohibiting forevermore the sale, gift or transportation within the state of intoxicating liquors after Jan. 1, 1917.

Speaker Flowers was about to send the bill through the usual course of reference to the committee on temperance and temperance legislation, when Larimore protested.

Thinking of the practice when a mere house resolution, not a joint resolution, comes up, he gave notice of debate, intending to put the measure over to today for consideration.

Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls called attention to the fact that under the rules the measure must be referred to the proper committee.

Mr. Larimore looked inquiringly at Speaker Flowers, who nodded agreement.

"But," said Mr. Adams, "if you are in a hurry on this measure, perhaps I can help you."

Then, with a twinkle in his eye and manifestly without the slightest notion that his motion would be seriously considered, he moved that the rules be so far suspended as to give the bill its second and third reading and place it upon its final passage.

And much to everybody's surprise, that motion was put, debated and voted upon. It was defeated, though, 60 for and 56 against, when it needed 87 votes.

Inwardness of the Move.

But during the debate the real inwardness of Mr. Larimore's move came out.

In brief, this was that as under county option Hennepin county very likely will go dry and Ramsey county stay wet, whatever business comes with the liquor traffic would flee Minneapolis and go to St. Paul.

Therefore, Mr. Larimore—therefore and because he had said in opposing county option that if they really wanted to stifle the liquor traffic statewide prohibition was the only honest way—proposed that if Hennepin went dry Ramsey also must go dry, even if it meant drying up the whole state with the sponge of state-wide prohibition.

Mr. Larimore said that every single speech against county option last week had really been a speech for state-wide prohibition—his own and everybody else's. Moreover, he said that under county option intemperance and vice would be driven out of the dry counties and would congest in the wet counties. County option, he thought, was an unmoral if not an immoral piece of business.

"Those who are honestly for the suppression of the liquor traffic," he said, "will vote for this bill. If the protestations that have been made on both sides were in good faith, the votes for it ought to be almost unanimous."

Representative Theodore Christianson of Dawson, one of those suspicious of the proceeding, said he was not sure that prohibition of the transportation of liquors within the state would not be in conflict with the provisions of the Federal Constitution giving congress exclusive jurisdiction over commerce between the states.

"That applies only to interstate commerce," declared Mr. Larimore, "and this is intrastate commerce."

Representative Paul W. Guilford of Minneapolis thought there should be no rush about it—no such rush as would lead the house into a bad mistake. "We should investigate," he said, "the question whether this can be done by a joint resolution, or whether a bill is not necessary."

"I have ample authority," responded Mr. Larimore, "for the assertion that it can be done by resolution."

Representative Thomas H. Girling of Minneapolis, an opponent of the bill, moved a call of the house. It took a roll call, half an hour later, to suspend this call so that the house could get down to business.

Representative Tom J. McGrath of St. Paul then opposed acting on the bill under a suspension of the rules. The bill should go to the committee, he thought, and be considered there thoroughly.

Called It a Woodchuck.

"The resolution is in the nature of a woodchuck," he averred.

"The gentleman who last spoke," said Knud Wefald of Hawley, "has a right to talk about woodchucks, for he tried to get a woodchuck into the county option bill." Mr. McGrath had offered an amendment to the county option bill that would have exempted cities from its operation.

"I am glad to hear," continued Mr. Wefald, "that so many members have heard from home since the county option vote, and I am glad to help them square themselves." He saw no reason why the house should bother sending the bill to committee.

"Every member here," said Oscar A. Swanson of Nicollet, "has been taken by surprise, and we should have time to know what we are doing. If the bill has merit, it will probably pass the house. But what's the rush? If you rush this through, some of you may be sorry for it."

"This resolution was sprung," said Representative Girling, "without anybody knowing anything about it except the authors. It would wipe out $60,000,000 worth of property, and yet you ask us to vote on it in five minutes!"

"It will do no harm," said Representative Charles J. Sawyer of Minneapolis, who had unexpectedly voted against county option, "to find out who are the real temperance men in this house. If those of us who have been called names want to get behind a good strong temperance measure, give us a chance to redeem ourselves."

Representative Lewis C. Spooner said the resolution needed amendment in at least two respects. For one thing, he thought unquestionably it would violate the Federal Constitution's prohibitions against the confiscation of property.

"Can anyone in the house answer one question?" plaintively inquired Representative James H. Hynes of St. Paul, the baby of the house. "How does it happen that the leaders of the wet side are introducing prohibition measures?"

"I believe," said Mr. Larimore in reply, "that under county option Hennepin county would go dry. Ramsey county would stay wet. When you people and others came to the Twin Cities, you like to see the bright lights and the glint in the glasses. You'd go to St. Paul instead of Minneapolis, so let's make the whole thing dry."

The motion to suspend the rules being defeated, Representative Larimore wanted to make the resolution a special order for Friday morning. The rules requiring two days' notice of such a motion, and Chairman Dwyer of the temperance committee promising prompt action on the bill, it was referred to that committee.

The house, much excited by this controversy, instead of going into committee of the whole to consider general orders, adjourned to this morning.

How They Voted.

The vote on the Adams motion to suspend the rules was as follows:

Baths at Lumber Camps.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the bill by Senator Jones of Duluth giving the state board of health authority to require proper sanitary conditions in lumber camps, and to compel the installation of bathing facilities, with the provision that the companies cannot charge a fee for baths.

The Healy bill abolishing town meetings in the big township of Stuntz and providing for elections with fifteen precincts, passed the senate yesterday afternoon.

Four bills intended to curb the growing industry of importing personal injury cases into Minnesota for trial here were introduced in the house yesterday by Representatives Sanborn of St. Paul and others.

One prohibits the importation of such cases into the state. A second makes contingent fees illegal, and so hits at the large profits in such business. A third prohibits solicitation of personal injury and other tort claims by means of paid runners, solicitors, etc. The fourth, intended to encourage fair settlements by claim agents, provides that any settlement made within thirty days after the accident can be canceled at the option of the injured person if it has not been approved by a district judge.

Boxing Bill Approved.

The boxing bill allowing ten-round sparring bouts similar to the Wisconsin law, and creating a boxing commission, was amended and recommended for passage by the senate committee on public health yesterday afternoon. The amendment provided that 5 per cent of the gross receipts should be paid into the tuberculosis fund instead of into the roads and highways fund of the state.

Senator O. Gjerset's bill requiring all "healers" to pass examinations in medical subjects was referred back to him. Senator J. W. Andrews has a bill in the committee similar to it. Senator R. J. Handlan's bill creating a state plumbing board was returned to the author. The bill regulating the practice of optometry was recommended for passage.

Against Hypnotists.

Senator W. S. Dwinnell's bill prohibiting the practice of teaching of hypnotism by persona or mail was recommended for passage yesterday by the judiciary committee of the senate. The bill was amended to read that none of its terms were directed at the exercise of any religious liberty.

COUNTY DIVISION WOULD BE BAD THING, SAY RANGE MEN

pioneers of the county, who says in a letter to Representative E. R. Ribenack of Duluth:

"I write to you as one of the representatives of St. Louis county whom we believe truly represents the interests of the whole county as it stands on the map of Minnesota today, and who does not for selfish motives and local gain at the expense of the people who pay the taxes seek to divide old St. Louis and erect one, two or three new counties from the northern part with a county seat on wheels to be passed around as part of the consideration for support of the bill. When the time comes to divide let the people have a say—yes, the whole people that are residents of St. Louis county. I have made my home in the northern part of the county for over thirty-two years. I have done a little toward subduing the wilderness in these thirty-two years, and am still at it, and the old pioneers of the North country are very proud of St. Louis county and the advancement and progress along agricultural lines that have been made in the last ten years, and that in the next ten will be quadrupled and inside of fifty years it will be the dominant interest and the one that will bear the burden of taxation aside from Duluth. The pine will be done or virtually so inside the ten-year period, and the iron ore that is now the dominant interest will take second place inside of forty years.

"So I say, why sever our connection with the great commercial port that will increase in importance as its surroundings are developed, and tie us to a passing interest so that later we, the tillers of the soil, will have to bear the burden? We are absolutely opposed to county division along present lines. When the time comes and the people request it I will agree, not at the beck of a handful of lawyers and would-be officeholders and hangers-on. Yours for a square deal. JOHN OWENS."

From Eveleth's Mayor.

Mayor Jacob S. Saari of Eveleth sends a strong letter:

"There are a number of good and sufficient reasons why the bill should not become a law. The principal reason is that the proposed division would entail a great financial burden upon the taxpayers without giving the residents on the range any substantial benefits. I understand that if division should be made, the taxpayers on the range would have their taxes increased nearly two-thirds.

"So far as appropriations for county roads are concerned, my observation and experience lead me to the conclusion that we on the ranges are not being discriminated against in any way. There never has been any disposition so far as I have beenable to learn on the part of the public officials of Duluth to discriminate against the people residing in the north end of the county. They are being treated with fairness and justice.

"Some of those who are now favoring the division urge as an argument for it that it is inconvenient for the residents in the range towns to do their county business in Duluth. That is greatly exaggerated, and isn't worthy of serious consideration as a reason for the division.

"I have had an opportunity to size up the sentiment of a considerable portion of the people on the range regarding this matter. It is my opinion that a majority of the property-owning people on the range are against the proposed division. The principal advocates of the measure are prospective officeholders. That fact is known by those who are at all familiar with the situation.

"I hope the bill will be defeated. The legislature ought not to take any action which will preclude the people of the county from expressing their views on this important matter at the polls. Let us have self-government."

Aims Purely Political.

John C. Richards, mining engineer, Virginia—"The class or standard of the governing bodies of our cities and villages, being the people's choice, will naturally be the class or standard of the governing body of the proposed new county. Their attitude in governing their cities and villages has been to SPEND AS MUCH MONEY AS THE LAW WOULD ALLOW THEM, REGARDLESS OF OUR NEEDS. Economy or efficiency have never entered their heads. Their aims are purely political. The more labor they can employ the more votes that governing body is going to receive at the next election."

No Desire For Economy.

A. B. Coates of Virginia—"I understand that through the agitation of some lawyers and the newspapers generally on the range that a bill is being considered for the division of St. Louis county, and in the fear that the solid position of the newspapers might cause you to think that nearly everybody on the range really wants county division, I thought it well to write to you, as a taxpayer and property-owner, to call your attention to the fact that a very large number of residents of the range are thoroughly opposed to any division of the county.

"We have here a fundamental trouble, and it is that the mining companies, which are non-residents, pay a very large proportion of the total taxes; consequently the local interests, such as business men and general property-owners, pay a very small per cent.

"This situation has RUINED ANY DESIRE FOR ECONOMY, and because the governing bodies, such as the councils in the cities and villages, are spending other people's money, or very largely so. This situation is bad enough as it is, but with two counties I understand the mining companies will be paying more than 90 per cent of the taxes, and you can readily see that it will tend toward a CONDITION OF EXTRAVAGANCE WORSE THAN IT IS TODAY.

"I DO NOT BELIEVE THE WHOLE WORLD CAN SHOW THE EXAMPLE OF EXTRAVAGANCE WHICH WE NOW HAVE ON THE MESABA RANGE.

"You will find that only a very small percentage of the range people have any real interest in county division."

Would Cause Higher Taxes.

N. B. Shank, Biwabik—"I want to state at this time that as a taxpayer and a resident of St. Louis county I am opposed to the proposed division of St. Louis county. I cannot see where it will be of any benefit, and feel sure that it will be the cause of higher taxes."

James Marra, merchant, Eveleth—"Believing that division of the county will increase the burden of taxation, I would like to have you use your influence against the measure when it comes up for consideration."

Max Shapiro, merchant, Eveleth—"I hereby protest against the passage of any bill for the division of St. Louis county, as I feel it is not for the best interests of the greatest number of people living in the county or in the part sought to be organized into a new county, and is only a scheme of a few office-seeking politicians."

C. V. Maimgren, M. D., Virginia—"I desire to enter my protest against the division of St. Louis county, and I hope you will do all you can to prevent the passage of any law which has for its object the division of the county."

Wasteful Administration.

Wilbur Van Evera, mining engineer, Virginia—"I wish to record my personal objection to the proposition of dividing the county of St. Louis. From what reliable sources of information as are open to me, I learn that this division will place the county government and county taxes in the hands of people who themselves pay but 7 per cent of these taxes. The wastefully lavish administration of some of our city governments amply justifies the fear that the new county government would operate with but little regard for the taxpayer, and it is my opinion that unfairness and injustice in tax matters such as we have all seen up here, will some day redound with interest to the disadvantage of the entire range country. I may add that I am in no way, directly or indirectly, connected with any large taxpaying interest in St. Louis county. • • • I believe that the larger interests of the people living in the range country, and certainly a sense of justice and fair play, would be best served by your opposition to it (county division)."

G. A. Apuli, merchant, Mountain Iron—"The bill will only increase political offices and raise taxes. There are no hardships whatever in having St. Louis county as large as it is."

Now Run Capably.

H. F. Herrmeyer, Mountain Iron—"I am an opponent to the proposed division of St. Louis county, a movement started, in my estimation, by some Mesaba range attorneys, who, no doubt, if their pet scheme is successful, will prove to be candidates for newly created offices and will most likely get the Mesaba range habit of lavish expenditure of public moneys.

"Let's be satisfied with the present St. Louis county, and in my estimation its affairs are run in a capable manner and as well as any county in the state."

V. I. Fraser, Mountain Iron—"Some have said that Mesaba range people are not capable of handling public money. As a private citizen of this range, I refute this statement in a measure. Will say, I think we have capable enough citizens up here to handle public moneys, but they seldom seem to be elected to public offices; therefore I think we are about as bad off as though we didn't have them. I am very much opposed to the county division movement."

Vermilion Range Sentiment.

Ed Osterberg, Tower—"I have been a resident of the Vermilion range for the past thirty years and fail to see where there will be any reduction of taxes by dividing the county—rather an increase, I think. We have built a million-dollar courthouse at Duluth and can see no good reason in building another at, say, Hibbing, and supporting another bunch of county officials with all the expense that entails. When we of this range have business at the county seat, we naturally have some trading to do and would prefer to do it at the largest town, where they have better facilities. I know there are many more on this range whose views are the same as mine."

Farmers Oppose Division.

M. R. Hannula, farmer, Embarrass—"I am a farmer here. We have a big settlement here. Most of them will be against dividing St. Louis county. We cannot see that it does us any good. Only, we think, it would bring taxes a good deal higher than they are now. Lots of the farmers have enough to do to pay taxes on what they now have."

E. P. Owens, Cook—"Some have the impression that all are in favor of the act up here in the Northern woods, but the sentiment is almost unanimous—'Let well enough alone.' We are trying to carve out farms up here in the woods, and with some help will succeed; but the ranges with their extravagant ways are the wrong bunch to pull with."

Dr. A. W. Shaw, Buhl—"I hope that you will use your influence against county division. This problem has been much discussed among many of us, and I am speaking the sentiment of many of our business men in this town."

These are only a few samples, gathered haphazard out of the mass of voluntary and spontaneous protests against the division bill that have reached here from the iron range communities.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1784 Marcellus Avenue, Manasquam, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is quite overcome by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to so lubricate the muscles and to thus so relieve the pressure reacting on the nerves, that the natural strain upon the cords and ligaments is not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses.

Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmother's earlier years and is known throughout the United States it may be easily inferred that it is something that women gladly recommend.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 307 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

NOON-DAY MEETINGS

Dr. Hoffman Will Conduct Series of Services at Lyceum.

Take Place During Week of March 15 at Lunch Hours.

Beginning March 15, Rev. John W. Hoffman of the First Methodist Episcopal church will conduct a series of six noon-day meetings at the Lyceum theater, as a part of a special endeavor to reach the business men and residents of the downtown section.

This custom was started six years ago by Rev. M. S. Rice, former pastor of the Methodist church and now a prominent clergyman of Detroit, Mich. Each series of meetings has been so successful that the week's campaign has been made a permanent feature of the work being done by this church in Duluth.

The hours of the service have been arranged so that office men and women will be able to attend during the noon hour, without any serious interference with their work. The song service will begin at 12:10 daily and the sermon will start at 12:30. All of the meetings will close at ten minutes to 1 o'clock, giving the audience time to return to their offices or place of work before the noon hour is ended.

No collection will be made at any of these meetings, following the custom established by Dr. Rice. During this week a special appeal will be made to those living or working in the center of the city, who do not attend services as often as people living in the residence sections.

Dr. Hoffman has announced as his topics for the six days the following: Monday, "Foundations"; Tuesday, "The New Life"; Wednesday, "Assets"; Thursday, "Judgment"; Friday, "Forgiveness" and Saturday, "The Supreme Question."

In the past business organizations have co-operated with the church in arousing interest among their employes, so that the meetings were well attended, and this procedure is being followed this year on a larger scale than ever before, it is stated.

EMPRESS PLAYERS STILL STRANDED

William Abrahamson, owner and manager of the New Empress theater, has adopted the "scrap of paper" attitude, according to M. J. Knill, manager of the Manhattan Musical Comedy company, who, with twenty-two thespians, is stranded in Duluth.

After the company had played at the Empress two weeks and a day, the theater was closed without notice by Manager Abrahamson, leaving salaries in arrears, according to their story. The local man, on the other hand, makes a counter claim for money he alleges is due him for railroad fares and costumes. He says he has paid the manager all the money due him and is not responsible for salaries of the players.

"Mr. Abrahamson has simply ignored the terms of the contract which he signed," declared Manager Knill this morning. "There is no doubt but what we will get the money eventually, but the problem of caring for the chorus girls and other members of the troupe until we receive the money is a serious one."

Ray M. Hughes, local attorney, has been retained by Manager Knill, and will confer with Mr. Abrahamson this afternoon in an attempt to adjust the difficulties of the thespians and get them started on the long trip "back to Broadway."

In the meantime, the twelve chorus girls, several chorus men, and other members of the company are practising economy.

TELLS TALE OF CRUELTY

Settler's Wife Says She Was Forced to Trap for Living.

District Court Judges Begin Hearings on Divorce Cases.

A lurid tale of cruelty such as might have been torn from a page of fiction was recited before Judge Fesler in district court this morning by Inga Swanson, who appeared in quest of a divorce from her husband, Charles W. Swanson, to whom she was married at Virginia, April 12, 1906.

Swanson had two trades, bartender and carpenter, but his leanings were toward the job of passing schooners over the bar. When they were married he promised his wife, she said, that he would give up bartending and devote himself to the carpenter trade. She testified that he broke his pledge.

Instance after instance of his cruel treatment towards her was recited by the plaintiff. Once, she said, he tied her up and said he was going to kill her. She was saved, she said, by her brother.

During the year 1909, she testified the Swansons moved to Pelican Lake near Orr. She declared that he would not stay at home with her and that he told her that he had to go where he could get whisky. Their home was three miles from the nearest farm house and six miles from the nearest market. Her youngest child was born there and at the time, she said, she had no medical attention and not even a friend to care for the other children during her confinement.

Made Own Living.
Swanson refused to work and she had to make a living for herself and her family by trapping, hunting and trading with the Indians. Once she was stricken with typhoid fever and settlers living in the vicinity learning of her impoverished condition came to her aid and sent her to a hospital. One of the neighbors gave her $50, which her husband stole from her when he came to the hospital to see her, she declared.

Mrs. Swanson declared that after she had been removed from the hospital and taken to her home, her husband remarked in her presence that it was useless to spend money on her as she was going to die anyway. He refused to assist her, she said, and left her to the cold charity of the world.

* * *

Judge Fesler also granted a divorce to Primas Gerchar from his wife, Frances Gerchar. The husband was given the divorce on ground of desertion. The plaintiff alleged that his wife had left him a month after their marriage and had gone to Biwabik, where she was again living under her maiden name, that of Frances Korachich. They were married at Virginia on Nov. 25, 1911.

SCOTTISH CHIEF HERE

Head of Order of Clans Visiting Local Scotsmen.

Alexander G. Findlay, royal chief of the Order of Scottish Clans, is today the guest of Clan Stewart. There will be a banquet tendered this evening in his honor by the members of the local order, and today he was entertained at luncheon by several of the members of Clan Stewart.

"Clan Stewart of Duluth is one of the chief clans of the entire order," said Mr. Findlay. "This is because of the good Scotsmen here and also because of the good and loyal workers. You know there are no salaried officers in our order; we depend upon the loyalty, enthusiasm and interest for its success, and I may say that during the past year the progress of the order has been most gratifying."

Mr. Findlay's home is in Seattle. During the past business year he has traveled up and down the country quite a number of times, being in the woolen mill business, and predicts that within a few weeks there is going to be an appreciable change for the better in the business conditions of the United States.

"Woolen mills of Utah have subcontracts from the large mills of the East," said he, "because of the heavy business created by demand right here at home. The shutting off of imports and the creation of new business figure in the increased demand. I believe that there will be a large increased demand for a variety of manufactured articles within a very short period."

JUDGE WINDOM TO TAKE NO CHANCES

Judge W. L. Windom, candidate for re-election, will play safe when he files his nomination petitions.

He announced this morning that every petition will contain a war stamp as is required by the Federal laws and that he will file fifty petitions either tomorrow or Friday. As a result it will cost him an additional $5 to file.

"Candidates alone are liable to this law," said Judge Windom this morning, "and I am going to play safe and place a stamp on every petition. If it is ever decided that these nominating petitions require stamps, candidates can be placed under arrest by the Federal authorities for violation of the law."

Judge Windom has petitions from many of the lawyers in the city.

Hollander Says His Country Will Remain Neutral.

J. Empfang of Folsnicken, Holland, was a guest of the Holland hotel yesterday. Mr. Empfang is enroute to Buhl to visit a cousin there. He declared that there was hardly the remotest possibility that Holland would be drawn into the turmoil of the European war. Mr. Empfang expressed surprise at the general characteristics of the American people in general, stating that he had learned to expect exaggerated hustle and bustle among the citizens of this land, believeing before he came over that the dollar and the acquirement of another dollar were about all that occupied the mind of the average American. The visitor said that he was not at all disappointed in the difference of the real from his preconceived estimate of America.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

NOON-DAY MEETINGS

Dr. Hoffman Will Conduct Series of Services at Lyceum.

Take Place During Week of March 15 at Lunch Hours.

Beginning March 15, Rev. John W. Hoffman of the First Methodist Episcopal church will conduct a series of six noon-day meetings at the Lyceum theater, as a part of a special endeavor to reach the business men and workers of the downtown section.

This custom was started six years ago by Rev. M. S. Rice, former pastor of the Methodist church and now a prominent clergyman of Detroit, Mich. The series of meetings has been so successful that the week's campaign has come to be a permanent feature of the work being done by this church each year.

The hours of the service have been arranged so that office men and workers will be able to attend during the noon hour, without any serious interference with their work. The meeting will begin at 12:10 daily and the sermon will start at 12:30. All of the meetings will close at ten minutes to 1 o'clock, giving the audience time to return to their offices or places of work before the noon hour is ended.

A collection will be made at any of these meetings, following the custom established by Dr. Rice. During this week a special appeal will be made to those living or working in the center of the city, who do not attend services as often as people living in the residence sections.

Dr. Hoffman has announced as his topics for the six days the following: Monday, "Foundations"; Tuesday, "The New Life"; Wednesday, "Assurance"; Thursday, "Judgment"; Friday, "Forgiveness" and Saturday, "The Supreme Question."

In the past business organizations have cooperated with the church in arousing interest among their employes so that the meetings were made possible and this precedent is to be followed this year on a larger scale than ever before, it is stated.

EMPRESS PLAYERS STILL STRANDED

William Abrahamson, owner and manager of the New Empress theater, has accepted the "scrap of paper" attitude, according to M. J. Knill, manager of the Manhattan Musical Comedy company, who, with twenty-two theatricals is stranded in Duluth.

After the company had played at the Empress two weeks and a day, the theater was closed without notice by Manager Abrahamson, leaving salaries in arrears, according to their story. The local man, on the other hand, makes a counter claim for money he alleges is due him for railroad fares and costumes. He says he has paid the manager all the money due him and is not responsible for salaries of the players.

"Mr. Abrahamson has simply ignored the terms of the contract which he signed," declared Manager Knill this morning. "There is no doubt but what we will get the money eventually, but the problem of caring for the chorus girls and other members of the troupe until we receive the money is a serious one."

Ray M. Hughes, local attorney, has been retained by Manager Knill, and will confer with Mr. Abrahamson this afternoon in an attempt to adjust the difficulties of the thespians and get them started on the long trip "back to Broadway."

In the meantime, the twelve chorus girls, several chorus men, and other members of the company are practising economy.

TELLS TALE OF CRUELTY

Settler's Wife Says She Was Forced to Trap for Living.

District Court Judges Begin Hearings on Divorce Cases.

A lurid tale of cruelty such as might have been torn from a page of fiction was recited before Judge Fesler in district court this morning by Inga Swanson, who appeared in quest of a divorce from her husband, Charles W. Swanson, to whom she was married at Virginia, April 12, 1906.

Swanson had two trades, bartender and carpenter, but his leanings were toward the job of passing schooners over the bar. When they were married he promised his wife, she said, that he would give up bartending and devote himself to the carpenter trade. She testified that he broke his pledge.

Instance after instance of his cruel treatment towards her was recited by the plaintiff. Once, she said, he tied her up and said he was going to kill her. She was saved, she said, by her brother.

During the year 1909, she testified the Swansons moved to Pelican Lake near Orr. She declared that he would not stay at home with her and that he told her that he had to go where he could get whisky. Their home was three miles from the nearest farm house and six miles from the nearest market. Her youngest child was born there and at the time, she said, she had no medical attention and not even a friend to care for the other children during her confinement.

Made Own Living.

Swanson refused to work and she had to make a living for herself and her family by trapping, hunting and trading with the Indians. Once she was stricken with typhoid fever and settlers living in the vicinity learning of her impoverished condition came to her aid and sent her to a hospital. One of the neighbors gave her $50, which her husband stole from her when he came to the hospital to see her, she declared.

Mrs. Swanson declared that after she had been removed from the hospital and taken to her home, her husband remarked in her presence that it was useless to spend money on her as she was going to die anyway. He refused to assist her, she said, and left her to the cold charity of the world.

* * *

Judge Fesler also granted a divorce to Primas Gerchar from his wife, Frances Gerchar. The husband was given the divorce on ground of desertion. The plaintiff alleged that his wife had left him a month after their marriage and had gone to Biwabik, where she was again living under her maiden name, that of Frances Korachich. They were married at Virginia on Nov. 28, 1911.

Head of Order of Clans Visiting Local Scotsmen.

Alexander G. Findlay, royal chief of the Order of Scottish Clans, is today the guest of Clan Stewart. There will be a banquet tendered this evening in his honor by the members of the local order, and today he was entertained at luncheon by several of the members of Clan Stewart.

"Clan Stewart of Duluth is one of the chief clans of the entire order," said Mr. Findlay. "This is because of the good Scotsmen here and also because of the good and loyal workers. You know there are no salaried officers in our order; we depend upon the loyalty, enthusiasm and interest for its success, and I may say that during the past year the progress of the order has been most gratifying."

Mr. Findlay's home is in Seattle. During the past business year he has traveled up and down the country quite a number of times, being in the woolen mill business, and predicts that within a few weeks there is going to be an appreciable change for the better in the business conditions of the United States.

"Woolen mills of Utah have subcontracts from the large mills of the East," said he, "because of the heavy business created by demand right here at home. The shutting off of imports and the creation of new business figure in the increased demand. I believe that there will be a large increased demand for a variety of manufactured articles within a very short period."

J. Empfang of Felsnicken, Holland, was a guest of the Holland hotel yesterday. Mr. Empfang is enroute to Buhl to visit a cousin there. He declared that there was hardly the remotest possibility that Holland would be drawn into the turmoil of the European war. Mr. Empfang expressed surprise at the general characteristics of the American people in general, stating that he had learned to expect exaggerated hustle and bustle among the citizens of this land, believeing before he came over that the dollar and the acquirement of another dollar were about all that occupied the mind of the average American. The visitor said that he was not at all disappointed in the difference of the real from his preconceived estimate of America.

Lindheim, attorney for the shippers of the cargo of the American steamship Wilhelmina, now detained at Falmouth, England, announced today that he had received word from his representative abroad that a writ had been issued and served, placing the cargo in a prize court.

AUSTRIAN WARSHIPS BOMBARD ANTIVARI.

London, March 3.—Austrian warships have been bombarding Antivari, the seaport of Montenegro. They inflicted considerable damage.

This information is contained in a dispatch received today by the Montenegrin consul general in London. The message which comes from Cettinje, reads as follows:

"Tuesday morning, five Austrian warships entered the port of Antivari and bombarded the town and port. They destroyed a quantity of valuable stores, sunk the royal yacht which was at anchor and killed one civilian."

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

MIKE GIBBONS clearly and decisively won a popular decision over Eddie McGoorty in Mike Collins' Hudson arena last evening before the greatest audience that has ever witnessed a boxing bout in the Northwest.

As we saw the thing, McGoorty had but one round, the eighth. In this session the Oshkosh Whale caught the Phantom with two of his justly famous left hooks. It looked from the press row as if the blows hurt Mike. This was the best round for the Wisconsin boxer. McGoorty's seconds made frantic cries to send him in to finish him, but the elusive and superlatively clever Gibbons was about as difficult to hit as a moving naval target on a misty morning.

The first round belonged to Gibbons. The third, fourth, fifth and sixth also went to the St. Paul boy. The seventh was even. McGoorty copped the eighth, and Gibbons carried the shade in the final two sessions.

McGoorty's left hook, while always dangerous, was made to look less effective than usual because of the marvelous ability of Gibbons to slip the blows. McGoorty essayed to use his right upon several occasions, and was made to look like a tyro. His manager, Tommy Walsh, wildly yelled for the Oshkosh Whale to stow his right whip away.

Gibbons gave a marvelous exhibition of boxing. There is nothing like him in the modern game. Repeatedly Mike evaded the leads of McGoorty by moving his head, making Edward miss with his left on many occasions.

The Gibbons left was a piston rod, flashing often to McGoorty's head. In the infighting one of the most surprising features of the evening occurred: Gibbons outfought Eddie in close. The Phantom exhibited a flashing short right and cracked McGoorty some hard wallops.

However, it must be stated that McGoorty was always dangerous. Gibbons was alertly alive to the danger carried in the McGoorty left. Taking the bout from the standpoint of boxing, for there was little damage done, it must be admitted that Gibbons had the better of it—but that McGoorty proved a foeman worthy of the steel of Gibbons, an adversary who was always trying, and one who looked as if he would hurt Gibbons, had it been possible to land solidly once or twice. But Gibbons was far too shifty; far too clever in slipping blows, and too adroit and speedy in his footwork.

A large delegation from the Head of the Lakes was on hand. Fans from various parts of the Northwest were gathered around the ringside, while the Twin Cities sent citizens from all walks of life flocking down on the dozen long specials that laboriously puffed their way into Hudson, from early in the afternoon until late in the evening.

It is estimated that the house counted up over $20,000. Of this amount, Mike Gibbons was paid a flat sum of $5,000 for his services. McGoorty received a guarantee of $4,500 from Collins, with the option of 35 per cent of the gross receipts. McGoorty's end, it is believed, will exceed the sum paid to Gibbons.

McGoorty weighed in at 155 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Gibbons just nicking the beam at 151 1-4 pounds.

Mandot May Appear.

SEVERAL of the Superior boxing promoters were yesterday negotiating with Tommy Walsh, manager of Joe Mandot, for the appearance of the New Orleans French market boy against Pal Brown.

In addition to the pugilistic mentor of Mandot, Walsh also has an interest in the handling of McGoorty. The stubby Walsh showed a willingness to talk business with the promoters from the village side of the bay, and Mandot may be the opponent of P. Lawrence Brown some time in the near future.

Following Ten Eyck.

IT LOOKS like a large and exceedingly fragrant year for Duluth rowing. The Herald story of yesterday gave an outline of the prospects for the present season—for the season that starts with the training grind of today.

For the last three or four years Duluth has won the majority of sweep events in this section of the Northwest, and has supplemented this work by sweeping the Charles river at Boston and the Schyukill at Philadelphia. Now it appears the club is on the brink of an effort to sweep the sculling program.

Young Hoover was the sensation of Kenora last season. His defeat of "Snapper" Culver of the Winnipeg Rowing club was the ultra expression of the sensational. At Philadelphia, the youngster also came through and won his intermediate event in splendid form.

No one at Kenora—no one outside of Duluth—conceded Hoover a chance against Culver, rated as one of the fastest scullers the West has turned out in many seasons. Ten Eyck sprung a genuine surprise in shooting Hoover into two firsts in the Northwestern, and one first in the National events; this season, with eight or ten scullers trying out, there may be another surprise for the followers of the game.

But, truth to tell, Bill, the followers of rowing have rather gotten over the surprise stage in connection with the rowing of the club that has most thoroughly startled the world in the matter of continuous winnings. Not since the bygone years of Patterson's boat house, has sculling been indulged in to any appreciable extent by the members of the Duluth Boat club. This season promises to be one in which the blue and white scullers will make a name somewhat proportionate to that won in the sweep world.

SAINTS' TEAM TO BE REJUVENATED

New Management Promises Surprise—New Faces to Be Seen.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—John W. Norton, a local realty broker, will operate the St. Paul club of the American association the coming season under an option secured yesterday. M. J. Kelley, a former manager of the St. Paul club, will again have active charge of the team.

George E. Lennon, president of the club, said Mr. Norton had secured exclusive control of the club for the season, with the privilege of disposing of the property at any time before the expiration of the option.

Anticipating the successful consummation of his plan for operating the club, Mr. Norton said last night he had assured himself of the services of a number of new players with a view to strengthening the team. His purpose, he said, was to have as many strange faces on the team as possible, as he believed "St. Paul fans have tired of seeing the same men year after year."

"We haven't been asleep," Mr. Norton said, referring to the activities of Manager Kelly and himself in searching for new and young material, "and when the season opens, St. Paul will have a team that will surprise the entire circuit."

GIBBONS WINS HUDSON FIGHT

Decision Goes to St. Paul Middleweight Over Clever McGoorty.

Boys Put Up Wonderful Ten-Round Battle—Phantom a Wonder.

Hudson, Wis., March 3.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul was accorded a newspaper decision over Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., in a ten-round no-decision bout here last night.

Gibbons led in seven rounds, while three—the first, second and ninth—were even. When the men weighed in in the afternoon, Gibbons tipped the scales at 151½ and McGoorty at 155½.

McGoorty showed at his best in the second round, landing with his left several times, although without telling effect. The Oshkosh fighter tried time and again to land his famous left, evidently anxious for a knockout.

Gibbons showed greater skill at infighting, frequently rocking his opponent's head with vicious uppercuts. Both men displayed skillful footwork, although in this respect, the St. Paul fighter had the edge. Toward the end of the fight, both men tried conspicuously for a knockout.

One K. O. in "Prelim."

The three preliminary bouts included one that terminated in a knockout. Frankie Snyder of Sycamore, Ill., with a right hook to the jaw, flooring Charley Lawson, Minneapolis, for the count after thirty seconds of fighting.

Young Zimmer of St. Paul shaded Enock Carnes, St. Paul, in the first preliminary, which went six rounds. In the semi-windup, Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul outpointed Walter Monaghan of Pittsburg, in a ten-round session.

When Gibbons and McGoorty stepped into the ring, they were given a tremendous ovation.

Gibbons led off, landing two light lefts, but McGoorty immediately rushed him, Gibbons answered a light slap with two swift lefts to the chin. They clinched several times neither seeming to gain an advantage. The round was nearly even, Gibbons getting a slight shade.

Honors were even in the second, Gibbons fading away before McGoorty's aggressive swings. It seemed as though the Oshkosh man was trying for a knockout. Gibbons got in a left hook, but just before the round ended McGoorty retaliated with a left swing to the stomach.

Gibbons Begins to Score.

The third and fourth went to Gibbons, the former by a shade and the latter decidedly. Both were cautious when the third session opened, clinching several times. Mike got in a couple to McGoorty's jaw, but they seemingly had little effect on the Wisconsin man. Except for sudden spurts by McGoorty, Gibbons had been the aggressor up to this point. Ducking two swings, the St. Paul fighter landed four blows in succession to McGoorty's head and got in another to the jaw just as the round ended.

Except for the ninth, the rest of the rounds went to Gibbons. In the fifth, the speed of the St. Paul "Phantom" seemed to trouble McGoorty, who missed repeatedly in his efforts to land a telling blow. McGoorty got in a right, but Mike landed several rapid-fire blows in return.

Gibbons shone even brighter in the sixth, gaining an advantage in infighting at the opening of the round, and then dropping back for clever long-range work. The seventh and eighth sessions were a repetition of the sixth, although McGoorty tried desperately to land his famous left. In the eighth Mike staggered his opponent with a hard right, but McGoorty responded a moment later with a terrific right to the jaw.

The ninth locked the action of the previous round, very little damage being done in either. The session was even.

At the beginning of the tenth, which went to Gibbons, McGoorty got in a light left to the chin. They clinched and then both tried hard for a knockout, but clever guarding prevented any material damage. Gibbons peppered McGoorty with a half-dozen rights and lefts just before the conclusion of the round.

Fight By Rounds.

Round One—After a moment's sparring they went into a clinch. McGoorty landed a left and then a right to the stomach. Mike stepped in with a left and McGoorty slipped in a right. Mike missed a left and then landed a one-two to the jaw. McGoorty landed a left to the face. McGoorty missed three lefts through Mike's beautiful footwork. They clinched and Gibbons missed a right in the breakaway. They came together in another clinch and McGoorty fell down, but was up immediately and came to the center in a rain of lefts and fights. Both fought furiously with honors even. After the break both missed lefts and again exchanged rights and lefts. This was a fast round with honors even.

Round Two—Both felt cautiously for an opening. Mike led his left and they clinched. McGoorty tried three times, but missed. Gibbons lammed his left to Eddie's stomach. McGoorty landed a left and blocked a right to the stomach. McGoorty missed two lefts and Gibbons stepped in with hard right-left to the body. This round was Gibbons by a shade.

Round Three—McGoorty landed a light left to the jaw, while Gibbons jabbed with a left hook and followed with a right cross. They both missed. They clinched and on the breakaway Mike jabbed his left to McGoorty's jaw. They stood in the center head to head and fought. McGoorty jabbed two lefts to the face. Gibbons jabbed the Whale in the jaw and put his right to the stomach. They clinched. McGoorty missed a straight left and Mike jabbed away with his haymaker. McGoorty forced Mike to the ropes and missed right and left swings. Gibbons' round.

Round Four—The fighters met in the center of the ring and McGoorty missed two lefts. Mike put his left to the face and McGoorty jabbed two lefts to the face. Mike missed a swing and then put his left to the nose and his right to the stomach. McGoorty missed a left and put a light right to the head and they clinched. On the break McGoorty swung a vicious right which Mike blocked. Mike put his right and left to the jaw and drove McGoorty to the ropes, where they clinched. Sparring in the center, Mike shot a hard right to the jaw and followed with a right and left to jaw and a right to body without return. McGoorty tried desperately to land but the Phantom was too speedy. Gibbons shot a stiff left to the mouth, followed with a right to the eye. Gibbons' round.

Mill Furiously.

Round Five—The round opened with some hard milling. Gibbons shot a left to the jaw and ducked McGoorty's vicious left. They then stood in the center and milled furiously, with Gibbons having the best of the exchanges. Just as the round closed Mike put two lefts to the face and a right to the stomach. Gibbons' round by a good margin.

Round Six—Gibbons started jabbing again with his left and they clinched. In another mix, McGoorty had the worst of the swapping. Gibbons shot a one-two to the jaw. They then stood in the center and engaged in an exchange of wallops until McGoorty clinched. Gibbons shot a stiff left to the jaw. Gibbons then shot three lefts to the face without a return. McGoorty missed a right and Mike shot a left to jaw and a hard right to the stomach. McGoorty appeared bewildered by the speed and footwork of Gibbons. Mike's round by a big margin.

Round Seven—They met in the center and Gibbons jabbed two lefts to the face. McGoorty missed a right and Mike took him on the jaw with his left. Gibbons put left to face and stepped inside McGoorty's right swing. They exchanged lefts to the face and Mike landed a hard right to the stomach. They again stood toe to toe and milled with the St. Paul boy having the best of it. Mike backed McGoorty to the ropes and showered a rain of blows to his dome. Gibbons jabbed his left to the stomach and put a right to McGoorty's ear. McGoorty shot a stiff left to the jaw. This was also Gibbons' round.

Round Nine—They sparred and Mike shot a light left to the jaw and McGoorty missed a right. McGoorty landed a stiff left to the stomach and Gibbons crossed a right to the jaw. McGoorty missed a left and Mike cut open his eye with a left. They then stood up toe to toe and fought, McGoorty getting the best of it this time. McGoorty landed a low blow and they shook hands. McGoorty came back strong, but the majority of his blows were blocked. As the gong rang it stopped a fierce exchange. This round was even.

Round Ten—They shook hands and both connected with lefts. Gibbons shot two lefts to McGoorty's bleeding eye. They clinched and Gibbons landed two lefts. McGoorty missed a left and Mike put a right to the stomach, McGoorty countering with a left to the jaw. Gibbons put two lefts to the jaw. They then milled furiously, and after the breakaway McGoorty rushed Mike to the ropes. Mike staggered McGoorty in a fierce exchange in the center, putting a right to the jaw and a left to the stomach. The gong ended with both men working for a knockout.

KETONEN IS CONFIDENT

Little Finn Believes He Can Defeat Mike Yokel.

Waino Says If Contest Lasts an Hour He Will Win.

BY BRUCE.

Waino Ketonen declares that he is in more nearly perfect condition for his impending clash with Mike Yokel that he was for his battle with Walter Miller.

Strange as it may apear, Ketonen is more confident of defeating Yokel than he was of taking the measure of Miller.

Ketonen had never seen Miller until the day before the contest with the little Pole; in the case of Yokel there is a difference. Ketonen wrestled the imperial Mike at Salt Lake City with a crippled arm that was removed from a sling one week previous to the date of the bout. It required an hour for Yokel to pin the injured little Finn for the first fall. Even then Ketonen has since expressed grave doubts as to whether he was really down.

But after that bout Ketonen has always expressed the quiet but confident belief that he is the master of the man who for so many years has proved the king of the middleweights.

If reports are true, Yokel is lighter than at any time since he wrestled Chris Jordon. When Yokel lost the first contest to the Greek who was later beaten decisively by Ketonen, he weighed 157 pounds. Walter Miller saw Mike in Chicago and declared that the Rocky Mountain Lion was down to a low weight.

A Battle Is Promised.

Ketonen believes that if the contest goes over an hour he will defeat Yokel. The little Finn believes his endurance will prove quite equal to the task of meeting all the rushes of the Salt Lake City wrestler and eventually conquering him.

For every effective hold Ketonen knows a counter hold. At Salt Lake City Ketonen bridged for 23 minutes against the efforts of Yokel to pin him. Ketonen stoutly declares that he do not believe that Yokel has enough stuff to beat him with.

In Old Mike Yokel Ketonen is going to meet a tearing wrestler of the battling type; a boy with the heart of a lion and the strength of a bear. Yokel is a tenacious, bull dog type of athlete and will go till the last test of strength and endurance. Personally we are of the opinion that Yokel is not as scientific as the Finn, but the strength of Yokel is something to wonder at in an athelete of his size.

In the case of Miller the writer predicted a victory for Ketonen. The Finn is a real wrestler. In the contest with Yokel it is indeed difficult to predict a result. If Yokel wins, it is generally believed that it will only be after one of the hardest battles that the Salt City man has been through.

BOWLING

On account of the numerous teams that are still to be heard from but which are sure to come, the entries for the Northern Bowling Association tournament will not close until March 8.

The following teams have already been entered: Lanphear, Centrals, City Hall and Court House, Marquettes and Brady's Indians from Minneapolis; West Side club, Wilds, Great Northern club, Matchingers, Buegers, Diederich & Kennedy, Bowlers Inn, Montana Meats and Joe Manjoney's Peanuts; Duluth Rivers and Knights of Pythias of Virginia; Lumber Jacks from Ashland; one team from Coleraine; Jacksons and Tower Clothing company from Superior; Winslows from Chisholm; two teams from Ironwood; Park Hotel, Big Duluth, Sharkcraft, Three Winners, Columbia Clothing company, Duluth-Edison Electric company, Centrals, Mulligans, Stag, Winchester and Fitzgerald, Gram's Colts, Moose and Whalen's Harps from Duluth.

Dad Hull of Minneapolis, one of the most widely known men in the bowling game, will be here on March 20 and 21. No bowling tournament would be complete if Dad was not there.

The arrangements and entertainment committees have been busy the last few days and promise to have everything in first-class shape by the opening night. The schedule and prize committees will get together the first of next week.

SOME FAMOUS CURLERS

HANS B. HAROLDSON.

CANADIAN PLAYERS ARE RATED AS HOCKEY STARS

Western University Teams Expected to Give Duluth Curling Club Team the Hardest Fight of Season—Cleveland May or May Not Come.

Lovers of hockey are eagerly looking forward to the contests of Friday and Saturday evenings of the present week. The Western University septet of London, Ont., is generally believed to have a sterling collection of puck chasers. Over on the other side of the boundary line they play real hockey. The members of the team that will oppose the Linderites on the last two evenings of the week are ranked as steller lights in a field that abounds generally with class.

As the University players were able to take the measure of the speedy Cleveland team on the Cleveland ice, it is going to prove mighty interesting to discover just what the Canadian cousins can do to the Duluth team on the local ice.

No team has as yet this season been able to win a round from Duluth. A round is the total score for a given number of games. Port Arthur and Winipeg split even in the number of games won and lost with the curling club team, but in the total number of points scored the locals won the round in both instances.

This fact has kept the record of the curling club septet clear for all of the present season. With the hockey going on the final lap of 1915, it remains to be seen whether a crack septet from one of the hockey centers of the Dominion will be able to take the measure of an aggregation of players that have been sweeping all before them.

Cleveland Uncertain.

Manager Jacobi of the curling club team yesterday wired a proposition to Cleveland at Calumet. The proposition is a good one, the management of the club making the best inducements compatible with sound business judgment in the effort to land the team on which Coddy Winters plays a star part. The answer to the offer of the curling club management may be received today.

Detroit wanted a series of games here, but insisted upon receiving a definite reply by last night. This Manager Jacobi was unable to give, and hence it looks as if Detroit were off the schedule for this season.

Last evening the Monarchs of Winipeg defeated Fort William by the score of 14 to 5. This fact will keep the victors in the Canadian league play for sometime and probably will keep them coming here at a near date.

Therefore unless Cleveland agrees to come here, the only games definitely in sight are those with the Western University team for Friday and Saturday of the present week.

Aside from the unfortunate fact that Russ Barkell is out of the team's line-up for the remainder of the season, Linder's men are in the best shape of the year.

Two great games featured the card of the Commercial Basket Ball league played last night at the Y. M. C. A. The Northerns tightened their grip on the lead by winning a hard-fought contest from the scrappy Lakes by a score of 21 to 11, and the Kelleys kept up their fast pace by downing the crack Fenton-Duby aggregation by a score of 25 to 18. The contests were two of the best that have been played in the league this season. The Northerns now appear to have a slight edge in the pennant race, but the Kelleys are not far behind. Only two more sets of games remain to be played this season. It is up to the Fenton-Dubys to defeat the Northerns next Tuesday and thus bring about a tie, as the Kelleys will be idle on that date. A week from then the Northerns and Kelleys will clash in the round-up of the season, and if these two teams are then tied the contest should be one that would be well worth seeing.

The contests of last evening were remarkable for their closeness and the good playing put up. The Northern-Lake affair was a tie in the first half, 6 to 6. At one time in the second half the "orphans" nearly "had" their opponents, but the flashy combination playing and general accuracy in shooting enabled the Northerns to emerge on the healthy end of a 21-to-11 count. The whole Northern team, as usual, played in splendid form and no man showed up especially better than any of his mates. The Lakes also played in strong form, with Halenbeck doing most of the scoring.

The Fenton-Duby-Kelley contest was a thriller all the way though. The "twins" were leading at the conclusion of the initial half by a score of 11 to 10, but the Kelleys returned with their war clothes on and had a little the better of the argument in the second period, finally winning by a 25 to 18 score. Foryzlak and Biegle starred for the winners, while Burnett and Becker were shining lights on the Fenton-Duby side.

The line-ups and summaries of the games follow:

JOE SHUGRUE MAY LOSE HIS SIGHT

Career of Promising Lightweight Fighter Checked By Serious Defect.

New York, March 3.—Joe Shugrue, lightweight boxer, announced yesterday that he had canceled all engagements owing to blindness in one eye and the danger of losing the sight of the other. He had hopes that an operation to be performed by specialists last night would restore his sight.

Shugrue recently posted a $5,000 forfeit for the world's lightweight championship. He was to box Joe Mandot in New Orleans on March 22.

CYCLE CLUB BANQUET.

Twin Ports Men Will Discuss Plans for Club House.

The Twin Ports Motorcycle club will hold its first annual banquet at the Holland hotel on Thursday evening, March 18.

Arrangements for the banquet were made at a regular meeting of the club held last evening at the Motorcycle Repair shop, 312 West First street. About twenty-five members of the organization were present. Plans for the erection of a clubhouse at one of the lakes near Duluth were also discussed and it is possible that final action on the subject will be taken at the banquet.

Officers of the club are: A. C. Eveland, president; D. J. Norman, vice president; H. J. Price, treasurer, and D. Hawkins, secretary.

DOUBLE BILL OF HOCKEY ON

Two Harbors, Centrals, Bagleys and Big Duluths Will Play.

Doubleheaders are the rule in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league. One will be staged this evening at the old and familiar French rink. The Bagleys and Two Harbors and Central High and Big Duluth are down on the cards.

The members of the Two Harbors team expect to defeat the Bagleys, and the Big Duluths expect to leap blithely into the lead of the league through a defeat of Central. If the clothiers win the game the three-cornered tie for the leadership of the league will be broken.

Two Harbors claims to be in better condition right now than at any time since the early part of the season. The members of the railroad gang confidently expect to stage a comeback and make a hard fight for a high position in the race.

Schedule Is Changed.

Managers of the various teams met yesterday at Fenton-Dubys and arranged a schedule of games that will finish out the season. As the season will end March 12, it will require some tall hustling to play the schedule out.

Following is the revised list of games:

March 3—Bagleys vs. Two Harbors; Big Duluth vs. Central.

March 5—Big Duluth vs. Two Harbors; Universals vs. Central.

March 8—Two Harbors vs. Northerns; Central vs. Bagleys.

March 9—Universals vs. Big Duluths.

March 10—Two Harbors vs. Central; Bagleys vs. Northerns.

March 12—Northerns vs. Central; Universals vs. Bagleys.

Members of the senior eight and senior four will give an exhibition on the rowing machines this evening when the training grind is started among the crew candidates of the boat club.

The members of the first squad will be started at work at 5:30. It is expected that the largest squad that has ever answered a call will be on hand. Lockers will be distributed, there will be a meeting among the men and in general Coach Jimmy Ten Eyck will start the work.

There will be a large number of old men out. Work will continue from tonight until the ice goes out of the bay.

DOGS AND AUTOMOBILES.

Both Being Exhibited at Fargo Bench and Car Show.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo is hostess today and Thursday and Friday to hundreds of auto enthusiasts and dog fanciers.

The dog show under the North Dakota Kennel association is being held in the large floor space of the Minneapolis Thresher company and there is a splendid exhibit room filled with all the leading breeds of dogs, some of which are especially fine specimens, and are giving the judges considerable trouble to pick the winners. Woman fanciers are much in evidence, as a number have exhibits benched and some of them are so enthusiastic they handle their own pets.

The third annual automobile show has brought out a magnificent line of cars of many varieties.

CURLING

Ralph Bradley evened up for the defeat in the final game in The Herald event of Monday evening, by last evening defeating Dinham's rink in the fours of the Bagley and progressing into the semi-finals of that event. Bradley's rink was at its best and won the contest by the count of 11 to 8.

As the score indicates, the game was close all the way and brought out some clever playing. As was the case in the play between the two rinks on Monday evening, a large gallery watched the events.

Play for the Little & Nolte buttons will begin this evening. Henry Ketchem, the present holder, has been challenged by Charley West. Some game is expected.

The Central high and Y. M. C. A. track teams will meet this evening in the association gymnasium. The events on the program will include the 50-yard hurdles, 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, shot put, pole vault, and high and broad jump.

Both teams have been preparing for the meet for some time and the members of the two teams are reported to be in the best condition. It is difficult to predict a winner. It is expected that the majority of events will prove close and interesting.

Trinity Nine Wins.

The Chapter indoor baseball team lost to the Trinity nine last night by the score of 11 to 7. The West enders had an easy time of it throughout the game, Erickson pitching one of the best games this winter. Anderson caught for the winners, while Kehl and Butchart were the batteries for the Chapter nine.

FIRST VACATION IN TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS

Voss Will Visit Palm Beach for a Short Time.

On March 13 Finance Commissioner Voss will leave for his first vacation in twenty-eight years.

Ever since 1887 Commissioner Voss has been in the employ of the city, but never during that time has he taken a vacation of more than two or three days at a time. Recently he began making plans to spend two weeks near Palm Beach, Fla., and he will leave on March 13, returning in time for the election on April 6.

On his way south Commissioner Voss will visit with relatives in Chicago for several days. During his absence the finance division will be in charge of City Treasurer Grant McLean.

Bill Against Canadian Soldiers Charging Manslaughter Dismissed.

Welland, Ont., March 3.—The bill charging manslaughter against a provisional police officer and three Canadian soldiers, who last fall fired upon two American duck hunters, Walter Smith and Charles Dorsch, killing Smith and wounding his companion, was dismissed by the Welland county grand jury here last night. The men who were named in the bill are Police Officer Thomas C. Delaney, Corporal Archie Mayo and Privates Leslie Kinsman and E. McIntosh.

The shooting, which resulted in diplomatic correspondence between the United States and the Dominion of Canada, occurred on the Niagara river. After a protest had been made by Washington, the Dominion government paid to Smith's relatives $10,000 and a lesser sum was given to Dorsch.

Anemic and Plethoric Obesity

DURING periods of enforced rest, as after operations, accidents, acute illness, there is a tendency to pile on excessive weight. Some cases of incipient tuberculosis, under rest and fresh air treatment, develop an anemic obesity which is not so bad as an anemic emaciation. After typhoid fever, particularly, we see many cases of obesity develop, owing to the prolonged rest and perhaps ravenous desire for food. When the accumulation of fat becomes so burdensome as to disincline the individual to exercise, or to produce palpitation or shortness of breath on exertion, it may be called abnormal.

The plethoric form of obesity develops usually after thirty years. Gradually the weight increases, the individual at first taking satisfaction in his or her excellent health—provided gout or high blood pressure does not cause sorrow. But presently the conviction comes home to the hearty one that it is getting to be too much of a good thing. Overweight of a moderate degree in younger persons is rather to be desired, but ten pounds overweight in a person past 30 is not at all favorable to the outlook for future health. High blood pressure is present, and it serves as a warning against possible Bright's disease, heart disease or apoplexy.

What to Avoid.

Farinaceous foods are probably the most fattening foods we eat. Alcohol must be tabooed by the plethoric obese, not because it has any food value, but because it stimulates an abnormally hearty appetite and, through its toxic action on the blood vessels, tends to produce arterio-sclerosis.

The essential problem for the full-blooded stout individual to solve is, how to live happily on half-rations. For this purpose we can do no greater service than to refer him to the preaching and practice of Horace Fletcher.

Questions and Answers.

Initials Unwelcome: As an evidence of good faith and no trifling let us repeat that all correspondence should be signed with full name and not with initials. We cannot be quoted as frank and explicit as we would like, when we are answering questions for readers who do not sign their letters.

Cascade Habit Bad: Why is the Cascade objectionable to use? My trouble is a nervous affliction of the right side and a continuous ache in the pit of the stomach.

REPLY.

Rectal injections taken daily for an indefinite period create a habit worse by far than any pills or drugs you could use as laxatives. We fear you will have trouble worse than you describe if you continue with the injections. However, this is only our personal opinion, which may be rather narrow, since we have nothing to sell.

* * *

Reflex Symptoms from Piles: E. G. T. describes a continuous burning in the pit of the stomach. He has suffered a great deal from piles.

REPLY.

Not an unusual reflex symptom of piles. Piles affect the general health a great deal.

* * *

Chilblains: What is the cause and relief of chilblains?

REPLY.

Frost plus poor resistance and unhygienic footwear. Subjects should wear woolen stockings, clean pair every day. The prevention and treatment was fully discussed in the Health Talk of Nov. 19, 1914. Free use of talcum powder in the stockings is advisable.

* * *

Practice and the Law: May a person lawfully practice medicine—that is, advertise himself as able to treat or heal the sick—without stating whether he be an M. D., a "pressure-therapist" or what not? Can cataract be cured by nonsurgical methods?

REPLY.

1. The law regulating the practice of medicine or healing is pitifully inactive. Unless the illegal practitioner commits some egregious crime it remains for the medical societies to prosecute him, the district attorney and the people being apparently blind.
2. No.

AMENDMENTS TO CITY CHARTER MAKE IMPORTANT CHANGES

Amendments to the city charter, increasing the non-advertised purchase limit from $100 to $500 and reducing the minimum for the payment of assessments in annual installments, to be voted on at the spring election on April 6, are now being printed and will be sent shortly to all the voters of the city.

At the meeting of the council last Monday the commissioners formally approved the amendments and ordered City Clerk Palmer to prepare the ballot and to send sample copies of the amendments to all the voters of the city immediately after the registrations next week.

Here are the two amendments to be voted on at the spring election:

Amendment One.

"Amend Section 31 of the Duluth city charter so as to read as follows:

'Section 31. In all cases of work to be done by contract, or of the purchase of property of any kind, when the amount involved is more than $500, unless the council by an emergency resolution, shall provide otherwise, it shall advertise for bids in the official paper of the city. When such probable expenditure shall be more than $500, and less than $1,000, in amount, such notice shall be published once in said official paper, and when more than $1,000, the same shall be published in at least two issues of said paper. Contracts shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, and purchases shall be made for the responsible bidder who offers to furnish the article desired for the lowest sum. The council may, however, reject any and all bids; and nothing contained herein shall prevent the city from contracting for the doing of work with patented processes, or from purchasing patented appliances. The council shall regulate the making of bids and letting of contracts by ordinance.'

Amendment Two.

"Amend Section 68 of the Duluth city charter so as to read as follows:

'Section 68. As soon as said assessment is confirmed, the council shall insert in the official paper of the city a notice briefly describing the improvement, for which the assessment is made, and stating that the assessment is payable at the treasurer's office at any time within forty (40) days from the publication of said notice, and that unless the same is so paid within said forty (40) days, or an application is made to the council for the extension of the time of payment, as herein provided, within thirty (30) days after the publication of said notice, a penalty of ten (10) per cent will be added to such assessment. Within said thirty (30) days after the publication of said notice, upon application in writing to the council by any owner of real estate against which the assessment is made, when such assessment exceeds fifteen dollars, ($15) for each four thousand (4,000) square feet of property benefited by the improvement, and upon payment to the treasurer of twenty-five (25) per cent of such assessment, and when the remaining portion of such assessment does not exceed the assessed valuation of such real estate, and when the applicant waives all defenses and questions as to the legality of such assessment, whether such defenses be interposed in proceedings by the state for collection of general taxes, or otherwise, the council, may, by resolution, extend the time for paying the remaining portion of such assessment into not exceeding three installments payable in one, two and three years from the first day of October next following the date of the passage of such resolution. In case such assessment is made between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, and the applicant is granted an extension of the time within which to pay the same, the first installment of such extended assessment shall be due and payable on the first day of October next thereafter. Each of said installments of extended assessment shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent (7 per cent) per annum from the date the original assessment would be payable without penalty. Such installments of extended assessments, together with the accrued interest thereon to the first Monday in January following, shall be considered to be delinquent under the next section of this charter when they shall severally become due and payable, but not before. Any such installment of extended assessments may be paid at any time prior to its maturity, with interest to date of payment only. The ownership of any property upon which application for extension of assessment is made hereunder, shall be determined according to the records in the office of the register of deeds or registrar of titles of St. Louis county.'"

SHOPLIFTING DOES NOT PAY

Police Say Petty Thieves Get Poor Returns for Very Hazardous Job—Profession Becoming Obsolete.

Shoplifting, first cousin to picking pockets, which is perhaps the most profitable pursuit practiced by crooks in Duluth, is the least remunerative of all criminal tricks, according to police.

"Shoplifters have found business very bad in Duluth during the last twelvemonth," declared Chief C. H. Troyer this morning, "and it looks as though the coming year will be even leaner, unless they invent some new tricks."

Police records show that real shoplifters are very rare, although numerous complaints of small thefts have been made by officials of the various department stores. Professional shoplifting is on the wane, they say, and the department stores in the larger cities of the country are practically the only firms to suffer materially from the activities of this stamp of crook.

Contrary to the custom in the Twin Cities, Duluth department stores have no store detectives, who devote their time to watching the counters. In Minneapolis one detective from the city force is assigned to the department stores, and does nothing but guard against the activities of thieves.

In Duluth shoplifting offenses are so scarce that no member of the plain clothes staff is assigned to the larger stores.

"It is a peculiar thing about shoplifting," declared Chief Troyer. "It is difficult for the police to get a proprietor to swear out a complaint. They prefer to let the case drop, rather than have any publicity. We often catch petty offenders, but they are often allowed to go free upon making good the purchase price of the goods stolen, or returning them. The store owners probably feel it would appear to the public like a case of persecution of heartlessness, or else they really feel sorry for the thief.

"Young girls are the principal offenders," said Chief Troyer, "and often stores are bothered considerably by a large number of small thefts. When arrested, it is shown that these girls have no reason to steal at all."

Police records show that it is not uncommon to catch a woman with considerable money in her purse, who couldn't resist the temptation to pick up some inexpensive little trinket and slip it into her muff or bag.

Suitcases with false bottoms and overcoats with specially built pockets, are common devices used by shoplifters, but these methods are so old and so easily "spotted" that the shoplifter will cease to exist, professionally, unless new tricks are devised.

REGENTS ARE APPOINTED

Governor Hanna Sends List to the North Dakota Senate.

Fight in House Over Abolishment of State Tax Commission.

Bismarck, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor L. B. Hanna yesterday afternoon submitted to the state senate his appointments to the state board of regents. These include Dr. J. D. Taylor of Grand Forks; J. H. Power of Halendale; Frank White of Valley City; Emil Scow of Bowman and L. H. Crawford of Sentinel Butte. It is expected that there will be no opposition to the appointments.

Included in the list of appointments submitted yesterday were the several individual boards of educational institutions, such boards to continue in charge of the institutions until the first of July, at which time the board of regents will take hold.

The Tax Commission.

The fight on the abolishment of the state tax commission comes on before the house this afternoon. The bill came back from the committee yesterday with a divided report, the majority for indefinite postponement. The effect to create the office of tax commissioner and doing away with the three-man commission plan has already succeded in the senate, that body passing the bill with only eight dissenting votes.

After July 1, the state board of control will be in charge of the state capitol building, the state trolley line and the supply department. This is provided for under S B 152, which passed the house yesterday. A hot fight was made on the measure, on the plea that it was a political move.

The bill creating the state bonding department passed the house yesterday, and its terms, as amended in the lower body, are acceptable to the author. That means an early concurrence by the upper house.

Compulsory Hail Insurance.

Yesterday saw the adoption in the house of Senator Thoreson's bill providing for the creation of compulsory hail insurance. The bill is in the nature of a constitutional amendment, and the purpose is to ultimately adopt such a scheme as is employed in Saskatchewan, assessing all tillable lands a certain sum annually for the hail insurance fund.

Efforts are still being made to revive the woman suffrage bill. The supporters of the bill are circulating a petition in the house asking that body to take up the question. It is hardly likely that they will be able to get the necessary two-thirds to open the question.

The abolishment of the death penalty has been voted in the senate, but the measure is so framed in such manner that it will not operate to save the life of Joe Milo, the only prisoner now condemned to death. He will go to the gallows on Aug. 13. Under the bill as passed by the senate, no pardons of murderers would be granted till they have served 80 per cent of their life expectancy, gauged at the time of their entrance in the penitentiary.

Rate-Making Control.

Representative Harty's bill, transferring the rate-making control, so far as public utilities are concerned, from the local governing bodies to the state railroad commission, was passed by the senate. The bill was without opposition.

The bill by Senators Gronvole, Bond and Young, proposing a decrease in the salaries of the legislative employes, as well as proposing a reduction in the number of them, was killed by the house on the recommendation of the state affairs committee.

Another important bill that has been disposed of during the last few days is the Fragerton excise tax measure. It would have provided a tax of one-fiftieth of a mill on the capital stock of the corporations. It was indefinitely postponed in the house.

In the senate, the Harris bill, also proposing a franchise tax, was defeated.

SUGGESTIONS IN U. S. NOTE

Several Proposals Made to Great Britain and Germany.

Expresses Hope That Neutrals Will Not Be Endangered.

London, March 3.—A dispatch to Reuter's agency from Amsterdam gives the contents of the American note of Feb. 22 to Great Britain and Germany's reply thereto. The notes were received in Amsterdam in a dispatch from Berlin.

The American note expresses the hope that Great Britain and Germany may, by means of reciprocal concessions, reach a basis of understanding, the result of which would tend to free ships engaged in neutral and peaceful commerce from the serious dangers to which they are exposed in passing through the coastal waters of the belligerent countries.

Not a Proposal.

This suggestion, the note says, should not be considered as a proposal by the American government, whom it naturally does not behoove to propose conditions for such an agreement, though the question at issue has a direct and far-reaching interest for the government and people of the United States.

The suggestion is made that Germany and Great Britain should agree first, that isolated drifting mines should be laid by neither party, and that all mines should bear the mark of the government of origin and be so constructed so as to become harmless after breaking loose from their anchorage.

It is suggested, secondly, that the submarines of neither of the two governments should be employed to attack merchant vessels of any nationality; and third, that merchant ships of neither of the parties should employ neutral flags as a war ruse or for the purpose of concealing their identity.

Food Supplies.

Great Britain, it is suggested, should agree that foodstuffs shall not be placed on the list of absolute contraband and that the British authorities shall neither disturb nor hold up cargoes of such goods when addressed to agencies in Germany, the names of which are communicated by the United States government.

Germany, it is contended, should declare her agreement that foodstuffs from the United States or any other neutral country shall be addressed to such agencies.

Finally, the American government says it wishes to safeguard itself against the idea that it either acknowledges or repudiates any right on the part of belligerents or neutrals established on the principles of international law.

The German reply to the note of the United States was dispatched last Sunday. It begins as follows:

"The German government has taken note of the American suggestion with lively interest and sees therein new proof of friendly feelings, which are fully reciprocated by Germany. The suggestion corresponds also to the German wishes that the naval war should be waged according to rules which, without subjecting one or the other belligerent power to one-sided restrictions of methods of warfare, would take into consideration the interests of neutrals as well as the laws of humanity."

GEORGE SPENCER ESTATE VALUED AT $75,000.

Judge Gilpin in probate court yesterday afternoon appointed George H. Spencer special administrator of the estate of his father, the late George Spencer, whose death occurred in this city Feb. 4 last. The estate is valued at $75,000 and consists chiefly of cash, bonds and stock in the Consolidated Elevator company. Included in the list of his holdings is improved city property worth $15,000. Besides the petitioner, the other heirs are Elizabeth S. Hartley and Helen S. Miller, daughters, and Helen M. Spencer, widow.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE ON CRUELTY GROUNDS.

District Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon granted Mrs. Rose Edwin, 23, a decree of divorce from Leroy Edwin, 27, on the ground of cruelty. She testified that he was of a quarrelsome disposition and that on numerous occasions he assaulted her. She recited one instance where he broke the middle finger of her left hand. She was obliged to have him arrested twice, she says, once on an assault and battery charge and again on a charge of non-support. They were married on May 20, 1907, at Virginia, and are parents of one child, aged 4, the custody of whom was awarded to the mother.

Aurora, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual spring campaign for village and township offices is on and the merry hustle for votes is taking the attention of the candidates.

In the village there are two tickets in the field and the contest will be a straight one as it is not likely that there will be any independent candidates.

In Township Campaign.

GAS FRANCHISE IS VOTED BY EVELETH

Sixty-Nine Votes Majority Cast in Favor of Privilege.

Eveleth, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a majority of sixty-nine, the voters decided at the special election held yesterday to grant a gas franchise. The total vote was 523, of which 296 favored the proposition and 227 opposed.

While the election in itself did not give the franchise to Kennedy & Lynch it means that the desired privilege will be granted here. The election was called by the council for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the city toward the franchise and it is expected that the franchise will be granted at the next council meeting in order that work may be started as soon as possible.

An adjourned meeting of the council will be held Friday, and the votes will then be canvassed. It is probable that the franchise will be taken up at that meeting.

The vote was as follows:

Ward.	For.	Against
First	69	36
Second	64	58
Third	65	39
Fourth	28	16
Fifth	29	44
Sixth	41	32
Total	296	227

EVELETH DECIDES ON SOME PAVING

Commissioners Will Improve Streets Between Grant and McKinley.

Eveleth, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—As Mayor Saari and Commissioner Mesberg were absent from the city, little work was done at the council meeting last night outside of routine business. Bills and the monthly payrolls were allowed and bids opened, as advertised. Proposals from several companies to furnish an auto sprinkler and flusher and dump wagons were opened and laid on the table for consideration later. To arrive at the lowest bid it will be necessary to consider specifications carefully, as each company was allowed to bid on its own model, furnishing specifications.

Deadlocked on Offer.

The council came to a deadlock when a bid from William Haenke was received offering $230 for a quantity of logs cut by the city at Lake park. Commissioner Mike Langdon failed to receive a second on a motion to accept the bid, and Commissioner Joseph Wilson received no second to a motion to file the bid. No action was taken on the offer.

A thirty-day extension of time was granted for the payment of assessments for new walks and repair work on Grant avenue.

Commissioner Sam H. Owens, who presided, announced, for the benefit of the citizens present, that the city will pave the streets between Grant avenue and McKinley avenue and asked those interested to be present when the kind of paving is decided on.

The plaintiff submitted his evidence after the physician who attended the child testified and the defendants are having their inning.

Wants $20,000 in All.

Taipale demands $15,000 for his son. In another action he demands $6,000 for himself for the loss of work which his son could have done had not the accident occurred. He claims that the boy is now confined to his bed as a result of the accident and will always have permanent injuries. A section of the boy's skull had to be removed immediately afterward.

Taipale claims that when the lad with his brother was about to cross Central avenue, the Bottling works delivery wagon was coming down the street at a reckless rate on the wrong side of the street and crashed into him. He sustained many injuries and was knocked unconscious.

Henry Jaaska declares himself on no way connected with the bottling concern. John E. Samuelson and B. H. Gran of Duluth are representing the plaintiff, and O. J. Larson and Edward Freeman the defendant.

HOW I DARKENED MY GRAY HAIR

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That She Used to Darken Her Gray Hair.

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the prepared dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction and they were all expensive. I finally ran onto a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gives wonderful results. I gave the recipe, which is as follows, to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Use every other day until the hair becomes the required shade, then every two weeks. It will not only darken the gray hair, but removes dandruff and scalp humors, and acts as a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp. You can prepare it at home at very little expense.

TO REMAIN IN LEAGUE.

Two Harbors Hockey Players Coming for Another Duluth Game.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Two Harbors hockey team will not drop out of the Duluth City league but will play out the remaining games. For a time the local management did not look upon playing out the remaining games with much favor due to the fact that the team loses money on every trip to Duluth. Although the games have always been good ones the attendance has been very poor and did not offer much encouragement to the locals. The games that the locals have lost this year were close and the Two Harbors fans do not feel as though any of the Duluth teams had anything on the locals. The locals will go to Duluth tonight for a game with the Bagleys.

Their lineup this evening will be: Fred Beland, captain and center; Sullivan, rover; Barney Griffin, right wing; La Fluer, left wing; Dahlstrom, cover point; Stein, point; Zirath, goal. A large number of local fans will accompany the locals to Duluth.

This has been a very successful season for the local team which has lost but a small percentage of games. These were to the Oswego, Rotary club of Duluth and the Virginia city team.

Then the mayor and three trustees were charged with unlawfully issuing a warrant and after a hearing bound over to the grand jury.

The mayor came back at his accusers by having warrants issued for the arrest of George A. Snyder and Arthur Dupler, former mayor and clerk, respectively. OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

CLOUDY

The lion of March is still conspicuous by his absence and there seems to be no indication of his early arrival; for all of which Duluth should worry. Hero is late winter weather that cannot be beaten "no how, no where," and in the middle of the day one feels constrained to "take 'em off," but better judgment prevails.

A year ago today was warm. The sun rose this morning at 6:44 and will set this evening at 5:56, giving eleven hours and twelve minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has fallen over most of the Lake region, Iowa, Eastern Canada and Northeastern states, and has risen over Western Canada, Montana, the Dakotas, Northern Minnesota, Oklahoma and Utah. The disturbance centered over Texas has caused snow or rain over the Rocky mountains, Eastern slopes and Southwestern states during the last twenty-four hours."

ADVANCE OF RUSSIANS

pathians, judging from official and unofficial dispatches from Petrograd, seems unsatisfactory, while the Russians, it is said, have definitely checked them in Eastern Galicia. Furthermore, London advices continue to relate successes of greater or lesser degree for the Russian forces in Poland operating against the armies of Fleld Marshal von Hindenburg.

Bombard Dardanelles.

The allied fleet again bombarded the Dardanelles forts yesterday, according to dispatches from Athens, but the British press bureau has not confirmed this report. The Athens message says that four ships shelled the interior forts from the gulf of Saros and that the anxiety at Constantinople is increasing.

The attitude of the neutral powers over Great Britain's proposal to shut off all sea traffic with Germany forms the basis of most of the political comment published today in England. The London papers, through their Washington correspondents, all have been told that the United States will protest vigorously, and protests are expected also from Holland and the Scandinavian countries.

Will Not Recede.

Yet it is not believed that Great Britain will recede one whit from her announced intention, but that if necessary she will define her blockade measures and seek to make them effective. It is argued in London that Germany, without domination of the sea and carrying on an attempted blockade by means of submarines, is quite naturally willing to make concessions regarding her mine war zone in return for Great Britain relaxing the pressure designed to cut off her supplies. The British view is that Germany has everything to gain and nothing to lose. Nevertheless, Great Britain is still considering the American note, and a reply to this communication, together with a further pronouncement concerning details of the blockade of the German coast may be forthcoming.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 3, by wireless to Sayville.—The report on the progress of the fighting given out by the German war office today is dated March 3 and reads as follows:

"Near St. Eloi, to the south of Ypres, the attack yesterday of two English companies upon our lines was repulsed after violent hand-to-hand fighting. At a point near Peronne a French air craft came down on account of motor trouble and the two men on board were taken prisoners.

"The French attacks in the Champagne district have been without any degree of success. The French troops have been once again driven back into their positions with heavy losses.

"To the northwest of Ville-Sur-Tourbe, German troops occupied 250 yards of trenches. French advances in the forest of Consenvoye and near Ailly and Apremont have been easily repulsed. Attacks made by our troops to the northeast of Bandenvillers again resulted in our getting possession of considerable territory. The German front to the northeast of Calles has advanced during the last few days a distance of eight kilometers (five miles). The French have made vain attempts to recover their losses of recent days.

"Near Grodno, in Russian Poland, the situation remains unchanged. To the southeast of Augustowo a Russian force endeavored to cross the River Bobr, but it was driven back with heavy losses, 1,500 Russians being taken prisoners. Other Russian attacks in the country to the northeast of Grodno broke down in front of the German lines. To the southwest of Kolno the Germans made advances. At a point to the south of Kyszinlec a vanguard of German troops was forced back by the superior strength of the enemy. To the northwest of Przasnysz the Russians endeavored to feel their way and attempted an advance. Several Russian night attacks to the east of Plock have been repulsed."

French Statement.

Paris, March 3, via London, 3 p. m.—The official communication from the war office this afternoon follows:

"There is nothing of importance to add to last night's communication. In Champagne we hold the entire first line of German trenches from a point northwest of Perthes to north of Beausejor and at several points we have progressed beyond this line.

"The progress at various points which was reported yesterday is confirmed. This progress has been maintained everywhere.

"There has been cannonading in the Argonne.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

Lodge, who led the Republican opposition to the bill, arranged to watch the closing hours of the senate to meet any attempt to pass the bill when the opposition was not watchful.

The senate spent the first hours of the day's session on the conference report on the naval bill debating the abolition of the plucking board, but finally accepted it. The house agreed to the conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, accepting the senate's provision to pay mileage as usual for traveling expenses of congressmen and then took up the river and harbor bill on the question of agreeing with the senate's amendments.

Meanwhile disputed points in the army, Indian, general deficiency and other bills were being taken up in conference committees.

NAVAL EXPERT IS DISPLEASED

abuse of the flag is abandoned, Count von Reventlow says:

"According to this a German submarine would let a merchantman under the English flag pass by with courteous bows, perhaps with a salute of the flag. To proceed according to international rules would mean putting an end to searching and the possible capture of neutrals, and the capture under all circumstances of hostiles. Such a course for German submarines is out of the question. Moreover, even if Great Britain promised to stop the use of false flags there could be no certainty she would keep her promise; Germany would be the loser in any event."

Would Arouse Suspicions.

Die Post declares the fact that the United States alleged that its proposals were based on upright friendship and the interests of humanity was enough to "make one suspicious at the start." The American proposals have been dictated solely by American business interests, this paper says. If Germany agreed to these proposals she would keep faith, while England would not, and the result would hamper Germany's warfare. Hence the German answer was not satisfactory.

Capt. Persius, another writer on naval matters, and a war correspondent in the service of the Berlin Tageblatt, says he hoped Great Britain will consent to abandon the misuse of flags and the arming of merchantmen. Then neutral powers need have no further concern regarding their ships and their citizens. German submarine commanders also would be freed of a heavy load. If any agreement to this effect was reached the German government could boast of a decided success which is freely acknowledged could only have been achieved through the support of the United States.

The Morgen Post says the American note is couched in gratifying form and and shows more respect for existing conditions than did the first communication from Washington. Taken as a whole the American proposals throughout are worthy of consideration, this paper says.

WHAT SCIATICA IS

There is something terrifying about the word sciatica. Yet sciatica is nothing but neuralgia of the sciatic nerve and neuralgia is an inflammation—caused by lack of nourishment.

Application of dry heat as hot sand bags or flannel to the course of the inflamed nerve often quiets the pain but it does not feed the nerve. It is temporary relief, a good thing to know about, but not a remedy.

What causes the nerve starvation that results in neuralgia and sciatica and how may it be corrected?

The most common cause is a run-down physical system and a frequent exciting cause is exposure to cold. Thin blood is often at fault. It is through the blood that nerves get their nourishment. Mortal man knows of no other way of getting nourishment to a nerve. Therefore when the blood gets thin and fails to feed the nerves they show their resentment by becoming inflamed. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at this stage and see how the inflammation subsides as the enriched blood carries to the starved nerves the elements they need.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MANY AFTER BOARD JOBS

Although Terms Are Short North Dakota Applications Are Numerous.

Many Would Serve on Various State Educational Individual Boards.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a scramble at the different educational institutions of the state for places on the individual boards, although the life of these boards will continue only until July 1.

The situation here is rather peculiar, as three of the seven members of the agricultural board of trustees resigned and the term of another is to expire soon. This will make four vacancies to be filled by the governor, and it is reported at the college that there are already twenty applicants for these positions, which are not to be filled until April on the expiring terms and will then continue only through the balance of that month and the months of May and June.

Many Applications In.

The same conditions prevail at the other educational institutions on the expiring terms of the members of the different boards. Numerous applications are in for each vacancy that is to occur.

The change in the method of conducting the business of the institutions to the board of regents system will throw out the state normal board and the individual boards of the agricultural college, the state university, the Wahpeton school of science, the Industrial normal at Ellendale and the Bottineau school of forestry.

The positions as members of the board are only honorary but are greatly in demand among those interested in educational work in this state.

FOR STRONG ARMY.

Bishop Morrison Makes Strong Plea in St. Cloud Sermon.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 3.—Bishop Morrison of the Duluth diocese of the Episcopal church preaching at St. John's church here Sunday evening advocated a stronger army and navy, likening the well prepared nation to the traffic officer on a busy corner in a big city who guides traffic with a wave of his hand.

"The American nation is a righteous loving nation and as a nation would accept nothing that was not righteous were it freely offered them," said Bishop Morrison in delineation of the value of righteousness.

Bishop Morrison administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of sixteen Sunday evening and officiated at Grace Episcopal church in Sauk Rapids in the afternoon.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—The supreme court Tuesday upheld the award under the workmen's compensation act to Mrs. Amelia Torney, widow of a school principal who died from the effects of injuries caused by a basket ball which struck him while he was playing with his pupils.

Mr. Torney, as principal of a Milwaukee school, used annually to instruct his pupils on preparation for the annual school field meets. This work was authorized by the school board and it was contended, was part of his duties. The accident occurred in May, 1912. The widow was awarded the full compensation of $3,000.

GUILTY PLEA COSTLY.

Neillsville, Wis., Man's Sentence Upheld By Supreme Court.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—John Foster's mistake in pleading guilty to a gambling charge proved costly for him. The supreme court sustained the sentence of six months in jail which was the consequence of his action.

Foster was arrested in 1913 at Neillsville on a charge of operating a gambling device. He thought the punishment would be a slight fine, he said, and pleaded guilty. Instead, he was sentenced to six months in jail. A stay of execution was granted, but testimony taken by the court relating to the method by which the device was operated was offered to the higher court and Foster's sentence was affirmed.

FORMER NEWSWRITER OF MILL CITY DIES.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 3.—Chester Firkins, former Minneapolis boy, and one of the best newspaper men in New York city, died March 1 of heart failure. He had been ill only a few hours. He was 32 years old. Prof. O. W. Firkins of the university, a brother, and Miss Ina Firkins, assistant librarian at the university, a sister, left Monday night for New York. The body will be brought here for burial.

Mr. Firkins attended the university about twelve years ago, completing half of his junior year when he took up newspaper work in this city. After working on the newspapers in Columbus, Cincinnati and Chicago, he went to New York and had been with the New York Journal for ten years.

STOCKMEN LIKE TWO MEASURES

Remuneration for Horses Killed and Provision for Clean Cars.

Schafer, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The residents of the northwestern part of the state are pleased over the enactment of two livestock measures, both recommended by Governor Hanna.

The chief one provides for the payment for losses of horses from dourine. As the losers are mostly homesteaders and modest ranchmen, the partial reimbursement from the state is very helpful and some of them could not stand the entire loss. It is as necessary to exterminate horses afflicted with dourine as with glanders in order to prevent wide-spread epidemics, and this section of the state suffered worse than the rest because heretofore the infection has come across the Montana line and the North Dakota border suffered worse than the counties eastward.

For Clean Cars.

The other measure enacted by the legislature was the better sanitation of cars used in shipping livestock. Numerous cases of infection have been traced directly to cars. Under the new law all cars must be properly cleaned and disinfected before they can be used for reshipping cattle. The veterinarians of the state and the stockmen regard this as one of the most preventive methods against disease ever adopted in the state.

HAS SOLD MUCH LAND.

Northern Pacific Disposing of Holding in McKenzie County, N. D.

Schafer, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lands in McKenzie county belonging to the Northern Pacific have been sold off as rapidly as possible during the last four years, nearly 100,000 acres having been disposed of in that manner.

Four years ago the company paid $14,000 in taxes. Last year it paid $6,325. It still owns over 63,000 acres in the county and these will be disposed of as soon as conditions permit. The greater part of this land sold during the last two or three years by the Northern Pacific has been along the Little Missouri river bottoms, and to ranchmen rather than for farming purposes. That section is ideal for stock ranging and the land is regarded as more valuable for that than for agriculture, though it contains a considerable area of arable land.

FLOODWOOD OPPOSES DIVISION OF COUNTY

Commercial Club and Farmers' Club Both Resolve Against Idea.

Floodwood, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Floodwood Commercial club passed a resolution at a special meeting held Monday night, opposing the bill proposing a division of St. Louis county on the grounds that it deprives the voters of their rights to determine this question for themselves by ballot, and that a division of the county would increase the already heavy burden of the taxpayers, giving nothing in return.

M. W. Hingley and G. I. Idzorek, respectively the president and secretary of the club, constitute a committee to present this resolution at the hearing before the legislature in St. Paul.

The Floodwood Farmers' club also passed a resolution opposing the division of the county on similar grounds.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Hav All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hi., Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

EXPORTERS IN MARKET

Wheat Turns Strong and Advances With Good Foreign Demand.

Flaxseed Firm With Steady Inquiry From Crushers —Offers Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 3.—The market was strong at the close, with export inquiry still featuring. May wheat closed 2c up and July 2¼c up. May durum closed 2¼c up and July 3¼c up.

Oats closed 1¼c up at 53¼c for on the track, and rye unchanged at $1.07 @1.08. Business in barley was only nominal, and it has been that way for several days, with no demand in sight from any quarter. It closed at from 62@72c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c up at 63¾c, and July ¼c up at 63⅝c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.32⅝ and calls at $1.42⅝.

Trading in the wheat market was erratic again today. The opening prices were substantially higher as a result of the firm foreign markets and the failure of Liverpool to follow the decline on the American boards yesterday. Later a decline set in, precipitated by weakness at Winnipeg, where heavy selling and the catching of stop-loss orders was reported and quotations went off to around yesterday's closing levels. Buying by a Duluth export house is credited with having checked the Winnipeg slump and led to a subsequent bracing up on all the North American boards. The sale of a lot of No. 1 northern wheat for export was reported by a Duluth operator, and inquiries were in hand for more.

At Chicago, export sales of 1,000,000 bu of wheat and a round lot of oats were advised, and a substantial foreign trade was noted at the seaboard. The extent of the export trade put through of late was attested in a measure today in clearances of wheat and flour aggregating 1,803,000 bu. These were the heaviest clearances recorded in several days, and that development is taken as evidence that fears regarding the effect of the German submarine blockade are being dissipated.

There was strong bidding for all the cash stuff offered on the tables today, with elevator men and millers paying 1½c over the May price.

Further liberal all-rail shipments from here to the seaboard are expected during the next few days. Receipts of grain at Duluth elevators continue to run much in excess of last year. Inspections today being eighty-six cars against twenty-five a year ago.

May wheat opened 1½c up at $1.41½, and after breaking 1¼c. It rallied sharply to $1.42 around the noon-hour. July opened 1½c up at $1.37¾, weakened to the same extent and then moved up to $1.37½. Durum was nervous at the start. May opened ½c up at $1.45, declined 2c and then advanced to $1.46¼, July opened ¾c off at $1.40 and moved up 3c.

Flaxseed Is Firm.

Trading in flaxseed remained stagnant and it was extremely narrow. Crushers picked up any odd lots offering but did not do any bidding, and at the same time offerings were limited. The market was advanced fractionally.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.85⅝ and closed ¼c up at $1.85⅝ asked. July opened unchanged at $1.87 and closed unchanged at $1.87 bid. September opened unchanged at $1.85¼ and closed ¾c up at $1.86 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅝c up at $1.66½ bid, and July ⅜c up at $1.69 bid.

Cash Sales Wednesday.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The cash market was strong at Chicago today. No. 1 red sold at 1c over May and No. 2 hard at 2c over May.

F. E. Lindahl, manager of the Cargill Elevator company returned today from a month's trip spent chiefly in New York. "Nobody can realize the extent of the export trade being done in this country," he said. "They are putting through large sales every day on the New York Produce exchange and the amount of stuff that has been sold can hardly be estimated. Figures of shipments during the next couple of months will surprise the trade. We really do not know anything about it here. A few days spent on the New York Produce exchange will make anyone feel bullish. There you see straight cash business being put through with practically no option trading."

Mr. Lindahl said that the trade is all at sea regarding the probable effect of the opening of the Dardanelles for the shipment of Russian grain. Some say that the movement out to the markets will be rapid, while others contend that Russia has a comparatively light tonnage available for immediate shipment, and that they are unlikely to have much influence upon prices. In the meantime there has been some slowing up in export trade, he averred, but a fair business is being worked all the same.

At Minneapolis—Millers were keen after choice cash wheat at 4@5c over May. Offerings were light. The tone was quiet to dull demand for lower grades. Outside interest was less active. Few millers reported even a fair flour trade, and bids were unsatisfactory. Cash one northern wheat sold there at from $1.37½@1.41½, and No. 2 northern at from $1.33½@1.39. Stocks in elevators there showed a decrease of 440,000 bu in five days.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was depressed at the immediate opening on American weakness, but later steadied with less pressure from Argentina. Early American winters were offered at 4½c decline and Plates 3d lower, but later Plate offers advanced and were more firmly held on private advices of unfavorable weather in Argentina. Spot market was steady with millers absorbing and arrivals were lighter. The demand for future shipment is quiet.

"Corn was easy with declining spot and free Plate offers with cargoes here unsalable."

The estimated 120,000,000 bu exportable Indian surplus has been surpassed only once in thirty years. In 1904-05 India shipped 80,000,000 bu when freights were low and no American surplus, and this surplus was obtained from a yield of 352,000,000 bu. In other years the maximum surplus was 64,000,00 bu. The freight situation will militate against any free movement, and it is believed at the height of the season may find weekly clearances of 2,500,000 bu. The acreage is estimated at 6,000,000 acres over last year, and the weather is favorable during the critical period.

Price Current says: "Reports of winter wheat continue satisfactory except in the Southwest and extreme East. In the Far West a good rain fell last week, which has put the plant in excellent condition, and more favorable reports will be heard during the coming month. Reports of farm reserves are showing less than the average quantity on hand both in percentage of the crop and in volume, which tends to disprove the current belief that the farmers have been hoarding. On the whole, the farm reserves, with a trifle smaller holdings by country elevators and mills, suggest that there is over 300,000,000 bu in command for the next four months, which would provide for the general consumption and spring seeding and still allow for 80,000,000 or 90,000,000 bu to export before the new crop comes in."

HARD WEEK FOR BULLS

Pronounced Weakness in All Markets Due to War News.

Exporters Are Buying on Breaks—Cash Wheat Strong.

Operations on the long side in the wheat market found rocky sledding during the last week. A combination of bearish factors led to pronounced weakness in all grains.

At its close yesterday at $1.41½, cash wheat was down 6c from the previous Tuesday and 16⅞c from the high point on the crop, $1.57⅞, set on Feb. 3. The May future ran down 7½c in the week.

The immediate cause of the recent break was the reported success of the allies' fleet in forcing the passage of the Dardanelles and thus working towards the release of the large quantities of grain tied up since last fall in Russian Black sea elevators and adjacent territory. That has served as a club over the market during the last few days, and has resulted in substantially lowering Liverpool quotations. On top of that were advices to the effect that ocean freight rates from Argentina to European ports, have been reduced, and that more vessels will be available for that traffic from now on.

Exporters Buying on Breaks.

It is noted, however, that exporters are still coming into the market on every break. That buying served to steady up quotations yesterday, though it was not sufficiently aggressive to bring about more than a moderate rally from the low points of the day. Taking into account the possibility of any quantity of Russian wheat finding its way to the markets within a month, and of Argentine shipments assuming any proportions in the meantime, conservative Duluth grain men are of the opinion that wheat prices have struck their high points for the present crop year, and that a further scaling down is to be expected. It is considered though that the opening of the Dardanelles has been partially discounted, and a further serious slump is not expected, even when that event transpires. It is contended that only a small proportion of the Russian surplus grain is at present available for shipment in Black sea elevators, and that in view of the inadequate rolling stock and freight handling facilities controlled by the railroads in the czar's empire, some weeks must transpire before any large tonnage could be moved from interior points to the sea terminals. Foreigners must place their main reliance upon this country for supplies in the meantime, it is contended, and experts consider that the call will be sufficient to account for the surplus supplies remaining here.

Cash Wheat Strong.

The strong cash demand for wheat has been the feature on the local market during the last few days. It has resulted in its commanding a premium of 1½c a bu over the May price, whereas a week ago they were on a parity. With the exception of a small tonnage, all the free No. 1 northern wheat in Duluth elevators is said to have been already disposed of, and within the last few days exporters have been inquiring for No. 2 northern on this market. A quantity of it was sold by a Duluth dealer at the end of last week for shipment at the opening of navigation.

With no supplies to work upon, the durum market has been comparatively neglected of late and it has weakened to a greater extent than spring wheat. The cash article as at the close yesterday was off 9c in the week to $1.44½. This compares with a high of $1.62 set on Feb. 5. Grain men are on the still hunt for durum to cover contracts for all-rail shipment to the East for export and to go out at the opening of navigation.

Flaxseed Trading Slow.

Flaxseed has been a slow-trading proposition for some time back, and its movement has been narrow. The cash quotation yesterday was down just ⅛c in the week at $1.84⅝, or 5½c below its figure of a month ago. Crushers are still marking time in the flax market and are only buying sufficient from day to day to cover their immediate requirements. Two of the leading oil concerns are said to have a considerable quantity of Argentine seed bought and they are now seeking ocean steamers to move it. Operators are generally bullish, however, regarding the ultimate course of the flaxseed market, the best information being to the effect that the acreage sown in the Northwest this spring will be only a fraction of what it was last season. Whether peace intervenes in the interval or not, it is taken as assured that grain will command high prices again next fall and it is thought that farmers will be tempted to confine their operations largely to the raising of foodstuffs.

Export Call for Oats.

A good export inquiry for oats has been met during the last few days and their figure yesterday at 51⅞c was down just ⅞c from a week ago. With the quieting down of speculative operations their market has receded 5½c since Feb. 1. The statistical position of the oats market is thought to be strong in view of the small supplies in elevators and in first hands and the foreign call for them.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Take Upward Swing on Foreign Advices.

Chicago, March 3.—Wheat prices took an upward swing today, influenced by the failure of the Liverpool market to reflect the declines which took place yesterday in America. The bulls were also encouraged by reports tending to disprove assertions that domestic growers had been hoarding reserves. Besides, there were advices of unfavorable weather in Argentina. The opening, which varied from 1@2½c higher, was followed by some further gains and then a moderate setback.

The reaction wiped out later all the advance, but the market soon hardened again. Export sales in the United States today were said to amount to 1,000,000 bu. Assertions, though, that England had purchased the entire Argentine crop surplus for 1916 had a bearish effect at the end of the session. The close was weak, but 1¼c to 2c above last night.

General commission buying put strength into corn. Offerings were rather scarce, apparently owing in part at least to unsettled weather. After starting ⅛c@⅜c higher, prices continued to ascend.

A sag ensued when wheat had a temporary drop. Seaboard demand, however, led to a rally. The close was unsettled at 1¼c to 1½@1¾c above last night.

Oats climbed with other grain. Export houses were buyers.

Free selling, presumably by packers, weakened provisions. Most of the unloading was of pork.

MOVEMENT IS UPWARD

Stocks Rise on More Favorable View of Foreign Situation.

Hill Issues Show Particular Strength and Closing Is Firm.

New York, March 3.—Overnight advices from abroad, particularly Germany's reported acceptance of this government's main proposals, were favorably received in the financial district today, judging from the early course of the market. Leading shares made further fractional gains and some of the specialties increased their recent advantage. Trading was far more active than usual, with indications of a moderate investment demand. Among the few features of weakness were Harvester corporation preferred, which sold at 96 compared with 114 at its previous sale some weeks ago. Distillers' bonds also were heavy.

New York, March 3.—Prices continued to rise during the morning, but business on today's stock market became lighter after the early demand run its course. Gains in active stocks like the coalers, Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, United States Steel and American Smelting were extended to a point or beyond. Shares of the cotton roads were prominent, Southern railway preferred and Atlantic coast line recovering part of their recent declines. Motor shares, American Can and more obscure specialties participated in the advance to an appreciable extent. General Electric was among the few high class industrials to show heaviness. Foreign bonds selling was increasing extensively at concessions.

Trading broadened and prices continued to rise in the afternoon. Over a score of stocks showed average gains of a point, with Reading and Steel in special demand.

A further upward tendency was shown by today's stock market on the more favorable view of the foreign situation.

Investment stocks were in demand toward the end of the session, Hill issues showing particular strength. The close was strong.

MORE FREIGHT THAN YEAR AGO

All Traffic Shows Increase Except Timber and Coal.

Outside of coal and wood products, the railroads operating at the Head of the Lakes are now handling a larger volume of freight than a year ago, thus indicating that general business in the Northwest is fully normal for the season.

During February, the Lake Superior Demurrage bureau handled 23,475 freight cars, according to the statement of the manager, A. E. Piering. This was a falling off of 3,670 cars from last year, but it was fully accounted for in the lighter movement of coal and lumber and forest products. With the mild brand of weather prevailing last month, cars of coal shipped from Duluth and Superior docks over the West fell off to the extent of 5,139, being reported at 14,750 as compared with 17,889 last year.

March Will Be Better.

"With the exception of fuel products, we had a fairly good business last month, and it looks now as if March will figure up better still," said an official of the Great Northern today. "A feature with us has been the movement of grain all-rail to the seaboard. That traffic was heavier last month than in several years back, and I understand that some grain is still under contract to be shipped East prior to the opening of navigation."

Traffic with the Northern Pacific is also reported satisfactory. For the month of January the road showed an increase in net operating income of $111,351. This is the first gain recorded since last July.

Gains in traffic and reductions in expenses are ascribed in the statement as the causes of the good showing. Winter expenses due to snow blockades and trouble caused by cold weather were lower this year than last, and there was a decrease of $208,397 in transportation expenses, due to reductions in train services.

Revenue of the road from freight traffic was $2,728,647 for January; passenger revenue was $901,117, while mail revenue was $93,186, an increase of $7,443 over last year. Total operating revenues were $4,026,632; total operating expenses, $2,620,764; net revenue, $1,405,769, and railway operating income, $1,032,445.

N. P. RETURNS TO ORIENT BUSINESS

Arrangements are being made by the Northern Pacific railroad to compete strongly for business in general freight to and from Eastern and Southern points to the Orient.

Railroad officials are interested in the statement that 20,000 bales of cotton from Galveston have been assembled at Tacoma, Wash., for shipment from that port. This is the first large cotton consignment to come to Tacoma by the Northern Pacific in several years.

The cotton will be transported to the Orient by the British steamer Geingyle of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, due on the Sound on her maiden voyage; the Russian steamer Yaroslavl and the American steam Rio Pasig. The Northern Pacific will be aided, it is believed, by the new decision of the interstate commerce commission permitting the railroads to make rates to Pacific coast ports in competition with water routes.

When the interstate commerce commission made its ruling seven years ago compelling the transcontinental carriers to publish their proportion of the through rates from Eastern points to the Orient the Northern Pacific dropped out of the through Oriental business.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, entering the Northwest about this time, published its proportion of the through rates from the East to the Orient. Until recently it has been doing practically all of the Oriental business done on through bills of lading.

Federal Attorney George W. Anderson announced today. The maximum penalty for the offense is eighteen months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000.

A copy of the indictments was sent to the United States marshal at Portland, Me., with instructions that Horn be arrested on Saturday on his release from the jail at Machias, where he is serving a sentence of thirty days for damaging property at Vanceboro.

SAYS RUSSIANS HAVE NOT WON A SUCCESS.

Berlin, via London, March 3.—The Tageblatt's correspondent in Galicia telegraphs that the Russians have not won a single complete success in their efforts to regain Carpathian crest lost by them. The Russians are sacrificing many men, the correspondent declares, in their effort to regain mountain heights and prevent a threatened encircling of their flank.

STANDS LITTLE CHANCE IN HOUSE

Bill Repealing Mixed Flour Law Is Passed By Senate.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 3.—In the small hours of the morning Senator Stone of Missouri secured the passage, through the senate, of a bill repealing the mixed flour law. The bill was sent to the house by messenger, but there is little chance of its going through that body, as members of the Minnesota delegation stand ready to make a point of order that the legislation should have been initiated in the house as it affects the revenues.

Charges Reasonable.

Washington, March 3.—Refrigeration charge of $70 per car on salted or pickled fish, in carloads from San Francisco and other California points to New York and other eastern points was found reasonable today by the interstate commerce commission in dismissing a complaint against the Southern Pacific company.

BILL TO EXEMPT DULUTH AND TWIN CITIES FROM THE COUNTY OPTION LAW

Introduced in the Senate By Westlake of Minneapolis.

Bill for Woman Suffrage Defeated in Senate By One Vote.

House to Probe Alleged Combination Among Bridge Contractors.

SUFFRAGE BILL BEATEN.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Sageng woman suffrage bill was defeated in the Minnesota senate this afternoon at 2:25 o'clock by a vote of 33 to 34.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bill amending the county option law, now chapter 23 of the laws of 1915, to exempt Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth from its operation, will be introduced in the senate late this afternoon by Senator E. J. Westlake of Minneapolis. He will do this on the grounds that while it might be possible to get a majority for county prohibition in Hennepin county, it would not be possible to do so in Ramsey; that the result would be hypocrisy and blind-pigs in Minneapolis, and the congestion of liquor business in St. Paul; and that there would be no adequate machinery for the enforcement of prohibition in large cities. Moreover, Senator Westlake said this morning that he believed his bill could be put through.

Woman Suffrage.

Woman suffrage was taken up in the senate shortly before noon, when the proposed constitutional amendment granting votes to women, introduced by Senator Ole O. Sageng of Dalton, was reached as a special order. Considerable oratory was expected and the prospects were that it would be well into the afternoon before a vote is reached. While the result is close and in doubt, the impression that the bill would fall of passage by a vote or more has been growing during the last few days. Of the St. Louis county senators, Healy, Adams and Peterson were expected to vote against the bill, and Jones and Griggs for it.

Many women, both for and against, were present, and the galleries were filled and many got through on the floor, despite the fact that the doors had been locked and every effort

CHICAGO GRAFTER CAUGHT IN MEXICO.

Chicago, March 4.—Edward Rice, wanted in connection with graft charges made against four former officials of the detective bureau of the Chicago police department, has been arrested and confessed, according to a story published here today.

Rice, who evaded arrest for months, was caught in Tiajuana, Mex., by detectives under State's Attorney Hoyne. He previously had been traced to San Francisco and San Diego, Cal., and Juarez, Mex.

It is alleged that Rice was at the head of the "pay-off" operations between the police and a band of clairvoyant swindlers and wire tappers.

RATE HEARING IS COMMENCED

Western Railroads Ask for an Increase in Freight Charges.

Forty-One Roads Represented Before Commerce Commissioner Daniels.

Chicago, March 4.—The hearing of the application of the Western railroads to the interstate commerce commission for an increase in freight rates, designed, it is said, to equalize certain rates on 98,000 miles of road, and which, if allowed, will net the roads involved $10,000,000 a year, was begun here today before Commissioner W. M. Daniels.

C. C. Wright, general solicitor of the Chicago Northwestern Railroad company, appeared as chief of counsel for the railroads. Clifford Thorne, chairman of the Iowa state railway commission, who opposed the roads in the Eastern rate case, appeared in a similar capacity here, representing eighteen state railway commissions which oppose the advance. The opposition includes also individual shippers. Their side is to be given a hearing on March 30.

Mr. Wright, in opening the case for the forty-one railroads interested, said that the carriers in the territory involved had been called upon during the last seven years to invest more than $100,000,000 a year in additions and betterments, but that there had been only a slight increase in their revenues. During these years, he asserted, the roads had not earned what the courts have held to be a fair rate of return upon their properties. The ratio of return upon investment had been decreasing and the operating ratio increasing.

Fears More Than Realized.

Mr. Wright called attention to the

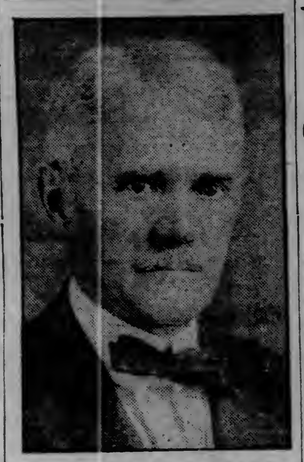
WOULD EXCEPT BIG CITIES FROM COUNTY OPTION LAW



SENATOR E. J. WESTLAKE Of Minneapolis.

OPPOSITION VERY STRONG

Range Protests Against Division Bill Heard By Legislators.

Personal Attacks Upon the Speakers By Power of Hibbing.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—"This bill," said J. L. Washburn of Duluth, "should be entitled a bill for an act to make it possible for certain groups of individuals to organize from one to three new counties out of St. Louis county, create and hold a large number of offices, levy taxes on property which they do not own, collect and expend the same to their mutual profit and supreme enjoyment."

And after twenty-two speakers against the proposed county division bill had addressed the senate and house committees on towns and counties, and after Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing, the head and center of the county division movement, had responded with personal attacks upon many of the speakers, charging them with being subservient to large interests and being actuated by selfish reasons, Mr. Washburn closed the debate with these pungent remarks:

"I do not know that I wish to take the small time allowed. I could reply to Mr. Power at great length, but I have enjoyed his talk, and he enjoyed making it. He has taken an inventory of some of his friends. Nobody has taken an inventory of him.

"I am told that he is enjoying about the greenest pasture in the United States. I understand that he wants to make it larger by providing a new county; but it will still be green pasture, and greener because it is greater."

Fear of Extravagance.

Most of the twenty-two speakers were from communities of the iron ranges and the burden of their remarks was a fear that the extravagance that prevails in some of the iron range towns would prevail in the new county

FOUNDATION TO AID COLORADO MINERS

Rockefeller Institution Willing to Help Those in Distress.

New York, March 4.—Assistance by the Rockefeller foundation may be given to Colorado miners and their families who are in distress as a result of recent mining troubles in that state if civic authorities are unable to cope with the need. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., indicated this in a telegram sent to President F. J. Radford of the chamber of commerce of Trinidad, Colo. Mr. Rockefeller's telegram was sent in response to one received from Mr. Radford appealing to him for aid.

Mr. Rockefeller, in his telegram, said the officers of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company hope that the company itself will be able to provide such relief as is necessary among its own employes.

"If the civic and state authorities," Mr. Rockefeller's telegram continues, "are of the opinion that existing agencies will prove insufficient to meet other cases of distress and that widespread suffering will ensue among miners and their families unless assistance from without the state is provided, a situation would be presented which the Rockefeller foundation might properly consider on representations from leading bodies and the governor of the state as to the extent of their inability to cope with the need.

"I already have intimated to the officers of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company that I should be willing to make a personal contribution to the company to aid it in relieving distress among its former employes should that become necessary."

ASSAULT ON DARDANELLES IS RESUMED

Allied Fleet Is Again Bombarding Turkish Fortifications.

Ten Big Warships Concentrate Fire on the Inner Forts.

Only Two Remain Intact According to British Officer.

London, March 4, 1:25 p. m.—The allied fleets this (Thursday) morning resumed their bombardment of the inner forts of the Dardanelles, according to a dispatch received by Reuter's Telegram company from its corrospondent at Athens. The text of the dispatch follows:

"The bombardment of the inner forts of the Dardanelles was resumed Thursday morning. Ten big warships took part in the operations. According to a British officer, only two of the Turkish forts remain intact. Allied landing parties found the charred remains of soldiers in the damaged forts, showing that the Turks had burned their dead before evacuating these positions."

Admiralty Report.

London, March 4.—The admiralty late last night issued the following report regarding the bombardment of the Turkish forts by the Anglo-French fleet:

"The operations in the Dardanelles were resumed at 1 o'clock this morning (probably Monday), when the Triumph, Ocean and Albion entered the straits and attacked Fort No. 8 and the batteries at White Cliff. The fire was returned by the forts and also by field guns and howitzers.

"An air reconnaissance made by naval seaplanes in the evening brought the report that several gun positions had been prepared by the enemy but that no guns were erected in them. The seaplanes also located surface mines.

"During Monday night a force of mine sweepers, escorted by destroyers, swept within a mile and a half of Cape Kephez and their work, which

STANDARD OIL SHIP HELD IN SCOTLAND

Second Time Platuria Has Been Delayed By British Authorities.

London, March 2, 2:15 p. m.—(Delayed in transmission).—The Standard Oil company steamer Platuria, bound for Malmo, Sweden, has been detained at Kirkwall, Scotland, by order of admiralty officials pending an investgation.

The Platuria was formerly the German steamer Diamant, but she now sails under American register, having changed her flag last October.

This is the second time the Platuria has been detained by the marine authorities of Great Britain. The latter part of October, 1914, she was seized by British warships off the coast of Scotland and taken into Stornoway. At this time she was on her way from New York to Aarhus with a cargo of illuminating oil. The United States formally protested against her detention and she was released in November.

RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN IN EXTREME SOUTH HOLD MAIN INTEREST IN WAR

Heavy Losses Said to Have Been Inflicted Upon the Austrians.

Vienna Reports Repulse of Russian Attacks in the Carpathians.

Berlin Admits Officially Retirement of Germans From Przasnysz.

London, March 4.—The interest of British readers in the Russian campaign has again shifted to the extreme southern portion of the line of battle where Petrograd reports that Gen. Brussiloff has won a noteworthy victory south of Baligrod inflicting heavy losses on the Austrians who were again pressing north to the relief of Przemysl.

At the same time an unofficial dispatch from Bucharest credits the Russian forces with the reoccupation of Stanislau, in Galicia, about sixty miles from Tarnopol.

At the same time Vienna reports the repulse of desperate Russian counter attacks in the Carpathians with comparative inactivity along the remainder of the line. Berlin admits officially the German retirement from Przasnysz, north of Warsaw, which it says was made in good order in spite of haste that necissitated the abandonment of wounded.

On the western battle front, in France and Belgium, the French now appear to be content to hold their positions they claim to have won in the Champagne districts.

Will Be Given Recess Appointment as St. Paul Postmaster.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 4.—With the confirmation of Harry A. Lund as United States collector of customs for the Minneapolis-St. Paul district, the senate cleared the docket of Minnesota nominations, with one exception. Otto N. Raths, named for postmaster at St. Paul, was held up in committee because of protests from residents of that city. He will be given a recess appointment and will be renominated in December, when it is expected the fight against him will be renewed.

GOETHALS IS MADE A MAJOR GENERAL

Congress Recognizes His Work on Panama Canal; Others Rewarded.

Washington, March 4.—Col. George W. Goethals was nominated to be a major-general today in recognition of his services in building the Panama canal.

Four other nominations for promotions of officers associated with Col. Goethals were presented at the same time and all were immediately confirmed in an open session of the senate, an unusual proceeding. The other nominations were:

Brig.-Gen. William C. Gorgas, to be major-general, medical department.

Col. H. F. Hodges and Lieut.-Col. William L. Sibert, to be brigadier-generals of the line.

Commander H. H. Rousseau, U. S. N., to be rear admiral.

The bill providing for the promotions extends the thanks of congress to the officers.

FLORIST SHOP FIRE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

Two Other Stores Suffer Heavily From Smoke and Water.

Stock of Easter Flowers and Bulbs Is Total Loss.

Damage Is Only Partially Covered By the Insurance.

Three stores were gutted and property valued at $20,000 was destroyed by the second of two disastrous fires in the downtown section last night and early this morning.

The building at the corner of Third avenue east and Superior street, occupied by Seekins, the florist, the Wear-U-Well Shoe store and Stromquist & Moyer, decorators, is practically a total loss, as is the stock in the three stores.

Fire apparatus had been out of service less than an hour, after fighting the Empress theater blaze since 9:30 p. m. yesterday, when they were called out to answer this alarm at 4:52 a. m.

Louis Visias, florist, who is the proprietor of the greenhouse and store at the corner, is the heaviest loser. This place, operated under the name of Seekins, is managed by W. W. Seekins, the former proprietor. Their loss is estimated at about $9,000.

Mr. Seekins stated that the greenhouse was packed with bulbs and plants for the Easter trade, and that 3,600 lilies were destroyed, in addition to the many other plants. A large icebox, valued at $3,500, was badly damaged. The flower store stock was partially covered by insurance, although exact figures were not available, as Mr. Visias is not in the city.

Anton Stromquist, of Stromquist & Moyer, decorators, estimated his loss

Blaze Believed to Have Started in Basement Paint Shop.

Loss of $15,000 Is More Than Covered By Insurance.

Theater Had Recently Been Closed—Janitor Was Absent.

Fire of unknown origin which started in the basement of the New Empress theater, 12 East Superior street, shortly after 9 o'clock last night, badly damaged the structure, loss being estimated at $15,000.

The central section of the building was completely burned out, although firemen were able to save the stage and dressing rooms, as well as the front part of the house. Assistant Chief Wilson of the fire department reported today that there was $37,500 insurance, $33,000 on the building and $4,500 on its contents.

Manager W. M. Abrahamson stated that he carried $21,000 insurance. A policy for $10,000 in addition to the $21,000 was allowed to lapse Jan. 1, he said. The building is valued at $48,000 by Mr. Abrahamson.

At 9:27 a box alarm, turned in by Police Detective-Donald Irvine, brought out three companies, with Chief Joseph Randall, Assistant Chief Wilson and Acting Assistant Chief Luepke. At 9:33 a four-eleven alarm brought all the rest of the apparatus in the city, excepting the Lakeside company.

Firemen were seriously handicapped in the work, as they were unable to reach the center of the theater, where the fire was the worst.

Improvements costing several thousand dollars recently were completed at the theater, preparatory to a re-opening with the Manhattan Opera com-

SIXTY-THIRD CONGRESS PASSES INTO HISTORY

Quality of Its Work Will Be Proved the Longer It Is Tested, Says President Wilson.

Washington, March 4.—Congress adjourned today sine die. The senate adjourned at 12:04 p. m. and the house after turning back the hands of the clock, adjourned at 12:18 p. m.

After his return to the White House, President Wilson dictated the following statement about congress and its work:

"A great congress has closed its sessions. Its work will prove the purpose and quality of its statesmanship more and more, the longer it is tested. Business has now a time of calm and thoughtful adjustment before it, disturbed only by the European war. The circumstances created by the war put the nation to a special test, a test of its true character and of its self-control.

"The constant thought of every patriotic man should now be for the country, its peace, its order, its just and tempered judgment in the face of perplexing difficulties. Its dignity and its strength alike will appear not only in the revival of its business, despite abnormal conditions, but also in its power to think, to purpose and to act with patience, with disinterested fairness and without excitement, in a spirit of friendliness and enlightenment which will firmly establish its influence throughout the world."

Total Appropriations.

The total appropriations of the session were approximately $1,120,484,324, several millions under the record of previous congresses.

Two appropriation bills failed. Current appropriations for the postal service and the Indian office were extended for another year.

In the closing hours, President Wilson signed the seaman's bill, the neutrality resolution empowering him to prevent ships leaving American ports with supplies for belligerent warships, promoted Col. Goethals to be a major general for his services as builder of the Panama canal, and gave promotions to other officers associated with the work.

Bills That Failed.

The administration ship bill, the Philippine bill, the conservation bills, the rural credits provision of the agricultural bill and ratification of the treaties with Colombia and Nicaragua—all hard pressed administration measures—fell by the wayside.

In the senate several members, long prominent national figures, among them Senators Root and Burton, stepped back into private life as the curtain fell.

In the house Democratic Leader Underwood said good-by, to sit in the next senate, and three score or more members retired.

For many minutes before adjournment there was a lull in the senate. Absolutely no business was transacted. Senator Simmons paid a tribute to Senator Perkins of California, who retired at noon. Senator Perkins sat for a moment in contemplation of the tribute. Then he slowly half rose from his seat, feebly waved his hand toward the North Carolina senator and his colleagues in a gesture of farewell, and then took his seat again, too overcome with emotion to speak.

Senator Gallinger offered a resolu-

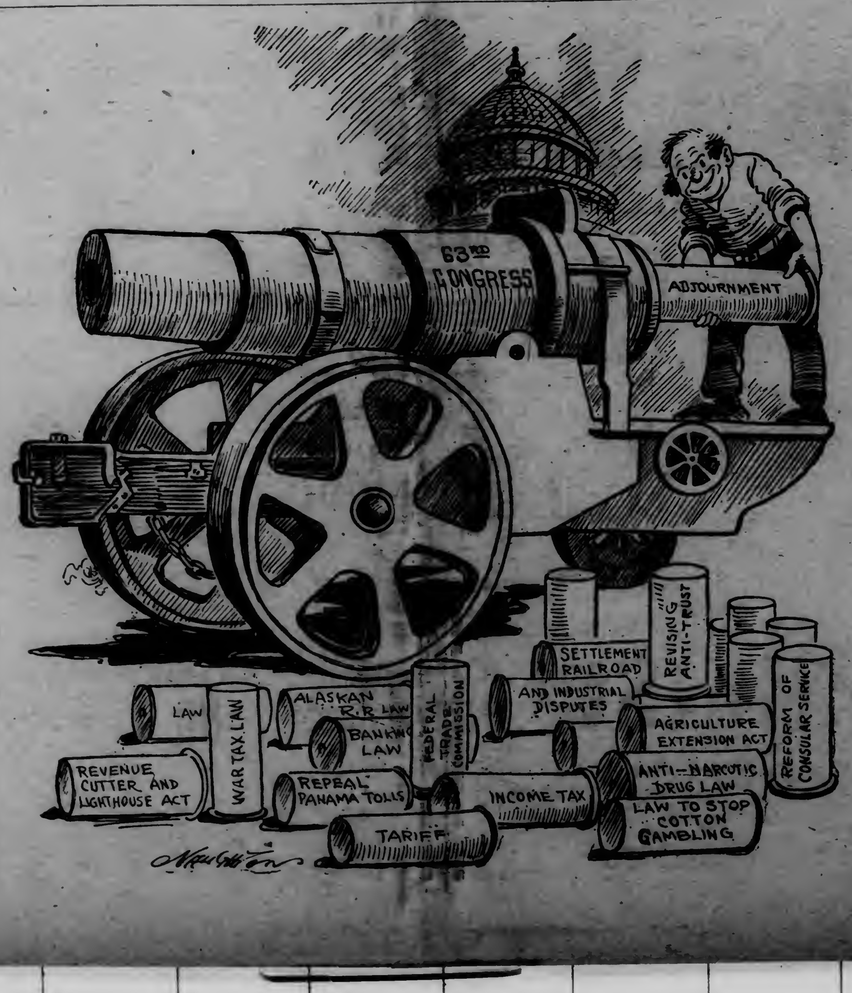
THE LAST SHELL.



SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A British officer of the allied fleet bombarding the Dardanelles is quoted in a dispatch from Athens as saying that only two forts now remain intact. The bombardment of the inner forts was resumed this morning, ten large warships entering the straits for this purpose. The reports of extensive damage to the fortifications are not borne out, however, by dispatches from Constantinople.

The American tanker Platuria has been detained at Kirkwall, Scotland, by order of the British admiralty. The Platuria was formerly a German vessel, transferred to American registry after the outbreak of the war.

The German military authorities admit the recapture of Przasnysz, Northern Poland, by the Russians, but assert the Russians suffered so severely during the attack that they were unable to disturb the orderly retreat of the Germans. Russian reports a few days ago stated that the German retreat was the most disorderly and precipitate of any in that area of military activity.

The French war office has given a more definite idea of the extent of the battle now in progress in Champagne. The attacking front is about four miles in length, and it is asserted that the allies now hold German positions to depth of about two-thirds of a mile.

Could anything in the conception of Art in Dressmaking be more quaintly attractive than the high-waisted suspender frock of say, dark blue, combined with the old-fashioned, buttoned-in-the-back guimpe of soft white chiffon?

This is one of the new styles—rather a new version of an old style—and it is reminiscent of the long-ago days of poke bonnets, hoop skirts, and puffed sleeves.

Fashion seems to be going backward instead of forward, but, to the demure little lady of slim proportions, the particular style of dress above mentioned is not entirely distasteful.

A REMARKABLE MEDICINE

A few years ago I suffered from Kidney trouble to such an extent I thought I was developing serious Kidney trouble. I tried Lithia Water and Tablets without relief, then I tried several doctors without any help from them in the least. My kidneys became so bad that I made the remark at the time that I would not live until Christmas. I saw Swamp-Root advertised in a paper and having tried everything else without relief, I resolved to try it and obtained a bottle—before taking the entire contents I was entirely cured and feel as if I had obtained a new lease of life.

I am very thankful for what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done for me and consider it a wonderful medicine.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE T. INGRAM,

NO INITIATION FEE FOR ORDER

Movement Is Strongly Opposed By the Maccabee Delegates.

Big Banquet and Theater Party Brings Convention to a Close.

The only discussion to cause a ripple on the placid stream of activities during the two-day session of the Maccabees, who are meeting here for their quadrennial convention, was precipitated today when an effort was made to restrict membership by making an initiation fee compulsory. The discussion occupied considerable time, but it soon became apparent that the movement was no popular with the majority of the delegates. Although a vote had not been taken late this afternoon, it was expected that the resolution would be lost.

Business Session Close.

All work of the convention came to a close this afternoon, and the delegates, about 400 strong, will meet with their friends tonight for a banquet at the Maccabee hall. A good program of addresses and toasts has been arranged. During the latter part of the afternoon the delegates went in a body to the New Grand theater, where they were the guests of Manager Phelps.

The most important appointments during the convention were announced by Dr. E. H. Haas, great commander, today, who had selected as great camp auditors: W. L. McLaughlin, chairman; Fred M. Macey and Robert Nelson, all of Minneapolis. H. C. Kerr of St. Paul was named as great councilor.

Among the noted guests at the convention today was John W. Brown of Stevens Point, Wis., great commander of the great tent of Wisconsin. Mr. Brown gave an interesting address on some of the most prominent features of the Maccabee order.

Changes In By-Laws.

Several changes were made in the by-laws, but they were all of a minor nature, consisting mostly of changes of phraseology. The merging of the Modern Maccabees and the Maccabees of the World made many of these changes necessary.

One of the most interesting features of last night's meeting was the exhibition drill by eight crack teams. For precision, skill and appearance these teams were in a class by themselves. The first prize, consisting of $50 in cash and a valuable silver cup was won by Minneapolis camp, No. 10, which made a percentage of 97 per cent. St. Paul camp, No. 20, won second prize, $30, with a percentage of 91 per cent. Minneapolis camp, No. 20, came third with a percentage of 90, winning $20 in cash.

In the election of officers yesterday afternoon the only real contest was between J. B. Gallneau of Duluth and E. M. Sutherland of Minneapolis for the position of record keeper. The Minneapolis man won by a narrow margin.

Most Officers Re-elected.

Officers re-elected were: Great past commander, George J. Mallory of Duluth; great commander, Edward H. Haas of St. Paul; great lieutenant commander, George F. Schackel of Fergus Falls; great record keeper, E. M. Sutherland of Minneapolis; great counselor, Harold C. Kerr of St. Paul; great medical examiner, Dr. E. W. Young of Jordan; great chaplain, Pieer C. Jensen of Minneapolis; great sergeant, George Gerritz of Little Falls; first great master of the guards, J. A. Bethune of Duluth; second great master of guards, William Towl of Two Harbors; executive board, A. J. Fetsch of St. Paul, and J. P. Wolfe of Minneapolis.

New officers elected were the great master-at-arms, F. L. Ruerup of Little Falls; great sentinel, W. E. Coe of Winona; great picket, Charles Mudge of Brainerd, and the new member of the executive board, J. B. Gallneau of Duluth.

Two delegates and alternates were named to represent the state at the meeting of the supreme camp in San Francisco, May 18. Delegates are Dr. Edward H. Haas of St. Paul and E. M. Sutherland of Minneapolis; alternates, G. A. Francis of St. Paul and Charles G. Futter of Duluth.

WAR WILL END IN MAY

Visitor From Paris Believes End of Great Conflict Is Approaching.

Expects Italy to Join Allies and Germany to Seek Peace.

That Italy will join the allies, that the gigantic European struggle will end by May and that the United States will then enjoy the most prosperous period in its history are some of the predictions made by Charles S. Sargent, brother-in-law of W. A. McGonagle, who has just returned from Paris, where he and Mrs. Sargent have made their home for the last five years. He plans to visit Mr. and Mrs. McGonagle for a short time, returning later to the French capital where Mrs. Sargent is studying music.

CHARLES S. SARGENT.

Mr. Sargent formerly resided in Duluth and is very well known among the business men of the city. He left here in 1897 to engage in the mercantile business in Alaska, after which he and Mrs. Sargent moved to Paris, where they have made their home ever since. Mr. Sargent plans to leave here on March 20, returning to France during the first week in April.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sargent had some odd experiences during the early part of the war, when they left Paris and made their home in a small village not far from the capital. It was later that Mr. and Mrs. Sargent moved to Saint Andress, a suburb of Havre, where on awakening one morning they learned that the small village had been made the temporary capital of Belgium during the night.

Graphic descriptions of aerial battles between aeroplane scouts from the German and French armies are given by Mr. Sargent, who saw several of these encounters both in Paris and other sections of France.

Thinks Italy Will Join.

Mr. Sargent is of the opinion that Italy will soon join the allies and that Germany will have exhausted its resources by next May, and be compelled to sue for peace. He has just received word from Mrs. Sargent, who states in her communication, that it is the general opinion in Paris that the war will come to an end within the next three months.

It is the opinion of Mr. Sargent that business conditions in this country will greatly improve immediately after the cessation of hostilities and that this country will then enjoy the greatest period of prosperity in its entire history.

"The people of the United States," said Mr. Sargent this morning, "do not realize what a bright future is in store for the manufacturers just as soon as the war is over. France will be compelled to buy everything in this country, as it will refuse to deal with Germany, from which nation she purchased most of her imported manufactured articles. There are even rumors in France that the duties will be reduced, so that American exports will not be prohibitive to the French buyers."

ALWORTH BUILDING

DULUTH WILL HELP IN SIOUX FALLS CASE

Local Traffic Men Leave to Attend Freight Rate Hearing.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, and B. M. Ruse, traffic manager of Bridgeman-Russell company, left this afternoon for Sioux Falls, S. D., to attend a hearing of the complaint of the traffic bureau of Sioux Falls against the Great Northern and Northwestern roads. The rates in controversy and which the traffic bureau of Sioux Falls claims are unfair and discriminatory to Sioux Falls are the class rates and rates on coal from Duluth and Superior.

Mr. Hall said today that this is part of the famous Southwestern case which has been fought by Duluth for some time, and while that case is a widespread affair, involving roads and points in South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, the case being pressed by the Sioux Falls traffic bureau may have some bearing on the larger one and Duluth is interested to the extent of helping out Sioux Falls in the matter of getting the best possible rates.

HOW TO STOP DANDRUFF AND LOSS OF HAIR

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop dandruff and scalp itching, and keep the hair thick, live and lustrous: At night, spread the hair apart and rub a little resinol ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with resinol soap and hot water. Work the creamy resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold.

Resinol ointment and resinol soap easily heal eczema and similar skin eruptions. Prescribed by physicians for 20 years, sold by all druggists. For trial free, write to Dept. 11-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

MINE FATALITIES WILL BE HEAVY

Probably Not Over Twenty Alive Out of 177 Miners.

Hinton, W. Va., March 4.—High up on Quinnimont mountain, scores of anxious persons, the families and friends of the miners entombed by the explosion in Layland mine last Tuesday, still waited anxiously today for news from the rescue crews, though little hope is now entertained that more than twenty of the 177 men who are supposed to have entered the mine Tuesday morning, are still alive.

There was a rush toward the shattered opening of the mine this morning when word came that five more bodies had been found. A rumor spread that other bodies had been located and likely would be brought out before evening. Eight bodies will be brought here for burial tonight.

There is still some confusion as to the number of men trapped by the explosion. After canvassing the situation the company made known the names of 177 who were employed in the workings affected. Whether all of them were at work when the explosion occurred officers of the company admitted they were unable to say, but the opinion prevailed in the crowd of spectators that perhaps twenty had escaped.

Engineers of the bureau of mines and state mining department have found evidences that the explosion was very violent and the entries badly choked with debris.

WET OR DRY FOR PROCTOR?

Hard Campaign Being Made By Drys for Tuesday Election.

Parties Nominate Same Candidates for Office With One Exception.

While the village election of Proctor next Tuesday, will hold little interest as regard the officers to be chosen, the advocates of a dry town are not losing any opportunity to advance their cause. Several meetings have been held in the village during the last two weeks, and one last night, addressed by Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, Duluth, attracted a large audience.

The prohibition element feels confident of victory. The final meeting of the "drys" is to be held on Monday evening at Odd Fellows' hall, at which several speakers from Duluth will be present. Among those who will speak will be Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, and Alex G. McKnight. John R. Batchelor will sing.

With the exception of but one man, the entire ticket placed in the field for village officers by the Citizens' committee of Proctor on Tuesday evening was indorsed last night at the caucus held by the taxpayers' committee. Both caucuses, that of Tuesday and that of last night, attracted large crowds.

The exception on the ticket named by the citizens was that of M. M. Lewis, candidate for one of the village trustees. In place of Mr. Lewis the taxpayers placed in nomination the name of W. J. Greene for the position. The entire ticket indorsed by both parties follows:

President, Charles N. Remfrey; village trustees, Charles Clement, Noble Downey, M. M. Lewis (Citizens), and W. J. Greene (Taxpayers); recorder, Robert G. Wombacker; treasurer, John Carruthers; assessor, H. I. Schell, and justice of the peace, H. N. Rivers.

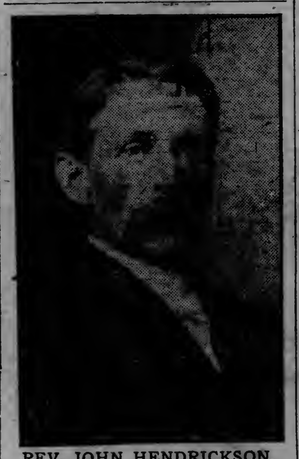
FUNERAL RITES FOR PASTOR AT IRONWOOD

Many Pay Last Tribute to Rev. John Hendrickson, Old Minister.

Ironwood, Mich., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Swedish Mission church was crowded today when the funeral of Rev. John Hendrickson, long its pastor, was held at noon. Rev. C. R. Martin of Marinette, Wis., chairman of the district association of the Northern Mission church, conducted the services, and spoke very highly of the dead, who was vice president of the association. Rev. S. L. Wilson, pastor of the Salem Lutheran church, spoke in behalf of the Gogebic Range Ministerial association, of which Mr.



REV. JOHN HENDRICKSON.

Hendrickson was also a member.

All the Protestant preachers of the range were present at the services.

The remains were taken to Stevenson, Mich., on the afternoon train, where interment will take place tomorrow afternoon.

First Worked in Mine.

A native of Sweden, aged 55, Mr. Hendrickson came to Iron Mountain, Mich., in 1882 and worked in the mines, going later to Chicago, where he studied for the ministry and came here as a missionary in 1887, taking up the pastorate of the Swedish Mission church the next year. He went to Chicago in 1895 and for five years was pastor of the Swedish Mission church in Humboldt park, later going to Stevenson, Mich., and returning here in October, 1911, to again become pastor of the Swedish Mission church until his death of pneumonia two days ago.

His wife, formerly Miss Mary Olson of this city, to whom he was married Nov. 20, 1893, and six children survive as follows: Hugo, 20 years old; Milton, 18 years; Marion, 16; Leonard, 13; Cornelia, 10, and Gerald, 5.

FOUR FIRES IN NINE HOURS

Duluth Firemen Have Strenuous Night After Two-Weeks' Rest.

Four fires of unknown origin within nine hours, after the quietest two weeks of the year, set a record for Duluth's fire fighters last night and early this morning.

At 6:50 p. m. yesterday there was an alarm turned in from the Lincoln hotel, formerly the Elgin, on First street between Third and Fourth avenues west. Damage was nominal. Engine Companies No. 1 and No. 3, with Chief Randall and Assistant Chief Wilson, answered the call.

At 7:14 p. m. Chief Randall, with apparatus from No. 1, went to the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse company's plant on the water front near Seventh avenue west and extinguished a fire on the dock. Damage was nominal.

At 9:27 p. m. and 9:33 p. m., respectively, two alarms called all the apparatus in the city, excepting the Lakeside division, to the Empress theater blaze. The men worked there until 3:20 o'clock this morning.

At 4:50 a. m. sleep was interrupted for the second time by a two-eleven alarm from Third avenue east and Superior street, the largest blaze of the nine hours, when three retail stores were gutted.

USED TO ENTERTAINMENTS.

Philadelphia Record: A couple arrived one evening at a music hall in London with a very young baby.

"I'm sorry," said the manager, firmly, "but you can't take that baby into the hall."

"Why not, sir?" asked the astonished father.

"Well, it might cry and create a general disturbance."

"Oh, lor', no, sir!" was the prompt reply. "Baby's used to going to entertainments, 'e is. Why, 'e was as good as gold at 'is granpa's funeral yesterday!"

CHANGE NOT SATISFACTORY

City Auditor Objects to Methods Used in City Payroll.

Water Department Has Too Many Cashiers and Clerks.

Although Manager D. A. Reed of the water and light department this morning changed his February payroll to include but one cashier and an assistant cashier in place of two cashiers, City Auditor Campbell declared that he will insist on some action being taken by the council this afternoon regarding changes in city departments without the introduction of proper resolutions and subsequent official action by the commissioners.

Last year the council passed a resolution giving the commissioners authority to promote an assistant in any department to a higher office, providing that office has been vacated. This promotion, of course, would entail an increase in salary. Otherwise, a commissioner has no authority to make promotions or grant increases without permission from the council, according to the charter.

City Auditor Campbell claims that recently the water and light department promoted C. W. Cate from assistant cashier to cashier, without the proper authority from the council, and that the February payroll calls for a salary to two cashiers. He made an objection yesterday and this morning Manager Reed changed the payroll to include one cashier and one assistant cashier. As a result T. E. McGibbon will be classed as cashier and Mr. Cate as assistant when the payroll is taken up by the commissioners this afternoon.

However, City Auditor Campbell contends that W. F. Haig was promoted to clerk from asistant clerk, when there was no vacancy and no authority given the water and light department to make the change. He still objects to passing on the payroll and declared this morning that he will present the commissioners with a statement at their meeting today.

At the meeting this afternoon the council will pass on the February payrolls and in addition advance the reading of several ordinances. The sign ordinance introduced by Commissioner Murchison will be passed this afternoon, it was announced this morning.

ATTORNEYS SIGN JUDGE'S PETITION

Indorse W. L. Windom for Re-Election to Municipal Bench.

Duluth members of the bar have paid a tribute to Municipal Judge Windom by almost unanimously signing the petitions nominating him for re-election. He will formally file his nomination with City Clerk Palmer this afternoon.

FROM HEAD-HUNTERS TO CHRISTIANS.

Living Church: Some forty years ago, when a British admiral cruising in northern waters anchored off the Indian town of Masset, on Graham island, British Columbia, a chief drove his war canoe alongside the man-of-war. A covering which concealed some object in one end of the canoe aroused the admiral's curiosity, and he questioned the man about it. With pride the chief lifted the covering, revealing a heap of the gory heads of his enemies!

Recently the bishop visited the home of this man's son, and found a Christian family, who entertained him in their home with every evidence of comfort and refinement. The change had been wrought by a mission of the Church of England. Every native in the place is an enthusiastic Christian. Their place of worship, which holds 300, is well filled at every service, and at least three of their number are able to take charge of the service and preach.

DULUTH WILL HELP IN SIOUX FALLS CASE

Local Traffic Men Leave to Attend Freight Rate Hearing.

C. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, and E. M. Ruse, traffic manager of Bridgeman-Russell company, left this afternoon for Sioux Falls, S. D., to attend a hearing of the complaint of the traffic bureau of Sioux Falls against the Great Northern and Northwestern roads. The rates in controversy and which the traffic bureau of Sioux Falls claims are unfair and discriminatory to Sioux Falls are the class rates and rates on coal from Duluth and Superior.

Mr. Hall said today that this is part of the famous Southwestern case which has been fought by Duluth for some time, and while that case is a widespread affair, involving roads and points in South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, the case being pressed by the Sioux Falls traffic bureau may have some bearing on the larger one and Duluth is interested to the extent of helping out Sioux Falls in the matter of getting the best possible rates.

HOW TO STOP DANDRUFF AND LOSS OF HAIR

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop dandruff and scalp itching, and keep the hair thick, live and lustrous: At night, spread the hair apart and rub a little resinol ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with resinol soap and hot water. Work the creamy resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold.

Resinol ointment and resinol soap easily heal eczema and similar skin eruptions. Prescribed by physicians for 20 years, sold by all druggists. For trial free, write to Dept. 11-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

MINE FATALITIES WILL BE HEAVY

Probably Not Over Twenty Alive Out of 177 Miners.

Hinton, W. Va., March 4.—High up on Quinnimont mountain, scores of anxious persons, the families and friends of the miners entombed by the explosion in Layland mine last Tuesday, still waited anxiously today for news from the rescue crews, though little here is now entertained that more than twenty of the 177 men who are supposed to have entered the mine Tuesday morning, are still alive.

There was a rush toward the shattered opening of the mine this morning when word came that five more bodies had been found. A rumor spread that other bodies had been located and likely would be brought out before evening. Eight bodies will be brought here for burial tonight.

There is still some confusion as to the number of men trapped by the explosion. After canvassing the situation the company made known the names of 177 who were employed in the workings affected. Whether all of them were at work when the explosion occurred officers of the company admitted they were unable to say, but the opinion prevailed in the crowd of spectators that perhaps twenty had escaped.

Engineers of the bureau of mines and state mining department have found evidences that the explosion was very violent and the entries badly choked with debris.

WET OR DRY FOR PROCTOR?

Hard Campaign Being Made By Drys for Tuesday Election.

Parties Nominate Same Candidates for Office With One Exception.

While the village election of Proctor next Tuesday, will hold little interest as regard the officers to be chosen, the advocates of a dry town are not losing any opportunity to advance their cause. Several meetings have been held in the village during the last two weeks, and one last night, addressed by Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, Duluth, attracted a large audience.

The prohibition element feels confident of victory. The final meeting of the "drys" is to be held on Monday evening at Odd Fellows' hall, at which several speakers from Duluth will be present. Among those who will speak will be Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, and Alex G. McKnight. John R. Batchelor will sing.

With the exception of but one man, the entire ticket placed in the field for village officers by the Citizens' committee of Proctor on Tuesday evening was indorsed last night at the caucus held by the taxpayers' committee. Both caucuses, that of Tuesday and that of last night, attracted large crowds.

The exception on the ticket named by the citizens was that of M. M. Lewis, candidate for one of the village trustees. In place of Mr. Lewis the taxpayers placed in nomination the name of W. J. Greene for the position. The entire ticket indorsed by both parties follows:

President, Charles N. Remfrey; village trustees, Charles Clement, Noble Downey, M. M. Lewis (Citizens), and W. J. Greene (Taxpayers); recorder, Robert G. Wombacker; treasurer, John Carruthers; assessor, H. I. Schell, and justice of the peace, H. N. Rivers.

Duluth Baseball Magnate Says Young Players Will Be Used.

Salary Limit at $1,400; Richard Bush Is Signed.

Harry Blume, president of the Duluth Baseball club and one of the powers of the Northern league, returned today from the Minneapolis schedule meeting. President Blume stated that the entire decision in the matter of a schedule was left in the hands of a committee. The committee will make its report to President John Burmeister of the league and the report will then be up to the executive. The matter has been taken out of the hands of the magnates, they agreeing to abide by the decision of the members of the committee.

"The schedule will probably be adopted within a week or ten days," said President Blume today. "One schedule was submitted that I refused to stand for. I was there to fight for the interests of Duluth—and did. I predict that we will have no trouble with the schedule from now on and that every club owner of the league will be satisfied."

Predicts Good Season.

Every club owner at the Minneapolis meeting agreed to observe in a literal sense the club salary limit. The coming season the limit to be paid any club during one month is $1,400. This, says Owner Blume, will be observed or there will be a heavy penalty exacted from the offending club owner.

Last season Duluth spent around $2,200 in monthly salaries and it was freely hinted that Winnipeg was paying about as liberal money to its ball players.

"But, despite the fact that salaries are to be kept within reasonable bounds this season," said President Blume, "we believe that the league will have some good players. Some of the old timers are holding out, it is true, but we figure that there will be plenty of baseball players on the market this season; plenty of men who will be willing to sign for reasonable salaries.

"There will probably be a number of young players on all of the teams. All of the managers expect to have teams of hustling ability."

Richard Bush Is Signed.

Richard Bush, a brother of the famous Leslie Bush of Connie Mack's Athletics, has been signed by Darby O'Brien. The youngster is a pitcher, like "Bullet" Joe, and will be given a trial in the box.

Darby is at the present time after a catcher. While the great second baseman has four receivers on his contract list at the present time, he is seeking a veteran of proven ability. O'Brien and Blume both unite in the declaration that if the player they are after is landed, they will not in the least regret the fact that Meyers of Winona is being held for a large price by Joe Killian.

"I would have liked to have had the salary limit of the clubs of the Northern league increased," declared Mr. Blume. "However, let me tell you that we were fortunate in holding the salary limit at $1,400. Some of the smaller club owners wanted to lower it even more. I think we will secure all the material we need to build a fast team."

"BLAZE O' GLORY" EVENT IS NEXT

John Oldham Making Draw for Eliminated Curling Rinks.

John Oldham is busy on the "blaze o' glory" stuff. This isn't a cocktail, or a fancy work quilt, or a cake or a receipt for a cold; on the other hand it is a draw for an original curling contest.

The energetic secretary of the club proposes that each rink that has been eliminated from all play raise a dollar, by honest means or otherwise, and donate it toward a fund that will go to purchase prizes for the winners in the "Blaze o' Glory" consolation event.

Colie Naughton is a firm friend of Oldham's, and it is believed that he suggested the event, so that his rink could play out the remainder of the season. The Herald rink has its hat in the ring, and may win its first game.

The draw is being completed for the event today. It is expected that the first game may be played tomorrow evening. It will be a large draw, if all of the eliminated rinks come in.

COASTERS ARE INJURED

Sisters Painfully Hurt While Sliding Down Woodland Hill.

Sled Carrying Six Young People Overturns on Car Tracks.

Miss Edna Little, 17-year-old daughter of L. B. Little, 1713 Jefferson street, was badly cut and disfigured about the face, and her sister, Elsie, 18, sustained an injury to her arm, when a bobsled, on which the two sisters and four others were riding, upset and spilled its load last evening on the Winona street hill, Woodland.

The girls were members of a party of six young people who were coasting last evening on Winona street. On a trip down the steep and icy hill, at a breakneck rate of speed, the bobs struck the car tracks on Woodland avenue, the sled was overturned and its occupants spilled. The accident occurred about four blocks from the end of the car line about 8 o'clock. Harold Caulkins, 22, was in charge of the steering apparatus.

The younger of the Little girls received the more severe injury. She was dragged for a short distance by the bobs before the sled collided with the street railway shelter at the side of the road. Her face and head were badly lacerated and she sustained other bruises about the body. She was taken to the residence of Capt. E. R. Brown, 13 West Winona street, nearby, and Dr. F. J. Patton was summoned. The surgeon took two stitches on one of her wounds.

Elsie Little, the older sister, had one of her arms scraped quite badly but was not otherwise injured. Alice Grew, 18, and Christine Hanson, 18, two other girls, who were also on the sled when the accident occurred, were uninjured. William Robinson, 19, sustained a slight injury to his side, and it is understood that Caulkins, who was steering the bobsled, had one leg painfully injured. No bones were broken.

Winona street has been a popular hill for bobbing parties for the last few nights. The sleds have been starting at a point about three blocks up the hill above the car line and ending at a point about three blocks below Woodland avenue. Cars run on the Woodland avenue line on single tracks every twenty minutes. Several other bobs were on the hill last evening, both before and after the accident.

THINKS OPTION LAW UNFAIR

St. Paul Member of Legislature Points Out Defect in Act.

George H. Moeller Predicts Defeat of County Division Bill.

Representative George H. Moeller of St. Paul and Robert Bowman, a leading contractor of the capital city, are among those in Duluth today attending the state convention of Maccabees. Mr. Moeller is captain of Unity Tent No. 8, which put on the degree work last evening.

Mr. Moeller, as a member of the state house of representatives, has been a staunch friend of Duluth and St. Louis county, but does not feel very kindly toward some of the St. Louis county representatives who voted for the county option bill. This bill, Mr. Moeller thoroughly believes, is one of the biggest mistakes for which the state legislature has ever been responsible.

"I do not believe in the county option theory, anyway," said he this morning, "but the bill, put through in the form it is in, is inexcusable and entirely unfair. Take, for instance, the matter of breweries in a county that is dry. The brewer can ship out of the county, but to wholesale his beer in the county that he is supporting by his taxes he must build a warehouse outside of the county, ship to that warehouse and then ship back again into his own county. Could anything be more foolish? We tried to amend the bill to obviate that, but could not get it through. The county option bill in its present form is nothing more than an entering wedge for state-wide prohibition. I was a trifle surprised at John Larimore introducing his state-wide prohibition bill yesterday, but yet I should not be, for Larimore works fast when he starts.

Believes It a Menace.

"I am against county option for the reason that the illicit selling of liquor will be rife, and no matter what regulation will be brought to bear, the 'blind-pigs' and 'speak-easies' will be thick. What is true of other states will be true of this, for we are all human; and the worst of it is that the stuff that will be sold will be of the worst grade, for the blind-pig keepers will have no object in getting the better grade of liquors to cater to trade. I was against the Wallace-Fosseen bill two years ago, on the belief that this abolishing of segregated districts would scatter traffic all over the cities, making one's neighbors uncertain and under suspicion, and causing a great spread of disease. I am not glad of it, but there is no mistake that my prediction came more than true; the conditions are far worse than I looked for. Regulation is far better than elimination in such matters."

Mr. Moeller expressed the belief that county division will fail in the legislature, and also, in discussing the vote to repeal yesterday by the senate of the Elwell road law, said that he believed that attempts to repeal the Elwell or Dunn road laws will be stifled in the house. In these matters Mr. Moeller is in an absolutely independent position, for he has neither roads to improve in his district nor a division of a county to consider locally. He is with Duluth and Northern Minnesota in each.

Mr. Moeller is engaged in the advertising business in St. Paul, and has offices with Leavitt Corning, also a representative. It is regarded as rather unusual that two men, having offices together and engaging in the same line of business, should be elected representatives from the same district. That is what happened in this case, Mr. Moeller and Mr. Corning both being representatives from the Fortieth district.

CRAWLED IN AMONG HENS

West End Citizen Mistakes Chicken Coop for His Home.

The toast convivial proved too strong for one West end citizen last night, who, upon arriving at his home, confused his neighbor's chicken coop with his house.

When Mrs. Andrew McKinnon, living at the corner of Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street, heard her hens squawking in terror, she ran to the telephone and called the police, saying that her choice Plymouth Rocks were being stolen.

Jailer Andrew Wanvick and Officer P. Barber reached the scene in the police emergency just a minute too late, and discovered that a neighbor had gone astray, and had tried to sleep in the chicken coop, but that "everything is all right now."

Another disturbance was heard in the house of the "neighbor" later, according to the jailer, who is not married, but the police did not investigate.

MURCHISON HAS NOT FILED YET

All Other Known Candidates for Commissioner Have Entered Race.

Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, is the only known candidate for the commission who has not yet filed his nominating petitions. Yesterday afternoon R. E. McFarlane officially entered the campaign by filing with City Clerk Palmer.

Up to the present time four candidates have filed their nominations for commissioner, including W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, who is out to succeed himself for the four-year term. Commissioner Murchison recently announced his candidacy and it is expected that he will formally file either tomorrow or Saturday.

Candidates for any municipal office have until Monday night in which to file their nominations. On Tuesday voters will register for the election on April 6 and a second registration will follow on Saturday, March 13.

Mr. McFarlane filed his nomination with seventy-five petitions yesterday afternoon, while Commissioner Hicken filed yesterday morning.

The candidates officially in the race for commissioner are: W. A. Hicken, to succeed himself; Bernard Silberstein, candidate for mayor two years ago; J. A. Farrell, candidate for commissioner two years ago; and R. E. McFarlane. Two commissioners are to be elected for terms of four years each.

GOING BACK TO BROADWAY

Theater Manager Will Pay Fares of Stranded Thespians.

Duluthians Offer to Provide Meals for the Hungry.

Cheered by the prospect of an early return to the lights of "dear old Broadway," members of the Manhattan Musical Comedy company, who have been "stranded" in Duluth since Monday, took their "coffee and" this morning and wondered what their friends would say when they returned to "Main street, America."

Manager W. M. Abrahamson of the Empress theater, destroyed by fire last night, has agreed to advance about $700 in railroad fares to the twenty odd thespians, so that they can return to New York. He held a conference with Attorney R. M. Hughes, who represented Manager M. J. Knill of the Opera company, late yesterday.

Mr. Hughes stated this morning that Manager Abrahamson had agreed to settle up the matter of seeing to it that the company was furnished transportation home, and that the incident would be closed there. Manager Knill will not contest the six weeks' contract, which he alleges was broken.

"Broke" chorus girls and "busted" chorus men were reading up on Fletcherism and other accepted fasting methods yesterday and this morning, in an attempt to tide over until the ghost walked again.

Touched by newspaper stories of the "hard luck," in which the company had played, L. D. Goldberg, 216 East Second street, and David P. O'Brien, 409 West Second street, appointed themselves a relief committee of two and offered to provide meals for those who were "short." Their offer was not accepted, however, by Attorney Hughes, whom they approached regarding the matter of providing "eats."

SUPERIOR PUSH VICE CAMPAIGN.

Superior Police Arrest Another Alleged Resort Keeper.

The vice campaign in Superior is to be pushed with renewed vigor. This morning Winnie Anderson, a well-known character in police circles, was arrested on a warrant issued by District Attorney Archie McKay, charging her with being a keeper of a disorderly house. The Anderson woman was released on $200 bail and will be given a hearing on March 11.

The district attorney stated that he had several other warrants ready which would be served within a few days. All of the warrants, he said, will be state warrants and each, if a conviction is secured, carries with it a state penitentiary sentence.

Dies of Ptomaine Poisoning.

Ptomaine poisoning caused doctors claim, from being fed prepared milk, the death of Samuel, the 6-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Finsland, yesterday afternoon. The child was taken violently ill shortly after being fed the milk at noon. The baby is said to have been in robust health. The funeral was held this afternoon from the family residence, 1608 Tower avenue.

Naughton on Trial.

Joseph Naughton, one of the election judges of the Second precinct of the Fourth ward, was placed on trial today in the superior court on a charge of falsifying election returns. The trial is the outcome of investigations conducted by the district attorney's office following the election last fall.

Indians Are Arraigned.

Nine Indians appeared before the Federal court yesterday on charges of taking liquor on the North Wisconsin reservation. Pleas of guilty were entered by eight and six of them were given suspended sentences. John Green, Jr., was sentenced to sixty days and a fine of $100, and William Halfday was sentenced to six months in prison and a fine of $100. Frank Matchowa entered a plea of not guilty.

SENATE REJECTS WAR RESOLUTIONS

None Meet the Approval of Wisconsin Solons.

Madison, Wis., March 4.—The senate today rejected Senator Bray's resolution extending the legislature's sympathy and encouragement to President Wilson in handling the neutrality problem by a vote of 19 to 9, and also Senator Bosshard's resolution asking congress to stop the exportation of war supplies to belligerent nations, 16 to 12. Senator Bray's substitute to the Bosshard measure which asked that an effective embargo be placed on contraband goods, including food stuffs so that one nation might not take advantage over the other, was defeated with only the author's vote recorded in its favor.

The Carl Hansen assembly resolution memorializing the president to use all peaceful means to end the war was killed without debate.

By a vote of 20 to 7 the senate killed the Vint resolution memorializing congress to prohibit the importation of foodstuffs into the war zone.

Dr. Charles Sutherland of Janesville was confirmed by the senate as a member of state board of health by a unanimous vote.

Reconsideration of the Smith resolution to increase the salary of members of the legislature from $500 biennially to $750 annually was ordered by the assembly, 71 to 15.

The committee on judiciary referred for indefinite postponement the Helm bill to permit the garnishment of salaries of state, county and municipal employes who refuse to pay bills.

A bill giving common councils in cities under special charter the right to fill vacancies in elective offices was passed under suspension of the rules.

BELIEVED TO HAVE SUNK SUBMARINE

Crew of Thordis Will Probably Get Reward of $5,800.

London, March 4.—The statement of the captain of the collier Thordis, which arrived at Weymouth two days ago, that his vessel had rammed and destroyed a German submarine off Beachy Head, appears to have been substantiated.

The captain and crew of the Thordis probably will receive in consequence rewards amounting to $5,800 which had been offered by various agencies to the first merchantman which sank a submarine.

The Thordis went into drydock at Plymouth today. It was then learned that one of her propeller blades had been torn off and that her keel was damaged badly, indicating the force with which the craft struck the submarine.

ONE OF THE HEROES OF CANADIAN CONTINGENT

—Copyright by the Bain News Service.

GUNNER M'PHAIL.

Gunner McPhail of the One Hundred and Seventh company is one of the heroes of the Canadian contingent in France. He was on observation duty, giving range to the gunners when he and his comrades were surrounded by the Germans and captured. They destroyed their instruments and refused to indicate to the Germans where their guns were located. For this refusal they were told they would be shot. They did not know whether the Germans were really in earnest or were trying to frighten them. But while they were under guard, the Canadians got near the German lines and McPhail and his comrade broke from the guard and made their escape amid a hail of bullets. McPhail is now at the Canadian hospital at Le Touquet.

ANGLE TRIAL.

Unable to State Whether Ballou Died of Apoplexy, Says Physician.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 4.—At the trial today of Mrs. Helen M. Angle for manslaughter in connection with the death of Waldo R. Ballou of Stamford, Conn., Dr. Charles H. B. Meade testified that it was impossible to determine from conditions disclosed at the autopsy whether or not Ballou had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

Judge Downs asked whether there was any bruise or mark on the body, which could not be accounted for by a fall down stairs at the building where Mrs. Angle lived. The witness said all marks and bruises could have been made in such a manner."

Grey Makes Statement Concerning Devastation of Belgium.

London, March 4.—"Unless neutral nations are prepared to assist them in throwing the Germans out of Belgium, no suggestions from them in the matter of preventing the further devastation of that country are wanted," said Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, in the house of commons today.

The foreign secretary's statement was made in response to an inquiry from Frederick W. Jowett, whether the government was "willing to invite suggestions from neutrals with a view to avoiding the further devastation of Belgium by the great powers which are contending for its mastery."

Copenhagen Hotel Burns.

London, March 4.—The Hotel D'Angleterre at Copenhagen was destroyed by fire last night, according to a dispatch received today by the Exchange Telegraph company from its correspondent at the Danish capital. There were 200 guests in the house and many of them had narrow escapes. Not a few lost all their personal belongings.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

Patton was summoned. The surgeon took two stitches on one of her wounds.

Elsie Little, the older sister, had one of her arms scraped quite badly but was not otherwise injured. Alice Grew, 18, and Christine Hanson, 18, two other girls, who were also on the sled when the accident occurred, were uninjured. William Robinson, 18, sustained a slight injury to his side, and it is understood that Caulkins, who was steering the bobsled, had one leg painfully injured. No bones were broken.

Winona street has been a popular hill for bobbing parties for the last few nights. The sleds have been starting at a point about three blocks up the hill above the car line and ending at a point about three blocks below Woodland avenue. Cars run on the Woodland avenue line on single tracks every twenty minutes. Several other bobs were on the hill last evening, both before and after the accident.

THINKS OPTION LAW UNFAIR

St. Paul Member of Legislature Points Out Defect in Act.

George H. Moeller Predicts Defeat of County Division Bill.

Representative George H. Moeller of St. Paul and Robert Bowman, a leading contractor of the capital city, are among those in Duluth today attending the state convention of Maccabees. Mr. Moeller is captain of Unity Tent No. 8, which put on the degree work last evening.

Mr. Moeller, as a member of the state house of representatives, has been a staunch friend of Duluth and St. Louis county, but does not feel very kindly toward some of the St. Louis county representatives who voted for the county option bill. This bill, Mr. Moeller thoroughly believes, is one of the biggest mistakes for which the state legislature has ever been responsible.

"I do not believe in the county option theory, anyway," said he this morning, "but the bill, put through in the form it is in, is inexcusable and entirely unfair. Take, for instance, the matter of breweries in a county that is dry. The brewer can ship out of the county, but to wholesale his beer in the county that he is supporting by his taxes he must build a warehouse outside of the county, ship to that warehouse and then ship back again into his own county. Could anything be more foolish? We tried to amend the bill to obviate that, but could not get it through. The county option bill in its present form is nothing more than an entering wedge for state-wide prohibition. I was a little surprised at John Larimore introducing his state-wide prohibition bill yesterday, but yet I should not be, for Larimore works fast when he starts.

Believes It a Menace.

"I am against county option for the reason that the illicit selling of liquor will be rife, and no matter what regulation will be brought to bear, the 'blind-pigs' and 'speak-easies' will be thick. What is true of other states will be true of this, for we are all human; and the worst of it is that the stuff that will be sold will be of the worst grade, for the blind-pig keepers will have no object in getting the better grade of liquors to cater to trade. I was against the Wallace-Fosseen bill two years ago, on the belief that this abolishing of segregated districts would scatter traffic all over the cities, making one's neighbors uncertain and under suspicion, and causing a great spread of disease. I am not glad of it, but there is no mistake that my prediction came more than true; the conditions are far worse than I looked for.

"Regulation is far better than elimination in such matters."

Mr. Moeller expressed the belief that county division will fail in the legislature, and also, in discussing the vote to repeal yesterday by the senate of the Elwell road law, said that he believed that attempts to repeal the Elwell or Dunn road laws will be stifled in the house. In these matters Mr. Moeller is in an absolutely independent position, for he has neither roads to improve in his district nor a division of a county to consider locally. He is with Duluth and Northern Minnesota in each.

Mr. Moeller is engaged in the advertising business in St. Paul, and has offices with Leavitt Corning, also a representative. It is regarded as rather unusual that two men, having offices together and engaging in the same line of business, should be elected representatives from the same district. That is what happened in this case, Mr. Moeller and Mr. Corning both being representatives from the Fortieth district.

CRAWLED IN AMONG HENS

West End Citizen Mistakes Chicken Coop for His Home.

The toast convivial proved too strong for one West end citizen last night, who, upon arriving at his home, confused his neighbor's chicken coop with his house.

When Mrs. Andrew McKinnon, living at the corner of Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street, heard her hens squawking in terror, she ran to the telephone and called the police, saying that her choice Plymouth Rocks were being stolen.

Jailer Andrew Wanvick and Officer P. Barber reached the scene in the police emergency just a minute too late, and discovered that a neighbor had gone astray, and had tried to sleep in the chicken coop, but that "everything is all right now."

Another disturbance was heard in the house of the "neighbor" later, according to the jailer, who is not married, but the police did not investigate.

MURCHISON HAS NOT FILED YET

All Other Known Candidates for Commissioner Have Entered Race.

Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, is the only known candidate for the commission who has not yet filed his nominating petitions. Yesterday afternoon R. E. McFarlane officially entered the campaign by filing with City Clerk Palmer.

Up to the present time four candidates have filed their nominations for commissioner, including W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, who is out to succeed himself for the four-year term. Commissioner Murchison recently announced his candidacy and it is expected that he will formally file either tomorrow or Saturday.

Candidates for any municipal office have until Monday night in which to file their nominations. On Tuesday voters will register for the election on April 6 and a second registration will follow on Saturday, March 13.

Mr. McFarlane filed his nomination with seventy-five petitions yesterday afternoon, while Commissioner Hicken filed yesterday morning.

The candidates officially in the race for commissioner are: W. A. Hicken, to succeed himself; Bernard Silberstein, candidate for mayor two years ago; J. A. Farrell, candidate for commissioner two years ago; and R. E. McFarlane. Two commissioners are to be elected for terms of four years each.

GOING BACK TO BROADWAY

Theater Manager Will Pay Fares of Stranded Thespians.

Duluthians Offer to Provide Meals for the Hungry.

Cheered by the prospect of an early return to the lights of "dear old Broadway," members of the Manhattan Musical Comedy company, who have been "stranded" in Duluth since Monday, took their "coffee and" this morning and wondered what their friends would say when they returned to "Main street, America."

Manager W. M. Abrahamson of the Empress theater, destroyed by fire last night, has agreed to advance about $700 in railroad fares to the twenty odd thespians, so that they can return to New York. He held a conference with Attorney H. M. Hughes, who represented Manager M. J. Knill of the Opera company, late yesterday.

Mr. Hughes stated this morning that Manager Abrahamson had agreed to settle up the matter of seeing to it that the company was furnished transportation home, and that the incident would be closed there. Manager Knill will not contest the six weeks' contract, which he alleges was broken.

"Broke" chorus girls and "busted" chorus men were reading up on Pletcherism and other accepted fasting methods yesterday and this morning, in an attempt to tide over until the ghost walked again.

Touched by newspaper stories of the "hard luck," in which the company had figured, L. D. Goldberg, 216 East Second street, and David P. O'Brien, 409 West Second street, appointed themselves a relief committee of two and offered to provide meals for those who were "short." Their offer was not accepted, however, by Attorney Hughes, whom they approached regarding the matter of providing "eats."

SUPERIOR PUSH VICE CAMPAIGN.

Superior Police Arrest Another Alleged Resort Keeper.

The vice campaign in Superior is to be pushed with renewed vigor. This morning Winnie Anderson, a well-known character in police circles, was arrested on a warrant issued by District Attorney Archie McKay, charging her with being a keeper of a disorderly house. The Anderson woman was released on $200 bail and will be given a hearing on March 11.

The district attorney stated that he had several other warrants ready which would be served within a few days. All of the warrants, he said, will be state warrants and each, if a conviction is secured, carries with it a state penitentiary sentence.

Dies of Ptomaine Poisoning.

Ptomaine poisoning caused, doctors claim, from being fed prepared milk, the death of Samuel, the 6-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Finsland, yesterday afternoon. The child was taken violently ill shortly after being fed the milk at noon. The baby is said to have been in robust health. The funeral was held this afternoon from the family residence, 1608 Tower avenue.

Naughton on Trial.

Joseph Naughton, one of the election judges of the Second precinct of the Fourth ward, was placed on trial today in the superior court on a charge of falsifying election returns. The trial is the outcome of investigations conducted by the district attorney's office following the election last fall.

Indians Are Arraigned.

Nine Indians appeared before the Federal court yesterday on charges of taking liquor on the North Wisconsin reservation. Pleas of guilty were entered by eight and six of them were given suspended sentences. John Green, Jr., was sentenced to sixty days and a fine of $100, and William Halfday was sentenced to six months in prison and a fine of $100. Frank Matchowa entered a plea of not guilty.

SENATE REJECTS WAR RESOLUTIONS

None Meet the Approval of Wisconsin Solons.

Madison, Wis., March 4.—The senate today rejected Senator Bray's resolution extending the legislature's sympathy and encouragement to President Wilson in handling the neutrality problem by a vote of 19 to 9, and also Senator Bosshard's resolution asking congress to stop the exportation of war supplies to belligerent nations, 16 to 12. Senator Bray's substitute to the Bosshard measure which asked that an effective embargo be placed on contraband goods, including food stuffs so that one nation might not take advantage over the other, was defeated with only the author's vote recorded in its favor.

The Carl Hansen assembly resolution memorializing the president to use all peaceful means to end the war was killed without debate.

By a vote of 20 to 7 the senate killed the Vint resolution memorializing congress to prohibit the importation of foodstuffs into the war zone.

Dr. Charles Sutherland of Janesville was confirmed by the senate as a member of state board of health by a unanimous vote.

Reconsideration of the Smith resolution to increase the salary of members of the legislature from $500 biennially to $750 annually was ordered by the assembly, 71 to 15.

The committee on judiciary referred for indefinite postponement the Helm bill to permit the garnishment of salaries of state, county and municipal employes who refuse to pay bills.

A bill giving common councils in cities under special charter the right to fill vacancies in elective offices was passed under suspension of the rules.

BELIEVED TO HAVE SUNK SUBMARINE

Crew of Thordis Will Probably Get Reward of $5,800.

London, March 4.—The statement of the captain of the collier Thordis, which arrived at Weymouth two days ago, that his vessel had rammed and destroyed a German submarine off Beachy Head, appears to have been substantiated.

The captain and crew of the Thordis probably will receive in consequence rewards amounting to $5,800 which had been offered by various agencies to the first merchantman which sank a submarine.

The Thordis went into drydock at Plymouth today. It was then learned that one of her propeller blades had been torn off and that her keel was damaged badly, indicating the force with which the craft struck the submarine.

ANGLE TRIAL.

Unable to State Whether Ballou Died of Apoplexy, Says Physician.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 4.—At the trial today of Mrs. Helen M. Angle for manslaughter in connection with the death of Waldo R. Ballou of Stamford, Conn., Dr. Charles H. B. Meads testified that it was impossible to determine from conditions disclosed at the autopsy whether or not Ballou had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

Judge Downs asked whether there was any bruise or mark on the body, which could not be accounted for by a fall down stairs at the building where Mrs. Angle lived. The witness said all marks and bruises could have been made in such a manner.

WANT NO SUGGESTIONS.

Grey Makes Statement Concerning Devastation of Belgium.

London, March 4.—"Unless neutral nations are prepared to assist them in throwing the Germans out of Belgium, no suggestions from them in the matter of preventing the further devastation of that country are wanted," said Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, in the house of commons today.

The foreign secretary's statement was made in response to an inquiry from Frederick W. Jowett, whether the government was "willing to invite suggestions from neutrals with a view to avoiding the further devastation of Belgium by the great powers which are contending for its mastery."

Copenhagen Hotel Burns.

London, March 4.—The Hotel D'Angleterre at Copenhagen was destroyed by fire last night, according to a dispatch received today by the Exchange Telegraph company from its correspondent at the Danish capital. There were 200 guests in the house and many of them had narrow escapes. Not a few lost all their personal belongings.

ONE OF THE HEROES OF CANADIAN CONTINGENT

—Copyright by the Bain News Service.

GUNNER M'PHAIL.

Gunner McPhail of the One Hundred and Seventh company is one of the heroes of the Canadian contingent in France. He was on observation duty, giving range to the gunners when he and his comrades were surrounded by the Germans and captured. They destroyed their instruments and refused to indicate to the Germans where their guns were located. For this refusal they were told they would be shot. They did not know whether the Germans were really in earnest or were trying to frighten them. But while they were under guard, the Canadians got near the German lines and McPhail and his comrade broke from the guard and made their escape amid a hail of bullets. McPhail is now at the Canadian hospital at Le Touquet.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

DRINK DOWNFALL OF WOMEN!

The greatest cause of commercialized vice, the chief reason for the downfall of women, according to a report of the Wisconsin legislative Anti-Vice Commission, is the use of intoxicating liquors.

And what are they going to do about it? They have made radical proposals for law improvement and better social conditions. No doubt these proposals, if enforced, will do a great deal of good.

But how about the woman who is already a drinker? Laws and better social conditions cannot help her. There is only one thing for her to do. She must take a treatment that will eradicate the alcoholic poison from her system and then the craving for drink will disappear.

We have helped many women to overcome the habit. The NEAL treatment takes only a few days. It is a purely vegetable compound. It cannot have any bad effect and it tends to strengthen and build up the entire system. If you are interested, let us tell you more of our work. Call or write today. Both phones. SAILS ON HIS LAST VOYAGE

Death Comes Without Warning to Veteran Lake Captain.

Murdock McLean Succumbs to Sudden Attack of Heart Failure.

Capt. Murdock McLean of 4324 Gilliat street, Lakeside, died very suddenly between 11 and 13 o'clock last night of heart trouble. He had gone to bed apparently in the best of health and the end came absolutely without warning. Capt. McLean is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Douglas, and two sons, James and Stanley. The two latter are in the woods, near Cook, Minn., and funeral arrangements will not be made until they are heard from. Capt. McLean was a member of a Canadian lodge of Masons and the Independent Order of Foresters.

Capt. McLean was born in Kincardine, Ont., sixty years ago Dec. 4 last, and spent most of his life from boyhood on as a sailor on the Great Lakes. Of late years he has been practically retired, but has filled in for various fleets when officers were needed. His most recent command was the taking of the big passenger steamer South American down the lakes last summer from Duluth when her master died on an up-trip.

Capt. McLean spent most of his marine career in Canadian fleets, and of late years has served off and on in the Booth line. He came to Duluth in 1872 and has, continuously, since then, been a resident of this city. He was one of the best known marine men in this part of the country and was considered one of the most skillful of navigators. A few years ago he took M. H. Alsworth's yacht from Duluth to Florida and has held other important commands requiring advanced knowledge in navigation.

WEST END

EXPECT FIGHT ON MANAGEMENT

Commercial Club Would Have Charge of Garden Contest.

Fireworks are expected tonight at the meeting of the West End Commercial club.

The expected display will, say the members, be all over the question of "Who is going to run the garden contest?" Members of the committee recently appointed have intimated that they will not handle it, and, in fact, will drop it entirely if another citizen, who is said to have already gone ahead on his own initiative in the matter, does not cease his activity. The committee is said to be backed by many of the club members and a resolution will be introduced to have the project abandoned this year.

"The committee that was appointed by the club was given full power to have charge of the garden contest," said a member of the club last night, who is one of the leading business men on the street. "This committee is fully able to handle the situation. Now this other man has visited several of the schools, secured names of children and intends to try to conduct a contest independently of the club. If he persists in this the club members propose to drop the contest proposed under the name of the organization. I can also say that if the contest is dropped by the club that none of the merchants on the street will contribute towards prizes for a contest conducted by an individual."

The club will also hear the report of the banquet committee. The final arrangements will be completed. H. O. Hanson, chairman of the ticket committee, says that practically all of the 200 tickets have been disposed of and that before noon tomorrow all of the tickets would be sold.

DIDN'T ASK THAT JUDGES BE "FIRED"

Club Denies Any Action Against Officials of Fall Election.

The Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club, at a meeting last evening at the Merritt school, disclaimed having taken any part in requesting the city commission to "fire" election judges of the Thirty-fourth precinct and requesting new ones, as stated in yesterday morning's paper.

The club passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, an article was published in the Duluth News Tribune of this date, conveying the idea that this club has been instrumental in causing the change of election judges for the Thirty-fourth voting precinct of the city of Duluth, which must have come about through some misinformation or misunderstanding;

"Therefore, be it resolved, That we hereby disclaim any knowledge whatsoever of any such action taken by this club. That the article published in the Duluth News Tribune this morning was a surprise to the officers and members of this organization, as the question of election judges has never been mentioned at any of our meetings.

"Resolved further, That we repose utmost confidence in our city mayor and commissioners in being able to make proper selections of election judges and have no criticism to offer on account of making other selections, but this resolution is intended only to correct the impression conveyed by the above referred-to newspaper article, and to make known the fact that this club has not filed any complaint against any man who may hitherto have served on said board.

"Dated, Club Room, Duluth, Minn., March 3, 1915.

"P. J. BERGSTROM, "President.
"O. A. WICKLUND, "Secretary."

A delegation of property owners on Coates street requested the club to assist them in getting sewer and gas in the street. The matter will be taken up with the city officials by the club's streets committee.

Commissioner Hicken and City Clerk C. S. Palmer gave short talks on the proposed extension of Superior street from Thirty-fourth avenue west to Forty-ninth avenue. The commissioner also spoke of the proposed fire hall for the district, stating that the department would be in shape to consider a unit of the department for the district probably within another two years.

A delegation of members will attend the meeting of the school board tomorrow night to ask the board to make an addition to the Merritt school building this year. This school is said to be overcrowded and requires at least two more rooms in order to properly handle the attendance.

Settle Will Speak.

T. S. Settle of New York, field secretary for the Playground and Recreation Association of America, will be the principal speaker tomorrow night at the monthly meeting of the Adams Alumni association, to be held in the Adams school, Seventeenth avenue west and Superior street. Mr. Settle will speak on the subject of playgrounds.

The program will also include musical and literary numbers given by members of the society.

West End Briefs.

Rev. J. M. Neivig, pastor of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will speak this evening on "Pastor Russell's Sermon in the Light of the Word of God." The address will be given as a sequel to the sermon given by Pastor Russell.

"The Cure for Unbelief" will be the subject of the midweek sermon to be delivered this evening by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street.

Rice's Point lodge, No. 80, A. O. U. W., will entertain at a smoker for its members at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, this evening.

George O. Sprigman of Houghton, Mich., who has been visiting friends in this end of the city, left for his home last evening.

A. S. Locker of Verndale, Minn., left for Minneapolis last night after spending a week visiting relatives in this end of the city.

LAUDS INSURANCE POLICY OF LODGE

H. D. Frankel Says the Maccabees Give Quick and Sure Relief.

H. D. Frankel of St. Paul, who is acting as publicity man for the Maccabees while they are convened here for their quadrennial convention, is one of the most active men at the big meeting. He has had an interesting career and is well known as a newspaper man, a lawyer and a booster for fraternity.

Mr. Frankel is an optimist regarding fraternal insurance, and points with pride to the record of the Maccabees, who, he says, have an enviable record in assisting their members. Relief always comes surely and quickly he declares. One of the best things about Maccabee insurance Mr. Frankel says is the remarkably low cost of writing policies and the low cost of management. The average cost of writing a policy is less than $4 and the cost of management but $1.20.

Mr. Frankel began his career as a newspaper reporter in St. Paul and rose to the position of city editor on The Daily News. Meanwhile he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He has a natural aptitude for newspaper work, and often does special work for St. Paul papers.

MINING OFFICIAL BIDS IN STOCK

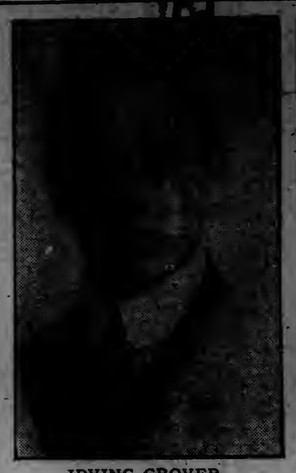
Head of Sonora Company Buys 2,500 Shares From Trustees.

R. P. Burgan of Pittsburg, Pa., president of the Calumet-Sonora Mining & Milling company, successor to the Calumet & Sonora Mining company, has bid in for $82,000 at a trustee's sale, the 2,500 shares of the capital stock of the Calumet & Sonora of Cananea Mining company, which was ordered sold by the district court.

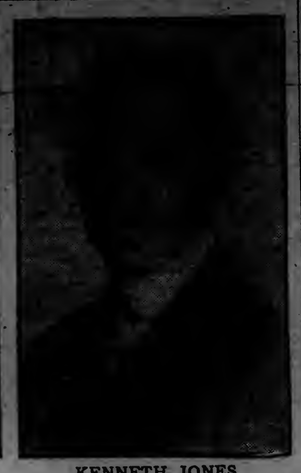
Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon confirmed the report of the sale and authorized the trustees, J. L. Washburn and J. W. Lyder, Jr., representing the bondholders of the Calumet & Sonora Mining company, to execute bills of sale or other evidences of title that may be necessary in passing the stock to the possession of the purchaser.

The stock in question was held by the trustees to guarantee that interest on a $100,000 bond issue would be paid. The bonds were floated when the Calumet & Sonora Mining company undertook to develop certain property in Mexico. When the interest became due, the company defaulted and the bondholders, through the trustees, applied to the court for an order authorizing the sale of the stock held as collateral.

CADET COL'S WANTS "KRAGS"; STUDENTS SELECT OFFICERS



IRVING GROVER.



KENNETH JONES.

After organizing two companies and naming their officers yesterday afternoon, the members of the Central high school cadet corps decided to ask the United States war office for the old Krag-Jorgenson rifles formerly used in the army. A letter will be sent to Congressman Miller, asking him to arrange for the loan.

At the election yesterday Kenneth Jones was named first lieutenant and Willard Thorp second lieutenant of Company A, while Irving Grover and Galen Pearsons were named first and second lieutenant, respectively, of Company B.

C. C. Jones, drill master of the cadet corps, announced at the meeting that from now on two drills will be held every week, with the two companies alternating. In addition a school for commissioned officers will also be conducted by Mr. Jones.

Non-commissioned officers will be named within the next week, Mr. Jones announced.

TWO MEN CHARGED WITH STEALING HOGS, KILLED

Clarendon, Ark., March 4.—Jeff Mansel and J. M. Cady, two white men charged with stealing hogs, were taken from officers and shot to death late yesterday, according to a report confirmed here by Sheriff Milwee. The affair occurred in a wild and remote section, and the news did not reach here until today.

According to the reports, the officers with their prisoners, were paddling up a bayou when a command from a clump of bushes to stop came at the point of the muzzles of shotguns. The officers landed and departed, leaving the prisoners. Later they heard shots and returned to find their prisoners dead.

The officers saw none of the attacking party, the sheriff said.

Budd, Superior, Wis., were painfully injured and a dozen passengers slightly hurt when Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha passenger train No. 6 collided head-on with the Great Northern railroad's Gopher Limited from Duluth in the union station yards here last night. Confusion in train orders was given as the cause of the accident. Neither train was seriously damaged.

STATE AID IS $68,688.

County's Share of School Fund Is Announced.

St. Louis county's share of the March 1915 of state school funds will be $68,688.90, according to a notification which County Auditor Halden received yesterday from C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of schools. The figure is computed on a rate of $2.10 for 32,709 pupils entitled to share in the fund. Of the total amount, Duluth city schools will receive as their share $28,963.20. The number of children entitled to apportionment is 13,792. The money will be available March 31. Last year the county share in the March apportionment was $28,811.20. Apportionments are made twice a year, in March and October.

WILL PAY $250 FOR INJURY.

Court Approves Settlement Made By Candy Company.

District Judge Fesler yesterday approved a settlement for personal injuries, which had been effected between the National Candy company and Abraham Winer, who brought suit for $1,000 against the company and Erick Olson for the benefit of his 8-year-old daughter, Stella Winer. The little girl was run over by a horse owned by the candy company and driven by Olson. When the accident occurred, she was coasting on a sled on Lake avenue north at Fifth street on Jan. 9 last. Her left leg was fractured. The girl's father acepted $250 as settlement for the injuries.

Montana Editor Jailed.

Great Falls, Mont., March 4.—F. W. Walden must serve twelve months and one day and pay $200 fine because he presumed to print in a paper which he issued for a short time at Sumatra an article which the court held was extremely obscene and obnoxious to public morals. Federal Judge Bourquin declared from the bench the newspapers exert so great an influence on public morals that such liberties by editors could not be countenanced.

The shopping-tour contest featuring Miss Doris Olsson, the charming leading lady of the Baldwin Players, which was opened in The Herald's issue of Monday evening, was a tremendous success.

Hundreds of Herald subscribers, eager to win one of the ten prizes of free tickets to "Tess of the Storm Country," at the Lyceum this week, which are to be given away to the winners, sent in their short stories vividly describing the imaginary shopping tour of Miss Olsson. It included all the advertisers on The Herald's Shopping Tour page last Monday night. The contest letters began arriving early Tuesday morning and by 5 o'clock last night when the contest closed the Shopping Tour editor was swamped with the indux. With an assistant the editor delved into the avalanche of correspondence working until late into the night to determine the winners.

Included in the returns that came in were a number of well written stories so good that it was exceedingly difficult for the editor to choose the winners. Even children 10 years of age competed for the prizes.

The subject of the story "The Shopping Tour of Miss Doris Olsson" in "Tess of the Storm Country" will long linger in the mind of the editor.

Following is the winning story submitted by Miss Rose M. Dunphy:

The Shopping Tour of Miss Doris Olsson By Miss Rose M. Dunphy.

"That is a good idea," remarked the manager of the Cartercar automobile agency to his assistant, "and I think I'll try it today."

"The advertisement is what we want," the assistant added, as he placed the morning mail on the manager's desk, "and nearly every person in town knows Miss Olsson of the Baldwin Players."

"Well, I'll call her up this morning and suggest the idea to her," said the manager resuming his perusal of the mail, "by the way," he continued, "have Flatt polish up the new car and hang a clean pennant on it, and also tell him to 'doll up,' as he will do the driving."

The Baldwin Players is the name of a stock company which is playing in the city and Miss Olsson is the leading lady, recently engaged by the company, and very popular with all Duluth's theatergoers. The idea, the manager had in mind, was suggested by his assistant, and that was to allow the free use of a car to some prominent and popular person for an afternoon. Miss Doris Olsson was mentioned by Mr. Flatt, a chauffeur of the establishment, he also being a secret admirer of the actress, and without a moment's hesitation on the manager's part her name was written down as the first person to have the use of a car.

Miss Olsson, on being asked, readily consented to use the car for the following afternoon, having been informed that it was hers to use as she saw fit. Now, as she had considerable shopping to do, she might as well do it all that afternoon with the aid of an automobile. So it was agreed that the car and driver would call for her at 2 o'clock, and that she was to have undisputed authority over both until 5 o'clock.

Prompt to the minute, a bright new Cartercar was driven up to the curb in front of one of Duluth's leading hotels. Just as prompt as the car had been, was Miss Olsson, who appeared in the doorway as the car was brought to a standstill. With a smile and a nod, both so sweet and charming, that they made the driver forget to open the car door, she approached, and after much fumbling on the driver's part, she boarded the car. In a rather embarrassed manner and in a faltering voice, for he had been a devoted theatergoer, since her initial appearance, he asked what might be her pleasure.

"First," she said, "drive me to the Peerless laundry on Third avenue east and First street, for I want to leave some gloves to be cleaned."

So, with scarcely an audible sound, the car with its fair occupant moved off into the crowded traffic of Duluth's main thoroughfare. As they passed along Superior street, they excited no little attention. Perhaps it was the newness of the car, or it's big emblazoned pennant, but that is just perhaps—truly some of Duluth's busiest business men never noticed the car, but saw, as one expressed it, 'a mighty sweet looking girl.' Turning up Third avenue east, they were soon in front of Duluth's leading laundry.

Here, Miss Olsson disembarked, but soon emerged, with her face wreathed in smiles, no doubt at the kind attention given her by the employes.

"Now to Le Berious' green house on East Third street between Ninth and Tenth avenues east," she ordered, after being comfortably seated.

Putting on a burst of speed, a little demonstration of the car's ability, they soon drew up in front of their destination, and Miss Olsson was soon to view Duluth's most beautiful floral establishment.

With many words of admiration for the sights that greeted her eyes, she purchased a lovely corsage bouquet and also ordered a large fern to be sent later to her hotel. After lingering among the flowers and paying Mr. Le Berious a compliment on achieving such a success with his flowers, Miss Olsson reluctantly departed from the store and again was on her way.

"Back down town, as I want to do some shopping," she instructed the driver.

Miss Olsson, on stepping from the car, informed her driver that she would be detained about a half hour or so and, if he wished, he could consider that length of time as his own. Blushingly he told her that he would just as soon wait, feeling more than pleased at her consideration of him.

A short time was spent in having a Harper shampoo at Miss Horrigan's hair shop, which is on the second floor of the Oak Hall building. At the completion of this operation she crossed the hall and entered the tailoring shop conducted by Salie. The final fitting of the suit was soon completed. After this she returned to the car and directed a drive to Stone's bookstore, at 221 West Superior street.

Copies of the Red Book and Life were purchased from Mr. Stone, who waited on the actress himself, and, being pleased with the attention given her, she again returned to the car. Abandoning the car for a time, Miss Olsson crossed the street and entered Bayha & Co.'s furniture store, where she had previously seen an electric dresser lamp.

There was a tumultous rush to wait on her, as Miss Olsson entered, which was quieted only by the manager of the store, himself, waiting on her. She was shown a very large assortment of lamps, but chose the erstwhile coveted one that suited her taste. The lamp was to be taken along and the manager, trusting no one, wrapped it himself and carried it across the street to the car. This marked attention was not passed unperceived by Miss Olsson, who beamed a smile of thanks on the manager and, with a hurried command to the driver, drove away, leaving him standing bare-headed in the street.

On passing the First National bank, Miss Olsson, glancing at the clock suspended on the building, noticed that it was only 3:30 o'clock. This left her one hour and a half for further use of the car. One hour and thirty minutes is a long time for riding, especially in the winter time, when most of the streets are in bad shape. This fact did not seem to be considered by Miss Olsson, who at once instructed the driver to stop at Zimmerman Bros.' kodak store, at 330 West Superior street.

Miss Olsson found, to her delight, that she could borrow a camera to use that afternoon, only she would have to purchase the films there. This she did and the clerk soon had the film placed in the camera ready for use. Thanking them for their kindness, she again entered the car, happy as a child with a new-found plaything.

"Can you drive me to that park out in the western part of the city, the one with the large brook?" she asked the driver.

"I forget the name," she continued, "Lincoln park," he suggested, "I guess that is the one you mean, and driving is pretty good out there. Pavement nearly all the way."

Consenting to his suggestion, she soon found herself speeding along toward the western part of the city. The day still continued bright with a touch of spring, and Miss Olsson just sat back and drank in the freshness with long drawn breaths, as they rapidly spun over the smooth hard pavement. The ride was very exhilarating and Miss Olsson's spirits knew no bounds, and on catching sight of the Minnesota Tea company's window, full of peanuts, she had the driver stop, while she went into the store and bought a bag of them. As the Minnesota Tea company's store is at 1908 West Superior street, the half mile to the park was soon covered.

She found the park an ideal spot for picture taking and took snap shots of the stream and it's ice covered banks, and of the trees, with their snow-covered backgrounds. She asked the driver to pose for a picture, which he hesitatingly did, and what a picture it made! The bright new car, the big pennant, with the name Cartercar emblazoned on it, the snowy background and the proud driver, with his shy, cheery grin. It isn't very day one can have a real actress take his picture! The peanuts were brought out and many eaten. It surely was a real treat for the driver.

Passing down Tenth avenue, they were again speeding along on Superior street toward the shopping center. On passing Toben's market at 121 East Superior street, a sign in the window caught Miss Olsson's eye, and she accordingly asked the driver to turn around and go back to the store. The sign read "we roast for large parties in our ovens," and then enumerated the different kinds of meats.

"I should like two roasted chickens, and have them ready to be served at 11 o'clock this evening," Miss Olsson ordered.

"Yes, ma'm," replied Bill Toben, who recognized the actress, he also being a regular patron of the theater, "and I suppose you wish them to be sent to the Lyceum?"

"Yes," she replied; "I am giving a lunch for the company tonight on the stage after the play, and as it is a surprise don't the order to be at the stage door exactly 11 o'clock."

Mr. Toben having promised to fulfill her order to the letter, Miss Olsson once more returned to the car, feeling sure, on catching sight of the devout look in the eyes, that he would keep his word. The next stop was Silberstein & Bondy's big department store, and as the store is just west of Lake avenue, it is only a moment's ride from Toben's market.

In Silberstein & Bondy's, Miss Olsson purchased a few yards of brocade for another new suit which she was having made, and on being shown some laces and neckwear, which were of the latest European creation, fell in love with a veil and a neckpiece, which she forthwith bought. Having her purchases securely under her arm, she wended her way out of the large store back to the car. The driver was next instructed to stop at 123 West Superior street, where Sorensen's shoe store is located.

Here, as the walking had been bad, Miss Olsson bought a pair of light rubbers, and also looked at some new pumps, which were on display. From Sorensen's shop, she ordered the driver to stop in front of the Oak Hall building, which is on the corner of Second avenue west and Superior street.

It was nearing the hour of five when the car drew up in front of Miss Olsson's hotel, and, after gathering her parcels, she alighted. She showered thanks and compliments on the driver before she withdrew into the hotel, and left a very "fussed" young man to pursue his way back to the garage.

For a long time to come, the chauffeur will have pleasant memories of the afternoon he spent with Duluth's most popular actress.

Even if one should stop at the Cartercar garage, at 124 First avenue west, he will find the trend of the conversation is, at this late day, about the ride that Mr. Flatt gave Miss Doris Olsson. And if one is to look from his seat in the parquet to the railing that guards the balcony, he will see a head resting there, which belongs to the driver, as he is still a devoted theatergoer.

fact that in 1910 the interstate commerce commission, in denying advances at that time, had said that if the then fears of the carriers should be subsequently realized, the commission "will not hesitate to give its sanction to increases which will be reasonable." These fears, Mr. Wright said, had been "more than realized."

The case would not be presented, he explained, as the application of any single road, as the question did not depend either upon the prosperity of the strongest road or the needs of the weakest, "but upon the return of the prosperity of all the roads."

Grain, grain products, live stock, fresh meats and packing house products, coal, hay, fruits, vegetables and cotton piece goods were named by the attorney as the principal commodities upon which the advance was sought. These, he said, had been treated separately "with a view of establishing a more equitable relation of rates by advancing those which were too low."

Mr. Thorne said that among the organizations which would oppose the rate increase was the American National Livestock association, the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative associations, the National Broom Manufacturers' association, the Corn Belt Meat Packers' association and several hundred firms.

The railroads will continue their presentation of the case until March 30, when the shippers will be heard.

Enters Protest.

Entering a protest against the increases asked, Mr. Thorne in a preliminary statement to the commission, said the increases would be approximately 10 per cent and would add to the roads' revenue $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually. Mr. Thorne also outlined the basis of the shippers' opposition to the proposed increases. He asserted that sufficient time had not been allowed for an investigation by the shippers and that later more time would be asked.

"No case between private citizens ever tried before this commission, or before any other commission or court or tribunal of any character in recorded history, has involved such a stupendous sum of money as that which is at stake in this proceeding," said Mr. Thorne.

"Though our investigation has not been completed that which we have to offer will show conclusively as to representative railroad companies in this territory.

"That the credit of these Western railway companies is better than that of representative companies in any other line of business in the United States.

"That the depression of the past year was not due to freight or passenger rates, was not peculiar to the railroad industry, but applied to business generally throughout the world.

Earned More Than Ever.

"That, disregarding extremely prosperous and extremely lean years, which come to all business, these Western railway companies during recent ordinary normal years have earned more both gross and net, per mile of line and per train, than ever before in their history.

"That these companies have been able to maintain their properties during recent years at a higher standard than ever before in their history; and they have also set aside large sums of money out of earnings for betterments and improvements and outside investments, which should have been made from capital.

"Tersely stated, the issues in this case center around the one question: who shall pay for the additions and betterments to railroad property? The public interests demand better service, safer transportation and improved facilities, but they also demand that the railroads themselves shall build these improvements and the public will pay a reasonable return on their value. We want these betterments, but justice demands that we shall not pay for their construction and then pay an annual return to the railroads on what we build."

The first witness called to the stand was C. E. Schaff, president of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway company.

FLORIST SHOP FIRE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

at $3,000, with $1,000 insurance. His stock was a total loss.

Frank Melvin, proprietor of the shoe store, was unable to estimate his loss, although he believed that it would run from $3,000 to $4,000, only partly covered by insurance. A new stock of leather, stored in the basement, worth $1,000, was totally destroyed.

The Gregory company, with John A. Stephenson & Co., owns the building, which was valued at $15,000. The loss on the building will aggregate about $10,000 and there is $8,000 insurance.

The Gregory company is a holding company, of which Leon E. Lum, 1103 East First street, is the principal member.

At 4:52 a. m. a box alarm was turned in by the watchman, who had been away from the property for about half an hour, and who returned to find the place a mass of flames. When Chief Wilson, with Engine Company No. 3, reached the structure the fire was so far advanced that little could be saved. A two-eleven alarm, turned in four minutes after the first one, brought out apparatus from all the companies except those in the outlying districts.

Three hours later the place was gutted, the last piece of apparatus reporting in at 8:22 a. m., an unusually short stay for a blaze of that size.

After an investigation this morning, Assistant Chief Wilson stated that the blaze probably had originated in the basement of the second store, although the building was so badly gutted that it was hard to make a definite report in the matter.

EMPRESS IS GUTTED BY THE FLAMES

pany in musical comedy. The company was not a success and the house has been dark since Monday, March 1, when Manager Abrahamson withdrew the contract.

Started in Paint Room.

Assistant Chief Wilson stated this morning that the blaze probably originated in a paint room, located in the basement, and that after the usual investigation had been made by the local department, it might be taken under advisement by the state fire marshal, if he thought it was advisable.

The place was deserted when the fire started. Mr. Abrahamson having left the building about 9:30 o'clock to go to another theater which he operates in the city. William Madigan, janitor, is said to have left the place but a short time before the fire was discovered, but could not account for the blaze.

The Empress was first opened in the fall of 1905. It was then known as the Bijou theater. The Sullivan-Considine syndicate took over the house and conducted it for six years, Manager Abrahamson assuming the ownership two years ago.

Duluth's new $12,000 aerial truck was used for the first time last night, when the flames burst through the roof of the building and threatened adjoining property. Commissioner W. A. Hicken of the division of public safety, watched the work of the new apparatus and expressed himself as highly satisfied with the way in which the blaze was handled.

When the fire was discovered a crowd of nearly 5,000 gathered to look on, blocking street car traffic for more than an hour.

Save Their Trunks.

Quick work on the part of members of the Manhattan Opera company saved their trunks, which were in the rear of the building and which had not been removed since Monday, when the show was disbanded. Gowns, owned by Miss Mabel Day, prima donna, were damaged slightly by water.

Work of rebuilding the playhouse will start in the near future, according to Manager Abrahamson, who says he intends to improve upon the former equipment and decorations, with the idea of reopening as soon as the work is completed.

Arrangements for a tabloid offering to have been presented starting Sunday, were canceled this morning.

DAYTON CASE IS DROPPED

Committee Says It Would Be Useless to Impeach Judge.

Conduct Reprehensible But He Cannot Be Convicted.

Washington, March 4.—Impeachment proceedings against Alston G. Dayton, Federal judge in the northern district of West Virginia, were dropped by the house judiciary committee yesterday by a vote of 11 to 4. A majority report, drafted by the subcommittee, which investigated charges against Judge Dayton, held that while his conduct in some instances had been "reprehensible" there was "little possibility of maintaining them to a conclusion of guilt." The minority report, drawn by Chairman McGillicuddy and recommending impeachment, was rejected.

The majority report drawn by Representatives Gardner and Danforth concluded:

"This evidence shows many matters of individual bad taste on the part of Judge Dayton, some not of that high standard of judicial ethics which should crown the Federal judiciary, but a careful consideration of all evidence and circumstances convinces us that there is little possibility of maintaining to a conclusion of guilt the charges made and impels us therefore to recommend that there be no further proceedings."

Gave Aid and Advice.

The report found that while Judge Dayton had not "conspired with corporations and individuals to bring about the removal from office" of his predecessor, he "was fully informed of the investigation of the official and private life of Judge Jackson, and gave aid and advice to those in charge of the investigation."

The report declared the evidence did not support charges that Judge Dayton had shown marked favoritism to "certain corporations having extensive business in his court" or had "abused his power and influence as a judge to further the interests of his son, Arthur S. Dayton."

As to charges of prejudice against labor organizations, the report said that in cases involving these organizations, "Judge Dayton's manner was heated and impassioned, he was laboring under much emotional excitement, and his conduct generally was that of one who had prejudiced the cases before him."

Representative McGillicuddy's minority report agreed with the majority's findings of fact, but set forth that the findings "warrant further proceedings looking to impeachment."

TURKS SAY FORTS ARE IMPREGNABLE

Embassy Officials Declare That Constantinople Is Safe.

Berlin, via London, March 4.—Attaches of the Turkish embassy here profess to be unconcerned regarding the bombarding of the Dardanelles forts by the great allied fleet. They declare the fortifications are impregnable, that the landing of troops at the entrance to the straits is impossible and that any attempt to land a force at some point along the shore of the gulf of Saros would require more men than the allies can concentrate, leaving out of consideration the strong Turkish forces stationed at all threened points.

The Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung sends his paper an interview with Enver Pasha in which the chief of the Turkish general staff is said to have declared that the damage to the outer forts was less than had been reported but that these forts are the oldest of the entire line and their early reduction always has been expected if a serious attack were made upon the Dardanelles. The allied fleet, he declared, has yet to reach the real line of defense.

A BRIEF STATEMENT OF FACTS:

May, 1902 —"I suffered three years with bronchial affection. I had got so weak I had lost my voice. My friends gave me up. I was persuaded to try Peruna."

April 2, 1904 —"After taking Peruna I feel well, eat hearty, sleep soundly, weigh as much as I ever did. Do work on my farm."

Sept. 22, 1906 —"I am a great friend of Peruna. I am here today with my family because of Peruna.

Nov. 22, 1909 —"Peruna gave me back my life ten years ago. I am certainly thankful.

Jan. 13, 1910 —"I shall ever be ready to speak in praise of Peruna. My cure was almost miraculous."

Sept. 5, 1911 —"I feel that Peruna has been the means of prolonging my life for more than ten years."

Jan. 2, 1913 —"I trust that Peruna may prove a blessing to many, as it has to me."

The above are but the briefest extracts from long and enthusiastic letters, which we have received from this distinguished clergyman.

In his first letter he said: "I had tried the treatment of several doctors, also home remedies, but they failed and all hope had gone. My friends, like myself, thought I was in the last stages of bronchial disease. My daughter brought me a bottle of Peruna and plead with me to try it. I had got so weak that I had lost my voice. I thought it was of no use."

Who can doubt but that Peruna saved his life?

The shopping-tour contest featuring Miss Doris Olsson, the charming leading lady of the Baldwin Players, which was opened in The Herald's issue of Monday evening, was a tremendous success.

Hundreds of Herald subscribers, eager to win one of the ten prizes of free tickets to "Tess of the Storm Country," at the Lyceum this week, which are to be given away to the winners, sent in their short stories vividly describing the imaginary shopping tour of Miss Olsson. It included all the advertisers on The Herald's Shopping Tour page last Monday night. The contest letters began arriving early Tuesday morning and by 5 o'clock last night when the contest closed the Shopping Tour editor was swamped with the influx. With an assistant the editor delved into the avalanche of correspondence working until late into the night to determine the winners.

Included in the returns that came in were a number of well written stories so good that it was exceedingly difficult for the editor to choose the winners. Even children 10 years of age competed for the prizes.

The subject of the story "The Shopping Tour of Miss Doris Olsson" in "Tess of the Storm Country" will long linger in the mind of the editor.

Following is the winning story submitted by Miss Rose M. Dunphy:

The Shopping Tour of Miss Doris Olsson By Miss Rose M. Dunphy.

"That is a good idea," remarked the manager of the Carterear automobile agency to his assistant, "and I think I'll try it today."

"The advertisement is what we want," the assistant added, as he placed the morning mail on the manager's desk, "and nearly every person in town knows Miss Olsson of the Baldwin Players."

"Well, I'll call her up this morning and suggest the idea to her," said the manager resuming his perusal of the mail, "by the way," he continued, "have Platt polish up the new car and hang a clean pennant on it, and also tell him to 'doll up,' as he will do the driving."

The Baldwin Players is the name of a stock company which is playing in the city and Miss Olsson is the leading lady, recently engaged by the company, and very popular with all Duluth's theatergoers. The idea, the manager had in mind, was suggested by his assistant, and that was to allow the free use of a car to some prominent and popular person of an effective. Miss Doris Olsson was mentioned by Mr. Platt, a chauffeur of the establishment, he also being a secret admirer of the actress, and without a moment's hesitation on the manager's part her name was written down as the first person to have the use of a car.

Miss Olsson, on being asked, readily consented to use the car for the following afternoon, having been informed that it was here to use as she saw fit. Now, as she had considerable shopping to do, she might as well do it all that afternoon with the aid of an automobile. So it was agreed that the car and driver would call for her at 2 o'clock, and that she was to have undisputed authority over both until 5 o'clock.

Prompt to the minute, a bright new Carterear was driven up to the curb in front of one of Duluth's leading hotels, just as prompt as the car had been, was Miss Olsson, who appeared in the doorway as the car was brought to a standstill. With a smile and a nod, both so sweet and charming, that they made the driver forget to open the car door, she approached, and after much fumbling on the driver's part, she boarded the car. In a rather embarrassed manner and in a faltering voice, for he had been a devoted theatergoer, since her initial appearance, he asked what might be her pleasure.

"First," she said, "drive me to the Peerless laundry on Third avenue east and First street, for I want to leave some gloves to be cleaned."

So, with scarcely an audible sound, the car with its fair occupant moved off into the crowded traffic of Duluth's main thoroughfare. As they passed along Superior street, they excited no little attention. Perhaps it was the newness of the car, or it's big emblazoned pennant, but that is just perhaps—truly some of Duluth's busiest business men never noticed the car, but saw, as one expressed it, 'a mighty sweet looking girl.' Turning up Third avenue east, they were soon in front of Duluth's leading laundry.

Here, Miss Olsson disembarked, but soon emerged, with her face wreathed in smiles, no doubt at the kind attention given her by the employes.

"Now to Le Berious' green house on East Third street between Ninth and Tenth avenues east," she ordered, after being comfortably seated.

Putting on a burst of speed, a little demonstration of the car's ability, they soon drew up in front of their destination, and Miss Olsson was soon to view Duluth's most beautiful floral establishment.

With many words of admiration for the sights that greeted her eyes, she purchased a lovely corsage bouquet and also ordered a large fern to be sent later to her hotel. After lingering among the flowers and paying Mr. Le Berious a compliment on achieving such a success with his flowers, Miss Olsson reluctantly departed from the store and again was on her way.

"Back down town, as I want to do some shopping," she instructed the driver.

Miss Olsson, on stepping from the car, informed her driver that she would be detained about a half hour or so and, if he wished, he could consider that length of time as his own. Blushingly he told her that he would just as soon wait, feeling more than pleased at her consideration of him.

A short time was spent in having a Harper shampoo at Miss Horrigan's hair shop, which is on the second floor of the Oak Hall building. At the completion of this operation she crossed the hall and entered the tailoring shop conducted by Salie. The final fitting of the suit was soon completed. After this she returned to the car and directed a drive to Stone's bookstore, at 221 West Superior street.

Copies of the Red Book and Life were purchased from Mr. Stone, who waited on the actress himself, and, being pleased with the attention given her, she again returned to the car. Abandoning the car for a time, Miss Olsson crossed the street and entered Bayha & Co.'s furniture store, where she had previously seen an electric dresser lamp.

There was a tumultous rush to wait on her, as Miss Olsson entered, which was quieted only by the manager of the store, himself, waiting on her. She was shown a very large assortment of lamps, but chose the erstwhile coveted one that suited her taste. The lamp was to be taken along and the manager, trusting no one, wrapped it himself and carried it across the street to the car. This marked attention was not passed unperceived by Miss Olsson, who beamed a smile of thanks on the manager and, with a hurried command to the driver, drove away, leaving him standing, bare-headed in the street.

On passing the First National bank, Miss Olsson, glancing at the clock suspended on the building, noticed that it was only 3:30 o'clock. This left her one hour and a half for further use of the car. One hour and thirty minutes is a long time for riding, especially in the winter time, when most of the streets are in bad shape. This fact did not seem to be considered by Miss Olsson, who at once instructed the driver to stop at Zimmerman Bros.' kodak store, at 330 West Superior street.

Miss Olsson found, to her delight, that she could borrow a camera to use that afternoon, only she would have to purchase the films there. This she did and the clerk soon had the film placed in the camera ready for use. Thanking them for their kindness, she again entered the car, happy as a child with a new-found plaything.

"Can you drive me to that park out in the western part of the city, the one with the large brook?" she asked the driver.

"I forget the name," she continued, "Lincoln park," he suggested, "I guess that is the one you mean, and driving is pretty good out there. Pavement nearly all the way."

Consenting to his suggestion, she soon found herself speeding along toward the western part of the city. The day still continued bright with a touch of spring, and Miss Olsson just sat back and drank in the freshness with long drawn breaths, as they rapidly sped over the smooth hard pavement. The ride was very exhilarating and Miss Olsson's spirits knew no bounds, and on catching sight of the Minnesota Tea company's window, full of peanuts, she had the driver stop, while she went into the store and bought a bag of them. As the Minnesota Tea company's store is at 1908 West Superior street, the half mile to the park was soon covered.

She found the park an ideal spot for picture taking and took snap shots of the stream and it's ice covered banks, and of the trees, with their snow-covered backgrounds. She asked the driver to pose for a picture, which he, hesitatingly did, and what a picture it made! The bright new car, the big pennant, with the name Carterear emblazoned on it, the snowy background and the proud driver, with his shy, cheery grin. It isn't very day one can have a real actress take his picture. The peanuts were brought out and many eaten. It surely was a real treat for the driver.

Passing down Tenth avenue, they were again speeding along on Superior street toward the shopping center. On passing Toben's market at 121 East Superior street, a sign in the window caught Miss Olsson's eye, and she accordingly asked the driver to turn around and go back to the store. The sign read "we roast for large parties in our ovens," and then enumerated the different kinds of meats.

"I should like two roasted chickens, and have them ready to be served at 11 o'clock this evening," Miss Olsson ordered.

"Yes, Gran'," replied Bill Toben, who recognized the actress, he also being a regular patron of the theater, "and I suppose you wish them to be sent to the Lyceum?"

"Yes," she replied; "I am giving a lunch for the company tonight on the stage after the play, and as it is a surprise, I want the order to be at the stage door at exactly 11 o'clock."

Mr. Toben having promised to fulfill her order to the letter, Miss Olsson once more returned to the car, feeling sure, on catching sight of the devout look in Bill's eyes, that he would keep his word. The next stop was Silberstein & Bondy's big department store, and as this store is just west of Lake avenue, it is only a moment's ride from Toben's market.

In Silberstein & Bondy's, Miss Olsson purchased a few yards of brocade for another new suit which she was having made, and on being shown some laces and neckwear, which were of the latest European creation, fell in love with a veil and a neckpiece, which she forthwith bought. Having her purchases securely under her arm, she wended her way out of the large store back to the car. The driver was next instructed to stop at 123 West Superior street, where Sorensen's shoe store is located.

Here, as the walking had been bad, Miss Olsson bought a pair of light rubbers, and also looked at some new pumps, which were on display. From Sorensen's shop, she ordered the driver to stop in front of the Oak Hall building, which is on the corner of Second avenue west and Superior street.

It was nearing the hour of five when the car drew up in front of Miss Olsson's hotel, and, after gathering her parcels, she alighted. She showered thanks and compliments on the driver before she withdrew into the hotel, and left a very "fussed" young man to pursue his way back to the garage.

For a long time to come, the chauffeur will have pleasant memories of the afternoon he spent with Duluth's most popular actress.

Even if one should stop at the Carterear garage, at 124 First avenue west, he will find the trend of the conversation is at this late day, about the ride that Mr. Platt gave Miss Doris Olsson. And if one is to look from his seat in the parquet to the railing that guards the balcony, he will see a head resting there, which belongs to the driver, as he is still a devoted theatergoer.

fact that in 1910 the interstate commerce commission, in denying advances at that time, had said that if the then fears of the carriers should be subsequently realized, the commission "will not hesitate to give its sanction to increases which will be reasonable." These fears, Mr. Wright said, had been "more than realized."

The case would not be presented, he explained, as the application of any single road, as the question did not depend either upon the prosperity of the strongest road or the needs of the weakest, "but upon the return of the prosperity of all the roads."

Grain, grain products, live stock, fresh meats and packing house products, coal, hay, fruits, vegetables and cotton piece goods were named by the attorney as the principal commodities upon which the advance was sought. These, he said, had been treated separately "with a view of establishing a more equitable relation of rates by advancing those which were too low."

Mr. Thorne said that among the organizations which would oppose the rate increase was the American National Livestock association, the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative associations, the National Broom Manufacturers' association, the Corn Belt Meat Packers' association and several hundred firms.

The railroads will continue their presentation of the case until March 30, when the shippers will be heard.

Enters Protest.

Entering a protest against the increases asked, Mr. Thorne in a preliminary statement to the commission, said the increases would be approximately 10 per cent and would add to the roads' revenue $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually. Mr. Thorne also outlined the basis of the shippers' opposition to the proposed increases. He asserted that sufficient time had not been allowed for an investigation by the shippers and that later more time would be asked.

"No case between private citizens ever tried before this commission, or before any other commission or court or tribunal of any character in recorded history, has involved such a stupendous sum of money as that which is at stake in this proceeding," said Mr. Thorne.

"Though our investigation has not been completed that which we have so far will show conclusively as to representative railroad companies in this territory.

"That the credit of these Western railway companies is better than that of representative companies in any other line of business in the United States.

"That the depression of the past year was not due to freight or passenger rates, was not peculiar to the railroad industry, but applied to business generally throughout the world.

Earned More Than Ever.

"That, disregarding extremely prosperous and extremely lean years, which come to all business, these Western railway companies during recent ordinary normal years have earned more both gross and net, per mile of line and per train, than ever before in their history.

"That these companies have been able to maintain their properties during recent years at a higher standard than ever before in their history; and they have also set aside large sums of money out of earnings for betterments and improvements and outside investments, which should have been made from capital.

"Tersely stated, the issues in this case center around the one question: who shall pay for the additions and betterments to railroad property? The public interests demand better service, safer transportation and improved facilities, but they also demand that the railroads themselves shall build these improvements and the public will pay a reasonable return on their value. We want these betterments, but justice demands that we shall not pay for their construction and then pay an annual return to the railroads on what we build."

The first witness called to the stand was C. E. Schaff, president of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway company.

DAYTON CASE IS DROPPED

Committee Says It Would Be Useless to Impeach Judge.

Conduct Reprehensible But He Cannot Be Convicted.

Washington, March 4.—Impeachment proceedings against Alston G. Dayton, Federal judge in the northern district of West Virginia, were dropped by the house judiciary committee yesterday by a vote of 11 to 1. A majority report, drafted by the subcommittee, which investigated charges against Judge Dayton, held that while his conduct in some instances had been "reprehensible" there was "little possibility of maintaining them to a conclusion of guilt." The minority report, drawn by Chairman McGillicuddy and recommending impeachment, was rejected.

The majority report drawn by Representatives Gardner and Danforth concluded:

"This evidence shows many matters of individual bad taste on the part of Judge Dayton, some not of that high standard of judicial ethics which should crown the Federal judiciary, but a careful consideration of all evidence and circumstances convinces us that there is little possibility of maintaining to a conclusion of guilt the charges made and impels us therefore to recommend that there be no further proceedings."

Gave Aid and Advice.

The report found that while Judge Dayton had not "conspired with corporations and individuals to bring about the removal from office" of his predecessor, he "was fully informed of the investigation of the official and private life of Judge Jackson, and gave aid and advice to those in charge of the investigation."

The report declared the evidence did not support charges that Judge Dayton had shown marked favoritism to "certain corporations having extensive business in his court" or had "abused his power and influence as a judge to further the interests of his son, Arthur S. Dayton."

As to charges of prejudice against labor organizations, the report said that in cases involving these organizations, "Judge Dayton's manner was heated and impassioned, he was laboring under much emotional excitement, and his conduct generally was that of one who had prejudiced the cause before him."

Representative McGillicuddy's minority report agreed with the majority's findings of fact, but set forth that the findings "warrant further proceedings looking to impeachment."

FLORIST SHOP FIRE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

at $2,000, with $1,000 insurance. His stock was a total loss.

Frank Melvin, proprietor of the shoe store, was unable to estimate his loss, although he believed that it would run from $3,000 to $4,000, only partly covered by insurance. A new stock of leather, stored in the basement, worth $1,000, was totally destroyed.

The Gregory company, with John A. Stephenson & Co., owns the building, which was valued at $15,000. The loss on the building will aggregate about $10,000 and there is $8,000 insurance.

The Gregory company is a holding company, of which Leon E. Lum, 1102 East First street, is the principal member.

At 1:52 a. m. a box alarm was turned in by the watchman, who had been away from the property for about half an hour, and who returned to find the place a mass of flames. When Chief Wilson, with Engine Company No. 3, reached the structure the fire was so far advanced that little could be saved. A two-seven alarm, turned in four minutes after the first one, brought out apparatus from all the companies except those in the outlying districts.

Three hours later the place was gutted, the last piece of apparatus reporting in at 5:22 a. m., an unusually short stay for a blaze of that size.

After an investigation this morning, Assistant Chief Wilson stated that the blaze probably had originated in the basement of the second store, although the building was so badly gutted that it was hard to make a definite report in the matter.

pany in musical comedy. The company was not a success and the house has been dark since Monday, March 1, when Manager Abrahamson withdrew the contract.

Started in Paint Room.

Assistant Chief Wilson stated this morning that the blaze probably originated in a paint room, located in the basement, and that after the usual investigation had been made by the local department, it might be taken under advisement by the state fire marshal, if he thought it was advisable.

The place was deserted when the fire started, Mr. Abrahamson having left the building about 8:30 o'clock to go to another theater which he operates in the city. William Madigan, janitor, is said to have left the place but a short time before the fire was discovered, but could not account for the blaze.

The Empress was first opened in the fall of 1905. It was then known as the Bijou theater. The Sullivan-Considine syndicate took over the house and conducted it for six years, Manager Abrahamson assuming the ownership two years ago.

Duluth's new $12,000 aerial truck was used for the first time last night, when the flames burst through the roof of the building and threatened adjoining property. Commissioner W. A. Hicken of the division of public safety, watched the work of the new apparatus and expressed himself as highly satisfied with the way in which the blaze was handled.

When the fire was discovered a crowd of nearly 5,000 gathered to look on, blocking street car traffic for more than an hour.

Save Their Trunks.

Quick work on the part of members of the Manhattan Opera company saved their trunks, which were in the rear of the building and which had not been removed since Monday, when the show was disbanded. Gowns, owned by Miss Mabel Day, prima donna, were damaged slightly by water.

Work of rebuilding the playhouse will start in the near future, according to Manager Abrahamson, who says he intends to improve upon the former equipment and decorations, with the idea of reopening as soon as the work is completed.

Arrangements for a tabloid offering to have been presented starting Sunday, were canceled this morning.

Richardson officiating. The attendents were Miss Alice Pamberg, niece of the bride, and Zall Francis was best man. A wedding lunch was served to the company of friends present.

TURKS SAY FORTS ARE IMPREGNABLE

Embassy Officials Declare That Constantinople Is Safe.

Berlin, via London, March 4.—Attaches of the Turkish embassy here profess to be unconcerned regarding the bombarding of the Dardanelles forts by the great allied fleet. They declare the fortifications are impregnable, that the landing of troops at the entrance to the straits is impossible and that any attempt to land a force at some point along the shore of the gulf of Saros would require more men than the allies can concentrate, leaving out of consideration the strong Turkish forces stationed at all threatened points.

The Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung sends his paper an interview with Enver Pasha in which the chief of the Turkish general staff is said to have declared that the damage to the outer forts was less than had been reported but that these forts are the oldest of the entire line and their early reduction always has been expected if a serious attack were made upon the Dardanelles. The allied fleet, he declared, has yet to reach the real line of defense.

A CLERGYMAN'S STORY

REV. G. W. ROBERTS

OF

Hartsell, Ala., R. R. 2, Box 27

A BRIEF STATEMENT OF FACTS:

May, 1902 —"I suffered three years with bronchial affection. I had got so weak I had lost my voice. My friends gave me up. I was persuaded to try Peruna."

April 2, 1904 —"After taking Peruna I feel well, eat hearty, sleep soundly, weigh as much as I ever did. Do work on my farm."

Sept. 22, 1906 —"I am a great friend of Peruna. I am here today with my family because of Peruna.

Nov. 22, 1909 —"Peruna gave me back my life ten years ago. I am certainly thankful.

Jan. 13, 1910 —"I shall ever be ready to speak in praise of Peruna. My cure was almost miraculous."

Sept. 5, 1911 —"I feel that Peruna has been the means of prolonging my life for more than ten years."

Jan. 2, 1913 —"I trust that Peruna may prove a blessing to many, as it has to me."

The above are but the briefest extracts from long and enthusiastic letters, which we have received from this distinguished clergyman.

In his first letter he said: "I had tried the treatment of several doctors, also home remedies, but they failed and all hope had gone. My friends, like myself, thought I was in the last stages of bronchial disease. My daughter brought me a bottle of Peruna and plead with me to try it. I had got so weak that I had lost my voice. I thought it was of no use."

Who can doubt but that Peruna saved his life?

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Woman's Realm

Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Barnes and family will leave tomorrow night for New York, where they have taken an apartment and will remain indefinitely, their stay depending upon Mr. Barnes' business.

They will retain their home here, but Mr. Barnes was faced with the necessity of spending several months at least in New York and he decided to make that city his home during that time.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Barnes have resided in Duluth since childhood and have a host of friends here who hope the removal to New York will not mean that "Mr. Barnes of Duluth" will become "Mr. Barnes of New York."

RUSSIAN MUSIC.

Cecilian Society Studies Tschaikowsky.

The life of Tschaikowsky, several of his compositions, and compositions of other Russian composers were considered at the meeting of the Cecilian society that was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leo A. Ball, 2222 East Fifth street.

Mrs. James Wanless reviewed Rosa Newmarch's "Life and Letters of Tschaikowsky," one of the few books on that composer and possibly the only one in English. Mrs. Wanless gave Tschaikowsky's "Nur Wer die Sehnsucht Kennt" and "Life's Morning," and Mrs. G. W. C. Ross sang "A Legend" by him.

Other numbers on the program were Moussorgsky's "Une Nuit sur le Mont Chauve," played by Miss Theresa Lynn and Mrs. Edward Burg, two movements from Kalinnikow's Symphony No. 1, played by Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker and Miss Clara Stocker, two movements from the same symphony played by Miss Josephine Carey and Miss Florence Williams and "How Sweet the Song" and "Lilacs" by Rachmaninoff, given by Mrs. Ross.

"INDIAN MYTHS."

Mrs. Stocker Will Give a Lecture Recital at Bryant School.

The Twentieth Century club that gives a program each year at the Bryant social center has arranged for a lecture recital on "Indian Myths and Melodies" for the open meeting to be held at the school tomorrow evening. Mrs. Stella Price Stocker in Indian costume, will tell Indian stories and play and sing Indian melodies. Mrs. Stocker has given this lecture-recital in New York, Paris and Berlin.

The meeting will be open to all who are interested.

Dancing Party.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Coffin entertained at a dancing party last evening at Coffin's academy. The host and hostess demonstrated the New York tango; Miss Signa Forsell and R. Lee, the Castle polka; Miss Huseby and E. Bodine, the canter one-step, and Miss Johnson and N. Larson, the canter waltz. Lavick's orchestra played for the dancing. SCANDINAVIAN MUSIC WILL BE TWILIGHT CONCERT FEATURE

Soloist for Next Twilight Concert.

Director Fred Bradbury and the members of the Duluth Concert orchestra are hard at work rehearsing the next program, which will be given at the high school auditorium next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Next Sunday's concert is to be devoted principally to compositions by Scandinavian composers, and will include the "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg; "Entrance of the Bojaren," by Halvorsen; "Swedish Wedding March," by Sodermann, and Ole Bull's "Saeterjenten's Sondag," played as a violin solo by Valborg Gunderson Finkelson. Ole Bull's name has always aroused great interest in Scandinavian music, due to his marvelous genius, and as both composer and violinist he was considered pre-eminent during his life, while many of his wonderful compositions have lived after him. It was he who discovered the remarkable gifts of Grieg, a younger countryman, who is now regarded as the most important master of the Norwegian school, and whose "Peer Gynt" has made his name immortal in the world of musical composers.

In addition to the numbers mentioned, and among others, the orchestra will also play the Vorspiel to "Lohengrin." This is perhaps better known as the prelude, and is considered one of the most beautiful of Wagner's compositions. The program will also have a touch of local color in Charles Fremling's march, "Yankee Honor." Mr. Fremling has written a number of marches and is a member of the orchestra. The program follows:

"Einzugsmarsch der Bojaren".....Halversen
Vorspiel to "Lohengrin".....Wagner
"Peer Gynt," suite No. 1.....Grieg
Morning, death of Asa, Anitra's dance, in the hall of the mountain king.
Soprano solo .....
Donna Riblette Flaaten.
"Chanson Matin" (Morning Song) .Elgar
"Swedish Wedding March".....Sodermann
Violin solo—"Saeterjenten's Sondag" .....Ole Bull
Valborg Gunderson Finkelson.
"Light Calvary," overture...Von Suppe
Marimbaphone solo, Roy Knapp.
"Yankee Honor," march.....Fremling

She married some years ago the son of a rich maker of beef extract, who was knighted in 1902. Her marriage was unhappy, and she got a divorce in 1913 and returned to New York. Mr. Van de Sande-Bakhuysen is the son of a well-known Dutch scientist, formerly head of the Leyden observatory.

LECTURER COMPARES CLASSIC AND ROMANTIC MUSIC

Thomas Whitney Surette, who lectured on "Romantic Music" last evening at Pilgrim church under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale, introduced his subject by giving definitions of romanticism and comparing it with classicism. "Romance is the addition of strangeness to beauty," he said and again, "It is an attempt of the soul to free itself from the limitation of facts."

"Romance is the rarest quality in the United States," the lecturer said. "Take for instance Norway that is in itself romantic. The Niebelungen saga and Anderson's and Grimm's fairy tales explain the forces of nature by mystery; we explain them by science."

He compared the romanticism of Whistler's art with the classicism of Ruskin and the romanticism of Joseph Conrad's writings with the realism of Thackery, saying that Conrad opens the door and pushes the reader into a room, leaving him to make observations for himself, whereas Thackery leads his reader into the room and explains everything in it to him.

At Its Best in Music.

"Romance is at its best in music," Mr. Surette said, "because at the very best music is vague. Mendelssohn was the drag wheel on the romance of his day. He is so correct that you wish he would do something disgraceful to save himself. On the other hand, Schumann protested in everything he wrote that all this realism belonged to bygone days."

The lecturer played examples of classic and romantic music on the piano, explaining how the romantic compositions are vague, end in a mist and do not show that the hero and heroine get married and live happily ever afterward and how the classic productions are more staid and complete. "Every time a classic composer finishes what he has to say he makes a little bow," he said. He considered Brahms as the most successful combiner of classicism and romanticism that the musical world has ever known, and played passages from that composer to bring out his point.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Advertise in Newspapers.

The desecration of the landscape by glaring advertising signs has long been a subject of agitation among lovers of the beautiful in nature, but as yet no very effective agitation has been taken against the offensive practice of painting, pasting or tacking an advertisement on every available wall, tree, fence or building along the country roadsides.

In the cities we have reason to expect these things and in all probability it will never be stopped unless by the concerted action of the merchants themselves. Every large city abounds with glaring lithographs and hideously painted signs on billboards, walls and housetops. When the paint and ink become faded, and posters become old, ragged and torn, the sight is doubly offensive.

The most deplorable feature of the sign and billboard advertising—is the defacement of the scenery throughout the country. When we are enjoying the beauties of nature as they are unrolled before our eyes through a car window or as we drive through the country, what a discordant note is struck when a series of painted signboards, most of them daubs, interrupts our view. What eyesores they have become, advertising spring medicines, spavin cures, household goods and tobacco and cigarettes. This is true of the fences and walls that enclose many of the farms and also of the barns and outbuildings with which they are dotted.

We can each do something toward bettering conditions. If we have anything to sell we can forego this means of advertising. If we are property owners we can refuse to permit these signs upon what is ours, and if in neither of these classes, we are at least part of the great public which can mold a sentiment against it which tradesmen will respect.

It would seem to me that goods brought to the notice by these signs, which offend the eye and good taste, would not readily gain favor. The many newspapers and magazines afford ample opportunities to do so, and to better advantage, for they thus approach people when they are in receptive mood—when they have the time and the inclination to read.

The advertising managers of our largest producing concerns have long ago learned the great advantage of newspaper advertising over that of the billboard, and the president of one of our large Eastern colleges recently admitted that he spent as much time reading the advertisements in the daily papers as he did the news.

PRESIDENT SIGNS THE SEAMAN'S BILL.

Washington, March 4. — President Wilson today signed the seamen's bill improving working conditions of American seamen and increasing life saving equipment requirements.

It was said the president had carefully examined the objections of some senators that the bill would interfere with the treaty obligations of the United States, but concluded that it was so drawn that he could handle those questions with full recognition of the rights of other nations. He believes the bill will not disturb anything fundamental in the foreign relations of the country. Its provisions do not go into effect for fifteen months.

Looking for the Pearl.

"I may have $100,000 in my hand right now," said Walter Baldwin, Jr., of the Baldwin Players, yesterday afternoon as he displayed a carefully rolled manuscript.

"It's a play," he continued. "A man just handed it to me and asked me to read it, and give him my opinion on it. He has been working for two years on it. You never can tell. That is the way the big successes are found. You may read 100 or 1,000 plays and not find one fit to produce, and any day you may find the one. Its like looking for pearls among clam shells on the Mississippi. If you don't look you won't find any, and I always make it a rule to at least read every play handed to me. We have never produced an original play in Duluth, with the exception of a one-act sketch, but there is nothing to prevent us doing it, if the right play comes along. Nearly every week I get one or two plays to look over. Some of them come from Duluth people, and others are sent in by mail. Some of them have been almost up to the mark. I haven't found one that looked right yet, but there is no way of knowing when I will. No man's judgment is infallible, and I may not recognize the play when it comes, for some of our biggest successes have been kicked around for years before being produced, but it won't be because I don't read it."

The Baldwin Players are appearing this week in "Tess of the Storm Country." Next week "The Third Degree" will be produced.

New Bill at Grand.

A bill replete with variety comedy and novelty is promised in the new bill opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon for the remainder of the week.

Chase and Latour will head the bill with their entire new repertoire of late and popular songs. They have been called tip-top topical songsters, and are artists of exceptional ability with excellent voices.

Harry Ellsworth and company offers his latest intoxicating comedy, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," which is described as one solid laugh.

The boys with the toys are the Four Konerz Brothers, diablo and hoop experts. They are masters of their art, and present many new and novel stunts in an amusing and entertaining manner.

The Ernest Alvo Troupe are comedy bar gymnasts with an entire new line of gymnastics and thrilling and daring feats.

The Hearst-Selig news this week contains among other interesting features, pictures of the recent earthquake in Italy when there were 88,000 killed and injured. The photoplay feature is a thrilling two-reel subject, "The Red Blood of Courage." One of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life, "The Red Signal," a comedy, "The Tango Spree," and a western story complete the bill.

A War Drama.

Under the auspices of the German Singing society, the picture entitled "For His Country's Honor," was secured by the Zelda management. The beautiful dramatic production that was built around the firing line in Germany will afford all American and Germans in this country an opportunity to see a war drama. The Germans of this city have been very anxious for the last two months to secure this big production, because it was made in the Vaterland, but before the picture could leave there, they had to be sanctioned by the German military staff. After that was granted, the next question was whether they would reach America or be held up by the English or French boats, but with good luck they got through, and reached New York last week. Duluth will be one of the first cities outside of New York where this picture will be shown, Mar. 8, 9 and 10. Then they will be sent to Milwaukee, where they will be shown at the end of next week. Manager Mistachkin has signed up with the representatives of the German societies and is making preparations for the big production.

WHY ARE SIGHTS ON A RIFLE?

London Answers: The average person, if asked to explain why a rifle is sighted, would probably be unable to do so beyond some vague remark about taking correct aim.

Sights are necessary because a bullet does not travel in a straight line, but under the influence of gravity and friction begins to drop almost as soon as it leaves the muzzle. Thus the bullet of our service rifle (Lee-Enfield) drops six inches in the first 100 yards, but when it has gone 200 yards it will have dropped, not 12 inches but 2 feet. The drop increases by leaps and bounds with the distance. Were there no sights on the rifle and you wanted to hit a mark at 200 yards, you would clearly have to aim two feet above it.

This would be awkward, for you would lose sight of the object aimed at, to say nothing of the difficulty estimating a distance of two feet at 200 yards.

The sights of a rifle enable you to keep your eye on the mark, although the muzzle of the rifle is actually pointing above it. The movable slide of the backsight enables you automatically to point the muzzle just so many feet above the mark aimed at as is necessary to counteract the known drop of the bullet at various ranges.

A SPLENDID RECORD.

Today sees the passing of the first congress under the administration of President Wilson, the first Democratic congress the country has had in some twenty years, and a congress that has accomplished more in the way of important legislation than almost any congress since the Civil war. It is a record that any body could justly be proud of, and the fact that President Wilson exercised a strong personal influence in its accomplishment will help to increase a public confidence already exceptionally great.

To review all the acts of the Sixty-third congress would be to outline to a great extent the development of the nation in the last few decades. Some of the big measures adopted are the result of comparatively new ideas and conceptions of public affairs, but others are the outcome of the steady growth and development of national ideas and ideals. Some of them could as well have been given to the country by previous congresses, had it not been for partisan motives that prevented action especially adapted to the general good rather than to the benefiting of a set of favored interests—principles that have been invoked in the last few weeks to stifle efforts to give the country additional important legislation.

But whatever may be said of the origin and growth of these great constructive measures, they were steadily refused to the country and to the people until enacted by this Sixty-third congress.

A remarkably wide field is covered by this important legislation. It takes in economic, industrial, commercial, agricultural, financial, diplomatic and administrative features, and in each of these cardinal divisions of public interest this congress has brought into operation powers and principles that are generally recognized as vitally important.

In other congresses there have been one or two important pieces of legislation that have stood out prominently, but this one has given us relief from a burdensome tariff, the establishment of a sound banking and financial system, a clearer path for the operation of those commercial interests that are vital to the general welfare, greater opportunities for development of territorial resources, greater efficiency in coast guard and revenue service, improved relations with other nations as concerns the operation of the Panama canal, and means for the better enforcement of measures for the public health.

Such a record is remarkable, but it is the kind the country likes to see. There might have been still more to the credit of this congress but for the minority opposition in the senate. But the record as it stands is one to be proud of. If the Sixty-fourth congress can accomplish even half as much it will be entitled to the thanks and the full confidence of the people.

It takes away four-fifths of a fan's fun not to be able to tell right off the bat what team any player belongs to.

KILL THE VERMILYA BILL.

It is up to the state house of representatives to kill the Vermilya bill repealing the Elwell good roads law. Much to the surprise of the supporters of the Elwell law, the senate yesterday passed the Vermilya bill by a vote of 39 to 25. Which puts the matter straight up to the house.

The Elwell law was passed because it was needed. It has been used by many counties where its need was recognized and its benefits appreciated. It is needed today as much as it was when it was passed, for there are big sections of this state that need road improvement, and that cannot get it on reasonable terms, or cannot get it at all, without some such provisions as those in the Elwell law.

The chief opposition to the law does not come from sections where its possibilities have been tested. There is nothing but praise for it from those sections. The opposition came from states that have not used it and have not been affected by it. Those sections that have tried it out and found it good indorse it, and that indorsement ought to go a long ways toward convincing the legislators that the bill ought not to be repealed.

With the senate's passage of the Vermilya bill it is up to the house to take the final action, and that action should kill the bill.

Russia's plans regarding Constantinople show that although she has sworn off on vodka, she is as inveterate as ever when it comes to warm port.

THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

It only remains now for the senate to act on the bill, to give the voters another opportunity to pass on the proposal to amend the state Constitution so as to give the people the privileges of the initiative and referendum. The house passed it by 106 to 12, and there is no apparent reason to expect adverse action in the senate.

To conduct a campaign of education as to the initiative and referendum is not likely to be necessary. The people understand the principle of direct legislation much more thoroughly than they did two years ago. There is one thing that must be done, however, if this proposition is to go before the voters, and that is to conduct a campaign of awakening so as to get a full vote for the amendment.

Vaudeville press agents are resting the easier for the knowledge that the harem was safely removed from Constantinople before the fighting began.

EVEN "THE BENEFICIARIES" DON'T WANT IT.

Even the people its advocates claim would be the beneficiaries don't want St. Louis county divided. There have been reports to that effect ever since the legislature met. Yesterday concrete evidence of the truth of those reports was presented to the legislators by the appearance of a hundred delegates from the iron range country, and by the presentation of letters from others who could not be present.

There are two main allegations given as reasons for county division. One is that under the present arrangement the southern part of the county (meaning Duluth) is hogging everything. The other is that Duluth, as the county seat, is too far from the rest of the county for convenience.

One of the arguers for the division plan, while being questioned at St. Paul, admitted that the northern section of the county had had enormous sums to spend for roads and improvements. Questioned further he failed to show how there had been any "hogging" of appropriations or other matters by any part.

As to the distance of Duluth from other sections, it is only necessary to talk with men from other sections who have had occasion to go to Hibbing, for example and who know the inconvenience and expense of such a trip. Except for a few towns, it is much easier and more convenient to get to Duluth than to Hibbing or any other place that could reasonably claim the right to be the county seat of a new county.

It is charged by men from Biwabik and Eveleth and other range places that this division agitation is being carried on by politicians and office-seekers for their own personal interests. That is a charge that must be judged by each person from his knowledge of the advocates of the division plan.

This much, however, is certain: A division of St. Louis county now would mean two county governments, two sets of officials, two sets of buildings and two sets of employes supported by taxes on the same people who now support one set; and nothing, except an addition to the number of available public offices, would be gained by such a move.

Nor is it a serious hardship under present conditions to have the seat of government at Duluth, with what amount to "branch offices" on the ranges. And even if there were no special efforts being made to serve the iron country in official capacities, the people of that territory would find it more convenient to come to or transact business with Duluth than with Hibbing.

And it is Hibbing, by the way, that would get the county seat in case of a division under the present plan. In which connection it is interesting to recall the remark of Victor Power, the resourceful and experienced mayor of Hibbing, that when Hibbing once got to be the county seat there need be no fear that it would ever lose that position.

Those people who are advocating the division of St. Louis county are very earnest and hard working in their campaign, but it is evident that they have not even succeeded thus far in convincing the people they would cut off from their present county government. The hearings at St. Paul have demonstrated that, and it is indicated pretty strongly by the fact that the divisionists have adopted the plan of trying to put the scheme across without giving the people a chance to vote on it. Evidently they don't think enough of their own scheme to have confidence in it, so it is only natural that it should not find favor with others.

Dinner—Lamb stew, dumplings, carrots, potatoes, onions, turnips, dates.

Supper—Brown bread toast, butter, tea, sugar, milk. Total cost of above for four persons, .3978 cents; for one person, 10 cents.

Ten cents a day is enough for anyone to spend on eating three regular meals, too, according to experts of Massachusetts.

For that amount can be had food aplenty to keep one well nourished and healthy, in a state of nourishment and health which could not be surpassed by the expenditure of thirty or forty times 10 cents.

Prof. A. G. Woodman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, expert food analysist of that institution, says so, and his word has been accepted by the commonwealth, through the medium of the industrial accident board.

"When a man spends more than 10 cents a day for food he is paying for variety of flavors, for luxuries. He is not getting any added nutrition," Prof. Woodman says.

And his opinion is to be spread broadcast over Massachusetts. The state is going to see to it. Trained lecturers, bearing with them all of Prof. Woodman's data and charts explaining the findings of his research work, are going forth to educate the people in respect to proper eating.

The lectures will be based almost entirely upon a set of charts and stereopticon slides which have been prepared by Prof. Woodman, acting for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in co-operation with the commonwealth.

"It is the discriminating taste of men and women, not the requirements of nutrition, that makes the cost of living so high," Prof. Woodman explained. "If people would be satisfied with simple foods and willing to sacrifice varities and flavors, they could get along economically even in this country where foodstuffs are supposed to be extremely expensive.

"There is as much nutrition in 8 cents' worth of raw flour as there is in a $1.90 worth of raw oysters.

"Rump or sirloin steak costs more and is more pleasant to the taste than flank, but the latter contains exactly as much nutriment.

"Buying foods in packages increases the cost of living.

"One can get as much nutriment out of half a pound of stale bread costing 2 cents as from a quart of milk costing 8 cents.

"The person who chooses food as a result of an understanding of the food values may be as healthy on a low-priced diet as upon an expensive one.

"The difficulty with Americans is that they eat more for enjoyment than for nutrition."

Prof. Woodman drew forth another menu which called for an expenditure by one person of 24 cents a day.

"For breakfast, cereal, bacon, creamed potatoes, wheat bread.

"For luncheon, finnan haddie, boiled samp, lettuce salad, ginger bread, full cream cheese, Russian tea.

"For dinner," and the professor smiled, "a 24-cent menu dignifies the evening meal as dinner—clear turkey soup, roast mutton, escalloped onions, roasted potatoes, apricot ice.

"This menu, you see," he continued, "appears more appetizing. It is more expensive and may be considered in the way of luxuries or extras."

War Zone Trade Dangerous

Boston Globe: More than one American vessel now has been destroyed because of our attempts to trade with the belligerents in the European conflict. The greater the number, the greater the issue, but no matter how many American vessels are sunk by mines the issue remains the same. Steaming through mine fields is dangerous, however profitable.

If American ship owners want to send their vessels into danger they cover the risk with insurance. If the vessel is blown up the owners are compensated by thus bonding the danger.

Since an earnest attempt to frame an adequate code of international law governing marine mines lost itself in a sea of words and diplomatic definitions, it is hard to place blame upon any one except upon a civilization which cannot evolve any better means of settling disputes among nations than by war.

It is too bad that the insurance agents lost their money, but they did it with their eyes open. It is too bad that the Germans lost a cargo of cotton about to reach them. It is too bad that a man cannot trade with two men fighting a death duel, but it would be worse if this nation went to war about it.

The best way to deal with the problem is to find, if possible, the nation responsible for the loss and then send a bill, as we did in the case of the Alabama claims. As for the loss of life we must remember that men will work in places of danger for small pay in any part of the world. Law will not stop them. If they suffer we certainly feel regret for their loss, but that is no reason why we should endanger the lives of hundreds of thousands of our young men by going to war. If American seamen do not want to add to the risks of their dangerous occupation they can refuse to man vessels bound for the war zones. It would shorten the war if they refused thus to carry supplies to the belligerents. If, however, they insist, then they must accept the responsibility of giving aid to one side or the other and accept the danger.

The New Life in Russia.

George Kennan in the Outlook: In the country—that is, in the peasant villages of Russia—the drinking of intoxicants has almost wholly ceased, partly because it is more difficult to get denatured alcohol and 60 per cent "wine" in the country than it is in the towns, and partly because the peasants regard the war very seriously and have cleansed themselves of the sin of drunkenness, just as a muzhik who is about to die puts on a clean white shirt. Sobriety, in the stress of peril and under the shadow of death, has come to be regarded as a moral and religious duty. Even the peasant women talk more about prohibition than they do about the war, and peasant children ask their mothers, "Will papa always be as he is now?"

Friendly Support.

Boston Transcript: "Oh, come, you mustn't be too hard on Bill. He has his faults, but there is one good thing about him."

"And pray, what is that?"

"Why, he—er—I can't recall it just at this moment."

Chauncey Depew

By Sayoyard.

Washington, March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The other day I was sitting in the lobby of the leading hotel of this town and near me stood a tall, well-proportioned fine looking man, uncommonly well dressed and wearing a black derby hat. A stranger would have taken him to be under, rather than over, 50. He was talking with a companion—doing all the talking himself—who manifestly hugely enjoyed all he said. I determined to sit him out, wondering if he would stand as long as I sat. After the most part of an hour had expired a newspaper man of my acquaintance approached the two and the very distinguished looking person I speak of entered upon conversation with him. I knew it was an "interview" and that I would read it in the paper the next morning, which I did. I wanted to get away, but waited and waited and waited for the man to sit down.

Finally, after nearly two hours, he wore me out. I left him standing talking. He was Chauncey Depew, and in a few weeks he will be 81 years old. He was here to attend the famous "Gridiron dinner" that was pulled off that night at the top loft of that hotel. He is an extraordinary man and I know of none other in our history who can be precisely, or nearly, classed with him. If he had devoted his talents to letters it is possible that Depew would have been the American Horace Walpole.

There never was another American who has been acquainted with so many folks of either hemisphere, or both, worth knowing, as Chauncey Depew. He was a chum of Edward VII, the first gentleman of the world and lately king of England. He and the German kaiser are intimate personal friends. He is hail fellow well met with the chancellors and sub-chancellors of every cabinet of Europe, and all the aristocratic society congregated at every capital of the Old World welcomes this man whom I will call rare Chauncey Depew, because somebody called another, perhaps remotely kindred character, rare old Ben Jonson.

You can't think of Chauncey Depew without associating him with that very like character, Monckton Milnes, later Lord Houghton, who knew every character in the world worth knowing. I am not quite sure about the spelling of the name. Lord Houghton wrote a book of personal reminiscences that is one of the most delightful narratives ever penned, and not even Samuel Rogers himself had entertained so many distinguished people at breakfast. Thomas Carlyle, one day, when in exceptionally bad humor, even for him, was discussing with the poet, Tennyson, what reception our Blessed Redeemer would get if He had made His advent at that period—about 1858—opined that the only notice that the newspaper would give our Savior would be the announcement that Monckton Milnes had had Him a guest at dinner.

I only quote that to show that Lord Houghton knew everybody, and the grim old Scotchman did not mean any blasphemy by his suggestion.

Depew might have been president of the United States. The bosses wanted to nominate him in 1888, but Iowa served notice that his nomination would make that state as Democratic as Kentucky. Somebody ought to write the history of that convention. The Chicago Tribune came very nearly to success in its effort to nominate Walter Q. Gresham. It was a free trade paper and its editorial during the sitting of the convention on the speeches of W. O. Bradley and Joseph B. Foraker was the most remarkable piece of journalistic gymnastics I ever saw.

Finally, after Alger had shot his gun, the bosses concluded that Ben Harrison was the man. He was, and the only one of the lot who could win, as he did.

In 1892 Depew mugwumped and supported Horace Greeley against Gen. Grant for president; but he soon got over that and returned to the wallow of the Republican party. He was a business man and a lawyer, as well as a politician. You could not class him with Evarts at the bar; you could not class him with Conkling in the senate. Certainly he was not in the class of Blaine and Garfield in the lore of the politician. He is not even an eloquent man, or was not when in the senate.

In short, Depew is unique. We cannot match him. And a wonderful man he is, too, mentally as well as physically. I think it would have been well had he been elected president in 1888 instead of Ben Harrison. He was a business man and would never have tolerated the Sherman silver law that ruined Harrison's administration. He would have captivated the South, if any Republican could have done so, and I am sure eight years of Chauncey Depew in the White House would have made unnecessary the war with Spain to demonstrate the patriotism and the loyalty to the flag of the South.

Joe Blackburn crucified Depew in a debate in the senate on Goebelism in Kentucky. Chauncey had been coached by the Hon. Deboe, then a senator from Kentucky, and what Chauncey knew about the subject subtracted from the sum of the knowledge of it, as we Kentuckians know it. At that time—as now—I had no patience with Goebelism, but as Chauncey spoke I muttered that he had been poorly coached.

Joe did not know much about it, for you can't coach Joe, but he beat Chauncey. A heart to heart talk on mankind in general, of some twenty-four hours, with no others present, between Chauncey Depew and Joe Blackburn, taken down by the dictagraph, would make the best seller.

What a team it would be if they could be yoked!

Love Thy Mother.

Love thy mother, little one!
Kiss and clasp her neck again—
Hereafter she may have a son
Will kiss and clasp her neck in vain.
Love thy mother, little one!

Gaze upon her living eyes,
And mirror back her love for thee—
Hereafter thou may'st shudder sighs
To meet them when they cannot see.
Gaze upon her living eyes.

Press her lips the while they glow
With love that they have often told—
Hereafter thou may'st press in woe,
And kiss them till thine own are cold.
Press her lips the while they glow!

Oh, revere her raven hair!
Although it be not silver gray;
Too early Death, led on by Care,
May snatch save one dear lock away.
Oh, revere her raven hair!

Pray for her at eve and morn,
That Heaven may long the stroke defer—
For thou may'st live the hour forlorn,
When thou wilt ask to die with her.
Pray for her at eve and morn!

—Thomas Hood.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—For an example of resourcefulness one may well turn to the incident in which Fingy Conners, well-known citizen of Buffalo, placed himself a while ago.

Conners was in Washington at the time President Wilson was going to read one of his addresses to congress, and there was a great demand for seats in the gallery. Admission was gained by special card only, and each congressman was allowed only one card. Conners went to Charlie Smith and Dan Driscoll, members of congress from his city, and asked them to provide him with a gallery seat. They both explained how sorry they were, but they couldn't do it. Each was allowed only one ticket and each had given his away before he knew Conners was in town.

"Well, well," observed Conners, "you're a hulluva pair of congressmen if you can't even get a constituent into the gallery. I guess I'll have to get in then on my own hook."

"Ah, but it can't be done," explained Driscoll and Smith. The rules are very strict, and if you tried to get in you would simply embarrass both the doorkeeper and yourself. Even Speaker Clark couldn't take you in. Fact is there is a limit on the seats provided for members of the president's own family."

"That may all be true about the president and Champ Clark," replied Conners, "but I'll bet you a pail of ink that I can get in."

"How?" chorused Smith and Driscoll.

"Oh, I don't know exactly how yet. Some way that I'll think up. Just come with me and I'll show you."

Panting with curiosity the two congressmen followed Conners up to the gallery floor. He led the way to one of the less frequented doors, where he laid his hand on the shoulder of the doorkeeper in a fatherly manner and began to talk to him.

"These gentlemen," said Conners, pointing to the congressmen, "are two constitutents of mine who were a great help to me in my last campaign for congress, and I want them to have seats in the gallery."

"Very sorry, congressman," answered the doorkeeper, embarrassed at being unable to call him by name, "but you know we're under strict orders today to let no one in except by ticket. I'd like to oblige you, sir, but I don't see how I can."

"Well, if you can't, I suppose you can't," observed Fingy. "It's too bad, though, because I would like to accommodate these boys. They are awfully good fellows, and this is the first favor they have asked of me since I entered congress."

Then turning to Smith and Driscoll, he said:

"You see just how it is. I'll have to see you downstairs later on. I want to step down into the gallery now for a minute and speak to Phil Hicks. Go over to my office and make yourselves at home if you get tired." And he walked on down to a vacant seat, where he sat quite comfortably through the president's address.

For years William Jennings Bryan has been a careless person in regard to his correspondence. His inclination is to keep no copy of a letter, but to dictate it or write it out in long hand, and throw it into the mail, scarcely taking time even to read it over. His tendency is to follow the same system in the state department. Clerks about his offices have to hover about and watch him as a mother would a child, or he will seize a pen, hastily scratch off a state document and mail it to some ambassador with never a thought of preserving a copy for the department files. A while ago a clerk was obliged to dash up to one of the Washington embassies and copy off an important letter that Mr. Bryan had written without making any provision for preserving the contents of the same to the department and to posterity.

A Spelling Lesson.

Steel Plant News: What does Ghoughphtheightteeau spell?

Do you give it up? It spells potato—that is, according to the following: Gh stands for p, as you will find from the last letters in hiccough; ough for o, as in dough; phth stands for t, as in phthisis; eigh stands for a, as in neighbor; tte stands for t, as in grisette, and eau stands for o, as in beau.

Thus you have p-o-t-a-t-o.

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Better Than Some.

Baudette Region: Outside of a lot of unnecessary talking the present legislature appears to be better than some that have gone before.

Are Conservative, at Least.

Redwood Falls Sun: The defeat of the bill to call a convention to revise the state Constitution, by the lower house of the Minnesota legislature, would indicate that the majority of the members are considerable moss-grown, to say the least.

Two Good Bills.

St. Peter Free Press: There is now before the legislature a bill requiring school boards of independent school districts to publish their official proceedings and another bill providing for the publication of the personal property tax list. Both bills are meritorious and should become laws.

Has Made Good Showing.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The present state legislature has and is showing more inclination toward making laws that will be of benefit to the whole people than has any legislature that has been convened in Minnesota in many a long day, and if the trading does not become too tight we may expect a remedy for some of the state evils that exist.

The Gag Rule Plan.

Madison Independent-Press: The legislature of Minnesota is inclined toward setting the state up in the business of editing the newspapers. Possibly the people will find out one of these days that this meddling with the newspapers is not so much in the interest of the average man and it is in the interest of a certain brand of politician who would like to keep his record out of print. At any rate the papers can stand the gag rule plan if the public can.

No Reduction Yet.

Le Sueur News: Minnesota has too many boards and commissions, too many inspectors and salary-grabbers. The present legislature was elected to reduce the expenses, but nothing is doing to date, and more than half of the time is gone.

Sees No Extravagance.

Fairmont Sentinel: There is a good deal of claptrap about the extravagance of the legislature. Minnesota is a great and growing state and vast sums are legitimately required to meet the demands of its rise and progress. And, as a matter of fact, state taxes have never been excessive or oppressive and they would not be if they were doubled.

Truly Optimistic.

Heron Lake News: At an expense of $80,000 our state legislature has passed eight bills. Generally the less laws passed the better, and in this our solons will earn the thanks of the men who pay the bills.

If you feel very bright inside any day,
Just let a little sunshine out.

You may smile to yourself in a satisfied way,
And your wife'll wonder what it's all about—
Just raise the slide for the pent up ray,
And let the blessed sunshine out.

As you sit by the fire with the last magazine,
At the close of a hard day's bout,
Just share with the rest—the good reading, I mean—
And let a little sunshine out.

You needn't ring a bell when you feel very prime,
Or climb up the steeple and shout,
But you'll make the world better the most of the time,
If you let a little sunshine out.

An Elevator Boat.

In the harbor of Port Weller, the Ontario entrance of the Welland ship canal, says the Engineering News, the surveying staff uses a flat-bottomed boat that can lift itself clear of the water. It is a drill boat or sounding scow, of catamaran model, built particularly for the work of finding the elevation of the rock that underlies the bottom of the river. In order to have a steady platform on which to work during rough weather, the surveyors had the scow made with a slot at each corner through which a very heavy spud or post can be raised or lowered. The lifting mechanism consists of a wheel on top of each post, over which a wire cable passes from the side of the scow to an individual engine. When the scow heaves and sways in the water too much, workmen start the four engines, and presently the scow is standing firm, with its four stout legs on the bottom of the river.

Not to Him.

Indianapolis News: The usual large crowd gathered at Madison and Dearborn streets waiting for trolley cars. An elderly lady, red in the face, flustered and fussy, dug her elbows into convenient ribs.

A man on her left was the recipient of a particularly vicious jab. "Say!" she yelled at him.

He winced slightly and moved to one side.

She, too, side-stepped and thumped him vigorously on the back.

"Say!" she persisted, "does it make any difference which of these cars I take to Graceland cemetery?"

"Not to me, madam," he answered, slipping through an opening in the crowd.

Contrasts in the Day's News.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A Boston newspaper which in the summer of 1776 printed the Declaration of Independence as news, published the same day an advertisement for the sale of a slave at auction. But the contrast in the news of today is quite as extraordinary.

In Philadelphia we have in progress the greatest revival meetings ever witnessed. That fills a page, but other pages tell about the world's greatest war.

In the same issue are found details of our largest wheat crop, and the longest bread line seen in this city.

Mohammedans are driving the Jews out of Jerusalem, but the most exalted tribunal on earth—the United States supreme court—is seeing that exact justice be done to one Jew in Georgia.

A British king barely misses a bomb hurled from a hostile warcraft in air, while a Mexican president in a supposedly free republic flees from his capital to escape assassination.

The lights and shadows of news are quite as amazing now as when our ancestors solemnly declared that all men are equal and yet permitted nearly 1,000,000 people to be held in slavery.

The System.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Prof. Hugo Munsterberg said at the German-American chamber of commerce in New York:

"It is no wonder England has so many colonies. Look how she got them! It's the system!

"England, you know, would send an expedition headed by a missionary to some outlandish tropical place or other. The missionary would disembark on the white beach. He would gather the natives together under a palm, and, holding up his head, he would say:

"'Let us pray.'

"Then, while all the natives had their eyes shut in pious prayer, up would go the English flag."

The New Way.

Judge: "I never see you pay the slightest attention to your children," declared grandma, who had come on a visit. "Don't you love your children?"

"Now, don't be old-fashioned, ma," urged the fashionable wife. "Their governess is employed to do that."

A SPLENDID RECORD.

Today sees the passing of the first congress under the administration of President Wilson, the first Democratic congress the country has had in some twenty years, and a congress that has accomplished more in the way of important legislation than almost any congress since the Civil war. It is a record that any body could justly be proud of, and the fact that President Wilson exercised a strong personal influence in its accomplishment will help to increase a public confidence already exceptionally great.

To review all the acts of the Sixty-third congress would be to outline to a great extent the development of the nation in the last few decades. Some of the big measures adopted are the result of comparatively new ideas and conceptions of public affairs, but others are the outcome of the steady growth and development of national ideas and ideals. Some of them could as well have been given to the country by previous congresses, had it not been for partisan motives that prevented action especially adapted to the general good rather than to the benefiting of a set of favored interests—principles that have been invoked in the last few weeks to stifle efforts to give the country additional important legislation.

But whatever may be said of the origin and growth of these great constructive measures, they were steadily refused to the country and to the people until enacted by this Sixty-third congress.

A remarkably wide field is covered by this important legislation. It takes in economic, industrial, commercial, agricultural, financial, diplomatic and administrative features, and in each of these cardinal divisions of public interest this congress has brought into operation powers and principles that are generally recognized as vitally important.

In other congresses there have been one or two important pieces of legislation that have stood out prominently, but this one has given us relief from a burdensome tariff, the establishment of a sound banking and financial system, a clearer path for the operation of those commercial interests that are vital to the general welfare, greater opportunities for development of territorial resources, greater efficiency in coast guard and revenue service, improved relations with other nations as concerns the operation of the Panama canal, and means for the better enforcement of measures for the public health.

Such a record is remarkable, but it is the kind the country likes to see. There might have been still more to the credit of this congress but for the minority opposition in the senate. But the record as it stands is one to be proud of. If the Sixty-fourth congress can accomplish even half as much it will be entitled to the thanks and the full confidence of the people.

It takes away four-fifths of a fan's fun not to be able to tell right off the bat what team any player belongs to.

KILL THE VERMILYA BILL.

It is up to the state house of representatives to kill the Vermilya bill repealing the Elwell good roads law. Much to the surprise of the supporters of the Elwell law, the senate yesterday passed the Vermilya bill by a vote of 39 to 25. Which puts the matter straight up to the house.

The Elwell law was passed because it was needed. It has been used by many counties where its need was recognized and its benefits appreciated. It is needed today as much as it was when it was passed, for there are big sections of this state that need road improvement, and that cannot get it on reasonable terms, or cannot get it at all, without some such provisions as those in the Elwell law.

The chief opposition to the law does not come from sections where its possibilities have been tested. There is nothing but praise for it from those sections. The opposition came from states that have not used it and have not been affected by it. Those sections that have tried it out and found it good indorse it, and that indorsement ought to go a long ways toward convincing the legislators that the bill ought not to be repealed.

With the senate's passage of the Vermilya bill it is up to the house to take the final action, and that action should kill the bill.

Russia's plans regarding Constantinople show that although she has sworn off on vodka, she is as inveterate as ever when it comes to warm port.

THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

It only remains now for the senate to act on the bill, to give the voters another opportunity to pass on the proposal to amend the state Constitution so as to give the people the privileges of the initiative and referendum. The house passed it by 106 to 12, and there is no apparent reason to expect adverse action in the senate.

To conduct a campaign of education as to the initiative and referendum is not likely to be necessary. The people understand the principle of direct legislation much more thoroughly than they did two years ago. There is one thing that must be done, however, if this proposition is to go before the voters, and that is to conduct a campaign of awakening so as to get a full vote for the amendment.

Vaudeville press agents are resting the easier for the knowledge that the harem was safely removed from Constantinople before the fighting began.

EVEN "THE BENEFICIARIES" DON'T WANT IT.

Even the people its advocates claim would be the beneficiaries don't want St. Louis county divided. There have been reports to that effect ever since the legislature met. Yesterday concrete evidence of the truth of those reports was presented to the legislators by the appearance of a hundred delegates from the iron range country, and by the presentation of letters from others who could not be present.

There are two main allegations given as reasons for county division. One is that under the present arrangement the southern part of the county (meaning Duluth) is hogging everything. The other is that Duluth, as the county seat, is too far from the rest of the county for convenience.

One of the arguers for the division plan, while being questioned at St. Paul, admitted that the northern section of the county had had enormous sums to spend for roads and improvements. Questioned further he failed to show how there had been any "hogging" of appropriations or other matters by any part.

As to the distance of Duluth from other sections, it is only necessary to talk with men from other sections who have had occasion to go to Hibbing, for example and who know the inconvenience and expense of such a trip. Except for a few towns, it is much easier and more convenient to get to Duluth than to Hibbing or any other place that could reasonably claim the right to be the county seat of a new county.

It is charged by men from Biwabik and Eveleth and other range places that this division agitation is being carried on by politicians and office-seekers for their own personal interests. That is a charge that must be judged by each person from his knowledge of the advocates of the division plan.

This much, however, is certain: A division of St. Louis county now would mean two county governments, two sets of officials, two sets of buildings and two sets of employes supported by taxes on the same people who now support one set; and nothing, except an addition to the number of available public offices, would be gained by such a move.

Nor is it a serious hardship under present conditions to have the seat of government at Duluth, with what amount to "branch offices" on the ranges. And even if there were no special efforts being made to serve the iron country in official capacities, the people of that territory would find it more convenient to come to or transact business with Duluth than with Hibbing.

And it is Hibbing, by the way, that would get the county seat in case of a division under the present plan. In which connection it is interesting to recall the remark of Victor Power, the resourceful and experienced mayor of Hibbing, that when Hibbing once got to be the county seat there need be no fear that it would ever lose that position.

Those people who are advocating the division of St. Louis county are very earnest and hard working in their campaign, but it is evident that they have not even succeeded thus far in convincing the people they would cut off from their present county government. The hearings at St. Paul have demonstrated that, and it is indicated pretty strongly by the fact that the divisionists have adopted the plan of trying to put the scheme across without giving the people a chance to vote on it. Evidently they don't think enough of their own scheme to have confidence in it, so it is only natural that it should not find favor with others.

Live On a Dime a Day

From the Boston Post.

MEAL 10 CENTS A DAY.
THE MENU.

Breakfast—Puree of lima beans (dried), entire wheat bread, butter, tea, sugar, milk. 1

Dinner—Lamb stew, dumplings, carrots, potatoes, onions, turnips, dates. 1

Supper—Brown bread toast, butter, tea, sugar, milk. Total cost of above for four persons, .3978 cents; for one person, 10 cents. 1

Ten cents a day is enough for anyone to spend on eating three regular meals, too, according to experts of Massachusetts.

For that amount can be had food aplenty to keep one well nourished and healthy, in a state of nourishment and health which could not be surpassed by the expenditure of thirty or forty times 10 cents.

Prof. A. G. Woodman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, expert food analyst of that institution, says so, and his word has been accepted by the commonwealth, through the medium of the industrial accident board.

"When a man spends more than 10 cents a day for food he is paying for variety of flavors, for luxuries. He is not getting any added nutrition," Prof. Woodman says.

And his opinion is to be spread broadcast over Massachusetts. The state is going to see to it. Trained lecturers, bearing with them all of Prof. Woodman's data and charts explaining the findings of his research work, are going forth to educate the people in respect to proper eating.

The lectures will be based almost entirely upon a set of charts and stereopticon slides which have been prepared by Prof. Woodman, acting for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in co-operation with the commonwealth.

"It is the discriminating taste of men and women, not the requirements of nutrition, that makes the cost of living so high," Prof. Woodman explained. "If people would be satisfied with simple foods and willing to sacrifice varities and flavors, they could get along economically even in this country where foodstuffs are supposed to be extremely expensive.

"There is as much nutrition in 8 cents' worth of raw flour as there is in a $1.90 worth of raw oysters.

"Rump or sirloin steak costs more and is more pleasant to the taste than flank, but the latter contains exactly as much nutriment.

"Buying foods in packages increases the cost of living.

"One can get as much nutriment out of half a pound of stale bread costing 2 cents as from a quart of milk costing 8 cents.

"The person who chooses food as a result of an understanding of the food values may be as healthy on a low-priced diet as upon an expensive one.

"The difficulty with Americans is that they eat more for enjoyment than for nutrition."

Prof. Woodman drew forth another menu which called for an expenditure by one person of 21 cents a day.

"For breakfast, cereal, bacon, creamed potatoes, wheat bread.

"For luncheon, finnan haddie, boiled samp, lettuce salad, ginger bread, full cream cheese, Russian tea.

"For dinner," and the professor smiled, "a 24-cent menu dignifies the evening meal as dinner—clear turkey soup, roast mutton, escalloped onions, roasted potatoes, apricot ice.

"This menu, you see," he continued, "appears more appetizing. It is more expensive and may be considered in the way of luxuries or extras."

War Zone Trade Dangerous

Boston Globe: More than one American vessel now has been destroyed because of our attempts to trade with the belligerents in the European conflict. The greater the number, the greater the issue, but no matter how many American vessels are sunk by mines the issue remains the same. Steaming through mine fields is dangerous, however profitable.

If American ship owners want to send their vessels into danger they cover the risk with insurance. If the vessel is blown up the owners are compensated by thus bonding the danger.

Since an earnest attempt to frame an adequate code of international law governing marine mines lost itself in a sea of words and diplomatic definitions, it is hard to place blame upon any one except upon a civilization which cannot evolve any better means of settling disputes among nations than by war.

It is too bad that the insurance agents lost their money, but they did it with their eyes open. It is too bad that the Germans lost a cargo of cotton about to reach them. It is too bad that a man cannot trade with two men fighting a death duel, but it would be worse if this nation went to war about it.

The best way to deal with the problem is to find, if possible, the nation responsible for the loss and then send a bill, as we did in the case of the Alabama claims. As for the loss of life we must remember that men will work in places of danger for small pay in any part of the world. Law will not stop them. If they suffer we certainly feel regret for their loss, but that is no reason why we should endanger the lives of hundreds of thousands of our young men by going to war. If American seamen do not want to add the risks of their dangerous occupation they can refuse to man vessels bound for the war zones. It would shorten the war if they refused thus to carry supplies to the belligerents. If, however, they insist, then they must accept the responsibility of giving aid to one side or the other and accept the danger.

The New Life in Russia.

George Kennan in the Outlook: In the country—that is, in the peasant villages of Russia—the drinking of intoxicants has almost wholly ceased, partly because it is more difficult to get denatured alcohol and 60 per cent "wine" in the country than it is in the towns, and partly because the peasants regard the war very seriously and have cleansed themselves of the sin of drunkenness, just as a muzhik who is about to die puts on a clean white shirt. Sobriety, in the stress of peril and under the shadow of death, has come to be regarded as a moral and religious duty. Even the peasant women talk more about prohibition than they do about the war, and peasant children ask their mothers, "Will papa always be as he is now?"

Friendly Support.

Boston Transcript: "Oh, come, you mustn't be too hard on Bill. He has his faults, but there is one good thing about him."

"And pray, what is that?"

"Why, he—er—I can't recall it just at this moment."

Chauncey Depew

By Saxoyard.

Washington, March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The other day I was sitting in the lobby of the leading hotel of this town and near me stood a tall, well-proportioned, fine looking man, uncommonly well dressed and wearing a black derby hat. A stranger would have taken him to be under, rather than over, 50. He was talking with a companion—doing all the talking himself—who manifestly hugely enjoyed all he said. I determined to sit him out, wondering if he would stand as long as I sat. After the most part of an hour had expired a newspaper man of my acquaintance approached the two and the very distinguished looking person I speak of entered upon conversation with him. I knew it was an "interview" and that I would read it in the paper the next morning, which I did. I wanted to get away, but waited and waited and waited for the man to sit down.

Finally, after nearly two hours, he were me out. I left him standing talking. He was Chauncey Depew, and in a few weeks he will be 81 years old. He was here to attend the famous "Gridiron dinner" that was pulled off that night at the top loft of that hotel. He is an extraordinary man and I know of none other in our history who can be precisely, or nearly, classed with him. If he had devoted his talents to letters it is possible that Depew would have been the American Horace Walpole.

There never was another American who has been acquainted with so many folks of either hemisphere, or both, worth knowing, as Chauncey Depew. He was a chum of Edward VII, the first gentleman of the world and lately king of England. He and the German kaiser are intimate personal friends. He is hail fellow well met with the chancellors and sub-chancellors of every cabinet of Europe, and all the aristocratic society congregated at every capital of the Old World welcomes this man whom I will call rare Chauncey Depew because somebody called another, perhaps remotely kindred character, rare old Ben Jonson.

You can't think of Chauncey Depew without associating him with that very like character, Monckton Milnes, later Lord Houghton, who knew every character in the world worth knowing. I am not quite sure about the spelling of the name. Lord Houghton wrote a book of personal reminiscences that is one of the most delightful narratives ever penned, and not even Samuel Rogers himself had entertained so many distinguished people at breakfast. Thomas Carlyle, one day, when in exceptionally bad humor, even for him, was discussing with the poet, Tennyson, what reception our Blessed Redeemer would get if He had made His advent at that period—about 1858—opined that the only notice that the newspaper would give our Savior would be the announcement that Monckton Milnes had had Him a guest at dinner.

I only quote that to show that Lord Houghton knew everybody, and the grim old Scotchman did not mean any blasphemy by his suggestion.

Depew might have been president of the United States. The bosses wanted to nominate him in 1888, but Iowa served notice that his nomination would make that state as Democratic as Kentucky. Somebody ought to write the history of that convention. The Chicago Tribune came very nearly to success in its effort to nominate Walter Q. Gresham. It was a free trade paper and its editorial during the sitting of the convention on the speeches of W. O. Bradley and Joseph B. Foraker was the most remarkable piece of journalistic gymnastics I ever saw.

Finally, after Alger had shot his gun, the bosses concluded that Ben Harrison was the man. He was, and the only one of the lot who could win, as he did.

In 1892 Depew mugwumped and supported Horace Greeley against Gen. Grant for president; but he soon got over that and returned to the wallow of the Republican party. He was a business man and a lawyer, as well as a politician. You could not class him with Evarts at the bar; you could not class him with Conkling in the senate. Certainly he was not in the class of Blaine and Garfield in the lore of the politician. He is not even an eloquent man, or was not when in the senate.

In short, Depew is unique. We cannot match him. And a wonderful man he is, too, mentally as well as physically. I think it would have been well had he been elected president in 1888 instead of Ben Harrison. He was a business man and would never have tolerated the Sherman silver law that ruined Harrison's administration. He would have captivated the South. If any Republican could have done so, and I am sure eight years of Chauncey Depew in the White House would have made unnecessary the war with Spain to demonstrate the patriotism and the loyalty to the flag of the South.

Joe Blackburn crucified Depew in a debate in the senate on Goebellism in Kentucky. Chauncey had been coached by the Hon. Deboe, then a senator from Kentucky, and what Chauncey knew about the subject subtracted from the sum of the knowledge of it, as we Kentuckians know it. At that time—as now—I had no patience with Goebellism, but as Chauncey spoke I muttered that he had been poorly coached.

Joe did not know much about it, for you can't coach Joe, but he beat Chauncey. A heart to heart talk on mankind in general, of some twenty-four hours, with no others present, between Chauncey Depew and Joe Blackburn, taken down by the dictagraph, would make the best seller.

What a team it would be if they could be yoked!

Love Thy Mother.

Love thy mother, little one!
Kiss and clasp her neck again—
Hereafter she may have a son
Will kiss and clasp her neck in vain.
Love thy mother, little one!

Gaze upon her living eyes,
And mirror back her love for thee—
Hereafter thou may'st shudder sighs
To meet them when they cannot see.
Gaze upon her living eyes.

Press her lips the while they glow
With love that they have often told—
Hereafter thou may'st press in woe,
And kiss them till thine own are cold.
Press her lips the while they glow!

Oh, revere her raven hair!
Although it be not silver gray;
Too early Death, led on by Care,
May snatch save one dear lock away.
Oh, revere her raven hair!

Pray for her at eve and morn,
That Heaven may long the stroke defer—
For thou may'st live the hour forlorn,
When thou wilt ask to die with her.
Pray for her at eve and morn!

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—For an example of resourcefulness one may well turn to the incident in which Fingy Conners, well-known citizen of Buffalo, placed himself a while ago.

Conners was in Washington at the time President Wilson was going to read one of his addresses to congress, and there was a great demand for seats in the gallery. Admission was gained by special card only, and each congressman was allowed only one card. Conners went to Charlie Smith and Dan Driscoll, members of congress from his city, and asked them to provide him with a gallery seat. They both explained how sorry they were, but they couldn't do it. Each was allowed only one ticket and each had given his away before he knew Conners was in town.

"Well, well," observed Conners, "you're a hulluva pair of congressmen if you can't even get a constituent into the gallery. I guess I'll have to get in then on my own hook."

"Ah, but it can't be done," explained Driscoll and Smith. The rules are very strict, and if you tried to get in you would simply embarrass both the doorkeeper and yourself. Even Speaker Clark couldn't take you in. Fact is there is a limit on the seats provided for members of the president's own family."

"That may all be true about the president and Champ Clark," replied Conners, "but I'll bet you a pail of ink that I can get in."

"How?" chorused Smith and Driscoll.

"Oh, I don't know exactly how yet. Some way that I'll think up. Just come with me and I'll show you."

Panting with curiosity the two congressmen followed Conners up to the gallery floor. He led the way to one of the less frequented doors, where he laid his hand on the shoulder of the doorkeeper in a fatherly manner and began to talk to him.

"These gentlemen," said Conners, pointing to the congressmen, "are two constituents of mine who were a great help to me in my last campaign for congress, and I want them to have seats in the gallery."

"Very sorry, congressman," answered the doorkeeper, embarrassed at being unable to call him by name, "but you know we're under strict orders today to let no one in except by ticket. I'd like to oblige you, sir, but I don't see how I can."

"Well, if you can't, I suppose you can't," observed Fingy. "It's too bad, though, because I would like to accommodate these boys. They are awfully good fellows, and this is the first favor they have asked of me since I entered congress."

Then turning to Smith and Driscoll, he said:

"You see just how it is. I'll have to see you downstairs later on. I want to step down into the gallery now for a minute and speak to Phil Hicks. Go over to my office and make yourselves at home if you get tired." And he walked on down to a vacant seat, where he sat quite comfortably through the president's address.

For years William Jennings Bryan has been a careless person in regard to his correspondence. His inclination is to keep no copy of a letter, but to dictate it or write it out in long hand, and throw it into the mail, scarcely taking time even to read it over. His tendency is to follow the same system in the state department. Clerks about his offices have to hover about and watch him as a mother would a child, or he will seize a pen, hastily scratch off a state document and mail it to some ambassador with never a thought of preserving a copy for the department files. A while ago a clerk was obliged to dash up to one of the Washington embassies and copy off an important letter that Mr. Bryan had written without making any provision for preserving the contents of the same to the department and to posterity.

A Spelling Lesson.

Steel Plant News: What does Ghoughphtheightteeau spell?

Do you give it up? It spells potato—that is, according to the following: Gh stands for p, as you will find from the last letters in hiccough; ough for o, as in dough; phth stands for t, as in phthisis; eigh stands for a, as in neighbor; tte stands for t, as in grisette, and eau stands for o, as in beau.

Thus you have p-o-t-a-t-o.

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Better Than Some.

Baudette Region: Outside of a lot of unnecessary talking the present legislature appears to be better than some that have gone before.

Are Conservative, at Least.

Redwood Falls Sun: The defeat of the bill to call a convention to revise the state Constitution, by the lower house of the Minnesota legislature, would indicate that the majority of the members are considerable moss-grown, to say the least.

Two Good Bills.

St. Peter Free Press: There is now before the legislature a bill requiring school boards of independent school districts to publish their official proceedings and another bill providing for the publication of the personal property tax list. Both bills are meritorious and should become laws.

Has Made Good Showing.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The present state legislature has and is showing more inclination toward making laws that will be of benefit to the whole people than has any legislature that has been convened in Minnesota in many a long day, and if the trading does not become too tight we may expect a remedy for some of the state evils that exist.

The Gag Rule Plan.

Madison Independent-Press: The legislature of Minnesota is inclined toward setting the state up in the business of editing the newspapers. Possibly the people will find out one of these days that this meddling with the newspapers is not so much in the interest of the average man and it is in the interest of a certain brand of politician who would like to keep his record out of print. At any rate the papers can stand the gag rule plan if the public can.

No Reduction Yet.

Le Sueur News: Minnesota has too many boards and commissions, too many inspectors and salary-grabbers. The present legislature was elected to reduce the expenses, but nothing is doing to date, and more than half of the time is gone.

Sees No Extravagance.

Fairmont Sentinel: There is a good deal of claptrap about the extravagance of the legislature. Minnesota is a great and growing state and vast sums are legitimately required to meet the demands of its rise and progress. And, as a matter of fact, state taxes have never been excessive or oppressive and they would not be if they were doubled.

Truly Optimistic.

Heron Lake News: At an expense of $80,000 our state legislature has passed eight bills. Generally the less laws passed the better, and in this our solons will earn the thanks of the men who pay the bills.

Just raise the slide for the pent up ray,

Just share with the rest—the good reading, I mean—

An Elevator Boat.

In the harbor of Port Weller, the Ontario entrance of the Welland ship canal, says the Engineering News, the surveying staff uses a flat-bottomed boat that can lift itself clear of the water. It is a drill boat or sounding scow, of catamaran model, built particularly for the work of finding the elevation of the rock that underlies the bottom of the river. In order to have a steady platform on which to work during rough weather, the surveyors had the scow made with a slot at each corner through which a very heavy spud or post can be raised or lowered. The lifting mechanism consists of a wheel on top of each post, over which a wire cable passes from the side of the scow to an individual engine. When the scow heaves and sways in the water too much, workmen start the four engines, and presently the scow is standing firm, with its four stout legs on the bottom of the river.

Not to Him.

Indianapolis News: The usual large crowd gathered at Madison and Dearborn streets waiting for trolley cars. An elderly lady, red in the face, flustered and fussy, dug her elbows into convenient ribs.

A man on her left was the recipient of a particularly vicious jab. "Say!" she yelled at him.

He winced slightly and moved to one side.

She, too, side-stepped and thumped him vigorously on the back.

"Say!" she persisted, "does it make any difference which of these cars I take to Graceland cemetery?"

"Not to me, madam," he answered, slipping through an opening in the crowd.

Contrasts in the Day's News.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A Boston newspaper which in the summer of 1776 printed the Declaration of Independence as news, published the same day an advertisement for the sale of a slave at auction. But the contrast in the news of today is quite as extraordinary.

In Philadelphia we have in progress the greatest revival meetings ever witnessed. That fills a page, but other pages tell about the world's greatest war.

In the same issue are found details of our largest wheat crop, and the longest bread line seen in this city.

Mohammedans are driving the Jews out of Jerusalem, but the most exalted tribunal on earth—the United States supreme court—is seeing that exact justice be done to one Jew in Georgia.

A British king barely misses a bomb hurled from a hostile warcraft in air, while a Mexican president in a supposedly free republic flees from his capital to escape assassination.

The lights and shadows of news are quite as amazing now as when our ancestors solemnly declared that all men are equal and yet permitted nearly 1,000,000 people to be held in slavery.

The System.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Prof. Hugo Munsterberg said at the German-American chamber of commerce in New York:

"It is no wonder England has so many colonies. Look how she got them! It's the system!

"England, you know, would send an expedition headed by a missionary to some outlandish tropical place or other. The missionary would disembark on the white beach. He would gather the natives together under a palm, and, holding up his head, he would say:

"'Let us pray.'

"Then, while all the natives had their eyes shut in pious prayer, up would go the English flag."

The New Way.

Judge: "I never see you pay the slightest attention to your children," declared grandma, who had come on a visit. "Don't you love your children?"

"Now, don't be old-fashioned, ma," urged the fashionable wife. "Their governess is employed to do that."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

ONE VIEW OF THE CANAL TUNNEL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A mention was made in your paper a couple of times about a prospective tunnel under the canal. Since then silence. Keep the pot boiling!

Why do we always wait and hesitate? Thousands of men are idle. Give them work. Let Duluth be known as a city of activity and of enterprise, where people can work and not be confronted with starvation half of the time. That will draw more permanent settlers than all the noise and fancy pamphlets of a pampered club.

The city can never make a better investment than the building of the tunnel. Let it be done at once so that we may retain the bridge in its present workable condition as a "side-show" for gala occasions.

Submit the question of the tunnel to the voters at the coming election and the returns will surely have a wonderfully bracing effect upon the commissioners.

"OPPORTUNITY" AND THE ANSWER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I always think that the poem "Opportunity," printed last night, should never appear without Judge Malone's beautiful poem of the same title, to give hope and encouragement to those who think they are "down and out."

I enclose a copy of Malone's "Opportunity."

I would like the words of a hymn that begins:

"I am dreaming now of Heaven;
Dreaming of my home beyond."

Also the poems containing the following lines:

"Who gains his love shall lose her."
And,
"For care unclasps fond hearts;
But memory keeps fair youth's fond romance,
And love's eyes never beam so brightly
As when, though dreams, they glance."

Hinckley, Minn., March 2. M. G. NEWMAN.

"Opportunity."

BY JUDGE WALTER MALONE.

They do me wrong, who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door
And bid you wake and rise to fight and win.

Wail not for precious chances passed away;
Weep not for golden ages on the wane!
Each night I burn the records of the day;
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast?
Dost reel from righteous retribution's blow?
Then turn from blotted archives of the past
And find the Future's pages white as snow.

Art thou a mourner? Rouse thee from thy spell.
Art thou a sinner? Sins may be forgiven;
Each morning gives thee wings to fly from hell;
Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven.

Laugh, like a boy, at splendors that have fled,
To vanished joys, be blind and deaf and dumb,
My judgments seal the dead past with its dead,
But never bind a moment yet to come.

Tho' deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep.
I lend my arm to all who say: "I can!"
No shame-faced outcast ever sank so deep,
But yet might rise and be again a man!

THE GREATEST VIOLINIST.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please answer in your Open Court, who was the greatest violin player in the world, and who is at the present time? Which of the two is considered the better?

Hoping to see the answer in the Open Court, yours expectantly,

A GILBERT SUBSCRIBER.

Gilbert, Minn., March 2.

For the editor of The Herald or any other person to attempt to say who is the greatest violinist, or who was the greatest violinist, would be to lay him open to ridicule, and justly so. No man has heard all the great violinists of this and other ages. Even with those who have heard all the present-day masters of the violin there is a great difference of opinion. Some say Kreisler is the greatest, others Elman, others Ysaye, others Kubelik. Whether these men are the equals of such artists as Ole Bull or Paganini, or not, it is impossible for the editor to say, not having heard either of them. Bull died in 1880 and Paganini in 1840. He has heard three of the modern violinists mentioned, Kreisler, Elman and Kubelik, and prefers Kreisler, but that is merely a matter of personal taste. Many say Maud Powell is the equal of any of the men mentioned.—The Editor.

Sorrow on the Sea.

I stood on the shore of the beautiful sea,
As the billows were roaming wild and free;
Onward they came with unfailing force,
Then backward turned in their restless course;
Ever and ever sounded their roar
Foaming and dashing against the shore;
Ever and ever they rose and fell,
With heaving, and sighing, and mighty swell,
And deep seemed calling aloud to deep,
Lest the murmuring waves should drop to sleep;
In summer and winter, by night and by day,
Through cloud and sunshine holding their sway;
Oh, when shall the ocean's troubled breast
Calmly and quietly sink to rest?
Oh when shall the waves' wild murmuring cease
And the mighty waters be hushed to peace?

"It cannot be quiet, it cannot rest;
There must be heaving on ocean's breast;
The tide must ebb, and the tide must flow,
As the changing seasons come and go.
Still from the depth of that hidden store
There are treasures tossed up along the shore;
Carried away by the rushing main.
O strangely glorious, beautiful sea,
Sounding for ever mysteriously,
Why are thy billows still rolling on,
With their wild and sad and musical tone?
Why is there never repose for thee?
Why slumberest thou not oh mighty sea?

"Then the ocean's voice I seemed to hear
Mournfully, solemnly, sounding near,
Like a wail sent up from the caves below
Fraught with dark memories of human woe
Telling of loved ones buried there
Of the dying shriek and the dying prayer;
Telling of hearts still watching in vain
For those that will never come again;
Of the widows' groan and the orphans' cry,
And the mothers' speechless agony.
Oh, no, the ocean can never rest
With such secrets hidden within its breast.
There is sorrow written upon the sea,
And dark and stormy its waves may be;
It cannot be quiet, it cannot sleep,
That dark, relentless, and stormy deep.

"But a day will come, a blessed day,
When earthly sorrow shall pass away,
When the hour of anguish shall turn to peace,
And even the roar of the waves shall cease.
Then out of its deepest and darkest bed,
Old ocean shall render up its dead,
And freed from the weight of human woes
Shall quietly sink in her last repose,
No sorrow shall ever be written then
On the depths of the sea or the hearts of men.
But heaven and earth renewed shall shine,
Still clothed in glory and light divine,
Then where shall the billows of ocean be?
Gone! for in heaven shall be no more sea.
'Tis a bright and beautiful thing of earth,
That cannot share in the soul's new birth.
'Tis a life of murmur and tossing spray,
And at resting time must pass away.

"But oh! thou glorious and beautiful sea,
There is health and joy, and blessing in thee;
Solemnly, sweetly, I hear thy voice,
Bidding me weep and yet rejoice—
Weep for the loved ones buried beneath,
Rejoice in him who has conquered death;
Weep for the sorrowing and tempest tossed,
Rejoice in him who has saved the lost;
Weep for the sin and sorrow and strife,
Rejoice in the hope of eternal life."

Keeping Cool and Well

THE older notion of personal hygiene was largely concerned with keeping good and warm. The modern idea is rather to keep cool and well. Among the numerous communications from readers—old ones, most of them—who have taken issue with us regarding the teaching that nothing ever happens from rational exposure to the weather, one very confirmed lover of the fireside who suffers from what he calls winter cough, challenges us to explain in a scientific manner, if we can, how cold air can make for better health. He puts forth the undying argument that there is more sickness in the winter time than in the summer time, and, like many other confirmed believers in keeping warm at all costs, deduces therefrom the conclusion that cold weather must necessarily be unhealthful. He forgets altogether that in mild weather most people get more fresh air than in winter weather, most old people, at any rate. And we think all will agree that cold weather affects the elder folk more than it does the youthful ones.

A Logical Explanation.

Now, to explain on a scientific basis why cold air is more healthful than warm air. The body temperature, in health, is kept at approximately 98.6 deg. by (1) the production of heat under the regulation of certain nerve centers, and (2) the dissipation of heat from the skin surface. One cools more rapidly in cold air than in warm air, and the great sympathetic nervous system responds to the stimulus of cold air by producing heat more rapidly to compensate for the increased rate of dissipation. Hence metabolism is more active, and increased metabolism means that you can assimilate more food, and the increased appetite will make you stronger to fight off those germs which are trying to get the upper hand of you.

We would be pleased to hear from the reader who detects any fault in this logic.

Questions and Answers.

It Is Simple and Safe: Is the operation for hemorrhoids one which any good physician may perform, or must one go to a specialist?

REPLY.

Any physician can perform it. It is less difficult than reducing a fracture.

• • •

Bunion Can Be Cured: Your reply to one reader was to the effect that the patient must remain off the feet about two weeks after an operation for bunion. A chiropodist informs me that nothing can be done to efface a bunion. Kindly advise how to go about having a bunion removed.

REPLY.

Any physician who does any surgery at all can cure your bunion by removing the head of the bone, or of both bones, which enter into the formation of the joint. Nothing short of that will suffice, if the bunion has involved the great toe joint, as is usually the case in old bunions.

• • •

Something for Chafing: Will you please give a formula for chafing of the skin between the legs? I weigh 230 pounds.

REPLY.

Dissolve beta-naphthol powder, 1 dram; tragacanth, 1 dram; glycerin, 1 ounce, in boiling hot water, a pint. Shake it up repeatedly till all dissolved. Use a lotion two or three times a day.

• • •

Unpretentious Barber: My barber tells me the only cure for dandruff is to have an old Indian medicine man scalp me good and plenty. Would be obliged for a less painful method.

REPLY.

Well, if the barber really pronounced your case that bad, what's the use of doctors trying to treat dandruff? A stamped addressed envelope will bring some suggestions—but, mind you, we promise no cures.

• • •

Goiter: I have exophthalmic goiter and my eyes are glassy and staring. Can this be cured without operation?

REPLY.

If not too long postponed, medical treatment will restore some cases to health; others must be operated on to save life.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

CLAN STEWART HEADS O. S. C. LIST

Royal Chief Declares It Most Active and Prosperous of Order.

A. G. Findlay of Seattle, Wash., royal chief of the Order of Scottish Clans, was a guest yesterday of Clan Stewart, the local lodge of the order, at an all-day entertainment. Last evening a dinner was given at the Vienna cafe, recently purchased by Clansman John Macdonald, in the royal chief's honor, and nearly 100 members of the clan took part in the dinner, following which they all went to the clan hall, Fourth avenue west and First street. At the hall a class was initiated, and then a reception and program were given. About 250 clansmen were present.

Chief Findlay, in his address, complimented the clansmen on the showing made by Clan Stewart, which, he declared, is one of the strongest in the country, gaining remarkably in point of numbers and having gained a reputation for entertainment and hospitality unsurpassed by any other clan. He declared that, without question, Clan Stewart is the most active and prosperous one in the order. Past Royal Chief Simon Clark and others also made addresses.

A feature of the musical program that followed was a duet by Royal Chief Findlay and A. G. McKnight, who is royal counsellor, by the way. Messrs. Findlay and McKnight come from the same part of Scotland, Ayrshire, and are old friends. Others who took part in the program were James Dawnie, Dr. Annand and Robert Mowbray.

The clan decided to lease the Lyceum theater for one night in April and engage the services of the Baldwin players. The proceeds will be devoted to the clan's benevolent fund, established to aid needy Scots who are not members of the clan but who have been unfortunate.

The royal chief has gone to Minneapolis, where he will be the guest of Clan Gordon tonight, and will then go to Chicago to visit clans there.

TWELVE TO TRY FOR WALLACE CUP

Central Students Will Prepare Orations for Coming Contest.

About a dozen high school pupils yesterday afternoon responded to the first call for candidates in the Wallace cup contest to be held at the Denfeld high school on May 7.

The tryout to select the representatives from Central high school will be held during the middle of next month, it was announced yesterday afternoon. Those who entered will immediately begin preparation of their orations, which are to be under the direction of the English department.

The Wallace cup was donated by Dr. C. J. Wallace of this city and is to go to the institution in Duluth or Superior that scores the most victories in ten years. So far, Duluth has two victories to its credit and Superior Central three. This year entries are expected from the Central and Denfeld high schools of this city, and the Central and Nelson-Dewey schools from Superior.

TO VISIT SUPERIOR LODGE.

Temple Band Will Play at Entertainment Next Wednesday.

For the first time since it was organized last fall, the Temple band will make a visit to an outside lodge next Wednesday evening, when it will play for the entertainment to be given by the Superior lodge of Masons at the Masonic temple in that city.

The band, thirty strong, accompanied by a large delegation of Duluth Masons and their women guests, will play under the leadership of Charles Helmer, director and organizer of the musical body. A special program for the evening is now being rehearsed and the band's first visit outside of Duluth promises to be an auspicious one.

The Superior lodge is making special preparations for the evening, including a program of music by the band, several vocal numbers, cards and dancing. Invitations have been extended to all the Masons in both Duluth and Superior, and a crowd is expected to attend.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 7.

1 Samuel ix, 17-x, 1: Saul Anointed King.

CONNECTION.

Samuel judged the people a long time and brought out order and righteousness. But when he was old and his sons whom he had made judges were untrue to their father's principles the people began to ask for a regular king to be their ruler. Their motives were worldly; they wanted to be like other nations and have splendor and state and pomp. Samuel was greatly distressed and as usual went to God about it, but was told to be of good cheer, as the people had not rejected him but God Himself, and that they should have a king, the very kind of a king they asked for. The next duty was to find him. God had him selected, a splendid fellow, but one to show them the folly of their course. It was evidently His purpose to give them a line of kings, but not this one. Had they been patient and trustful He would have given them a king anyhow, just as He would have had His own way of bringing Jacob into the inheritance without any of the latter's trickery. Saul, the son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin is the young man chosen. This lesson tells how Samuel found and anointed him.

THE LESSON.

I.

Samuel Discovers Saul, 17-21.

"And when Samuel saw Saul, Jehovah said unto him, behold, the man of whom I spake to thee! This same shall have authority over My people. Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate, and said, 'Tell me, I pray thee, where the seer's house is?' And Samuel answered Saul, and said, 'I am the seer; go up before me unto the high place, for ye shall eat with me today, and in the morning I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thy heart. And as for thine asses that were lost three days ago, set not thy mind on them for they are found. And for whom is all that is desirable in Israel? Is it not for thee and for all thy father's house?' And Saul answered and said, 'Am not I a Benjamite of the smallest of the tribes of Israel and my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Wherefore, then, speakest thou to me after this manner?'"

1. PROVIDENCE. — God brought about the meeting in the most natural way. It was natural that when Kish's asses went astray he should get his great big towering son Saul to lead the men in the search, and that after fruitless search he should seek help of the prophet. It all came at the right time.

2. PREPARATION. — Saul made every preparation to welcome him, with the feast and special attentions. The confidence of the prophet, his carefulness, his reverence for the Lord's chosen are very marked, in spite of his dislike of a king and of God's condemnation of them for asking one. He was impressed with the character of the man, so large and imposing.

3. HONORS.—Samuel was not a hero worshiper but he knew how to act. He gave honor in having Saul go on in advance of him, for Orientals are very punctilious in such things and by all rules Samuel should have had Saul to follow; in getting up a special feast in his honor; in making him the guest of honor and saving the richest part of the sheep for him; in hinting to him that he was the hope of the nation. Of course it was a surprise to the young man, who overstated his modesty in his view of his tribe and his father's family. But he was given to know that something was coming. The greeting, the feast, the statement that the asses were found and his father was becoming uneasy about Saul himself affected him deeply.

II.

Samuel Entertains Saul. 22-24.

"And Samuel took Saul and his servant, and brought them into the guest-chamber, and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden, who were about thirty persons. And Samuel said unto the cook, bring the portion which I gave thee, of which I said unto thee, set it by thee. And the cook took up the thigh, and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, behold, that which hath been reserved! set it before thee and eat; because unto the appointed time hath it been kept for thee, for I said, I have invited the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day."

1. PUBLICITY. — Thirty invited guests at the table and Saul at the place of honor; special honors in their presence; the cook bringing the portions saved up for the guest of honor, the thigh and the fat. No better way to bring him favorably before the people could be devised. Those thirty people would talk and talk approvingly of the handsome, imperial young man. They would say he was the very kind of a man to be king and when he should be formally chosen, as he afterward was, they would shout and say "didn't I tell you so?"

2. RELIGION. — In anticipation Samuel had offered sacrifice the day before and there must have been a religious solemnity about the whole feast. There was an awe over the whole company coming through the serious and impressive Samuel and the kingly looking young man, also from the nature of the feast.

III.

Samuel Anoints Saul. 25-x, 1.

"And when they were come down from the high place into the city, he communed with Saul upon the house-top. And they arose early; and it came to pass about the spring of the day, that Samuel called to Saul on the housetop, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel abroad. As they were going down at the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant pass on before us, (and he passed on), but stand thou still first, that I may cause thee to hear the word of God. Then Samuel took the vial of oil, and poured it upon his head, and kissed him, and said, Is it not that Jehovah hath anointed thee to be prince over His inheritance?"

1. READINESS. — Surprising as it was to Saul, when the next morning Samuel stopped him as they came down from the hill top on which they had held the feast and took him to the top of the house where they could speak in private, yet he was ready for the new business to be intrusted to him. Ready because he was the son of an influential man, and had been well raised, was a man of the people, strong and self reliant, was reverent and teachable, though he had an undisciplined nature. He was the best choice that could be made. Besides, God was not ready to bring on the man whose family was to be permanent on the throne, so this man was to teach them lessons by his very failures.

2. ANOINTED.—After their talk Samuel had him send his servant on and made the anointing all the more impressive. The oil itself, according to an old custom; the aloofness of the two and the resulting solemnity; the kiss, not a part of the ceremony but a mark of personal interest and reverence for God's own choice; the assuring words—all these make the deed unique, unprecedented in any history. What Saul thought we may not know. It was sudden, entirely unexpected, overwhelming. He went on home and had a remarkable experience on the way. For awhile he went about his work as if nothing unusual had taken place, yet he was thinking and planning and soon was called to the throne by the choice of the people.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

He was the son of a farmer. Cincinnatus went from the plow to the dictatorship of Rome. Saul went from searching for his father's asses to the kingship of Israel. Not many farmers' sons have had such rapid and startling advancements, but the roll of the world's leaders contains the names of many farmers' sons. Perhaps the names of more farmers' sons are on that roll than of any other class in society. But Saul was the son of "a mighty man of valor." Parentage counts. It is worth much to be well-born. Blood tells.—Carson.

Ripened wisdom, calm trust, unhesitating submission cast a glory round the old man, who is now performing the supreme act of self-abnegation of his life-time, and, not without a sense of relief, is laying the burden, so long and uncomplainingly borne, on the great shoulders of this young giant.—McLaren.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. How have the most natural circumstances brought you to some new honor or responsibility?
2. How may we be best prepared for new situations?
3. How should we treat those whom God calls to great honors and duties?
4. Should humility or pride grow with growing honors, which and why?
5. What part may God have in the selection of our rulers?

POEM WRITTEN BY FANNY CROSBY

Plea in Behalf of Retired Ministers of the M. E. Church.

Chicago, March 4.—Fanny Crosby, the blind poet and hymn writer, who recently died, wrote a poem specially for the retired ministers, and in sending the manuscript to Rev. Joseph B. Hingeley, secretary of the board of claimants of the Methodist Episcopal church, she wrote the following interesting letter:

"I trust you will allow me to substitute a poem for the song I promised you. It seemed to me, after trying to compose the words of a song, that I could better present a plea in a poem to be read than in a song. I have written the same and enclose it.

"Could I voice my inmost thoughts
In words I am sure the appeal would touch every member of the church.
I pray that what I have written will touch many."

The following is the poem:

Love's Recompense.

BY FANNY J. CROSBY.

There is a work of love and duty
That devolves upon us all.
There is a tender, pleading message,
And its tones like music fall;
Help our weary veteran preachers
Scatter roses o'er their way;
Rally round them, hasten quickly—
Not tomorrow, but today.

DULUTH WILL BE REPRESENTED

Rotary Club Will Send Delegates to San Francisco.

Duluth will be represented at the national convention of Rotarians to be held next summer at San Francisco. Plans for a delegation from this city will be made this evening at the annual meeting of the Duluth Rotary club. Members will meet for a dinner and business meeting at the Spalding hotel at 6:15 o'clock.

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected and several other important matters will be taken up for consideration. It is proposed among other things to make the Northwestern convention, which comprises Minneapolis, St. Paul, Superior and Duluth, a permanent affair. The club may also discuss the matter of extending membership limitations. At the present time membership is allowed to only one representative from each profession or business.

The officers who have served during the last year are: G. H. Bate, president; Vern Culbertson, vice president; Charles W. Opal, secretary; A. H. Davis, treasurer; August Fitger, sergeant-at-arms; A. C. Klenly, statistician; E. J. Fillatrault, George A. Sherwood, William Burgess, E. W. Russell and J. H. Dight, directors. With the exception of Mr. Fillatrault, the terms of office of the directors end this year.

SEEK LAKE BOATS FOR COAST TRADE

Steel Vessels in Demand and Agents Are Searching Great Lakes.

The demand for vessels to carry on the coastwise trade on the Atlantic coast has caused a search to be started in the Great Lakes for available craft. According to reports representatives from several eastern vessel brokers have been in several ports along the Great Lakes seeking to purchase vessels.

The demand has been caused by a shortage of vessels that formerly carried on the coastwise North and South American trade. Many of these vessels have been taken out of this trade since the start of the war. According to reports this trade is developing faster than vessels now on the routes can care for it and other vessels must be supplied or the trade will suffer.

Only steel boats are wanted, it is said, and only such of these as are small enough to be taken through the Welland canal.

PASSAGE IS UNEXPECTED

Why Senators Voted for Repeal of Elwell Road Law.

Two-Cent Fare Bill Is Approved By House Committee.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The unexpected passage by the senate yesterday of the Vermilya bill repealing the Elwell road law is a note of warning to the friends of the bill.

The argument that passed the bill was that under the Elwell law counties may incur large masses of indebtedness, and subject the state to obligations; though the constitutional limitation on the amount of state road money any county can receive was declared by the friends of the Elwell law to be an ample safeguard.

The measure is a special order in the house for next Wednesday.

How They Voted.

The vote on the bill in the senate was as follows:

Those voting yes—Alley, Benson, Blomgren, Bonniwell, Buckler, Campbell, A. S., Campbell, W. Two-Cent Fare Bill.

Representative C. M. Bendixen's 2-cent fare bill was recommended to pass by the house transportation committee yesterday afternoon.

At the suggestion of the attorney general, the bill was amended so that in computing the passenger revenue, the passenger earnings of any company of which a railroad company holds the controlling interest, shall be included in that computation.

As passed two years ago, the supreme court construed the law to permit a railroad to charge 3 cents a mile for the first five miles of any trip. The intention of the bill was to permit a charge of 3 cents a mile for any trip of five miles or less. This bill clarifies that provision, prohibiting a rate of more than 2 cents a mile for distances exceeding five miles.

Railroad officials suggested an amendment giving the railroad and warehouse commission authority to increase passenger rates, if in the opinion of the commission the passenger earnings of a railroad warranted it.

Disinfection of Cars.

Disinfection of railroad cars used for the transportation of livestock was approved by the committee, and the bill providing a fine of from $50 to $500 for failure to comply with the rule was recommended for passage.

The committee also recommended to pass the measure compelling railroads to submit to the railroad and warehouse commission proof that there is a public need for a new road before work on the road is begun. An amendment was adopted exempting proposed new branches not exceeding twenty miles in length.

Railroad officials have opposed the bill on the ground that to make known their intention of building a new road or a branch would result in an increase in the price of property which they must purchase to carry out the plan.

Indefinite postponement was given the bill compelling street car companies to establish toilet rooms and drinking tanks on interurban cars. The committee also indefinitely postponed the bill forcing railroad companies to have the name of the shipper written on the outside of the car used for shipping perishable products.

RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN IN EXTREME SOUTH HOLDS MAIN INTEREST IN WAR

ing Fort No. 8 and Fort No. 9 in the narrows in the Dardanelles from a point ten miles within the entrance to the straits. French warships from the gulf of Saros are bombarding the Turkish positions at Bulair. A report has been current in London that certain big Krupp guns recently sent to the Dardanelles are still unmounted and an aerial reconnaissance made over the straits last evening seems to have confirmed this report.

The battleships of the allies, which now show all the colors of the triple entente by the addition of the Russian cruiser Askold, undoubtedly have turned the straits of the Dardanelles into an inferno which, according to British and French claims, has spelled destruction to the Turkish defenses.

A Real Flesh Builder For Thin People

A New Discovery

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of lots folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant harmless and inexpensive, and Boyce Drug store and all other druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.

On the other hand, reports from Constantinople declare this activity as ineffective. The Turks, however, do admit the destruction of the outer forts, which they say they expected, but they declare the inner works impregnable. The Turks rely on mines, but mine sweepers of the allies have been busy within a mile and a half of the forts destroying a Turkish mine field detected by a sharp-eyed aviator.

Canopus in Line.

Among other reinforcements which are said now to make the fleet off the Dardanelles number over fifty ships, is the British battleship Canopus, last heard of as anchored off the Falkland islands. In the Falkland islands fight the Canopus fired the first shot at the German squadron under the command of Admiral von Spee. The only craft which either French or British authorities report has been compelled to withdraw from the action is the British torpedo boat destroyer Zephyr, built twenty years ago.

In the political field it would appear that other neutrals are awaiting the lead of the United States before embarking on any course of action imposed by Premier Asquith's announcement of the regulatory policy of the allies. Meanwhile British newspapers are expressing some uneasiness because of the unfavorable impression the premier's announcement seems to have made upon American public opinion.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 4, via London, 3:44 p. m.—The developments in the eastern and western campaigns yesterday are reported as follows in a statement issued at the war office:

"Western theater of war: On the heights of Lorretto, northwest of Arras, our troops early yesterday morning occupied positions of the enemy 1,600 meters (nearly one mile) wide, capturing eight officers, 558 French soldiers, seven machine guns and six small cannon. Hostile counter-attacks during the afternoon failed.

"Renewed French attacks in Champagne were easily repulsed.

"A French attack in the Argonne, west of St. Hubert, failed. Counter-attacking, we occupied a French trench. In Cheppy wood also a French attack failed.

"One of the recent communications from the Eiffel tower declared that a German column, while marching across the height of Tahure (northeast of Souain) was successfully shelled. We must confirm the accuracy of this announcement. The columns consisted of French prisoners who were being led away and suffered a loss of thirty-eight killed or wounded.

"Eastern theater of war: Russian attacks northeast of Grodno led them into a flank fire from our artillery and failed. Northeast of Lomza, Russian attacks broke down with severe losses. In the region south of Myszniec and Chorzelien and northwest of Przasnysz, the Russians again attacked. On the remainder of the front there was no change."

French Statement.

Paris, March 4, via London, 3:45 p. m.—This afternoon's statement from the war office is as follows:

"In Belgium, on the dunes, our artillery demolished trenches of the enemy. To the north of Arras, near Notre Dame de Lorette, the enemy captured an advanced trench recently constructed by us in immediate contact with the German lines.

"The bombardment of Reims lasted all day, a shell falling every three minutes.

"In Champagne, it is confirmed that the German counter-attacks against the crest taken by us to the northeast of Mesnil were of a very violent character. Two regiments of the guards fought with great ferocity. The defeat of these efforts has been complete.

"There has been a cannonade in the Argonne, with fresh progress on our part in the region of Vauquois."

ASSAULT ON DARDANELLES IS RESUMED

was carried out under fire, is reported to have been excellent. The casualties sustained during the day were slight, amounting to only six wounded.

"Four of the French battleships operated off Fort Bulair and bombarded the batteries and communications.

"The operations at the entrance of the straits already reported have resulted in the destruction of 18 guns. 11 guns below seven inches, 4 Nordenfelt guns and 2 searchlights. The magazines at Forts No. 6 and No. 3 also have been demolished.

"A further report received states that on Tuesday the Canopus, Swiftsure and Cornwallis engaged Fort No. 8. A heavy fire was opened on them by Fort No. 9, together with field batteries and howitzers. Fort No. 9 was damaged and ceased firing at 5:30 in the afternoon, and although three ships were hit, the only casualties were one man slightly wounded and another lost.

"The seaplanes could not make observations on this day, but mine sweeping operations were continued. The attack is still in progress.

"The Russian cruiser Askold has joined the allied fleet off the Dardanelles."

BILL TO EXEMPT DULUTH AND TWIN CITIES FROM COUNTY OPTION LAW

made to prevent the congestion that occurred when the county option bill was up. Red roses for the antis and yellow jonquils for the pros were much in evidence.

The debate was opened by Dr. J. W. Andrews of Mankato for the bill. Senator J. W. Pauly of Minneapolis spoke against it. Senator Sageng, author of the bill, was to make a talk for it, and Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater was to lead the fight against it.

To Probe Bridge Contractors.

The house this morning unanimously adopted the C. H. Warner resolution providing for a committee of three to investigate the charge that there is a combination among bridge contractors to hold up prices. Mr. Warner stated that he had received letters from many counties strongly supporting the charges.

While the house was considering the Searls-Murphy-Bendixen bill, authorizing the state auditor to lease state lands for garden and home sites, gravel pits, etc., Representative Scott of Hibbing tried to put on an amendment to let the village of Buhl out of its liability for gravel taken from state land, and to allow villages and cities to get materials from state land at half price. The amendment was opposed because it was stated that the village had been warned not to trespass. Representative Bessette said the village did not want to pay for the trespasses of private individuals that had followed it on the land. The amendment was overwhelmingly defeated and the bill was advanced to the calendar unamended.

School authorities are forbidden to impose religious or political tests on teachers, or to consider such things in making appointments, by a bill introduced in the house this morning by Representative Steen of Winona.

Bible in the Schools.

Representatives Bjornson and Stoetzel introduced a bill in the house authorizing the reading of the Bible in public schools, providing that any pupil bringing a request from his parents to that effect may be excused from such reading.

• • •

Representative Bjornson introduced the so-called road house bill, forbidding the issuance of liquor licenses outside of incorporated cities or villages.

• • •

C. T. Murphy of Aurora, seconded by E. R. Ribenack of Duluth, put the bill amending the municipal court act through the house this morning under suspension of the rules.

• • •

The house roads and bridges' committee put in the R. C. Dunn bill amending the road law as a committee bill, and had it made a special order for a week from tomorrow.

• • •

The Efficiency Bill.

The house efficiency and economy committee this morning voted to recommend the efficiency and economy bill for passing, and to ask that it be made a special order for next Wednesday. The report had not reached the house up to noon.

• • •

Bills introduced: Senator Putnam and Representative Christianson, licensing and regulating insurance agents; Representative Christianson, prohibiting unfair discrimination between localities in the sale of lumber and materials; Representative Spooner, appropriating $6,000 to connect the Crookston agricultural school with the Crookston water supply; Representative Christianson, repealing the law authorizing counties to appropriate money for development and advertising; Representatives Searls and Warner, the bill creating the Jay Cooke state park; Senator W. A. Campbell, providing for a ten-hour work day in stores and restaurants, and a nine-hour day in factories and telephone and telegraph establishments.

if one were organized, thus increasing the burdens of taxation upon everybody.

The house chamber and galleries were packed with the crowd. The delegation from the ranges and Duluth that came down to appear against the bill numbered close to 150, but there was a full attendance of the members of the towns and counties committees of senate and house, and many senators and representatives not members of the committees were present to hear the arguments.

The time was limited by the committees, the opposition having an hour and a half to speak against the bill, and the proponents being allowed an hour to finish. However, the opponents of the measure overran their time about ten minutes, and the friends of the bill were allowed without check to run half an hour beyond their time.

Representative E. R. Ribenack of Duluth opposed the limitation of debate. He said that at the hearing a week ago when the friends of the bill presented their case they were allowed an hour and three-quarters without interruption, and he thought the opposition ought to have as much. Representative Scott of Hibbing wanted to make the speeches alternately for and against the bill. However, Representative Bjornson of the committee thought the members ought not to be asked to stay too long, so the limitation prevailed.

Mr. Washburn Speaks.

J. L. Washburn of Duluth was the first speaker.

"It is natural," he said, "to ask what gap in the laws the authors of this bill have discovered? We find that there is no gap, but that there is a law providing for the division of counties, founded on the principle of majority rule. There are some limitations in that law, so the county-manufacturing machine cannot go on indefinitely multiplying offices and increasing expenses, but it is a fair law, and has served the state well.

"Why, then, this bill? Why take up the time of the proposed new legislature with making new law on the subject? The title of this bill should be corrected so as to answer this question. It would then read: 'To add a bill for an act to make it possible for certain groups of individuals to organize from one to three new counties out of St. Louis county, create and hold a large number of offices, levy taxes on property which they do not own, collect and expend the same to their mutual profit and supreme enjoyment.'

"The authors do not even propose to let the people vote on the proposed county, but propose division by petition. If that is not a lightning touch at county division, I don't know what is.

Should Be Popular Vote.

"The historic policy of this state is that there should be a popular vote on such matters. Never has there been a law in this state providing for the organization of new counties without the vote of the people in all the territory affected. There was a law once by which the people in an unorganized county could attach themselves to another county by petition. That law was a mode of purity compared with this bill, but it was so bad that it was repealed by the next legislature.

"Unless you want to take such medicine as this in other counties, don't hand it to us in St. Louis county. There is no occasion for division, and if it were submitted to the people of St. Louis county today, there would be a majority of 5,000 against it. But that is no reason why the people of St. Louis county should be disfranchised, as is proposed by this bill.

"The very fact that the bunch of gentlemen who have been working for this bill don't want the people to vote on it ought to condemn it. There is no possible reason for county division—in the distribution of county appropriations, offices or anything else, Duluth is as easily reached as any town would be that could be named as county seat of the new county."

Ranges Well Treated.

T. W. Hugo of Duluth said that though the Duluth end predominates in St. Louis county, it is fair toward the rest of the county, and he showed that in the distribution of road money the ranges are getting their full share.

"Duluth has been fair and generous with the northern part of the county," he said, "and has worked in co-operation with its people for the best interests of all."

Mr. Hugo made a comparison between the costs of road building under the county and under the township of Stuntz, showing that both stretches were ready for gravelling on conditions were the same; yet the cost of completing the road was $500 a mile under the county and $2,500 a mile under the township.

N. B. Shank of Biwabik rose to enter a protest against county division. "It is for the best interests of all concerned that we remain as we are. I have talked with many settlers and homesteaders, and they are unanimously against division."

Eveleth Mayor Opposes Bill.

J. S. Saari, mayor of Eveleth, made a vigorous talk against the bill.

"I have lived twenty-two years on the Mesaba range," he said, "and I am for anything that will help it. If I thought county division would help it, I would be for it, providing all the people voted on it. It is a business proposition pure and simple. If this bill became law, my taxes would be increased without benefit to me, so I am against it. It is unjust to divide the county without giving all the people a chance to vote on it. It is un-American. Division would mean more offices, and that is the main reason why the bill is here. There is nothing to the argument that the county is large. It would take as long to go from Eveleth and Virginia to a county seat at Hibbing as it does to go to Duluth.

"They talk about roads. I am for roads—I need them more than the lawyers and politicians who are here for this bill. We are getting roads as fast as we can make them, and we are not being discriminated against. The people of my section are against this bill. I hope you will give us a square deal, and kill the measure."

Mr. Saari presented a large petition from farmers near Eveleth protesting against the passage of the bill.

G. I. Idzorek of Floodwood, in behalf of the settlers of that section, "people of small means seeking to better their condition in life," opposed division because "it means more expense and more taxes."

Solomon Sax of Eveleth said that a majority of the people of Eveleth are against county division for fear of greatly increasing expenses and taxation. The settlers, he said, are unanimously against it.

John Owens Protests.

John Owens of Cook, a pioneer of the county, made a ringing speech against the bill; incidentally opening up on the lavishness of the village of Hibbing.

"We are proud of our county," he said, "and do not want it divided. We are proud of the state. If we want to go to the capital, we are content to go to St. Paul. We don't want to go to Brainerd just because it is nearer. We don't want to go to Hibbing as a county seat, and if they don't change their tactics there none of you will want to go there.

"I took a walk through the streets of Hibbing the other night. I was amazed. If you could take this committee by standing rain to Hibbing, keeping divisionists and anti-divisionists away and just letting them look around, you wouldn't have to say a word against this bill.

"That little town of 10,000 people is not satisfied with a street light on every corner, there must be five lights to the pole, eight poles to the corner and two more standards between the corners. You need smoked glasses, almost, to walk along those streets, and they tell me that they have to put blinds on the chicken coops or the chickens would die of insomnia, thinking it was always daytime.

"If we want division, all we want is the right to vote on it, all of us, the whole county. We don't want special legislation against the best interests of the whole county. We would like to see the county held together while we develop it.

"The push for division now is simply a push for the chance to spend the money that could be raised in the new county."

Protest From Virginia.

Dr. C. B. Lenont of Virginia said he might be against for county division as a matter of local pride, but as a citizen of Virginia and of St. Louis county he was against it on the ground that it would be opposed to the development of agricultural resources.

"The advocates of this bill told you they were for it because it would help agricultural development. We are against it because we want agricultural development. Our future does not depend on iron ore, which will go, but on the development of the soil. Having a million-dollar courthouse and a billion-dollar county government won't help develop our county. Many people of my section oppose division because they believe it to be against their best interests. We ask you to kill this bill for our welfare and for the welfare of the state."

H. H. Phelps of Duluth said that St. Louis county looks big on the map, but that that is not a question nowadays of distances, but of convenience of doing business. He pointed out that the railroads all run into Duluth from all parts of the county, and that there are many trains daily. Nowhere except in the Twin Cities are there such railroad facilities.

"Mr. Owens," said Mr. Phelps, "might have explained that the men who are spending money extravagantly in the range communities are the men who expect to spend the money of the new county, and who therefore are pushing it.

"If you do this for St. Louis county, many other counties will want the same thing, and there are several counties where the inconveniences of getting to the county seat are much greater than they are in St. Louis county."

Opposition From Buhl.

A. W. Shaw of Buhl pointed out that the per capita tax rate in Hibbing is $66, in Virginia $77, and in Buhl $153, and protested against a new county in which similarly lavish expenditures could be expected.

"The law now gives us the right to vote for it if we want a new county," he said, "and we should be satisfied with that."

Andrew Nelson of Duluth said that this is not a contest between Duluth and the range country, as the members must have seen. There are many people against it in all the range communities, and absolutely none for it in the farming communities, but violent opposition.

"The friends of this bill," he said, "do not even rise to the dignity of a respectable fiction. St. Louis county is working with all its might to make itself greater and the state greater. Don't let this measure sunder us. It is undemocratic, unprogressive, un-American."

George Mesberg of Eveleth, J. S. Reyburn of Kinney, Albert Kitto of Tower, Simon Shapiro of Chisholm, Joseph Feinberg of Eveleth, R. Maturi of Chisholm and Henry Selley of Biwabik made short talks against the bill.

Vermilion Against Bill.

A. S. James of Ely said he was a plain business man from the Vermilion range, come to register his voice in protest against the bill.

"We are perfectly satisfied with conditions as they are, and ninety out of a hundred on the Vermilion range are willing to let them stand. But if we were not satisfied, we would not try such underhand tactics as the gentlemen from the other range have tried. We would come out in the open with a fair fight. But they know that they can't win in a fair fight, so they try this way. We are here because we are in dead earnest, and opposed to this underhand way of robbing us of our rights."

John Jenswold, Jr., of Duluth said that if a new county were created a reckless expenditure of the large amount of taxes that would be raised would follow. "That," he said, "is why we who own property there on the ranges are here against county division. There should be larger counties and fewer, not smaller and more numerous. Nowadays people do business by mail and telephone, and we do not need a county seat within reach. I have done business with Register of Deeds Calligan for two years, right in Duluth, and I never even saw him.

"Dividing the county means doubling the expense and taxes."

Commercial Club's Protest.

R. B. Knox, speaking in behalf of the Duluth Commercial club and its 1,200 members, said that he had been sent to register as vigorous a protest as he could. "The character of the bill," he said, "is a menace to the whole state. I hope the bill may be defeated. County business can be done and is being done efficiently and economically in the present county."

Rev. William Forney Hovis of Duluth appeared in behalf of the Rotary club to express opposition to the bill.

"It is a question," he said, "whether the people of St. Louis county or a small minority are to be given power."

Alfred Merritt, one of the developers of the Mesaba range, said that for thirty years his ambition had been to see St. Louis county the largest and strongest county in the state. "I saw the Twin Cities dominate," he said, "and I wanted St. Louis county to take the lead, not only in her own interests, but for the best interests of the whole state. It is to the best interests of the whole county that it pull together—united, a power; divided, of little account. I hope you will not divide St. Louis county."

The time allowed the opposition having elapsed, Former Senator H. W. Cheadle of Duluth said that only about a fifth of the opposition speakers had had a chance to enter their protests, and he asked all those opposed to division to arise. About a hundred and fifty men stood in response to the call.

Speakers for the Bill.

The speakers for the division bill, introduced by Senator C. Harold Griggs of Virginia, floor leader in behalf of the Power-McMahon county division organization, were M. H. McMahon and W. J. Archer of Virginia, Mayor Joseph Austin of Chisholm, and Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing.

The principal talk, and a very clever one, was made by Mr. Power, the chieftain of the county division forces. His answer to the charge of extravagance was that for many years the large interests controlled the range counties, but of late the people had taken the government into their own hands, and were doing things according to their own liking. He said that he was not a politician, though he had been elected mayor of Hibbing by the votes of the people and hoped to be re-elected; that he did not expect to make a dollar by county division; and that his "only interest in the subject was his interest in humanity."

Incidentally, he took up the opposition speakers, one after another, and made personal attacks on each, charging that personal and selfish motives actuated them in coming.

He also said that the county division bill would be amended so as to provide for a vote of the people—but of the people in the proposed new county only.

Representative Ribenack of Duluth wanted ten minutes for opposition speakers to reply to the Power attack.

Tried to Prevent Reply.

Senator Griggs opposed this, and Chairman Green of the house committee sustained him.

Representative Neitzel, however, moved that the time be allowed, and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Washburn was called upon, and replied to Mr. Power as above; adding that the proposed change in the bill did not make it any less objectionable or unfair. "It is still wrong, still unjust, still unnecessary," he said. "If the people want county division, they can get it by the statute that has served for many years."

On motion of Representative Bjornson, the committee adjourned. It will meet within a few days to act on the bill.

SIXTY- THIRD CONGRESS PASSES INTO HISTORY

tion of thanks to Vice President Marshall for his services as presiding officer of the senate.

Shows Burst of Speed.

Congress showed an unexpected burst of speed and practically finished its work today nearly two hours before the time of adjournment.

Two of the principal appropriation bills, the postal bill and the Indian bill failed at the last moment and joint resolutions were passed extending the current appropriations for the post-office department and the Indian bureau over the next fiscal year.

The house, cleaning its slate before 10 o'clock, settled down to wait for noon. Democratic Leader Underwood making his last speech on the floor. For he goes to the senate in the Sixty-fourth congress—declared the house had done its work and it would not be the fault of that body if the government's finances were not cared for.

The senate, after securing from the house extension of the postal and Indian appropriations, went into executive session to work on nominations.

President Wilson went to the capitol at 10 o'clock and promptly began signing the accumulation of bills and resolutions. All hope of passing the ship bill, the Philippine bill, or the conservation measures had been abandoned and while the President worked, both houses marked time with the hands of the clock to touch 12 noon.

Tributes to Leaders.

In the house the last hour was devoted to tributes to Speaker Clark, Representative Underwood and Republican Leader Mann.

Representative Palmer announced the presentation of a portrait of Mr. Underwood to be hung in the hall of the ways and means committee. In doing so, Mr. Palmer said:

"There is no doubt Mr. Underwood soon will be the leader in the senate. He is one of the greatest Americans in his time."

In the senate, some of the senators who are retiring from public life made farewell addresses.

Careful consideration of the public interest in conservation legislation and the development of a larger spirit of comity between the United States and foreign nations, particularly those of Central and South America, was urged by Senator Burton, who was ending twenty-two years' service in congress. Instead of giving so much attention to questions of state rights and national control, he urged senators hereafter to consider first the public interest.

President Works Steadily.

While the speaking was going on in both houses, President Wilson worked steadily in his room, consulting members of his cabinet and senators briefly about each bill and signed many measures in quick succession. Among the most important were the neutrality resolution passed early this morning, a resolution giving medals to the "A. B. C." mediators for their work at the Niagara conference and the regular appropriation measures.

The tribute to Speaker Clark was led by Republican Leader Mann, who eulogized the "able and loved speaker," and presented a resolution thanking him for his services. It was passed as the house rose to its feet with a tumult of applause and cheering. When it subsided the speaker said:

"The multiplicity of honors and kindnesses that this house has heaped on me goes straight to my heart."

Mr. Clark paid a tribute to Republican Leader Mann, Progressive Leader Murdock and Representative Underwood, and said in conclusion:

"I hope every member of the house will enjoy this long vacation—if in the providence of God it turn out to be a long one. And I hope that the blessings of God may rest upon each and every one, those who are to come back as well as those who retire to private life. And may God bless us, every one."

Almost Continuous Session.

The Sixty-third congress, first under complete domination of the Democratic party since 1895, had been in almost continuous session since President Wilson's inauguration two years ago. Beginning with an extra session called by the president April 7, 1913, the congress has worked actually 637 days.

Much important legislation was accomplished, but much contemplated, some of it hard pressed by the president and party leaders, was left undone. It is the present intention of the president and his advisers to give congress a rest. Rather than force an extra session, they would leave the remainder of the administration's constructive aspirations to a new congress next winter, which, although under Democratic control, will have a greatly reduced majority in the house.

Principal Measures Passed.

Foremost in the enactments of the Sixty-third congress were:

The Underwood-Simmons tariff act, with the income tax, which replaced the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

The Federal reserve act, reorganizing the currency system.

Anti-trust laws to supplement the Sherman act, including the Clayton law and Federal trade commission act, the former providing for punishment of individuals who violate business regulations and the latter establishing a government institution to aid in keeping business within the law.

Repeal of the Panama canal tolls exemption for American coast-wise shipping.

Act directing the building at a cost of $35,000,000 of a government railroad to the mineral fields of Alaska.

Act to regulate cotton exchanges and to penalize dealings in purely speculative cotton future sales.

A special internal revenue tax, commonly called the "war tax."

A government war risk insurance bureau to insure American ships against the hazards of war, and an act providing for the transfer of foreign-owned or built ships to American registry.

Failed to Pass.

Of those measures which failed of enactment or could not be considered for lack of time, the following are regarded by Democratic leaders as paramount:

Bill for government purchase or charter of transoceanic ships for the establishment of an American merchant marine which encountered the most stubborn filibuster in the history of the senate, created an insurgent movement in the Democratic ranks and held up general legislation for weeks of the last session.

The immigration bill, including a literacy test for admission of aliens, which passed both houses, was vetoed by President Wilson and failed by a narrow margin to repass the house on a motion to overturn the veto.

Conservation measures urged by the president to provide a new system for leasing of water power sites and a leasing system to open the mineral resources of the country.

Bill to enlarge the measure of Philippine self-government and to extend promise of ultimate independence to Filipino people, a measure which passed the house and was approved by a senate committee.

Regulation by the interstate commerce commission of the issue of railroad securities, originally a part of the administration's anti-trust program.

Rural credits legislation contemplating the establishment of a system of farm mortgage loan banks, persistently urged throughout the congress.

Died With End of Congress.

In addition to the foregoing, scores of general legislative bills covering a wide range of subjects died with the end of the congress, among them, measures for Federal road improvement, general waterway development, reorganization of the civil service, to prohibit importation of convict-made goods, and several measures for reorganization of the army.

The last session of the congress was notable, too, for the failure of two great issues, national prohibition and woman suffrage. Proposed constitutional amendments precipitated two of the most exciting legislative battles in the history of the house of representatives, both measures failing to receive a necessary two-thirds vote.

Foreign relations of the nation were constantly to the fore almost from the beginning of the congress, the Mexican situation requiring close attention from the outset, as has the European war. Throughout the session the president and the senate foreign relations committee were in frequent conference, and much was done to restrain unusual demonstrations which might have disturbed international tranquillity. Early in the session general arbitration treaties with several great foreign powers were renewed for five-year periods, and twenty-six peace commission treaties providing for investigation of international disputes before resort to arms were negotiated and ratified. A treaty to enforce the regulations adopted by the London safety-at-sea conference was ratified last December, but with an amendment making reservations which came too late for other powers to consider, thus preventing enforcement of the convention. A treaty with Nicaragua providing for acquirement of the Nicaraguan canal route and naval stations for $3,000,000 was left unratified by the senate, and the pending treaty with Colombia directing payment of $25,000,000 for the Panama canal strip was held in by the foreign relations committee.

Other Important Enactments.

The closing session of the congress was almost wholly devoted to appropriation bills, the ship purchase bill fight and a few general measures. Aside from appropriations, about the only important legislative enactments included the creation of the coast guard by consolidation of the life-saving and revenue cutter services; reclassification of grades in the diplomatic and consular service; requirement of registration of and imposing special taxes upon all dealers, manufacturers or importers of opium, or its derivatives, and the creation of the Rocky mountain national park in Colorado.

Much debate on the condition of national defenses enlivened the closing session. Proposals for special investigation of the preparedness of the nation for war all failed. House naval and military committees, however, conducted public hearings on the subject in connection with the military supply bills.

Two Successful Filibusters.

The congress also was marked by differences between President Wilson and some Democratic senators over patronage; a spirited contest over confirmation of nominees for the Federal reserve board; two successful filibusters—one in the summer session against the rivers and harbors appropriation bill and the other the fight of Republicans and Democratic allies against the ship purchase bill; an unsuccessful effort in the senate to establish a cloture rule to limit prolonged debate; institution of a special inquiry into outside influences exerted against the ship purchase bill; a general lobby investigation which extended for many months, and proposal of an inquiry into senatorial campaign contributions.

With the fall of the gavel today many senators and congressmen long national figures passed into private life. Senators who retire are Root of New York, Burton of Ohio, Perkins of California, Thornton of Louisiana, Bristow of Kansas, Stephenson of Wisconsin, Crawford of South Dakota, Camden of Kentucky and White of Alabama. Representative Underwood leaves the house to go to the senate. Scores of representatives in the house give way to new members.

Take Short Recess.

Washington, March 4.—The house shortly before 5 a. m. agreed to the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill and then recessed until 9 a. m. As agreed to in the house it retained the railway mail pay provision changing the system of pay to railroads from a weight basis to payment for car space used.

The senate conference finally agreed to this proposal after a deadlock and a proviso was attached to the new plan under which the postmaster general or railroads representing 51 per cent of the railroad mileage of the country may appeal to the interstate commerce commission to establish whether the rates fixed are reasonable.

When the house reassembled at 9 o'clock the future of the Indian and postoffice bills in the senate was regarded as so certain that a resolution was passed extending the present appropriations over the next fiscal year.

With that the house settled down to waiting for the hour of adjournment.

In the senate another attempt to break the opposition to the Indian bill failed and some Republican senators gave notice they would talk the postoffice bill to death.

Appropriations to Continue.

Last year's appropriations, which under the house resolution would continue another year were $813,000,000 for the postal bill and $9,700,000 for the Indian bill.

Beginning at 9:30 o'clock President Wilson kept "open house" and a steady procession of senators and representatives of all parties went from the Capitol to the White House to shake hands with the president and say good-bye.

After the Indian and postoffice appropriation resolutions had been passed in the house, Majority Leader Underwood made the following statement:

"The house has attended to all the public business that it had to attend to. It has disposed of all the appropriation bills which came before it or could come before it. If the differences of the government are not taken care of now, it will not be the fault of the house."

President in Room.

Shortly after o'clock President Wilson left the White House and went to his room on the senate side of the Capitol to sign bills and meet congressmen in the closing hours.

When the Indian and postoffice resolutions were brought into the senate, supporters of the regular bills made a last appeal in their behalf, but the opposition stood firm and the senate then passed the house resolution extending the current Indian appropriation over the next year. That laid the Indian bill in its grave and the senate proceeded to consider the postoffice resolution.

After a very brief debate the senate adopted the postoffice appropriation resolution, also, and the appropriation program of the last session of the sixty-third congress was complete. The senate then went into executive session to work on nominations.

President Wilson, meanwhile, in his room near the senate chamber, went to work signing the accumulation of bills and resolutions.

BURNING TANKER ENDANGERS SHIPS.

Alicante, Spain, via London, March 4.—An explosion of petroleum yesterday under the forecastle of the Belgian tank steamer Tiflis, from New York, caused the death of one member of the crew, while six others were badly burned. The fire spread so rapidly that port authorities abandoned hope of extinguishing the flames and devoted their energies to preventing them from spreading to other ships in the harbor.

A message has been sent to Carthage asking that a warship be dispatched to sink the Tiflis and thus avert peril to shipping.

The Tiflis, a tanker of 1,845 tons, sailed from New York Feb. 10 for Alicante.

CUT THIS OUT

Old English Recipe for Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

If you know someone who is troubled with catarrhal deafness or head noises, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Experiments conducted in England some time ago seem to prove conclusively that catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., were directly caused by constitutional trouble. It was further brought out that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint, and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money were spent in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The prescription which was eventually formulated and which has aroused the belief that catarrhal deafness and head noises will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it ½ pint of hot water and 4 ozs. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action, the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease. —Advertisement.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS

AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full, bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisurated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisurated magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G. —Advertisement.

NOT YET READY TO MAKE REPORT

Playground Expert Is Still at Work on His Outline.

T. S. Settle, field secretary for the Playground and Recreation Association of America, has been in Duluth almost a month preparing his outline for an all-year system of play. His work is costing $136 a week.

The money for this survey, a total of $1,500, was raised by public subscription last fall, but $272 of this amount was pledged by the city welfare department. Mr. Settle said yesterday that he is not ready to make a report. On his arrival here last month he declared that the work would take at least six weeks and possibly two months.

FORGOT TO RENEW LICENSE.

Saloon Keeper Must Close Up Shop for Three Days.

Because Thomas Holmer, proprietor of the saloon at 521 West Michigan street, forgot to make application for a renewal of his license within the proper time, he will be compelled to close his saloon at 11 o'clock tomorrow night and remain closed until next Wednesday.

City Clerk Palmer yesterday received Mr. Holmer's petition and this morning arrangements were made to hold a special meeting next Tuesday afternoon, when formal action will be taken by the council.

As soon as the council passes on the petition, Mr. Holmer will be able to reopen his saloon, which will probably be Wednesday morning.

HIS THIRST REMAINED

Life in Wilderness Failed to Reform Willette, Says Wife.

Gets Divorce When Removal From Ashland Proves Unavailing.

Transplanting Arthur Willette from a city to a quiet community which has never been disturbed by the revelry of a licensed saloon failed to work a much hoped-for reformation. And because Arthur found a place even in the wilds of a Northern Minnesota woods where he could get a supply of the spirituous stuff, he backslid and again fell into his old habits. Pearl Willette, his wife, came into district court today and secured a divorce from him after relating the story of their married life to Judge Fesler.

The Willettes were married at Ashland March 26, 1910. Willette spent a considerable portion of his time hanging around the saloons and squandered what money he could obtain gambling, she said. The result was that she and the children had to want for many things that would be considered necessities in most families. Mrs. Willette decided that a change might bring her husband back into the path of right living and she persuaded him to go to Bartlett, Minn., a station on the Canadian Northern railway, where he obtained employment as a section hand.

Although removed from temptation and old associates, he began to slip and it was not long before he was back in his old habits. On one occasion, Mrs. Willette was taken to a hospital in Duluth. The physician who attended her prescribed brandy and she had a quart bottle of it in her room at the hospital. Willette called on her one afternoon and during his three hours' visit with his wife consumed nearly all of it.

Last July, he abandoned her and the children and returned to Ashland. She is 24 years of age and he is 39.

John E. Brotherton, 45, West Duluth fuel dealer, was granted a divorce this morning from Ida S. Brotherton, 38, on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness. They were married Sept. 20, 1912, and lived together at times until about six weeks ago. Mr. Brotherton testified that he did not know that his wife was an habitual drunkard until after he had married her. She was married on two former occasions. He was married once before.

In Judge Ensign's division this afternoon, Darcey E. Cloutier and his wife, Malvina C. Cloutier, are at loggerheads in a contested divorce action. Cloutier sued his wife for divorce on the grounds of cruelty. On the stand this morning he told of an instance where she had used a pair of corsets as a weapon to strike him with. On Oct. 15, 1914, he stated she hit him over the nose until it bled and then boasted about the act to others. Mrs. Cloutier in a cross bill also charges cruelty. Cloutier is defendant in a criminal prosecution charging him with wife desertion. The case is pending trial.

Alice Rantz, 30, was granted a decree of divorce from Harry E. Rantz, 32, this morning in Judge Fesler's division on the grounds of cruel treatment. They were married at Moorhead, Minn., Aug. 6, 1910, and lived together in Duluth until April 22, 1913. She testified that she refused to have anything to do with him when she discovered that he was receiving money to support himself and her from the proprietor of a house of ill-repute in Montana. Before her marriage her name was Alice Champagne. Her parents reside in Pine City.

* * *

Minnie Kurth, 27, told Judge Fesler this morning that constant nagging on the part of her husband, Rudolph Kurth, 37, brought about an illness which necessitated her removal to a hospital. She was granted a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. They were married Aug. 29, 1906, at Iron River, Wis., and are parents of one child, George, aged 7, the custody of whom was given to the mother.

* * *

Edith Amo was granted a divorce from Alfred Amo on the charge of desertion. They were married May 23, 1902, and are parents of one son, a boy aged 5, the custody of whom was awarded to the mother. While they were living at 113½ East Third street, on Feb. 8, 1913, Amo left her and went to Canada, she said. He returned last January. Mrs. Amo has been making her livelihood as a seamstress.

* * *

Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon granted a divorce to Anton Erjovec from his wife, Angela Erjovec, who informed the court that his wife and Matt Bukevich, the man who broke up his home, are serving terms in the state penitentiary for adultery. They were married at Suarta May 17, 1903. The conviction of his wife and Bukovich was secured some time ago in the range division of the district court. The alleged act of infidelity occurred at Biwabik on Aug. 11, 1913.

* * *

Judge Ensign granted a divorce to Mrs. Emma Helene Jensen, 36, from her husband, Peter Oscar Jensen, 49, in district court this morning. The couple were married in Norway on Jan. 12, 1899. Mrs. Jensen charged her husband with drunkenness and cruelty. She was also given the custody of their child, Victoria, age 14.

* * *

Desertion also were the grounds upon which decrees were granted in three other cases tried this morning, Judge Fesler granted Herbert N. Westaway a divorce from Alyse M. Westaway. Judge Ensign granted John W. Wetterlind a separation from Alice Wetterlind and Agatha Rozanska from Mike Rozanska.

Steamer Northern Pacific Makes Successful Trial Trip.

News was received at the local office of the Northern Pacific railway today that the trial trip of the new Atlantic steamer Northern Pacific was an eminently satisfactory one. The trial was made from the Cramps' shipbuilding yard in the East.

The telegram received by the local officials stated that the machinery of the big boat behaved in excellent manner and that a trial record of twenty-four and a fraction knots an hour was hung up. The weather was said to be unfavorable for fast time. The ship will be delivered March 16 for sailing.

LIKED UNION LABEL.

But Tailors Objected and M. Lieberman Was Arrested.

Because he used a union label on a suit that wasn't made in a union shop, M. Lieberman, 30 West First street, a tailor, was brought into municipal court this morning by Police Sergeant Englert, charged with an unlawful use of the label. He will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

Lieberman sold a suit to Thomas Moore, a strong union man, and when Moore saw the union label, according to police, he became suspicious and investigated. F. A. Johnson of local No. 97, Journeymen Tailors, swore out a complaint and Lieberman now is trying to decide whether to join the union or not.

He says the man who made the suit works in his shop and is a union man, although the shop itself is non-union.

LINKS PRODUCERS AND CONSUMERS

Postoffice Will Act as Agent for Settlers Near Duluth.

The parcel post as a link between the producer and consumer will have a practical test in Duluth. Butter and eggs will be the commodities handled, and it is expected that excellent results will be obtained at both ends of the line.

Postmaster McEwen has received many inquiries recently regarding the possibility of establishing such a system through the parcel post, and he has obtained the names of a number of butter and egg producers who wish to sell to the consumer direct. Any person within the first parcel post zone who wishes to buy butter or eggs direct from the producer is asked to call at the stamp window at the Duluth postoffice. All such persons will be put in touch with producers who have handed in their names expressing a desire to sell produce.

In this way the consumer will be given an opportunity to obtain butter and eggs while they are fresh, at a low cost eliminating the middleman's profit.

NEUTRAL MEN ON NEUTRAL VESSELS

Captains of neutral merchant vessels on the high seas should take care that their crews are composed of subjects of neutral states only, according to information received at the Duluth custom house this morning from A. L. Thurman, acting secretary of the department of commerce, bureau of navigation, at Washington.

The German ambassador has sent the following note to the United States, according to Mr. Thurman:

"The imperial government deems it of extreme importance to military interests that while this war lasts, neutral merchant vessels visiting German ports be manned by subjects of neutral states only.

"I have the honor to beg your excellency so to advise American interests concerned."

RUSSIAN WHEAT A GREAT FACTOR

Why the grain trade is so deeply interested in the attempt of the allies' fleet to open the Dardanelles to traffic is explained in data regarding Russia's grain exports as prepared by an expert.

He says: "Until last year Russia had for several years been furnishing an increased proportion of the world's wheat supply in the export trade. In the season of 1911-12 Russia exported 14 per cent of the world's exports. In 1912-13 its exports of 105,672,000 bushels were 16 per cent of the world's exports, and in 1913-14, out of a world's total exports of 665,224,000 bushels, Russia actually exported 173,704,000, or 26 per cent.

"The Black sea is the assembling area for the shipments of both the Danubian and the Russian exports in the main. These two supply areas together contributed the amounts of wheat which found outlet in larger part through the Dardanelles:

Bushels.

	1913-14	1912-13	1911-12
Russian	173,704,000	105,672,000	78,865,000
Danubian	81,072,000	63,856,000	76,416,000
Total, Black Sea	254,776,000	160,528,000	155,281,000
Per cent. world's	35	25	26

"This," comments the Wall Street Journal, "takes no account of Russia's enormous rye supply. Out of a world's total commercial supply of 1,841,000,000 bushels in 1913, Russia alone grew 1,002,000,000 bushels. The rye crop, together with the wheat crop of 962,000,000 bushels, gave that country a production of breadstuffs of 1,964,000,000 bushels. Russia's exports of rye are ordinarily into Germany and Hungary. Since her new crop of 1914-15 was grown she has been at war with these two countries. Almost all of her exportable rye and wheat have had little or no chance to seek an outside market.

"Within the last three years Russia has built a system of warehouses throughout her surplus grain country by which the cereal crops have been carried much more safely. Movement to seaboard can be prompter. This fact will make the supply the more readily available, if the Dardanelles be broken through. Russia's armies are largely moved to the frontiers and her railroads are less needed for troops and supplies.

"Russia has within the past five years exported as much as 231,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour in a single year. A recent report that her land forces would co-operate to clear the strait, may be the result of a necessity to find grain markets for that country's surplus. Russia's charges on her enormous foreign debt are contributed largely by her grain exports."

DARNELL'S SANITY IS QUESTIONED

Chicago, March 4.—Rev. James Morrison Darnell, the former Kenosha, Wis., preacher, who is under indictment on charges of violating the Mann act, is to undergo an examination into his sanity. This was learned today when Darnell was kept in the Federal marshal's office after an order that he be taken back to Milwaukee Saturday had been entered before a United States commissioner. Darnell's bond was fixed at $5,000.

The inquiry by insanity experts will be conducted by two physicians selected by Darnell's counsel and one selected by the government. The result probably will form part of the testimony in the coming trial of Darnell at Milwaukee.

Appeal By Arizona.
Washington, March 4.—The state of Arizona appealed to the supreme court today from the decision of the Federal district court which held unconstitutional the Arizona anti-alien employment law against which Great Britain and Italy had protested as a violation of treaty rights.

IRON AND STEEL TRADE IMPROVING

Business in the iron and steel trade is steadily becoming more satisfactory, according to reports from the leading manufacturing centers.

It is said that daily specifications on contracts were much heavier during February than in the preceding month, and it is expected that many heavy contracts on which figuring has been going on will be placed during the present month. The Carnegie Steel company is reported to be operating at 65 per cent capacity; the American Sheet & Tin Plate company at 95 per cent capacity, and independent tin plate operators are working at from 75 to nearly 100 per cent capacity. The plate mills of the United States Steel corporation at Homestead, Pa., are said to be going at over 75 per cent of their capacity. The increased active operations were further indicated by the putting in blast of three more stacks by the Steel corporation last week.

The tremendous demand for war materials from Europe is said to be responsible for the placing of many orders for lathes and other machine tools, and manufacturers of that class of machinery are extremely busy in the Cincinnati and Pittsburg districts. It is intimated that Pittsburg plants have started to work on $25,000,000 worth of shells for Russia.

Referring to conditions, the Iron Age says:

"Spelter is again a dominating factor. Galvanized sheets are up $3 a ton over last week, or $8 advance in two weeks, to the highest figure for years. To add to the uncertainties, the operation of some of the unionized sheet and tin plate mills is checked temporarily at least, until employer and employe come to an understanding regarding the proposed wage reduction.

"Fresh round lots of rails, wire rods, skelp and barb wire have been sold for shipment to belligerent countries, and inquiry is active for steel for shrapnel shells and wire, with sales of the latter for deliveries up to July."

Aid Commercial Travelers.
In an effort to assist commercial travelers in covering their grounds, the Great Northern railroad has increased the number of freight trains upon which they are permitted to ride, and has done away with the necessity of 'drummers' producing permits before they can be accorded that privilege, according to a circular letter just issued by the road to Duluth wholesale houses.

Managements of wholesale establishments here are especially interested in the concession accorded to take the way freight between Superior and Grand Rapids, Minn. This privilege will enable salesmen to cover the towns on that route much more readily.

New Catholic Church Also Planned for Growing Town of Goodridge.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The construction of a new three-story brick building will be started in this city soon. It will be erected on the lot adjoining the Evelyn hotel on the west, by J. O. Lien and C. A. Heen of Grafton, N. D. They are in the city consulting with local contractors in regard to the construction of the block.

The first floor will be used by the owners for a modern "movie" theater and the second and third floors have been leased by J. Provencher, proprietor of the Evelyn hotel. This will provide the hotel with thirty additional rooms.

To Build Catholic Church.

A Catholic church will be built in the village of Goodridge, about twenty miles east of this city. Father Adolph Dingman of this city is pushing the proposition. He has been soliciting funds for the last week and already has nearly the necessary amount. The plans call for a building 24 by 44 feet, which will be a structure of ample size that will be a substantial addition to the village of Goodridge.

As soon as spring opens up building operations in Goodridge bid fair to assume the proportions of a boom. Although the place is only a year old there are at present about 400 people living there. Every available store building and residence in the village is occupied and more people are locating there every week.

DEFUNCT CONCERN IS TO BE REORGANIZED

North Dakota Improvement Company's Reorganization Plan to Go Through.

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the old North Dakota Improvement company will be reorganized at the meeting to be held here March 10 now appears certain. It is asserted that 70 per cent of the stockholders have agreed to a reorganization and will accept stock in the proposed Western Realty company, the new name that has been suggested, at the rate of 75 per cent of their holdings in the original company. It is thought by the date of the meeting a sufficient number of other stockholders will agree to reorganization to bring the percentage up to 80 per cent.

The company owns the Improvement building, a five-story affair, and the Park flats in Fargo, the Improvement building in Grand Forks, the Great Northern and the Sevilla hotels at Devils Lake, the Sheyenne apartments at Valley City, some farm lands in the northern part of the state and some city lots in Fargo, all of which is regarded as good property that will work out all right with a little time.

Peterson, for a few years past, has been the butter maker at Gully and in odd moments worked in the Melbo store. At the time of the robbery, which resulted in the loss of $82 in cash, Peterson disappeared. Through the postoffice the address of Peterson was learned, with the result that Bolstad arrested the man before he got up on a farm ten miles from Antler.

Quickest, Surest Cough Remedy is Home-Made

Easily Prepared in a Few Minutes. Cheap but Unequaled

Some people are constantly annoyed from one year's end to the other with a persistent bronchial cough, which is wholly unnecessary. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make you wonder what became of it.

Get 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any druggist, pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking it at once. Gradually but surely you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether, thus ending a cough that you never thought would end. It also loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals the inflammation in a painful cough with remarkable rapidity. Ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, winter coughs and bronchial asthma.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup mixture makes a full pint—enough to last a family a long time—at a cost of only 54 cents. Keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant. Easily prepared. Full directions with Pinex.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its ease, certainty and promptness in overcoming bad coughs, chest and throat colds.

Get the genuine. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FIRE PREVENTION IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Fourth Annual Meeting of Forest Protective Association Held.

Marquette, Mich., March 4.—The achievements of the Northern Forest Protective association in the way of fire prevention in the Upper Peninsula were told at the fourth annual meeting of the association just held here with about eighty members present when the following officers were chosen:

President, Thornton A. Green, Ontonagon; C. V. R. Townsend, Negaunee, vice-president; C. H. Worcester, Chassell; P. H. Smith, Traverse City; A. E. Miller, Marquette; J. E. Sherman, treasurer, Marquette; W. H. Johnson, Ishpeming; Thomas B. Wyman, secretary, Munising; and H. C. Wise, assistant secretary.

Secretary-Forester Wyman in the course of his annual report on what the association has accomplished said: "Today we have a membership of nearly 175 corporations, firms and individuals who realize the work we are doing because of the fact that their money has been paid into it. In the four years of its existence this association has actually expended the following amounts:

"1911, $11,879.78; 1912, $14,575.55; 1913, $17,108.88; 1914, $19,614.12.

"$20,000 a year from private interests for the protection of the forest lands of this peninsula is no mean appropriation and the broad-guaged benevolent spirit of our membership is evident when it is considered that 175 concerns are doing the work which 500 and more should do and are paying for it.

Bemidji, Minn., March 4.—Judge B. F. Wright yesterday discharged the jury in the case of Frank Bertram against the Northern Pacific railroad company after it had been in deliberation for more than sixteen hours and failed to arrive at a verdict.

Mrs. Maish asks $2,000 damages because of injuries received by her husband in the saloon of Newton at Funkley, it being alleged that Newton, on Oct. 23, 1914, sold liquor to one Edward Smith, knowing the latter to be intoxicated. DUKE OF WELLINGTON TO PLAY WITH THE LINDERITES

Hockey Star Who Has Menaced Duluth in the Past, Will Assist in the Attempt to Defeat the Western University Team.

The Duke of Wellington, well known here as a menace to Duluth supremacy, has joined forces with the Duluth curling team. The Duke is to play with the locals Friday and Saturday evening against the Western university team.

Wellington will replace Jack Barkell, who has been carried as spare all of the present season. When Brother Russ Barkell was injured, Brother Jack was sent in to fill the breach. While no insinuations against the ability of Brother Jack are meant, the facts in the case point to the conclusion that Brother Jack failed to fill the hole caused by the retirement of Russ.

In Wellington the locals have secured one of the speed boys of the Western country. Like the justly famous "Hammy" Baker of the Winnipeg Vics, Wellington fairly flies down the ice. Wellington will play at center and his presence in the lineup of the Duluth team is expected to increase its strength and greatly accentuate its chances of defeating the Western University players.

Visitors Are Strong.

It is generally expected that the visitors will prove to be the strongest team that has played on the local ice this winter. The defeat of the Clevelands is the best proof of this belief.

Right at present time the curling club team is playing the strongest game of the year. The team work is smooth and machine-like, and the defense work could hardly be improved upon. The team struck its gait in the return game with St. Paul. Against the Winnipegs, in the second contest, the locals gave one of the best exhibitions of the season.

While the absence of Barkell from the lineup undoubtedly weakens the team, it is believed that the addition of Wellington will place the Curling club septet upon as strong a footing as it has been during the present successful season.

The lineup:

Duluth—		London—
Nicholson	s	Chapman
Linder	p	Ross
Bogan	cp	Hall
Bert Mohan	r	McAvoy
Wellington	c	Ritchie
Jack Mahan	rw	Edwards
Olson	lw	Arthur

KETONEN IN FINE SHAPE

Little Finn Is Right for the Battle With Yokel.

Emil Klank Confident That Old Mike Will Win.

BY BRUCE.

Emil Klank is expected to tow Mike Yokel, the Rocky Mountain Lion, into port on Saturday of the present week. On Tuesday evening of the coming week it is expected by a large number of followers of Waino Ketonen that he will submarine the great Yokel and send him to the dry dock for repairs.

The little Finn's victory over Walter Miller has imbued his followers with a vast amount of confidence. The Miller that went down to defeat before Mike Yokel and the Miller that succumbed in crying pain to the fury of Ketonen, were not one and the same athlete, in point of ability.

Miller made the effort of his life for six months to climb to the top of the middleweight heap, an ambition that the little Pole has fondly cherished for some five years.

All of last summer, unmindful of the heat of a real Chicago summer, Walter toiled away in the gymnasium. This work was supplemented last fall by the long preparation for the Peter match. Again Walter hiked down to Chicago and worked away. Miller made quick work of Peter.

For the contest with Ketonen Miller worked as he never prepared for any previous encounter. He knew the Finn was good, but never entertained a doubt but that he could defeat him. The Miller that Ketonen defeated was Miller at the top form of his entire career.

It might be stated that Walter confidently expected to meet and defeat Mike Yokel after disposing of the little Finn.

Ketonen Is Confident.

As the time approaches for the meeting between Yokel and Ketonen, it must be said that the quiet confidence of the little Finn increases.

"I think I can defeat Yokel," is the daily plaint of little Waino. "He beat me when I was crippled up and should have been in the hospital attending to my arm. I can't figure out how he can beat me now."

Ketonen is in better shape right now than when he met and vanquished Miller. The little Finn worked yesterday for an hour and a half, never taking a deep breath. At the conclusion of a rough soiree in the middle of the mat the breathing of Ketonen was hardly accelerated.

"Waino might have been in better shape for Miller," said his acting manager, Ostberg. "Ketonen is in better shape right now than when he went against Miller. Ketonen is ready to meet Yokel right now. We don't think Yokel can win; we don't think there is any middleweight in the world who can beat Waino. Once this boy wrestles a man, he generally knows a lot about him. That explains why he is so confident of his ability to defeat Yokel. We knew nothing about Miller. Around here we were told that he would beat Ketonen to death. Well Waino has wrestled Yokel and tried out all of his holds. Ketonen expects to win and once more show the fans here that he is one of the greatest in the world of his weight.

Klank Also Confident.

Emil Klank is also confident that Yokel will be returned the winner. The former manager of Gotch has always said that Mike was the daddy of all of the middleweights. While Klank holds that the little Finn is one of the greatest of them all, he still maintains that Mike will eventually wear him down and pin his shoulders to the mat.

Another thing, Klank declares that Yokel will mix with the Finn and will not try to make a stalling contest of it.

FARGO DOG SHOW AWARDS ARE MADE.

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The awards in the dog show were completed today by Dr. George W. Clayton of Chicago, who is judging all classes. The owners of the blue ribbon winners were exhibiting their pets with a great deal of pride, and the attendance was especially large this forenoon. Many people have waited till the ribbons were placed, that they might be better able to judge the class of the show.

TRACK MEET ENDS IN TIE

High School and Y. M. C. A. Hold Great Contest

A tie in the aggregate score resulted last evening in the indoor track and filed meet between teams representing the high school and Y. M. C. A. Without counting the last two events, which were disputed, the score stood 40½ points for each team.

The half mile run and relay race were the final events on the program. One of the judges awarded the contest to Olson, and one of the other judges called the race a tie event. Again in the relay race one of the judges held that a Y. M. C. A. runner over ran the line and failed to touch his team mate. This decision was not concurred by the other judges and the result of the contest was disputed.

The events of the program were well contested. Hrutford of high school was a star, totalling 26 points and made new records in the 100 and 200-yard dashes.

The summary:

Twenty-five yard dash—Martin, first; Hrutford, second; Berkiemann, third. Time, 3 1-5 seconds.

One hundred yard dash—Hrutford,

MANY TEAMS ARE COMING

Outside Entries for Northern Bowling Tourney Pouring in.

Secretary Nick Jenson of the Northern Bowling association stated today that there will be more than fifty five-men teams entered in the Northern tourney. Four new entries were secured yesterday. There are more than forty teams entered to date. The largest tournament ever held at the Head of the Lakes was competed in by twenty-nine teams, so that it will be seen that the tourney that will open on March 12 will be by far the largest in the history of local bowling circles.

The West Hotel team of Minneapolis, the Sherman Hotel team, the Artistico team and the American Cubs, all of St. Paul, sent in their entries yesterday.

It is stated that there will be twelve teams from Minneapolis alone, including the crack Centrals, one of the strongest teams in the state, and that St. Paul will send eight teams up. In addition to the teams from the Twin Cities, there will be something like fourteen teams from Duluth, and teams from Superior, Virginia, Chisholm, Ashland, Hibbing, Ironwood, Eveleth, Ely, Gilbert, and other surrounding towns.

GILMORE MAD; MAY START SOMETHING

Declares O. B. Has Acted Unethically; Federals Unsullied Since Hearing.

Chicago, March 4.—Threats of further legal complications are seen in a statement issued last night by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal Baseball league.

"I am greatly surprised that organized baseball should have induced our players to break our contracts, while our suit is pending in the United States court," he said. "The players referred to who have been induced by them to break their contracts with us since the hearing are Austin and Perritt. Caldwell and Wingo were taken after the complaint was filed.

"We have not taken a player since the hearing, or before, who was under a contract with them. I am going to Indianapolis to consult our attorneys and see what steps can be taken. If the Federal court decision is in our favor, we shall, of course, bring up these offenses in a supplemental complaint, but it is doubtful if anything can be done in advance of the decision."

Macon, Ga., March 4.—George Stallings, manager of the Boston Nationals, gave out the following statement last night relating to the signing of Pitcher William James:

"James' contract was made at his own solicitation and has two years to run with the Boston club. It was made in the presence of witnesses at James' own request. He dictated the terms of the contract, insisted upon the ten-day clause being elminated and stated before witnesses that with the figure of his contract he would be satisfied for the rest of his life. There could be no deceptive information, for the Federal league was not mentioned during the execution of the contract."

Marlin, Tex., March 4.—W. D. Perritt, former St. Louis pitcher, who has reported to the training camp of the New York Nationals, asserts that he has returned to the Pittsburg Federal league club every penny of the salary advanced him and that he is under no obligations to the Federals. The pitcher's contract runs for two years.

MOELLER IS IN DULUTH

Author of Boxing Bill Thinks Measure Will Pass House.

George H. Moeller of the Minnesota house of representatives, author of the 10-round boxing bill that is in committee at the present time, is in Duluth today.

Mr. Moeller declared that there would be a public hearing on the bill Monday. Representative Moeller confidently expects that the bill will pass. He declared that boxing as it is conducted at the present time is not brutal nor harmful.

"I have taken in all of the recent contests held in Wisconsin," said Mr. Moeller, "and have failed to see any brutality or any objectional features. Boxing, when conducted under proper jurisdiction, is a clean sport."

NO HELP BY MAJORS FOR INTERNATIONAL.

New York, March 4.—Statements made in quarters identified with major league baseball that the National and American leagues had put $50,000 at the disposal of the International league as a fund to help it out of its troubles, brought about by the Federal league invasions of its territory, are denied in a statement given out at international league headquarters here. Secretary William J. Manley signed the statement.

No comment was made on the other features in the report of last night that assurances of help from the big leagues had been received by the International and that aid would, in part, take the shape of payment of portions of the salaries of players sent by American and National league clubs to the International league.

HOUGHTON WILL STAGE HOCKEY TITLE GAMES.

Calumet, Mich., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Calumet started the negotiations for a national championship hockey game between the fast teams of the Sault and Cleveland, Houghton has beaten this city out in staging the contests.

Manager McNamara of the Amphrodome rink, Houghton, last night closed negotiations with Cleveland and the Sault managements to have the championship games played during the last of next week at Houghton, outbidding Calumet for the series.

FRED CURTIS TO LEAD SUPERIOR

So Says Baseball Report—Cy Bennett Is After Pilotship.

Fred Curtis will lead the Superior baseball team the coming season, according to the announcement unloosed yesterday in the village across the bay. Thus does Fred return to his first love, having been manager of the Winnipeg club.

It is stated that Danny Klick, who played in the Northern league, in the lineup of the Eau Claire team five or six years ago, has been signed as shortstop for the Superior team, and that Bill Dunn, the veteran, is to play second base.

Cy Bennett of Duluth, who has played in the old Northern league and in various leagues of the country, is after the managership of the Superior team. Cy is going to hold a conference with Sommer upon his return from the Twin Cities, he stated today, and make an application for the pilotship, providing that the deal with Curtis is not formally closed.

It is understood that Persh has returned his contract unsigned. However, it is stated that there are a number of youngsters that will try for the team.

Wins Amateur Event.

Philadelphia, March 4.—Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., defeated Corwin Huston, Detroit, 400 to 335 in yesterday afternoon's game of the Class A 18.2 balk line amateur billiard tournament for the national championship. Heddon had high runs of 56 and 53 and his average was 8 40-45. Huston's best effort was 26 and his average 7 27-44.

SIGNS SIXTEENTH TIME WITH PIRATES.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 4.—Honus Wagner, the veteran shortstop, signed his 1915 contract with the Pittsburg National league baseball club here yesterday.

The contract, which calls for $10,000 per year, was the sixteenth he has made with the local club.

Twenty-five Pirates will leave here Saturday night for Dawson, Ky., where the spring training will begin.

BIG DULUTHS BREAK UP TIE

The three-cornered tie in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league was broken last night when the Big Duluths won from the high school seven by the score of 4 to 0. The Two Harbors team completed the double bill of the evening by defeating the lowly Bagleys by the score of 3 to 1.

Olson clearly featured the play for the Big Duluths. The speedy rover scored the first goal in two minutes and the final cage in the second half. Capt. Alder of the clothiers scored the other goal.

The high school team showed well on offensive, often rushing the puck into the Big Duluth territory, but the defense of the studes gave way before the brisk attack of the league leaders.

Parsons played the star game for the high school boys.

Two Harbors Come Back.

While the recent disorganization of the Two Harbors team did not in the least serve to increase the condition and team play of its members, the railroad gang nevertheless played a fair article of hockey.

Somewhat weak in team work, the suburbans came back and played strong enough to hand the watchmakers a beating.

Beland of the visitors scored in the first two minutes of play. Capt. Le Fleur followed with a cage in the next two minutes. Irving of the Bagleys scored at the end of fourteen minutes of fast play. Sullivan scored the only goal for the railroad gang in the second half, the contest in this period being close and very fast.

REFUSES MONEY FOR PANAMA TRIP

Congress Cuts Out Appropriation Asked By Secretary Garrison.

Washington, March 4.—Many features of the elaborate exercises planned for the formal opening of the Panama canal in July will be abandoned as a result of the action of congress in refusing to make the appropriation for the purpose asked for by Secretary Garrison of the war department.

The appropriation requested was to defray the expenses on a trip to the canal of President Wilson, members of congress, members of the diplomatic corps, representatives from foreign governments and other special guests including Former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft. Provision also was to be made for a banquet and other entertainments on the isthmus, for gold medal souvenirs and for the printing of special invitations.

It was intimated last night that the president himself would not go to the formal opening, which is planned for July but it is possible that he may change his present plans.

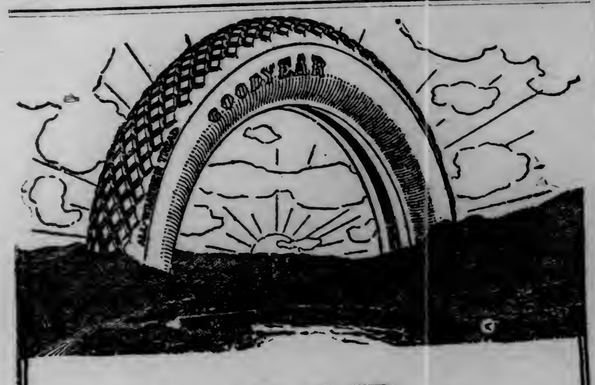
The navy department has an appropriation for sending the fleet to the canal and it was said that some kind of exercises probably would be held.

SENT MAIL THREAT.

Is Charge Made Against Ishpeming Man Under Arrest.

Marquette, Mich., March 4.—Tony Denrody of Ishpeming has been arrested at Ishpeming and brought to the county jail by Federal authorities to answer to the charge of sending a "Black Hand," or threatening letter to Capt. Duncan Campbell of Ishpeming and others.

It is said that several letters were mailed and the matter was then put in the hands of postal authorities. M. M. Duncan is also mentioned as receiving one of the letters. For several days a secret service man conducted an investigation but without results and the police, who had also been working on the case, obtained several clews which led to the suspicion of Denordy's 14-year-old son. The lad was detained by the officers and admitted, it is alleged, that he wrote several letters at the dictation of his father. This was denied by the father.



Fortified Tires Now in the Light

The supreme test of a tire is to hold top place—the place in the sun—and for years. Goodyear tires have done that. Long they have led, both in sales and prestige.

Men expect much of the top-place tire. They look for a super-tire in it. Any seeming fault, due to mishap or misuse, becomes a defect in this glare.

But Goodyear Fortified Tires, after years in this light, hold higher place than ever. Last year men bought 1,479,883 Goodyears of the pleasure-car type alone. That's about one tire for every car in use.

Who Is Wrong?

Is it the Goodyear user, whose choice is confirmed by some 400,000 others? Or is it the man who still assumes that another tire is better?

Isn't best average service, as proved by Goodyear supremacy, the right way to judge a tire?

Lower Prices

On February 1 Goodyear made the third big price reduction in two years. The three total 45%.

Yet the tires are constantly bettered. In five costly ways—each exclusive to Goodyear—our Fortified Tires excel any other tire built. And each is a great trouble-saver.

They mean for you tire content. They mean most for your money, because of our matchless output. For your own sake, try them. The following Goodyear Service Stations will supply you:

GREAT INCREASE IN AMERICAN EXPORTS

Total Trade Balance in Favor of U. S. $145,506,996.

Washington, March 4.—An analysis of American foreign trade for January issued by the department of commerce showed in detail the amount of the tremendous increases in exports to many European nations and the decreases in shipments to the principal countries of Latin America, as compared with January, 1914. No American products reached Austria during the month, the report showed, but shipments to Germany showed increases as compared with the first months of the war.

The total trade balance in favor of the United tates was $145,506,996, most of which was created by products of the American granaries and farms. The value of American horses bought for the armies in Europe during January was $7,865,795 and mules exported were worth $1,312,195. Exports to the principal countries were shown as follows:

	Jan., 1914.	Jan., 1915.
Austria	$ 2,814,040
Belgium	4,402,827	$ 1,906,489

Brazil	2,199,083	1,081,002
Japan	6,092,547	8,027,999

Crude materials for use in manufacturing were the only products that showed decreases in exports. Shipments of foodstuffs in crude condition and food animals increased in value from $9,084,370 in January, 1914, to $49,798,769 in January, this year. Exports of foodstuffs partly or wholly manufactured increased in value from $29,179,696 to $41,143,468. Manufactures for further use in manufacturing showed a slight increase, and those ready for consumption jumped in value from $52,415,469 to $64,038,743. The total increase in exports for January compared with that month a year ago was $63,812,710.

Imports for the month showed a decrease compared with a year ago of $32,270,606. Countries whose shipments to United States showed largest decreases were Belgium, France, European Russia and the United Kingdom. Germany's sales to the United tates in January were $12,951,411 compared with $16,256,189 a year ago. Imports from Argentina and Brazil showed increases.

For the seven months ending with January—the period of the war—American exports were worth $1,334,660,148 compared with $1,621,302,536 in the same period a year ago, the huge increases in shipments of foodstuffs not overcoming losses in other items. Imports for the same periods were respectively $930,732,286 and $1,067,752,498.

New York, March 4.—Miss Ella Frances Hobby of Far Rockaway, L. I., died yesterday from the bite of a dog inflicted fifteen years ago. BURNING PIMPLES ON ARMS AND LEGS

Would Itch. Scratched and Irritated Them. Clothing Aggravated. Could Not Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. In Four Months Was Well.

1324 N. Oakley Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"Little pimples began to break out on my arms and legs. The skin was red and water would run from the pimples. They would itch and burn and that made me scratch and irritate them. My clothing aggravated the breaking out. I could not sleep.

"I used a great many remedies but they failed to help me. I had the eczema for five months and then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed my arms and legs with the Soap, then I applied the Ointment. They stopped the itching and burning and gave me good nights' rest. In four months I was well." (Signed) Benjamin Schedel, Oct. 15, 1914.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age.

ORDERS ARE INCREASING

Wholesalers Find Trade Improving Over All Sections of Northwest.

Retailers Hopeful Regarding Outlook for Spring and Summer Months.

Managements of Duluth wholesale houses continue to feel cheerful on the score of business being booked now and the outlook during the next few months.

While merchants over the West are still showing a disposition to hold themselves down in their future orders they are buying goods steadily for immediate requirements, and their trade is bulking up nicely. With a fair average yield over the increased acreage certain to be seeded this spring merchants express the opinion that Western trade should set new high records during late summer and fall months.

Good Grocery Orders.

Trade in grocery staples and specialties was reported to be normal for the season by the Barthe-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior. The markets are described as about steady with quotation advances and declines nearly equally divided.

Sugars are unchanged with New York jobbers asking 5.75 cents. The market is, however, slightly weaker, due to expectations of more liberal Cuban marketings of raws. With the exception that Bogotas are up 2 cents a pound, coffees are unchanged. Teas, too, are quoted on the same basis as a week ago.

In line with the extended downturn in wheat prices, flour is now being offered by millers at $7 a barrel as compared with its high mark of $8.40 a few weeks ago.

A strong demand for oatmeal is noted by jobbers, and its market is firm. The call for the general run of breakfast foods is said to be falling off, and consumers returning to their old standby, oatmeal.

Quotations in dried fruits are up slightly all through the list, owing to the liberal export inquiry being met with, and the heavy shipments being made to Europe. The situation in canned fruits and vegetables is quiet on the other hand, but it is expected to pick up from now on.

Navy beans have again advanced and are now quoted at $3.75 a bushel for the hand-picked article. This is the highest price for them in years. As a sample of the extent to which many small articles have gone up since the war, it is mentioned that toothpicks, which were quoted at $10 a case in July, are now up to $25.

Woolen Goods Advanced.

Current orders in dry goods were advised to be satisfactory by F. A. Patrick & Co. Salesmen continue to report to the effect that retailers over the West are feeling hopeful regarding the outlook and that a substantial spring business is being counted upon.

The special salesmen employed to push the house's woolen products campaign are now all in. They were able to report gratifying results in the way of opening up new accounts through which a substantial business is expected to materialize later.

It is announced that advances in quotations in the house's woolen products went into effect on March 1. That step was taken as a result of the sharp market advances in all wools that have come about during the last few months.

Farming Tools Going Out.

Shipments of spring goods are now being made in considerable volume over the West by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-Howe-Thomson company.

Quotations in iron and steel products continue to show an advancing tendency and especially in galvanized sheets and pipe, and other goods into which spelter enters to any extent. Orders for farming tools from points in the Northwest are said to have bulked up into a large aggregate this season, indicating that farmers are preparing for seeding operations on a much more extended scale than usual this spring.

Shoe Factory Busy.

The receipt of gratifying orders for immediate shipment was advised by the Northern Shoe company, and with liberal contracts in futures standing on the books, factory operations are expected to be maintained on an active scale.

The company's salesmen are due to visit headquarters here by March 10 for samples of their fall shoe lines.

Building Materials in Demand.

The heaviest spring trade in its history in building and roofing papers was reported by the Peyton Paper company. That is taken to foreshadow extended plans in new construction in Duluth territory during the spring and summer months. Printers' goods were also said to be moving in satisfactory volume.

Fair Furniture Inquiry.

"We are now getting better business than last year in furniture lines from over North Dakota and Montana," said C. E. De Witt of the De Witt-Seitz company. He intimated that encouraging reports are being received from over Northern Michigan as a result of the leading copper companies having greatly increased their outputs of late, affording employment to many more men.

WOULD SYSTEMATIZE PLANTING OF TREES

Voss Believes Proposed Bill Would Help Beautify the City.

Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, approves the bill now before the state legislature regulating the planting of shade trees and is of the opinion that the law will enable the Duluth park department to beautify the city with long stretches of trees throughout the residence districts.

"The city has been handicapped in recent years, because of the lack of power regarding the planting of shade trees," said Commissioner Voss this morning. "This new bill gives every muncipality of the first class the power to make assessments against property where trees are to be planted at a request of the majority of the owners. This systematizes the work.

"At the present time, the city can order the planting of trees only when property owners make the request and when they subscribe money in payment for same. As a result there is no system and each property owner goes ahead and plants whatever trees he wishes in front of his home. There are as many as five or six varieties in one block, when the trees should be the same and of uniform size.

"There are only two ways in which to handle tree planting and these are to either have the city take complete charge, or assess the property owners in a systematic way. Our funds are too low for the former plan and the latter is all that remains. A tree would cost the owner of a 25-foot lot but $3.50 and that cost would be all he would ever have to bear, as the city park department would prune and care for the trees, or plant new ones, in case these should die.

"The reason why the city has had no success in the past and tree planting has been a failure, is, because there was no system in force. I don't see where the objection can be, as the cost will be so light and besides, trees will be planted only along graded and improved streets, so that the owner of a small lot in the suburbs will hardly be affected for many years to come."

Phoenix, Ariz., Man Ends Life.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4.—Harry H. Jones, until recently considered one of the wealthiest men in the city, fired a bullet into his brain yesterday and died shortly afterward. Financial troubles following a fire that destroyed considerable property is believed to be responsible for his suicide. He was well known in New York and Chicago.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

Worried Man writes: "Let me say that my condition puzzles and worries me. In the last year I seem to have been growing old rapidly, though only 38. My food and sleep do not recuperate my strength and energy, and lately I have dizzy spells, trembling, headaches, loss of appetite, memory and hopelessness. Despondency and worry over my condition are ever present."

Answer: Cheer up, get well and then conserve your vitality by proper, temperate living. Obtain three grain cadomene tablets in sealed tubes with full directions, use them and an agreeable, pleasing restoration should ensue to your satisfaction.

Mrs. L. C. B. asks: "Do you think it is possible to reduce my weight from 240 pounds to about 190 pounds?"

Answer: It is impossible to say just how much one can reduce until after trying, but 5-grain arbolone tablets should be used according to directions with each sealed tube, obtainable at most any drug store. If the flesh is unnatural you should easily reduce as desired.

Mrs. L. B. writes: "What can I do for a bad case of stomach, liver and bowel trouble? My food sours in stomach, I rift, have heart-burn, and a full, uncomfortable feeling after meals; constipated at intervals, coated tongue and bad breath all the time."

Answer: Thousands of people in this country are afflicted as you are, and to get immediate relief and gradually effect permanent results, I advise you to buy of your druggist a dollar package of "double-four stomach and bowel medicine" and use as per directions on the packet.

J. R. O. asks: "I am thin, angular, weak and tired. What can I take to improve my health, strengthen my nerves and increase my weight about 20 pounds?"

Answer: Take regularly with your meals three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, sold in sealed packages, by druggists, with complete directions. These tablets improve the blood, increase nutrition and strengthen the nervous system if used regularly for several months.

"Lee" writes: "I have tried so many remedies for rheumatism that I am almost afraid to try any more, but if you can tell me a sure remedy I will try it."

Answer: Do not be disheartened because you have not been able to find something that would overcome your rheumatism, for you can be relieved if you will take what I tell you. Get from the drugstore: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz., comp. fluid blamwort, 1 oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz., and syrup of sarsaparilla, 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at mealtime and again before going to bed.

C. L. asks: "I have tried to cure dandruff, itching scalp, failing hair and baldness with numerous tonics, etc., but in vain. What do you recommend?"

Answer: I have been recommending plain yellow minyol for the past seven years and scores of my patients are delighted with the quick, pleasant action of this remedy in stopping itching, failing hair, dandruff, etc. It gives the hair health, lustre and vigor as nothing else does. Obtain in 4-oz. jars with full directions.

H. M. B. writes: "Can you please prescribe medicine which will relieve me of such distressing symptoms of kidney and bladder, as the following: Pains in small of back, soreness in region of bladder, frequent calls at night but scanty flow with pain, burning and foul odor, puffing of limbs, etc.

Answer: Those seeking relief from kidney and bladder disorders should begin taking balmwort tablets, a very successful formula sold in sealed tubes with full directions.

Mrs. N. B. B. asks: "I suffer from headache and constipation periodically and my blood seems too thick causing languor and tired feeling. I will thank you to prescribe for me."

Answer: Three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur) are most effective, in relieving constipation, thinning the blood and removing the symptoms of languor, etc. I advise you to begin taking as per directions with each sealed package.

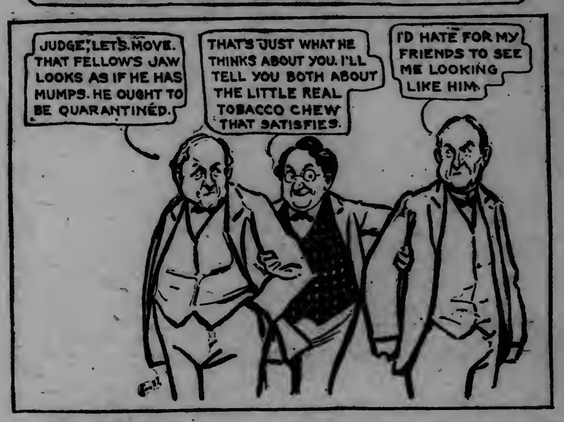
"W. Z." writes: "I have such a very severe cough and cold and have not been able to get anything to help me. It is weakening my system."

Answer: Use the following and your cold and cough will vanish and you will soon be strong again. Get a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence mentholaxene and take every hour or two. This can be taken pure or made into a full pint of home-made syrup. Full directions as to use will be found on bottle. This is a mild laxative and will drive the cold from the system.

B. G. O. asks: "Will you please prescribe a home treatment for a bad case of catarrh of the nose and throat. Also, my daughter is affected with Pelvic Catarrh or green sickness."

Answer: Your daughter should begin taking a tonic flesh-building treatment and for such a case I know of nothing better than three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. Local treatment is also necessary for both catarrh of the head and Pelvic Catarrh. A simple but effective antiseptic and curative treatment can be followed at home by buying either a two or eight ounce package of antiseptic Vilane Powder containing complete directions. —Advertisement.

THE GOOD JUDGE UNDERSTANDS AND KNOWS THEY WILL APPRECIATE IT.



LOOKS are often deceiving. In the old days everybody could spot the tobacco chewer just by the hump in his cheek.

"Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, gives men fine, satisfying tobacco comfort—and nobody can notice that they are chewing.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

The three-cornered tie in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league was broken last night when the Big Duluths won from the high school seven by the score of 4 to 0. The Two Harbors team completed the double bill of the evening by defeating the lowly Bagleys by the score of 3 to 1.

Olson clearly featured the play for the Big Duluths. The speedy rover scored the first goal in two minutes and the final cage in the second half. Capt. Alder of the clothiers scored the other goal.

The high school team showed well on offensive, often rushing the puck into the Big Duluth territory, but the defense of the studes gave way before the brisk attack of the league leaders.

Parsons played the star game for the high school boys.

Two Harbors Come Back.

While the recent disorganization of the Two Harbors team did not in the least serve to increase the condition and team play of its members, the railroad gang nevertheless played a fair article of hockey.

Somewhat weak in team work, the suburbans came back and played strong enough to hand the watchmakers a beating.

Leland of the visitors scored in the first two minutes of play. Capt. Le Fleur followed with a cage in the next two minutes. Irving of the Bagleys scored at the end of fourteen minutes of first play. Sullivan scored the only goal for the railroad gang in the second half, the contest in this period being close and very fast.

REFUSES MONEY FOR PANAMA TRIP

Congress Cuts Out Appropriation Asked By Secretary Garrison.

Washington, March 4.—Many features of the elaborate exercises planned for the formal opening of the Panama canal in July will be abandoned as a result of the action of congress in refusing to make the appropriation for the purpose asked for by Secretary Garrison of the war department.

The appropriation requested was to defray the expenses on a trip to the canal of President Wilson, members of congress, members of the diplomatic corps, representatives from foreign governments and other special guests including Former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft. Provision also was to be made for a banquet and other entertainments on the isthmus, for gold medal souvenirs and for the printing of special invitations.

It was intimated last night that the president himself would not go to the formal opening, which is planned for July but it is possible that he may change his present plans.

The navy department has an appropriation for sending the fleet to the canal and it was said that some kind of exercises probably would be held.

SENT MAIL THREAT.

Is Charge Made Against Ishpeming Man Under Arrest.

Marquette, Mich., March 4.—Tony Denrody of Ishpeming has been arrested at Ishpeming and brought to the county jail by Federal authorities to answer to the charge of sending a "Black Hand," or threatening letter to Capt. Duncan Campbell of Ishpeming and others.

It is said that several letters were mailed and the matter was then put in the hands of postal authorities. M. M. Duncan is also mentioned as receiving one of the letters. For several days a secret service man conducted an investigation but without results and the police, who had also been working on the case, obtained several clews which led to the suspicion of Denordy's 14-year-old son. The lad was detained by the officers and admitted, it is alleged, that he wrote several letters at the dictation of his father. This was denied by the father.

Good Grocery Orders.

Trade in grocery staples and specialties was reported to be normal for the season by the Barthe-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior. The markets are described as about steady with quotation advances and declines nearly equally divided.

Sugars are unchanged with New York jobbers asking 5.75 cents. The market is, however, slightly weaker, due to expectations of more liberal Cuban marketings of raws. With the exception that Bogotas are up ½ cents a pound, coffees are unchanged. Teas, too, are quoted on the same basis as a week ago.

In line with the extended downturn in wheat prices, flour is now being offered by millers at $7 a barrel as compared with its high mark of $8.40 a few weeks ago.

A strong demand for oatmeal is noted by jobbers, and its market is firm. The call for the general run of breakfast foods is said to be falling off, and consumers returning to their old standby, oatmeal.

Quotations in dried fruits are up slightly all through the list, owing to the liberal export inquiry being met with, and the heavy shipments being made to Europe. The situation in canned fruits and vegetables is quiet on the other hand, but it is expected to pick up from now on.

Navy beans have again advanced and are now quoted at $3.75 a bushel for the hand-picked article. This is the highest price for them in years. As a sample of the extent to which many small articles have gone up since the war, it is mentioned that toothpicks, which were quoted at $10 a case in July, are now up to $25.

Woolen Goods Advanced.

Current orders in dry goods were advised to be satisfactory by F. A. Patrick & Co. Salesmen continue to report to the effect that retailers over the West are feeling hopeful regarding the outlook and that a substantial spring business is being counted upon.

The special salesmen employed to push the house's woolen products campaign are now all in. They were able to report gratifying results in the way of opening up new accounts through which a substantial business is expected to materialize later.

It is announced that advances in quotations in the house's wool products went into effect on March 1. That step was taken as a result of the sharp market advances in all wools that have come about during the last few months.

Farming Tools Going Out.

Shipments of spring goods are now being made in considerable volume over the West by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-Howe-Thomson company.

Quotations in iron and steel products continue to show an advancing tendency and especially so in galvanized sheets and pipe, and other goods into which spelter enters to any extent. Orders for farming tools from points in the Northwest are said to have bulked up into a large aggregate this season, indicating that farmers are preparing for seeding operations on a much more extended scale than usual this spring.

Shoe Factory Busy.

The receipt of gratifying orders for immediate shipment was advised by the Northern Shoe company, and with liberal contracts in futures standing on the books, factory operations are expected to be maintained on an active scale.

The company's salesmen are due to visit headquarters here by March 10 for samples of their fall shoe lines.

Building Materials in Demand.

The heaviest spring trade in its history in building and roofing papers was reported by the Peyton Paper company. That is taken to foreshadow extended plans in new construction in Duluth territory during the spring and summer months. Printers' goods were also said to be moving in satisfactory volume.

Fair Furniture Inquiry.

"We are now getting better business than last year in furniture lines from over North Dakota and Montana," said C. E. De Witt of the De Witt-Seitz company. He intimated that encouraging reports are being received from over Northern Michigan as a result of the leading copper companies having greatly increased their outputs of late, affording employment to many more men.

WOULD SYSTEMATIZE PLANTING OF TREES

Voss Believes Proposed Bill Would Help Beautify the City.

Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, approves the bill now before the state legislature regulating the planting of shade trees and is of the opinion that the law will enable the Duluth park department to beautify the city with long stretches of trees throughout the residence districts.

"The city has been handicapped in recent years, because of the lack of power regarding the planting of shade trees," said Commissioner Voss this morning. "This new bill gives every municipality of the first class the power to make assessments against property where trees are to be planted at a request of the majority of the owners. This systematizes the work.

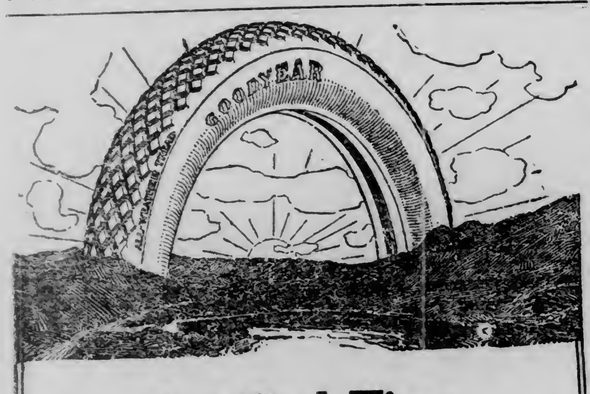
"At the present time, the city can order the planting of trees only when property owners make the request and when they subscribe money in payment for same. As a result there is no system and each property owner goes ahead and plants whatever trees he wishes in front of his home. There are as many as five or six varieties in one block, when the trees should be the same and of uniform size.

"There are only two ways in which to handle tree planting and these are to either have the city take complete charge, or assess the property owners in a systematic way. Our funds are too low for the former plan and the latter is all that remains. A tree would cost the owner of a 25-foot lot but $2.50 and that cost would be all he would ever have to bear, as the city park department would prune and care for the trees, or plant new ones, in case these should die.

"The reason why the city has had no success in the past and tree planting has been a failure, is, because there was no system in force. I don't see where the objection can be, as the cost will be so light and besides, trees will be planted only along graded and improved streets, so that the owner of a small lot in the suburbs will hardly be affected for many years to come."

Phoenix, Ariz., Man Ends Life.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4.—Harry H. Jones, until recently considered one of the wealthiest men in the city, fired a bullet into his brain yesterday and died shortly afterward. Financial troubles following a fire that destroyed considerable property is believed to be responsible for his suicide. He was well known in New York and Chicago.



Fortified Tires Now in the Light

The supreme test of a tire is to hold top place—the place in the sun—and for years. Goodyear tires have done that. Long they have led, both in sales and prestige.

Men expect much of the top-place tire. They look for a super-tire in it. Any seeming fault, due to mishap or misuse, becomes a defect in this glare.

But Goodyear Fortified Tires, after years in this light, hold higher place than ever. Last year men bought 1,479,883 Goodyears of the pleasure-car type alone. That's about one tire for every car in use.

Who Is Wrong?

Is it the Goodyear user, whose choice is confirmed by some 400,000 others? Or is it the man who still assumes that another tire is better?

Isn't best average service, as proved by Goodyear supremacy, the right way to judge a tire?

Lower Prices

On February 1 Goodyear made the third big price reduction in two years. The three total 45%.

Yet the tires are constantly bettered. In five costly ways—each exclusive to Goodyear—our Fortified Tires excel any other tire built. And each is a great trouble-saver.

They mean for you tire content. They mean most for your money, because of our matchless output. For your own sake, try them. The following Goodyear Service Stations will supply you:

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

Worried Man writes: "Let me say that my condition puzzles and worries me. In the last year I seem to have been growing old rapidly, though only 28. My food and sleep do not recuperate my strength and energy, and lately I have dizzy spells, trembling, headaches, loss of appetite, memory and hopelessness. Despondency and worry over my condition are ever present."

Answer: Cheer up, get well and then conserve your vitality by proper, temperate living. Obtain three grain cadomene tablets in sealed tubes with full directions, use them and an agreeable, pleasing restoration should ensue to your satisfaction.

Mrs. L. C. B. asks: "Do you think it is possible to reduce my weight from 240 pounds to about 190 pounds?"

Answer: It is impossible to say just how much one can reduce until after trying, but 5-grain arbolone tablets should be used according to directions with each sealed tube, obtainable at most any drug store. If the flesh is unnatural you should easily reduce as desired.

Mrs. L. B. writes: "What can I do for a bad case of stomach, liver and bowel trouble? My food sours in stomach, I rift, have heart-burn, and a full, uncomfortable feeling after meals; constipated at intervals, coated tongue and bad breath all the time."

Answer: Thousands of people in this country are afflicted as you are, and to get immediate relief and gradually effect permanent results, I advise you to buy of your druggist a dollar package of "double-four stomach and bowel medicine" and use as per directions on the packet.

J. R. O. asks: "I am thin, angular, weak and tired. What can I take to improve my health, strengthen my nerves and increase my weight about 20 pounds?"

Answer: Take regularly with your meals three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, sold in sealed packages, by druggists, with complete directions. These tablets improve the blood, increase nutrition and strengthen the nervous system if used regularly for several months.

"Lee" writes: "I have tried so many remedies for rheumatism that I am almost afraid to try any more, but if you can tell me a sure remedy I will try it."

Answer: Do not be disheartened because you have not been able to find something that would overcome your rheumatism, for you can be relieved if you will take what I tell you. Get from the druggstore: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz., comp. fluid blamwort, 1 oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz., and syrup of sarsaparilla, 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at mealtime and again before going to bed.

C. L. asks: "I have tried to cure dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair and baldness with numerous tonics, etc., but in vain. What do you recommend?"

Answer: I have been recommending plain yellow minyol for the past seven years and scores of my patients are delighted with the quick, pleasant action of this remedy in stopping itching, falling hair, dandruff, etc. It gives the hair health, lustre and vigor as nothing else does. Obtain in 4-oz. jars with full directions.

H. M. B. writes: "Can you please prescribe medicine which will relieve me of such distressing symptoms of kidney and bladder, as the following: Pains in small of back, soreness in region of bladder, frequent calls at night but scanty flow with pain, burning and foul odor, puffing of limbs, etc.

Answer: Those seeking relief from kidney and bladder disorders should begin taking balmwort tablets, a very successful formula sold in sealed tubes with full directions.

Mrs. N. B. B. asks: "I suffer from headache and constipation periodically and my blood seems too thick causing languor and tired feeling. I will thank you to prescribe for me."

Answer: Three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur) are most effective, in relieving constipation, thinning the blood and removing the symptoms of languor, etc. I advise you to begin taking as per directions with each sealed package.

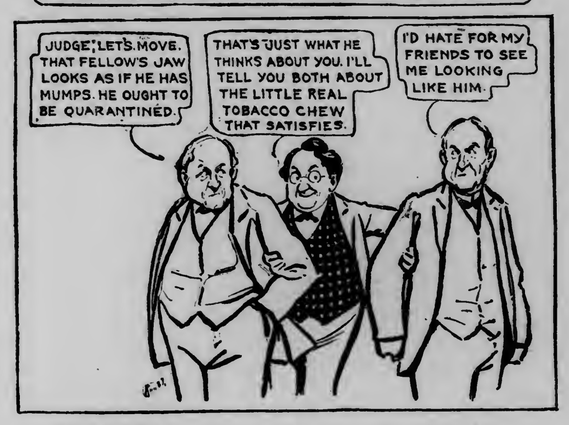
"W. Z." writes: "I have such a very severe cough and cold and have not been able to get anything to help me. It is weakening my system."

Answer: Use the following and your cold and cough will vanish and you will soon be strong again. Get a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence mentholaxene and take every hour or two. This can be taken pure or made into a full pint of home-made syrup. Full directions as to use will be found on bottle. This is a mild laxative and will drive the cold from the system.

B. G. O. asks: "Will you please prescribe a home treatment for a bad case of catarrh of the nose and throat. Also, my daughter is affected with Pelvic Catarrh or green sickness."

Answer: Your daughter should begin taking a tonic flesh-building treatment and for such a case I know of nothing better than three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. Local treatment is also necessary for both catarrh of the head and Pelvic Catarrh. A simple but effective antiseptic and curative treatment can be followed at home by buying either a two or eight ounce package of antiseptic Vilaue Powder containing complete directions. —Advertisement.

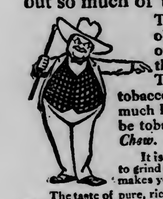
THE GOOD JUDGE UNDERSTANDS AND KNOWS THEY WILL APPRECIATE IT.



LOOKS are often deceiving. In the old days everybody could spot the tobacco chewer just by the hump in his cheek.

"Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, gives men fine, satisfying tobacco comfort—and nobody can notice that they are chewing.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.



Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Carnikas, a local Greek, is advised by his father, C. Carnikas, of Athens that all reservists are urged to come back ready to take up arms in the present European conflict. According to the elder Carnikas, the training of youths to fight has already been begun near Macedonia, formerly Turkish property, but now owned by Greece. All the young men in that vicinity of military age are trained to carry arms and shoot. "Even the most conservative," Mr. Carnikas writes, "believe that the preparations for war are most necessary.

Thomas Carnikas said that it is probable that all reservists will leave. Carnikas has nine months left to serve.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claud Day, who left early in the winter to spend the balance of the winter with his relatives in Marshalltown, Iowa, has returned and reports that both he and Mrs. Day were quite ill while in Iowa, as the climate is such that almost everybody is ailing. He says that while the country appears to be prosperous and undoubtedly is, there is little chance during the winter to get work, and that, coupled with the climate, has made him thoroughly disgusted with that section. Mr. Day will settle down on his farm southeast of town, and will commence clearing it and stocking it with good dairy cows. Mrs. Day is still sick, but is expected to arrive within the next week or two.

BIG HIBBING WELL IS PROGRESSING

Expected to Be One of Largest Water Producers in State.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest wells in the state is now under construction south of Alice by the Layne & Bowler Contracting company, for the Hibbing water system, the contract price for which is nearly $400,000. The well, according to Engineer R. E. McDonnell, will develop an unusually large amount of water, and will be ready for testing in two weeks.

More than one ton of blasting powder was used in digging this well, and it is expected that it will require at least ten days of constant pumping to have the nitrate removed from the water so a fair test of the water can be made.

Many Well-Drilling Rigs.

The Layne & Bowler company has fifty-two rigs here for well-drilling. Because of the large size of the wells and the number of boulders, drilling has been delayed somewhat. Supt. Ohigran has been pushing the work forward and expects to have the required 3,000,000 gallons per day capacity developed before the middle of summer. The contracting company already has made investments and expenditures on the system which nearly aggregate $75,000.

Progress has been made on the tower tank now being completed in the cemetery here. The tank is nearly 160 feet high and cost approximately $22,000. It is constructed entirely of steel. With the exception of the top of the tank, it is practically completed.

As soon as the ground is thawed the Butler & Coons Contracting company, who have the contract to lay the pipes from the reservoir to be constructed near the wells to the water tower a distance which it is expected will be more than five miles, will begin work.

For many years Mr. Terrell was engaged in the coal and wood business and enjoyed a wide circle of friends. Funeral arrangements are being perfected.

PULPWOOD EMBARGO IS NOW IN FORCE

Congestion in Cars Halts Shipments North for a Few Days.

Virginia, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—For a few days the Canadian Northern railway will refuse to accept any pulpwood shipments for the International Falls or the Fort Frances mills, but will take all offered for southern points. This embargo order resulted from a congestion of cars loaded with pulpwood at Ranier and other points north of here.

Supt. Helston is at International Falls trying to straighten out matters and expects to have the congestion cleared in a few days, when northbound pulpwood will be accepted. Lack of snow in this locality is bothering pulpwood shippers in getting their products to the landings, and everyone is hoping for more snow.

RAP HIBBING PLANT.

Kansas City Engineers Find Many Faults With System.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—The report of the Kansas City engineers engaged by the village to make a survey of the present lighting system of the village, as anticipated in The Herald, severely criticizes the system and makes many suggestions as to needed changes that will cost over $100,000. The report shows it costs more to generate the electricity than the village gets from the patrons. The engineers find that there are too many transformers on the secondary system, which cause a loss of current from 6 to 8 per cent. The secondary wires are too small and too long to deliver to all customers sufficient voltage for good lighting, the engineers said. As a result some customers get good service while others receive poor service because of the low voltage. Other leakages are shown.

The power plant now is worth $293,745.26. The depreciation is figured at $54,661.44. Power costs the village to deliver to the customer 6.48 cents per kilowatt hour. The village charges 6 cents per kilowatt hour, with a 10 per cent discount for prompt payment. If the village installed a modern plant the cost of delivery would be 4.5 cents, according to the engineers.

ROAD COMPLAINTS TO COUNTY BOARD

Lake County Body Hears Kicks-of Settlers Against Highways.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake county board now in session is hearing some complaints against the condition of county roads. A petition was presented yesterday from residents of St. Louis county living west of the Stanley road requesting that Lake county repair and improve the road running west from the overhead bridge to the St. Louis county line. The petition states that the road is in very poor condition and oftentimes impassable for teams and wagons. The county is asked to resurface and gravel the road. Hugh Richardson, chairman of the town board of Two Harbors, and N. Frieberg, chairman of the town board of Waldo, argued the case before the commissioners. In view of all the other road work that the county has planned for the coming summer, the commissioners decided that they could do nothing to further improve the road in question this year.

Another Poor Road Kick.

A. Beck and other settlers living east of Fairbanks appeared with another bad road plea. They stated that the roads in that section of the county are in a very deplorable shape, especially in the spring and during wet weather. The settlers want the county or town, or both, to build and repair the roads in their section so that they will have some respectable means of an inlet or outlet to their farms. Hugh Richardson, chairman of the town board of the town of Two Harbors, stated that the town had appropriated approximately $1,500 to be used in building and repairing roads near Fairbanks.

Mrs. Alice Lawrence, county superintendent of schools, presented a communication to the commissioners in which she stated that many of the school children, in certain districts of the county, were severely troubled with their eyes and ears. She desired the advice of the board as to having the afflicted ones treated. The board instructed the superintendent to make a thorough investigation of the matter and then report again.

WILL RESIST SUIT.

Virginia City Attorney Instructed to Prepare Defense.

Virginia, Minn., March 4.—City Attorney Montague was instructed Tuesday evening by the council to proceed with the defense in the damage suit instituted by Mesberg & Lavich for $500 and that by the Wheeling, W. Va., Stone Crusher company.

The clerk was instructed to have forms printed to send out to property holders to notify them of the amount of assessment due from them for street and sidewalk work abutting their property and hereafter, when the work is completed, the notices will be sent out. This will do away with any misunderstandings such as have occurred in the past, Clerk Bickford stated.

The application of F. C. Whiting to put up an outside iron stairs on the north side of the building on lot 17, block 24, was referred to the street and alley committee with power to act. A cigarette license was granted to Jukalo Bros. and a liquor license renewal to Leander Kuppola, Chestnut street. The bond of the Quicksprint in the sum of $500 was accepted, as was the contract with the company to do the city's job printing.

ALL BIDS EXCESSIVE.

So Mountain Iron Council Could Do Nothing But Reject Them.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—As none of the seven bids received by the village council were within the amount fixed by Judge Dancer to be expended on the proposed village hall—$20,000—the council could do nothing else but reject them, as stated in Wednesday's Herald. The bidders and amount of bids follow:

James Sampson, $22,347.55; Harry Pearson & Son, $22,155; Tomlinson & Egan, $21,000; David Graham, $22,300; Virginia Builders' Supply & Contracting company, $21,190; Johnson & Watney, $21,600; P. J. Donahue, $22,929.

These figures do not include heating, plumbing and other features which would run the cost up to about $25,000.

PROHIBITION CAUSE OF BANK'S CLOSING

Officers and Directors of German National of Pittsburg, Brewery Men.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 4.—The German National bank of Pittsburg did not open its doors for business at 9 o'clock this morning. A notice on the door said it had been closed by order of the comptroller of the currency.

Officers and directors of the German National are prominently identified with the Pittsburg Brewing company, whose securities recently have suffered heavily on the Pittsburg stock exchange because, it was said, of the enactment of prohibition laws in West Virginia and the extension of local option in Eastern Ohio, territory in which the brewing company formerly did a large business.

The German National was organized in 1904 with a capital of $500,000, and on December 31 last, reported deposits of $5,024,923. Its surplus and undivided profits on that date were $684,265. Its dividend rate was 12 per cent annually.

A. A. Frauenheim, vice president of the bank, is a director in the Pittsburg Brewing company and E. J. Vilsack, a director in the bank, is vice president of the brewing company.

The German National was one of the member banks of the Pittsburg clearing house association.

Little excitement attended the closing of the institution, although a large crowd gathered in front of the banking house soon after the notice was posted.

J. F. W. Eversmann, cashier, issued a statement in which he said that the directors last night went over the business of the institution carefully and decided to close because of generally unsatisfactory conditions and "certain paper which the bank held, paper which ordinarily would be all right." He expressed the hope that depositors would be paid in full, but said he could make no promise.

The German National had a Pittsburg municipal deposit of $40,000.

Had $140,000 of State Funds.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 4.—The state of Pennsylvania has $140,000 of its general funds in the German National bank of Pittsburg. This is protected by corporate bonds for $200,000.

COLORADO COUPLE IS HAPPY NOW

In a little town in Colorado there has happened a "near" miracle. A man cured his wife of a running varicose ulcer and they are the happiest couple in the state. Four boxes of Allen's Ulcerine Salve did it. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

THE HEADACHE OF NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

A feeling as of a tight band about the head is often felt in addition to the pain of a headache that is caused by nervous exhaustion. The ache is generally in the back of the head, rarely in the forehead, and is often accompanied by dizziness.

The way to stop this sort of headache is to stop the cause of it. Overwork, worry and failure of the blood to properly nourish the nerves are the most common causes. Rest and a tonic for the blood and nerves will cause the headache to disappear in most cases.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an effective tonic for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves. They furnish just the elements that the blood needs to build up the nerves shattered by overwork, worry, overstudy or excesses. You cannot always rest from school, office or housework when circumstances require but you can always take a tonic that will maintain the strength of blood and nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just the tonic required.

Mention this paper and we will send you a booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System free. Address: Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

LAWS GOVERNING STATUS OF DACIA

Lawyers Find Singular Resemblance Between the German and French.

Paris, March 4.—The legal department of the foreign office in looking into the status of the Dacia, finds a singular resemblance between the French and German laws relative to the transfer of registry during a period of hostility. The second article of an imperial German ordinance issued Aug. 3, 1914, under the law of Sept. 30, 1909, reads:

"Those must be considered as ships of an enemy which have been transferred after the opening of hostilities under a neutral flag:

"First, if the commander of the capturing ship is not convinced that the transfer would have legally taken place if war had not broken out; for instance by inheritance or contract of construction.

"Second, if the transfer took place while the ship was en route or in a blockaded port.

"Third, if there be a provision for repurchase.

"Fourth, if the conditions to which ships flying the substituted flag are submitted have not been observed."

"The thirteenth article of the French marine ministry's instructions concerning international law, reads, "The transfer under a neutral flag of an enemy's ship effected after the opening of hostilities is null and void unless it be established that the transfer has not been effected with a view to cluding consequences which the character of the enemy's ships involve, for instance, by inheritance. However, there is an absolute presumption of nullity if the transfer was effected while the ship was en voyage or in a blockaded port, if there be a faculty of repurchase or if the conditions to which the ships flying the substituted flag are submitted, have not been observed."

Yeas—Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Passed March 1, 1915.
Approved March 3, 1915.

By Mayor Prince:

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Duluth that we are opposed to the bill now pending before the State Legislature, entitled, "A Bill for An Act to Provide For the Establishment and Organization of New Counties."

We submit it is more economical to administer the county affairs with the county in its present size than it would be if split up into two or more counties, and that under the present organization there is no inconvenience to the residents of the county in having the county seat at Duluth as all railroads radiate from Duluth and provision is made for payment of taxes, in the banks of all cities and villages, licenses are issued in all towns, and terms of court are held at convenient locations.

We do not hesitate to characterize the pending bill as unjust and un-American, and one which the members of the legislature would not favorably consider if it applied to their own counties, and that the members of the Legislature should not impose upon St. Louis County any method different from that applicable to their own counties.

We desire particularly to call attention to that provision of the bill by which the county would be divided with no greater formality than the signing and presentation of a petition; and do protest that no bill should be adopted which does not provide for the submission of the question of division to a vote of the electors of the county affected.

We further represent that without any question a large majority of the voters in the county are opposed to county division in any form, and we believe that the present laws are broad enough to permit a division where such division is desired.

It is therefore urged upon the members of the Legislature to give the proposed bill their earnest consideration to the end that no injustice be perpetrated upon this county, and that no special bill be adopted applicable to this county alone but that we be allowed to remain under the provisions of the general law.

TRADERS SHOW EXCITEMENT AT CLOSE OF DAY'S MARKET

Wheat Prices Slump on Peace Rumors, But Rally at Finish.

Flaxseed Holds Steady With Crushers in Market for Supplies.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 4.—The market was weak and excited at the close, traders throwing grain overboard on spreading of peace rumors.

May wheat closed 4½c off and July 4⅜c off. May durum closed 3⅝c off and July 2c off.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 52½c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.07@1.08 and barley 1c off at from 61 to 71c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed ⅜c off at 63¼ bid and July ⅝c off at 63c bid. Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.37½ bid and calls at $1.45½.

Trading was active in the wheat market today and some rapid moves were recorded throughout the session. The tone was generally weak, being influenced by the Dardanelles news and reported heavier shipments from Argentina. The feature was the strong cash demand locally and at Chicago. Elevator men here were bidding 2c over May for No. 1 northern, and at Chicago, No. 2 hard sold at 3½c over May.

No export business was put through, as bids were out of line, with exporters bidding 30c over Chicago July.

The trade is devoting considerable attention to the probable effect of the opening of the Dardanelles upon grain prices. The opinion is generally entertained that except for a flurry on the announcement that the deed had been done, quotations would only sell off moderately from their present basis. It is argued that Russian arrivals at Liverpool would not cut much of a figure before the end of April, as it is believed that the tonnage in Black sea elevators is comparatively light. In the meantime British millers must have supplies and they must rely to a great extent upon American sources. Some attention is being given to the increased shipments from Argentina foreshadowed this week, the aggregate being estimated at 4,800,000 bu, as compared with less than 2,000,000 bu a week ago.

Comment is made upon the enormous comparative increase in receipts of all grains at Duluth elevators as shown in the statement issued for February. Liberal arrivals for the season are expected during the present month if quotations are maintained at anywhere around their present levels.

May wheat opened ¼c up at $1.42¼, sold up 1c more, and then eased off to $1.41¾ at the noon hour, after having struck $1.40⅝, in the course of the downward flurry. July opened ¼c up at $1.38¼, sold up ⅜c and then eased off to $1.37⅛.

There was only straggling inquiry for durum and its market turned weak. The May future opened ¼c up at $1.47 and declined 1½c. Trading in July was nominal. It opened unchanged at $1.44 and sold up ½c.

Broomhall's international review: "The prevailing influences during the week have been the successful progress of the allies in reducing some forts of the Dardanelles and the unfavorable weather in Argentina with favorable reports of the American winter wheat and the continued export demand. Referring to the Indian situation it is difficult to forecast the crop at this time and also what influence the new government regulations will have upon prices for the new crop. Importers will be slow to buy if doubtful of the fulfillment of their contracts, and shippers equally shy of making large engagements if they have to incur unusual liabilities, but if the government's action serves to reduce Indian prices below an international parity, British buyers would necessarily neglect American and Argentine wheat, expecting cheap supplies from India. Another point is, will the uncertainty attending the probable shipments from Russia likewise induce buyers to limit their purchases from America and Argentina, thus further curtailing available supplies to British millers which already are uncomfortably small? There are small possibilities of any considerable quantity from Russia before the first of May even should the Dardanelles be reopened. The government will regulate shipments of wheat from India for the new crop and will prohibit exportation if the price goes over $1.30 f. o. b.

Russell's News says: "New York, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Chicago interests reported a scarcity of cash wheat offerings. There were some bids here, but nothing important was claimed over night. Sales of about 100,000 bu were reported by one exporter. Definite reports of oats business was lacking.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from G. M. Le Count at Bradley, S. D.: "During these troublesome times, when the European situation is so completely unknown and so uncertain, we are bound to have wide range of prices. In the Northwest, wheat is very scarce and the elevators are not carrying much. Wheat will continue to be a very scarce article until another crop, and I look for much higher prices."

Argentine weather is unsettled with rain in parts. Corn prospects are deteriorating. Buenos Aires closed firm for wheat, 2½c up from the opening, with liberal clearances. Freights were easier and this had a steadying influence.

Foreign crop summary:

France—Latest revised figures, as compiled officially, show that the territory held by the invaders comprises about 1,508,000 acres: barley, 113,000 acres, and oats, 1,251,000 acres. Weather has been altogether unfavorable where planting has been done, and the scarcity of labor has been a serious menace, both to planting the new crop and harvesting the old. Weather is now more favorable.

Spain—The import duty has been reduced to 6 pesetas per quintal. The regular duty is 8 pesetas, or 14 shillings per 480 pounds in English equivalent. Broomhall's agent says this will lead to importation.

India—Heavy general rain is reported except in the Punjaub. In the Punjaub the crop is always late, and dryness is reported and rain wanted. In the early districts harvesting has commenced. The rain is unfavorable. Harvesting has commenced in the United Provinces.

Roumania—Prospects for wheat and rye are very favorable, while reports from corn are not good as a result of too much rain. Business it at a standstill, as merchants can neither import or export.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Firmer American cables yesterday and unfavorable weather reports from Argentina, with strength in Buenos Aires, served to offset other influences, and after opening lower, the market steadied. Winters and Plates both sold at yesterday morning's prices, with the spot market steady, ½d lower to ½d higher, with strength in Manitobas. Unfavorable weather reports from India and a reported better demand from France and Spain helped to sustain values. General market was dull but steady.

"Corn was dull and lower, with parcels offered at 3d decline and spot easier. Weather here is mild and consumption curtailed."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Rally After Decline at the Opening.

Chicago, March 4.—Wheat prices rallied today after a decline at the start. Development of strength resulted from the fact that the seaboard had advanced bids on spot cash delivery and from the absence of any sign that rural offerings were likely to become more free. The president of one of the largest grain companies here was quoted as saying all the wheat obtainable at present could be disposed of as readily at $1.65 as at $1.45.

Corn swayed with wheat. Trade was light. After opening unchanged to ⅛@⅜c off, the market scored a moderate general advance.

Subsequently large stocks and the slowness of cash demand acted as a weight in market. The close was heavy at 1¼@1⅜c under last night.

Active demand from the East gave independent firmness to oats. Sellers were scarce.

Lower quotations for hogs had a depressing effect on provisions. Later, however, the upturns in grain began to tell against the bears.

LAKE BOATS MAY FIGURE

Possible Entrance Into South American Trade Concerns Flax Market.

Little Change in Conditions Noticeable for Past Week.

Comparative figures show that the market during the week ending yesterday has shown but little startling activity, for the close of yesterday and a week ago are the same. However, there was some little stir, contrary to expectations in the interim. The Dardanelles and the Argentine crop both figured in the changes that were made. On Friday there was a slightly lower close because of some urgent offers to sell, owing to the threatened opening of the Dardanelles and the release of Russian seed. However, after there had been some slight decline, crushers started to take the offers, and there was some recovery. On Monday reports that were unfavorable to the Argentine crop were received and the result was a slight advance. However, neither the decline nor the advance endured.

While there has not been much publicity about the matter, a new factor is not unlikely to enter into the flax situation, and, in fact, into other grains as well. That is the matter of boats of medium tonnage being taken from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic coast for South American trade. It has just been learned that there are actually agents now visiting the principal ports of the Great Lakes with a view of buying steamers that can be taken through the Welland canal to the Atlantic and put in the trade mentioned. There are a good many steamers of steel construction on the lakes which can be so used, for with the ever-increasing size of lake ships the grain and ore trade, the smaller type of ship is becoming obsolete, and those that remain in the trade are, for the most part, wild-catting. Most of the owners of these ships would be glad to dispose of them, and as they are considered strong and seaworthy craft and fitted for coast-wise trade, it would not be surprising, vessel men believe, to see quite a number of them taken through the Welland canal at the opening of navigation. These, in numbers, would cut considerable figure in bringing grain from South America and would have a distinct effect on ocean carrying rates. Started in the grain trade, it is believed unquestionable that they would have a very depressing effect on flax and other grain prices. News of such ship purchases are expected at any time.

Leading Issues Develop Uncertain Tone But Specialties Higher.

Moderate Rally in the Final Hour on Supporting Orders.

New York, March 4.—Unusual activity in United States Steel at a substantial fractional advance was the prominent feature of today's trading. Other market leaders, notably Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Pennsylvania, showed some hesitation, but soon moved forward with the general list. Specialties also were conspicuous in the rise. Motor shares rising to recent advances. The local market derived no encouragement from London, where all international securities showed heaviness, with severe declines in Reading, Erie and Union Pacific.

Activity ceased soon after the opening today and prices fell back, some of the leaders, including Canadian Pacific, Reading and Amalgamated Copper, declined to yesterday's close. The short interests renewed its operations on a moderate scale, mainly as a result of the absence of any new developments in the international situation, and intimations of a strain in interior banking quarters. Southern railway preferred, which had showed acute weakness recently, was among the few railway issues to register a marked gain. Another gold import from the Orient excited interest in foreign exchange circles.

Bonds were irregular.

Trading in standard stocks was light in the afternoon. There was increased interest, however, in a number of specialties, some of which scored marked gains.

Leading stocks developed an uncertain tone in the course of today's bull market. Specialties were mainly higher.

Supporting orders brought a moderate rally from the low level in the final hour. The close was heavy.

BOND MATTER IS IN ABEYANCE

School Board Meeting Likely to Be Routine Friday Night.

The regular monthly meeting for March of the board of education will meet tomorrow evening at the Central high school building. Unless bids are asked for the proposed Lincoln junior high school, there is likely to be a strictly routine meeting. The award of bonds to Wells & Dickey of Minneapolis may not be closed by tomorrow, as the copy of the minutes required by the bidders is just being sent today and no reply is likely before tomorrow night. Should the bond firm signify its approval and announce its acceptance of the bonds, the Lincoln school matter would undoubtedly be gone through with.

The bond issue authorized was $200,000, but at this time only $100,000 worth were advertised. That will be just enough to build the required auditorium and additional rooms at the Lincoln school for junior high school purposes. The plans and specifications are all ready for the contractors, so that they can begin figuring as soon as the board calls for the bids.

BANQUETS COME ALMOST DAILY

Spalding Hotel Is Scene of Six Big Dinners in Ten Days.

The Spalding hotel, under its new proprietor, George W. Reynolds, is growing in popularity as a banquet center. Six big banquets have been booked by Mr. Reynolds for the next ten days, which is probably the best record ever made by that popular hostelry.

The first of these affairs for the month took place Monday evening last when the Duluth Retail Merchants' association gathered, twenty-five strong. Tonight the Duluth Rotary club will meet and hold a banquet immediately afterward. One hundred guests are expected. Tomorrow three banquets will occur. These are to be held by the Western University hockey team, the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and the Lake Superior branch of the Hamline University Alumni association. Next week another big banquet will be held. Secret preparations are being made.

Mr. Reynolds says that the patronage has been steadily on the increase, and that the money he has expended since coming here in the way of improvements and decorations has brought excellent results.

SEMI-MONTHLY PAY BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE AFTER VIGOROUS FIGHT

Controversy as to Whether Workingmen Want the Measure.

Bills on Woman's Reformatory Made Special Order for Thursday.

House Pays Tribute to Public Services of Mrs. C. G. Higbee.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate this afternoon passed the semi-monthly pay bill, which has already passed the house, by a vote of 34 to 30—just enough to put it through. It lacked one vote when Senator Turnham of Minneapolis changed from no to aye and put it by.

The fight, beginning at 11, ran well into the afternoon, many senators participating. Senator George H. Gardner of Brainerd, author of the senate bill for which the house bill was substituted, led the fight, and Senators George H. Sullivan and J. D. Sullivan led the fight against it. The controversy seemed to be largely over whether or not workingmen want this bill, and on this there was the widest difference of opinion. Some rural senators having railroad constituents said they found them completely satisfied with present conditions, but most of the city senators reported their railroad constituents strongly favorable to the semi-monthly pay system. Speeches for the bill were made by Senators P. H. McGarry of Walker, Richard Jones of Duluth, Harold Griggs of Virginia and others. This is the eighth time the bill has been before the legislature. It has passed the house several times, and been beaten in the senate.

Woman's Reformatory.

The house, out of respect to the memory of Mrs. C. G. Higbee, who died suddenly last night after making a plea before a house committee in favor of a woman's reformatory, this morning mada a special order for next Thursday on two bills touching this subject: One providing for the sale of the old prison, the proceeds to go into a woman's reformatory fund, and the other appropriating $10,000 to buy a site.

After the house had adopted resolutions paying tribute to the public services of Mrs. Higbee, Representative H. H. Harrison moved that the rules be suspended to pass the bill for the sale of the old prison.

This was opposed, partly because it seemed too hasty to some, and partly because of a misunderstanding about what the women led by Mrs. Higbee wanted. They had protested against locating the proposed woman's reformatory at Stillwater, and some mem-

TWO MISSING AFTER MINNEAPOLIS FIRE

Three Persons Also Seriously Injured When Two Hotels Burn.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—Three persons were seriously injured, six others slightly hurt, and two unidentified foreigners are missing as a result of a $50,000 fire here today in two small adjoining hotels. Edward Perry, a guest, and George C. Seger and Edward Johnson, firemen, are the seriously hurt. The firemen fell from ladders when a wall collapsed.

ROADS NEED MORE MONEY

Must Earn More to Keep Pace With Public Demands.

Substance of Testimony Given at Hearing on Increased Rates.

Chicago, March 5.—That the railroads operating throughout the West must be permitted to earn more, if they are to keep pace with the public's demand for increased service, was the substance of testimony given before W. M. Daniels, interstate commerce commissioner, today in the hearing of the application of forty-one Western railroads for increased freight rates.

S. M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western road, resumed his testimony under cross-examination by Clifford Thorne, representing the shippers. The examination was on a comparison of statistics of various years as to the cost per mile of hauling freight and the revenue of the road on a mileage basis.

Mr. Felton held that the mileage income of his road was decreasing. He pointed out that while improved methods had reduced expenses in one division, increased efficiency demanded by the public had placed heavier responsibilities on the road.

"Do you thing the Western railroads ought to be granted a 6-per-cent profit on their capitalization?" asked Mr. Thorne.

Should Have Reasonable Profit.

"The railroads certainly should be assured a reasonable profit," replied Mr. Felton.

WILL ATTACK SUEZ CANAL

Official Note From Constantinople Says Turks Are Preparing.

Declares Not a Single Dardanelles Fort Has Been Silenced.

Washington, March 5.—Not a single Dardanelles fort has been silenced; on the contrary, they vigorously are replying to the attack of the allied fleet, and the Turkish arms are preparing for an assault on the Suez canal, according to an official communication from Constantinople dated March 2, made public here last night by the Turkish embassy. The statement added that the Jewish population of Palestine is "enjoying perfect safety."

The dispatch follows:

"On Feb. 19 the fleet of the allies bombarded the Dardanelles without doing any damage. On Thursday the 25th the bombardment was again taken up and continued until Saturday evening. The exterior forts were damaged at certain points. We have had about twenty in killed and

FRENCH SPRAYED WITH BURNING OIL

Victims of Torrent of Fire Tell of Their Experiences.

Paris, March 5.—The effect of the burning of oil and chemicals sprayed by the Germans upon the French advanced trenches in the woods of Malancourt, which was mentioned in a recent official communication Feb. 27, is described in La Liberte by a nurse at the front. Incidentally, it has been learned that this new instrument of warfare, which is a German invention, was patented in France.

The nurse was at a railway station when the soldier victims arrived. Their faces were badly burned, their limbs blistered and their uniforms charred. A soldier who acted as spokesman told the nurse of their experience. He said that at nightfall after a relatively calm day the Germans began to attack with flaming liquid. Incredulous at first, the French soon discovered that this liquid was being directed against them from several jets. Special appliances were used in some instances, and at times an apparatus resembling a fire engine. Incendiary grenades also were hurled by the Germans. The trenches were soon in flames.

"None of us could escape this torrent of fire," said the soldier. "Our clothes flowed with oil and some of us became living torches. Surrounded by flames, we had to retire but not until our comrades of the second line were ready to resist the attack of the enemy, which began six minutes after.

"A bayonet counter attack by the French was carried out with veritable fury, so great was their desire for revenge."

At the end of the combat the Germans had lost 150 killed and 60 prisoners.

NO NEWS OF CANADIAN ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

New York, March 5.—No news has been received from Vilhjalmur Stefansson and his party of the Canadian Arctic expedition since the expedition's supporting party returned from the island of Herschel late in April, according to a special dispatch to the Times from Rudolph Martin Anderson, executive head of the Southern division of the party. The dispatch is dated at Shingle Point, Mackenzie bay. It states that the schooner Mary Sachs, which sailed from Baillie island to Banksland on Aug. 19, should be able to advance some distance northward in search for the Stefansson party as the ocean around Banksland is believed to have been unusually free of ice.

Recent Battles Have Reversed Conditions in Northern Poland.

Russ Troops Are Now Attacking German Line on the Vistula.

In South Hungarians and Austrians Fight Fiercely With Czar's Men.

AUSTRIANS FORCED TO EVACUATE CZARNOWITZ.

London, March 5.—The Bucharest correspondent of the Evening News telegraphed today that the Russian offensive movement in Galicia had forced the Austrians to evacuate Czarnowitz, the capital of Bukowina. The dispatch adds that the main Austrian forces in this region have retired in the direction of Franzenthal, to the south of Carpathians.

London, March 5.—Even if no decisive battle develops from the present Russian offensive on the eastern front, the allies today are advancing the claim that the Austro-German plans for their spring campaign in the east have been measurably interfered with.

A few weeks ago Field Marshal von Hindenburg was sweeping victoriously through Northern Poland, while in the south the Austrians were pressing forward both in Galicia and in the crownland of Bukowina. Today these roles appear to be reversed. Russian troops are attacking along the German line from the Niemen to the Vistula and although the Germans are clinging tenaciously to their positions before Ossowetz and at other points north of the Vistula, their thrust toward Warsaw has been brought to a standstill and they are being slowly forced back to their own frontier.

Other news dispatches reaching London set forth that in the south the Austrians and the Hungarians continue to fling themselves with great bravery and even greater loss against the Russian lines. These onslaughts have not yet abated; the Russian general staff declares they have brought no gains. The German contingent in the Carpathians has been reduced to three army corps, according to reports in London,

SAW TWO FREIGHTERS SENT TO THE BOTTOM.

Bremen, via London, March 5.—The destruction of two freighters by torpedoes in the English channel was witnessed by the captain of the American tank steamer Golflight, from Galveston, Feb. 3, for Bremen, which arrived in the Weser Thursday morning with a cargo of cotton, according to a story printed in the Morgen Post. The captain is quoted by the newspaper as saying the ships were attacked by a submarine. One of them is reported to have been loaded with rice and the other with coal. The captain, says the Morgen Post, asserted that he passed safely through the mine fields by following directions issued by the German admiralty.

MIDDLE WEST STORM SWEPT

Fierce Blizzard Is Ra[illegible] Throughout Many States.

Heavy Snow Ties Up T[illegible]ic and Interferes With Wires.

Chicago, March 5.—The blizzard that swept portions of the Middle West and Southwest last night reached Chicago early today. According to officials of the local weather bureau a heavy snowfall is expected.

Reports from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraka, Oklahoma and Arkansas told of a snowfall from four to seventeen inches. Traffic throughout Kansas, Nebraska and Western Missouri was reported to be seriously affected. In Northern Nebraska and South Dakota a high wind prevailed, piling the snow in huge drifts, which, in some places, stopped railroad transportation.

Telephone and telegraph communication was seriously hampered out of Chicago and through the snow-bound districts.

There was no abatement of the snowfall in the morning hours and the government weather bureau issued a special forecast that the snow would continue until night accompanied with high winds.

The storm extended eastward and covered several states with a prospect of reaching the Atlantic coast. The snowfall here at 7 a. m. was eighttenths of an inch, and in the succeeding two hours the depth had nearly doubled.

Local transportation suffered and surface and elevated cars were hampered. Trains from the West were from half an hour to two hours late on most of the roads.

Their attorney in court today said that he believed and thought he could prove that the men were victims of a "frame-up."

SUBMARINES DESTROYED

Two German Boats Have Been Sunk in British Waters.

One the U-8—Identity of the Other Is Unknown.

London, March 5.—Two German submarines have been sunk in British waters, according to an official announcement given out in London today.

The official news bureau today confirmed the report that the British steamer Collier Thordis had rammed a German submarine and sent it to the bottom.

The text of the statement is as follows:

"The secretary of the admiralty makes the following announcement:

"The S. S. Thordis has now been examined in drydock and injuries to her keel and her propeller confirm the evidence of Capt. Bell and the crew that on the 28th of February the vessel rammed and in all probability sank a German submarine, which had fired a torpedo at her.

"Yesterday afternoon the German submarine U-8 was sunk in the channel off Dover by destroyers, the officers and men being taken prisoners."

News dispatches received from Paris and London in the last twelve hours have related the sinking of two German submarines. One has been de-

FIVE MORE BODIES TAKEN FROM MINE

Believed Total Loss at Layland Will Reach 175.

Hinton, W. Va., March 5.—Five more bodies were taken from the mine of the New River & Pocahontas Coal company today at Layland, where a gas explosion entombed and killed probably 175 men. The total list of recovered bodies is now forty-four. Only the main entries of the mine have been reached by the rescuers and when the side entries are penetrated it is expected bodies will be recovered more rapidly.

The best estimate of the number of dead obtainable from state mine officials or from the company is between 150 and 175.

ALLIED SHIPS HAMMERING IN DARDANELLES

Not a Single Serious Loss Among Bombarders Yet Reported.

Turks Say Real Defenses of Straits Are Not Affected.

Report From Athens Says Sultan Has Fled From Capital.

London, March 5.—The Russian Black sea fleet is steaming toward the Bosporus, says a dispatch from Rome. The Bucharest correspondent of the Giornale d'Italia of Rome telegraphs that the Russian fleet has passed Burghas, Bulgaria.

Burghas is situated on the western shore of the Black sea, near the eastern extremity of the Balkans. It is seventy-six miles north of Adrianople.

Should the Russian fleet attack the Bosporus, it presumably would have to deal with the Turkish fleet, which is supposed to be in that region, and the most powerful member of which is the cruiser Sultan Selim, formerly the German cruiser Goeben.

The Bosporus is about eighteen miles long and from one-half to one and one-half miles wide. It is defended with modern fortifications, which guard the approach to Constantinople at the western end.

Still Battering Away.

London, March 5.—The allied fleets are slowly battering their way up the Dardanelles without, so far as is known, a single serious loss among the ships. The sultan of Turkey, according to a report from Athens, already has fled from Constantinople. This, however, has not been confirmed, and reports from Turkish sources, notably an interview with Enver Pasha, deprecate the seriousness of the bombardment of the Dardanelles and insist that the real defenses of the straits have not been affected.

It can be said that from the British point of view the situation today, wherever fighting is going on, is taken as favorable to the allies.

The South African rebellion has been crushed; the Turkish invasion of Egypt seemingly has been abandoned; the reports from the eastern battle front are favorable; no adverse news regarding the operations against the Dardanelles yet has been received and the blockade on foodstuffs into Germany is about to be enforced.

In the western arena of the war, the Germans, judging from dispatches reaching here, are fighting hard to recover the ground lost during the last fortnight. Near Arras they have forged ahead somewhat, but the allies report progress both in the Champagne and the Argonne districts.

BOTH STEAMSHIPS RAN ON MINE FIELDS

Supplementary Report on Investigation of Evelyn and Carib.

Washington, March 5.—Commander Gherardi's supplementary report on his investgation of the sinking of the American cotton steamers Carib and Evelyn by mines in the North sea, received today from Berlin, says:

"Both boats sunk by mines; no false directions given by the British. Boats simply ran on mine fields."

It had been said that the ships were off courses furnished by the German authorities and were following routes given by British officials.

The German foreign office has informed Ambassador Gerard that five men of the Evelyn's crew have sailed from Bremen on the steamer Matanzas and twenty-one are to return to New York shortly on the steamers Elvia and Luckenbach.

Two Norwegians from the Carib elected to remain at Bremen but the remainder, including her captain and twenty-four men left Bremen Wednesday for Rotterdam.

OUT OF THE CONGRESSIONAL DANGER ZONE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The British admiralty confirmed today reports of the sinking of two German submarines, the U-8, which the French admiralty previously announced had been destroyed by a torpedo boat, and an unidentified submersible rammed by the collier Thordis.

The captain of the American steamer Guilflight, on arriving at Weser, Germany, is reported by a Berlin newspaper to have said he witnessed the destruction of two steamers by a German submarine.

The first reports of definite effects on American trade of Great Britain's retaliatory policy against Germany come from Bremen. It is said that several American vessels which had been taking on cargoes of German goods, particularly dyestuffs, unloaded these cargoes and will return to the United States in ballast.

Although the assault of the allied fleet on the Dardanelles is continuing, there is such confusion of reports that it is impossible to gain a clear idea of what has been accomplished. The Turkish authorities admit slight damage to the outer forts, but state that the defenses on which main reliance is placed are still intact. The British report the allied fleet has penetrated well into the straits and that the inner fortifications have been damaged badly.

On land important battles are in progress in the Champagne region of France, in Northern Poland and in Galicia.

While the Anglo-French fleet is striking at the Dardanelles, the Russian Black sea fleet will attack the approaches to Constantinople from the east, according to unofficial advices from Bucharest. The Russian fleet is said to be off the Bulgarian coast, steaming toward the Bosporus.

The official German report of today says the French left more than 1,000 dead before the German entanglement as a result of one of several attacks made yesterday along the western front. In the eastern campaign the Russian offensive continues without definite results.

REFORMING SIMON LEGREE

Duluth Producer Made Him Mild Mannered Foreman to Please Atlanta Women—Duluth Best City In Country.

Reforming the character of Simon Legree to suit the taste of the Daughters of the Confederacy was one of the tasks allotted Walter G. Baldwin in Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Baldwin returned to Duluth today after four months in the East and South, which included about two months spent in Atlanta, managing a stock company.

Mr. Baldwin's revised version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has become famous from coast to coast. He was determined to present Uncle Tom with Lola May as Topsy. The Daughters of the Confederacy objected. Mr. Baldwin met their objections by changing the name to "Old Plantation Days" and eliminating the objectionable features. Here was the net result:

Simon Legree, instead of the brutal slave driver, was a mild-mannered plantation foreman, addicted to the habit of sitting up at night and nursing slaves suffering from indigestion. He shed his rawhide whip entirely. Eliza was not forced to fox trot across the stage on wobbling blocks of ice. Instead of that she was a kind of village belle doing a Maypole dance.

No Bloodhounds.

The bloodhounds were eliminated entirely. No ferocious animals, wrapped in red blankets and wearing muzzles, paraded the street prior to the presentation, nor did they leap across the stage with their mouths dripping foam which had just been applied from a bucket of soap suds by the property man in the wings.

Little Eva didn't die at all. Instead of going to Heaven from her little white bed at the back of the stage, while a stagehand sweated over a rope and pulley in the wings, she was alive and kicking at the finish and interpolated a maxixe or something of the nature.

The brutal whipping of Uncle Tom was, of course, missing.

"I got away with it," said Mr. Baldwin this morning. "The papers have had a lot of fun with it from New York to San Francisco, but it did big business. I am going to put on a real version and a real production of it here some time this spring, and I'll show you something that will open your eyes.

"Business has been very bad in the South, and it is good and bad in spots in the East. Duluth looks better to me than any city I have visited, and I have been in a lot of them in the last four months. You don't appreciate how well off you are in Duluth. I am here to stay. Mrs. Baldwin returned with me and we are going to housekeeping."

Has Even Temper.

"Bill" Mortimer, stage director of the Baldwin Players, has the reputation of being one of the few directors in America who can conduct a rehearsal and keep his temper.

It is claimed by the members of the Baldwin Players that Mr. Mortimer has never yet lost his temper at a rehearsal, the most trying of all experiences in an actor's life. Three or four times a week, in a vacant room on the top floor of the Lyceum building, he rehearses the members of the company, the rehearsal lasting from one hour to four. Outwardly, he never changes, whatever his feelings may be, and his patience is believed by the members of the company to be without limit. In addition to playing a part each week, he has full charge of the producing of the plays, Walter G. Baldwin, Jr., acting as business manager of the company.

Three more performances of "Tess of the Storm Country" will be given, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The play has been a popular one with patrons of the Baldwin company, and has served to firmly establish Miss Doris Olsson as a favorite. Next week "The Third Degree" will be the bill. This was the play that made the reputation of Helen Ware. It is a melodramatic story dealing with alleged police methods in New York city. The third degree is the gruelling cross-examination to which prisoners are claimed to be subjected in an effort to extort a confession.

Good Bill at Grand.

There was a new show at the Grand yesterday, and the customary large audiences were on hand to see the new features. While none of the vaudeville acts is sensational, they are all entertaining. The pictures are varied and full of interest.

The Ernest Alvo troupe of comedy bar gymnasts are good entertainers with some unusual features. A leap and somersault between bars twenty-one feet apart is one of the best turns of the act.

The most laugh-proving act of the bill is the playlet, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," presented by Harry Ellsworth and company. The skit is full of wit and humor, and Mr. Ellsworth is a good comedian, and is ably assisted.

Chase and Latour do a clever song and dance turn with many a joke thrown in. The Four Kornz brothers, well costumed and of excellent appearance, do one of the best turns of the bill. They are hoop rollers and diabolo spinners, and offer some picturesque and difficult "stunts."

The pictures offer many interesting features. Helen Holmes appears in another thrilling railway episode, "The Red Signal." A two-reel film play of Hindustan, "The Red Blood of Courage," is full of thrills, and the Hearst-Selig News—Pictorial shows many scenes of current news events. "A Tango Spree" is a good comedy film.

The Bachelor's Romance.

John Emerson, one of the most popular character actors on the contemporary stage, who achieved a genuine triumph in his first screen portrayal, repeats his former success and that of one of the greatest plays of the present decade, in the film version of "The Bachelor's Romance," Martha Morton's famous comedy-drama. It is at the Rex today.

Mr. Emerson's genius for the interpretation of eccentric characters was firmly established in his previous screen presentation, "The Conspiracy," but in "The Bachelor's Romance," it is evident to a greater degree because of the more human appeal of the character, and by reason also of the fact that wherein in the other production he merely assisted the romance between two other members of the cast, in the present subject, he is the prime factor, the soul of the romance that permeates the story.

"The Deep Purple."

Armstrong and Mizner, in writing "The Deep Purple," got their material from life itself. They took their plot and characters out of the Tenderloin and wrote a play that will long be remembered. Clara Kimball Young, the leading lady, makes a very strong impression upon her admirers, more so in this production than in any other. In the last scene, where she is in church playing the new organ and singing, Miss Jones, the Zelda singer, interprets "The Rosary," assisted by Mr. Dixon's accompaniment on the pipe organ. Last night scene after scene was applauded. This production will be shown tonight and also in five performances tomorrow. A new show for Sunday includes "The Exploits of Elaine"—sixth episode. The feature for Sunday only is entitled "The Wolf." For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "For the Honor of His Country" will be presented under the auspices of the Germania Singing society.

Yiddish Players Coming.

At the Orpheum Sunday matinee and evening, March 7, Edward A. Bernard will appear with his high-class Yiddish players.

Edward A. Bernard is known as the best character actor among the Yiddish performers.

He has played in the largest theaters in New York, Chicago, London, Warsaw and Lodz.

EDWARD A. BERNARD.

The last time he was here he appeared as Men Bellis.

He will be supported by Madam Bessie Bernard.

Just two performances will be given. At the matinee performance "The First Love," a four-act play, which has been a success in New York, will be given. At the night performance "The Live Orphan," a melodrama in four acts, will be the attraction.

CROOK DRAWS FIREMAN'S PAY

Clever Impersonator Beats City Out of $85; Makes Escape.

Impersonating Ernest F. Miller, truckman at the No. 1 fire station, a crook late yesterday afternoon succeeded in drawing the former's monthly pay check at the city treasurer's office, and today the police are combing the city in an effort to find the criminal. The check was cashed at Wagner's saloon late last night, it was learned this morning.

The man, who was seen by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, and L. W. Pilkey, cashier in the treasurer's office, succeeded in getting the check for $85. The man is not known, but both of these officials declare that they would recognize him if seen.

Late yesterday afternoon this man appeared at the window of Cashier Pilkey and, declaring himself to be Truckman Miller, asked for his monthly pay check. He was told that the checks were not to be paid until today, but he was persistent, saying he was off all day and wanted money with which to pay some bills. When refused the money, he declared he had telephoned Commissioner Voss and that the latter had given his approval.

Cashier Pilkey then went into the office of Commissioner Voss and asked the latter if he had granted any such request to a fireman. The commissioner did not remember any telephone conversation to that effect, and he went into the treasurer's office, where he saw the man waiting at the window. After some conversation, during which the man reiterated his story, he was given his check. The man signed E. F. Miller's name to the payroll.

According to custom, Fire Chief Randall took all the pay checks and the salary list from City Treasurer McLean this morning and made the regular rounds of all the fire stations. He does this so that the men will not be compelled to come to the city hall and draw their money. While at the No. 1 station, the discovery was made that E. F. Miller's money had already been drawn, and when Truckman Miller appeared at the city hall, the further discovery was made that the city had been robbed of the $85.

Chief Randall immediately notified Commissioner Hicken and the police are now making an investigation. The authorities have a good description of the man, although it is believed he left the city on one of the night trains. That he is acquainted with the fire department and city regulations, is the firm belief of the police, who think that the man is a professional criminal and that he had planned his game.

Receding Gums From Microbes and Acids

Beauty and health depend much upon the condition of one's teeth and care should be taken of them. You don't carry decayed food in your finger nails. Why carry food in the cavities and crevices of your teeth? asks the N. Y. World. Many allow yellow or brown coatings on the teeth, or a blackened condition inside. Then comes a little microbe that thrives and multiplies, bores holes, makes crevices and infests the upper and lower ranges of teeth. Then come sore or bleeding gums, spongy or swollen gums, loosened teeth, teeth dropping outward, exudations, odors offensive to you and everyone, gums shrink away from the necks of the teeth, sensations come from drinking hot or cold, eating sweets, etc. The teeth rebel, the nervous system is impaired.

Now these conditions can be readily overcome. You can destroy the microbes, rid the teeth of yellow coating, stop soreness over night—if you will just get four ounces of fluid orfan from your druggist (you won't need more), and use a teaspoonful morning, noon and night, rocking it to and fro in your mouth a minute or so. You awake with a clean mouth, sensitiveness gone, teeth firm, strong. No need of gold fillings.—Advertisement.

Mr. Baldwin returned to Duluth today after four months in the East and South, which included about two months spent in Atlanta, managing a stock company.

Mr. Baldwin's revised version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has become famous from coast to coast. He was determined to present Uncle Tom with Lola May as Topsy. The Daughters of the Confederacy objected. Mr. Baldwin met their objections by changing the name to "Old Plantation Days" and eliminating the objectionable features. Here was the net result:

Simon Legree, instead of the brutal slave driver, was a mild-mannered plantation foreman, addicted to the habit of sitting up at night and nursing slaves suffering from indigestion. He shed his rawhide whip entirely.

Eliza was not forced to fox trot across the stage on wobbling blocks of ice. Instead of that she was a kind of village belle doing a Maypole dance.

No Bloodhounds.

The bloodhounds were eliminated entirely. No ferocious animals, wrapped in red blankets and wearing muzzles, paraded the street prior to the presentation, nor did they leap across the stage with their mouths dripping foam which had just been applied from a bucket of soap suds by the property man in the wings.

Little Eva didn't die at all. Instead of going to Heaven from her little white bed at the back of the stage while a stagehand sweated over a rope and pulley in the wings, she was alive and kicking at the finish and interpolated a maxixe or something of the nature.

The brutal whipping of Uncle Tom was, of course, missing.

"I got away with it," said Mr. Baldwin this morning. "The papers have had a lot of fun with it from New York to San Francisco, but it did big business. I am going to put on a real version and a real production of it here some time this spring, and I'll show you something that will open your eyes.

"Business has been very bad in the South, and it is good and bad in spots in the East. Duluth looks better to me than any city I have visited, and I have been in a lot of them in the last four months. You don't appreciate how well off you are in Duluth. I am here to stay. Mrs. Baldwin returned with me and we are going to housekeeping."

Has Even Temper.

"Bill" Mortimer, stage director of the Baldwin Players, has the reputation of being one of the few directors in America who can conduct a rehearsal and keep his temper.

It is claimed by the members of the Baldwin Players that Mr. Mortimer has never yet lost his temper at a rehearsal, the most trying of all experiences in an actor's life. Three or four times a week, in a vacant room on the top floor of the Lyceum building, he rehearses the members of the company, the rehearsal lasting from one hour to four. Outwardly, he never changes, whatever his feelings may be, and his patience is believed by the members of the company to be without limit. In addition to playing a part each week, he has full charge of the producing of the plays, Walter G. Baldwin, Jr., acting as business manager of the company.

Three more performances of "Tess of the Storm Country" will be given tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The play has been a popular one with patrons of the Baldwin company, and has served to firmly establish Miss Doris Olsson as a favorite. Next week "The Third Degree" will be the bill. This was the play that made the reputation of Helen Ware. It is a melodramatic story dealing with alleged police methods in New York city. The third degree is the appalling cross-examination to which prisoners are claimed to be subjected in an effort to extort a confession.

Good Bill at Grand.

There was a new show at the Grand yesterday, and the customary large audiences were on hand to see the new features. While none of the vaudeville acts is sensational, they are all entertaining. The pictures are varied and full of interest.

The Ernest Alvo troupe of comedy bar gymnasts are good entertainers with some unusual features. A leap and somersault between bars twenty-one feet apart is one of the best turns of the act.

The most laugh-proving act of the bill is the playlet, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," presented by Harry Ellsworth and company. The skit is full of wit and humor, and Mr. Ellsworth is a good comedian, and is ably assisted.

Chase and Latour do a clever song and dance turn with many a joke thrown in. The Four Kornz brothers, well costumed and of excellent appearance, do one of the best turns of the bill. They are hoop rollers and diabolo spinners, and offer some picturesque and difficult "stunts."

The pictures offer many interesting features. Helen Holmes appears in another thrilling railway episode, "The Red Signal." A two-reel film play of Hindustan, "The Red Blood of Courage," is full of thrills, and the Hearst-Selig News-Pictorial shows many scenes of current news events. "A Tango Spree" is a good comedy film.

The Bachelor's Romance.

John Emerson, one of the most popular character actors on the contemporary stage, who achieved a genuine triumph in his first screen portrayal, repeats his former success and that of one of the greatest plays of the present decade, in the film version of "The Bachelor's Romance," Martha Morton's famous comedy-drama. It is at the Rex today.

Mr. Emerson's genius for the interpretation of eccentric characters was firmly established in his previous screen presentation, "The Conspiracy," but in "The Bachelor's Romance," it is evident to a greater degree because of the more human appeal of the character, and by reason also of the fact that wherein in the other production he merely assisted the romance between two other members of the cast, in the present subject, he is the prime factor, the soul of the romance that permeates the story.

"The Deep Purple."

Armstrong and Mizner, in writing "The Deep Purple," got their material from life itself. They took their plot and characters out of the Tenderloin and wrote a play that will long be remembered. Clara Kimball Young, the leading lady, makes a very strong impression upon her admirers, more so in this production than in any other. In the last scene, where she is in church playing the new organ and singing, Miss Jones, the Zolda singer, interprets "The Rosary," assisted by Mr. Dixon's accompaniment on the pipe organ. Last night scene after scene was applauded. This production will be shown tonight and also in five performances tomorrow. A new show for Sunday includes "The Exploits of Elaine"—sixth episode. The feature for Sunday only is entitled "The Wolf." For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "For the Honor of His Country" will be presented under the auspices of the Germania Singing society.

Yiddish Players Coming.

At the Orpheum Sunday matinee and evening, March 7, Edward A. Bernard will appear with his high-class Yiddish players.

Edward A. Bernard is known as the best character actor among the Yiddish performers.

He has played in the largest theaters in New York, Chicago, London, Warsaw and Lodz.

EDWARD A. BERNARD.

The last time he was here he appeared as Men Adelis.

He will be supported by Madam Bessie Bernard.

Just two performances will be given. At the matinee performance "The First Love," a four-act play, which has been a success in New York, will be given. At the night performance "The Live Orphan," a melodrama in four acts, will be the attraction.

CROOK DRAWS FIREMAN'S PAY

Clever Impersonator Beats City Out of $85; Makes Escape.

Impersonating Ernest F. Miller, truckman at the No. 1 fire station, a crook late yesterday afternoon succeeded in drawing the former's monthly pay check at the city treasurer's office, and today the police are combing the city in an effort to find the criminal. The check was cashed at Wagner's saloon late last night, it was learned this morning.

The man, who was seen by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, and L. W. Pilkey, cashier in the treasurer's office, succeeded in getting the check for $85. The man is not known, but both of these officials declare that they could recognize him if seen.

Late yesterday afternoon this man appeared at the window of Cashier Pilkey and declaring himself to be Truckman Miller, asked for his monthly pay check. He was told that the checks were not to be paid until today, but he was persistent, saying he was off all day and wanted money with which to pay some bills. When refused the money, he declared he had telephoned Commissioner Voss and that the latter had given his approval.

Cashier Pilkey then went into the office of Commissioner Voss and asked the latter if he had granted any such request to a fireman. The commissioner did not remember any telephone conversation to that effect, and he went into the treasurer's office, where he saw the man waiting at the window. After some conversation, during which the man reiterated his story, he was given his check. The man signed E. F. Miller's name to the payroll.

According to custom, Fire Chief Randall took all the pay checks and the salary list from City Treasurer McLean this morning and made the regular rounds of all the fire stations. He does this so that the men will not be compelled to come to the city hall and draw their money. While at the No. 1 station, the discovery was made that E. F. Miller's money had already been drawn, and when Truckman Miller appeared at the city hall, the further discovery was made that the city had been robbed of the $85.

Chief Randall immediately notified Commissioner Hicken and the police are now making an investigation. The authorities have a good description of the man, although it is believed he left the city on one of the night trains. That he is acquainted with the fire department and city regulations, is the firm belief of the police, who think that the man is a professional criminal and that he had planned his game.

Receding Gums From Microbes and Acids

Beauty and health depend much upon the condition of one's teeth and care should be taken of them. You don't carry decayed food in your finger nails. Why carry food in the cavities and crevices of your teeth? asks the N. Y. World. Many allow yellow or brown coatings on the teeth, or a blackened condition inside. Then comes a little microbe that thrives and multiplies, bores holes, makes crevices and infests the upper and lower ranges of teeth. Then come sore or bleeding gums, spongy or swollen gums, loosened teeth, teeth dropping outward, exudations, odors offensive to you and everyone, gums shrink away from the necks of the teeth, sensations come from drinking hot or cold, eating sweets, etc. The teeth rebel, the nervous system is impaired.

Now these conditions can be readily overcome. You can destroy the microbes, rid the teeth of yellow coating, stop soreness over night—if you will just get four ounces of fluid from your druggist (you won't need more), and again from your druggist (you won't need more), and use a teaspoonful morning, noon and night, rocking it to and fro in your mouth a minute or so. You secure with a clean mouth, sensitiveness gone, teeth firm, strong. No need of gold fillings.—Advertisement.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

LAKE BOATS TO SEA TRADE

Canadian and American Craft Will Be Sent to Atlantic.

Announcement Concerning Canadian Vessels Made By Carruthers.

That Great Lakes vessels are about to invade the Atlantic coast trade there is no doubt, for it is now announced that the Canada Steamship lines, the Canadian shipping "trust," will send ten or twelve of their vessels to engage in the North America-South America business as soon as navigation conditions permit. Other lines will also be represented, it is claimed.

The Herald announced last night that agents are inspecting available craft in the various harbors of the Great Lakes with a view to having them transferred to the ocean trade, owing to the shortage in American bottoms to carry grain and other commodities to and from South America. It seems that negotiations have gone further than was generally known for several lines are said to have made definite arrangements for the—at least temporary—transfer of freight carriers from fresh to salt water. The following word concerning this transfer comes from the East:

"Owing to the great and steadily increasing scarcity of tonnage for the trans-Atlantic commodity trades, it is likely that owners of vessels plying on the Great Lakes will shortly be represented in those trades.

"The report is current in maritime circles above and below the international boundary that the various American and Canadian lines are working on plans to transfer vessels of suitable capacity temporarily to the Atlantic seaboard to participate in ocean and coastwise traffic; that is, to the West Indies and South America.

"This development is looked for before spring. The spring shipping season on the lakes will probably be dull and rates a little below normal in consequence. This will give owners of large vessels the opportunity to charter their ships without difficulty for use in trades where the vessels will earn probably three or four times, on time basis, what they would earn in home waters.

"Speaking of this prospective development, James Carruthers, president of the Canada Steamship lines, a $24,000,000 recent consolidation of lake shipping lines, says:

Regards It as Sane.

"I consider removing the lake ships for business on the Atlantic a very sane policy, as, for one thing, they will help facilitate shipping to no small extent. Also, from a business point of view, the returns to be received will be about three times as large as upon the Great Lakes, when occupied in the regular trade.

"I do not know exactly what these ships will be used for. It is likely that we will let them out on time charters and then they will be sent wherever they can go. I think that they will be used principally in the coal business, plying between South America, West Indian and American ports. It is likely that the spring will see between ten and twelve of our steamers employed in this manner. They will be taken to the Atlantic via the St. Lawrence river.'

"Following the example of the Canada Steamship Lines corporation, other lake companies will probably shift their vessels out of the lake trade. The report in Montreal is that the Montreal Transportation company has practically placed five of its vessels on time charter and that these vessels will soon be seen at American coast ports preparatory to loading in the coal and flour trades to the West Indies. The coal steamers will likely have their loading berths at Philadelphia.

"Shipping interests at New York state that the movement under way, to transfer Great Lakes steamers to Atlantic coast ports, will undoubtedly be greatly appreciated by shippers in certain of the commodity trades, such as grain, flour, coal and oil. It will do much to relieve the scarcity of vessels in American waters."

ELECTRIC LINES SHOT TO PIECES

Suburbanites Are Seeking Lodgment in the City of Mexico.

Mexico City, March 5.—Suburbanites, who number nearly a quarter million of people, are seeking lodgment in the city with the result that provisions are still more scarce and high-priced than they have been. During the fighting in the suburbs between the forces of Zapata and the Carranza men, the modern system of electric car lines which link the capital to its six principal towns has literally been shot to pieces. The suburbanites are thus cut off from their business in the city, and are also in danger if they remain at home. The fighting has been of the most indefinite character, with the contending forces occupying and reoccupying villages at intervals, sometimes as shortly separated as the rising and the setting of one sun.

The difficulty the soldiers have in distinguishing friend from foe is illustrated by a recent incident in the suburb of Coyoacan. A party of Carranza men who had dismounted in the main plaza encountered some loungers who were not recognized as Zapatistas. A friendly conversation was commenced and continued until someone suspected the identity of the loungers and challenged them. The answer rang back "Viva Zapata!" With that rifles were brought into play and the plaza was strewn with dead from both sides. Reinforcements arriving for the Carranza men, the Zapatistas were finally driven to the woods.

TWO HUNDRED MEN DROWNED

Perish in Mexican Water Main While Attempting Ruse.

Mexico City, March 5.—Two hundred men of Gen. Obregon's command were drowned in the water main leading out to the suburban sources of Mexico City's water supply in a recent attempt to get to the rear of the Zapatista forces.

When the Zapatistas were compelled to evacuate the capital a few weeks ago, they retired to the suburb of Xochimilco and seized the sources of the city's water supply, making the capital dependent on artesian wells and a small reservoir in a park near Chapultepec castle. The unflushed sewer, due to the fact that a scarcity of water made it unwise to use it for anything than drinking purposes, seriously menaced the health of the city. Gen. Obregon made many attempts to recapture the main sources of the water supply in the old Indian town of Xochimilco, but all of them were repulsed by Zapata's men. A daring raid was finally decided upon, for which Gen. Obregon detached 200 of his men. He ordered them to drop into the mains which had long been dry, and to attempt to travel through them to an opening at the rear of Zapata's main position. A spy informed the latter general of the ruse and after the men had been allowed to travel some distance in the mains, the full force of the water was turned on, drowning the invading force to a man.

THE SHOPPING TOUR OF MISS DORIS OLSSON

By MISS EMILY WASLEY, WINNER OF 2ND PRIZE.

The day had been very long and tiresome, but Miss Doris Olsson felt that she must spend a little time admiring the new dressing table that she had bought at the Bayha & Co. store, 226 West Superior street.

As she sat, with her head in her hands, her eyes resting fondly on her new possession, there appeared in the mirror before her an oddly dressed personage. It may have been a fairy godmother or even Jean du Luth himself. Who can tell?

She started, but the personage before her said, "I will give you one wish. Choose!"

Miss Olsson did not hesitate long, but said, "My one wish is to have a perfect day."

No sooner had the words left her lips than she was placed before a wonderful gate over which was written "Zenith City." As she stood gazing speechless with wonder her now invisible benefactor whispered in her ear, "Enter, for herein lies a perfect day."

She walked forward and as she gazed into the windows of the different stores she came to Zimmerman Brothers, 330 West Superior street. She must have an Autographic Kodak to record and take pictures of the different wonders of the trip.

After having purchased her kodak, her invisible companion whispered, "You are getting tired, next get a Carterear at Cartercar & Metz company, 123 First avenue west. She did as she was bidden and felt that she certainly was having a perfect day. She stepped into the car and rode off. As the car glided along she noticed an advertisement in The Herald which she was reading. At last, she could get "The Rosary" at Stone's book store, 221 West Superior street. She soon had the book tucked under her arm and was again on her way.

After she had gone a few blocks she noticed a woman with two little children, all of whom looked as though they needed good nourishment. She told them to get into her car and then took them to the Toben Market at 121 East Superior street, where she bought them a fine roast. Miss Olsson then took them to the Minnesota Tea company's store, 1908 and 1910 West Superior street. After many thanks for the Jumbo peanuts, which have made the Minnesota Tea company famous, the happy family left their newly found friend.

A breeze had come up and before she was aware of it, Miss Olsson's scarf had blown from her shoulders and had become soiled in the mud. Again she heard the voice "Let not this spoil your day. We will now have the pleasure of going to the Peerless laundry, 226 East First street, where it will be cleaned to perfection." They did so and Miss Olsson was sure she never could forget that place of wonder.

It was getting late when Miss Olsson's invisible companion told her that soon they must be returning to the Zenith gate. Miss Olsson felt that she could not leave the City of Wonder without first purchasing some of her Easter things. "I shall get my bonnet at Silberstein & Bondy's, 9 West Superior street," she said. Here she obtained just the hat of her dreams and then rode on to "Sallie" in the Oak Hall building, where she had her Easter suit made. While in the building she could not resist the temptation of having her hair charmingly dressed at Miss Horrigan's hair shop.

"My shoes must come next," she said and stopped at Sorensen's, 123 West Superior street and when she next stepped into her car, her feet were encased in a dainty pair of shoes, of which she was more than proud.

"And now," said her benefactor, "one thing more and we must go." It was impossible to leave the Zenith City without visiting Le Borious, florist, 931 East Third street. When she emerged from this bower of loveliness she was the proud possessor of a bunch of home grown violets, the most beautiful she had ever seen.

She nestled into the corner of her cushioned seat and soon reached the large gate again. She stepped out of the car and looked longingly back. As she passed through the gate all vanished.

Miss Olsson suddenly started and woke up. Rubbing her eyes she murmured, "It was indeed a perfect day."

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

The most aged face will look years younger after the use of ordinary mercolized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorptive power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle, a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one, an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, although often bearing painful evidence of childishness. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is put on like cold cream at bedtime, and removed mornings with warm water.

To eradicate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This has wonderful astringent and tonic properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.

PLAN "GO-TO-CHURCH" SUNDAY PROGRAM

Campaign to Boost the Attendance at All Churches March 14.

Sunday, March 14, has been designated as "Go-to-Church" Sunday for Duluth and Superior people.

A campaign to boost the attendance of the various churches of the two cities is now on, and it promises to be quite as successful as the initial "Go-to-Church" movement a year ago, which doubled the attendance in Duluth churches.

The movement originated in New York two years ago and has been taken up in most of the cities throughout the United States. No uniform date has been set. Each city makes its own plans for its big church-going Sunday.

W. B. Patton of the Duluth Interchurch council is at the head of the movement in this city.

BODY OF MISSING GIRL FOUND IN LONELY PARK.

New Haven, Conn., March 5.—The body of Lillian May Cook, 18 years old, Brooklyn stenographer, for whom the police of three states have been searching for a week, was found in a lonely part of West Rock Park here yesterday afternoon. Investigation proved she had shot herself with a revolver taken from the office of the Mayo Radiator company of this city, where she was employed. Medical Examiner Scarboro said Miss Cook apparently had been dead a week; that, so far as he could determine at this time, her physical condition was normal when she committed suicide.

LANGDON FARMER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Buys Gun at Thief River Falls, But Officer Frustrates Attempt.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil Peterson, a wealthy farmer from Langdon, N. D., attempted to take his life here Wednesday. He arrived at noon from his home and went direct to the Northwestern hotel, where he engaged a room for the night. He then went to the Laing hardware store and purchased a revolver. When he returned to the hotel the proprietor, John Oftedahl, noticed that he was acting strangely and at the same time discovered the revolver. He took the gun from Peterson and sent him to his room.

Peterson came down to his breakfast yesterday, paid his bill at the hotel and for three meals in advance, stating the money was no good to him. Mr. Oftedahl then returned the revolver to Peterson. When Peterson went out, the hotel man communicated with the chief of police and told him to keep his eye on Peterson, giving him a description of the man. An officer followed Peterson down La Bree avenue and across the river to the sawmill, and placed him under arrest when he was attempting to load the gun. Peterson's ignorance of firearms kept him from shooting himself, as he was unable to open the revolver to load it.

A brother at Langdon was notified and arrived here today with the sheriff of Cavalier county to take the unfortunate man back there, where he will undoubtedly be committed to the insane asylum. The brother, in answering the inquiry of the local authorities, stated that Peterson had been acting strangely for the past year. He seems to be laboring under the delusion that the spirits demand that he kill himself.

BRITISH NAVY LIST KEPT FROM PUBLIC.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 18.—For the first time during a century the British navy list has disappeared, at least so far as the public is concerned. The February number has been prepared but withheld for official usage only. Its first issue was in February, 1814, just at the close of the great war.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Did Not Make Case.

Otto A. Zimmerman, appellant, vs. Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, et al, respondents—

Assignments of error not argued in the brief will not be considered.

Sec. 7998, G. S. 1913, which provides that in jury cases a motion for a directed verdict, after the testimony is in, shall be denied if the adverse party objects, does not deprive the courts of their constitutional power to determine whether a cause of action or defense has been made out. It merely regulates or postpones the exercise of the power.

While it should not be held that a party waives his right to object to a decision upon the merits of a motion for a directed verdict by stating reasons why it should not be granted, nevertheless good practice requires those who wish to avail themselves of the statute to submit the objection without argument; and where, as in this case, after objection and argument upon the merits plaintiff remained silent when the court stated his understanding that there was no objection to a decision of the motion on the merits, the benefit of the statute was waived.

Plaintiff did not make a prima facie case for the recovery of damages against the carriers for failure to safely carry and deliver a carload of barley.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Parol Evidence Admissible.

Crystal Lake Cemetery Association, respondent, vs. Horace M. Farnham, et al, appellants—

1. Where the owner executes a lease of real estate and also executes to the lessee an option to purchase the same, parol evidence is admissible to show that both instruments were executed at the same time and as parts of the same transaction, although they bear different dates.

2. The obligations assumed by the lessee under the lease furnish a sufficient consideration to support the option as they are parts of one contract.

3. The option provided that failure to pay the rent at the time and in the manner stated in the lease should render the option void. One instalment of rent was not paid until some weeks after it became due, but was then paid and accepted without objection. Subsequent instalments were also paid and accepted without objection. Held that the default resulting from the failure to pay such instalment at the time stipulated had been waived.

4. Evidence as to the character and value of improvements placed upon the premises by the lessee was properly received although he had the right to remove such improvements.

Judgment affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Held to Be Error.

Swan A. Anderson, respondent, vs. Louis Wormser, appellant—

The plaintiff was injured in a passenger elevator. In an action for damages for his injury there was a verdict for defendant. The court instructed the jury that if the plaintiff got into the elevator when it was moving he was guilty of contributory negligence. It was not moving. The instruction is held error justifying the order granting plaintiff a new trial.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Cudahy Packing company, appellant—

Chapter 250, Laws of 1907, authorized the imposition of the gross earnings tax upon the refrigerator cars of defendant operated by it over the lines of different railroads; such operation of cars consisting in directing and controlling the loads, movements, routes and destination of the cars, the railroads furnishing the motive power, and receiving the same freight rates as if the shipments were carried in like cars of the railroads, but paying defendant 1 cent for each mile a car is hauled with load.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Does Not Vest Title.

William C. Foster, appellant, vs. John Wagener, respondent—

1. The mere service of a notice of expiration of the time for redemption from a tax sale, as required by Section 2148, General Statutes, 1913, does not vest in the holder of the tax sale certificate title to the land.

2. Whether the service of such notice will ultimately ripen into title depends wholly upon the failure of the property owner to make redemption.

3. The failure of the sheriff to serve such a notice does not give to the holder of the tax certificate an action against the officer for the value of the land, since it is speculative and uncertain whether the owner of the land would have failed to make redemption.

4. Complaint construed and held not to state a cause of action for the value of the land covered by the tax certificate, based upon the alleged neglect of the sheriff to serve the notice, and that the demurrer thereto was properly sustained.

5. An order sustaining a general demurrer to a complaint will not be reversed merely because the plaintiff might be entitled to nominal damages.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

BLUE EARTH COUNTY.
No Prejudicial Error.

Elias Shama, respondent, vs. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, appellant—

The bill of lading under which certain merchandise was shipped by plaintiff over defendant's road provided that claims for loss damage or delay must be made in writing to the carrier at the point of delivery or at the point of origin within four months after delivery of the property, or in case of failure to make delivery, then within four months after a reasonable time for delivery has elapsed. Part of the merchandise was lost while in possession of the carrier. It is held:

1. The evidence conclusively showed that defendant waived strict compliance with this provision of the bill of lading.

2. The issue of waiver was litigated by consent.

3. There was no prejudicial error in the admission of evidence or in the charge.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

LE SUEUR COUNTY.
Error Prejudicial.

Louisa Lamont et al, respondents, vs. William H. Lamont et al, appellants—

In this action to set aside the foreclosure of a mortgage on the grounds that the mortgagor, at the time the mortgage was executed, was married, that the property was the homestead, and that the wife did not join in the mortgage, it is held:

1. It was error to receive in evidence on the issue of marriage, a judgment in a prior action to which the defendant here was not a party. The error was prejudicial.

2. Conceding that the refusal of a witness to answer material questions asked on cross-examination is ground for suppressing the deposition of such witness, the motion to suppress must be made within ten days after notice of the return of the deposition as provided by General Statutes, 1913, section 8393.

3. Declarations of the mortgagor, since deceased, tending to indicate his claim that the property was his homestead, and made while he was the owner and in possession of the property, were properly received in evidence.

Order reversed. BUNN, J.

ITASCA COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

John Hellmer, respondent, vs. Shevlin-Mathieu Lumber company, appellant—

In this action to recover for timber cut and removed by defendant from land claimed to be owned by plaintiff, it is held:

1. Defendant having moved for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, but not for a new trial, it waived its right to the latter, and on an appeal from the judgment assignments of error in the admission of evidence or in the charge that bear only on the right to a new trial will not be considered.

2. The evidence conclusively shows that a deed under which defendant claimed title to the land was a forgery.

3. Tax deeds under which defendant claimed title held void on their face, and further that even if valid the land was subject to redemption, and the notices of expiration of the time to redeem were void under De Laurier vs. Stilson, 121 Minn. 339.

4. Plaintiff was the record owner. The fact that he had not paid the taxes on the property, or that he had not redeemed tax sales thereof on which the state was the purchaser, did not prevent his maintaining an action against a stranger for cutting and removing timber on the land.

5. Plaintiff was not estopped by his conduct from claiming ownership of the land or from maintaining this action.

6. There was nothing in the transaction by which plaintiff acquired title to the land which makes it void as against public policy, or prevents plaintiff from obtaining relief in this action.

Judgment affirmed. BUNN, J.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.
Not Made at Reasonable Time.

Henry A. Johnson, administrator, respondent, vs. Bankers' Mutual Casualty company, appellant—

The evidence in this case sustains a finding that deceased suffered death from accidental drowning.

Where a policy of accident insurance gives to the insurer the right, in case of death, to an autopsy by a medical adviser, and the policy holder suffers death claimed to be accidental, and leaves a widow who is also sole beneficiary, the widow is the proper person upon whom to make demand for an autopsy.

It is not necessary that the demand be made upon her in person, so long as it is communicated to her.

Such a demand to be effective must be made within a reasonable time after death and upon a proper occasion, and when made upon the widow between the death and burial of her husband, the language should leave nothing to intendment, but should be free from doubt or ambiguity.

In this case a demand for an autopsy was made by the claim auditor of the company at 10:18 a. m. The funeral was set for 1 p. m. Friends were beginning to arrive from a distance and the body was being prepared for burial. The demand was a present demand calling for present compliances or refusal. The medical adviser whom the auditor had in mind to perform the autopsy was in Minneapolis, many miles away. Compliance with the demand would have caused a delay in the funeral obsequies, the extent of which cannot be determined. The claim auditor had been within two miles of the place of demand investigating the cause of death since the day before. Held, the demand for an autopsy was not made at a reasonable time or upon a proper occasion, and its refusal did not defeat right of action under the policy.

Failure to give notice of claim within the time stipulated in the policy is waived where in response to the notice the company denies liability wholly on another ground.

No reversible error can be predicated on a ruling permitting plaintiff to call the claim auditor of defendant for cross-examination under the statute, where plaintiff did not seek to avoid his testimony and the form of the questions would have been proper had he been called as plaintiff's witness.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

RICE COUNTY.
Responsible For Losses.

Northwestern Marble & Tile Co., appellant, vs. Joseph Williams, sole trader, etc., respondent—

1. If, after verdict, the unsuccessful party moves for judgment notwithstanding the verdict but does not move in the alternative for a new trial, he cannot on appeal be awarded a new trial. By resting solely upon his motion for judgment he waives all errors which would be ground only for a new trial.

2. A common carrier is, at common law, an insurer of the goods shipped, and is responsible for all losses, except those arising from certain excepted causes. One excepted cause is improper packing by the shipper. The rules applicable to contributory negligence do not apply to such a case. The carrier must to relieve himself from liability, show that the fault of the shipper was the sole cause of the loss.

3. If improper packing is apparent to the carrier or his servants, then the carrier may refuse to receive the shipment. If he does receive the shipment he assumes to carry the goods as they are, and the full common law liability as carrier attaches.

4. Although the carrier has knowledge of the defective packing, yet if it is not apparent to the ordinary observation of the carrier or his servants that the goods cannot be safely carried in the condition in which they are presented, the carrier should not be held to take the chances of injury from improper packing. On this point the evidence in this case presents a question for the jury.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.
Took no part.

WRIGHT COUNTY.
Not Excessive.

William F. Reick, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant—

1. Action to recover for personal injuries. At the second trial plaintiff had a verdict of $4,225 which was reduced to $3,500 by the trial court. Held that the verdict as reduced is not so clearly excessive as to require this court to interfere therewith.

2. A verdict rendered pursuant to an agreement between the jurors that each should designate an amount, that the aggregate of such amounts should be divided by twelve and that the quotient should constitute the verdict, could not be permitted to stand, but the record fails to show that such method, or any other improper method, was adopted in determining the amount of the verdict in question.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

OLMSTED COUNTY.
Order Reversed.

Martin Kiefer, appellant, vs. Irwin W. Tolbert, respondent—

The plaintiff, without the request or knowledge of the defendant, undersigned, prior to delivery, notes made by him to another in part payment of the purchase price of property, to give them additional credit. Prior to maturity the plaintiff paid money or its equivalent for the notes, and they were delivered to him by a collecting agent of the payee without indorsement. It is held:

1. That the undersigning of the notes by the plaintiff, without the request or knowledge of the defendant, did not amount to a material alteration discharging him from liability.

2. That upon payment the collecting agent of the payee was authorized to deliver the notes to the plaintiff; that such delivery, though without indorsement, transferred the legal title; and that the plaintiff was entitled to recover of the defendant the amount which he paid subject to such defenses as the defendant had against the payee.

Order reversed. DIBELL, C.

PIPESTONE COUNTY.
Evidence Sufficient.

Thomas Elnung, respondent, vs. John Schlopkohl, et al, defendants, John Schlopkohl, appellant—tify the findings of the trial court to the effect that there was a "practical location" of the boundary line here in question.

Order affirmed. PER CURIAM.

DULUTH-TO-TWINS HIGHWAY AIDED

Although St. Louis, Hennepin and Ramsey counties are the largest contributors to the state road and bridge fund, paying more than one-half of the entire fund, all they will get out of the annual distribution, just made by the state highway commission, is $35,000 each, the same as last year. None of the eighty-six counties of the state gets the maximum, which is 3 per cent.

The three counties mentioned contributed $772,883.83 to the state road and bridge fund.

The Duluth-to-Twin Cities highway was aided by the commission by an increase in the allotment to Pine and Chisago counties, which have already pledged themselves to assist in building this particular highway. Last year Pine and Chisago counties received only the minimum appropriation of $14,000. This year Pine county will get $21,000 and Chisago county $16,000.

The minimum allotment as agreed upon by the commission this year is $14,800, and thirteen counties will be added to that extent. Winona county was given $27,000 and Stearns county $22,000. The total fund distributed by the commission is $1,480,000.

CANADIANS AT THE FRONT

Associated Press Correspondent Writes From British Headquarters.

"Top Dog Now" Is Favorite Expression of Tommy Atkins.

Frederick Palmer, who is at the front in France for the Associated Press, sends the following:

British headquarters in France, via London, March 5.—For the first time, accredited newspaper correspondents have been allowed to enter that zone where men in khaki speaking English hold a portion of the allied line.

When the trench crosses the road, the French and British are elbow to elbow, facing the Germans. French peasants and villagers are living and working under shell fire, neighbors to the British guns, concealed from German aeroplanes which shake their houses as they fire.

Signs in English at the French cross roads give directions to traffic, and all French names are pronounced according to the English spelling, so that the soldiers or officers will not fail to understand them.

One is impressed with the immensity of the British resources, the numbers of motor trucks and the completeness and thoroughness of all the equipment. All food and all supplies are brought from England, while the French shops are thriving on the English luxuries which they sell to the troops.

Learning to Say "Top Dog."

The French are learning to say "top dog." That expression was the one most often heard, the first day the correspondent arrived at the front, from both officers and men.

"Top dog now" says "Tommy Atkins" and the generals. One gets it in the broad Scotch, Irish and cockney accents, and in broken French. It expresses the opinion that a turn in the tide has come and that the worst is behind them.

The British artillery fire, which was weaker early in the campaign, now is stronger all along the line than that of the Germans. Once the correspondents were permitted to visit the British line, everybody talked with perfect frankness concerning the operations, and instead of the late starts and the long lunches, dinners and other functions, which characterized such tours, they are usually awakened at 6:30 o'clock in the morning and kept going until 8 at night, with the first aid packages served out at the breakfast table.

Victory in the Fall.

One might think from the stability of all the appointments that the British had no expectation except for a long war; yet the universal opinion is that the fall will see victory and the end.

The thin line which held in the defense of the channel ports is deep now.

One is surprised at the excellence of the aeroplane service, when it is realized that the corps is only three years old. This is not due to the superior flying of the British airmen, but to the thoroughness of their equipment and mechanical department and the prodigality of the expenditure for all necessary assistance and resources. Everything but the actual manufacture of the engines is being done at the front. The engines are assembled and the wings are made in different shops near the aeroplane base. Successful reconnaissance with air craft has now become a matter of mechanical care and organization. The British aviator seems keenly to enjoy these maneuvers and the chance to chase an enemy machine.

Sickness Small.

The official medical corps showed the correspondent charts of the sickness among the soldiers, which is less than that among the troops at home, despite the strain the men are under when they take their turns in the trenches. This is due to the giving to the men of all the wholesome food they can eat, and plenty of exercise when they are out of the trenches, and to enforcing all sanitary regulations with the strictest discipline.

"As Col. Gorgas met the health problems on the Panama canal, so we met and conquered those in this kind of war," a medical corps officer said.

Frost-bite, which was most plentiful in December and January, was overcome by making the men loosen their cloth puttees, which became wet and binding, stopping the circulation of the blood and by compelling them to take off their boots at intervals.

Change Shifts Often.

"We change the shifts in the trenches," said a brigadier general, "sometimes every forty-eight hours, but sometimes less or more frequently. It all depends on the hardships and keeping the men fit."

The officer pointed out places where the positions on both sides, despite the attacks and counter attacks, were the same as last October, and where there might as well have been an understanding to rest for the winter and start in the spring when the ground had dried out. Yet, though dead from the attacks lie between the trenches, close to the parapets, the Germans will not agree to an armistice to bury them, the officers said.

One heard much in England of the hate of the Germans for the English, but here at the front, no hate seemingly is evinced by the British, despite the assertion that it is their determination to fight to the finish.

German Hatred.

"The German hates us because we are going to be the top dog," Tommy Atkins says.

From the commander-in-chief down, simple living and the duty of keeping well are rules that are being rigidly followed. Field Marshal Sir John French, the British commander, occupies a house. His office is the drawing room, the appointments of which have not been disturbed. He dines with his aides in the dining room. The other rooms are used as offices. Dinner at headquarters one finds much like the dinner of the English mess in England, the talk running on other subjects than the war, as a relaxation for the officers. It is hard to realize that war is so near by.

Sir John French is ruddy and alert, and bears no sign of the strain of the last eight months.

DAIRY PLANS ARE HALTED

Hoof and Mouth Disease Interferes With the "Ashland" Plan.

Farmers Are Afraid to Accept Loans for Stock Raising.

The halt that the outbreak of the hoof and mouth disease among cattle caused in the dairy stocking of small farms hereabouts on what is known as the "Ashland plan," has not yet been overcome, and may not be for some time, according to E. G. Church, who had active charge of the work. The plan, in brief, is simply a means of financing farmers in this vicinity who wish to begin in the dairy-farm business or extend what they have already started. Mr. Church is in hopes that some plan may be arrived at so that the work—which was wonderfully successful last year, he says—may be continued.

Gets Many Applications.

"We have a great many applications for these loans," said Mr. Church today, "and many more would apply if they knew that the hoof and mouth disease were out of the way. Dairying is the thing, and the last year has demonstrated that it is going to make this part of the country equal to that of Central Wisconsin, which became rich through dairy development. We have better grasses and better advantages all round.

"I never met in my life, a better class of men than those with whom we have dealt in these loans. There has not been a single default of payment and they have been made on time. No dunning has been necessary.

"Dairying is the making of these farmers and they know it. In dairying one does not have to wait a year for his money, but he gets it right along and can do something with it."

Asked as to about how many cows a small farm should try to keep, Mr. Church referred to a statement recently made by A. J. McGuire, dairy specialist at the Minnesota agricultural college, and formerly of the experiment station at Grand Rapids, Minn., and interjected the remark as partly explanatory, that a good man can milk about fifteen cows in an hour and a half. In the statement, Mr. McGuire, says:

Things That Govern.

"The extent to which dairying can be conducted on the farm depends upon many different conditions. Among these are the size of the farm, the amount of help, number of stock kept, and, it might also be added, the necessity of making all the money possible. When a farmer is in debt or has needed improvements to make, the greatest number of dairy cows that can be fed and cared for properly on the farm will bring the largest and surest returns.

"On a small farm a man can milk from six to ten cows in connection with the farm work and this number may be increased in proportion to the number of boys and girls to the family. A farm boy who does not learn to be a good milker and who cannot be depended upon to get the milking done regularly and on time, loses the better part of his farm training.

"While the milking should not be the women's work, it is not unwomanly to be able to help with the milking when necessary, and the strength of body that comes from this wholesome work and the knowledge which it gives of a most important factor of farming, should make it a desirable thing for every girl brought up on the farm, especially when a family needs money, which often cannot be made except through the keeping of more cows.

"On large farms, when considerable other stock is kept and various products sold, the number of cows milked may not be so important, but on the small farm, and especially in the northern timbered section of the state where the farm must be made to pay with from twenty to forty acres under the plow, and frequently less—there it is highly important to keep as many cows as the farm will provide feed for.

"By feeding the crop to good dairy cows, its value may be increased two or three times over what it would be if sold direct from the farm. Crops marketed in the form of butter fat, bring higher prices than when sold as crops, and when the crops are fed the land can be manured, and this means large yields, which are also necessary on the small farm."

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

GOLF DRIVES ON THE LAKE

Richard Clarkson of Northland Club Playing on the Ice.

Richard Clarkson, professional golf instructor of the Northland club, is this afternoon making a test of how far a golf ball can be driven on the lake. There has been considerable argument over just how far a ball would roll on the slippery surface of the frozen ice, and to determine the result of much speculation, Clarkson is making the drive.

Some of the enthusiasts of the game are predicting that the ball will roll to a distance of 600 yards. Clarkson is of the opinion that the ball will roll a distance of approximately 350 yards.

Ice golf is a vague possibility, and the drives of Clarkson may result in the distant future in a course being laid out on the lake. It would indeed require a real enthusiast to play a game on the lake.

BOAT CLUB TENNIS PLAYERS WILL DINE.

The banquet of the tennis players of the Duluth Boat club will be held on next Wednesday evening at the St. Louis hotel. At that time plans will be made for the coming season. It is stated that repairs will be made on the present courts, and that there is the possibility that a new court may be built at Oatka.

CHICAGO CURLING ENTHUSIAST HERE.

W. A. Fenwick, a well known business man of Chicago and one of the most prominent curlers of the Windy City, is in the city today.

Mr. Fenwick was a guest of honor at the Duluth Curling club last evening. Tomorrow afternoon a special game will be played in which Mr. Fenwick will skip a rink on which Elmer Whyte will play. Charles Brewer will skip the opposing rink.

It is the intention of the visiting enthusiast to bring a Milwaukee rink to the 1916 bonsspiel. Mr. Fenwick has donated four gold medals that are being played for at the present time by the Milwaukee curlers.

During his visit here Mr. Fenwick has been entertained by several of the directors of the Duluth Curling club.

AMERICA'S GREATEST AUTO RACE SATURDAY

San Francisco, Cal., March 5.—The Vanderbilt cup race, the chief event of the automobile speed game in America, will take place tomorrow over the course of Panama-Pacific international exposition. The race will start at 12:30 p. m. The course is in perfect shape, as no rain has fallen for several days. Thirty-one contestants are listed to start. "Bob" Burman, holder of the world's record for a mile, entered at the last moment. In practice this morning, Burman broke the course record by speeding around at the rate of seventy-one miles an hour. On the straightaway the racers have been making 100 miles an hour.

A SAFE DEDUCTION.

New York Press: Sourgeon, the famous preacher, was once asked the following curious question: "Would a man go to heaven who learned to play the cornet on Sunday?"

His reply was thoroughly characteristic. Said he: "I don't see why he should not; but"—after a pause—"I doubt whether the man next door would."

Freckle-Face

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from Boyce Drug Store or any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of February and March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more othine is sold in these months. Be sure to ask for double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

EFFECT NOT FAVORABLE

Hearing on the County Division Bill Injures Its Chances.

House Committee to Take Action on It Next Wednesday.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county division bill will come up for action before the house committee on towns and counties next Wednesday afternoon.

This is pursuant to an agreement between Representative S. C. Scott of Hibbing, in behalf of the advocates of the bill, and Representative E. R. Ribenack of Duluth in behalf of the opposition, made in the presence of Chairman T. J. Greene of the committee and approved by him.

The senate committee, of which Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker is chairman, has not yet made its arrangements, but it will probably meet for action about the same time.

The result of the hearing Wednesday afternoon before the two committees has manifestly had a marked effect on the prospects of the county division bill, and one not at all favorable to its passage.

It developed at that hearing not only that the plan to provide for a system of county division by which only the part of a county proposed to be set off as a new county shall vote upon the question, giving the rest of the county no voice at all, is unfair and utterly out of accord with all principles of American government; but that a very large proportion of the people living in the range country, especially those living on the Vermilion range and in the eastern section of the Mesaba range, are violently opposed to division.

Power's Speech.

Moreover, though Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing, the head and front of the county division movement and the ingenious author of this peculiar system of county division, made a masterly speech before the committee, a speech full of cunning and calculated to sway all but the thinking members of the legislature, still at the same time he definitely established the fact that the county division movement is inspired by him and his followers, and that its success means the creation of a county in which the system of civic administration of which he is credited with being the exemplar will prevail.

And that effect is not entirely favorable to the passage of such a bill through a legislature pledged and committed to economy.

The range members, who were pledged to county division by the few active agents of the county division movement and who, therefore, have joined in this bill because it was sent to them by those who were instrumental in pledging them, are doing the best they can to put it through. But the manifest fact that a very large and very influential section of their constituents is violently opposed to the bill has made their task a very difficult one indeed.

This is perhaps less true of the representatives from the Hibbing-Chisholm district, where the clever Mr. Power is supposed, than it is of those from the district in which Eveleth, Aurora, Biwabik, Ely and Tower are situated.

Virginia's Attitude.

Virginia is in this district, also, and Virginia has been considerably interested in county division because of its belief that county division meant a county seat at Virginia; there is manifestly much opposition to county division even in Virginia.

But Virginia's advocacy of county division doubtless would be considerably abated if the proposition were to locate the county seat elsewhere.

And that is exactly what the proposition is.

At the meeting of the range senators and representatives at which M. H. McMahon of Virginia, in behalf of the Power county division organization, presented two bills for county division that had been devised—one for division by legislative enactment and the other for division by petition—Mr. McMahan said that the understanding was that the temporary county seat was to be located at Hibbing.

No bjection was raised to this by the range senators or representatives.

Why Interest Has Waned.

So that so far as the agreement made by the advocates of county division goes, it is arranged that the county seat in the new county—if one is created by this legislature—will be located at Hibbing.

This doubtless accounts for the fact that interest in county division has noticeably waned in the Virginia-Aurora-Ely-Tower district.

It is said that leading Hibbing people have said that if the county seat is located at Hibbing temporarily, it will stay there.

The Virginia-Aurora-Biwabik district probably would be little interested in a county division movement that means Hibbing as the county seat.

As for the Vermilion range, A. J. Thomas of Ely said before the St. Louis county delegation at a recent meeting, when he was advocating the bill providing for regular terms of court at Ely, that when Vermilion range people have litigation, they prefer to go to Duluth rather than to Virginia. And if Duluth is more convenient than Virginia, it surely would be ten times more convenient than Hibbing.

All of which may easily account for the fact that while the members of the Power-McMahon county division organization are still working hard for it, a hundred of the best and most influential citizens of the district represented by Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia and Representatives John H. Gill of Virginia and Charles T. Murphy of Aurora were down here the other day protesting so vigorously against the passage of the county division bill that the protest brought out into the open the real leader of the county division movement, Mayor Victor Power of Hibbing.

Game and Fish Changes.

The house game and fish committee, of which Representative Edward Indrehus of Foley is chairman, has agreed on a number of important amendments to the game and fish laws, and will report bills to the house covering these changes:

First—Forbidding aliens to carry firearms to hunt.

Second—Authorizing the creation of private game preserves of not less than 640 acres. Owners of property may combine for this purpose, and establish such game preserve by permission of the game and fish commission.

Third—Limiting the game bag of birds to ten a day, instead of fifteen, and reducing the number that may be had in possession from forty-five to thirty.

Fourth—Reducing a day's catch of bass or pike from twenty-five to fifteen, leaving trout at twenty-five, as at present.

Fifth—Requiring all hunters to take out licenses, except that farmers may hunt on their own land. At present no license is required for small game hunting in one's own county. Under this amendment every hunter would have to pay a dollar for a license, and this, it is figured, would make the game and fish commission wholly self-supporting.

Sixth—Restoring the use of artificial lights for spearing rough fish, providing that they shall be used only during April and October and only in streams and not within 1,000 feet of any lake.

Seventh—Providing that the stakes on whitefish nets shall display the net licenses three feet above the water.

The committee still has other proposals before it.

• • •

State-wide Prohibition.

State-wide prohibition by constitutional amendment will be considered early next week by the house temperance committee, which will take up the Larimore-Davis joint resolution that descended like a bolt from the clear sky into the house last Tuesday.

It is the desire of the committee to place the resolution before the house as soon as possible. Representative James Dwyer, chairman of the temperance committee, stated yesterday that the bill would not be delayed in committee.

The resolution probably will be sent to the house without recommendation.

There is a growing feeling in the house that the resolution, which is in the form of a bill, may be passed by even a larger vote than was the county option measure.

Several members have indicated that while they are opposed to county option, they would favor any steps looking to state-wide prohibition.

On the other hand, no logical reason has been put forth as to why those favoring county option would oppose state-wide prohibition.

Representative Larimore is desirous of early action on the resolution.

"We are going to fight for the resolution every step of the way," he said last night. "Its passage in the house is assured."

At least six members of the house who voted against the county option bill have pledged themselves to support the prohibition resolution.

DISEASES SHOW GRADUAL DECLINE

Health Department Makes Optimistic Report for February.

During February contagious diseases decreased to a slight extent, although there are still many cases reported in various parts of the city, according to the February report of the health department.

In the summary for the month, Health Director Webster states that a gradual decrease of contagious diseases is expected.

Following is the summary for the month, as announced this morning by Dr. Webster:

"Scarlet fever dropped from twenty-eight to twenty-six cases.

"Diphtheria decreased from twelve to eight cases.

"Chicken pox decreased from fifty-three to forty-six cases.

"Only four cases of smallpox were encountered."

STATE MAY OWN GRAIN ELEVATORS

Resolution Providing Constitutional Amendment Passes in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—After an hour's debate the assembly today indorsed the Vint resolution for a constitutional amendment permitting the state to own and operate grain warehouses and elevators. It was opposed by Assemblyman Ellingson, Rusk county, who contended that the state is entering too much upon the domain of private business. Assemblyman Nordman, Langlade county, said that state-owned elevators would furnish foodstuffs for the people at a low cost and denounced the alleged "food trust" which, he said, the proposed system would break.

The measure was down for indefinite postponement, but the house refused to kill it and finally sent it to engrossment by a vote of 44 to 27.

The senate, 18 to 6, adopted the Ackley joint resolution for a constitutional amendment permitting a sheriff to succeed himself for one term.

The Mulberger bill, introduced by request, to repeal the blue sky law, was killed.

Petitions favoring the proposed increase in passenger fares came in from Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Junction City, Juneau county and other sections.

The Bray bill prohibiting discriminations in newspaper advertising rates was killed without debate as was the Hansen bill, providing that municipally-owned public utilities shall in their accounts and records separate the cost as between the municipality and private individuals.

Both houses adjourned until Monday night.

McLEAN FUNERAL SET FOR SATURDAY.

Funeral services for Capt. Murdock McLean, 4324 Gilliat street, Lakeside, who died very suddenly Wednesday night, will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church will officiate.

Capt. McLean's death came without warning, as he went to bed Wednesday evening apparently in good health, and was discovered dead shortly before 12 o'clock.

He is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Douglas, and two sons, James and Stanley. The two boys arrived in Duluth from the woods near Cook, Minn., this morning.

The deceased was well known along the Great Lakes, having been connected with marine interests since a boy. He commanded several Canadian ships, and during recent years has been filling in for various fleets. He was with the Booth line for several years. He has been a resident of Duluth since 1872, when he came here from Kincardine, Ont., his birthplace. At the time of his death he was 60 years of age.

Capt. McLean was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters and of a Canadian lodge of Masons.

FIRE PROBE UNDER WAY

Theater Fire Did Not Start in Paint Room, Says Deputy.

Insurance on Playhouse Was $41,500—Three Other Fires.

Four fires of unknown origin, causing property loss estimated at about $45,000 Wednesday night and Thursday morning, are being investigated by members of the state fire marshal's office. Incendiarism has been rumored to be the cause of the blazes, which came within a few hours.

Deputy Fire Marshal Robert J. Martin of St. Paul, who was en route to St. Paul from Virginia yesterday, stopped in Duluth when he learned of the fires, and will remain here for two or three days. A careful inquiry will be conducted to determine, if possible, the causes of the blazes at the Empress theater, Seekins floral shop and adjoining stores, the Elgin hotel, 321 West First street, and the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse dock at Seventh avenue west and the bay front. The Northern Cold Storage management declares that there was no fire in the building; that the blaze was in a trench nearby where the city was thawing ground for mains.

After a short conference with Asst. Chief Wilson, Deputy Martin inspected the Empress property yesterday afternoon. He wired State Fire Marshal Keller last night for another deputy to assist in the work, but the second man had not arrived this morning.

Not From Paint Room.

Theories that the Empress fire started in a paint room in the basement were exploded by Deputy Martin this afternoon, after a talk with Manager Abrahamson of the theater.

Mr. Abrahamson stated the paints were water colors and not oils, and that the paint room was not badly damaged by the flames. It would be impossible for a blaze to start from water colors, according to Deputy Martin.

John Prendergast, stage manager, lost $1,000 in the blaze, it was discovered today. Ten score boards, valued at $100 each, which he had stored in the basement, were totally destroyed. There was no insurance on them.

James Allen, assistant manager, Jack Sullivan, property manager, William Madigan, janitor and James McLennan, electrician, will meet with the deputy this afternoon, when it is expected that a decision will be reached.

Insurance on the theater, its contents, and the rental, amounted to $41,500, according to Deputy Martin. Mr. Abrahamson holds $33,000 on the building and $4,500 on the contents, stage settings, etc., while Lottie M. Koons, owner of the land, held $4,000 rental insurance.

Tomorrow morning Deputy Martin will begin work on the Seekins building, and the other two places damaged by fire the same day.

COMMERCIAL CLUB YEAR SUCCESSFUL

Organization Now in Last Month of Fiscal Period.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Commercial club will be held on April 14, and at that time the chairmen of the various committees are required to furnish a report setting forth the work done during the fiscal year, of which March is the final month. Lacking detailed reports, it is yet known that the year just coming to a close has been a very satisfactory one, despite a business slowing-up, the membership has been sustained and the traffic, publicity and agricultural departments have attained good results.

The traffic department has had an exceptionally effective year, and the work of G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner, and his associates, has resulted in very decidedly advantageous rate-making for Duluth. The publicity committee has also had a busy year. The agricultural committee enjoyed excellent results as a reward for the work done, and only recently reorganized for another year of endeavor in the line of homecrofting and the promotion of agriculture in this part of the state.

CASE TO BE TRIED HERE.

Death Claim for $7,500 Transferred to Federal Court.

Pursuant to an order of transfer issued by the district court at Brainerd, an action filed by Mrs. Messrall, special administratrix for the estate of Warren Messrall, deceased, against the Northern Pacific railway will be tried in the United States district court at Duluth. The case is to recover $7,500 alleged to be due as a death claim.

The plaintiff, who is the widow of Messrall, alleges in her complaint that her husband was fatally injured while in the employ of the railway company, Dec. 31, 1912. She charges the company with negligence. The deceased was a laborer, and is alleged to have been earning $1.85 a day.

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

Only Way to Cure This Disease Is to Destroy Its Cause.

By a Specialist.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Stomach dosing, ointments, sprays, creams, douches, etc., fail because they overlook this fact. They all help by giving temporary relief but they do not reach the germ life that has found lodgement in your head, nose, throat, and could not destroy it if they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of Catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself, is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful, healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which Boyce Drug Store and other leading druggists in Duluth and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ-laden membranes a medicated air which will not only relieve all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches. Druggists are so sure of the blessed, lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on the positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use. Get a Hyomei outfit from your druggist today and begin at once to drive this dangerous and disgusting disease from your system forever.

Your New Corset

There Is One Special Bon Ton Model Which Will Give You the New Silhouette

This season's fashion demands the return to the more natural rounded curving lines which sculptors have ever idealized. There is a slight "nip" at the waist. The corset skirt is shorter and so designed that the corset will not ride when sitting. The bust line is slightly higher. The shoulders are so modeled as to give the flat back.

The right Bon Ton corset enables the tall and fleshy woman to rival her more slender sister in gracefulness.

An entirely different model is so proportioned as to give curving longer lines to the short woman.

Models for stout figures flatten the abdomen without injury.

It is the very best of judgment to begin your spring wardrobe by having it fitted over the exactly proper corset, for the figure is the foundation of style.

See the new Bon Tons—let our corset experts fit you. There is one special model exactly suited to your needs. The price may be $3.00 or $5.00, but you will have a great money's worth in which ever model they desire for you.

"Y" BOYS OUTLINE EASTER AND SUMMER VACATION PROGRAMS

The regular monthly meeting of the boys' department Y. M. C. A. cabinet was held last evening at the home of Mrs. H. F. Salyards. Edward Scriven, president, presided, and the following members were present: Victor Eva, Carl Honingman, Edwin Pearson, Stuart Thompson, Hamilton Phelps, Charles Le Richeaux, Russell Duncan, Ben McCabe, Charles Diers, Hubert Raiskey, Gordon Hegardt, Ralph Brown, Harold Smithies, J. R. Batchelor and N. D. McLeod.

The cabinet was reminded that two more months would finish their work in the present building, which has been the home of the boys for the last twelve years. May 1 will see the boys' department quartered in the Y. M. C. A. central building. They will have special clubrooms, locker room, etc., and will use the big gymnasium. The membership committee is putting forth extra efforts just now in an effort to make the membership 500 before leaving the old building.

The cabinet decided to give the proceeds of the minstrel show for the purchase of two war canoes for Camp Miller and to give the boy who sold the most tickets a week at Camp Miller free. The committee hopes to raise $150 from the minstrel show, which will be given in the boys' department building Thursday and Friday, March 8 and 9. The date for the annual banquet has been set for Friday, April 16, and committees were appointed to secure the speakers. The play, "Father Ex-Officio," will be given April 23. It is a drama in three acts, and deals with the boy problem. Edward Scriven will have charge, the following members being in the cast: Laurence Duby, Russell Duncan, Robert Bell, Ralph McCarthy, Harold Smithies, Stuart Thompson, Charles Diers, Charles Le Richeaux, Irving Grover, Max Goldberg, Ed. Pearson, Hamilton Phelps, Willard Thorp, Victor Eva, Ralph Brown, J. R. Batchelor and N. D. McLeod. The proceeds of the play will be divided among the ten committees for their special fund. The athletic committee will launch a city basket ball league for boys more than 15 years and boys under 15 years. Any team in the city is eligible to enter, and banners will be given to the champions. They will also hold the city boys' championship. The games will probably be played during the Easter vacation. Any team interested can communicate with the boys' department.

All the committees will combine on a program for Easter vacation, March 29 to April 4. The committee has planned a program for morning, afternoon and evening. The monthly rally for all the committees will be held Thursday, March 11. Dinner will be served at 6:15, to be followed by a business meeting.

The Duluth Boys' exposition will not be held this year, but a committee has been appointed to make a report on a grade school concert. Each school will put on one number, and the proceeds from each school go to sending the most popular boy in the school to Camp Miller. The extension committee will conduct a boys' mass meeting at the Grand theater, West Duluth, next Sunday. E. W. Peck of Minneapolis will be the speaker.

The dates for Camp Miller have been set. The camp at Sturgeon lake will open June 21 and the first group to go will be the Knights of Sir Galahad and the boys' department of the First Presbyterian Sunday school. The Culver club at the Denfeld high school will camp a week, June 28 to July 3; junior camp for boys, 10 and 11 years, July 5 to July 10; first annual hike to Camp Miller, fifty miles, July 12 to 17. The eighteenth season of Camp Miller will be from Aug. 2 to Aug. 28.

Phone your want ad early for The Saturday Herald. Both phones 324.

ROUTINE MEETING IS PROBABILITY

School Board Has Not Yet Heard From Bond Buyers.

The matter of acceptance or rejection of the school bonds awarded to Wells & Dickey of Minneapolis has not been decided on so far as the members of the school board have learned, and if no definite notification arrives today, the meeting of the school board this evening will likely consist of routine business only. In case the bonding company notifies that the purchase is a go, after examining the minutes of the meeting at which the award was made, etc., it is likely that bids for the construction of the Lincoln high school will be asked for.

The board will also probably receive a communication from Lieut. C. C. Jones, drillmaster of the high school corps, suggesting the purchase by the school board of the Armory for drill and gymnasium purposes.

WORK YET TO DO ON COUNTY BILL

The Duluth and range business men who attended the meeting of the legislative committee having in charge the matter of county division, in St. Paul, returned this morning. Some came back yesterday, but most of them stayed over a day. About fifty were from Duluth and over 150 from the ranges in opposition to the division of the county; while only eight or ten went from the ranges in support of the bill, and, it is declared not one of them was a business man.

Members of the representation body from Duluth are not disposed to count their chickens at this time, but they feel that the bill will not go through.

"Of course, one can never tell," observed one of them this morning. "There are all manner of things to figure on, but I believe the overwhelming representation against the bill duly impressed the members of the legislature and that the danger is practically past. But St. Louis county people who do not want to see division should not rest on their oars now that the matter has gone so far. There is work yet to be done."

DROP WORK ON GARDENS

Club Committee Decides Not to Conduct Contest This Year.

Unauthorized Efforts of Two Men Cause Sudden Action.

Because of the activities of two men, one of whom is interested in getting free seeds for the school children, and another who has canvassed the schools for the purpose of selling the seeds to the children, the three members of the garden committee of the West End Commercial club resigned last night at the meeting of the club. The club also went on record as abandoning the garden contest entirely for this year.

It was charged at the meeting by members of the committee that Dr. O. A. Oredson, who was a member of a garden committee two years ago, had without authority from the club or the committee, canvassed the schools and secured the names of 425 children and sent these to Washington in order to have free seed sent to them. C. E. Roe was also said to have canvassed the school for the purpose of selling seed.

Members of the committee stated that owing to this interference, which would create a non-uniformity in garden truck raised by the children, it would be best for the club to drop the contest. They said that the club's contest had been planned on a proposition of raising seven varieties from state-grown seeds secured from the state agricultural experiment station, and the mixup that would result from a number of other varieties being planted would entail greater work than they cared to handle.

Club members also went on record as not favoring any support towards giving prize money this year for any contest that might be attempted by these two men.

The efficiency and economy bill now before the state legislature was indorsed unanimously by the club. A communication to that effect will be sent to members of both branches of the state legislature from this district.

First "Get-Together" Affair Will Be Held Next Thursday Night.

Conductors, motormen, shop men and other employes of the Duluth Street Railway company will hold their first "get-to-together" banquet and dance on Thursday evening, next week. The affair is being arranged by some of the older employes and is for the purpose of getting a closer relationship between the employes.

MERRITT AND VOSS CLASH

City Finance Commissioner Declares Water Department Payroll Illegal.

Comparisons of Employes' Efficiency Enter Into Discussion.

Some warm discussion featured the special meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon, when the February payrolls of the various departments were taken up. There were irregularities in the monthly salary report of the water and light department, and as a result, it had to be amended before official action was taken by the commissioners. The salary of W. F. Haig, recently promoted from assistant clerk to clerk, without the authority of the council, has been held up and referred to City Attorney Clapp.

The meeting was one of the most heated since the organization of the commission two years ago, and many personalities were injected during the discussions. Commissioners Voss and Merritt led in the debate and after several clashes, the council decided to support the head of the finance division and the refusal of the commissioners to pass the payroll, as drawn, followed.

Auditor Starts It.

On Wednesday afternoon City Auditor Campbell announced that the February payroll of the water and light department contained two cashiers and two clerks and that as a result he would refuse to approve the salary list as drawn by D. A. Reed, manager of the department. He claimed that T. E. McGibbon and C. W. Cate were both listed as cashier at salaries of $120 a month and W. F. Haig and Arthur Nelson as clerks at salaries of $70 a month.

The city auditor declared that departments have no authority to make promotions, unless vacancies occur, without first obtaining the official approval of the city council. Recently the water and light department promoted Mr. Cate from assistant cashier to cashier and Mr. Haig from assistant clerk to clerk, with increases in salary, without first introducing a resolution to that effect in the city council and obtaining the sanction of that body before taking the action.

As a result, when City Auditor Campbell began going over the payroll Wednesday, he discovered the two cashiers and two clerks on the list and he immediately prepared a statement to the council, declaring that unless some definite policy is established, he would not have any means of making checks on department heads and that he would only "be an adding machine, instead of an auditor."

Yesterday morning Manager Reed came to the city hall and changed the payroll to include but one cashier and one assistant, in place of the two, Mr. McGibbon to receive $120 and Mr. Cate $110. But the city auditor still insisted that the payroll was illegal, as it contained two clerks, and he prepared a new statement, which was presented to the council yesterday afternoon.

Voss vs. Merritt.

It was this statement, read by Commissioner Voss, that started the clashes between the head of the finance division and Commissioner Merritt, head of the department of public utilities.

"It falls upon me to introduce resolutions approving salaries," declared Commissioner Voss. "I will not introduce the resolution with two clerks on the rolls. I have no authority to do it. Only the council can increase payrolls. Promotion of several men to clerks increases payrolls without the consent of the council. Under the system before us, what is to prevent making all water and light employes registrars or other advanced assistants and increasing their salaries?"

"I would have liked it much better if you had come to me about this question instead of hastening to the newspapers," complained Commissioner Merritt. "Why don't other departments treat me decently instead of picking at me? Other bills of mine that have been questioned have been discussed in other departments before coming back to me."

"Are you talking to me?" demanded Mr. Voss. "I had nothing to do with the publicity on this question before this meeting. You speak of treating you decently. Did you not charge that I was behind the deal for a shift in the council and oust you from the water and light department? I had nothing to do with the shift proposal. I did not want it. Good friends of yours told me of your remarks about me."

Employes Compared.

"Snakes in the grass, eh?" retorted Mr. Merritt. "They must have been warm friends of mine. My men are entitled to these increases. We aren't trying to slip anything over, I want to tell you. Don't I come down here and find your men not on the job? Mine are there at 8 a. m. and get back at 1 p. m. for dinner."

"My men are always on the job during proper hours," replied Mr. Voss. "They get back from dinner at 1:30 o'clock. They work while they are on the job. On your payrolls every month are bills for overtime. Isn't this an inducement for men to lag on the job to get in overtime? I am not saying you are trying to slip anything over, but the people will think so, and the whole council is blamed. I have enough trouble of my own without bearing those for other departments."

Mayor Intervenes.

At this point Mayor Prince intervened and declared that he would take a vote, adding that, in his opinion, there ought to be some explanation by the water and light department regarding this payroll and overtime bills. All the members of the council present, Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Voss and Mayor Prince, voted to amend the payroll, leaving Mr. Haig's name off the list, so that all the other employes of the department can draw their salary. It was decided to refer Mr. Haig's name to City Attorney Clapp and have the latter give an opinion on the matter.

Commissioner Murchison, who was ill at his home all day yesterday, was not present at the meeting.

ROTARIANS ELECT WHYTE PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting Held—Reports Show Good Condition of Club.

At the annual election and banquet of the Duluth Rotary club, held last evening at the Spalding hotel, Elmer N. Whyte was elected president to succeed George H. Bate, retiring. The other officers elected were as follows:

Vice president, W. C. McCarter; treasurer, J. H. Dight; secretary, W. M. Gravatt; sergeant-at-arms, Dr. J. G. Harris; statistician, George Fairley; directors for two years, F. E. Randall and G. H. Bate; directors for one year, Thomas Furniss and E. F. Burg. E. J. Filiatrault holds over as director.

At the meeting of the club next week, it was determined last night, three or more delegates will be elected to attend the national meeting of the Rotarians, to be held next summer in San Francisco. The meeting next week will be on Thursday, and at the Spalding.

There was a brief discussion of the matter of trying to have fire insurance rates lowered in Duluth and of extending membership limitations, but neither was disposed of, both being laid over.

Reports of officers for the year showed an excellent condition and strengthening of the club. The business was followed by an informal program.

LIGHT AND SHADOW OF POLICE COURT

QUICK ACTION IN SUPERIOR COURT

Chief Troyer Points Out Handicaps of Grand Jury System.

WITHIN thirty-six hours after William Elbrant, aged 36, was arrested by Duluth police, charged with burglarizing the summer home of E. P. Alexander, Duluth real estate man, he was on his way to Waupun in charge of a Wisconsin sheriff, to serve one year.

Elbrant pleaded guilty before Superior Judge Charles Smith yesterday to entering the cottage of Mr. Alexander, which is on Zenith island, in the St. Louis river, and ransacking the place. He secured 114 articles, including a $150 shot gun, a large set of table silverware, bedding, clothes, and choice wines.

"This is an excellent example of what can be done by officers of the law who are not hampered by the grand jury system," said Chief of Police Troyer this morning.

"In Minnesota we would be lucky if we disposed of the case in less than two or three weeks. The Wisconsin system should be adopted here, as there is no excuse, I believe, in having to refer all cases of this kind to a grand jury.

"After a case is brought into municipal court, it must be referred to the grand jury, and then to district court, and after needless repetitions and a long delay, the man finally is sentenced."

Chief Troyer is a strong advocate of the Wisconsin system, believing that the ends of justice are not served as well under the present "cumbersome" Minnesota method.

PAYS FOR UNION LABEL.

Tailor Uses It Without Authority—Costs Him $12.50.

All question as to whether unions really do exist or not was removed from the mind of M. Lieberman, tailor, this morning in municipal court, when he paid a fine of $12.50 for using the tailor's label illegally.

He was arrested by Police Sergeant Englert, charged with placing the label on a suit of clothes made in his shop, which is non-union. F. A. Johnson of local No. 87, Journeymen tailors, swore out a complaint upon the suggestion of Thomas Moore, who bought the suit.

CARELESS WITH MONEY.

But Dispute Over 35-Cent Bed Causes Their Arrest.

With $200 in currency in their pockets, John Carlson, aged 40, and Nikolas Heinonen, aged 41, got into an argument last night as to who would pay 35 cents for the bed they were to occupy at a West Michigan street rooming house.

They were so noisy about it that Patrolmen Honnold and G. Wood brought them to headquarters and charged them with drunkenness.

Carlson gave the jailer a fat wallet when en route to jail, saying that there was $125 in it. Jailer Wanvick found $155.48 and Carlson couldn't account for it. Heinonen, on the other hand, said he had about $100, but the jailer found only $57.

Finally Carlson decided that his companion must have paid him a debt of $30, but he couldn't remember when the transaction had taken place, and Heinonen couldn't remember paying it. Both were fined $5 and costs, which they paid.

GRATEFUL FOR SENTENCE.

Italian Youth Glad to Get Food and Place to Sleep.

When Frank Viola, aged 21, a clear-eyed young Italian, was sentenced to thirty days at the workfarm this morning in municipal court, he was very grateful, and thanked Judge Cutting profusely.

Viola had committed the crime of allowing himself to become hungry, and as he cannot speak a word of English, he had had difficulty in appeasing the "inner man."

Attilio Castigliano, Italian consul, volunteered to help him yesterday, and after applying at several employment agencies, found a job he could get on the payment of $3.20 fees. The consul wrote a check for $3.20, but Viola got hungry before he reached the employment office and spent part of it for food.

He was arrested but no charge was made, and the boy asked that he be allowed to work for the county until April 1, when he hopes to get employment. He is a stone mason.

SEVEN LAYERS OF CLOTHES.

Now that the warm weather is coming on, John Smith, aged 34, has discarded three of his vests and one coat, but in spite of this he still has seven layers of clothes to protect him from the wintry winds which sweep down Superior street.

Several weeks ago Smith, whose name is the Russian equivalent of Smith, was arrested for vagrancy, and when police searched him they found that he was wearing:

An overcoat,
two sack coats,
four vests,
two pairs of trousers, and three suits of underwear.

He had been sleeping in a barn near Twenty-fourth avenue east and the lakeshore, but had forsaken this palace for an abandoned water barrel, which he found more "comfy."

Smith had a fever this morning, Police Surgeon Murphy deciding that he had taken off his winter garb too soon. He will probably be sent to the poor-farm. He has just finished a 30-day sentence for vagrancy.

Soup and Flowing Bowls.

Soup is really the only kind of food that Tony Ptasinski, aged 45, cares for and his fondness for soup bowls recently has widened to include a fondness for other kinds of bowls, the police assert. He was arrested by Patrolman W. Monahan and charged with having too close an acquaintance with the flowing bowl, which is second cousin to a soup bowl.

He pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing in municipal court this afternoon. He is known on the "bowery" as an abstainer from solid foods.

DON'T TAKE CALOMEL

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

British System Success for 3,000,000 Wage Earners; Plan Needed in America.

By HENRY R. SEAGER,
Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University.

(Exclusive Service, The Survey Press Bureau).

"It is an ill wind that blows no one good!" The one discernable benefit from the widespread unemployment from which we have suffered this winter is the more intelligent public interest in the problem.

All economists agree that unemployment is a problem of growing seriousness. Tariff changes, foreign wars, or other extraordinary causes may raise it to the position of a national calamity, but even without these influences, it has become one of the gravest evils that threatens our wage-earners. Its chief causes, on the industrial side, are the increasing specialization of industries and a multiplication of those which are seasonal rather than continuous.

Seasonal Work.

Farming, our most important industry, is seasonal. Very active in spring, summer and autumn, it becomes dull, almost stagnant, in the winter. The president in his address at Indianapolis recently told of the good work the department of labor did in advertising in the postoffices the need of 30,000 men to harvest the crops in the Middle West last fall. He did not go on to explain what become of these 30,000 men after the crops were harvested and the farms had no further use for them.

Not merely 30,000 men, but hundreds of thousands of men, women and children are employed for a few months every year harvesting crops, picking berries and fruit, and in the canning industries. At the close of the short season they are thrown out of employment. Other hundreds of thousands are employed in construction work—as longshoremen on the Great Lakes, and in navigation on lakes and rivers that are frozen over in winter—who are regularly thrown out of work during the winter months.

Seasonal industries result not merely from the division of the year into seasons, but from vagaries of fashion. All branches of the clothing industry, including even the manufacture of boots and shoes, are seasonal. The element of risk due to changing fashions tends to make the busy seasons in the clothing industry feverishly busy, and the dull season's periods of wholesale unemployment.

Thus in town and country seasonal industries are no longer the exception but almost the rule. They mean inevitably irregular employment for a large proportion of our working people, and unemployment for longer or shorter periods for a great and increasing number.

Remedies.

In addition to the remedies made prominent in current discussions—an expansion of public work, the opening of workrooms, an efficient organization of connected public employment bureaus, national, state and municipal, etc.,—we need urgently an adequate system of unemployment insurance. For wage-earners, a moderate amount of unemployment each year is not, or should not be, a bad thing. The only way they can get a vacation is by being unemployed.

I believe, that through a well worked-out system of unemployment insurance wage-earners might be relieved from the worry, uncertainty, and actual suffering which unemployment now causes and at the same time be enabled to enjoy the holidays which, especially in this country, they now so much lack. This is not merely an amiable theory. Several European cities, and the United Kingdom for several of its most important industries, have systems of unemployment insurance in successful operation.

The insurance method of providing against unemployment began with the out-of-work benefits paid by trade unions. These benefits were so popular that in the United Kingdom before the national insurance act of 1911 was passed eighty-one of the one hundred principal unions had them and expended on them about one-third of their total incomes.

With its national system of free public employment exchanges, established in 1909, in successful operation, the United Kingdom introduced in 1911 its system of compulsory unemployment insurance for employes in building and construction work.

Paying Insurance Costs.

Employers in these trades are required to see to it that their employes secure from the government insurance officers, of which 1,000 odd were opened in addition to those equipped in the 430 employment bureaus, unemployment insurance cards. On these they are required to paste each week 5 pennies' worth of insurance stamps which they buy like ordinary postage stamps from the postoffices. They are required to pay one-half the price of these stamps, or 5 cents a week for each employe themselves, and permitted to deduct the other one-half from wages.

To the sum secured by the sale of the stamps the government adds out of the public treasury one-third more, or three and a third cents a week for each insured employe. Though so small in amount these payments aggregated in 1913 about £2,300,000 or $11,500,000, out of which benefits could be provided.

The benefit paid is not large, only 7 shillings a week, but enough under English conditions to preserve a family from outright destitution. This may be increased by trade unions in organized trades on condition that the union pays at least one-fourth of the total, so the usual benefit in such trades is 12 shillings a week.

Moreover, to encourage trade unions to provide out-of-work benefits for their members, the government grants a subsidy of two shillings per unemployed member to every union which pays a benefit of twelve shillings a week provided that in administering the system the union conforms to regulations applying to the compulsorily insured. In 1913, in addition to the 2,400,000 compulsorily insured, 900,000 were voluntarily insured through their unions.

How the Plan Succeeds.

There is every evidence that the plan was working quite successfully up to the time of the war. Also it seems to have met the severe test of war conditions drawing very heavily on the reserve fund that had been accumulated and now seems to be operating as well as in the preceding period of peace. In the first year the income exceeded the expenditure by about 1,600,000 pounds, or $8,000,000, and though a considerable reserve is needed it looks as though the government had been unduly cautious in its estimates and could afford to pay a higher benefit than the seven shillings a week it now provides.

This success has been due to the care with which its operation was safeguarded so as to prevent fraud, on the one hand, and to induce employers to exert themselves to lessen the amount of unemployment, on the other.

The only sure way of testing the good faith of a man who says he wants work is to offer it to him. It is right here that the British public employment bureaus render an indispensable service. Of the 400,000 insured persons who were unemployed during the first six months that the British law was in full operation, 30 per cent were found jobs before the end of the first week. Sixty-two per cent were found jobs before the expiration of the fourteen weeks during which unemployment benefits were paid to them. 7 per cent were for some reason disqualified from receiving benefits and only 1 per cent remained unemployed after the period when their benefits ceased.

In practice the system thus served in large measure its purpose of passing unemployment around—one-third of the total number insured being unemployed at some time in the year—and of giving some income to the unemployed during their involuntarily holiday.

Employers are given a strong motive for trying to regularize employment by two circumstances: First, they have to pay one-half of the premium. If they can reduce unemployment so that the income of the fund will prove more than is needed they have a good case for demanding that the premiums be made smaller. Second, if they pay premiums for the same employe for fifty weeks in the year they are entitled under the plan to a refund of one-third of their contribution. This gives them a motive for trying to employ continuously as many of their employes as possible.

The United Kingdom has successfully established unemployment insurance for 3,000,000 of her wage-earners. It requires only persistent, determined and intelligent effort to adapt the British system to American conditions and to secure for our wage-earners and our industries the great benefits it is capable of conferring.

HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The Tatler: An old Scotchman whose wit was edged with pessimism one morning met at her gate a neighbor whose husband was seriously ill.

"And hoo's your husband this morning, Mrs. Tamson?" he asked solicitously.

"Oh, he's awful! The doctor said his temperature had gone to 150."

"Nae, nae, you've made a mistake! Sandy's temperature could never be as muckle as 150—at least, no in this world," he added, as an afterthought.

Ex-Postmaster's Kidney Trouble Gone.

W. T. Azbell, ex-postmaster of Edwardsport, Ind., writes: "I suffered with severe trouble with my kidneys and back. I tried different remedies without relief. First bottle of Foley Kidney Pills gave me relief." Sluggish and inactive kidneys fail to eliminate waste matter from the system, and backache, rheumatism, sore muscles, aching joints and bladder ailments result. Foley Kidney Pills are safe and prompt in action. Sold everywhere.

MAY MEAN MUCH OR LITTLE.

Those who are fond of "interpreting" events will find rich pickings in the fact that the military authorities of the allies have at last permitted accredited newspaper correspondents to enter the trenches. The fact that such permission has been granted is interesting in itself, but beyond that it may mean much or it may mean little or nothing.

First of all, it must be remembered that whatever these correspondents may see or hear or write, no facts can be reported by them but such as the censors are willing to have reported. So until the conditions are such that the correspondents return to their own or neutral countries, they cannot do much more than they could before, which was to pass on to their papers or their news associations such matter as they were permitted to glean from conversations with soldiers back from the front, or with officers in touch with the general situation and under restrictions as to what they might say.

It is also to be remembered that the allies have it in their power to limit the number of correspondents allowed to go to the front, and also to determine to what part of the front they shall go, how long they shall stay there, and to a great degree what they shall see while there.

But while there is little warrant for believing that this change of policy really marks an important development in the military situation, there is every reason for American newspaper readers to be glad that the movements of the correspondents are to be less restricted than heretofore. Not that the news from the front will come through any faster than before, but because these men will now be writing of something they have seen and experienced, and can give first-hand impressions of the war, instead of simply recounting the stories and impressions of others.

At the time of the Titanic disaster an American newspaper man who happened to be on the Carpathia wrote his personal impressions of the rescue of the survivors, and received several thousand dollars for his account. It is such accounts that the Associated Press is now to be able to receive from Frederick Palmer, who at last is being allowed to enter the zone of actual fighting. For that, American readers have reason to be glad. But it would seem like stretching a point to try to see in the fact anything like an indication of a decisive turn of affairs in the war itself.

The charge that there are only a hundred "good" poets in the United States is a little rash. Even versifying is not sufficient ground for an aspersion on character.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

It looks very much as if woman suffrage is a dead proposition in Minnesota for at least another couple of years. The senate turned it down by only one vote, to be sure, and it is just possible that a reconsideration will be brought about, though that doesn't seem probable enough to bank on at all. So it is pretty safe to regard woman suffrage as definitely beaten for this session of the legislature.

But don't let yourself be persuaded that it is beaten permanently. Not at all. It is coming, sooner or later, all over the country. It may get into many other states before it does into Minnesota. The Gopher state may, in fact, be the last to adopt it, though we hope it won't prove so slow as that. But you may be sure it is coming, and in spite of their present defeat, the advocates of suffrage have no cause for discouragement.

Suppose the suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution had passed congress and were before the legislatures. It is not at all likely, in view of the action being taken in different legislatures, that such an amendment would be ratified by three-fourths of the states at this time. It is more than likely that ratification would be refused, and in the meantime the separate state campaigns would be sure to suffer while the energy was directed toward the national affair.

With rejection by thirteen state legislatures, the suffrage plan then would have suffered a country-wide setback, where at present it gets a jolt only here and there, meanwhile winning in other places. So "the cause" is really a lot better off as it is.

As to Minnesota's case, it is disappointing to think that the legislature, even by so narrow a margin, should decline to let the people vote on the suffrage question. It does seem as if the legislators might at least have let the voters themselves pass on it. However, the legislators evidently thought differently, and the only thing for the suffrage advocates to do now is to work to create a little more sentiment throughout the state, in the hope that the next time the issue comes up the legislature will be in a more amenable frame of mind and the people more ready for the question.

The fact that Przasnysz is "an inferno of war" is aggravated by the impossibility of telling anybody about it except in writing.

THE CITY'S GREATEST NEED.

"What does your city need most?" the University of Wisconsin is asking in a bulletin issued in the campaign for the promotion of interest in city planning. A reply that is worth pounding into the consciousness of every citizen of every city is given as follows by the Fond du Lac, Wis., Commonwealth:

> A thorough awakening of the rank and file of the citizens to the importance of participating in the administration of municipal affairs. They need to realize that the city's business is their business, and that it will be managed ill or well just in the degree in which they give city matters their attention. * * * Important as city planning may be, more vital yet is a disposition on the part of the rank and file of the people to give a reasonable amount of time and attention to a study of their own community and to the selection of the men who are to be charged with the responsibility of administering its affairs.

Fond du Lac is about to elect its first set of commissioners under a new commission form charter, and the lesson of responsibility is therefore regarded there as especially apropos. But the truth is that the lesson probably is less needed there than it is right here in Duluth. There was a deal of interest in the first election here under the new charter. There always is, anywhere. People are awakened by curiosity, if by nothing else.

Now comes the question, Are you nothing but a curiosity citizen? Are you such a dead one that you can't be waked up except by some novelty? Are you the kind of man who, if he owned a store, wouldn't go to wait on a customer unless the cut of his coat was so different from anything you had ever seen before that it attracted your attention?

Up-to-date fire-fighting apparatus, an adequate police force, beautiful parks, miles of paved streets, good street car service, the best of shipping and other commercial and industrial facilities—all these things only mean that much greater opportunity for the "peanut" politician and the professional grafter unless the rank and file of the citizens is awake to the part every individual should take in public affairs.

What does your city need? If you aren't an active citizen, it needs you and your influence and your vote, more than anything else you can give it. And after that it needs the same from every citizen like you.

Students of human nature are offered a chance to bet that the sensational New York "anarchists' plot" won't get half the attention from the public that was given to the Thaw case.

THE PHILANTHROPIC POLICE.

For at least this once, the police of Duluth are engaged in a philanthropic enterprise. They are urging the owners of stores and storerooms on Superior and Michigan streets to lock their doors at night.

The idea isn't to protect the goods kept in those places. No indeed, nothing so vulgar and ordinary as that. It is on an entirely different basis that the police make their plea, and not just as an appeal to the possible selfishness and personal feelings of the owners or tenants of the buildings.

The point the police are urging is that when a door is left open or unlocked all night there is a strong temptation presented to or thrust upon the passerby—a temptation to go in and help himself to whatever there may be handy that looks attractive to him. And the police further declare—strange as it may seem—that there have even been instances within the memory of men now on the force when that temptation was yielded to, with serious and unpleasant consequences for the temptee.

So in order to avoid the repetition of such temptations, the police ask a favor of the owners and tenants of the buildings concerned, and that favor isn't such a great one, after all. It is merely that said owners and tenants take pains to lock the doors at night. And such is the good nature and humanity of these owners and tenants that the police are reasonably sure their modest and philanthropic request will be granted.

Most of us would rather be most anything than president in these piping times.

Carriage of the Hands Reveals Character

Marilynn Miller in the Boston Post.

Character is revealed in many ways. Some read the bumps on the head; others the nose, eyes, mouth and chin, while many find the handwriting a sure index of the man.

I believe all of these methods of reading the hidden secrets of the soul are trustworthy, for I have tested them all and found them reliable and true.

But there is a surer way than these, and one that is infallible. I refer to the carriage of the hands.

The reason the hands indicate the character is not far to seek. One does with the hands what one feels.

Did you ever notice an excited woman, how she throws her arms about like a windmill? On the other hand, you have noted, probably, with bewilderment, how a self-possessed person, under stress and storm, will let one hand rest upon the other quietly, composedly.

It is all a matter of mind. If one allows the mind to become stirred up like cream in a churn, the hands will take up the action and beat about in a wild way.

Note the trustworthy and reliable person, whether man or woman. Such a person, unlike the hypocrite, allows his hands to fall naturally at his side. His fingers lie open naturally.

Such hands seem to look at you and say: "We are truthful, honest and reliable; we can be depended upon."

Note now the pugnacious man, the bully. He will carry his hands at his side, his fingers tightly clenched. Such a person rarely, if ever, leaves his fingers open for any considerable time. He is always prepared to strike.

Observe the suspicious man. He will ordinarily hide one of his hands behind his back, while with the other he will caress his chin. Such a one acts as though the ends of the fingers contained eyes, with the result that if any object should be brought close to these hands, they would instinctively turn away from it and avoid contact.

You have doubtless noticed a well-poised person, calm and even tempered, how he will always lay one hand over the other. This is a sure indication of dignity.

In mimicking other actresses I have always given as much attention to the carriage of the hands as to the voice. In my impersonation, or rather interpretation, of Olga Petrova, which I do in addition to my appearance as a premiere danseuse, I found it necessary to visit the Booth theater, in New York, night after night before I was able to catch the delicate use of her beautiful hands.

I found it an easy matter, however, to fix in my mind that curious wavy motion of the hands characteristic of Ethel Levy. But Adelaide Genee proved most baffling, and for reason that she has made a deep study of the hand and what it reveals. In short, Genee characterizes, impersonates not only with her face and body, but with her hands. To discover the real Genee one would have to study her off the stage.

Give Him Your Best

From "Aims and Aspirations," by F. L. Brittain: As long as you work for a man, give him your best. If the conditions surrounding your position are unpleasant, keep on the watch for another job. If you have a definite idea of the character of the work you like best, it would be a good idea to advertise for it. But remember, we should first serve an apprenticeship before we may expect to take the reins in our own hands. No man can serve himself well, or his employer, so long as he is dissatisfied.

Don't work for a man to whom you cannot give your best; nor should you work for a man you can't respect. If your wages are not enough to allow you to live decently, search around for some other line of endeavor. Always be ready for promotion—this means you should learn your business root and branch. Read good books; as you read, study—think—thoughts are real live things. Fix good solid business ideas in your mind and something good will come to you. Let this be your slogan, "Knowledge is power." It is within your province to gain the necessary knowledge to put you at the head of a great institution.

Unusual Politeness.

Fort Worth Telegram: Aunt Maria has been a cook in both boarding houses and private families, and she had often commented on how much more common quarrels, harsh words, and scraps were in the families than in the boarding house. At last she took a job in a private family, where peace reigned. One day she said to her mistress:

"Missus, is all dese yo' family?"

"Yes, Maria," said her mistress. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, nobody would a thought it," was the reply. "Dey act so nice to each odder dat you would think dey was perfect strangers."

If You Must Roll.

Atlanta Constitution: "You're always hopin' to roll in clover," says a practical town philosopher, "but if the town marshal caught you at it he'd sure run you in! The world isn't helped by the clover rollers, who think life's a picnic and the train's always on time. If you must roll, fer the Lord's sake be a steamroller!"

An Ungrateful Editor.

Pearlsburg Virginian: We received from an unknown friend a pair of turkey feet. During the time we have been running this paper we have received many things complimentary, such as dried pumpkins, fodder beans, frozen potatoes and nubbins, but the pair of turkey feet is the limit. Darn a fellow who would eat the turkey and send the poor editor the feet.

Grasshoppers Boomed the Town.

Puck: "Yep," said the western boomer, "the grasshoppers descended on our state last year and ate a path a mile wide from one border to the other; but were we discouraged? I guess not. We just fenced in the strip and turned it into an automobile highway, and now you can't buy property along it for less'n $10 a foot."

Suspicious.

London Sketch: Father (trying to give the concealed dose)—Well, well, you are a funny boy. May I ask you why this sudden extraordinary dislike for jam?

Chip—'Cos I believe it's mined.

Could She Doubt?

Minneapolis Journal: "Would you love me as much if father lost his wealth?"

"He hasn't lost it, has he?"

"No."

"Of course I would, you silly girl."

High Finance.

Baltimore American: "A perfume manufacturer has one advantage over the director of the mint."

"What is that?"

"He coins dollars by making scents."

Something Missing In "the Old Home Town"

Editorial in the Kansas City Times.

You get off the train at Jefferson City. "Newt" Wiseman is there to ask you to climb into his hack. That makes you feel so "homey" that you give him a quarter and want to ask him if "Becky" is in the calaboose as usual. The Pacific House is still doing business at the old stand. On top of the hill "the Mansion" looks natural in spite of the Dockery porte cochere. Up the street Mr. Wendell Straub asks you again if you know German, and again you answer, "Nur ein wenig." Other old friends greet you. Surely, it was all a mistake and you have never left "the old home town."

And yet there is an unaccountable feeling of something lacking.

In an inspired moment you notice that Joe Zuber's dog is no longer lying on the cellar door in front of Joe Zuber's restaurant. Then you remember.

"Where are the dogs of yesteryear?"

What has become of "Blucher," Billy Carter's dog that deserted the Tennessee House to follow around after Marshal "Jake" Schirmer? And "Nellie," the little black and tan terrier, who waddled after "Blucher," who waddled after Marshal Schirmer, who waddled after—well, whoever he was after.

The clerks in the stores on High street used to envy the clerks in the stores on Madison street. It was in Madison street that Joe Zuber's dog, "Brag," used to play possum on the cellar door, watching from slit eyes a bone he had placed on the sidewalk for unwary country dogs. (You could not get a sophisticated town dog to touch that bone.) There would be a general exodus of the clerks and customers from the Madison street stores to watch the Zuber dog's almost daily matutinal fight. "Brag" seemed to like it best with his breakfast.

High street had its white bulldog, of the Nichols House, and Jake Schmidt, "the Ice Bear's" big Newfoundland, shaved lion fashion; but they were false alarms compared with Joe Zuber's dog.

Where is George Earhardt's impertinent dog, whose impertinent collar bore the legend, "I'm George Earhardt's dog. Whose dog are you?" Where is Johnnie Heinrich's poodle "that cried when you told it to sing"—as Tom Winston once said to Ray Fleming? Where is Kripner's dog that made a night walk across the countryside a great adventure? (That dog's temper was soured when the Muenchberg gang charivaried old Mr. Kripner on his second wedding, and he never got over being cross.)

And where are George Ramsey's and Frank Brown's fox hounds? Where 'Dolph Elsner's beagles? Where Dr. Phil Miller's pointers? Where "Bob" Yost's cross between a racoon and a mongoose that "Bob" said was a dog? Where Carol McHenry's "Jack?" Where the multitudinous bench-legged flces around Raithel's and Gerstenkorn's butcher shops? Where Henry Ewing's "Boston Ben" and Conntryside's "Collie" and "Judge," and the prolific "Mac?" Where is Ralph Oldham's "Mike," and Mr. Schulz's "Nipper?"

In the great scheme the Psalmist fixed the limit of man's years, but somebody else or something else put the kibosh on the years of "man's best friend."

Small Savings

Philadelphia Ledger: A wise man said 150 years ago that it was better for a youth to learn to shave himself than to receive a gift of 1,000 guineas.

The man who shaves himself every morning saves a great deal of time and also the income of a good 1,000 bond for that day.

The man who cuts but one 10-cent cigar every day saves at least the dividend of twelve shares of Pennsylvania railroad stock.

One less drink of ordinary whisky a day would pay for the bread of two persons for that day.

Uncle Sam will carry a letter for you 10,000 miles for what you paid for that one Turkish cigarette you are smoking.

If you had all five morning newspapers sent to your home you would grumble at your own extravagance. That single cocktail before dinner costs you more than twice as much.

Russell Sage insisted that the easiest way he knew to earn the income of a dollar for a whole year was to walk to his office once.

Standing Alone.

The baby is standing all alone!
The children shout in their glee,
And father and mother, and aunty
Must hurry and come to see.
See baby—the cute little darling!
Is put through the wonderful feat,
And fondled and kissed and commended
For being so smart and so sweet.

With the cunningest air of triumph
She stands in the midst of us all,
While the outstretched arm of the mother
Is ready to save a fall;
And whenever the little one totters
Around her is hastily thrown,
'Tis very fine fun, thinks the baby,
This frolic of standing alone!

Ah! many a time in the future
She'll long for the aid of that arm,
When the love and care of that mother
No longer can shield her from harm!
For oft when our need is sorest
There is no one to whom we can turn—
And standing alone is a lesson
That is hard for a woman to learn.

And often and often my baby,
Before life's long journey is gone,
You will yearn in your hours of weakness
For something to lean upon;
When the props upon which you depend
Are taken away or o'erthrown,
You'll find it wearisome, baby,
So wearisome standing alone.

A Cowardly Fowl.

Boston Advertiser: Some time ago Mrs. Jones bought a chicken at the family butcher shop, and after embellishing it with bread crumbs, celery, cranberry sauce and other glad things, she proudly set it before papa.

"What is the matter, John?" asked the young wife, with an anxious look as hubby laboriously carved the bird. "Isn't the chicken all right?"

"Why, yes, I guess he is all right, dear," was the hesitating response of father. "But I fear he was a very great coward."

"A great coward!" returned the perplexed wife. "What do you mean?"

"Don't they say, Mary," smilingly rejoined the old man, "that the bravest are the tenderest?"

"Who Won the Earthquake?"

New York Independent: It was a British bishop, real or mythical, who met the query, "who will win the war?" with the pregnant counter query, "Who won the San Francisco earthquake?" It is good enough to have been said by an archbishop.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Willard Saulsbury of Delaware is probably our most predestined United States senator.

Away back in the gummy and misty past it was in the cards that he should have a seat in the senate. He could no more have helped becoming a senator than he could have avoided living in Delaware, and his residence in Delaware was fixed for him a great many years ago by no less a person than William Penn.

Old Will Penn, it will be remembered, was the nation's first great real estate shark. He would take three or four strings of beads, a couple of blankets, and a few pieces of bright colored yarn, and go among the Indians boastfully exhibiting these gaudy but inexpensive articles. The Indians would covet them, and he would begin to dicker. When he got through, the Indians, who possessed only a scant sense of proportion, would have his dime's worth of beads and he would have two or three hundred square miles of rich timber land.

One of the real estate operators that Penn loved to deal with was Lord Baltimore, who controlled the land that is now Maryland and Delaware. If properly approached, Lord Baltimore could be drawn into a realty transaction by which he would part with a great deal of land for little more than the cost of a round of drinks. Sometimes when one looks at certain lands in Maryland one is not sure that Lord Baltimore got any the worst of the bargain at that. A while ago a real estate man undertook to sell me a piece of land near Baltimore that he said was ready for allotment. When I looked at it I found that the land was entirely under water and one would have had to allot it by the gallon instead of by the front foot. That real estate agent and William Penn would have been great company.

However, we're straying from the main thread of our tale, which is supposed to deal mostly with Senator Willard Saulsbury. Well, one of William Penn's real estate purchases from Lord Baltimore was a little chunk of land that formed what is known today as the state of Delaware. By that time Penn had acquired practically all the land he needed for his own use, and he let one or two friends in on the Delaware deal. One of those friends was kin to Senator Willard Saulsbury, who now owns 400 acres or so that was involved in that same transaction. The land has never been deeded since Saulsbury's early ancestor first came by it, but has always been passed down by inheritance. Thus we see how the Saulsburys became identified with Delaware. When a man is a member of an old family in a state as small as Delaware it is not altogether easy for him to avoid being drawn into politics. Saulsbury is the third of his family to serve in the United States senate. His father and an uncle preceded him. He has known for thirty years or more that he might as well resign himself to becoming a senator. As a youngster, whenever he expressed a childish desire to be a cowboy or a freight brakeman or a livery stable proprietor, his folks were certain to remind him that it should be his ambition to go to the United States senate, like his dad and his uncle.

For a time Saulsbury tried to extricate himself from the meshes of Fate, but it was no use, as he soon came to realize. When he was finishing up a prankish career at the University of Virginia he greatly desired to become a mining engineer. He wanted to go out West, help extract mineral wealth from the bosom of mother earth, and be a real producer. As soon as Saulsbury's father heard of this he rounded him up and placed the lad in his office, with a copy of Blackstone in his lap.

Saulsbury then made a discovery—that studying law had certain advantages. For example, he could get his reading all done by 10 o'clock in the morning and devote the rest of the day to rowing and fishing. This seemed to him entirely fair and reasonable, and he reconciled himself to becoming a lawyer.

Though he is a serious, almost fierce-looking person, Saulsbury is not half so serious as he looks, and is not fierce at all. To the contrary, he has an exceptionally engaging personality; and also a habit of sticking to his friends clear up to the last toot of the whistle.

There was no possible way for him to keep out of politics. It was in 1899 that he first began to be nominated for the United States senate. He has been the Democratic caucus nominee at every session of his state legislature since then until 1913. Now, it stands to reason that if a man permits himself to be nominated for a position over and over again he runs the risk of carrying his pitcher to the well once too often. Sure enough, in 1913, the Delaware legislature was Democratic and Saulsbury was elected—just as it was intended and foreordained that he should be, clear back in the days of William Penn, and, doubtless, even much longer ago than that.

All Americans

Milwaukee Journal: The spirit of America is shown in the statement of Congressman Bartholdt concerning our German-American citizens. It should reassure those who have doubted, who have questioned, whether we were still one people. He says:

> The suggestion that American citizens of German origin would not fight for this country in war with Germany is of such an insulting character that it needs no comment from me. * * * Our German-American citizens are men, and when the hour of crisis comes they will do they duty in a patriotic, courageous manner.

Not many Americans needed to be reassured of this, but such an expression, coming from Mr. Bartholdt, should remove the slightest doubt lingering in anyone's mind. For Congressman Bartholdt has been active in organizing feeling and making a determined effort to influence congress to act in a particular direction. In this activity, he has probably gone so far as to embarrass the government in its difficult diplomatic intercourse with Great Britain and Germany.

But to seek action, however, ardently, at the hands of congress and to entertain any thought other than that of patriotically supporting America, are very different. Congressman Bartholdt's indignant denial is proof enough that we are all Americans, that when America's cause is the real issue, we all stand together.

A Grandmother at 31.

Kansas City Star: Mrs. George F. Hanscom, age 31, of Pitchburg, Mass., is said to be the youngest grandmother in the United States. Her daughter, Mrs. Mildred Hanscom of Lynn, Mass., age 15, gave birth to a daughter recently.

Wooden Cars.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Of course we shall soon be rid of wooden railway cars. They'll all burn after collisions.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

From Comments on Current Events.

Quiet But Effective.

Tower News: There seems to be something wrong somewhere. Governor Hammond is about as noisy as Johnnie Lind. He is going about his work quietly and without bombast. The names of men of whom we never heard before appear oftener in the papers than does that of the governor. He seems to be sawing wood, and quietly, but the wood is piling up.

Likes Park Idea.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The state of Minnesota is asked by the northern representatives to secure 7,500 acres along the dalles of the St. Louis river for a state park and game preserve, to be known as the Jay Cooke state park. It is said that the Cooke estate will furnish most of the land at a very low price, retaining the water power rights. An appropriation of $40,000 is asked for two years. The land wanted is said to be very picturesque, and would be a great attraction for the northern part of the state. Jay Cooke was one of the most enthusiastic financiers of the country and did good work in pushing the building of the Northern Pacific, although his failure caused a panic that shook the country. But he made good in so far as possible, and it would be fitting enough to give this honor to his memory, so long as his heirs present the state with much of the land. These acres are not adapted to agriculture, but would give the state a real wonderland.

Why People Like Wilson.

Ada Herald: The people of the United States are with President Wilson, and the reason for this is easily explained. The president has the interests of the American people at heart, and does not stoop to the cheap political tricks that his opponents use to create sentiment against him. Mr. Wilson seems capable of being president and being right at the same time.

Boon of the Split Log Drag.

Bemidji Pioneer: The split log drag has contributed more toward the economic maintenance of public highways than any implement of modern usage. It does not require special acts of the legislature, bond issues nor expensive educational campaigns to make it available as usually precedes construction work. A drag can be built or purchased for $20 and is easily operated by anyone who can drive a team. We need more drags.

Growing Impression.

Madison Independent Press: The governor spoke at the editorial banquet at St. Paul last Friday evening, and from the amount of applause he received one would judge that he was a favorite in spite of his politics.

Moses' Mission.

Princeton Union: A Washington correspondent says that the mission of the Hon. Mose Clapp in politics is to profess reform and vote reaction. Which is equivalent to saying that he will accomplish about as much as a man who tries to walk in opposite directions at once.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintus, the Sunshine Man.

Amid the temptations of the Evil One, and the provocation of the ungodly, help me to abide steadfast and immovable, so as to be accounted worthy to stand before the Son of Man.—F. B. Meyers.

For Israel slideth back as a backsliding heifer; now the Lord will feed them as a lamb in a large place.—Hosea iv. 16.

It is what is peculiar to sheep, we know, that they continue under the shepherd's care; and a sheep, when driven into solitude, shows itself by its bleating to be timid, and to be as it were seeking its shepherd and its flock. In short, a sheep is not a solitary animal; and it is to sheep and lambs almost a part of their food to feed together, and also under the eye of him under whose care they are. Now there seems to be here a most striking change of figure: They are, says the prophet, like untamable heifers, for they are so wanton that no field can satisfy their wantonness, as when a heifer would occupy the whole land. "Such then," he says, "and so outrageous is the disobedience of this people that they can no longer endure, except a spacious place be given to each of them. I will therefore, give them a spacious place; but for this end that each of them may be like a lamb, who looks around and sees no flock to which it may join itself."—Calvin.

Servant Girl and Grocer's Boy.

Her lips' remark was: "Oh, you kid!"
Her soul spoke thus (I know it did):

"Oh king of realms of endless joy,
My own, my golden grocer's boy,

"I am a princess forced to dwell
Within a lonely kitchen cell,

"While you go dashing through the land
With loveliness on every hand.

"Your whistle strikes my eager ears
Like music of the choiring spheres.

"The mighty earth grows faint and reels
Beneath your thundering wagon wheels.

"How keenly, perilously sweet
To cling upon that swaying seat!

"How happy she who by your side
May share the splendors of that ride!

"Ah, if you will not take my hand
And bear me off across the land,

"Then, traveler from Arcady,
Remain awhile and comfort me.

"What other maiden can you find
So young and delicate and kind?"

Her lips' remark was: "Oh, you kid!"
Her soul spoke thus (I know it did).

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. POSTMASTERS' JOBS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly inform me how long a postmaster is appointed for, what the examination is that one has to pass, and where one could obtain information pertaining to these questions MRS. D. STARKEY.

Winnie, Tex., March 2.

All postoffices in the first, second and third classes are known as presidential offices. Postmasters at such offices are appointed for a term of four years.

Postmasters of fourth class offices are appointed by the postmaster general after a civil service examination has been taken by the applicants. Such postmasters hold office during good behavior.

Information about civil service examinations may be had from the secretary of the civil service board or the postoffice inspector at the Duluth postoffice.—The Editor.

MINES AND MOUNTAINS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In an argument about mines, I came to the conclusion that the only way to find out was to ask you, as the dictionary could not satisfy us. Now then, do mines put in the sea drift about, or are they anchored?

M. Says they drift about from place to place.

I. Says that if they drift they would float above sea level and be seen, and therefore picked up before they are exploded. Now which is correct?

Which is the highest mountain in the world. I've forgotten that much of my geography. Thanking you in advance, I remain, Yours truly,

A RENTER'S PROBLEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to have you give me some information about renting houses.

If a man pays his rent in advance, and some sickness comes that he was not looking for, and he moves out when his month was up, could the owner of the property make him by law pay another month's rent because he did not give him thirty days' notice? Thanking you in advance, Yours truly,

A RENTER.

Duluth, March 2.

This is a legal question and cannot be answered in the Open Court. It would depend on the terms on which the house was rented.—The Editor.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

An editorial in The Herald observes: "There seems to be some hesitation at St. Paul regarding putting the woman suffrage amendment up to the people for fear it might not get the attention it would get if there was no presidential contest."

If this is not the limit of paternalism where shall it be found?

Suspiciously, however, this "fear" is felt only by those opposed to votes for women.

But, a man should show no courage of his convictions, if he have any! And the man who hasn't sufficient interest in matters which are to be legislated, to have acquired a voting conviction on the question at issue is simply a nonentity and as such, wholly unfitted to voice in senate or house the will of his constituency. Every man who went to the legislature by grace of the people, pledged himself to ascertain their wishes, and abide by them in all measures. Therefore, every legislator who refuses to make the vote on every question brought to ballot, a decisive one, either for, or against the measure, is false to his oath of office. He cannot be the representative of those who exercised their vote to send him—their proxy—to the senate or house.

COURTHOUSE WALK NEEDS ATTENTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is about time that the attention of the county commissioners was called to the condition of the sidewalk on the upper side of First street from Fourth avenue west to the driveway at the side of the Federal building.

Do the honorable gentlemen think they are doing their respective duties by their constituents in allowing such a blemish to mar the beauty of our fair city?

I do not believe that a more disagreeable, in fact, more absolutely dangerous, condition could be found if one traversed the length and breadth of Duluth, and here we have it in our midst, where, perhaps, there is as much traffic by pedestrians as in any part of the city.

"Get busy," commissioners. Beware the Ides of March as they come sweeping from the courthouse square upon us poor fellows who are obliged to use the walk a dozen times a day.

Trot out a bunch of your "huskies" in the "chain gang." The weather man promises continued fair weather, so the work in the open will not prove too disagreeable for the 'boys," who, I am sure, would be as grateful to you for whetting their appetites as would we for drying our walk. S. W.

WAR VESSELS IN THE CANAL.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems: "You Taught Me How to Love You" from Jack Jepson of Duluth; "The Soldier's Daughter" from Mrs. C. R. D. of Duluth; "The Swede's Lament" from James M. Holt of Duluth; "Recollections of My Mother" from Miss Maud McCann of Nashwauk.

Requests have been received for the following: "The Face in the Firelight" from Miss Maud McCann of Nashwauk; "How the Old Horse Won the Bet" from a Two Harbors reader; "The Drunkard's Dream" and "Sherman's March to the Sea" from Mrs. Ida Davis of Grand Rapids.

Recollections of My Mother.

I've a tender recollection I have cherished many years,
'Tis a memory that grows dearer day by day;
A memory of my mother whose loving smile is gone;
She drove all my troubled childish thoughts away.

Chorus.

She was gentle and so kind,
I'll ever bear in mind
The many golden lessons she taught me.
Had I joy and earthly power,
I would give them, for one hour
To sit upon my dear old mother's knee.

How her loving smile would cheer me when at evening I'd return
From toiling in the meadow all the day;
Each loving word brought comfort, but that voice is silent now—
The mother that I loved has passed away.

Chorus.

I remember in the evening when the fire was burning bright,
She called me to her side and said to me;
"My child, be brave and truthful and don't ever be ashamed
Of the teachings that you learned at mother's knee."

Chorus.

In the quiet village churchyard she has slumbered many years,
And the only treasure life holds dear to me
Is that little mound at twilight I have moistened with my tears,
And the teachings that I learned at mother's knee.

"The Soldier's Daughter."

Let me kiss you, father, kiss you,
I am very tired of play,
I shall have no one to love me
When my father goes away.
For my little prayer at even
At your knee is always said,
And I dream of you till morning
On my little trundle bed.

Chorus.

I shall have no arms to rest in,
I shall have no place to play,
I shall have no one to love me,
When my father goes away.

Must I be a soldier's daughter?
Does that mean I must not cry?
When I know that you are going,
When I kiss you this good-by,
When you ride into the battle
With the foremost of your men.
Will you think of little Minnie,
Will you want to see her then?

Chorus.

For my mother is in heaven,
Where the gates have pearly bars,
And I sometimes think I see her
In that land beyond the stars;
For I know she is an angel,
And dear father don't you cry
If I go with her to heaven,
When I kiss you this good-by.

Chorus.

I shall have no arm to rest in,
I shall have no heart to pray,
So I'll ask our heavenly father
To be near you every day.

Nosebleed

THE most frequent kind of nosebleed is that which occurs from a very small ulceration on the cartilaginous septum or partition between the nostrils. This ulcerated spot is only just within the vestibule of the nostril, and is caused, as a rule, by the patient's own fingernail.

Repeated bleeding from such an ulcer is best treated by direct applications to the ulcer. This, of course, must be done by the physician, by the aid of a speculum and headlight. The ulcerated spot is touched with some chemical cauterant, and no more bleeding occurs.

Children with stuffy nostrils and adenoids or enlarged tonsils have nosebleed frequently, and the bleeding generally does more good than harm. So it does in people who are plethoric, full-blooded and corpulent. In certain cases of heart disease and kidney disease accompanied by high blood pressure nosebleed is rather to be welcomed as a favorable accident.

Remedies Used.

In severe grades of anemia, especially pernicious anemia, severe and prolonged bleeding from the nose sometimes occurs, and resists all ordinary measures of relief. Here it may be necessary for the physician to pack the nostrils with gauze, as indeed must be done in severe hemorrhage from any cause. In obstinate bleeding where the loss of blood becomes a menace to life, one of the most effective remedies known to science is a hypodermic injection of blood serum from a horse or other healthy animal. This supplies a certain physiological ferment which induces clotting.

Spraying the nose with one to ten thousand adrenalin solution is a valuable means of stopping bleeding. Cold cloths to the back of the neck, pinching the nostrils gently and for a long time between thumb and finger, deep but not forced breathing and lying quietly in a half-reclining position will help to stop bleeding.

When nosebleed occurs very often it will usually be found that some local trouble in the nasal cavity requires attention.

Questions and Answers.

New Kind of Specialists: Will a bunion never grow again if a foot specialist makes an operation on it?

REPLY.

Bunions don't grow in the first place; a bunion is a dislocated great toe joint covered by an inflamed or infected bursa or pad. We didn't know there was such a person as a foot specialist—not a medical man, at any rate. A bunion properly operated on by a physician or surgeon never will grow again or yet.

* * *

Needs a Double-Barreled Operation: O. H. H. describes in a thousand closely typed words a case of chronic hemorrhoids and chronic infected tonsils, plus catarrh and constipation of a pronounced degree—which would naturally accompany the other conditions. The writer has also developed the rectal injection habit. O. H. H. asks: "Would you have them out or wouldn't you?"

REPLY.

We would send for two good doctors, an anesthetist and a trained nurse. We would then put on Tipperary and start the Victrola, taking long deep breaths of the delightful ether. We think the doctors—and the nurse between them—could be trusted to remove everything of no further value.

* * *

Latin for Red Knobs: W. J. T. also typewrites hard and fast that he has what a skin specialist called erythema nodosum, but what W. J. T. calls red knobs on his skin. He wants to know whether he should worry, being a great adherent of Old Doctor Nature and not caring to take the remedy the specialist prescribed.

REPLY.

Don't worry. Stick to Dr. Nature—live up to his strict regimen and you'll never be sick. Still, if we had red knobs we'd take a chance on the aceto-salicylic acid derivative prescribed, because it is good medicine for erythema.

* * *

Old Ghost Walks Again: Does uric acid cause rheumatism? What will remove uric acid?

REPLY.

No. Uric acid has nothing whatever to do with rheumatism.

HENS BACK ON THE JOB

Reduction in the Price of Eggs With Larger Receipts.

Butter Prices Unchanged—Good Choice of Vegetables Offered.

Stocks of practically everything in the way of edibles, butter and eggs and greenstuffs are good in the local produce market today.

A development that will appeal to consumers is a drop of 3 cents a dozen in fresh eggs to 24@25 cents. Hens have been getting back on the job all over the country of late and receipts are showing a remarkable decrease. Prices have accordingly been going down at Buffalo, New York, Chicago, and in fact on all the markets, so that now their cost is regarded as low for this early in the season. In the opinion of leading handlers, egg quotations are likely to hold at about where they are till around April, when in the usual course of things operators will begin to put storage stocks away.

Butter Prices Unchanged.

Figures in creamery butter are unchanged at 29@31 cents, and the market is said to be firm with a heavy demand in the East, leading to good shipments by two Duluth establishments, the Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company. As soon as dairymen are able to place their herds out at pasture, thus reducing the cost of their keep, a decided shading in butter prices is predicted. Liberal exports of butter to England are predicted this spring as a result of the cutting off of supplies from countries near at hand through the war.

Good Choice in Vegetables.

Choice in green vegetables is good, with about every delicacy from Louisiana, California and Florida available. It is thought that the quality of vegetables offering for the Easter trade this season will be above the average, due to the favorable growing conditions at points of production. Beans and cauliflower are up from a week ago, but tomatoes and new cabbage are lower.

Minnesota grown carrots and beets are being cleaned up and prices in them are firm, but the market in potatoes and cabbage is weaker owing to supplies being much heavier than had been figured upon. Shipments of tubers are now being made to the South and dealers are endeavoring to find other outlets in order to reduce their holdings as rapidly as possible. They are still being quoted at from 47 to 52 cents a bushel, the higher figure being for Burbanks.

Sale of Apples Continues.

Apples and oranges remain the features in fruits. Apple quotations are unchanged, but with the cleaning up of the earlier varieties, the choice is being rapidly reduced.

A good demand is being met with in oranges, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company, and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company. That is attributed to the splendid quality of the fruit offering and its reasonable quotations. Grapefruit prices are the lowest in several seasons, and its movement is gradually increasing.

Meat Market Firm.

The market in meats is firm in all items and lamb, mutton, and veal especially so. Mutton is up a cent a pound today, but other prices are unchanged.

Trade in the poultry line is comparatively light just now, and it is not expected to develop to any extent till just prior to Easter. Only a few coops of live poultry are coming in daily just now.

Investigation Ends.

New York, March 5.—Investigation by the state of New York into the cause of the high price of bread here was concluded yesterday. Alfred J. Becker, deputy attorney general, who conducted the inquiry, said last night that further action will depend on a conference in which Becker, Meyer Nussbaum, referee in the proceedings, and Attorney General Woodbury will participate.

MORE THAN 300 ATTEND BANQUET

Spirit of Good Fellowship Marks Close of Maccabee Convention.

More than 300 Maccabees sat at the banquet given at the lodge hall on Lake avenue last night. The banquet closed the quadrennial convention, which was held Wednesday and Thursday. Several noted speakers were on the program, and fraternalism and good fellowship marked the proceedings of the whole evening.

D. P. Markey of Detroit, Mich, supreme commander of the order, spoke on fraternal insurance, and lauded the order for the cheapness and efficiency of that department. The cost of insurance in the Maccabee order, he declared, was very low, while relief was quick and sure.

Dr. Edward H. Haas of St. Paul, great commander of the Minnesota Maccabees, also touched upon the insurance of the order and complimented the Minnesota members for their high standing among lodge men.

J. W. Brown, great commander of the Wisconsin Maccabees, gave a short address on fraternalism. H. D. Frankel of St. Paul and Charles G. Futter of Duluth gave short talks.

Most of the delegates left for their homes last night or this morning. The Northern Pacific and Soo lines carried special cars for the lodge men.

THIN CABLE CARRIES THREE COLUMNS OF WAR NEWS ACROSS OCEAN IN HOUR

"Electricity needed to send a cablegram across the Atlantic wouldn't light your library lamp or ring your doorbell," said E. F. Kelley, district commercial manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, this morning to a prominent member of Duluth's Board of Trade.

He was exhibiting a sample of the transatlantic cable and explaining its composition to the grain men, who had sent messages almost daily for several years and who had always believed the cable to be about six inches in diameter and that it required many thousand volts to operate it.

"This sample," said Mr. Kelley, (see illustration), "is the exact size of the cable in mid-ocean. Measuring across it and not including the metal rim, which is used as a container for this sample, it is about an inch thick.

"The shore end, where the cable is subject to wear and tear from the waves, or rocks, is thicker, being about the size of the large end of a beer bottle, but in mid ocean it narrows down to the size of the bottle's neck.

"In the center there are half a dozen fine copper wires, used as a single conductor. That layer next to the wires is composed of jute or oakum.

"The blacker ring is a layer of composition rubber, and the outside layer consists of galvanized iron or steel wires, wound with tarred tape or rope."

"Electricians will tell you that the most active cable in the New York office can be operated with fifty volts of electricity. It is estimated that by the time the current spans the 2,400 miles of ocean it dwindles to twenty-one millionths of an ampere—whatever that is.

"The Associated Press, on our cables, receives as high as 400 letters a minute, or eighty words."

War News By Cable.

For the benefit of Herald readers, it has been estimated that a single wire can send the equivalent of three newspaper columns in an hour. Eastern telegraph men have estimated that the United States news bureaus are receiving war news at the rate of about 50,000 words daily, over the fifteen transatlantic cables.

Electrical experts describe the transmission of a cable message in this way:

"The current passing through the copper conductor makes a wiggly line on a tape. Depending on the length of the current, before it is broken, the needle makes a mark above or below a given line on the tape—known as zero.

"A loop above the zero line corresponds to a dot in the telegraphic code, while a loop below means a dash. Thus the operator translates the above and below loops into the telegraphic code.

"On fast cables one man reads the tape and telegraphs the message to a second operator at his elbow, who types the message as it is telegraphed to him."

The sample of the cable was sent Manager Kelley from the New York office of the Western Union company. It is estimated that such cables cost about $1,000 a mile. There are fifteen now in use across the Atlantic.

ONE OF BRITISH FINDS OF THE WAR

Civilian Is Director of the Admiralty Transport Department.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 18.—Graeme Thomson, to whom Winston Churchill referred to in parliament as "one of the discoveries of the war," is the first civilian ever to hold the position of director of the admiralty transport department. Thomson, who is 39 years old, is now described "as the greatest transport officer since Noah."

When the war broke out, Thomson was a superintending clerk at a salary of about $3,500 a year. He had served in the department, after completing his education at Oxford, for twelve years. His ability, which showed itself in emergency days, attracted the attention of the first lord. In a short space of time he was made assistant director of transports, and at the end of three months put in charge of the department at a large salary.

ANOTHER WARRANT FOR ARREST OF HORN.

Augusta, Me., March 5.—A warrant for the arrest of Werner Horn, who tried to destroy the international railroad bridge at Vanceboro Feb. 2, was issued by United States Commissioner Frank G. Harrington here yesterday. The warrant is based on the indictment returned against Horn by the Federal grand jury in Boston for the alleged illegal transportation of dynamite in interstate commerce.

It is expected the arrest will be made in Machias next Sunday when Horn completes his sentence of thirty days for damaging property on the American side of the boundary.

CERTAIN ATTACK BY WHITE GRUBS

Warning Sent Out From Minnesota College of Agriculture.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warning is being sent out from the Minnesota college of agriculture against a certain attack by white grubs on corn, potatoes, strawberries and other hill-planted crops in Minnesota this spring.

These white grubs hatch from eggs laid by June beetles last summer. They are certain to be abundant and are always destructive. One of the best means of destroying them is thorough fall plowing, and last fall farmers were advised to make use of this method. Those who failed to do so can yet protect themselves against the ravages of the pest by being careful to watch for grubs in the furrows as they plow this spring. If they find the grubs they may know that the fields are infested and can then avoid planting in such fields crops which will suffer largely from the attacks of the grubs—corn, potatoes and others.

Fields in clover last year, or fields that contained cultivated crops, are not likely to be badly infested, while fields that were in grass, grain or sod are almost sure to contain large numbers of the grubs. If proper attention is given in preparing fields and in planting crops not usually attacked, injury to crops can be avoided, but after grubs really "get busy," absolutely nothing can be done to save the crop.

Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress.

The most effective remedy to correct this condition is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, gentle yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headache, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy. For a free trial bottle write Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question and "How to Prevent Colds" is asked a thousand times every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but due to a disordered condition of the blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the body better able to withstand the varying elements.

This is the underlying reason why the medicinal fats in Scott's Emulsion quickly overcome colds and build strength to prevent more serious sickness. It contains nature's medicinal fats, so skillfully prepared that the blood profits from every drop, and it is free from harmful drugs or alcohol.

Woman's Realm

The members of the Woman's council, at the meeting held this morning, decided to be responsible for the payment of three months' salary for a visiting housewife, the Associated Charities to be responsible for three additional months. Reports were heard from the dental clinic committee, from the Housewives' league in regard to the lunches it is serving to school children, from the King's Daughters relative to their Red Cross work shop and from the county hospital committee. Miss Edna Meeker spoke for the Associated Charities.

The Associated Charities will pay the salary of the visiting housewife the first three months. A committee consisting of Mrs. J. L. Washburn, Mrs. S. R. Holden, Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge and Mrs. F. A. Cokefair, will have charge of raising the necessary funds.

Dental Clinics.

Mrs. C. J. Le Sure, chairman of the dental clinic committee, read a resolution carried at the Feb. 17 meeting of the Duluth district of the Minnesota State Dental association, saying that, with the permission of the board of education, the members of the association would examine the oral cavity of each school child and ask questions necessary for the compilation of statistics of the school children in the manner prescribed by the best authorities. Mrs. Le Sure reminded the members of the council that between twenty-five and thirty dentists have offered to examine 15,000 children, devoting about four minutes to each examination. Mrs. Le Sure explained the plan discussed at the meeting of the dental association Wednesday. This plan, following the one employed in Cleveland during the dental clinic campaign of that city, provides that with the permission of the board of education, the condition of each child's oral cavity be recorded on a chart, having on its reverse side instructions for the care of teeth, and sent to the child's parent, a duplicate copy of the condition of the cavity to be kept by the school authorities.

At this morning's meeting the plan spoken of at the last meeting of the Woman's council to raise money for the establishment of the clinic, was put into effect. Members of the council made themselves responsible to dispose of a dentifrice indorsed by the Duluth district of the dental association, and manufactured by the National Mouth Hygiene Association of America without profit but only as a means of promoting the work of mouth hygiene. A large percentage of the money paid for the dentrifice reverts to the dental clinic committee of the Woman's council for the establishment of the clinic.

Dentists Are Thanked.

A motion was carried thanking the dentists for their co-operation, without which the dental clinic would be an impossibility. Members of the council expressed their pleasure that the board of education favored employing for the clinic a trained nurse who could keep statistics of the work done.

Children's Lunches.

Mrs. J. T. Watson, president of the Housewives' league, told of the lunches that have been served for children of the Irving school at the home of Mrs. John Doe, who lives near the school. The serving of luncheons was begun Monday and although the Housewives' league is unable to accommodate as many children as it would like to on account of limited space and finances, the results are satisfactory, in so far as they can be judged by the short time the work has been in progress.

Miss Barbara Rupley told of the work carried on by the King's Daughters who conducted a Red Cross work shop seven weeks. The shop closed last week after 2,888 unbleached muslin hospital shirts had been made and work had been given to thirty-nine women who asked work, not charity, all of whom, with four exceptions were mothers of from one to eight children. Miss Rupley explained that the King's Daughters were enabled to establish the shop and carry on the work by the generous donations of firms and individuals and by the money raised at their carnival and card party.

Mrs. A. E. Walker reported on the introduction into the legislature of the bill providing for a hospital for St. Louis county, that is opposed on the grounds of the old questions of the proposed division of the county and the wish of the range towns that a hospital be located on the range.

MAKES OFFICIAL VISIT.

Representative of Children's Bureau Touring West.

Mrs. Max West of the children's bureau, Washington, D. C., made an official call at the health department yesterday. She is making a survey of representative cities of the United States to determine what child welfare activities are being conducted under the direction of the officials. The city's activity on that line and the low infant mortality rate were very favorably commented upon by Mrs. West. A report of the survey undertaken by Mrs. West will be published by the children's bureau.

To Double Life of Silk Hose.

Milwaukee Free Press: It is possible to double the life of a pair of silk hose if a little care is taken in the washing. In the first place it is necessary to know that it is the perspiration that causes them to break so quickly. If the hose are rinsed out in a little clear soft water each time they are removed instead of being thrown into a basket until laundry day a decided change would be noticed. This does not take the place of regular washing but prevents the perspiration rotting the silk. To wash silk hose or undervests prepare soft warm water and a mild white soap. Into the suds put the articles rubbing the soiled portions very gently with the hands and drawing them around in the water. Rinse out of this luke warm suds into clear luke warm water at least three times that no soap may remain, then hang to dry in a shaded spot or in the house. Never wash silk garments with the regular wash and never use hot water. It will surprise one how long stockings will last cared for in this way.

LAST PLEA FOR FALLEN GIRLS

Mrs. C. G. Higbee Succumbs to Heart Failure After Speaking Before Prison Committee in Behalf of Proposed Girls' Reformatory; Stricken Before Applause Had Subsided.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—Within ten minutes after she had concluded a plea in behalf of the fallen girl of the nation, to whom she had devoted twenty-five years of her life, Mrs. C. G. Higbee, the well-known St. Paul clubwoman and reform worker, lay dead in the retiring room of the capitol house chamber last night. She died at 9:15 o'clock, a victim of heart disease.

Fifty clubwomen and reform workers of the state, who were appearing at a public hearing before the house prison committee on the proposed new girls' reformatory, witnessed the tragic death scene. Mrs. Higbee, at the request of several of those present, had outlined the system of women's reformatories in Europe, pleaded for a place for the fallen girl in Minnesota, and defended what she termed "woman of circumstances."

Amid an outburst of handclapping she resumed her seat.

A moment later she was seized by a fit of choking. Rushing to her side, several of her friends lifted her head, which had fallen listlessly upon her breast. She was carried to the opposite side of the room, and stretched out beneath an open window.

"She is dying!" the whisper flashed about the room. An assistant sergeant-at-arms brought a physician, but shortly after Mrs. Higbee ceased to breathe.

Immediately after her death, relatives at Hastings were notified and arranged for immediate departure for St. Paul.

Senator and Mrs. F. H. Peterson, who were close friends of Mrs. Higbee, Mrs. J. P. Schwartz of St. Paul, and Mrs. C. L. Atwood of St. Cloud, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, remained beside the body until it was taken in charge by an undertaker.

Arrangements for the funeral probably will be announced today.

Hints for the Housewife.

New York Telegram: A simple and agreeable deodorizer may be made of a handful of cloves, allowed to scorch with bits of orange peel on a tin plate in the oven. This mixture imparts a fragrance not unlike that of carnations, and, scattered about the rooms it will completely destroy the odor of cooking vegetables or cooking meats. In the country the wise housewife may gather sweet clover and the sprigs, of dried out, will impart a fresh and delicious fragrance to the house linens all next winter. Lavender, that standby of old-time housekeeping, may be purchased in little bags at trifling cost and makes a delightful fragrance for the linen closet.

When eggs are high one hesitates to make whitecake, especially if she does not care to use up the yolks for something else. It is not necessary to use egg whites at all. Simply use gelatine instead. One tablespoonful of the dry gelatine equals three eggs. Dissolve it in cold water and add enough boiling water to make a cupful. Beat with an egg beater and add to cake.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Be Master in Your Own Home.

A young married man with a little family, which includes his own mother, is finding it very difficult to keep peace in the house on account of this same mother. Everything would move along smoothly were it not for this mother, who made life miserable for her own husband, from the time they were married until his death, and is now doing all within her power to turn the home of her son upside down.

This having a mother try to rule her son's home with an iron hand is not at all uncommon. It is something that many young men have to contend with in addition to the very serious struggle for an existence for their best loved and themselves. It is pitiable and it is unfair. Yet a son must shelter a mother who cannot support herself, and strive to make things as agreeable as possible. Even the best intentioned old ladies are occasionally a trial to those of younger years with whom they are closely associated from one end of the year to the other.

This seems to be a natural condition resulting from the changes that take place in the training and ideas received from generation to generation. Most of us have seen old people shake their heads and wonder where things will end with the young people going their pace. The old people complain that the actions of their sons and daughters were well nigh unbearable at times.

So much for the ideals and viewpoints of several generations. Still there is a type of man and woman who seem to grow more disagreeable with every year that they live. Such persons are usually possessed of great will-power and have been accustomed to having their way and of following their own pleasure despite the inconvenience, and even pain, it may cause others. Such persons can ruin lives, homes, and even the business careers of men by their actions.

My advice to all is to assert your rights in your own home. Take the reins in your own hands and drive fast or slow as best suits you. Your wife must become the mistress of your home and her place should not be usurped by any relative. If your mother must live with you, or your wife's mother for that matter, provide a room and make that particular room her domain. Insist that your home be conducted according to your own ideas, for you are the one who earns and supplies the money to keep things going. At the same time treat your mother with all the courtesy and kindness that her relation and years give her title.

BIRD LIFE AS LECTURE TOPIC

National Audubon Society Would Enlist Interest of Minnesota People.

The National Association of Audubon Societies, with headquarters in New York city, will this spring make an attempt to enlist the interest of Minnesota people more fully in their bird friends. At the expense of the society, Miss Florence Lillie, 2153 Scudder avenue, St. Paul, will travel over the state giving illustrated lectures on birds and organizing bird clubs.

These lectures, however, should not be confused with those which Miss Lillie gives in connection with the extension work of the University of Minnesota. The aim will be to organize bird clubs among adults as well as young people. But special attention will be given to work among children, as the money provided by the Audubon society comes from what is known as the Junior Audubon fund.

To become a member of the Junior Audubon society a child must pay 10 cents, receiving in return a Junior Audubon button, ten colored pictures of birds, ten outline pictures of the same birds, with leaflets describing the birds. Teachers in whose schools clubs are organized, will receive a copy of "Bird Lore," a bi-monthly magazine, and in return will be expected to give one lesson each month, using leaflets provided as a basis. No clubs of less than ten children are formed.

FAMOUS RUSSIAN DANCER WILL ESTABLISH DANCING SCHOOL

—Copyright by the Bain News Service.

ANNA PAVLOWA.

Anna Pavlowa, the famous Russian dancer, has just completed a month in New York and goes to Havana for an engagement on her way to the Pacific coast. She will remain on the coast indefinitely. In her dressing room at the Century opera house Pavlowa confirmed to the Bain News Service the report that she was considering the establishment of a school of dancing in New York. She finds that interest in dancing has increased in this country in recent years to such an extent that she believes the time is ripe for creating a home for her art in the United States.

ORCHESTRA AND QUARTET FOR CHURCH

At the First Methodist Episcopal church some important additions have been made to the music.

A new auxiliary quartet has been organized and made up as follows: Mrs. S. G. Byerly, soprano; Miss M. Danielson, alto; Fred Kleyn, tenor; R. Granquist, basso. It will sing at the evening services in conjunction with the main choir.

Also a new orchestra has been organized known as the First Methodist orchestra, which will also participate in the evening service. On Sunday evening the song service will begin at 7:45, at which time the great revival hymns, No. 2, by Homer A. Rodeheaver, Billy Sunday's evangelist, will be used.

SUFFRAGISTS' AND ANTIS' STATEMENTS

Yesterday morning the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association had a pamphlet placed on the desk of each senator, showing the woman suffrage gains in state legislatures in 1915, and giving the members of the Minnesota legislature the latest figures on the subject.

The night before the vote was taken the Minnesota anti-suffragists set forth a list of so-called privileges now held by women of Minnesota, and put to the women of the state the question: "Are you willing to lose some of the advantages you now enjoy for the sake of a doubtful privilege of assuming the burden and duty of voting?"

The statements made by the opposing sides were:

Suffrage.

The status of suffrage in the several states is as follows:

New York—Amendment passed. Senate, unanimous; house, unanimous.

Massachussets — Amendment passed. Senate, 33 to 3; house, 196 to 33.

New Jersey — Amendment passed. Senate, 17 to 4; house, unanimous.

West Virginia—Amendment passed. Senate, 29 to 1; house, 76 to 8.

Tennessee—Amendment passed. Senate, 26 to 3; house, 74 to 14.

Arkansas—Amendment passed. Senate, 23 to 12; house, 51 to 18.

Pennsylvania—Amendment pending. Senate, 38 to 11 in favor.

Indiana—Bill pending giving women limited suffrage. Senate, 37 to 3 in favor. Governor Ralston has stated he will sign the bill.

Iowa—Amendment passed. Senate, 38 to 11; house, 94 to 14.

Vermont—Bill pending giving women presidential suffrage. Senate, 29 to 10 in favor.

Texas—Committee on constitutional amendments, by a vote of 16 to 2, reported woman suffrage amendment favorably.

Minnesota—? ? ?

Anti-Suffrage.

All women are now exempt from military service and from jury duty.

Women of Minnesota may own real and personal property and may receive income from such property free from the control of their husbands.

A woman in Minnesota is not liable for her husband's debts.

Money earned or acquired by a woman may be disposed of as she sees fit, and she cannot be compelled to contribute toward the support of the family.

When a woman in Minnesota secures a divorce, the husband must pay alimony, never the wife.

Manufacturing Company Sues Contractor to Collect for Material.

Action to secure judgment for $3,107.30 for building material was brought against J. F. Schleunes, a Duluth contractor, by the Weidmann & Lindem Manufacturing company of Wisconsin in the United States district court today. Material valued at $4,600 was furnished by the plaintiff pursuant to a contract, and but $1,698.76 has been paid, according to the complaint.

The contract between Schleunes and the manufacturing company was drawn up July 30, 1913, and called for material for the building of a high school at Ironwood, Mich. The material was delivered, according to contract, the complaint charges and only a part of the debt has been satisfied.

EMBARGO ON PULPWOOD

Wisconsin Mills Have More Than They Can Handle.

An embargo has been placed on pulpwood by the mills of Wisconsin, because of the overstocked condition. The Duluth railroads are refusing cars at the present time for loading purposes. It is believed in railroad circles that the embargo will last ten days.

One of the local freight traffic officials is authority for the statement that the embargo will work no particular hardship. The big shippers, according to the officials view, will be compelled to hold up their operations for sometime. The smaller shippers, it is declared, have cleaned up a large part of their work.

Because of the lateness of the snow, an early start on the hauling of pulp wood to the tracks was prevented. The lateness of the season caused a rush that has eventually resulted in a congestion at the mills.

Coming at a time when there is a slack movement in the coal business, the embargo on pulpwood will cause a greater surplus of cars both at the Head of the Lakes and on the sections of the Northwestern lines, at least for the time being.

FINAL VOTE SETTLED IT

First Roll Call in Senate on Woman Suffrage Showed Tie.

Deciding Vote Cast By Senator Campbell of Mower County.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.) — The constitutional amendment granting to women of Minnesota full suffrage was defeated in the senate yesterday afternoon by a vote, 34 to 33. Senator A. S. Campbell of Austin, Mower county, cast the deciding vote.

On the final roll call the first count showed 33 ayes and 33 nays. Then it was discovered that Senator Campbell was not in the chamber and a sergeant-at-arms was sent to find him. When the Austin man was brought in he voted against the measure.

On the final vote, Senators Jones and Griggs of St. Louis county voted for the measure, and Senators Adams, G. M. Peterson and Healy against.

The Roll Call.

The senators voted as follows:

For suffrage—Alley, Andrews, Benson, Blomgren, W. A. Campbell, Carley, Denegre, R. C. Dunn, Dwinnell, Gandrud, Gardner, Gillam, Gjerset, Gand-Hanson, Holmberg, Jones, Londe, Lobeck, O'Neill, Orr, Palmer, E. P. Peterson, Potter, Putnam, Rustad, Rystrom, Sageng, Turnham, Vermilya, Vibert, Wallace.—33.

Against suffrage—Adams, Baldwin, Bonniwell, Buckler, Callahan, A. S. Campbell, Collister, W. W. Dunn, Duxbury, Glotbach, Grose, Handlan, Healy, Hegnes, Hilbert, Jackson, Johnston, Knopp, McGarry, Millett, Nelson, Nord, Pauly, G. M. Peterson, Ries, Rockne, Steffen, G. H. Sullivan, J. D. Sullivan, Swenson, Van Hoven, Ward, Wels, Westlake.—34.

In order to clinch the defeat, the antisuffragists offered a motion to reconsider, which was voted down, 32 to 35. An effort to prevent the taking of this vote was made by Senator Sageng, who moved adjournment. This motion was lost, 30 to 37.

In case the house passes the suffrage measure now before that body, the senate will again vote on suffrage, the house proposal going to the higher body.

An Extended Debate.

The final vote came after three hours and a half of debate, opponents and proponents of the measure voicing their views while crowded galleries—dotted with gaily clad women—frequently interrupted the discourse with enthusiastic applause.

Yellow and red streamers, emblematic of the suffrage cause and anti-suffrage cause, fluttered from the packed galleries as the debate neared the close. Every speaker was liberally applauded, each faction marking the conclusion of an adherent's speech by outbursts of hand clapping.

Twice when the roll call seemed imminent, a speaker leaped to his feet and renewed the debate.

Prominent women on both sides of the question sat on chairs arranged for them at the front of the chamber.

SUBMARINES DESTROYED

scribed as the U-8, the other has not been definitely identified.

The French ministry of marine announced last night that a German submarine had been sunk by French torpedo boat destroyers and the crew taken prisoners. This submersible the French authorities called the U-8.

Dodged Torpedo.

The British steam collier Thordis, while making her way recently from Blyth to Plymouth, sighted a submarine. The under-sea boat fired a torpedo at the trawler, but the captain of the British ship succeeded in dodging the missile and then drove his vessel at the periscope showing above the surface of the water. He claims to have struck and sent her to the bottom. His contention was supported by his mate and the members of his crew, and now it has been accepted as correct by the British naval authorities.

The submarine U-8 was of 300 tons displacement. She had a speed of 13 knots above water and 8 knots submerged with a radius of operation of 1,200 miles. The vessel carried three torpedo tubes and had a complement of 12 men. The U-8 was a sister ship to the famous U-9 which in the early months of the war sank the British cruisers Hogue, Aboukir, Cressy and Hawke.

Crew of U-8 Landed.

Dover, Eng., March 5, via London, 3:26 p. m.—The crew of the U-8, numbering twenty-nine, was landed at Dover today and was taken to Dover castle under an armed escort.

The U-8 was smaller than the latest German submarines, her displacement under water being only 300 tons.

over Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa last night and today. The local weather bureau reported this morning the snowfall here as 14 inches, while much more has fallen farther west. The temperature has not been severe and although there has been some wind and considerable drifting the railroads have been able to keep their lines open. Trains this morning were reported from thirty minutes tn an hour late on all roads. Wire communication has been but little affected.

Trains Late in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., March 5.—From 6 to 15 inches of snow, the heaviest precipitation of the winter, covered Kansas and this section of Missouri today. Trains are running from one to four hours late.

Concordia, Kan., appears to have experienced the heaviest fall, 15 inches. St. Joseph, Mo., reported 12 inches, and Hutchinson, Kan., 12 inches.

Twelve inches of snow fell in Kansas City.

Milwaukee Has It.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5.—Snow is falling throughout Wisconsin today, but up to 10 o'clock had not materially hampered service of any kind. Indications are for continuance of the storm during the day.

Eight Inches at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 5.—The snowstorm which began last night with almost the proportions of a blizzard, continued early today and by 10 o'clock the fall was around eight inches, according to weather bureau officials. It had reached a fall of 7.8 inches in the vicinity of Des Moines at 9 o'clock. The storm covered the whole state, according to reports here, and seriously interfered with railway and street car traffic.

To Turn Into Rain in East.

Washington, March 5.—The Middle Western snowstorm, officials at weather bureau headquarters said today, probably will turn into rain when it reaches the East, except in Northern New England and Northern New York, where there will be storms. The storm is moving northeast and probably will go out to sea through the St. Lawrence valley.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

German Statement.

Berlin, March 5, via London, 3:10 p. m.—The war office today gave out the following statement:

"Western theater of war:

"South of Ypres we inflicted considerable losses on the British, with artillery fire. In the positions in the Lorette hills which we took away from the French, a counter attack was repulsed yesterday afternoon.

"In the Champagne district yesterday and last night the French continued north of Le Mesnil. All their attacks were repulsed and our positions were maintained.

"Attacks on our positions at Vauquois, east of the Argonne and in the forest of Consenvoye, east of the Meuse, failed. All attempts to dispute our possession of ground captured in the last few days in the district of Badonvilier failed. An attack undertaken last night with considerable forces on the heights northeast of Celles broke down with heavy losses to the French. Several night attacks also were unsuccessful and over 1,000 dead Frenchmen are lying before our entanglements.

"Eastern theater of war:

"The situation around Grodno (Northern Poland), is unchanged. Russian attacks to the northeast and north of Lomza failed with heavy losses to the enemy. Many prisoners of the First and Second Russian divisions of guards are in our hands.

"Further on, as far as the Vistula, the situation is unchanged. A few advances by Russians east of Plock were unsuccessful and strong night attacks executed by the enemy east of Skierniewice failed completely."

French Statement.

Paris, March 5, via London, 3:25 p. m.—The developments at the front yesterday are recorded as follows in a statement this afternoon from the war office:

"To the north of Arras, near Notre Dame de Lorette, we have recaptured most of the advance trenches we lost the day before yesterday. We took 150 prisoners.

"The enemy again bombarded the Reims cathedral.

"In Champagne, to the north of Souain, Mesnil and Beausejour, there has been nothing fresh to report since yesterday evening's communication.

"In the Argonne, at Vauquois, we have repulsed two counter-attacks and made new progress, inflicting appreciable losses upon the enemy and taking many prisoners. We are masters of the greater part of the villages."

ROADS NEED MORE MONEY

lines of business—ought they to be assured a definite profit?"

"The difference is that other lines of business are not restricted on the price of what they have to sell, as the railroads are," said Mr. Felton. "Under present conditions one road is not earning a profit on half of what it would take to build the road."

A. E. Heim, representing shippers in Kansas, asked Mr. Felton whether the Chicago Great Western was typical of the forty other roads which ask for increases.

"Do you think all the roads should be given increases just because one of them needs more revenue?" was his question.

"One road is typical," responded Mr. Felton. "The reason we are combining our efforts is that all of us are in the same need."

So far as his road was concerned, the witness added, even if the proposed rates were enforced the revenue still would not be enough, as his road would enjoy an increase of $325,000 only.

Luther Walter, attorney for certain packers, asked Mr. Felton if the railroad presidents ever met to agree on how much advance should be requested. Asked by Commissioner Daniels the purpose of the question, Mr. Walter said:

Agreed on Increase.

"My information is that the railroad presidents agreed on how much they would ask for; that some wanted 3 per cent, some 5 per cent and some 20 per cent, and that finally they agreed to ask for the maximum amount and 'passed the buck' to the commissioner."

Mr. Felton replied he never heard of such a discussion and that none took place.

Festus J. Wade, St. Louis, a banker, appearing for the railroads, testified that the value of railroad securities had greatly decreased as investments.

"The constant tirade against the railroads has resulted in discrediting them," said Mr. Wade.

"The decrease in railroad values may be explained in various ways. If you are a Democrat you will blame it on the European war. If you are a Republican you may blame it on adverse legislation, but the fact remains that the depreciated credit of the railroads is hurting not the railroads alone but the whole country. Many of the western roads not now paying dividents, narrowly escaped receiverships last year before the war. The war had nothing to do with it."

Mr. Wade produced figures showing the depreciation in the values of bonds and stocks of various railroad groups.

JAS. J. CORBETT

Famous Prizefighter and Actor, says:

"My enthusiasm for the fragrance and mildness of Tuxedo has no limit. Tuxedo is without doubt the most satisfactory pipe tobacco."

Tuxedo Keeps You in the Pink of Condition

Corbett is today as physically vigorous and mentally alert as when he was champion of the world, because he takes good care of himself. He smokes Tuxedo—because he knows that Tuxedo is mild, pleasant, wholesome and beneficial in every way. He takes no chances on other tobaccos.

You can keep yourself sound-winded and in the pink of condition with this mild, fragrant tobacco. Smoke all you want of Tuxedo; it can't hurt you and will give you added pleasure with each pipeful or cigarette.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Mild, fragrant, delicious—and as gentle with your tender tongue as the touch of Spring—Tuxedo turns on a new inspiration. It can't bite, it can't sting because that's cut out by the famous original "Tuxedo Process" that first made men realize how good a pipe smoke could be. That process today stands supreme. It never has been duplicated.

wounded; but not a single fort has been silenced, and we kept on replying vigorously.

Jewish Population Well.

"The Jewish population of Palestine enjoys perfect safety. All the recent publications to the contrary are unfounded."

An embassy statement given out with the above dispatch says:

"Referring to an official Russian statement from Tiflis and coming from the headquarters of the Russian army of the Caucasus, to the effect that, owing to the alleged capture of the Turkish seaport of Khopa on the Black sea, the communications between Constantinople and Turkish territories of Ardanuch, Ardahan, Olti and Sari Kamysh have been severed, the Turkish embassy begs to state:

"In the first place, the territories of Ardanuch, Ardahan, Olti and Sari Kamysh are not Turkish but Russian districts occupied by the Ottoman forces since the beginning of hostilities.

"Secondly, that the seaport of Khopa, which is only a small village, has no importance whatever in the matter of communications with the territories confining the Russian border, which have always been carried through Trebizonde and Rize.

"Consequently the above mentioned Russian statement only proves that despite the repeated claims of Russian successes in the Caucasus, the Ottoman forces still occupy the above named Russian districts of Ardanuch, Ardahan, Olti and Sari Kamysh."

RELIEF IS DENIED TO PULPWOOD SHIPPERS.

Washington, March 5.—Relief was denied today by the interstate commerce commission to shippers and consumers of pulpwood, who complained against present joint through rates published by Canadian railroads and concurred in by roads in the United States. The commission points out that since the United States lines merely concurred in the rates, it could do nothing except order them to desist from such concurrance, leaving the old combination of rates to and from border points in effect. The commission says the rates were found reasonable by the Canadian board of railway commissioners.

CITY HAS A NEW SIGN ORDINANCE

Council Adopts Measure Which Will Become Effective April 15.

Duluth now has a new sign ordinance, and the enforcement of this law will begin about April 15.

At the special meeting of the council yesterday afternoon, the commissioners adopted the ordinance, and according to its provisions, it will go into effect thirty days after it is published in the official city paper.

The ordinance prohibits temporary signs of any nature anywhere in Duluth, violation of which will mean a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding eighty-five days. It was introduced by Commissioner Murchison.

Early in January the commission passed a similar sign ordinance, but because it had a double penalty included, the city attorney ruled that it was illegal and could not be enforced. As a result he ordered a new ordinance prepared and the one passed yesterday provides that all other ordinances of a similar nature now in force are repealed.

A trip of inspection over the joint county and city work farm and to the county jail were made this morning by committees from the March term grand jury, which is expected to conclude its work this afternoon. The grand jury convened Wednesday.

The members of the inquisitorial body who took the trip to the work farm this morning were shown over the premises by Supt. Fred Ward and sat down to a meal at noon hour. It is expected that the grand jury will make a report to the court on conditions at both the jail and at the work farm.

The report of the jury will probably be submitted to Judge Cant in district court this afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. According to the county attorney's office, between fifteen and twenty indictments are expected to be returned. The calendar of civil cases for the March term will be a light one.

ON THE IRON RANGES

NASHWAUK EXPECTS VERY BUSY SEASON

Indications Point to Activity Among the Mines During 1915.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—That mines in this vicinity will have an active season is looked for because of the preparations now under way and the money available to be expended for improvements and development work. This season should be the busiest in the mining history of Nashwauk.

The Hawkins mine has made arrangements for the erection of an addition, 60 by 60 feet, to its concentrating plant and an appropriation of $50,000 has been made for this purpose, work to be commenced as soon as the material arrives. The addition will contain six tables to be used in separating merchantable ore from the low grade. The installing of these tables will be a great saving to the company in tailings which have heretofore been wasted owing to the fineness of the ore.

Quinn-Harrison Concentrator.

At the Quinn-Harrison mine the work of construction on its concentrating plant will be started as soon as the steel arrives. Men are at work on a new location for the workmen which will be located west of the Swan Lake road. This mine will ship 500,000 tons of iron ore this season and have contracted for this amount to be shipped every year, which should make this property one of the most active on the range. The washing plant will be constructed of steel. The machine shops will be moved to the Quinn-Harrison mine from Buhl in April, when Nashwauk will be the headquarters for the Butler Bros. Contracting company. The shops employ about thirty-five men the year round and will be a great help to the town.

The Crosby mine now has everything in readiness for the construction of a washing plant and as soon as the frost leaves the ground, work will be rushed, as this property is expected to ship ore this season. The delays have been many owing to the difficulty of securing a clear title to lands which the company desired for a site for the plant, but everything pertaining to the erecting of the plant have now been completed and a large number of men will be employed in order to have the concentrator ready to wash ore when the shipping season opens.

La Rue Mine Plans.

At the La Rue mine work will be commenced with a large force of men as soon as the weather permits. This mine will also ship a fair tonnage of iron ore the coming season. The washing plant has been remodeled and a water supply will be secured from O'Brien Brook, a ditch having been already started leading from the plant to the brook.

The Pearson mine, which is an underground property and which did not work last year, is expected to resume operations again this season.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist.

It is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. This in part accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses, such as laceration of the epidermis so often the case when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" has been highly recommended by a host of women who know from experience and by men who know from observation. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

BUHL CANDIDATES QUITE NUMEROUS

Mayor Doyle's Ticket Is Opposed By "Everybody's" Ticket.

Buhl, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the village offices there are two opposing factions, both of which have tickets. Everybody's ticket is headed by George R. Barrett, formerly mayor of Buhl. The present mayor, W. J. Doyle, heads the other ticket.

Others on the Everybody's ticket are: Axel W. Kilstrom, for recorder; William Renlund, for treasurer; Frank Lepponen, Nels Rian and Severt Thompson for trustees; Henry Kline for justice of peace office, and John Spolar, Sr., for constable.

The Doyle ticket is as follows: For recorder, Peter Aarni; for trustees, Frank Lepponene, Matt Keyfes, Henry Smith; for treasurer, Swan D. Olson; for justice of peace, Earnest A. Roberts; for constable, Nestor Peltonen.

Robert Howes is an independent candidate for treasurer. It is rumored that Recorder F. J. Demel will seek a trusteeship. He, however, has so far kept himself out of the political imbroglio.

Great Scott Candidates.

Candidates for the township of Great Scott offices are making plans for active campaigning. James Moore and Dr. W. Shaw have announced their candidacy for supervisors. Dr. Shaw heads one ticket while Mr. Moore heads what is known as the Workingmen's ticket. Mr. Moore is a pioneer of Hibbing. Dr. Shaw has served on the board before but was defeated by John O'Donnel for the office last year.

For the clerkship, Harry C. Miller of the Workingmen's ticket, who now has the office, will be opposed by Peter Medure and John Spolar, Jr. Mr. Miller is considered one of the most expert clerks on the range and has given general satisfaction. The outlook for his re-election looks rosy indeed.

The Workingmen's ticket is as follows: For supervisor, James Moore; for clerk, Harry C. Miller; for treasurer, John I. Anderson; for assessor, John Pasich; for justice of the peace, Matt Panyon; for constable, Tony Stanisha.

The other ticket is as follows: For supervisor, Dr. A. W. Shaw; for clerk, H. C. Miller; for assessor, Ed. Johnson; for treasurer, John I. Anderson; for justice of the peace, Barney Bragg; for constable, Alden Anderson. Peter Medure and John Spolar, Jr., are running for clerk independently.

Biwabik, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. Peterson of Minneapolis, who is interested in mining on the Vermillion range, through his attorney, H. B. VIRGINIA SOCIETY WINS THIRD PRIZE.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—Rapid progress is being made on the extension of the six-foot sewer from the foot of Chestnut street to the alley at the north of Chestnut street and ten days more will see the job completed. Half the mains are in place. Most of the sewer is laid in tunnel and those in charge of the work say it has been conclusively proven that work of this kind can be done to better advantage in the winter months when the ground is frozen than in the summer. The excavation is to a depth and carries the trench several feet below the fill made for the Canadian Northern passenger station and grounds.

She was brought home on the afternoon train and taken to the Budd hospital, where her injury was attended to by Dr. Budd.

Every Manufacturer Seeks "Dealer Influence"

He knows that when he has the support of his dealer for his product his battle is half won.

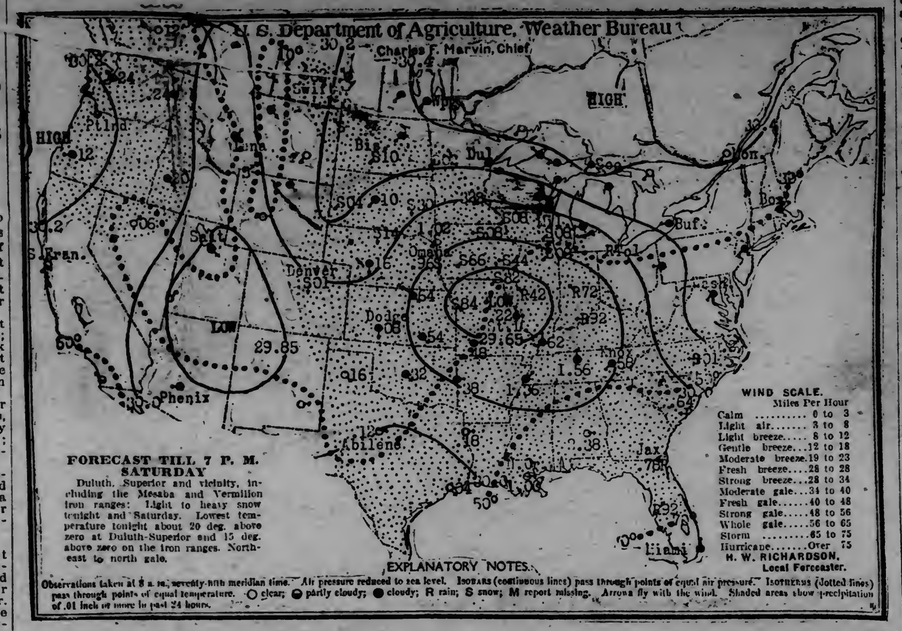
Sometimes, however he fails to rate his dealer at his proper caliber and to realize that the way to his shelves is through the dealer's front door.

The dealer is agent for his public. He wants the goods that sell and no other kind.

Merchandise for which there is an active demand is the sort advertised in the daily newspaper.

The retailer knows this from experience and he favors newspaper advertised products.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



SNOW

Today is what could, with conservatism, be termed as "nawsty." Last night the wind and cold made conditions typically Marchy, and today is not a great deal better. Soft hats are the safest, unless one wishes to brush up on sprinting, and the chill in the air is anything but agreeable. Maybe the lion of March is sending its cubs ahead.

There was considerable snow a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:40 and will set this evening at 5:59, giving eleven hours and nineteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over Missouri caused light to heavy snow or rain over the Central valleys and Southern and Northwestern states. Northeast winds of gale velocities occurred at Duluth and Toledo. The temperature has risen over the Ohio valley, Lake region, Atlantic and Southeastern states, and has fallen over Southwestern states."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 5.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Minnesota—Snow tonight and Saturday, heavy in east portion.

Lower Michigan—Snow in north, snow or rain in south portions tonight and Saturday.

Wisconsin—Heavy snow tonight and Saturday.

Iowa—Snow tonight and probably Saturday; heavy tonight in east and central portions; colder in south and central portions tonight.

North Dakota—Unsettled tonight and Saturday, probably snow.

South Dakota—Probably snow tonight and Saturday.

NORTHWEST ANGLE IS LAWLESS PLACE

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

P. O. RECEIPTS SHOW GAINS

Easter Business Swells Mails; Heavy Increase Shown This Month.

February Also Was Good Month; Better Conditions Reflected.

Easter business promises to be large this season, according to receipts at the Duluth postoffice for the first part of March, which, it is said, reflect unusual activity in trade centers. Receipts for the first four days of March this year exceed those of the same period last year by $2,000.

During the month of February the postal receipts were $30,292.68 against $30,100.95 for the same period last year. This shows an increase of $191.73. Receipts for the present fiscal year, which ends June 30, are said to be far in excess of those for the same period a year ago.

"I think the nature and quality of the business being done at the postoffice at the present time reflects marked improvement in business," said Postmaster William E. McEwen today. "March is opening up unusually bright in Duluth, and the evening mail has become so heavy that we have had to transfer a man to care for the increase. People seem to be making unusual preparations for Easter this year. In some parts of the country postal receipts have fallen off recently, and for that reason Duluth should feel gratified that receipts here have been increasing."

A WINTER TONIC

Why is it that some people keep well all winter while others, less exposed to cold and damp, suffer with colds, grip, pleurisy, pneumonia and all the ills of the season?

Thin blood and debility are the causes of much sickness in winter. When the blood is thin and there is oxygen starvation in the tissues of the body, poisons are retained that should be eliminated and there is a lowered resistance to disease.

Rheumatism disappears when the blood is built up and does not return if the blood is kept rich.

The after-effects of grip are never cured until the blood is built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood and enable it to carry more oxygen, to nourish the starved tissues in debility, to soothe the inflamed membranes in rheumatism, to quiet the nerves in neuralgia and sciatica and to expel the lingering germs after the fever and influenza of grip have passed. All winter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be in every house, ready for use. You can get them now at the nearest drug store.

The third edition of the popular little book "Building Up the Blood," has just been published. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy.

THIRD PORK CONTEST ON

Another Chance Is Being Offered North Dakota Boys and Girls.

Success of Former Pork Growing Contests Assures Third One.

Fargo, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elated over the great success of the pork production contests of 1913 and 1914 the Better Farming section of the North Dakota Experiment station announces a third contest to be held this year, open to every boy and girl in the state between 10 and 18 years of age.

The purpose of the contest is to secure the largest pork production from one sow at the highest rate of gain per day with the lowest feed cost per pound for the pork produced within the shortest time.

The contest begins with a litter that is farrowed not later than May 1. It is Nov. 20 and the weight of the litter at that time is fixed as the basis for the awards:.

Twenty-four Prizes.

There are twenty-four prizes, the first being $100, the second $50, the third $30, the fourth $25, and the fifth $15, from the sixth to the tenth $10 and from the eleventh to the twenty-fourth $5. The total cash prizes reach $445. Thomas H. Canfield, a well known breeder of Yorkshires, offers a grown hog to the contestant winning with that breed, and a Duroc-Jersey man, Peter Rutten of Osakis, Minn., does the same with that breed.

The National Swine Registry association is offering prizes, the National Duroc-Jersey association puts up three and the American Yorkshire club also gives a prize.

Each contestant in the race must make weekly reports of the costs of feeding the sow and the pigs and must take the personal care of the animals themselves. The chief object is to demonstrate that just as much money can be made by raising spring pigs, rushing them through the season and selling them in the fall, as if they are kept till a year old. In fact it is claimed the meat is preferable, because it is more tender and sweeter, and the production cost per pound is much less than where pigs are kept over winter.

Profitable Venture.

A 16-year-old boy won first prize in 1913 and a 15-year-old girl, who was second in 1913, won first place in 1914. In the 1914 contest the litters of the twenty-four prize winners averaged 2,118½ pounds in 218 days and had a value of $137.70, while the average feed cost was $59.60, charging the feed at the regular market price, which leaves a return of $78.10 per litter above the feed cost; in other words, these pigs returned more than twice the market price for the feeds used. The first prize litter weighed 3,811 pounds at 209 days. The cost of feed was $91.49, while the hogs sold for $247.71, leaving a return of $156.22 above the cost of feed.

Some of the lessons learned in the previous contests were that the large litters had the advantage, that liberal feeding paid well, that the pigs should be kept growing rapidly without a setback, that the cheapest gains were made on pasture and corn hogged down. This will likely play a larger part in the 1915 contest than in the previous two, as grain feeds are high.

The results secured by the boys and girls in the previous contests are demonstrating possibilities in pork production in the state that perhaps but few had realized.

MOOSE LAKE MAN IS FINED $100

Also Sentenced in Carlton County Court for Illegally Selling Liquor.

Carlton, Minn. March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—District court which has been in session here all this week, adjourned yesterday afternoon until next Monday. It is expected the calendar will be cleaned up next week.

Two criminal cases were disposed of yesterday. Garfield Marchieski of Moose Lake appeared before Judge Dancer and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of selling liquor illegally in the village of Moose Lake during the months of September and October, 1914. He was fined $100 or ninety days in the county jail and was given two days in which to secure the money.

Carl Lungquist was sentenced to four months in the county jail as the result of a stabbing affray at the town of Atkinson six weeks ago. He pleaded guilty to an information at the time of arrest. While in a drunken rage he attacked a man who was peacefully sleeping in the Atkinson depot and inflicted several serious wounds from which the victim has fully recovered.

Three Civil Actions.

Three civil actions were disposed of this week. A verdict for the defendant was found in the case of the Gallon Iron Works vs. Peterson & Persinger. Suit was brought to recover on notes given the plaintiffs for an engine. The defense claimed that engines delivered was not as represented in contract.

Settlement was made in the case of John Sever vs. Great Northern Railway company, in which damages were asked for injury to a threshing engine. W. M. Caln was given a verdict over the Higgins Land company, the latter having brought suit to recover for alleged trespass on timbered property.

GRAZING RIGHTS AT LAST DEFINED

People Running Cattle on Reservation Lands Have Secured Ruling.

Fort Yates, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people on the Standing Rock reservation now have a clear idea as to grazing rights on the unoccupied lands as a result of recent notices by Supt. Covey. Last fall the Indian department barred the big cattlemen who had held leases here for years. They were not satisfied with grazing on leased lands, but frequently ran their cattle on allotment lands and very often ran away with the Indian cattle into the big herds, causing a lot of friction and bitterness, though the Indian department was sometimes able to make them reimburse the Indians.

Terms of New Ruling.

Under the new ruling allotment, Indians can herd cattle on any unoccupied reservation lands as long as they fence it. Homesteaders on the reservation can graze cattle on any unoccupied reservation lands, but cannot have more than forty head.

Other grazing permits must be secured from the superintendent. Under the new ruling the situation is now better understood and there will probably be many small herds on the reservation this year until the lands are thrown open for settlement.

Look, Mother! If Tongue Is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! FARMERS CELEBRATE SUCCESSFUL YEAR

South End Shipping Association of Hope, N. D., Did Well in 1914.

Hope, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Closing the four days' session with a banquet in which 538 people were fed, the South End Farmers' Shipping association ended a successful year.

It is a unique organization of the farmers of this end of Steele county, who formed themselves into an association a year ago for the purpose of shipping livestock. The association has a membership of seventy-nine. J. D. Parkhouse is president, and E. W. Hanson, secretary-treasurer. During the past year the association handled twenty-six cars of live stock, the money for all but one coming through the organization and totaling more than $35,000. The rates for handling the cars where several shippers united to fill one car are 5 cents per 100, and in cases where the shipper has a sufficient number to fill a car alone the charged are 1 cent per 100.

Four Days' Special Course.

Not satisfied with the shipping end of the business alone, the members decided to broaden the scope of their work and in the form of a celebration of their first anniversary to organize a four days' special course meeting.

They secured leading speakers from the state agricultural college at Fargo and several county agents for the better farming association. The subjects discussed were along livestock and kindred lines, especially as to the best method of care and feeding of all forms of live stock and the easiest and cheapest methods of securing feed.

The women also held a meeting of their own in which they discussed home nursing, feeding children, cooking for invalids, the farm garden, country school needs, cooking vegetables, textiles and also listened to an address by President McVey of the North Dakota University.

Regain the Mastery Over Blood Trouble

No Matter How Disheartening You Can Overcome It.

Blood disorders are quickly checked by S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. It rushes into the blood and in three minutes has traversed the entire circulation. It penetrates to where the blood is made, it washes out those spots and places where stagnation has settled, it cleanses the membranes, drives irritation from the joints, fills the blood stream with antidotal influence and from head to foot creates conditions that make for blood health. There are people in every community who know this to be true. They have used S. S. S. for severe forms of rheumatism, for indolent, ulcerated spots, for eruptive skin diseases, for any and all those bodily conditions caused by blood loaded with impurities. Being a pure product of Nature it can not hurt the stomach and has therefore been the refuge of a host of people misguided in their dilemma by first flying to those dangerous mercurial drugs which have claimed so many unfortunates. If the skin breaks out in a rash, if boils or other eruptions appear, if there are blood risings or any other indications of impure blood get a bottle of S. S. S. at once of any druggist. But beware of substitutes. If in doubt as to your trouble or you wish competent medical advice free, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 58 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is known far and wide as one of the greatest of helps to blood sufferers. But don't delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. today.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pains in my sides, and terrible backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering woman."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1625 Dounton St., Nicetown, Pa.

Another Woman's Case.

Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABEL LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

Danger Signals to Women

are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or an inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women willingly testify to its virtue.

Wrestling Boxing

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

NATURALLY Old Mike Yokel is the favorite in the big event that is scheduled for the auditorium on Tuesday evening. It is but natural that so wonderful a wrestler with so remarkable a reputation should rule as the favorite choice of the majority of those expressing an opinion as to the outcome of the big mat battle. But, however that may be, the serene fact remains standing in alley number 9—that the little Finn has a lot of followers in this contest.

Ketonen is one of the real masters of the mat world. This statement is not an exaggeration—it is a fact. The little Finn knows how to wrestle, can wrestle and will wrestle. For every hold almost that has been clamped on Ketonen, he has had a counter. The harder his opponent mixes, the better Ketonen likes it.

We, for one, hesitate to predict the defeat of the mighty Yokel. Anyone familiar with the mat career of Yokel would go slow along this hazardous line; and yet we have a strong hunch that if there is any 158-pound man who can take the measure of the Salt Lake City wonder, that man is Waino Ketonen.

Gibbons and Others.

FOLLOWERS of old time sport rave about Jack Dempsey. Now it is doubtful if the Nonpareil could have beaten Mike Gibbons. Doc McNulty has seen them all within a span of three decades. The genial doctor is of the opinion that Gibbons is about the last word in the boxing line.

You can't convince some of the followers of boxing that one of the modern middleweights could remain hale and hearty for any length of time in the same ring with Stanley Ketchel. But at that it is real doubtful if the Michigan assasin could have done a great deal to Mike Gibbons in the limited round bouts of the present time.

Certain it is that no boxer since the prime of Jim Corbett has exhibited the remarkable footwork that is possessed by this St. Paul boxer. Corbett was in some respects even more shifty on his feet than Gibbons—and he weighed 172 pounds at his best. But Corbett was perhaps the greatest exponent of footwork that the ring has ever produced.

Some critics declare that Packey McFarland is faster with his hands than Gibbons.

When Marty Forkins was here, he spent a busy week relating incidents of boxers. It was while Forkins was managing McGoorty that McFarland put on the gloves with the Oshkosh boy. The gymnasium workout took place in New York, when Eddie was training for the Gibbons battle.

Forkins is authority for the statement that McFarland made McGoorty look like a boxing fool. It might be stated that Forkins is also of the opinion that McFarland would make Gibbons look just as bad over the ten round route as Gibbons shades the present crop of middleweights.

You will have to show us where any boxer in the world holds the whip hand over the genial Michael on the ten-round jaunt. Clabby and McGoorty are both anxious to start the derby route with the Phantom. There is no particular reason to believe that Mike will not be as effective and hold his present well established lead in the longer distance bouts.

They can rave about the veterans of the past—and there were some wonders; but this Gibbons boy is surely one of the boxing marvels of all time. He has everything. That's enough.

What a Decision Means.

UNDER the Wisconsin boxing law it is forbidden the referee to render a decision or even intimate which man he is of the opinion had the better of the bout. However in the end the popular decision is nearly tantamount to a regular verdict.

Mike Gibbons was given the verdict by every sport writer gathered at the Hudson ringside and the popular decision to boot. The country will hail Mike as the class of the middleweights. Offers will be showered upon him. McGoorty, on the other hand of the consideration, will have to accept offers of lower financial rating, will be beseiged by fewer offers, will be on the defense in a sense, and will be in no position to dictate to promoters.

That, kind and loving friends, is why the winning of the encounter of Tuesday evening meant more in reality to the two boxers than the amount of money guaranteed to each of them.

Gibbons is in a position to pick off the cream of engagements; to go into theatrical work, or to await some particularly inviting inducement. McGoorty will have to fight his way back in a measure.

It is a great life.

BENNETT AFTER MANAGERSHIP

Duluth Baseball Player Wants to Handle Superior Red Sox.

"Si" Bennett, formerly a star in the outfield of the old Duluth White Sox, later a member of the Superior Red Sox, and also on various teams of various leagues, including the Northwestern and Western leagues, declared today that he has put in a formal bid for the managership of the Superior baseball team, and that William J. Sommer, head of the club across the bay, has agreed to hold a conference with him today.

According to the statement of Bennett, no manager has as yet been selected by Sommer. H. A. Blume is also authority for the statement that Kid Taylor will not pilot the Superior club the coming season.

Bennett is known in baseball circles as a heady player. In the old days "Si" was one of the greatest base runners that this league ever produced. He has been fortified with all sorts of experience and his friends are boosting strongly for his landing the job. It is said some influential friends of the Duluth boy on the other side of the bay are plugging his cause.

QUINTS WILL TRY TO BREAK OLD TIE

Central High Gym Team and Proctor to Meet Again.

Although the Central high school "varsity" basket ball team is idle tonight on account of the cancellation of the Cloquet game, a card has been arranged for this evening that should prove almost as interesting as any basket ball offering that has been made at the Central gymnasium this year. The Central high school "gym" class basketball team has been matched with the crack Proctor Y. M. C. A. quint, and as a curtain raiser that will undoubtedly cause as much enthusiasm as the main affair, the Central high school girls' basket ball team will meet the Proctor Y. W. C. A. aggregation.

This same card was arranged and played off at Proctor on Jan. 16. The high school girls were returned the victors in their contest, but the boys' game concluded in a tie, 21 to 21. The latter contest was a fierce one and one of the fastest ever witnessed on the Proctor floor. Even ten minutes of desperate overtime playing could not settle a winner, and the contest of this evening, in addition to bringing out some excellent playing, will be in the nature of settling a big grudge.

The "gym" team has been together for a long time and they have perfected some beautiful team work. All of the men are thoroughly acquainted with the game, and, considering their age and weight, their playing is a revelation to see, even when they are playing against heavier and older teams.

The Proctor aggregation also boasts a veteran team and one which is exceedingly hard to beat. It is the only team that the gym quintet has met and not defeated this season. The gym team has about clinched the Head of the Lakes championship for its class and is now invading a field of heavier teams in search of higher honors. The line-ups of the two teams will be as follows:

Gym.		Proctor.
Pedrizetti	f	B. Murray
Mason	f	Rappold
Gogins	c	Martin
Rosenberg	g	Bjornas
Shaw	g	E. Murray

BRYANT AND KELLY.

Crack Roller Skaters May Meet in Minneapolis.

Raymond Kelly of St. Paul has offered to skate Frank Bryant a series of races at the Arcadia rink in Minneapolis, if in return Bryant will offer a purse on the winner to take all basis to be skated by the two boys at the Auditorium rink of Duluth.

Kelly proposes that Bryant and himself meet in a series of three races, including one quarter, one half and one mile contests.

Bryant may go to Milwaukee in the near future for a series of races on Joe Munch's track, later entering the national roller skating professional championships.

CANADIANS REAL STARS

Western University Hockey Players Are Rated High.

Close Game Is Expected With Curling Club Seven.

McAvoy, the rover for the Western University hockey team, which will play the first of a series of two games with the curling club septet this evening, is considered one of the speediest players in Canada. He is called the London speed boy and is said to be one of the fastest skaters in amateur hockey circles.

Rico Ritchie, the center, is from Port Arthur. This youngster is rated as one of the real stars of Canada. The Cleveland papers were lavish in their praise of Ritchie.

Mushy Ross is another of the stars. He is regarded as a great defense player. Ross is a divinity student at the university and this is his third year of hockey. The kid is but 18 years of age and has been called the boy wonder by many of the followers of the game.

George Arthurs at left wing is a great stick handler and another of the speed boys of the visiting aggregation.

Joe Chapman, goal, is considered one of the wizard guardians of the net. Eastern papers have freely commented upon his playing and have dubbed him the "Kleptomaniac" goal tender.

Gus Edwars plays at right wing. He is a student in the arts and medicines. Before entering the university he played with the Parkdale Canoe club.

Wilbur Morenz, left wing, was last year chosen to represent the Western against the Eastern Ontario Junior all-stars. He is considered one of the best players in all of Western Ontario.

Phillips, one of the spares, is but 16 years of age. He is another of the boy wonders. Dot Reid, a defense player, has been sought by the Wanderers and played with the Western University team when it won the senior national hockey league championship.

Great Game Promised.

The game this evening gives radiant promise of being one of the best that has been scheduled this season. The London, Ont., septet is rated as one of the best in Canadian amateur hockey circles. The curling club team is justly rated as one of the best amateur teams of the West, and the struggle promises to be close and interesting.

The game will be called at 8 o'clock, the usual hour.

BROWN'S FIGHT WITH WELLING CALLED OFF

Range Lad Finally Matched to Meet Joe Mandot.

Pal Brown's fight with Joe Welling of Chicago is off. The match was set for Windsor, Ont., last night. According to a wire received here by The Herald today from Harley Davidson, Larney Lichtenstein called off the contest because he wanted more money for Welling.

Johnny Dundee, Griffiths or Shugrue were wired for substitutions, but the negotiations fell through and the contest was finally called off.

Brown will fight Johnny Lustig of New York at Windsor on March 10. Both boys will weigh in at 133 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Davidson has also secured prospective dates for Brown at Jackson, Saginaw and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Brown is living on the Belle Isle boulevard in Detroit. The range lad will complete his training at the Moose Temple club for the Lustig contest.

Davidson states that the cut on Brown's head is nearly healed and that Pal is feeling fine.

Mandot Is Coming.

Last evening the long drawn out negotiations for a Brown-Mandot bout were completed. The iron range lad and the New Orleans French Market lad will meet in Superior, April 9.

By the terms of the agreement Mandot is guaranteed $1,500 for the ten rounds work. Brown will receive a percentage. Mandot is 25 years of age and has been fighting for five years. His most notable achievement was a popular draw with the present champion, Freddy Welsh.

MAYER IN LEAD.

Philadelphia Balk-Line Player Not Yet Defeated in Tournament.

Philadelphia, March 5.—Joseph Mayer of Philadelphia completely outclassed Corwin Houston, Detroit, in last night's game of the class A, 18.2 balk-line amateur billiard tournament for the championship of America. Mayer won the match, 400 to 93.

Mayer's victory puts him in the lead in the tournament with two wins and no defeats. J. F. Poggenburg, former international champion, is the only other undefeated contestant.

Vetoes Boxing Bill.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 5.—Governor Kendrick yesterday vetoed the bill passed by the house and senate permitting boxing bouts and sparring exhibitions. In explaining his action, Governor Kendrick said such a law would injure the reputation of the state. He declared that the experiences of other states with boxing justified his action.

FIRST ISSUE OF THE "LOG"

Officers of Boat Club Start New Monthly Publication.

The "Log," a monthly publication devoted to the interests of the rowing game and the Duluth Boat club, made its first appearance yesterday.

In the first issue of the little booklet, is a eulogy of Julius H. Barnes. A page and a half is devoted to Mr. Barnes, and the article pays deserved tribute to the man who is responsible more than any other citizen of Duluth for the final success achieved by the crews of the club.

It is a fine tribute to a man whose courage and persistence were finally rewarded by the development of the fastest rowing crews in the entire country; crews that won more national championships in a given period of time than any other crews in the history of the amateur rowing game.

It is the purpose of the officers of the boat club to attempt to boost the club through the medium of the Log and to stimulate even greater interest in the crews of the club.

There are rowing, sailing and canoe departments in the new publication, and in addition a department for general club news. It is believed that the publication of the new book will generally boom the boat club and its interests.

EAGER TO TRY THE 20-ROUND GAME

Pal Brown Returns to Duluth and May Take Trip to New Orleans.

Pal Brown hit Duluth early today, coming in from Windsor, Ont., following the cancellation of his bout with Joe Welling of Chicago. Harley Davidson, the manager of the little Chisholm boxer, went to Milwaukee and is negotiating with Tom Andrews for a Cream City appearance of Brown.

According to Pal, he and Davidson may leave for New Orleans shortly after the Mandot bout and make a serious attempt to hook up with some of the lightweight leaders over the twenty-round route in the Crescent city.

"Harley and I are agreed that the twenty-round game is the stunt for me," said Brown today in The Herald office. "After my ten-round bout with Mandot I would not be surprised if Harley and I would take a train for New Orleans and camp down there in the effort to get on with some good boy in one of the longer bouts.

"I don't think they can hurt me, any of those fellows. Whitney caught me flush on the jaw and did not feaze me. I was not much hurt by Watson. Endurance is my long suit.

"Both Davidson and myself are agreed on this belief. Don't be surprised if we are off for New Orleans and the twenty-round game."

Five Bouts Cancelled.

Since leaving Duluth Brown has had five bouts cancelled. After Welling blithely leaped the traces an effort was made to get Joe Azevedo, the Mexican. That effort was futile. Johnny Lore was angled for, while several other offers failed of materialization. Therefore P. Lawrence Brown hopped the rattler and hit the home trail.

After a visit with friends in Duluth the leading man of Chisholm will go back home and make faces at the new little Brown. The new Brown is about one week old and does not even know of the result of the encounter with Watson. P. Lawrence Brown will be busy telling of it during the next few days.

Harley Davidson will return to the range within the next few days.

NEW CHAMPIONS CROP UP AT A. A. U. MEETING.

New York, March 5.—Several new names were written on the championship roll of the Amateur Athletic union at the senior national indoor track and field meet in Madison Square Garden last night. W. H. Taylor of the Illinois A. C., Chicago, distinguished himself by being the only double winner of the night. He established a new championship meet record of 5 feet, 4 inches in the standing high jump, and in the standing broad jump furnished new figures of 11 feet, 2 inches, in each case dethroning Platt Adams of the New York A. C., last year's champion, in these events.

The Irish-American A. C. of this city led the point score with 35, Boston A. A. was second with 23 and Illinois A. C., Chicago, third, with 12.

Two national champions, Abel R. Kiviat and A. T. Meyer of the Irish-American A. C., lost their titles in the first two track contests decided. Kiviat was cleverly beaten by D. S. Caldwell of Boston in the 1,000-yard race and Ervin L. Howe, the colored sprinter from Colby college, beat Meyer by inches in the 75-yard dash.

CHANGES IN GAME LAWS

Fish and Game Association Suggests Many Amendments to Present Laws.

At the meeting of the Northeastern Minnesota Game and Fish Protective association last evening, the members favored making Sept. 15 the opening date of the season on all game birds, and also the passing of game laws limiting the kill to one antlered deer, limiting the size of a day's catch of bass and pike, and recommending that aliens must have first papers before securing a license to hunt. It was also suggested that age limit of hunters be changed from 21 to 18 years.

The annual election of officers was held. George A. Flinn was re-elected president, Frank B. Carey was elected vice president, and James K. Lawrie was chosen to succeed himself as secretary.

It was stated by John Green that he has already distributed some of the fish fry in streams adjacent to Duluth. Mr. Green will have a number of assistants, and it is expected that the distribution of the fry will be more thorough than ever before. In previous years it is stated that some carelessness has been associated with the work of placing fry in the streams around the Head of the Lakes and northeastern part of the state.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Toronto, Ont., March 5.—Eddie Fitzpatrick, the infielder whose sale to the Boston National league club was arranged a few days ago, will remain with the Toronto club of the International league. ADVOCATES RACING DURING THE WAR

Lord Rosebery Sees No Wrong With Continuation of Sport.

London, March 5.—The question whether horse racing meets ought to be suspended during the war is being warmly discussed by the press and the public. The Times in an editorial yesterday advocated at least the suspension of the Ascot and Epsom meets, but Lord Rosebery writes to the Times today protesting against such a move. He argues that horses are invaluable to the future of the army and that if races cease, thoroughbreds will disappear because no one can afford to keep blooded stock for the mere pleasure of looking at them.

Lord Rosebery further points out that all through the French revolution and the Napoleonic wars the Epsom and Ascot races were held regularly, adding that "our forefathers did not regard it as an offense to witness horse races while at war."

PELKEY LASTS QUICKLY.

Luther McCarty's Slayer Knocked Out in Second Round By Coffey.

New York, March 5.—Jim Coffey, heavyweight pugilist, knocked out Arthur Pelkey of Chicopee, Mass., in the second round of their scheduled ten-round match here last night.

At the opening of the second round Coffey sent three smashing rights to Pelkey's jaw, sending him down for the count. Coffey weighed 200 pounds and Pelkey 208½ pounds.

Lowers Own Record.

Chicago, March 5.—A. C. Raithel of the Illinois Athletic club lowered the world's record for forty yards held by himself in the Central A. A. U. championship swim held here last night, making the forty yards in 18 2-8 seconds.

Brown With Chifeds.

Chicago, March 5.—Mordecai Brown, former pitcher for the Chicago Nationals, who last year managed the St. Louis Federals and at the end of the season played with the Brooklyn Federals, is to play this year with the Chicago Federals. The announcement that Brown would wear the uniform of the Chicago team was made yesterday after he had visited Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals.

SOME IDEA OF BIG WAR EXPENDITURES.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 18.—The financial editor of the Daily Telegraph points out that the ten billion dollar expenditure by the allies for carrying on the war from now until the end of this year, as estimated by the chancellor of the exchequer, exceeds the total national debts of both France and Russia. It even exceeds the entire revenue producing capacity of all Europe, including belligerents and neutrals, by over three billion dollars.

Portland, Or., Man Ends Life.

Portland, Or., March 5.—Ralph W. Feency, superintendent of the Horticultural Fire Relief company and the Oregon Merchants' Mutual company, both of which were placed in the hands of a receiver last Monday, committed suicide here yesterday by taking poison.

RESCUED BY FRENCH GIRL

Travels in Dark in Search of Seven Wounded Chausseurs.

Brought to Hospital With Aid of Cow and Carry-All.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Feb. 16.—Mademoiselle Robert of Paris, who witnessed the battle of Guise, has just told her story of the rescue of seven wounded chasseurs.

With the report that the Germans were coming the chief surgeon of a hospital had ordered practically everybody to the rear. Mademoiselle Robert was still at the hospital, however, when a peasant came in breathless excitement to tell how the Germans were coming, and how seven chasseurs were lying terribly wounded in a little hamlet four miles away.

"It was already dark," Mademoiselle Robert relates. "We had no ambulances or any sort of vehicles to bring the wounded back. But I jumped on a bicycle, determined to try to find the wounded men. The cannonading heard for three days was coming nearer and nearer, and as I pedaled along the road I could see flashes of the nearing conflict.

"Two miles up the road a detachment of dragoons challenged me, and ordered me to the rear. I told them of the seven chasseurs.

"'My poor little woman,' one said, 'There may be seven times seven thousand back there, and you can't get them all, can you?'

"I pleaded with him to let me have two of his men to make an effort. He shook his head, declaring that the Germans would be in the village in force, before anyone could reach the wounded men.

Was Pitch Dark.

"But I couldn't go back, and the officer finally let me proceed.

had clouded thickly and it was pitch dark when I arrived at

There was not a sign of life; the only light was that of a burning buildings reflected from that of the clouds. I knocked at several houses; they were unresponsive as the grave, although I am sure there were people in some of them.

"I finally found a barn beside the road that answered the peasant's description, and putting my ear to a crack in the door I heard the plaintive sounds that became familiar in the hospital; my men were there. Lifting the latch carefully, I pulled the door, looked into pitch darkness, then drew back; I was afraid. I asked tremblingly, 'who's there?' There was no reply, but I could locate the spot where the men lay by the sound of their groaning. I felt my way toward them, bumping against beams and tripping in the straw. I went down on all fours and crept until my hand touched something under the straw, drawing a sharp cry of pain; it was the crushed leg of one of the chasseurs. 'How many are you here?' I asked. In heaven's name, speak, some of you.'

Begged Her to Fly.

"'Who are you?' a feeble voice asked. They could scarcely believe I had come from the rear and begged me to fly as quickly as I could. 'There's nothing a girl like you can do for us.'

"I started out for a conveyance. It was an all night search, for every door was dumb to my appeal. I clubbed the door of every house with a stout stick, but not till dawn did I see a living being in the locality; then I came across a lonesome, disconsolate cow. 'Now,' I thought, 'If I can find this sort of vehicle, I have the motive power.' An old peasant woman peeked timidly out of her cottage and darted back again. I knocked at the door, but she didn't reply. I insisted so strongly with my big stick that she finally opened again. There was an old carryall under the shed of the next farm, she said. The place was abandoned. We might find a harness there or some other means of hitching the cow to the carry-all. An old wreck of harness that we pieced out with ropes and rags was soon ready and the cow, dazed and docile, finally consented to pull.

Taken to Hospital.

"With the aid of the old peasant woman and with some unseen aid we got those maimed chasseurs into the carry-all and were on our way back to the hospital at a speed of a mile an hour. Shells were bursting nearer and nearer and long columns of infantry were hurrying before them through the fields to the right and to the left. We heard the rumbling of wheels behind us. It was a battery of French artillery. As they passed an officer glanced at my charge, saluted, shook his head sadly and galloped on. The battery turned into the first cross road and began business. To my poor chasseurs it was a welcome noise. One of them raised himself on his elbow and said to his comrades: 'One good turn deserves another; the Germans are getting some of their own change back.' The poor fellow was dead when we reached the hospital. In spite of the holes the 3-inchers made in the German ranks, they were powerless to stem the tide and the six surviving chasseurs had no sooner received 'first aid' than the Uhlans galloped up."

WOULD SEND JAP ARMY TO EUROPE

Project to Be Pushed Further By Those Proposing Idea.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Yokohama, Feb. 8.—The project of sending a Japanese army to Europe is to be pushed still further by those who have proposed the idea. A mass meeting was held here on Feb. 4, and largely attended by those who cheered the chauvinistic speeches. The following resolution was adopted:

"The Association Advocating the Dispatch of Japanese Troops to Europe pledges itself to do its best to induce the imperial government to arrange with the governments of Great Britain, Russia and France the terms on which Japanese troops are to be dispatched to Europe, in compliance with their desire. With this end in view the present association will try to create public opinion on the subject."

Shuroku Kuroiwa, editor of the Yorodzu, a newspaper which has been active in support of the plan of sending troops to Europe, declared in a speech at the meeting that if the present war should end in victory for the Germans, the future of Japan would be in danger. He held it was most important that Japan should do all in its power to avert such an issue. He also said if the allies were victorious their influence would necessarily extend to the East and an alliance with these powers would be necessary. Under these circumstances he believed Japan would do well to render assistance at the present time.

He spoke of a third possibility, namely, that if the war should be a long one, to the exhaustion of the belligerent powers, it would be inevitable that the United States would gain the ascendancy, in which event, he thought, pressure would be brought to bear upon Japan by the United States.

Korehiro Kurahara, a member of parliament, also spoke. He asked why the Japanese people acted as if the war were brought to an end with the fall of Tsing Tao. The present, he said, was a most critical period for Japan, and it was the duty of the nation to give full play to the Yamato spirit characteristic of the Japanese people and to dispatch troops to Europe without delay.

"MOO-ZOO" ONLY A MYTH

Duluthian Claims Monument to Chippewa Not Warranted By History.

Never Aided Settlers in Sioux Uprising—Would Preserve Fort.

Claiming that the erection at Fort Ridgley last summer of a monument of Moo-Zoo-Maunee, supposedly a Chippewa Indian chief, who brought 100 Indians to help the whites following an attack on Fort Ridgley by the Sioux tribe, was a big mistake and that it is doubtful if there ever was such an Indian chief, and that the Indians never helped the settlers, O. H. Clarke of this city, and Frank Randall ask that an investigation be made at once and the mistake corrected for the sake of history. They also ask that the state provide funds for the preservation of the fort, which, they state in communications sent to The Herald, is in a deplorable state.

Mr. Clarke lived at Fort Ridgley from 1861 to 1873, while Mr. Randall was born there and during the siege lived in the fort with his mother and sisters. His father was in command of the civilians who defended the fort against the famous Indian attack.

Mr. Clarke's Letter.

The communications from both Mr. Clarke and Mr. Randall follow:

To the Editor of The Herald:

"During the month of August last, the fifty-second anniversary of the battles between the whites and the Sioux Indians at Fort Ridgley was observed with ceremonies, suitable and fitting, save and except the ceremonies attendant upon the dedication of a monument purchased and erected by the state of Minnesota commemorating the life of a Chippewa chief said to have been named 'Moo-Zoo-Maunee,' and according to the newspaper reports, said to have appeared at Fort Ridgley with 100 braves and offered his services to Capt. Francis Hall, then in command of the forces stationed at Fort Ridgley.

"The celebration took place on the site of the old fort and a large crowd was in attendance. We are not in position to say whether there ever was such a Chippewa chief or not, but we are in position to say that we never heard of 'Moo-Zoo-Maunee,' and that 'Moo-Zoo-Maunee' never came to Fort Ridgley, nor was there ever such an officer as Capt. Francis Hall or any other officer by the name of Hall in command at Fort Ridgley at that or any other time. Capt. Marsh of Company 'B,' Fifth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, was in command at the time of the Sioux outbreak. He took a part of Company 'B' and went to the relief of the whites at the lower Sioux agency as soon as he was informed that the Indians had begun the massacre. This was on Aug. 18, 1862. He and his little command were ambushed at the ferry landing just below the agency and most of the soldiers were killed, only fifteen out of forty ever returned. Capt. Marsh was drowned while swimming the Minnesota river in trying to escape. Capt. (later Col.) Sheehan, Company 'C,' Fifth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, took command of the forces at the fort and was in command of both attacks made upon the fort and I have in my possession a copy of Col. Sheehan's official report of the battles to Major-Gen. Hallack at that time in command of the department of Dakota, in which Fort Ridgley was at that time included.

No Such Officer.

"Following Col. Sheehan, Col. William Pfaender of New Ulm was in command (he was colonel of the Second Minnesota cavalry) and later Maj. Markham and others, until the volunteers were relieved by the regulars in 1865. I personally knew each and every officer in command and there never was such an officer as Capt. Hall in command and Chief Moo-zoo-mauneo never came to the relief of Fort Ridgely nor did he ever see Fort Ridgely at that or any other time. Had he done so or tried to do so, he and his band would have been killed by the Sioux, for the Sioux and Chippewas were at war at that time and the Chippewas did not dare to come to that part of the country. We lived in that part of the state from 1855 to 1875 and we never knew or heard of a Chippewa Indian daring to come anywhere near us, except at the time the Chippewas came to Shakopee and engaged the Sioux in battle. The Sioux whipped the Chippewas at that time and that was the last time that any Chippewa ever came into that part of the country until within recent years. Any old settler of that part of the state will corroborate all that I have said. There are quite a number of people living who were either defenders of the fort or who were within its walls for safety who remember the events as I have given them herein, and I will be very glad to furnish their names and present addresses.

Rendezvous for Militia.

"I have been urging the reconstruction of the old fort for the purpose of keeping its memory alive and in order that future generations may become acquainted with its history and also as a rendezvous for the state militia and the regular troops when they meet for their maneuvers, as they do at Sparta, in the state of Wisconsin. The state's present meeting place—Lake City—is too far to one side of the state, while Fort Ridgely is located close to the center, is accessible, healthful and beautiful. It is the most sightly place in the state. Its history should be commemorated. The state has but few historical spots. If our sister states had any place like Fort Ridgely to preserve they would lose no time in taking the necessary and proper steps to do so. Our own state has made two appropriations toward the project, as above outlined. One of $5,000 and one of $7,500, both of which appropriations, I understand, have been used in the purchase of a part of the land formerly occupied by the fort and the land surrounding it which was used for drill purposes. But the park board has not had money enough to acquire all of the land necessary for the purpose, and fully as much more should be purchased in order to have plenty of room for the maneuvers, and then a large appropriation should be made for the purpose of reconstructing the fort as it was originally. I have a blue print showing the size and location of the buildings as they were at the time of the Indian battles. I also have an old photograph of the fort. This photograph is taken from a drawing, in India ink, made by one of the army officers while he was stationed there. With the aid of the blue print and the photo the state should be enabled to rebuild and reproduce the fort. But it should be built of concrete, thus making the buildings fireproof and lasting. I have already spent a great deal of time and some money on the project, and my only interest is that of sentiment and a desire to see the spot preserved and its memory 'kept green.' I do not own any property in that part of the state and do not know the names of those who might have property near or adjoining. I hope the people living in that part of the state will assist, every one of them, in bringing about the successful completion of the work already begun. I will do all I can, but I must have help, and certainly those living near there should be interested.

Need Appropriation.

"An additional appropriation should be asked for at the meeting of the legislature this winter and the work of reconstruction commenced as early next spring as possible, in order to have the fort in readiness by the time the state lease expires for the Lake City grounds, which will be in about six years from the present time. As I said before, more ground should be purchased and the construction of the buildings begun.

"But coming back to the original subject, that 'Moo-zoo' monument has no business in the cemetery at Fort Ridgely, because it creates a false impression and depreciates the honor of those who defended the fort and whose bodies have found their last resting place within the limits of the same cemetery. It is not just! It is not right! And it is a fraud, pure and simple, and it should be removed without delay. It destroys history, because the story that the monument stands for is false. I can prove all that I have said in this letter as to the falsity of the story published in some of the newspapers relative to 'Moo-zoo' and his services during the Sioux massacre. As I said before, there may have been such an Indian as Moo-zoo-maunee, but he was not known to us. We, however, heard of Hole-in-the-day very often. He was the head chief of the Chippewas, but took no part in the Sioux war, either for or against the whites. He and his tribe remained neutral. There is no reason on earth for the erection of a monument to 'Moo-zoo' or any other Indian chief at Fort Ridgely or anywhere else within the confines of the state of Minnesota, and I trust that the proper steps to correct the mistake may be taken by those who are responsible for it. Yours very truly,

"O. H. CLARKE.

"A resident of Fort Ridgely from 1861 to 1873, now Duluth, Minn."

Mr. Randall's Letter.

Mr. Randall's letter to Mr. Clark follows:

"I have yours of the 23rd instant. It is hard enough to get history right when the motive in honest, and we should by all means avoid the perpetration of a fraud on the people who come after us.

"Now as to my position relative to the monument to the Chippewa chief at the fort. I don't know of any facts that would warrant the erection of that monument. I have heard that the Sioux hoped that the Chippewas would join in the outbreak and that they were disappointed that the thing did not come about according to their desire. The Sioux surely led off, and afforded the Chippewas an opportunity, but I do not know that direct overtures were made, or could be made, between the tribes. I don't know that their relations were such that they get into contact except in a hostile way. I know that they were hereditary foes.

"Unless I have forgotten no one ever told me of any debt that we owed the Chippewas, except that they kept out of the massacre until the agitation occurred for the monument and then I was told that a Chippewa chief got together about 100 of his braves and offered them in the service of the whites. I was formerly personally acquainted with Charles S. Bryant, Dr. Williamson and others who were familiar with the Indian situation, not to mention my father, and I cannot recall that any of them ever told me of the friendship of the Chippewas for the whites at that time, except to the extent that they refrained from taking part in the war that the Sioux waged. I am free to say that I was much disappointed in the lack of historical data presented at the time of the dedication, according to the press reports of that ceremony.

Chippewas Did Not Aid.

"I thought that definite and satisfactory evidence would then be offered, setting out in a convincing way the friendship of the Chippewa chief and his people. I hoped so. I wished to know that it was true, but it seemed to me that a very unsatisfactory showing was made. According to my belief this much is clearly true, viz: That no Chippewa came to the relief of Fort Ridgeley or of any other place, and that the Chippewas took no part in any activities of any kind, either hostile or friendly, in any part of the Sioux territory. What they may have done in their own territory to show their interest on either side I do not know.

"If a monument was to be erected it should have been placed nearer to the acts it was to commemorate than Fort Ridgeley was. The fort was in distinctively Sioux territory, and no Chippewa was ever safe there for a moment except under the protection of the military. If others feel as you and I do, why not have the evidence submitted to some impartial tribunal to determine the exact facts?

"The legislature could authorize the inquiry, but is not a proper body to conduct it, as is evidenced by the fact that it authorized the erection of the monument to perpetuate the memory of alleged facts which are not admitted. The inquiry should have preceded the vote of the appropriation for the shaft. That was not done, but it can be done now. I hope that it may yet be made to appear that the monument was deserved, and those who proposed it owe it to the state and to history to join with others in demonstrating the fact and it should be done without loss of time.

"If that is not done, and the legislature does not move in the matter, those, like Dr. Daniels and others who honestly and intelligently protest, should make a permanent record of their protest in the office and records of the Minnesota Historical society and perhaps in other places of safe record. You may not know it, but Mr. Daniels served among the Chippewas at Long Prairie before he served among the Sioux at the Lorner agency and knew both tribes.

Respect must be paid to the efficacy of the diet that fed and built strength so colossal.

Note:—By analysis, one quart of beer contains from 46 to 124 grains of albumen, nutritious salts, including phosphate, and a large proportion of extract of malt. English physicians generally, accepting the formula of Anstie, make a moderate quantity of beer per diem about 4 glasses, or one quart.

Fitger Natural Beer, filtered by the Kieselguhr filter, has the wonderful natural taste and aroma of the finest beer as drawn from the wood.

The Fitger Kieselguhr Filter (first of its kind in America) takes the place of pasteurization, the process used by other brewers for "keeping" bottled beer.

Pasteurization does not preserve the natural taste of beer. Kieselguhr filtration is the only known way to "keep" beer in bottles and preserve its natural taste. For this reason all brewers will in time use Kieselguhr filtration.

Kieselguhr filtration makes Fitger Natural Beer the clearest, most brilliant beer in America.

FARM HOUSE USED BY GERMAN SPY

Mystery Cleared Up Finally By French Infantry Captain.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Feb. 16.—The mystery of a lone farm house, which stood for months undamaged on a conspicuous knoll in the very heart of the battle zone, near Roye, with nothing but ruins all about it, has just been cleared up by a French infantry captain.

From this building the French watched the operations of the Germans in their trenches a quarter of a mile distant. They expected every day to become the target of the German artillery, which played all around and even demolished the hut of an old peasant woman only 100 yards away. Every morning at dawn they crept up to the place from the rear and took their observations. A peasant farther back of the lines suggested that the owner of the farm had paid the Germans a round sum to spare his property and this explanation prevailed for some time.

One morning as the French approached the place they were met by the peasant woman whose hut had been demolished and who had taken refuge in the cellar of the farm house.

"A spy came last night into the garret of the farm house," she declared, "and he made illuminated signals to the Germans from the window." The French officers could not believe it.

The next day and the next the old peasant declared positively that she had again seen the man come and had seen the light shining from the window. "A spy couldn't possibly slip through our line of pickets," the officer insisted.

The following morning the woman asked the officer to take particular notice of the stairs leading to the garret. In a thin coating of ashes that she had spread over the steps a man's footprints were unmistakably outlined. "We'll see about that tonight," said the captain.

Instead of returning to the French lines after completing their day's observations the detachment concealed itself in bushes around the house and watched the garret window. At 11 o'clock though they had seen no one enter the building, lights appeared in the window and the captain ordered a rush upon the stairway. At the same time a heavy body dropped to the ground on the other side.

The Germans had tolerated the use of the house by the French during the day in order to utilize it themselves at night. A complete signaling apparatus was found, but the spy, who knew the place better than the French, seemingly, had made good his escape.

REORGANIZATION OF CUBAN ARMY

Extinction of the Famous Rural Guard as Separate Corps.

Havana, March 5.—The long studied plan for the reorganization of the Cuban army, by which its efficiency will be increased, is now going into operation. The most important feature is the extinction, as a separate corps, of the famous Rural Guard. This corps was organized as a mounted constabulary force by Col. Hubert Slocum of the United States army and based on the fine body of men known as the Guardia Civil of the days of the Spanish domination.

The Rurales will be merged in the cavalry of the regular army, which will be composed of six full regiments, armed and equipped on the model of the United States cavalry, of which five regiments will be assigned to service as rural constabulary and one to regular military duty, to be stationed in all probability at Havana.

The number of infantry regiments will be reduced from two to one, to be stationed in garrison at Camp Columbia. The artillery will consist of one regiment, including batteries of field and mountain guns and a corps of coast defense artillery, which will also be trained as infantry. The machine gun force, which has hitherto been a separate organization, will be divided into squads to be attached to the various cavalry and infantry units in accordance with modern practice. There will also be a general staff and the customary staff corps.

The whole force will aggregate somewhat more than 10,000 men of all arms and the president, for the first time, becomes the commander-in-chief of the forces on land and sea. Maj.-Gen. Mendieta will be the immediate commander of the army and under him Brig.-Gen. Avalos, for many years commander of the Rural Guard and generally esteemed by American officers who have served here as the best soldier in Cuba. Plans are also in contemplation for the formation of a reserve force, and reorganization of the navy.

The placing of the national forces on a strong footing meets with the general approval of Cubans. Some fears were entertained that in event of the United States being drawn into the European conflict Cuba might not be able to hold aloof and that an attempt might be made by some European power to violate her neutrality. For the same reason interest is reviving in the long protracted negotiations for the cession to the United States of certain lands in the vicinity of Guantanamo bay, which are supposed to be essential to the effective fortification of the naval station.

For the moment there is a lull in political activities. The Conservatives find that President Menocal is holding fast to his oft-repeated declaration that under no circumstances can he be persuaded to accept another nomination. In the event of Former President Jose Miguel Gomez becoming a candidate the remarkable prediction is made that all past difference between him and his former vice president will be buried and that Dr. Alfredo Zayas will again be his running mate. Gen. Gomez will soon give a reception to mark the opening of his new palace on the Prado which excites great interest on account of rumors that it will be made the occasion of a declaration of his intentions in regard to the presidency.

BRITISH PENSION PLAN TO BE COSTLY.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 18.—The new British pension plan will cost the government nearly $1,725,000,000 before the last pensioner dies, according to acturaries employed by the non-partisan committee which prepared the plan at the order of the house of commons.

The maximum expenditure the first year, the committee reports, will be about $280,000,000, and the cost during the first year after the war will reach $65,000,000.

These figures are based on an army of 3,000,000 men, a two-years' war, and 10 per cent of deaths with 12 per cent of disablement.

CORRECTING THE MISTAKES OF THE LITTLE BLIND GOD

District Court Divorce Mill Turns Out Periodical Grist —Judges Listen to Stories of Infidelity, Cruelty, Drunkenness and Desertion.

Denying the paternity of his wife's youngest child and accusing her of betraying her trust as his life companion, Ole Foseide came into district court today and related a story of infidelity which entitled him to a divorce from Gurnine Foseide. He sued on the grounds of adultery.

Mrs. Foseide did not appear in court to contest the case, although she had previously employed an attorney and had filed an answer in which she admitted her transgressions but declared that her husband had been informed of them by her and that he had freely forgiven and had condoned her actions.

Foseide came to this country from Norway seven years ago. Last summer he sent for her and their two children. She left the children in the old country and came to the United States alone, joining her husband here last summer. Her youngest child was born last October.

When Foseide knew that his wife was about to become a mother, he refused to live with her any longer and after the child had been born started divorce proceeding. In her answer she claimed that she advised Foseide of her wrong and that he forgave her.

The answer which is on file states that during the latter part of 1913, while she was employed as a domestic by one Andes O. Grutesaether at Sturaas, Norway, he "dishonored her, all of which is admitted with shame and repentence."

Judge Fesler granted the divorce and with the provision that Foseide should take care of the children in Norway.

Owing to the illness of the defendant, Malvina C. Cloutier, the contested divorce action brought by Darcy D. Cloutier against his wife was suddenly postponed this morning. Mr. Cloutier failed to show up when Judge Ensign opened court to resume the case this morning and upon the request of Neil D. Beaton, her attorney, the case was adjourned until this afternoon. Cloutier is suing his wife for a decree on the grounds of cruelty. She counter claims the same charge on a cross bill in which she also asks for a separation. Cloutier is under indictment by the November grand jury on a charge of wife abandonment.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Fesler granted a divorce to Caroline Johnson, 26, from Frederick Johnson, 26, to whom she was married at Ronneby, Minn., March 1912. They lived six months at Ronneby and then moved to Duluth, where she was later obliged to earn her own livelihood by taking up employment as a domestic in a restaurant. Johnson deserted her about a year and a half ago. She has one child, a daughter, aged 8 months.

On the ground of habitual drunkeness, Mrs. Ellen Lindstrom, 27, was granted a divorce this morning from John A. Lindstrom, 36. They were married in Duluth, Nov. 1, 1914 and are parents of two sons, Floyd, 8, and Gilbert 9, the custody of whom was awarded to the mother. Mrs. Lindstrom also charged her husband with cruelty.

Judge Fesler this morning granted Annie Dixon, 40, a decree of divorce from John A. Dixon, 42, on the grounds of desertion. They were married Oct. 18, 1910, in this city and three years later he deserted her, she testified.

A decree of divorce was issued this morning to Katri Kahvakka, 22, from Alvin Kahvakka, 39, on the grounds of desertion. The case was tried before the court at the January term but findings were not ordered until today. They were married Oct. 8, 1910 at Thomson, Carlton county. The alleged desertion took place July 23, 1913.

LIFE EXTENSION MUST BE TAUGHT AT SCHOOL

Health Director Webster Declares Education Is Only Solution of Problem; Must Inform Rising Generation.

Life extension can only be accomplished through proper education, declares Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department, in an article on "Life Extension," which will appear in the February number of the Duluth Health Bulletin to be issued next week.

Dr. Webster's article follows:

"The keynote of all this talk about life extension is embraced in the one word, 'education.' For one man or one set of men to accomplish a task of such herculean proportions without organization is impossible. The public must be educated or otherwise the endeavor will fail for lack of intelligent propogandists.

"The question then arises by what method shall this education be accomplished? It is possible by lectures and printed matter to secure the active co-operation of the masses? We are inclined to believe that this method will not make a large impression or a lasting one. We are also inclined to believe an effort to educate the adult population alone is a very vital mistake. The permanent good must come from instilling features which make for long life. We must make it a prominent part of the public school curriculum. We must teach the mothers of the future. The mothers of the next generation have the destiny of this movement in their hands and just in proportion as they are drilled along these lines must the measure of success be anticipated.

"'Live-a-little-longer' movements cannot be separated from contagious disease prevention; in fact a movement of this kind must embrace contagious diseases as an essential feature. Do not let us look upon this movement as the outgrowth of a faddist brain. It is based on a sound scientific basis, on a sound business basis, if you like, which is bound to economize the life of the nation. It seems like an anomalous condition, that, for an illustration of what may be accomplished along these lines, we are forced to look to the breeder of livestock who by virtue of a paternalistic streak in one branch of government, have been supplied with scientific data which enables him to preserve the life and good health of his flocks and herds. A similar attitude as regards the people would have been of untold value to the poor overworked mother, underfed child and harrassed father. We have found that it is useless to look to governments to take the initiative in these movements.

"What shall be the method of procedure? We think an hour once or twice a month should be devoted to the work in the public school. It should have the same standing in the school curriculum that every other branch of study has and made a part of the efficiency record. Just how the teaching of this particular branch may be worked out is a question which may be left in abeyance until preliminaries of inauguration have been fully settled. We believe, from consideration of its importance, a supreme effort should be made to put into effect this measure."

NO FARES IN SIGHT YET

Fire Will Prevent Theater Manager Sending Troupe Home.

Meanwhile Twenty Performers Are in Hard Straits.

After agreeing, as it is claimed, to furnish $700 in fares to the twenty odd members of the Manhattan Musical Comedy company, stranded in Duluth since Monday, W. M. Abrahamson, owner of the Empress theater, informed Ray M. Hughes, attorney for the thespians this morning, that he would be unable to furnish the money.

When the show was closed Monday by Manager Abrahamson, the show troupe, including fourteen chorus girls, was "broke" and the members were unable to pay their fares back to New York, or to provide for themselves until they could get financial aid.

Manager M. J. Knill of the troupe, who stated that the Duluth theatrical man had repudiated a six weeks' contract, started proceedings to recover a portion of the sum he alleged was due him for salaries. At first Manager Abrahamson agreed to furnish the fares back to "good old Broadway."

By a combination of unfortunate circumstances, including the disastrous fire which gutted the Empress theater two hours after he made the agreement, the theatrical man has been placed in a position where he is unable to raise the money, he says.

In the meantime the problem of caring for the troupe has grown in proportions until the thespians now are relying on the good graces of various hotels for their sustenance.

Plans have been started to have a benefit performance for the troupe at the Lyceum or Orpheum theaters tomorrow or Monday, when money will be raised to send the actors and actresses back to their haunts along the Great White way, or at least part way.

BLACK DIAMOND MERCHANT HOPEFUL.

Maurice S. Dessau, a prominent black diamond merchant of New York city, is registered at the Spalding today. Mr. Dessau expressed the belief that business within the next thirty days will undergo a remarkable improvement.

"Many of the factories of the eastern part of the United States are at the present time overrun with war orders," said he. "The increase in the volume of business throughout the country is only a question of time. As the war goes on the orders from abroad will increase. Many prominent business men and close observers of the trend of business, are of the opinion that with the close of the conflict in Europe there will be a flood of orders for the manufacturers and jobbers of the United States."

Mr. Dessau is a well known visitor here, having been making this territory for the past six years or more.

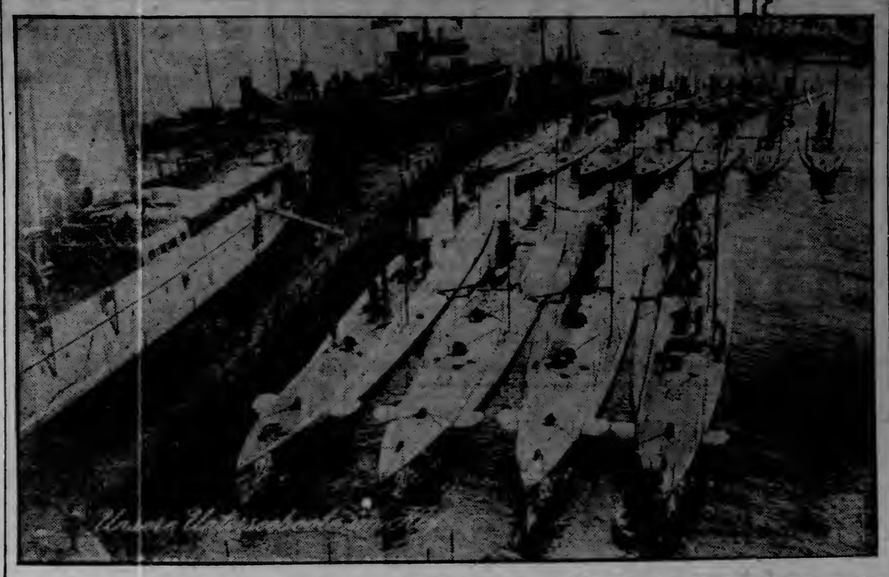
FLOTILLA OF GERMAN SUBMARINES



Reports from English sources say that it is believed in London that Germany has lost many submarines since the war began. As this photograph of a flotilla of German submarines indicates, the German navy has a large number of these craft; but it is believed that only a small proportion of the number can operate at a distance from the home base. If long-distance submarines have been sunk, it would make a difference in the operations Germany is carrying on in the Irish sea. The channel operations can be carried on from points on the Belgian coast with the smaller type of submarine. There is in fact no exact knowledge of the number of the German submarines. A traveler just arrived in New York says that he saw two German submarines with duplicate numbers and heard that all the submarine numbers were duplicated. This would be done possibly for the purpose of concealing the exact number of these craft in the German navy and possibly to confound other governments by operating with the U-16 for example after the U-16 had been reported sunk.

GET READY FOR LAKE BUSINESS

Pittsburg Steamship Company Overhauling Vessels; Owners Wait.

The Pittsburg Steamship company is the first Great Lakes concern to begin overhauling its vessels in preparation for the opening of navigation, and it is likely that other craft in the harbor will soon be put through the same treatment.

The Pittsburg company has only three ships wintering in this harbor. They are the steamer Simon J. Murphy and the barges Manda and Malda, and eight men have been set to work by H. W. Brown painting and overhauling them. The barges are light but the Murphy has coal, and this is now being unloaded at the Missabe coal dock, where the vessels are lying. The present work, it is expected, will take about ten days or two weeks, after which the engineers and their crews will take charge and fix up the machinery.

Vessel owners, as a rule, are waiting for conditions to develop. The prospects for the coming marine season are still in the formative stage, and until something more definite is developed but little work will be done in getting ready for the opening of navigation, for nobody knows, as yet, how many vessels it will pay to operate. The general expectation is rather pessimistic.

The following vessels wintered in the Duluth-Superior harbor:

Ward Ames, Arcturus, J. H. Bartow, H. P. Bope, J. J. Boland, Caldera, Calumet, Joseph Corrigan, A. E. Cornelius, C. A. Congdon, Cygnus, L. R. Davidson, W. B. Davock, G. W. French, L. C. Hanna, M. A. Hanna, F. W. Hart, Charles Hebard, Hemlock, W. L. King, J. T. Kopp, La Belle, William Livingstone, P. McKinney, S. J. Murphy, J. C. Morse, J. G. Munro, Muncy, Northern Queen, North Sea, Odanah, Philbin, Rochester, Joseph Sellwood, Q. A. Shaw, Sinaloa, M. Taylor, A. W. Thompson, E. Y. Townsend, Thomas Walters, Charles Weston, T. H. Wickwire, W. H. Wolf (steel), Manda and Malda.

HONORABLE PEACE.

Social Democrats of Prussia Desire an End to War.

Berlin, March 5, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The Overseas News agency today gave out the following: "The Socialist deputy, Haenisch, speaking in the Prussian diet, expressed the feelings of the Social Democrats, and said that the party desired an honorable peace."

Warroad Man Buried.

Warroad, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hugo Lundbohm died Wednesday morning, after a very short illness. He was 58 years old and had not been in the best of health for a number of years. The funeral was held this afternoon and was conducted by the Masons.

GERMAN SOPRANOS HAVE A LITTLE WAR OF THEIR OWN

There is a battle of the Brunnhildes at the Metropolitan opera house. Madame Gadski, the famous German soprano, who was brought to this country by Damrosch when she was just beginning her operatic career, has made the part of Brunnhilde in "Die Walkure" peculiarly her own for several years. During the time she has been the leading German soprano at the Metropolitan opera house there have been other Brunnhildes, but the Wagnerites have been satisfied with none other than Gadski. This season because of the absence of Mme. Fremstad, who used to sing Sieglinde in the same opera, Gadski has been cast for that part and in the first production of "Die Walkure," Mme. Matzenauer sang Brunnhilde. Then came from the Berlin opera house Frau Melanie Kurt, known to New York only by reputation. She made her debut as Isolde and had a warm reception from the fashionable Monday night audience before which she appeared. Monday is "society night" at the opera, and the audience on that night is not composed of music-lovers. But on the Thursday following, Frau Kurt had an opportunity to sing before an audience which had gathered to hear "Die Walkure" in the cycle of the Ring operas. She sang Brunnhilde while Gadski sang Sieglinde, and she had a fine reception from a sympathetic audience. It is New York's custom to welcome a new singer in a very cordial way, and when the recalls between the acts had brought out all the singers half a dozen times, Mme. Gadski very gracefully gave Frau Kurt the stage alone so that she might receive that generous tribune which New York always gives to the newcomer. It was noted by those present, however, that in the last act which followed, Gadski fairly outdid herself and the voice of Kurt, fresh and sweet and strong as it is, was dominated by that of the more experienced singer. It was probably then that Gatti Casazza, the director of the opera, decided to put on "Die Walkure" with Gadski as Brunnhilde and Kurt as Sieglinde. That evening Mme. Gadski will probably sing the "Hoyotoho" from her rocky height as she never sang it before.

FRENCH STEAMER IN WRONG PORT

Goes Into Ostend and Is Sunk By the Germans.

Berlin, March 5, via wireless to Sayville.—Army headquarters under date of March 4 issued a report saying that a French steamer loaded with ammunition and on her way to Nieuport had gone into Ostend by mistake. Ostend being in the possession of the Germans, the steamer was shelled and sent to the bottom. The wounded members of her crew were saved. The report explains that this mistake of coming into the wrong port was made because the crew on board the steamer were intoxicated.

MARRIAGES IN THE ANIMAL WORLD.

Tit Bits: Surprising though the statement may seem it is a fact, borne out by the careful study of scientists, that practically every form of marriage contract known to men, from free love to the soulmate theory, can be found in the animal world. Male animals even have their bachelor clubs, and that wonderful naturalist Ernest Thompson Seton, has related how little societies of animals are established among deer and antelopes. These societies usually consist of three or four young bucks, which range and feed together in perfect friendship. They are quite happy until some lady deer intrudes. But once a doe joins the herd, good-bye to peace. The brothers fight among themselves while the doe looks on and enjoys the sport, until one of them drives off the others and goes away with her.

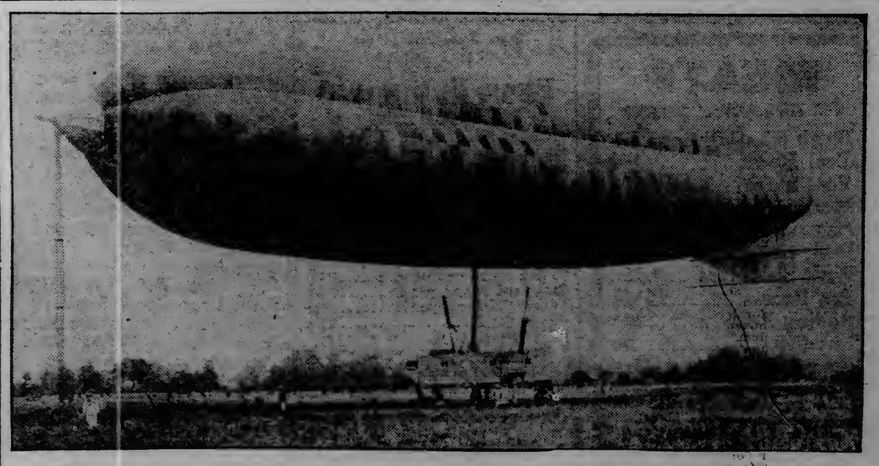
There are four distinct forms of marriage among monogamous animals. The first closely resembles the trial marriage, and is the type represented by the moose. The male selects as she pleases him, and when she no longer charms, he promptly divorces her and finds another mate.

The second type of animal marriage is that which lasts during the breeding season only. Some animals seek their mates again next season, but among rats, rabbits and squirrels the separation is permanent, although among foxes, coyotes and smaller animals the father, who presumably hates the worries of domestic life, usually stays away until the children have been reared and then returns.

The third type of animal marriage is that common among wild geese, pigeons and possibly owls. The union lasts through life, and if one of the pair dies the other never seeks a second mate, but mourns disconsolately until death.

The fourth type of marriage is the nearest approach to the ideal married life, and curiously enough, is found most commonly among wolves. Wolves marry for life, and only the death of one leaves the other free to marry again. Furthermore, there is even a genuine display of chivalry and affection between such animals. It is recorded that two wolves in the London zoo were very jealous of each other and frequently quarreled. One day during an unusually furious dispute the male approached the female angrily as if to bite her, but just as he reached her stopped, as if held back by something within him. The female then approached timidly, gently licked his face and domestic happiness was once more restored.

"ASTRA TORRES" AIRSHIP



This is one of the naval dirigibles belonging to Great Britain which may be heard from in the present crisis with Germany. The Astra Torres was built by the Astra concern in France in 1913. It is a non-rigid airship 77 meters long and its two propellers are driven by two Chenu motors of 200-horse power each. The French government has several of these Astra machines. England has only one. In addition the British navy has one Parseval machine built in Germany; one Willows machine, built by Willows at Cardiff; one Vickers machine, built by Vickers of England, and one Armstrong machine, built at the Armstrong gun works in England. The British army has four dirigibles built at the Royal Aircraft factory.

GRAND OPERA SINGER TAKES PRIZE FOR HER WOLF HOUND

ANNA CASE.

Anna Case is one of the minor sopranos of the Metropolitan Opera company. She is well-known to the concert stage. Incidentally she is a lover of dogs and her Russian wolf hound, "Ranco o' Valley Farm," took first prize at the Westminster Kennel Club show in Madison Square Garden.

A FUDDLED POLITICIAN.

Fred C. Kelly in New York Sun: Senator Miles Poindexter told this one to four other senators the other day, and they laughed as if perhaps the story is new:

Last November the leading bon vivant of a certain town out in Washington state proceeded joyously and faithfully to go in on a larger scale for strong drink than was for his own best interest. His travels then took him to the headquarters of the county Republican committee, where he sat and listened to the election returns. All night long he heard the precinct figures counted off—so many for Hank Hicks and so many for Bill Jones for this or that office. Then he started homeward, steering his course along a street that was rough, as it seemed to him, like a sea.

As one great billow pushed him against the plate-glass front of a restaurant, he glanced at the signs that gave the prices of various food dishes offered in that caravansary. He read:

"Pork and apple sauce, 25. Ham and eggs, 35."

"Hurrah for ham and eggs!" shouted our hero as he continued on his way.

FAMOUS POISONERS OF ROME.

London Chronicle: Tofania, the Italian woman poisoner of the seventeenth century, was carrying on a tradition of ancient Rome. In 331 B. C. a supposed pestilence swept the city, and many leading men were carried off. Then a slave girl gave information, and the authorities surprised twenty Roman matrons preparing drugs over a fire. Since they insisted that the drugs were not poisonous, they were compelled to drink them in the Forum, and all perished. Further information having been laid, 170 matrons were condemned. In 184 B. C. a four months' inquiry by the praetor resulted in the condemnation of 2,000 persons for poisoning. There were many similar scandals, but it will always remain doubtful whether in any particular one of these ancient cases the epidemic was not really natural.

ITALY'S WONDERFUL DEVELOPMENT.

Baltimore American: Italy has shown a wonderful commercial development within the last twenty-five years, and during that period has nearly doubled both its imports and exports. This is all the more remarkable when it is considered that during that period, from a purely agricultural country it has largely become commercial. This is demonstrated by the yearly increase in the importation of raw materials.

WHAT AUTHORITIES SAY ABOUT PASTEURIZED MILK:

Dr. M. J. Rosenau, Professor of Preventive Medicine and Hygiene, Harvard University, formerly Director of Hygienic Laboratory U. S. Public Health Service, says in the book "The Milk Question"—"Raw milk is apt to be dangerous milk. PASTEURIZATION is our only safeguard against certain of the dangers conveyed in milk."

George Lloyd Magruder, A. M. M. D. Washington, D. C., in his book "The Solution of the Milk Problem," says "Milk under the guise of its innocent white color often hides the presence of dangerous germs." He further says, "Safe milk saves babies and diminishes the prevalence of tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, septic sore throat, and other diseases. * * * Milk should be clean, cold and PROPERLY PASTEURIZED."

Creamettes

Builds Sturdy Bodies

SOME mothers feed their children Creamettes three times a day. This new more tender macaroni product is the ideal substitute for meat.

The ordinary macaroni, as you know, takes from 30 to 35 minutes to cook. Creamettes cooks to a delicious tenderness in from 5 to 8 minutes.

Creamettes is made from the creamy parts of Durum wheat and has a rich new flavor all its own.

Try it with cheese, with ham, with tomatoes, with bacon, or with nuts.

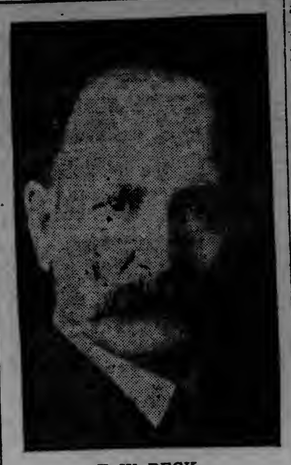
MEETING FOR WEST DULUTH BOYS



E. W. PECK.

The first of a series of Sunday afternoon meetings to be held under the auspices of the extension department of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will be held Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the Grand Avenue theater, 5505 Grand avenue. The address will be given by E. W. Peck of Minneapolis.

All West Duluth boys over 12 years of age are invited to attend the meeting. The program will include in addition to the principal address by Mr. Peck, a vocal solo by J. R. Batchelor, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., and instrumental music by Jackson's orchestra. Stereopticon pictures showing activities at Camp Miller will also be shown by N. D. McLeod, who has had charge of the camping expeditions.

WILL HEAR REPORT FROM DELEGATES.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club will listen this evening to a report of its delegation that attended the anti-county division bill at the hearing before the committee in St. Paul held Wednesday. W. A. Pond, president of the club, W. B. Getchell, H. H. Phelps, Thomas Olafson and M. J. Murray, who represented the organization, have returned from the capital.

The club will also further discuss the possibility of getting part of Superior street and Oneota street paved this year. Members of the club have recommended that this work be carried out by the city as far as possible, and in a recent conference with city officials, a committee from the club was promised that the thoroughfare would be paved as far west as Thirty-ninth avenue.

Fire in Incline Car.

An overheated stove in the incline car of the Duluth Belt Line Railway company caused about $15 damage to the car shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. The destruction of the entire car was only prevented by the prompt arrival of the fire equipment from department No. 8. The fire damage was not enough to prevent the car from being operated on schedule time to the Bay View Heights.

Royal League Entertains.

Members of the Royal League lodges of West Duluth will be entertained Tuesday evening at another of its semi-monthly socials for its members at the West Duluth Commercial clubrooms. The members of the committee in charge are Mrs. George L. Hise, Mrs. William Dunn and Mrs. Frank Winkle.

The society will also complete plans for a Royal League night at the Lyceum theater on Monday evening, March 15. The West Duluth and Pocahontas councils have taken over that evening. "Life's Shop Window," a show that will make its first appearance in Duluth that week, will be put on by the Baldwin Players.

"CO-ORDINATE PATERNALISM"

Health Inspector Commends Playground and Recreational Activities.

Dr. I. J. Murphy, assistant health director and editor of the "Health Bulletin," published monthly by the health department, in an article this month on "Co-ordinate Paternalism," urges systematized and unified playground and recreational activities and commends those Duluthians, who are behind the work of the field secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, who is now in Duluth outlining an all-year system of play. The Bulletin will be issued next week.

In addition Dr. Murphy makes several suggestions for this all-year program, also mentioning that there is very little competitive athletics in high schools of Duluth.

Dr. Murphy's article follows in part:

"In the April, 1914, number of this publication we emphasized a few of the possible public health features of the social center movement. The present survey of Duluth's social center and recreative facilities by an expert from the Playground and Recreation Association of America stimulates our interest in this subject. Playgrounds and social centers have long ago passed the experimental stage in Duluth. Arguments for their need being out of consideration it is indeed timely to consider how best to unify, systematize and co-ordinate these activities. Public funds derived by several avenues of taxation will be called upon to support this comparatively new social need. Carefully mapped out working plans can so eliminate and co-ordinate the various phases of this work that there need be a minimum waste of public money.

"The general health of the city, no doubt, will be influenced most by the educational and recreative opportunities afforded by these community centers. Besides there are a number of specific features that will have a direct bearing upon both the individual and the municipal health.

Bathing Places.

"Take for instance a properly conducted, modern public bathing place. Its importance from the health standpoint needs no elaboration in any civilized community. Duluth must and will have one some day. It is time now to begin, at least in a small way, to equip an up to date public bath. Such a place will at least keep the small boys from the typhoid polluted water of the bay.

"Next in importance, perhaps, is the opportunity of utilizing the play instinct in education. This feature in a small degree is now utilized in an incoordinate way in gymnastics, folk dancing, gardening, domestic science, etc. The educational possibilities of play have been most favorably demonstrated at various special schools for tuberculosis children.

"There is another sadly neglected form of play in which most pupils and in particular those of high school age participate. We refer to competitive athletics. Competitive athletics whether in team or individual play unless properly supervised are productive of great harm. Before any boy is allowed to register for this form of play a competent medical examiner should pass upon his physical fitness. Then before he be allowed to participate in any strenuous game he should be hardened for the occasion by systematized training. Thus only can immediate injury be prevented and the subsequent development of permanent damage be warded off.

"On the other hand for those physically handicapped, properly graded and individualized physical training will overcome anatomic defects and strengthen organic weaknesses. After a little individual coaching these defectives can be grouped into classes for regular gymnastics or other physical training. This little play with an opportunity for a sanitary showerbath and an occasional lesson in hygiene will often determine whether the individual is to join the ranks of the defective dependents or the independent producers."

MARKET SLUMPS AGAIN ON SEVERE LIQUIDATION

Wheat Still Breaks With Forced Selling on Foreign News.

Flaxseed Also Turns Easy on Light Demand From Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 5.—The market was firm at the close on better support and covering demand. May wheat closed 1¼c off, and July ¾c off. May durum closed 3c off and July 4c off.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 52¼c; rye unchanged at from 61c to 72c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 61⅞c bid, and July at 61⅞c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.26½ and calls at $1.30⅞.

Bears got action in the wheat market again today. Prices broke to the extent of 2c around the opening as a result of liquidation precipitated by lower Liverpool and Argentine cables and further news coming out regarding progress being made by the allies in battering their way through the Dardanelles.

Winnipeg set the lead in a slumping way, the break there amounting to 4c a bu. Good buying by exporters in which a Duluth house participated, brought about a moderate reaction. Prices similarly firmed up on the Duluth board, though no working of any outside trade was reported.

There were intimations from Chicago this morning to the effect that Liverpool had sold some round lots of wheat there at the start, and that cables have been received intimating that British operators are looking forward to imports of Russian wheat at an early date.

Commenting upon the situation, a Duluth operator pointed out this morning that through a combination of conditions, wheat prices had been boosted up to a figure that made flour very costly to European consumers, and that the forcing of the Dardanelles had therefore been undertaken in earnest much sooner than would otherwise have been the case. How badly some speculative longs have been caught in the wheat market was illustrated in a story told on the local board this morning of a trader who had a profit of 30c a bu in a deal in Chicago July a few weeks ago. He refused to close out, and on the basis of today's quotations, he is now faced with a loss on the transaction.

Clearances for the past week were liberal, being reported at 8,500,000 bu of wheat.

May wheat opened ½c off at $1.37, sold off to $1.35½, and then recovered to $1.36⅜ at the noon hour. July opened 1¼c off at $1.31½, broke to $1.30¼, and firmed up to $1.32⅝.

Durum was equally weak. May opened unchanged at 1.43, declined to $1.38½, and then firmed up 1½c. July opened 2c off at $1.40, weakened 3c and firmed up 2c later.

Flaxseed Easy.

Some quiet selling appeared in flax and with limited inquiry from crushers, the market sold off through the session. The trades were in small lots.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.86½ and closed ¼c off at $1.85½ bid. July opened ¼c off at 1.87, and closed 1¼c off at 1.86 bid. September opened ¼c off at $1.86, and closed 1c off at $1.86¼ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.65½ bid, and July at $1.68 bid.

At Minneapolis there was a steady demand for milling wheat at firm comparative prices. Local and country mills were buyers. Country movement is toward Duluth. Mills closed some flour trades on sharp break in wheat yesterday, but no business was put through today. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.33@1.37 and No. 2 northern at from $1.29@1.34½. Stocks of wheat in the elevators there decreased 609,000 bu in the week.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—"Wheat opened under pressure of weak American cables and improved political news. There is a general lack of confidence in prices and spot winters and La Plates are 1 shilling lower. Spot market is weak at 2d to 4d decline. There is a belief here that future offers will be more in line with buyers' views. Argentine offers are large and are pressed for sale, with Indian offers more liberal.

"Corn—Weakness in wheat and favorable weather in Argentina with pressure of spot caused general selling."

Liverpool cargo market was weak today and is lower with corn easy at 3d to 4½d decline.

C. E. Lewis & Co., had the following from New York: "Demand for wheat was large, although some inquiries were in below the market and higher prices were against business. Early sales including overnight business, were reported at about 400,000 bu. The oats business is said to be liberal and more than 600,000 bu were claimed early. It is understood that some corn orders received very late yesterday, at about at the market."

An Argentine cable said: "The sudden abatement of export demand has caused serious apprehension here, and offers were thrown in market at 7½d to 9d lower on India prospects and reports of expected early Russian shipments. CHICAGO MARKET.

Active Buying Rallies Wheat After Sharp Break at Start.

Chicago, March 5.—Active buying on the part of cash houses rallied the wheat market today after a sharp break due to lower prices at Liverpool. It was said heavy offerings of Argentine wheat were being pressed for sale in Europe, but there seemed to be no disposition among domestic rural holders to unload. Favorable weather for the new winter crop, however, had something of a bearish influence. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅝@⅞c decline to ⅝c advance, were followed by a moderate rise all around and then a series of nervous reactions.

At one time the new crop delivery went to the lowest figures yet on the crop. The close was unsettled at the same as last night to 1⅛c down.

Rough weather that promised to lessen receipts gave comparative strength to corn. The market though, felt the unsettling effect of the course of wheat. After opening @⅝c of the top, a shade up, prices hardened a little but later underwent a sag.

A good deal of bearish pressure for a short while resulted from the lack of stability in wheat. The close was nervous at ⅛@¼c under last night.

Oats traders took their cue from corn. Offerings were light after a little rush of selling at the outset.

Higher quotations for hogs carried provisions upgrade. Dispatches telling of detention of Chicago shipments of lard and meats by Great Britain seemed to have no effect on the market.

Chicago, March 5.—Improved demand today from shippers and speculators made the hog market ascend. ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Virtually All Branches of the List Embraced in Rise.

Trading Quiet in Final Dealings But Closing Is Strong.

New York, March 5.—Early prices in today's stock market reflected further uncertainty, gains being offset by losses. In no cases of importance were changes of more than fractional, Union Pacific Southern Pacific, Reading and Atchison selling slightly abouve yesterday's close, while United States Steel, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio were at a standstill. Interborough preferred and American Car rose a point. Missouri, Kansas & Texas preferred fell 3 points to its minimum of 26. The new St. Paul convertible 5 per cent bonds were the strong feature of the bond list.

Prices improved materially toward midday of today's market, although trading became duller. Anthracite issues and Canadian Pacific rose a point or more with advances of as much in some of the industrials, including American Smelting and National lead. Selling of Missouri, Kansas & Texas issues including the bonds was ascribed to foreign sources, Holland being a large holder of these securities. A further decline in grains called renewed attention to the situation in the Dardanelles.

Bonds made further progress with the stock market, some of the recent issues being in especial demand at higher quotations.

Revival of peace rumors gave the list greater breadth and strength in the early afternoon when many standard stocks recorded their best prices of the week. The better inquiry for bonds was a helpful factor.

Substantial gains were registered by today's stock market, the advance embracing virtually all branches of the list.

Trading was more quiet in the final dealings but prices showed no impairment. The closing was strong.

CITY VOTERS MAY AVOID RED TAPE

Names May Be Registered By Filling Out Certificates.

Voters, who will be unable to register either next Tuesday or Saturday, can avoid all the red tape on election day, April 6, by filing certificates at any time now with the city clerk or members of the various election boards.

Special blanks for this purpose are at the office of City Clerk Palmer, and those planning to be out of the city, can have their names entered on the election rolls by filing a certificate of residence between now and Saturday, March 13, the second registration day.

Otherwise, those failing to register next Tuesday and the following Saturday, will be compelled to bring two property holders to the polls on the regular election day to prove their identity as residents of Duluth and in that special election district, before they will be granted a vote.

Next Tuesday voters will be able to register for the spring election, while a second registration day will be held Saturday, March 13. On both these days the polls will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning, until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Up to the present time four candidates have filed for commissioner and four for municipal judge. They are: Commissioner Hicken, Bernard Silberstein, J. A. Farrell and R. E. McFarlane, for the commission, and Judge Windom, John H. Norton, Capt. W. H. Smallwood and M. E. Louisell for judge. Commissioner Murchison, who recently announced his candidacy for re-election, has not yet filed. Candidates have until Monday in which to file their nominations.

"COOK" WILL BE NEXT VILLAGE

Residents of Town of Owen Will Incorporate Township.

"Cook" may be the name of St. Louis county's next village.

Residents in the town of Owen, in 62-18, have started a movement looking toward the incorporation of the village of Cook within the township limits. A petition asking the county board to order a special election for the residents of the territory affected for the purpose of determining whether or not the village shall be created, may be presented tomorrow to the county board.

The county board will hold its regular monthly meeting at the courthouse tomorrow. A large grist of bills will be passed upon and a number of road petitions considered. No matters of more than routine importance are scheduled to come before the board. The commissioners are meeting today as a committee of the whole.

Arrest Former Prison Employe.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—William Carruthers, 40 years old, one time bookkeeper at the state penitentiary at Stillwater, was arrested on a charge of forgery here. He was taken to St. Paul yesterday. Carruthers is said to have passed a forged check for $3 on F. Richelt, proprietor of the Snelling hotel, St. Paul.

Ex-Governor's Son Suicide.

Butte, Mont., March 5.—Edward Smith, aged 35, a well known attorney and son of the former governor, Robert B. Smith, killed himself in the office of a friend where he had gone to say good-by. He placed the barrel of a revolver in his mouth and fired.

Montana Wool Prices Soar.

Dillon, Mont., March 5.—The Dewey Gould company of Boston has purchased three of the largest wool clips in southern Montana, paying 26½ cents, the highest price ever paid in this market. Boston buyers already have taken close to 500,000 pounds of this market's estimated 2,000,000-pound wool crop at not less than 25 cents.

Gogebic Primary Off.

Bessemer, Mich., March 5.—There being only one candidate for county commissioner of schools, Miss Laura Bowden, the board of election commissioners, decided that there would be no primary election in Gogebic county. The board's action meant a saving of about $1,200 to the county.

BEGINNING EARLY.

Stray Stories: "Father," inquired the little brain twister of the family, "when will our little baby brother be able to talk?"

"Oh, when he's about 3, Ethel."

"Why can't he talk now, father?"

"He is only a baby yet, Ethel. Babies can't talk."

"Oh, yes, they can, father," insisted Ethel, "for Job could talk when he was a baby."

"Job! What do you mean?"

"Yes," said Ethel. "Nurse was telling us today that it says in the Bible: 'Job cursed the day he was born.'"

END OF WINTER FINDS ALLIES READY FOR CONCERTED ATTACK ON GERMAN TROOPS IN WEST

OPTIMISM OF THE ALLIES IS UNQUALIFIED

Eager for the Movement Planned By Gen. Joffre and Gen. French.

Fierce Onslaughts By the Germans Withstood Successfully.

Wonderful Recuperative Powers of Russians Excite Much Comment.

London, March 6.—The end of the thirty-first week of the war and the first signs of better weather conditions after a hard winter, find the allied armies in the western theater nearing readiness for that concerted onslaught on the Germans in the preparation of which Gen. Joffre and Field Marshal Sir John French have been doing so much spade work during the last four months.

From the sea through the dunes of Flanders to Arras in France, the British and the Belgian armies appear to have withstood successfully all the attempts of the Germans to break through their lines, while from Arras to the snow-topped ridges of the Vosges the French continue to win slowly forward. This is especially true in the Champagne district, although the skillful German commanders exact a heavy price for every step gained in this section. Here the French hope their efforts soon will result in freeing the city of Reims from the attention of the German howitzers.

Unqualified Optimism.

The unqualified optimism with which, judging from the trend of the comment in the London newspapers today, the approaching gigantic struggle is regarded in Great Britain, France and Russia, can be attributed largely to the remarkable recuperative powers shown by the troops of Emperor Nicholas. These soldiers, in spite of the

BULGARIA SECRETLY MOBILIZES TROOPS

Three Full Army Divisions Now in Neighborhood of Tirnova.

Paris, March 6.—Bulgaria has mobilized secretly three full army divisions in the neighborhood of Tirnova, according to information contained in a Saloniki dispatch to the Havas agency based upon what is said to be reliable authority. The same source is responsible for the statement that the Kostendil division has been sent to an unknown destination. An unnamed officer, high in the Bulgarian army, is quoted as saying:

"These troops will be useful in an advance on Adrianople."

SAW ATTACK ON BIG SHIP

Dutch Liner Witnessed Silent Movements of German Submarine.

Torpedo Hit Steamer Amidships and She Slowly Sank.

New York, March 6.—The attack of a German submarine, silent, unheralded and unexpected, upon a big merchant ship that flew no flag, was witnessed from the bridge of the Dutch liner Ryndam in the North sea, about thirty miles from the British coast, according to Capt. Van Den Huevel of the Ryndam, which reached here today from Rotterdam.

The attack occurred Feb. 24 and the stricken vessel was slowly settling to the bottom as the Ryndam steamed away.

"We heard a muffled explosion," said the Ryndam's captain, "and when we looked a great white cloud of steam and smoke was rising from the ship and slowly spreading over the sea. The steamer had been struck amidships. We stopped immediately and prepared to lower our lifeboats. As they swung out the davits we saw the merchantmen lower her own lifeboats and some of her crew got over the side.

"Then came the vessel's wireless calls for help. In ten minutes, or thereabouts, a British destroyer steamed alongside and began searching rapidly for the submarine. The destroyer signaled that no assistance was needed and advised us to proceed on our way cautiously. This we did.

"The merchantman apparently was sinking when we last saw her."

EFFICIENCY BILL IS FAVORABLY REPORTED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Measure Made Special Order for Afternoon of March 15.

Branch School of Agriculture at Grand Rapids Is Proposed.

Heavy Tax on Future Trading Provided in House Bill.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee on efficiency and economy, Representative Lewis C. Spooner, chairman, this afternoon unanimously recommended for passage the efficiency and economy bill prepared by the commission headed by Charles P. Craig of Duluth. The report was adopted and the bill was made a special order for March 15, at 2 p. m. It is now generally believed that the bill will pass the house, though such action may not be taken Wednesday. The special order may be continued from day to day until the bill is disposed of.

The committee adopted Governor Hammond's suggestion of a limitation on the term of civil service tenure, and provides for a six-year limit, making civil service employes subject to removal for cause at the end of each such period. The salaries of the division directors are fixed at $4,500 each, and the salaries of the principal subordinates at $2,500 to $4,500—about what those holding similar positions get now. The board of control is virtually retained by making the director of public welfare and his two assistants, all at $4,500, correspond to the three members of the board.

BIG COLLEGE DEBATE ENDS IN TRIPLE TIE.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 6.—The annual triangular league college debate between Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania last night resulted in a triple tie. The question was "Resolved, that in view of the present situation the United States should take immediate steps to increase its army and navy." Every team which defended the affirmative lost the decision.

At Philadelphia, Pennsylvania affirmative, lost to Columbia; at Ithaca, Cornell, affirmative, lost to Pennsylvania and at New York, Cornell, negative, won over Columbia.

THIRTY MEN FOUND ALIVE

Rescuing Parties Come Across Miners in Layland Workings.

Men Able to Walk, Although Entombed Since Last Tuesday.

Hinton, W. Va., March 6.—Thirty miners were found alive today in the Layland mine of the New River and Pocahontas Coal company, where they had been entombed since last Tuesday when a gas explosion wrecked one mine and seriously damaged two others. About 170 men as far as could be checked up, were thought to have lost their lives and thus far 78 dead bodies have been taken out.

Hope for any of the remaining miners had been abandoned. This morning rescuers in oxygen helmets came upon an entry of No. 3 mine, which had been bratticed off. Close to the brattice work five men were encountered, alive, but in a weakened condition. These were able to walk from the mine and they reported that nine others were alive not far from where they were found.

The rescuers hastened their efforts and soon came upon more of the living miners who were able to leave the mine unassisted in most cases. When the entry had been explored a total of thirty men had been checked up, all apparently little the worse for their four days entombment, beyond somewhat weakened condition.

All haste is being made to reach the remainder of the unexplored entries in the hope that many others will be found still living.

BUSY ROUNDING UP WITNESSES

Deputy United States Marshals Gathering in 400 for Indianapolis Trials.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Deputy United States marshals were busy today rounding up the more than 400 witnesses which the government will use in the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts of Terre Haute and twenty-seven others charged with conspiring to corrupt the last November election in Terre Haute, which will begin before Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States district court here next Monday. According to United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey, who will be in charge of the prosecution, the trial will last about ten weeks.

The indictment on which Roberts and the others will be tried was returned Dec. 24, 1914, and named 128 Terre Haute and Vigo county officials and others. Of the 126 indicted, 116 were taken in custody and 88 have pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Anderson reserved sentence on the 88, a number of whom will be used as witnesses for the government, until after the completion of the trial. Twenty-seven of the defendants fought the indictment with a demurrer, in which it was contended that the Federal courts had no jurisdiction in the case, but it was overruled by Judge Anderson, and they pleaded not guilty. One other pleaded not guilty.

ASKS FOR MORE MEN FOR THE DARDANELLES.

FIELD BARON VON DER GOLTZ.

Geneva, March 6, via Paris.—A dispatch from Munich says that Field Baron Von Der Goltz, who was sent to Constantinople from Germany to act as the adviser of the Turkish government in military affairs, has telegraphed to the German military headquarters asking for fifty German artillery officers on the ground that they were needed urgently for the defense of the Dardanelles. The field marshal received a laconic reply, the dispatch says, stating that the Germans needed their artillery officers and adding: "Do your best."

ARE HUNTING FOR $120,000

Search Begun in Chicago After Arrest of Two Suspects.

Police Think They Have Men Who Robbed British Columbia Bank.

Chicago, March 6.—Search for the hiding place of a sum supposed to be $120,000, part of the loot in the $317,000 robbery of the branch Bank of Montreal at Westminster, B. C., on Sept. 15, 1911, was begun here today by a score of detectives as a result of the arrest yesterday of two men believed to be the ringleaders in the robbery.

Two men suspected of being members of a gang of five who robbed the branch Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C., Sept. 15, 1911, of $317,000 were arrested here last night after Foreign Diplomatic Corps at Capital to Leave in Body.

Home Governments Notified of Decision of Representatives.

Secretary Bryan Has Received No Word From Gen. Carranza.

Washington, March 6.—The foreign diplomatic corps in Mexico City has decided to leave in a body. Dispatches telling of the decision were received here today by European diplomatists and forwarded to their home governments.

The Mexican situation, topped by this latest development, was admitted in all quarters to be more critical than it has been at any time since Huerta precipitated the landing of troops at Vera Cruz.

Secretary Bryan had received today no word from the latest representations to Carranza against Gen. Obregon's decree in Mexico City and his threat to leave the capital unprotected with water and light plants out of commission and the attendant possibilities of looting and killing. Mr. Bryan said the situation continued to be bad.

Some definite development was expected in diplomatic circles as the result of the decision of the corps of European representatives to leave the Mexican capital. Where the diplomatists would go was the subject of some speculation. Inasmuch as the conditions which are forcing them to leave are being imposed by Carranza's commander, Obregon, it was pointed out

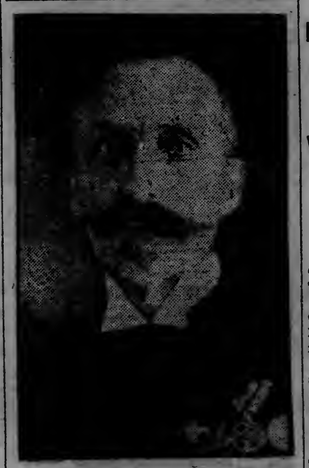
NEED NEW CAPITAL FOR BETTERMENTS.

Chicago, March 6.—More high officials of Western railroads were to be heard before Interstate Commerce Commissioner W. M. Daniels today in support of the claim of the Western roads that higher freight rates are necessary on certain commodities. Benjamin F. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was ready to resume his testimony in which he held that many of the forty-one Western roads which are jointly petitioning for higher rates, are not only unable to pay dividends but are in need of new capital for betterments. James W. Lusk, one of the receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco road, was to follow. After the general argument is completed, the question of rates on the special commodities involved is to be considered in detail.

SELECTED FOR KING OF POLAND WHEN NEEDED



ARCHDUKE STEPHAN.

Archduke Stephan, a member of the imperial family of Austria, is said to have been chosen by the Austrian government with the approval of the German emperor to be king of Poland. It is the plan of the Teutonic allies, according to this report, to reunite the three parts of Poland now under the dominion of Germany, Austria and Russia, and reconstitute the kingdom of Poland.

PASSENGERS ON TOURAINE

Thirty-Eight in Cabin and Forty-Six in the Steerage.

New York, March 6.—When La Touraine sailed away from this port Saturday she had aboard eighty-one passengers, of whom thirty-eight were in the first cabin, the remaining forty-three being in the steerage. The vessel was one of six big liners to leave this port the same day, the sailings being the heaviest recorded here for some time.

At the local offices of the French line it was said this morning that no information regarding La Touraine had been received. Maritime circles, however, received word from abroad that all the passengers and crew were safe, but this information was not confirmed here.

First Cabin List.

Message Received at Queenstown Says the Fire Is "Fierce."

Five Steamers Have Gone to Assistance of Burning Ship.

Vessel Left New York Last Saturday, Bound for Havre, France.

London March 6.—A message from Queenstown says that the fire on La Touraine is "fierce."

The London office of the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, which owns La Touraine, is without special information concerning the vessel.

Aboard the La Touraine when she sailed last Saturday were 4,494 cases of cartridges intended for use in the European war.

Five Steamers to Assistance.

London, March 6.—The steamship La Touraine is afire at latitude 48.06 north and longitude 20.14 west, according to a wireless message received here. Five steamers have gone to the assistance of La Touraine, the message said.

The message telling of the fire was received by Lloyds from the wireless station at Valentia, Ireland. In addition to giving the position of La Touraine, it stated that the steamers Rotterdam, Swanmore, Cornishman, Arabic and others were going to her assistance.

The French liner La Touraine sailed from New York Feb. 27 for Havre. The position given in the message is approximately 1,200 miles west from her port of destination. Among the passengers are five doctors and nine nurses on their way to France to be attached to the new war hospital at the Chateau de Passy, near Sens.

The doctors are Joseph L. Wheelwright, T. C. Walker, W. G. Braddock, A. O. Jiminis and John S. Irwin. The nurses, all of whom are graduates of the French hospital in New York, are the Misses Alma Marie McCormick, Dorothy O'Connell, Eugenia H Lyons, Victoria Franchort, Florence Gordon, Ellen O'Hanlon, Mollie McGrath, Nellie Burdette Parsons and Beda Laurentia Peterson.

La Touraine, a steamer of 3,378 tons, under the command of Capt. Caussin, is one of the older trans-Atlantic liners having been built in 1891. Since she was launched La Touraine has played an interesting part in the history of

AVIATOR ATTACKS POWDER FACTORY

Further Details of Bombardment of German Works at Rottweil.

Paris, March 6.—Further details of the bombarding from an aeroplane of a German powder works at Rottweil, on the Neckar river, the other side of the Black forest, are given in an official note issued in Paris today. This factory is one of the most important powder producing points in Germany. Here is the latest account of the exploit:

"One of our aviators, Capt. Happe, came down to a height only 1,500 yards above this powder factory in order to throw his projectiles with the greatest degree of precision. He thus let fall four melinite bombs, each measuring 900 millimeters. The first landed on an acid reservoir and the other three on the factory itself. The projectile which fell on the acid reservoir caused blue smoke to arise, which the aviator at first thought came from fire directed against himself. Soon after an immense flame shot up from this same point, along with clouds of thick smoke. The smoke reached the height of the aeroplane, that is to say 1,500 yards.

"Capt. Happe remained for ten minutes over the powder works to observe the effects of his efforts. In this way he was able to see that beyond the fire in the factory itself, where three bombs had been thrown, the flames spread to different parts of the building as a result of the explosion of the bomb in the reservoir."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

There were indications in today's cable dispatches that the bombardment of the Dardanelles might bring to a decision the attitude of the Balkan states concerning the war. Bulgaria is said to have mobilized secretly three divisions, or about 36,000 men, and one of these divisions is reported to have been sent to an unknown destination. In Roumania the chamber of deputies is considering the granting of a credit of $40,000,000 to the government for military purposes and the calling to the colors of the 1915 recruits. Greece is awaiting eagerly the decision of the crown council concerning intervention in the war, and an Athens dispatch states that popular feeling is in favor of such a step.

The attack on the Dardanelles forts is proceeding steadily, although it is still a question what it has accomplished. A Paris newspaper states that one-third of the straits has been cleared of mines.

Russia is prosecuting one of the most vigorous offensive movements of the war in the east, extending over the whole front. A Berlin dispatch yesterday admitted the capture by the Russians of Mysyniec, near the Prussian frontier, but in general it is asserted that Russian attacks are being repulsed. Petrograd reports steady progress.

In the west fighting is becoming more general. The battle in Champagne continues with unabated ferocity and there are signs of increasing military activity in Belgium.

EFFICIENCY BILL IS FAVORABLY REPORTED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

WANTS AN AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL AT GRAND RAPIDS

A. M. PETERSON, Representative From Coleraine.

Measure Made Special Order for Afternoon of March 15.

Branch School of Agriculture at Grand Rapids Is Proposed.

Heavy Tax on Future Trading Provided in House Bill.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee on efficiency and economy, Representative Lewis C. Spooner, chairman, this afternoon unanimously recommended for passage the efficiency and economy bill prepared by the commission headed by Charles P. Craig of Duluth. The report was adopted and the bill was made a special order for March 15, at 2 p. m. It is now generally believed that the bill will pass the house, though such action may not be taken Wednesday. The special order may be continued from day to day until the bill is disposed of.

The committee adopted Governor Hammond's suggestion of a limitation on the term of civil service tenure, and provides for a six-year limit, making civil service employes subject to removal for cause at the end of each such period. The salaries of the division directors are fixed at $4,500 each, and the salaries of the principal subordinates at $2,500 to $4,500—about what those holding similar positions get now. The board of control is virtually retained by making the director of public welfare and his two assistants, all at $4,500, correspond to the three members of the board.

BIG COLLEGE DEBATE ENDS IN TRIPLE TIE.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 6.—The annual triangular league college debate between Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania last night resulted in a triple tie. The question was "Resolved, that in view of the present situation the United States should take immediate steps to increase its army and navy." Every team which defended the affirmative lost the decision.

At Philadelphia, Pennsylvania affirmative, lost to Columbia; at Ithaca, Cornell, affirmative, lost to Pennsylvania and at New York, Cornell, negative, won over Columbia.

THIRTY MEN FOUND ALIVE

Rescuing Parties Come Across Miners in Layland Workings.

Men Able to Walk, Although Entombed Since Last Tuesday.

Hinton, W. Va., March 6.—Thirty miners were found alive today in the Layland mine of the New River and Pocahontas Coal company, where they had been entombed since last Tuesday when a gas explosion wrecked one mine and seriously damaged two others. About 170 men as far as could be checked up, were thought to have lost their lives and thus far 78 dead bodies have been taken out.

Hope for any of the remaining miners had been abandoned. This morning rescuers in oxygen helmets came upon an entry of No. 3 mine, which had been bratticed off. Close to the brattice work five men were encountered, alive, but in a weakened condition. These were able to walk from the mine and they reported that nine others were alive not far from where they were found.

The rescuers hastened their efforts and soon came upon more of the living miners who were able to leave the mine unassisted in most cases. When the entry had been explored a total of thirty men had been checked up, all apparently little the worse for their four days entombment, beyond somewhat weakened condition.

All haste is being made to reach the remainder of the unexplored entries in the hope that many others will be found still living.

BUSY ROUNDING UP WITNESSES

Deputy United States Marshals Gathering in 400 for Indianapolis Trials.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Deputy United States marshals were busy today rounding up the more than 400 witnesses which the government will use in the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts of Terre Haute and twenty-seven others charged with conspiring to corrupt the last November election in Terre Haute, which will begin before Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States district court here next Monday. According to United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey, who will be in charge of the prosecution, the trial will last about ten weeks.

The indictment on which Roberts and the others will be tried was returned Dec. 24, 1914, and named 126 Terre Haute and Vigo county officials and others. Of the 126 indicted, 116 were taken in custody and 88 have pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Anderson reserved sentence on the 88, a number of whom will be used as witnesses for the government, until after the completion of the trial. Twenty-seven of the defendants fought the indictment with a demurrer, in which it was contended that the Federal courts had no jurisdiction in the case, but it was overruled by Judge Anderson, and they pleaded not guilty. One other pleaded not guilty.

ASKS FOR MORE MEN FOR THE DARDANELLES

FIELD BARON VON DER GOLTZ.

Geneva, March 6, via Paris.—A dispatch from Munich says that Field Baron Von Der Goltz, who was sent to Constantinople from Germany to act as the adviser of the Turkish government in military affairs, has telegraphed to the German military headquarters asking for fifty German artillery officers on the ground that they were needed urgently for the defense of the Dardanelles. The field marshal received a laconic reply, the dispatch says, stating that the Germans needed their artillery officers and adding: "Do your best."

Foreign Diplomatic Corps at Capital to Leave in Body.

Home Governments Notified of Decision of Representatives.

Secretary Bryan Has Received No Word From Gen. Carranza.

Washington, March 6.—The foreign diplomatic corps in Mexico City has decided to leave in a body. Dispatches telling of the decision were received here today by European diplomatists and forwarded to their home governments.

The Mexican situation, topped by this latest development, was admitted in all quarters to be more critical than it has been at any time since Huerta precipitated the landing of troops at Vera Cruz.

Secretary Bryan had received today no word from the latest representations to Carranza against Gen. Obregon's decree in Mexico City and his threat to leave the capital unprotected with water and light plants out of commission and the attendant possibilities of looting and killing. Mr. Bryan said the situation continued to be bad.

Some definite development was expected in diplomatic circles as the result of the decision of the corps of European representatives to leave the Mexican capital. Where the diplomatists would go was the subject of some speculation. Inasmuch as the conditions which are forcing them to leave are being imposed by Carranza's commander, Obregon, it was pointed out

NEED NEW CAPITAL FOR BETTERMENTS.

Chicago, March 6.—More high officials of Western railroads were to be heard before Interstate Commerce Commissioner W. M. Daniels today in support of the claim of the Western roads that higher freight rates are necessary on certain commodities. Benjamin F. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was ready to resume his testimony in which he held that many of the forty-one Western roads which are jointly petitioning for higher rates, are not only unable to pay dividends but are in need of new capital for betterments. James W. Lusk, one of the receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco road, was to follow. After the general argument is completed, the question of rates on the special commodities involved is to be considered in detail.

Archduke Stephan, a member of the imperial family of Austria, is said to have been chosen by the Austrian government with the approval of the German emperor to be king of Poland. PASSENGERS ON TOURAINE

Thirty-Eight in Cabin and Forty-Six in the Steerage.

Crew of 200 Under Command of Capt. Caussin Mans Ship.

New York, March 6.—When La Touraine sailed away from this port Saturday she had aboard eighty-one passengers, of whom thirty-eight were in the first cabin, the remaining forty-three being in the steerage. The vessel was one of six big liners to leave this port the same day, the sailings being the heaviest recorded here for some time.

At the local offices of the French line it was said this morning that no information regarding La Touraine had been received. Maritime circles, however, received word from abroad that all the passengers and crew were safe, but this information was not confirmed here.

Message Received at Queenstown Says the Fire Is "Fierce."

Five Steamers Have Gone to Assistance of Burning Ship.

Vessel Left New York Last Saturday, Bound for Havre, France.

London, March 6.—A message from Queenstown says that the fire on La Touraine is "fierce."

The London office of the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, which owns La Touraine, is without special information concerning the vessel.

Aboard the La Touraine when she sailed last Saturday were 4,494 cases of cartridges intended for use in the European war.

Five Steamers to Assistance.

London, March 6.—The steamship La Touraine is afire at latitude 48.06 north and longitude 20.14 west, according to a wireless message received here. Five steamers have gone to the assistance of La Touraine, the message said.

The message telling of the fire was received by Lloyds from the wireless station at Valentia, Ireland. In addition to giving the position of La Touraine, it stated that the steamers Rotterdam, Swanmore, Cornishman, Arabic and others were going to her assistance.

The French liner La Touraine sailed from New York Feb. 27 for Havre. The position given in the message is approximately 1,200 miles west from her port of destination. Among the passengers are five doctors and nine nurses on their way to France to be attached to the new war hospital at the Chateau de Passy, near Sens.

The doctors are Joseph L. Wheelwright, T. C. Walker, W. G. Braddock, A. O. Jiminis and John S. Irwin. The nurses, all of whom are graduates of the French hospital in New York, are the Misses Alma Marie McCormick, Dorothy O'Connell, Eugenia H Lyons, Victoria Franchort, Florence Gordon, Ellen O'Hanlon, Mollie McGrath, Nellie Burdette Parsons and Beda Laurentia Peterson.

La Touraine, a steamer of 3,378 tons, under the command of Capt. Caussin, is one of the older trans-Atlantic liners having been built in 1891. Since she was launched La Touraine has played an interesting part in the history of

AVIATOR ATTACKS POWDER FACTORY

Further Details of Bombardment of German Works at Rottweil.

Paris, March 6.—Further details of the bombarding from an aeroplane of a German powder works at Rottweil, on the Neckar river, the other side of the Black forest, are given in an official note issued in Paris today. This factory is one of the most important powder producing points in Germany. Here is the latest account of the exploit:

"One of our aviators, Capt. Happe, came down to a height only 1,500 yards above this powder factory in order to throw his projectiles with the greatest degree of precision. He thus let fall four melinite bombs, each measuring 900 millimeters. The first landed on an acid reservoir and the other three on the factory itself. The projectile which fell on the acid reservoir caused blue smoke to arise, which the aviator at first thought came from fire directed against himself. Soon after an immense flame shot up from this same point, along with clouds of thick smoke. The smoke reached the height of the aeroplane, that is to say 1,500 yards.

"Capt. Happe remained for ten minutes over the powder works to observe the effects of his efforts. In this way he was able to see that beyond the fire in the factory itself, where three bombs had been thrown, the flames spread to different parts of the building as a result of the explosion of the bomb in the reservoir."

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL COMPLETED

Tests Show 133 Pupils Attain 90 Per Cent or More—Work on Senior Class Play Begun—Schiller-Bund Presents School With Picture of Gothe—Freshman Girls Form Debating Society.

The Central high school reports for February were completed and issued this week by Principal Young, and the regular monthly honor roll was announced. A compilation of the number of pupils from each class on each list shows that 133 pupils were especially successful in their February studies. This mark is not as good as some that have been made this year, but that is laid to the fact that the students were just settling into the second semester, and the month of February was rather short. In order to obtain a place in the much-envied "A" honor roll, a pupil must receive marks of 90 or above in at least four studies. Standings of 90 or over in at least three studies gains classification in the "B" honor division. Perhaps the most noticeable achievement of the honor pupils during the school month of February was the record of Forest Hardy, a senior. Although carrying six studies, he was found in a secure position among the few fourth-year "A" honor pupils. A compilation of the number of pupils in each class on each list follows:

The preliminary arrangements for the senior play, one of the most important events of the year on the senior calendar, were completed during the week and the cast was finally chosen. The initial try-outs were held Friday afternoon of the week before, but as almost forty presented themselves as candidates the complete cast was not decided upon until this week. Prof. Lee C. Rasey, the new member of the English department, is conching the young players, and he reports high successes even in such early stages of the work. A definite date has not been determined yet. Last year it was held on April 18 and 19. It is planned to put on the production just as early or possibly earlier this year. The popular drama written by Oliver Goldsmith is to be presented, "She Stoops to Conquer" should prove a drawing card as well as a high success, and it is expected that enough money will be raised to defray the remaining expenses of the Zenith. Those chosen by Mr. Rasey and their assigned parts follow: Miss Hardcastle, Murial Smith; Miss Neville, Margaret Johnson; Mrs. Hardcastle, Vina Walz; maid, Evangeline Trolander; Young Marlow, Robert Zuger; Hastings, Harold Baker; Tony Lumpkin, Irving Grover; Mr. Hardcastle, Reginald Reed; Diggory, Horace Craig; Jeremy, William Harrison; Stingo, Edward Scrivens; servants, Harold Coe, Douglas Moore, Albert Armstrong, Elton Guyer; alehouse frequenters, Ralph McCarthy, Townsend Hoopes, William Harrison, Harold Heim, Stanley Laskey.

The school cadet corps held its regular drill following the close of school Wednesday. This was noticeable for the election of lieutenants. It was decided to organize the boys into two companies, to be known as Company A and Company B. At the drill Wednesday a first and second lieutenant for each group was chosen. Kenneth Jones and Willard Thorp were selected as first and second lieutenants, respectively for Company A. Irving Grover was elected to the position of first lieutenant for Company B and Galen Pierson was chosen as a second. All of these officers are especially capable and should make good leaders. The boys all appeared well pleased with the result of the election and much enthusiasm for future work was evidenced. A school for officers will be conducted by C. C. Jones and the young leaders will soon be able to assist in the drilling. The question of securing rifles will be taken up with Congressman Clarence B. Miller by Mr. Jones and it is expected that these may soon be secured. Drill will now be held twice a week, possibly in the evenings, the two companies alternating in dates.

During the chapel period yesterday morning Willard Thorp, in behalf of the Schiller bund, the school German organization, presented the school with a large and especially attractive picture of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, the celebrated German author. The presentation was intended as a small token in honor of the great writer, who, essentially German, occupies a position in German literature quite similar to that retained by Shakespeare among the English writers. He died eighty-three years ago, and since then many fine monuments have been erected to his memory.

The fifth debating society of Central high school was organized at a meeting of freshman girls interested in this field, Wednesday afternoon. Agnes Ewell was chosen for the position of president; Myrna Ebert, treasurer, and Anne McEwen, secretary.

Debating and other literary work will be carried on throughout the year. It is planned to challenge the Forum, the freshman boys' society, to a debate some time later in the year. The literary societies now active at Central are: The Stump, the Athenaeum, the Delphian, the Forum and the new girls' organization.

The school debating team was to have traveled to Cloquet last night to match arguments with a team representing the lumber town high school. The affair, however, was postponed, and will be held later in the year. Because of general dissatisfaction with the state league question, the proposition for the debate to have been held last night was changed to: "Resolved, That the United States defensive armament is inadequate and should be substantially increased." Central was to have upheld the affirmative. Because of the popularity of this subject at present, the same question will undoubtedly be used when the two teams finally agree to meet.

Next Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Agricultural club, Prof. E. P. Gibson will give an illustrated talk on the types of cattle. This will be the first of a series of lectures and talks, which will hereafter feature weekly club meetings throughout the second semester and it is believed that a large number of students will avail themselves of the opportunity and be present at the meetings. President Troyer intends to make the club even more active than ever, if such a thing is possible, and it is expected that noticeable results will be accomplished during the remainder of the year.

FASHIONS TO BE COLONIAL

Fluffy Ruffles and the Military Styles Will Be in Vogue.

Business Revival in the East Heads This Way, Says Gray.

"Colonial America has been the inspiration for the advanced styles in spring dresses and gowns, from the fluffy, ruffled frock to the plainer little garments, all of which are very full. However, in coats and suits the military models prevail."

In this way George A. Gray gave a forecast of what Duluth women will be wearing this coming summer. Mr. Gray has just returned from New York and other Eastern fashion centers.

"The colonial is to gowns and frocks what the military is to suits and coats. These two rules of fashion should govern spring buying," said Mr. Gray.

"Business conditions are improving rapidly in the East, while the future holds nothing but bright prospects."

In New York city alone, said Mr. Gray, building statistics are showing a most decided rally over a disastrous slump last fall. The steel industry is now working 50 per cent capacity in place of a 20 per cent, while similar improvement in other lines tends to forecast a bright future for the business world this coming spring and summer.

Mr. Gray, in speaking of the manufacture of certain dyestuffs formerly imported from Germany, said that, in his opinion, American manufacturers will not undertake this work, but will continue to depend on the Teuton, as in the past.

"I was told while in New York," said Mr. Gray, "that the Standard Oil company went very thoroughly into the question of manufacturing aniline dyes, but decided against it. Even with a largely reduced output, German manufacturers will be able to keep the American market supplied, as America is now practically her only large customer."

Regarding styles, Mr. Gray said that this was to be a "white and black" season, everything being in white, with touches of black to give contrast.

THIRD OF STRAITS CLEARED OF MINES

Paris, March 6.—The Dardanelles now has been cleared of mines as far as Chanak Kalesi, about a third of the distance through the straits, says a Tenedos dispatch to the Petit Parisien dated March 5. The mine workers are working under the protection of the allied warships, which are keeping up a steady bombardment of the forts on the European side.

EUROPE'S WAR IN THE "MOVIES"

Thrilling Battle Scenes Will Be Shown at the Orpheum.

The first opportunity ever given Duluth people and those of the surrounding towns to see the great war now raging in Europe by means of moving pictures will be given at the Orpheum theater.

This great exhibition will be first seen next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The exhibition will continue the remainder of the week, beginning at 1, 2:30, 4, 6:30, 8 and 9 p. m., making six opportunities each day and night to see this marvelous portrayal of the thrilling scenes of the greatest conflict in the world's history.

In these pictures, in which scenes of the war are brought to Duluth, there is more than 5,000 feet of film, which was obtained at great expense and great danger to the daring photographer who snapped his camera on the battlefields during the most terrible battles ever known. The danger through which the camera man passed is not, of course, shown, but that he faced death will be shown from the manner in which he reproduces the horrors of the war now ravaging a great portion of Europe.

The best war pictures have been daily produced in the columns of The Herald and now comes the greatest accomplishment yet, the moving pictures of the war.

In these pictures there will be shown the complete lesson of what a modern war will do and is doing for some of the oldest nations of the world. One shell from a modern German, French or English gun may undo the work of centuries, as will be shown in the pictures depicting the destruction of ancient and world famous buildings and monuments.

The pictures are so realistic that the spectator may well imagine that he has been whisked away to the scenes of battle and carnage, among the bursting shells, the burning villages and cities, the charging of regiments of infantry and the troops of cavalry and see the terror-stricken non-combatants fleeing from their ruined and burning homes. All that will be missing will be the thunder of the guns, the crack of the rifles, the crash of falling buildings and the roar of the flames as they lick up buildings and homes.

No censor passed on them. They are represented in all the awful truth of historical accuracy and the first real glimpse of this great war has no parallel.

Monday—the First Advance Spring Showing of Women's Wooltex Tailored Suits and Coats

Ready for Women who like to be First to Wear the New Fashions

MONDAY we will present the most interesting advance collection of women's Wooltex tailored suits and coats that we have ever shown.

We have planned this display to meet the desires of the many fashionable women who are always eager to take advantage of the opportunity to secure the handsome spring styles at the first moment when winter apparel can be set aside.

Every garment in the collection has been selected for its graceful style; its refinement; the beauty of its fabric and the superlative manner in which it is made.

The new suits have many charming original features. The models this season are more conservative because the war abroad has subdued fashions everywhere. The military influence is apparent in some of them. Never in the past have the lines of the garments shown greater art on the part of the designers.

Wooltex garments are absolutely correct in style, but no extreme effects are presented. The fabrics are unusually beautiful and there is a wide representation of the new sand and putty colorings, with new blues and other desirable dark colorings. The simplicity of the models gives exceptional effectiveness to the superb tailoring that is a characteristic of Wooltex suits and coats.

Note the Garments Illustrated

The group of garments illustrated gives an excellent representation of the new styles that are shown Monday.

The collars are a distinct feature of the present season's styles. Rolling collars are the rule, some of them adapted from the coats of military officers; some in quite definite Robespierre style. Some show bands in bright colorings under the roll of the collar. Practically all of the coats have detachable pique or lingerie collars laid over the cloth collars.

Most of the coats have set-in sleeves. The garments are tailored with more seams than last year and show graceful flares at the bottom of the coats, produced by means of the in-set godets at the sides of the coats below the waist-line, which give the extra width and also assure the smart wing-like flare.

Pleats and Belts on Coats

Many of the coats are pleated in soft folds frequently held down by belts or partial belt effect. Some of the coats have slightly raised waist-lines; on others the line is carried far below the waist.

Many charming pocket effects are produced in both coats and skirts. This is a feature seen in the latest suits brought from Paris.

The pockets are useful as well as decorative.

Many Artistic Styles in both Suits and Coats at

$25.00 $30.00 $35.00

We cordially invite all women interested in spring apparel and especially those who know the superior qualities of Wooltex garments to visit our store Monday and during the coming week to view this charming collection.

NORTH DAKOTA LEGISLATURE

Session Ends—Sum of $60,000 Appropriated for Immigration.

Bismarck, N. D., March 6.—The fourteenth North Dakota legislature adjourned sine die last night. The immigration bill, carrying $60,000, and amended in the house in such a manner as to add the attorney general and secretary of state to the immigration board, was concurred in by the senate.

Terminal elevator troubles were brought to an end in the senate when that body receded from its amendments with respect to an appropriation for continuing the creation of an elevator fund and substituting the original appropriation of $2,000 for an investigation. The senate had amended the bill to provide $38,500 appropriation to become part of the fund for construction purposes.

Torson's bill, relative to the sale of the state's trolley line in Bismarck, was killed in the house. As originally introduced, the bill fixed the minimum amount for which the line might be sold at $18,000. This feature was eliminated in the senate, and Torson, declaring the bill was thus made vicious in its nature, asked for its postponement. His motion prevailed without debate.

The proposed establishment of a single tax commissioner to displace the present three-man tax commissio. failed by a single vote after a bitter fight, the vote being 56 to 54. The measure lacked one of the constitutional majority.

MISSOURI NORMAL SCHOOL IS BURNED

Warrensburg, Mo., March 6.—The Warrensburg state normal school here was destroyed by fire early today.

With the exception of the University of Missouri, the Warrensburg state normal school was the largest of the state educational institutions, having 2,000 students enrolled.

The flames, originating in the laboratory of the science hall, quickly swept through the administration building. The manual arts building and the Dockery gymnasium, which were apart from the other buildings, were saved.

While the fire was still burning a mass meeting of citizens decided to commandeer every church building, hall and public school in the city that the regular sessions of the school may be continued.

WROTE "E" IN ODD WAY

Led to the Arrest of Louis Byers, Former Fireman.

Is Accused of Drawing Paycheck of Another Member of Force.

His peculiar method of writing a capital "E" may mean ten years in the state penitentiary for Louis E. Byers, age 23, formerly a Duluth fireman, who was arrested last night on a charge of forgery in the second degree. He waived examination in municipal court this morning and was bound over to the grand jury without bail.

Byers is alleged to have drawn a fireman's paycheck, made out to E. F. Miller, and to have cashed it after signing Miller's name. The check was for $85.

Acting on the belief that the theft had been committed by a fireman or someone formerly employed in the fire department, Chief of Police Troyer went over the payroll receipt list, signed by firemen when they drew their pay. Particular attention was paid to the signatures of men who had since been discharged or who had left the service.

Chief Troyer noticed that the signature on the forged check was peculiar in that the "E" was only partially formed, and he found the same defect in Byers' middle initial, as he signed it to the last paycheck he received from the city early in October. He was discharged at that time, after having been a pipeman, stationed at engine house No. 8, for some time.

Detectives A. F. Schulte and Donald Irvine, accompanied by Cashier L. W. Pilkey of the city treasurer's office, made the arrest. Byers had $60.50 in his possession when taken into custody.

Byers appeared before Cashier Pilkey on Thursday, the day before firemen draw their monthly paycheck, and asked for his check, stating that he was off duty the following day and needed the money. He represented himself to be Miller.

The cashier stated that no one was allowed to draw ahead of time, but Byers replied by saying that he telephoned Commissioner Voss and obtained his approval. Commissioner Voss, although he said he did not remember the call, finally allowed the man to draw the money.

The check was cashed at Wagner's saloon, 312 West Superior street. Byers' theft was not discovered until yesterday morning, when Chief Joseph Randall distributed the paychecks to the firemen.

NATIVE-BORN DULUTH MAN GOES TO FRONT

Robert Keenan of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., who was born in West Duluth, is the first native-born Duluthian to enlist in the war. He has just joined the British ranks and will sail from Toronto next week.

Word of Mr. Keenan's enlistment has just been received here by his friends in West Duluth, to whom he writes that the patriotism of former Americans now living in England is putting to shame the prejudice of the Canadians against the people of this country residing in the Dominion. Mr. Keenan left here several years ago to take up a homestead in Canada.

"Many Americans living in the Dominion have sacrificed everything they have in the world to go to the trenches for the allies," writes Mr. Keenan. "Americans have been looked upon in Canada with suspicion, as if they were not patriotic and looked to the annexation of Canada by the United States. Their willingness to shed their blood for England's cause eloquently disproves this idea."

EVIDENCE IS INSUFFICIENT

Suspects Held for "Frisking" Orpheum Theater Manager, Released.

Grand Jury Indicts Thirteen; Recommends Work Farm for Women.

Evidence presented to the March grand jury by the county attorney's office yesterday failed to convince the inquisitorial body that Edward J. O'Regan, alias "The Jap," and George E. Roach, also known as George Burke, both alleged pickpockets, should be required to stand trial on a charge of having "frisked" Ross Garver, manager of the Orpheum theater, for $1,900 on Feb. 6. The grand jury voted to return a "no true bill" as to each of the defendants. They were held to the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree.

Garver, it was claimed, was passing out through a vestibuled door of a West Superior street cafeteria during the noon hour, when he was jostled by several men. A moment later he discovered that a $1,900 roll of currency representing the weekly payroll at the theater, and which had just been drawn from the bank, had been stolen. The police were notified and ten hours later O'Regan and Roach were arrested in their berth on a midnight train for the Twin Cities.

The two men were released on $4,000 bonds which were required of each defendant by the district court. The bonds were furnished at St. Paul before Judge Orr. H. P. Keller, former mayor of St. Paul, asked that the court approve the sureties which were furnished by Walter M. Maghee and John J. Flynn for O'Regan, and James E. Rafferty and Laura M. Harris for Roach. No true bills having been returned in their favor, it is expected that both O'Regan and Roach will today apply to the district court at St. Paul to release their sureties.

Identified Men.

Garver, who claimed to have lost the $1,900 roll, identified both O'Regan and Roach as men who were near him when he was jostled in the vestibule. At the time of his arrest, O'Regan was under a $5,000 bond from the district court in Minneapolis on a charge of having relieved a man of his pocketbook last autumn in a revolving door "rush act."

The grand jury also refused to indict Mrs. Maud Clementson, held on a charge of assault in the second degree. She was arrested on the complaint of her father-in-law, who alleged that she had cudgeled him by beating him over the head with a piece of wood on Jan. 14, at the corner of Elinor street and Sixtieth avenue west. The woman's husband, Clement Clementson, is serving a thirty-day sentence at the work farm on a non-support charge, and a divorce case is pending between the couple. The jury voted a "no true bill" in Mrs. Clementson's case.

Thirteen Indictments.

In all, the jury returned thirteen indictments, four of which were not made public, the defendants not being in actual custody. In addition to returning three "no true bills" the inquisitorial body took no action in three other cases investigated. Mason Forbes, assistant county attorney, was in charge of the cases presented to the jury. The public indictments voted were returned against the following:

Bert McCall for receiving stolen property. McCall is alleged to have received a watch, with other loot, which was stolen from the D. A. Miller jewelry store, March 15, 1914. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the work farm. After having served his time, another one of the missing watches was sold by him and he was rearrested.

William Singsheim and Floyd W. Hurley for grand larceny in the second degree. The pair are jointly accused of having stolen four sacks of chicken feed belonging to Nelson & Peterson, West end feed dealers, from a box car Feb. 12.

John Koski, charged with grand larceny in the second degree. Koski is accused of the theft of a watch and chain valued at $35 from John Hardy, March 2.

William Wardak for grand larceny in the second degree. Wardak is accused of having stolen $25 from the till at the Park hotel, Feb. 18.

Mary Olson for keeping a house of ill-fame. The woman is charged with having conducted a disorderly house at 4706 Jay street between June 1, 1914 and Feb. 18, 1915.

Henry Malone for grand larceny in the second degree. Malone was indicted on a charge of stealing jewelry valued at $48 from Hattie Douglas, 911 East Third street.

Anthony Henricksen for issuing checks on a bank with insufficient funds to protect it. Two indictments were returned against him.

Inspect Jail and Farm.

During the day, the grand jury made a trip of inspection over the jail premises. A committee from the grand jury also visited the joint county and city work farm. The following report on conditions at both places visited was made to the court:

"To the Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the District Court.—A visit was made to the county jail and the building inspected throughout. The grand jury was particularly impressed with two things. First, the general inadequacy of the building properly to house the inmates, and particularly the cramped and poorly located women's department. In this connection we feel it our duty again to urge the necessity of modern and commodious quarters for all departments.

"Aside from the necessity of a larger and better jail building, we desire to say that, while our inspection was brief, we were impressed with the fact that the sheriff is doing everything possible to provide wholesome meals for the inmates and to see that they have every reasonable attention. During our inspection prisoners were questioned as to their treatment and no complaints were heard.

"Farm" Is Visited.

"A visit was made to the county and city joint work farm, and we beg to report as follows:

"We found 103 men working under the direction of Fred Ward, superintendent. The appearance of the men indicated that they were well fed, well housed and well treated. We carefully inspected all buildings, and found everything sanitary, wholesome, comfortable and conducive to the physical, mental and moral welfare of the men, and calculated to reform rather than punish.

"Conversation with a number of the men showed that they were appreciative of the fair treatment received, which was proof of the wisdom of the establishment of an institution which has to such a great extent relieved the congestion of our jail and provided healthy and profitable employment for many men who are weak rather than criminal.

"We cannot recommend too highly the able management of Supt. Ward, under whose direction this work is being accomplished, and would respectfully recommend to the county commissioners that a similar institution, adapted to their necessities, be provided for women prisoners of the county and city, as soon as practicable after the legislation authorizing such a work shall have been passed."

STATEMENT BY ROCKNE

Defines His Position in Regard to the Forestry Service.

Forester Cox Defends Timber Saving at Expense of State.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate finance committee having been criticized pretty widely for its action in voting to reduce the appropriation for the state forestry service from $75,000 annually to $40,000, Chairman A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota has issued the following statement of his position:

"Since the senate finance committee made its allowance for the next biennium for the maintenance of the forestry department of the state, there has been much criticism aroused throughout the state and the chairman of the committee has been flooded with newspaper comments and personal letters in reference to the action of the committee. The Minneapolis Journal says that the allowance made by the committee will only allow one patrolman for each million acres. In this connection I desire to state that somebody has been grievously misinformed. If I have the figures correct, and I have taken them from the auditor's report, the state of Minnesota today only owns 2,215,000 acres of land, in round numbers. Why an appropriation of $40,000 should not give more than one patrolman for each million acres, is a matter that I fail to understand.

"The counties in which the state's timber lands lie are as follows: Aitkin, Becker, Beltrami, Carlton, Cass, Clearwater, Cook, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Itasca, Koochiching, Lake, Roseau and St. Louis. The state's holdings in these counties are 2,185,000 acres, in round numbers. The acreage in these same counties is over 14,000,000, in round numbers.

Paying for Fire Protection.

"The argument made is that the money is needed for fire protection. Would it be out of the way to ask what right the legislature has to tax the taxpayers of the state of Minnesota to look after fires on lands owned by private individuals or large lumbering corporations? A tax of 1 cent an acre on the state's holdings would net $21,-850. We have doubled that and allowed 2 cents an acre, in round numbers, or $40,000. An assessment of 1 cent an acre on the holdings of private individuals and lumbering corporations would yield $40,000. That added to the state's appropriation would mean $180,000 annually.

"If I understand the police authority of the state, a law can easily be enacted levying 1 cent an acre upon the timber tracts of the north, and in that way ample protection can be afforded, and the state, the individual and the lumbering corporations, who derive the benefit, will also foot the bills.

"Would a tax for protection against fire on the holdings of private individuals of probably 160 acres, amounting to $1.60 annually, be unjust, unfair or burdensome? If not, why tax the property of Minnesota for the benefit of either the private individual or the large lumbering concerns? We submit that the action of the committee, in view of the above facts, was entirely justified and that the criticisms hurled at the committee are brought about more by selfish agitators whose jobs may be at stake rather than for the merit in the proposition.

Salaries and Expenses.

"In addition to the foregoing it might not be inappropriate to add that the expenses of the department of forestry for the fiscal year ending Aug. 1, 1914, for salaries and expenses, exceeded $20,000. This seems a large appropriation for salary and clerk forces and the committee were of the opinion that this amount would do little towards extinguishing fires when they occur. It was further made plain that during the spring, summer and fall of 1914 a large amount of money was used by the department for political purposes in an attempt to have what was known as Amendment No. 9 adopted by the people. The committee and many other people are of the opinion that the money spent in this way was illegally spent and was not in any way justified by the department. The committee have letters on file estimating that the amount expended in this way exceeded $25,000. That the money had been so spent was admitted by Forester Cox when he appeared before our committee, but we did not learn just how much had been spent. He admitted, however, that a large number of his so-called rangers, during the fall election, had been traveling all over Southern Minnesota and everywhere advocating the adoption of Amendment No. 9.

"In conclusion, we might add that when a department of state becomes larger and more important than the body that created it it is time that something be done to call a halt somewhere. Mr. Cox may succeed in stirring up considerable newspaper criticism, but if I am not misinformed, he will find that the Minnesota legislature will have something to say about this before it is through with him and his department. We tried to be fair and I think in what I have said we have shown a liberal disposition and I submit our action to the fair-minded people of the state of Minnesota."

Reply By Forester Cox.

Senator A. J. Rockne's position that the state forest service should concern itself only with state lands and that it is going beyond its proper functions in protecting the timber and other property of private owners is combatted by William T. Cox, state forester, who maintains that the entire purpose of the forestry movement, not only by the Federal and state governments, but in foreign countries, is in direct opposition to such a theory. Mr. Cox maintains further that Minnesota has derived much greater benefits from the service than the amount of the annual appropriation would indicate.

Protects State Resources.

"It has been the policy of the state in the creation of the forest service to protect the forest resources of the state, regardless of ownership," said Mr. Cox today, "but if the only duty of the service is to guard state lands the problem is an entirely different one. It is not feasible to protect state lands alone any more than it would be to have separate fire departments for each city block or even each city ward. The city fire department watches over the entire city and the forest service covers the entire wooded section of the state for the same reason—that is that fires must befought wherever they appear. Settlers are widely scattered in the woods of Northern Minnesota, their homes and families are in danger and it is manifestly unfair to place upon them the burden of protecting themselves any more than to require each homesteader in the city to provide his own fire apparatus.

Prevents Disasters.

"The awful catastrophe at Baudette and Spooner and surrounding country in 1910, in which numerous lives were lost and millions of dollars of property were destroyed, occurred nowhere near any state lands, yet no one will contend that the state of Minnesota had no duty to prevent any such disaster or a repetition.

"The public has a much greater interest in standing timber, especially young timber, than the owner of such property. Aside from all indirect benefits from the forest, such as conservation of water supply, game supply and recreation grounds, every $5 worth of standing timber, when marketed, represents $15 in wages to the community and the state.

Fire Hazard Diminished.

"The forest service at the present time is compelling the timber owners to expend between $200,000 and $300,000 a year for the disposal of 'slash,' which is a great element in fire protection, for it removes one of the chief hazards. If the legislature can place the remaining burden upon the timber owners, the forest service will do its best to administer the law. It would seem that such a plan would tend to overthrow the state's established policy to aid in road building, public education and other matters of general and common interest.

"The overhead cost of the forest service is as low as that of any other effective state department, and I am sure lower than the majority. The office salaries, according to the books of the department, were $12,755 for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1914.

Benefits Exceed Cost.

"The service has been able to attain results far in excess of what the state's appropriation might signify, mainly through the co-operation of the railroads, timber owners, mining counties, the organized towns and the Federal government. These co-operative forces require a certain amount of supervision, which involves more or less expense, both in the office and in the field, but the direct benefits to the state are vastly out of proportion to the outlay.

"The maximum amount that could by any means be considered chargeable to the educational work connected with the passage of the forestry amendment is less than $2,000. This amendment was originally proposed by the forestry board, was approved by the 1913 legislature and has since been approved by the people. The question is not a political one but an economic one against which there can be no legitimate opposition. As to the legality of the expenditures, the law, which seems quite specific, provides as follows:

"The state forester shall use his influence as time will permit toward the establishment of scientific forestry principles in the management and promotion of the forest resources of the state. * * * He may advocate, as he deems wise, education in forestry within the state by publication and lectures.

"And that is all we did.

"Possibly many people may have confused the state forest service with the Minnesota Forestry association, which is a voluntary organization without any state connection. This was the association which conducted the campaign for the passage of the forestry amendment, generally known as Amendment No. 9."

The school is to teach methods of clearing and improving land, handling field garden crops, care of dairy herds, etc. There has been a demand for such an institution throughout Northeastern Minnesota, which Mr. Peterson seeks to meet by his bill.

A new woman's reformatory bill came in this morning, with Representatives Swanson, Steen, Dwyer, Marschalk and Spooner as its authors. It appropriates $30,000 to buy a site of not less than 160 acres, under a commission composed of two senators and three representatives, to be named by the presiding officers. The bill was made a special order for Wednesday morning along with the two other bills on this subject already made a special order for that time.

Tax on Future Trading.

A heavy tax on future trading, amounting to 10 cents a bushel on wheat and flax, and 5 cents on other grains, is proposed in a bill introduced in the house this morning by Representative Knudson. This tax is to be paid to county treasurers on every sale of grain for future delivery.

* * *

The house judiciary committee killed the proposed constitutional amendment providing that the legislature shall meet every four years instead of every two years.

* * *

Representative Miner's bill for a demonstration farm near International Falls was unanimously recommended for passage by the house committee on general legislation, of which E. R. Ribenack, who was called home, the bill was advanced to the calendar subject to amendment.

* * *

Elwell Road Law.

The senate bill repealing the Elwell road law was made a special order for Thursday, on motion of Representative Bouck, chairman of the house committee on roads and bridges.

* * *

Cities of the first class, including Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, are given power to regulate motor vehicles by a bill introduced in the house by Representative Corning of St. Paul, amending the general automobile law which gives the state full control of such regulations.

* * *

Senator S. P. Peterson of Litchfield this morning introduced a new blue sky bill for the regulation of the sales of stock, and a bill prohibiting misrepresentation in the sale of stock incorporations and generally regulating corporation affairs.

* * *

By a vote of 83 to 7 the house passed the bill increasing the automobile license from $1.50 to $5 for periods of three years. The money derived from the increase will be used in good roads building.

To Increase Supreme Court.

Favorable recommendation was given a bill proposing an amendment to the Constitution, providing two additional supreme court judges, by the house in committee of the whole. The bill will go on the calendar subject to amendment. The clerk of the supreme court would be appointed by the court instead of elected by the people. This is one of the constitutional amendments which failed of adoption at the November, 1914, election.

* * *

By a vote of 72 to 7, the house passed the bill of Representative P. W. Gulliford of Minneapolis, repealing the laws of 1913, which provided for the retirement of judges of the district and supreme courts on full pay.

University Finances.

Representatives Sanborn, Christianson, Dealand and Johnson of Otter Tail of the house committee on public accounts have been appointed a subcommittee to investigate the finances of the University of Minnesota, with a view of deciding whether the appropriations asked for the university's work cannot be reduced.

* * *

A public hearing on the bills before the house appropriations committee reducing the annual appropriation of the state forestry department will be held Tuesday evening, Representative Spooner, chairman of the committee, has announced. Persons interested in the department will be given an opportunity to explain why the appropriation should not be decreased.

The senate adjourned to Wednesday evening and the house to Wednesday morning.

ocean travel. She arrived in New York on Oct. 28, 1913, with forty-two persons which she rescued from the Uranium liner Volturno, which burned at sea with the loss of 132 lives. Capt. Caussin was one of the first commanders of rescue steamers to get a boat over in the heavy sea to aid in the rescue work. The captain and crew were decorated with medals for their bravery on this occasion.

It was the captain of La Touraine who warned the ill-fated Titanic of the presence of icebergs in her course.

Once before the steamer was threatened by fire, when flames were discovered in the staterooms while she lay at her dock in Havre on Jan. 21, 1903. There were no passengers aboard and the damage was not serious. She was withdrawn from service for a time in 1907 because of serious damage to her machinery. The discovery was made just before she was due to sail from New York. On another occasion a member of her crew was killed by the bursting of a steam pipe.

When the European war began the entire carrying capacity of La Touraine was reserved for Americans struggling for passage home from France. She arrived in New York Dec. 18, 1914, thirty-six hours overdue because of hurricanes she encountered. High seas swept her decks while the passengers were battened down below.

The steamer is 520 feet long with a beam of 56 feet and a depth of 34.8.

Crew Numbers 200.

The crew numbered approximately 200. The vessel was under command of Capt. Caussin, it was said, with M. Gallard as second captain. Two wireless operators, Messrs. Sagot and Vidment, were aboard.

Stored away in the vessel's hold was the ammunition which caused keen apprehension as to the vessel's fate when it became known that a fire was raging aboard. While no record was kept as to the tonnage of this portion of the cargo it was estimated that the shipment contained, at the very least, half a million rounds and possibly several times this much.

Wireless stations along the Atlantic seaboard directed vain queries through the air to the burning ship and the little fleet of rescuers reported to be around her. While the crackle of the spark from powerful stations here, it was thought, could be heard by steamers in the Atlantic as far away as La Touraine, the wireless plants aboard these steamers were too weak to send back their answers. All news of La Touraine's fate, it was thought, would have to come from the other side of the Atlantic.

La Touraine was heavily loaded when she steamed out of the harbor last Saturday. In addition to the 4,594 cases of cartridges she carried 139 rapid fire guns and a varied assortment of supplies for the allies' commissaries, both foodstuffs and clothing. Twelve hundred tons of her cargo consisted of uniforms, cloth for uniforms, sweaters and hosiery for soldiers in the trenches. There were 1,500 cases of machinery aboard, as well, many hundred wagon wheels and 275 bars of silver. In addition there was a large assortment of foodstuffs.

The list of steerage passengers, totaling forty-three, included five Frenchmen and seven Belgians, said to be reservists. The list includes: Gabriel Dartige, Jean Rostagnat, Maurice Provaein, Jules Hermal, Jean Monin, Alphonse Basty, Jeon Lajoud, all of Montreal; Walter Fah, British Columbia, and Mrs. Marie Reault; Joseph Rault, Mrs. Beatrice Grodemonge, Mr. and Mrs. Wauthier Furoy, Emilienne Legaud, Mrs. Joseph Conti, Lucy Conti, George Conti, Mrs. — — Abitzer, — — Chatevario, all of Montreal.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

that they hardly would go to Vera Cruz.

Invited to Chihuahua.

Villa has invited the diplomatic corps to join him at his capital in Chihuahua. To do so, it was pointed out, might be construed as recognition of his faction.

Without diplomatic representatives in Mexico City, the capital and a large portion of the distracted country would practically be cut off from the world, while it is feared all foreigners would be at the mercy of the factions.

Juan N. Amador, head of Gen. Carranza's agency here, today declared that reports of the gravity of the situation have been "grossly exaggerated." He declared Gen. Obregon would do nothing to "cause needless suffering."

"It is ridiculous to talk of a situation arising in Mexico City similar to that which took place in Peking during the Boxer uprising," he said. "No foreigner who conducts himself properly need fear any injury in Mexico City. If Gen. Obregon has been compelled to use drastic measures to enforce the collection of a legal tax, this has been entirely the fault of taxpayers, who have endeavored to escape the just payment of their taxes."

a chase lasting several months and leading over many miles. A woman whose identity the police refused to make known, also was arrested in connection with the robbery. Later she was released.

The men are George Webster and John Bingham, the latter, according to the police, being a former inmate of the state penitentiary at Joliet and well known here. Webster was arrested when he and Bingham appeared at a private bank, it is said, where they had twice before changed Canadian money into United States currency. Bingham was allowed to escape after a scuffle in the bank, and was trailed to his room where it was said the woman was arrested.

Search Began in December.

Search for the men began in December, 1914, when one man appeared at the bank and changed several hundred dollars into United States currency. Bank officials became suspicious and notified detectives, who trailed about the bank for a month when the man and a companion returned.

When they left the detectives took up their trail in the hope that the men would lead to the place where the money was stored. The men, who proved to be Webster and Bingham went to Cincinnati, to Denver, to St. Joseph, Mich., and a number of other cities and finally back here. When arrested, each had several hundred dollars in United States currency but no Canadian money.

Bingham was arrested in Portland, Or., in 1896, according to police records, and was brought back to Chicago to stand trial on a charge of murder growing out of a ward politics fight. He was convicted and sentenced to Joliet for fourteen years.

END OF WINTER FINDS ALLIES READY FOR CONCERTED ATTACK

fierce blows of the German armies under von Hindenburg, have been able not only to bring Teutonic progress to a standstill, but to push the invaders back along virtually the whole front at one time at least it is admitted in Berlin, the fighting has again moved very near to the East Prussian frontier.

Tighten Grip on Galicia.

In the south also the Russians appear to have tightened their grip on Galicia during the past few days and they are reoccupying the crown land of Bukowina with forces sufficient, according to their claims, to make their tenure permanent. The Russians' victory over the Germanic allies in the valleys of the Lomnitz and the Lukva, where they surrounded 20,000 Austrians, as was announced yesterday, must, it is believed in London, have a strong influence toward compelling the Austro-German forces again to vacate the vicinity of Czernowitz, if they are still there. The country west of Warsaw is again being watched for indications of another battle.

Adds to Serenity.

Another event which is adding to the serenity with which the allies today regard the future is the picture of British, French and Russian warships hamstringing at the gates of the capital of Turkey, with such success, apparently, that Turkey already has decided she has had enough of the Egyptian venture and is now rushing her troops back to defend Constantinople. Austria-Hungary's reported reply to Constantinople when the Turks asked for naval assistance, "you had better move your capital to Asia," is being published prominently in London newspapers today.

French Statement.

Paris, March 6, via London, 3:37 p. m. —The war office this afternoon gave out the following statement:

Somewhat lively artillery actions occurred yesterday around Nieuport and Ypres. From the Lys to the Aisne there was an intermittent cannonade.

In Champagne our progress yesterday in the ravine northwest of Beauséjour caused the Germans last night to undertake fresh counter-attacks, which we repulsed. Our advance in the region of Perthes has been maintained. Near Vieville-en-Haye, northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, a well directed fire upon a farm caused a panic among the soldiers occupying it. They fled to the woods. Near the forest of Narroy, whole bodies of Germans unsuccessfully attempted attacks on our outposts.

New Trout Lake Bank.

Trout Lake, Mich., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The State bank of Trout Lake has been organized with a capital stock of $20,000 and will open April 15 in a two-story building of tile and brick soon to be erected.

WARM WAVE FOR DULUTH

Fair Weather to Follow Heavy Wind and Snow Storm.

The storm that struck Duluth and virtually the whole country yesterday is about over as far as Duluth is concerned, and the people of the Zenith City will bask in the sunshine tomorrow. The gale of forty-six miles an hour has petered out and while snow flurries may ruffle the calmness of the lake region for today, higher temperatures and fair skies are ahead.

The storm yesterday struck all parts of the Northwest and extended far east, south and west. While only one and a half inches of snow fell here, the fall in the southern part of the state was from five to eight inches, and heavier snows and rains were experienced in the Southwest.

The temperature this morning was 21 above, just the same as it was yesterday morning. The mercury may drop to 15 above tonight, but it will warm up tomorrow.

The heavy snows caused serious trouble with traffic farther south, and some wire trouble was experienced between Duluth and Chicago. This, however, was not serious.

FEIGN TO BE SHIPWRECKED

Tokio, March 6.—The Japanese steamer Luzon, which hails from Moji, reports that the schooner Aisha is in the Indian ocean. The crew of the Aisha feign to be shipwrecked, attempting by this means to entrap steamers flying the flags of Great Britain and her allies.

There have been several conflicting reports regarding the schooner Aisha. When the German cruiser Emden was sunk by the Australian cruiser Sidney in the Indian ocean, Nov. 10, some forty members of the crew of the Emden under Lieut. von Muecke escaped. These men were members of a landing party which was on Cocos island at the time of the battle. They commandeered the Aisha and sailed away. From that time their movements are in doubt. They have been making raids on commerce. On Dec. 18 the French ministry of marine announced that the auxiliary cruiser Empress of Japan had captured a collier with some of the men on board.

Why I Wish To Tell Your Fortune FREE

A young lady in America once wrote asking me to reveal her fortune by other questions, she asked me to tell the color of her eyes and what color her barn was painted.

I mention this to show the mistaken ideas which many people hold regarding Astrology.

It was to show what my system of Astrology really means, and to prove my power to aid and assist humanity that I began many years ago, the sending of trial Horoscopes to all persons interested enough in their future to send me ten cents in stamps.

Dear Reader, I wish also the privilege of convincing you of my ability to look into your future, to guide your steps in the right path, to lead you (as I have led many, many others) to success in business, love, in the attainment of any praiseworthy object.

Life is not all luck, as many would have you believe. Those who crowd to the front are those who understand themselves and their possibilities thoroughly. No guess-work, no waiting to see what may turn up.

When a prominent New York financier has been known to daily consult an Astrologer before entering upon speculation, is it not high time for you to learn your fortunate periods, time for you to look into this science and see what fate has in store for you?

Did you ever hear of a divorce where two people were married in harmony with their Astrological indications?

Did you ever stop to think that some of your rivals, who are perhaps outstripping you in the race for money, love or fame are pushing forward in the clear light of Astrological knowledge, while you are groping blindly in the dark?

Why not turn to me for advice and be yourself the successful leader?

I am perfectly satisfied with your Reading. It seems strange that you should refer to my suffering from throat trouble. I have just had a bad attack and usually have it two or three times per year. I shall certainly recommend you to my friends.
Prof. A. C. Dixon, M. A. B. Sc., Lond., Darlington, England.

It is wonderful how you have told me many things in my life that are very true. I think you have a great power. All you have told me is true as Gospel.
Annie Wlach, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

All the items in my Reading are as exact as they could possibly be. I am perfectly satisfied.
Dora Schliedt, Port Arthur, Texas.

It is wonderful how you can know so much about a person so many thousand miles away. One would think you were possessed of some supernatural power.
James Ward, Cheriton, Va.

I have drawers filled with letters from grateful patrons, letters which I hold sacredly confidential, letters telling me of financial advancement, of success in love and marriage; also many sad letters regretting that my advice had not been asked years ago.

Pleased patrons have sent friends to me, have asked my advice for their children and children's children.

My success has brought imitators—some have tried to copy my work, many of them have copied my books and circulars. Remember, I was the first to send free Horoscopes for the asking. I alone guarantee the correctness of my forecasts.

My system of Astrology will answer questions of vital interest to every human being; will name your fortunate days and years, will tell you of the likelihood of legacies, will show you who to marry. This trial reading which I offer you free will mystify you by its correctness.

My system of Astrology is different from that of any Astrologer living or dead. To the Astrology of biblical days I have added the results of my own study and observation, until I am able to foretell events which absolutely come to pass.

Patrons write me after the lapse of years, announcing the fulfillment of every prediction.

You will be so convinced by what I tell you, by my wonderful powers to read your fortune like an open book, that you will write me when in doubt or in trouble; when you want advice about speculation, business, marriage, travel and the future.

You will also be glad to refer your friends to me, and in that way repay me for the cost of the Free Horoscope which I will send you.

WRITE ME TODAY LEST YOU FORGET.

Send me today your full name, date of birth, sex, and if married or single, with 10 cents in stamps of your own country for return postage, clerical work, etc., and this Horoscope will be mailed to you at once free. Postage to France is 5 cents. Do not enclose silver in your letter.

STATEMENT BY ROCKNE

Defines His Position in Regard to the Forestry Service.

Forester Cox Defends Timber Saving at Expense of State.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate finance committee having been criticized pretty widely for its action in voting to reduce the appropriation for the state forestry service from $75,000 annually to $40,000, Chairman A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota has issued the following statement of his position:

"Since the senate finance committee made its allowance for the next biennium for the maintenance of the forestry department of the state, there has been much criticism aroused throughout the state and the chairman of the committee has been flooded with newspaper comments and personal letters in reference to the action of the committee. The Minneapolis Journal says that the allowance made by the committee will only allow one patrolman for each million acres. In this connection I desire to state that somebody has been grievously misinformed. If I have the figures correct, and I have taken them from the auditor's report, the state of Minnesota today only owns 2,215,000 acres of land, in round numbers. Why an appropriation of $40,000 should not give more than one patrolman for each million acres, is a matter that I fail to understand.

"The counties in which the state's timber lands lie are as follows: Aitkin, Becker, Beltrami, Carlton, Cass, Clearwater, Crook, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Itasca, Koochiching, Lake, Roseau and St. Louis. The state's holdings in these counties are 2,185,000 acres, in round numbers. The acreage in these same counties is over 14,000,000, in round numbers.

Paying for Fire Protection.

"The argument made is that the money is needed for fire protection. Would it be out of the way to ask what right the legislature has to tax the taxpayers of the state of Minnesota to look after fires on lands owned by private individuals or large lumbering corporations? A tax of 1 cent an acre on the state's holdings would net $21,880. We have doubled that and allowed 2 cents an acre, in round numbers, or $40,000. An assessment of 1 cent an acre on the holdings of private individuals and lumbering corporations would yield $149,000. That added to the state's appropriation would mean $180,000 annually.

"If I understand the police authority of the state, a law can easily be enacted levying 1 cent an acre upon the timber tracts of the north, and in that way ample protection can be afforded, and the state, the individual and the lumbering corporations, who derive the benefit, will also foot the bills.

"Would a tax for protection against fire on the holdings of private individuals of probably 150 acres, amounting to $1.50 annually, be unjust, unfair or burdensome? If not, why tax the property of Minnesota for the benefit of either the private individual or the large lumbering concerns? We submit that the action of the committee, in view of the above facts, was entirely justified and that the criticisms hurled at the committee are brought about more by selfish agitators whose jobs may be at stake rather than for the merit in the proposition.

Salaries and Expenses.

"In addition to the foregoing it might not be inappropriate to add that the expenses of the department of forestry for the fiscal year ending Aug. 1, 1914, for salaries and expenses, exceeded $20,000. This seems a large appropriation for salary and clerk forces and the committee were of the opinion that this amount would do little towards extinguishing fires when they occur. It was further made plain that during the spring, summer and fall of 1914 a large amount of money was used by the department for political purposes in an attempt to have what was known as Amendment No. 9 adopted by the people. The committee and many other people are of the opinion that the money spent in this way was illegally spent and was not in any way justified by the department. The committee have letters on file estimating that the amount expended in this way exceeded $25 000. That the money had been so spent was admitted by Forester Cox when he appeared before our committee, but we did not learn just how much had been spent. He admitted, however, that a large number of his so-called rangers, during the fall election, had been traveling all over Southern Minnesota and everywhere advocating the adoption of Amendment No. 9.

"In conclusion, we might add that when a department of state becomes larger and more important than the body that created it it is time that something be done to call a halt somewhere. Mr. Cox may succeed in stirring up considerable newspaper criticism, but if I am not misinformed, he will find that the Minnesota legislature will have something to say about this before it is through with him and his department. We tried to be fair and I think in what I have said we have shown a liberal disposition and I submit our action to the fair-minded people of the state of Minnesota."

Reply By Forester Cox.

Senator A. J. Rockne's position that the state forest service should concern itself only with state lands and that it is going beyond its proper functions in protecting the timber and other property of private owners is combatted by William T. Cox, state forester, who maintains that the entire purpose of the forestry movement, not only by the Federal and state governments, but in foreign countries, is in direct opposition to such a theory. Mr. Cox intimates further that Minnesota has derived much greater benefits from the service than the amount of the annual appropriation would indicate.

Protects State Resources.

"It has been the policy of the state in the creation of the forest service to protect the forest resources of the state, regardless of ownership," said Mr. Cox today, "but if the only duty of the service is to guard state lands the problem is an entirely different one. It is not feasible to protect large areas of land more than it would be to have separate fire departments for each city block or even each city ward. The city fire department watches over the entire city and the forest service covers the entire wooded section of the state for the same reason—that is that fires must be fought wherever they appear. Settlers are widely scattered in the woods of Northern Minnesota, their homes and families are in danger and it is manifestly unfair to place upon them the burden of protecting themselves any more than to require each householder in the city to provide his own fire apparatus.

Prevents Disasters.

"The awful catastrophe at Baudette and Spooner and surrounding country in 1910, in which numerous lives were lost and millions of dollars of property were destroyed, occurred nowhere near any state lands, yet no one will contend that the state of Minnesota had no duty to prevent any such disaster or a repetition.

"The public has a much greater interest in standing timber, especially young timber, than the owner of such property. Aside from all indirect benefits from the forest, such as conservation of water supply, game supply and recreation grounds, every $5 worth of standing timber, when manufactured, represents $15 in wages to the community and the state.

Fire Hazard Diminished.

"The forest service at the present time is compelling the timber owners to expend between $200,000 and $300,000 a year for the disposal of 'slash,' which is a great element in fire protection, for it removes one of the chief hazards. If the legislature can place the remaining burden upon the timber owners, the forest service will do its best to administer the law. It would seem that such a plan would tend to overthrow the state's established policy to aid in road building, public education and other matters of general and common interest.

"The overhead cost of the forest service is as low as that of any other effective state department, and I am sure lower than the majority. The office salaries, according to the books of the department, were $12,755 for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1914.

Benefits Exceed Cost.

"The service has been able to attain results far in excess of what the state's appropriation might signify, mainly through the co-operation of the railroads, timber owners, mining counties, the organized towns and the Federal government. These co-operative forces require a certain amount of supervision, which involves more or less expense, both in the office and in the field, but the direct benefits to the state are vastly out of proportion to the outlay.

"The maximum amount that could by any means be considered chargeable to the educational work connected with the passage of the forestry amendment is less than $2,000. This amendment was originally proposed by the forestry board, was approved by the 1913 legislature and has since been approved by the people. The question is not a political one but an economic one against which there can be no legitimate opposition. As to the legality of the expenditures, the law, which seems quite specific, provides as follows:

"'The state forester shall use his influence as time will permit toward the establishment of scientific forestry principles in the management and promotion of the forest resources of the state. . . . He may advocate, as he deems wise, education in forestry within the state by publication and lectures.'

"And that is all we did.

"Possibly many people may have confused the state forest service with the Minnesota Forestry association, which is a voluntary organization without any state connection. This was the association which conducted the campaign for the passage of the forestry amendment, generally known as Amendment No. 9."

STEAMSHIP LA TOURAINE BURNING ON ATLANTIC

ocean travel. She arrived in New York on Oct. 28, 1913, with forty-two persons which she rescued from the Uranium liner Volturno, which burned at sea with the loss of 132 lives. Capt. Caussin was one of the first commanders of rescue steamers to get a boat over in the heavy sea to aid in the rescue work. The captain and crew were decorated with medals for their bravery on this occasion.

It was the captain of La Touraine who warned the ill-fated Titanic of the presence of icebergs in her course.

Once before the steamer was threatened by fire, when flames were discovered in the staterooms while she lay at her dock in Havre on Jan. 21, 1903. There were no passengers aboard and the damage was not serious. She was withdrawn from service for a time in 1907 because of serious damage to her machinery. The discovery was made just before she was due to sail from New York. On another occasion a member of her crew was killed by the bursting of a steam pipe.

When the European war began the entire carrying capacity of La Touraine was reserved for Americans struggling for passage home from France. She arrived in New York Dec. 18, 1914, thirty-six hours overdue because of hurricanes she encountered. High seas swept her decks while the passengers were battened down below.

The steamer is 520 feet long with a beam of 56 feet and a depth of 34.8.

nurses bound from the French hospital in New York city to the American ambulance in Paris: Dr. John S. Irwin, Dr. W. J. Braddock, Dr. A. Jimines.

The Misses Florence Gordon, Eugenia H. Lyons, Mollie McGrath, Dorothy O'Connell, Victoria Francfort, Cathlyn O'Hanlon, Ellen O'Hanlon, Alina Marie McCormick, Nellie Burdette Parsons and Beda L. Peterson and Thomas J. Burke, Jr., nurses.

Crew Numbers 200.

The crew numbered approximately 200. The vessel was under command of Capt. Caussin, it was said, with M. Gaillard as second captain. Two wireless operators, Messrs. Sagot and Vidment, were aboard.

Stored away in the vessel's hold was the ammunition which caused keen apprehension as to the vessel's fate when it became known that a fire was raging aboard. While no record was kept as to the tonnage of this portion of the cargo it was estimated that the shipment contained, at the very least, half a million rounds and possibly several times this much.

Wireless stations along the Atlantic seaboard directed vain queries through the air to the burning ship and the little fleet of rescuers reported to be around her. While the crackle of the spark from powerful stations here, it was thought, could be heard by steamers in the Atlantic as far away as La Touraine, the wireless plants aboard these steamers were too weak to send back their answers. All news of La Touraine's fate, it was thought, would have to come from the other side of the Atlantic.

La Touraine was heavily loaded when she steamed out of the harbor last Saturday. In addition to the 4,594 cases of cartridges she carried 139 rapid fire guns and a varied assortment of supplies for the allies' commissaries, both foodstuffs and clothing. Twelve hundred tons of her cargo consisted of uniforms, cloth for uniforms, sweaters and hosiery for soldiers in the trenches. There were 1,500 cases of machinery aboard, as well, many hundred wagon wheels and 275 bars of silver. In addition there was a large assortment of foodstuffs.

The list of steerage passengers, totaling forty-three, included five Frenchmen and seven Belgians, said to be reservists. The list includes: Gabriel Dartige, Jean Rostagnal, Maurice Provaelu, Jules Hermal, Jean Monin, Alphonse Basty, Jeon Lajoud, all of Montreal; Walter Fah, British Columbia, and Mrs. Marie Reault; Joseph Rault, Mrs. Beatrice Gredemonge, Mr. and Mrs. Wauthier Furoy, Emilienne Legaud, Mrs. Joseph Conti, Lucy Conti, George Conti, Mrs. — — Ablitzer, — — Chatevarle, all of Montreal.

SITUATION IN MEXICO

that they hardly would go to Vera Cruz.

Invited to Chihuahua.

Villa has invited the diplomatic corps to join him at his capital in Chihuahua. To do so, it was pointed out, might be construed as recognition of his faction.

Without diplomatic representatives in Mexico City, the capital and a large portion of the distracted country would practically be cut off from the world, while it is feared all foreigners would be at the mercy of the factions.

Juan N. Amador, head of Gen. Carranza's agency here, today declared that reports of the gravity of the situation have been "grossly exaggerated." He declared Gen. Obregon would do nothing to "cause needless suffering."

"It is ridiculous to talk of a situation arising in Mexico City similar to that which took place in Peking during the Boxer uprising," he said. "No foreigner who conducts himself properly need fear any injury in Mexico City. If Gen. Obregon has been compelled to use drastic measures to enforce the collection of a legal tax, this has been entirely the fault of taxpayers, who have endeavored to escape the just payment of their taxes."

ARE HUNTING FOR $120,000

a chase lasting several months and leading over many miles. A woman whose identity the police refused to make known, also was arrested in connection with the robbery. Later she was released.

The men are George Webster and John Bingham, the latter, according to the police, being a former inmate of the state penitentiary at Joliet and well known here. Webster was arrested when he and Bingham appeared at a private bank, it is said, where they had twice before changed Canadian money into United States currency. Bingham was allowed to escape after a scuffle in the bank, and was trailed to his room where it was said the woman was arrested.

Search Began in December.

Search for the men began in December, 1914, when one man appeared at the bank and changed several hundred dollars into United States currency. Bank officials became suspicious and notified detectives, who waited about the bank for a month when the man and a companion returned.

When they left the detectives took up their trail in the hope that the men would lead to the place where the money was stored. The men, who proved to be Webster and Bingham went to Cincinnati, to Denver, to St. Joseph, Mich., and a number of other cities and finally back here. When arrested, each had several hundred dollars in United States currency but no Canadian money.

Bingham was arrested in Portland, Or., in 1896, according to police records, and was brought back to Chicago to stand trial on a charge of murder growing out of a ward politics fight. He was convicted and sentenced to Joliet for fourteen years.

END OF WINTER FINDS ALLIES READY FOR CONCERTED ATTACK

fierce blows of the German armies under von Hindenburg, have been able not only to bring Teutonic progress to a standstill, but to push the invaders back along virtually the whole front until at one time at least it is admitted in Berlin, the fighting has again moved very near to the East Prussian frontier.

Tighten Grip on Galicia.

In the south also the Russians appear to have tightened their grip on Galicia during the past few days and they are reoccupying the crown land of Bukowina with forces sufficient, according to their claims, to make their tenure permanent. The Russians' victory over the Germanic allies in the valleys of the Lomnitz and the Lukva, where they surrounded 20,000 Austrians, as was announced yesterday, must, it is believed in London, have a strong influence toward compelling the Austro-German forces again to vacate the vicinity of Czernowitz, if they are still there. The country west of Warsaw is again being watched for indications of another battle.

Adds to Serenity.

Another event which is adding to the serenity with which the allies today regard the future is the picture of British, French and Russian warships hammering at the gates of the capital of Turkey, with such success, apparently, that Turkey already has decided she has had enough of the Egyptian venture and is now rushing her troops back to defend Constantinople. Austria-Hungary's reported reply to Constantinople when the Turks asked for naval assistance, "you had better move your capital to Asia," is being published prominently in London newspapers today.

French Statement.

Paris, March 6, via London, 3:37 p. m. —The war office this afternoon gave out the following statement:

Somewhat lively artillery actions occurred yesterday around Nieuport and Ypres. From the Lys to the Aisne there was an intermittent cannonade.

In Champagne our progress yesterday in the ravine northwest of Beausejour caused the Germans last night to undertake fresh counter-attacks, which were repulsed. Our advance in the region of Perthes has been maintained. Near Vieville-en-Haye, northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, a well directed fire upon a farm caused a panic among the soldiers occupying it. They fled to the woods. Near the forest of Norroy, whole bodies of Germans unsuccessfully attempted attacks on our outposts.

New Trout Lake Bank.

Trout Lake, Mich., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The State bank of Trout Lake has been organized with a capital stock of $20,000 and will open April 15 in a two-story building of tile and brick soon to be erected.

WARM WAVE FOR DULUTH

Fair Weather to Follow Heavy Wind and Snow Storm.

The storm that struck Duluth and virtually the whole country yesterday is about over as far as Duluth is concerned, and the people of the Zenith City will bask in the sunshine tomorrow. The gale of forty-six miles an hour has petered out and while snow flurries may ruffle the calmness of the lake region for today, higher temperatures and fair skies are ahead.

The storm yesterday struck all parts of the Northwest and extended far east, south and west. While only one and a half inches of snow fell here, the fall in the southern part of the state was from five to eight inches, and heavier snows and rains were experienced in the Southwest.

The temperature this morning was 21 above, just the same as it was yesterday morning. The mercury may drop to 15 above tonight, but it will warm up tomorrow.

The heavy snows caused serious troubles with traffic farther south, and some wire trouble was experienced between Duluth and Chicago. This, however, was not serious.

FEIGN TO BE SHIPWRECKED

Tokio, March 6.—The Japanese steamer Luzon, which hails from Moji, reports that the schooner Aisha is in the Indian ocean. The crew of the Aisha feign to be shipwrecked, attempting by this means to entrap steamers flying the flags of Great Britain and her allies.

There have been several conflicting reports regarding the schooner Aisha. When the German cruiser Emden was sunk by the Australian cruiser Sidney in the Indian ocean, Nov. 10, some forty members of the crew of the Emden under Lieut. von Muecke escaped. These men were members of a landing party which was on Cocos island at the time of the battle. They commandeered the Aisha and sailed away. From that time their movements are in doubt. They have been making raids on commerce. On Dec. 18 the French ministry of marine announced that the auxiliary cruiser Empress of Japan had captured a collier with some of the men on board.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

Why I Wish To Tell Your Fortune FREE

A young lady in America once wrote asking me to reveal her fortune by Astrology. Among ful patrons, letters other questions, she asked me to tell the color of her eyes and what color her barn was painted.

I mention this to show the mistaken ideas which many people hold regarding Astrology.

It was to show what my system of Astrology really means, and to prove my power to aid and assist humanity that I began, many years ago, the sending of trial Horoscopes to all persons interested enough in their future to send me ten cents in stamps.

Dear Reader, I wish also the privilege of convincing you of my ability to look into your future, to guide your steps in the right path, to lead you (as I have led many, many others) to success in business, love, in the attainment of any praiseworthy object.

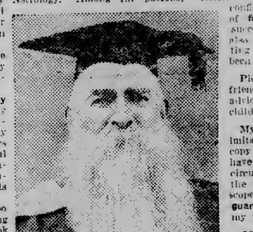
Life is not all luck, as many would have you believe. Those who crowd to the front are those who understand themselves and their possibilities thoroughly. No guess-work, no waiting to see what may turn up.

When a prominent New York financier has been known to daily consult an Astrologer before entering upon speculation, is it not high time for you to learn your fortunate periods, time for you to look into this science and see what fate has in store for you?

Did you ever hear of a divorce where two people were married in harmony with their Astrological indications?

Did you ever stop to think that some of your rivals who are perhaps outstripping you in the race for money, love or fame are pushing forward in the clear light of Astrological knowledge, while you are groping blindly in the dark?

Why not turn to me for advice and be yourself the successful leader?



I am perfectly satisfied with your Reading. It seems strange that you should refer to my suffering from throat trouble. I have just had a bad attack and usually have it two or three times per year. I shall certainly recommend you to my friends.
Prof. A. C. Dixon, M. A. B. Sc., Lond., Darlington, England.

It is wonderful how you have told me many things in my life that are very true. I think you have a great power. All you have told me is true as Gospel.
Annie Wlach, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

All the items in my Reading are as exact as they could possibly be. I am perfectly satisfied.
Dora Schlicdt, Port Arthur, Texas.

It is wonderful how you can know so much about a person so many thousand miles away. One would think you were possessed of some supernatural power.
James Ward, Cheriton, Va.

I have drawers filled with letters from grateful letters telling me of financial advancement, of success in love and marriage; also many sad letters regretting that my advice had not been asked years ago.

Pleased patrons have sent friends to me, have asked my advice for their children and children's children.

My success has brought imitators—some have tried to copy my work, many of them have copied my books and circulars. Remember, I was the first to send free Horoscopes for the asking. I alone guarantee the correctness of my forecasts.

My system of Astrology will answer questions of vital interest to every human being; will name your fortunate days and years, will tell you of the likelihood of legacies, will show you who to marry. This trial reading which I offer you free will justify you by its correctness.

My system of Astrology is different from that of any Astrologer living or dead. To the Astrology of Biblical days I have added the results of my own study and observation, until I am able to foretell events which absolutely come to pass.

Patrons write me after the lapse of years, announcing the fulfillment of every prediction.

You will be so convinced by what I tell you, by my wonderful powers to read your fortune like an open book, that you will write me when in doubt or in trouble; when you want advice about speculation, business, marriage, travel and the future.

You will also be glad to refer your friends to me, and in that way repay me for the cost of the Free Horoscope which I will send you.

WRITE ME TODAY LEST YOU FORGET.

Send me today your full name, date of birth, sex, and if married or single, with 10 cents in stamps of your own country for return postage, clerical work, etc., and this Horoscope will be mailed to you at once free. Postage to France is 5 cents. Do not enclose silver in your letter.

FAILS TO STATE CAUSE OF ACTION

Suit Against Mining Company for Removing Remains Ruled Out.

On the ground that Ellen Gaffney stated no cause of action against the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company when she brought suit for $3,000 damages for removing her mother's body and her father's leg from a grave in a cemetery which had been purchased by the mining company, in district court yesterday, Judge Cant sustained a demurrer to the complaint interposed by the mining company non-suiting the case.

Mrs. Gaffney's mother, Annie Kilgallen, died in 1875, and was buried in the Catholic cemetery at Negaunee, Mich. The same year, her father lost his leg in an accident. It was buried in the same grave. In 1910, the mining company bought the property on which the cemetery is located. Mrs. Gaffney claimed that the understanding was that if any bodies were removed permission was first to be obtained from the next of kin and a permit issued by the city of Negaunee for such removal.

In November, 1910, she alleged, the mining company disregarded this agreement and exhumed the body. Mrs. Gaffney declared that she had been unable to learn where the remains had been transferred to. Her attorney is Andrew Nelson. H. J. Grannis is attorney for the mining company.

WOULD MAKE POLK "DRY."

County Option Advocates Are Already Busy With Petitions.

Crookston, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Polk county optionists are preparing to give the voters a chance to see whether the county is to be in the wet or dry column in the very near future. Petitions have been started near Fosston and McIntosh, where the rural vote is strong against the liquor traffic, and it is understood that sufficient signers are expected within two weeks to file the petition. The general opinion is that Polk will go dry by all the way from 1,000 to 2,000, as when county option was an issue in the senatorial fight between Senators Saugstad and Stephens, that issue gave the election to Saugstad by a good majority despite the fact that Stephens was a very strong candidate. Since that election the county option sentiment has been growing in Polk county, and even antioptionists have no hope of being able to stem the tide.

LOYALTY TO THE WHOLE CITY URGED AT WEST END BANQUET

Welfare of Community Is Based on Morality, Says Randall.

Nearly 200 Hear Work of Commercial Club Lauded By Speakers.

Loyalty to the district in which they live and to the city at large was the keynote of speeches last night at the annual banquet of the West End Commercial club held at the Rex hotel. The banquet was attended by nearly 200 persons, more than a third of whom were women.

Frank E. Randall, who spoke in behalf of the West End Commercial club, and was the principal speaker of the evening, struck the keynote when he said that the moral welfare of the community was as important to the district as that of getting better streets and more industries. The moral surroundings, he said, must be looked after by such an organization in order to make the living conditions of the people more desirable.

"An organization like this must give careful attention to the elimination of friction," said Mr. Randall, in speaking on the function of a commercial body. "There is more profit in serving than in being served. No organization can serve a district to better advantage than a commercial body like this. Ever since the earliest stages of the history of man, we read about men having gathered in council for their betterment. The club must also look after the social welfare of the community. It is the intermingling of men that creates friendship and closer fellowship in the community. The club should ont only strive to make its influence felt locally but also in the state and nation."

West End to Be "Center."

Mr. Randall pointed out that the West end has been the only section of the city that has shown in recent years substantial growth not only as a residence section but also as a business center. He predicted that it would not be long before the West end would no longer be known under that term, but as the central portion of the city.

Mayor W. J. Prince gave the opening address following a short address of welcome by Dr. O. A. Oredson, toastmaster. The mayor complimented the club for its activities and accomplishments during the last year. He touched especially on the method of the merchants of the district in having provided entertainments for the people during the last year. Team work on the part of the merchants had he said, accomplished these results.

In touching on the government he said that the people can have just the kind of an administration that they seek. It is the people, he said, who can elect men who are efficient and clean or elect men who are just the reverse. He said that the people have good reason for looking forward to a prosperous year as indications now are that business is again rapidly getting back to its normal conditions.

Community Loyalty Urged.

The keynote of the talk given by Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, was community loyalty. The spirit of optimism should always prevail, he said. The man with only the good word for his community, he said, was the proper booster while there was no room for the pessimist.

"Be loyal to your end of the city," he said. "You have here the best section of the best city on earth. You have splendid business men, a splendid commercial organization, the best schools in the country, and the greatest opportunities for all."

Hans B. Haroldson gave a short talk in behalf of the Duluth Commercial club. He said that the uptown organization stood ready at all times to give its support and assistance to projects fathered by the West end organization, and all it asked in return was the good feeling towards it. The Duluth club he said was spending thousands of dollars to make the city the most prominent in the country commercially and otherwise. He predicted that the West end would eventually become the "hub" of the city.

Advocates County Hospital.

Mrs. C. A. Spring, representing the Woman's council, said that women supplied the inspiration for the men, and the men were expected to carry out these inspirations. She said that the council now had under consideration three such projects that they expected to put up to the men to carry out. The most important of these, she said, was a county hospital. A bill to provide such an institution had already been introduced in the state legislature. She deplored the lack of an institution where patients can be taken without the payment of the minimum cost of $15 per room. At the proposed county hospital, she said, the maximum price for such accommodations would be $15 and that at least 100 free beds would be provided.

She also advocated a free dental clinic for Duluth. This, she said, was up to the dentists to take hold of and make successful. She said that physicians who have examined school children say that out of 7,000 examined, 4,500 had defective teeth. What the percentage would be if the dentists had made the examination, she said, she would not venture to guess. The parents of many of these children, she said, can well afford to pay for the work necessary, while there are hundreds of others who cannot afford payment. For these children is wanted the free clinic, she said.

Visiting Housewife.

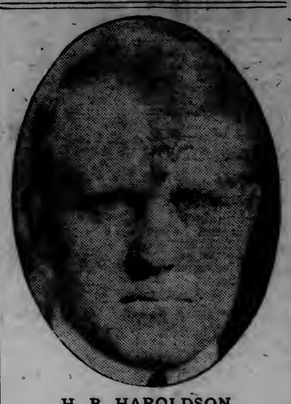
The third object is that of securing a visiting housewife. She scored the school method which makes history, mathematics, English, Latin, German and other studies compulsory, while the one which women would be most interested in, that of domestic science, was made elective. The visiting housewife, she said, would visit the homes of the poor and inexperienced and give instructions in proper method of housekeeping.

L. A. Barnes, representing the West Duluth Commercial club, brought greetings from that organization. He said that the West Duluth club had the highest respect for the West end club and in many of the improvements advocated, both were alike interested. He complimented the organization on its activities of past years in the establishment of a market garden, conducting garden contests and in securing good paved streets.

Pastor Urges Loyalty.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, spoke on loyalty, saying that loyalty not only meant the kind required in business, but also in the morality of the community. Loyalty to the city by its residents will make it one of the most prominent in the country. Rev. Mr. Silloway also gave the invocation.

S. W. Hill, former president of the organization, gave a short talk. He said that he had noticed an article in the "Twenty Years Ago" column of



H. B. HAROLDSON.

MRS. C. E. SPRING.

The Herald on Wednesday, that the Duluth Commercial club was organized. This, he said, was organized in the West end and was the parent organization of all other bodies. This club later moved uptown, he said.

The program included several songs by the Svea Glee club. At the close the guests and the glee club sang "America."

Nelson Will Speak.

Col. B. Nelson of Minneapolis, provincial officer for the Scandinavian Salvation Army, will visit the West end corps tomorrow and will assist in conducting the services at the hall, 1631 West Superior street. The services will be held at 10:30 a. m., 4 and 7:30 p. m. Capt. A. Dahl and band of Superior will assist in conducting the morning and afternoon services.

Weekly Meetings.

The Young People's Institute of Baptist Churches of Duluth will be held Tuesday evening at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. The meetings will be held every Tuesday evening, with the exception of Passion week, during Lent.

West End Briefs.

Quarterly communion services and reception for new members will be held at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, tomorrow morning. In the evening a thanksgiving service will be held.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, returned last evening from Two Harbors, where he has been conducting a conference with other pastors of the district.

George O. Malberick of Minneapolis was a visitor in the West end yesterday.

Mrs. J. A. McGaughey, 2109 West First street, will leave this evening for California, where she will spend three months. She will also visit at St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, Topeka, San Juan and Los Angeles. She will spend most of her time at the latter city.

Judge W. H. Windom of the municipal court will be the speaker tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the men's meeting to be held at the Star theater, 2107 West Superior street. It is expected that a large number of men will attend the meeting. A male chorus will assist on the program.

The West end "Tramp Orchestra" will entertain tomorrow evening at the Columbia hall.

Moose Lake, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a caucus held Tuesday evening in the village hall the following candidates were nominated: Mayor, E. P. Hart; council, M. Larson, A. W. Johnson and Jake Pusel; clerk, Edward Losensky; treasurer, Ole Swanson; justice of peace, W. C. Stephenson; constables, Byron Penrose and Charles Bor.

There are two questions to be submitted next Tuesday, one the separation of the village from the township and the other is the wet and dry vote in the township, with a complete set of officers to be elected in each.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID DISEASE

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

The Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete is all brawn and muscle—no fat

THE old Olympic Game promoters were great for what we call "form."

Symmetry, proportion, soundness and proper balance out-bid bulging muscles for favor—yes, and out-won, too, just as they will today.

Mere bulk never was synonymous with endurance—and the truth of this statement drives home with a bang, when you apply it to tires.

IF thick, heavy tires were the last word in tire construction, we could wipe out of existence a Goodrich Research and Test Department employing seventy people. We would take off the road a battalion of ten automobiles, that run twenty-four hours a day and every day in the year, grinding tires of all makes to pieces, just for the sake of information to us and eventual economy to the user of Goodrich Tires.

There is where we learn to cut out of a tire the material which gets the user nothing.

Of course, when we stripped tire price lists of their padding—fictitious values—we expected rivals to say we had stripped our tires.

IT was their only "come-back." They had to say that, in stripping down prices to the point where they were fair to dealer and consumer and left no room for injurious price-cutting tactics, we had stripped our tires of some quality, too.

THE Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete, is all brawn and muscle—no fat. It represents an achievement—the ability to cut out the extra costs of manufacture, the extra costs of labor, of extra, needless material, and to give you the best, long-mileage, high-standard tire in the world.

There are padded tires as well as padded price lists.

Don't pay for padding.

Now don't forget this—we are talking in the main about Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, for they represent ninety per cent of our factory output for resale.

Furthermore, while we have put the padded prices on smooth tread tires on the run, the evil of padded prices on non-skid tires still is in evidence, as shown in table below:

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO., Akron, Ohio

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertized tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30x3	$ 9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Inhabitants of Mexico City on the Verge of Starvation.

Carranza Commander Refuses to Allow Succor to Starving.

Washington, March 6.—President Wilson is confronted with one of the most serious and perplexing developments that has ever arisen in the Mexican situation. Mexico City is on the verge of starvation. Gen. Obregon, the Carranza commander, refuses to permit an international relief committee, composed of wealthy families of the foreign colonies to succor the needy.

"Mexico needs no foreign aid," the general is reported to have said. All merchants who closed their stores have been ordered to reopen under threat of punishment. Three hundred of them, all Mexicans, have been imprisoned. The people of the city are living in terror of another evacuation, since Obregon has announced that he will not prevent looting or pillaging for food or money.

The Brazilian, British, Spanish and Italian ambassadors called separately at the state department yesterday, bringing pessimistic reports of the situation, which corresponded to reports already received by the American government. The foreign diplomats suggested no solution.

Secretary Bryan announced that he had sent an urgent telegram to American Consul Silliman with instructions to lay the situation earnestly before Gen. Carranza, so that Gen. Obregon might be directed to accept the proffered aid of the foreign residents. Freight service is suspended between Mexico City and Vera Cruz. Transportation facilities for relief purposes are being withheld by Obregon on the ground of military necessity.

Studying Question.

President Wilson was advised of all the facts as revealed in official messages and the reports from the foreign ambassadors. Last night the president was reported to be studying the various phases of the question closely. Should Gen. Obregon continue to refuse outside aid, drastic measures might be necessary in the view of foreign diplomats. The situation is described by them as more intolerable than it ever has been since revolutionary troubles began in the Southern republic.

Talk of an allied expedition similar to the one that went to the relief of foreign legations at Peking during the Boxer uprising, was again heard in official quarters, where it was generally admitted that a grave condition of affairs had arisen.

For the present the outcome of the telegraphic correspondence with Genl Carranza will be awaited. Hitherto he has been reported as standing by all the activities of Obregon whose purpose, according to official reports seems to be to force the lower classes to enlist in the Carranza army or starve.

Wild Rumors Afloat.

All sorts of wild rumors are afloat in Mexico City, due to the incendiary utterances of Obregon who, in newspaper interviews, has practically sanctioned plunder for food. Gen. Carranza has been asked by the United States to instruct Obregon to take measures to protect lives and property of foreigners in the event of evacuation. The people fear the water supply may be shut off and that the electric light cables may be cut, thus leaving the city in darkness at night and permitting the irresponsible element to commit wanton depredations.

Just why the 300 merchants were imprisoned has not been revealed. They were reported to have appealed to Obregon for relief from a heavy tax which he imposed upon them. Secretary Bryan said that, so far as the state department had been advised, all the Mexican priests arrested for failure to contribute to funds demanded by Obregon, were still in prison. The international relief committee which raised about 250,000 pesos was not permitted to aid the poor according to official dispatches because Obregon failed to accept funds restricted to any definite use. He desired that the foreigners pay the tax, recently levied, but revoked on representations from foreign governments, without questioning how it would be used.

WARNS AGAINST BUYING "ORPHAN" CAR

Financial Standing of Company Important, Says Hudson Manager.

R. B. Jackson, general manager and secretary-treasurer of the Hudson Motor Car company, believes that prospective motor car purchasers should pay more attention to the financial standing of the companies who are back of the cars they think of selecting. To many buyers the beauty of the car, its general appearance, its size and what it will do on the road are the most important points, yet even more important, in Mr. Jackson's estimation, is the financial standing and the commercial reputation of the company that builds the car.

Unfortunate owners of "orphan" cars will testify that Mr. Jackson's judgment is correct. To buy a car, the selling price of which is say, $3,000, to have the manufacturer go out of business, and then to find that the selling value, or exchange value of the car has dropped over night, probably to something like 20 per cent of its purchase price, is a grim commentary on Mr. Jackson's statement. Yet this is what has happened to very many buyers of motor cars during the last two or three years. It is of the first importance to know that the maker of the car is financially strong, that he is going to continue in business, that he is possessed of funds sufficient to meet the constantly changing aspects of the motor car business and of the world's business. These are points that must appeal to the buyer of an automobile.

One of the important items of cost in an automobile is depreciation. A car bought from a manufacturer who goes out of business may drop in value 50 per cent in the course of a year. This depreciation is a very real thing. The trading or selling value of the car is much less than it would be under normal conditions. The difference is loss. This gives one a vivid realization of the necessity of buying cars that have back of them the test of time both for the car and for the maker. The stability of the manufacturer is perhaps more important even than the stability of the car. The fact that the Hudson company is, financially, one of the strongest manufacturers in the world is a point worthy of deep consideration by prospective buyers.

WORLD CHAMPION ENTERS FOR RACE

Jean Chassagne, Released By French Government, Will Be at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Released by special governmental action from French military service, Jean Chassagne, holder of the world's hour record, and one of the most sensational drivers of Europe, has entered the next Indianapolis 500-mile race at the wheel of an English Sunbeam. Chassagne takes the place of Darius Resta, who recently quit the Sunbeam camp to drive a Peugeot instead.

Since the war began, Chassagne had served as artillery man in the naval fort at Marseilles. All hope of release had been despaired of, when Resta's defection made action imperative. Then, and only then, he got away. Even so, had Marseilles not been comparatively free from danger of attack, he could not have made it, it is said.

In the realm of speed, Chassagne is some sensation. The time he pushed his 12-cylinder Sunbeam around Brooklands, 107.93 miles in an hour is sufficient to insure his name to posterity for a long while. In the last race at Indianapolis he did not do so well, going out shortly after the start with an overturned car. But for this he might have won, it is said, as he was going faster every minute.

COMFORT FOR HIS "GUESTS"

Salesmen Will Be Given Royal Reception at Chalmers Plant.

"For the convenience and comfort of our guests," as Hugh Chalmers expresses it, an addition to the office building of the Chalmers factory has been completed. The addition takes the form of a large reception room across the entire front of the building. It is finished in beautiful oak paneling and is tastefully decorated. Easy chairs, magazine tables, writing desks, telephones and other conveniences for guests are provided.

The "guests," as Mr. Chalmers calls them, who use this fine new room to the greatest extent, are the scores of salesmen for various lines who visit the Chalmers plant each day. And the fact that the company has gone to the trouble and expense of building and fitting up the beautiful new reception room for the benefit of thees men and other visitors is a striking example of the fine spirit of courtesy that characterizes modern business methods.

"We believe," says Mr. Chalmers, "that every man who comes to our factory to sell something does so with the belief that he can render us a service. Accordingly it is our duty to give him a courteous hearing. We believe also that other people who come to visit our plant do so because of a legitimate interest in seeing how we do these things. It is our duty, and our pleasure as well, to receive them courteously and to do all we can to make their visit pleasant.

"Salesmen appreciate courtesy and consideration shown them at the factory when they call. In fact it was a chance remark of some salesman for automobile accessories, which I overheard downtown, that is in a measure responsible for our adopting several new rules, which, we believe will tend to make every department at our plant give to visiting salesmen even more consideration than in the past.

"Courtesy, we think, is one of the most important virtues for every man and every woman in the business world. We endeavor to inculcate this throughout our entire organization—not only in our reception room, where, perhaps, it shows more conspicuously, but in every department, our telephone operators, our correspondents, our purchasing department, our service men, and, above all, our salesmen.

"Every man or woman, every boy or girl in an organization who comes in contact with people outside—no matter in how humble a capacity—represents in a very real sense 'the company.' To that extent they are 'salesmen.' They are 'selling' the person with whom they come in contact. They are giving him a good impression—or a bad impression—of the company. How important, therefore, that everyone in an organization should be taught to be courteous, to render gladly and willingly whatever service they do render, to remember that they represent 'the house,' to take pride in winning the good will of everyone with whom they come in contact.

"Business goes where it is wanted and stays where it is well treated. Courtesy helps both to get and to keep business."

GOOD WAGES FOR CADILLAC GRADUATES

Men in Sixth Year of Practical Work Draw $27.71 Weekly.

At the semi-annual distribution of prizes at the Cadillac school of applied mechanics, maintained at Detroit by the Cadillac Motor Car company, Supervisor M. B. Hughes made the interesting statement that the wages of the graduates grade considerably higher than those of the average mechanic. Mr. Hughes had compiled a table from information received from 125 graduates, which shows that the pay of graduates who are in their sixth year of practical work averages $27.71 per week.

Close to $4 was distributed among the students for regular attendance and meritorious class work. The Cadillac school was instituted several years ago by H. M. Leland, president of the Cadillac company, with the idea of giving practical mechanical training to young men. Its graduates are fitted to do the work of first-class mechanics, having been thoroughly drilled in both the practice and theory of mechanical construction as applied to the motor car. The school is provided by the Cadillac Motor Car company for the benefit of the community, the industry and the country as a whole, being conducted without any idea of individual profit or advantage. Mr. Leland takes an intense interest in the school and is very enthusiastic about the assistance it is able to give ambitious young men.

FACTORY VISITORS ARE SURE PROSPECTS

Elbert Hubbard Buys Chalmers Six After Inspecting Plant.

"We have never lost a sale to any prospective purchaser of an automobile who has visited the Chalmers factory in Detroit and seen these cars in the making," said E. J. Filiatrault, the local Chalmers dealer, the other day.

"Every day finds visitors from many parts of the country making a tour of the great plant in Detroit.

"Among the most recent distinguished visitors was Elbert Hubbard, who after thoroughly inspecting the factory, placed his order for a Chalmers master six torpedo. Mr. Hubbard plans to use this car for himself and Mrs. Hubbard.

"On the occasion of his recent trip, Mr. Hubbard expressed his surprise at the growth which the Chalmers factory has shown since he last visited Detroit. He mentioned particularly the famous Chalmers 'hill,' which in reality is the dynamometer test that scientifically measures the efficiency of every car before it leaves the factory. He was deeply interested also in the giant press which was installed at a cost of $72,000 for making the gracefully molded oval fenders which are a feature of Chalmers cars.

"The rigorous methods of securing accuracy and testing every part to see that it measures up to the absolute standards of perfection caused favorable comment on the part of Mr. Hubbard. This is a feature incidentally that has helped to give the Chalmers factory the reputation for turning out a product of such high standard as to cause the Chalmers company to adopt the slogan, 'quality first.'"

QUALITY AND LOW COST DESIRED

Auto Manufacturers Are Striving to Attain This Combination.

"It may be said that all manufacturers are conscientiously striving to give the public and dealers cars that combine high quality at reasonable cost," declares an official of the Oldsmobile company, "but it is evident," he says, "that scarcely any two manufacturers have interpreted the demands of the public the same way, in view of the fact that cars are now in the market priced all the way from about $275 to $7,000."

J. V. Hall, sales manager, analyzes the manufacturers' difficulties in deciding the price and quality questions as follows: "Every so often the auto dealer comes to the auto manufacturer with the question, 'Why don't you put more quality in your car?' or 'Why don't you add a few refinements to give your car more class?' Meanwhile both dealers and consumers are urging low prices, light weight and economy in all directions. With the price demand and the quality demand simultaneously confronting him, what can the manufacturer do?

"Naturally he is willing to satisfy all parties, but under any possible scheme of things can't do it. Perhaps his hands are tied by inability to buy raw materials at low enough prices or by limited facilities for producing cars, or any one of a number of causes, and consequently one of these two contrary demands of the public and dealers can be satisfied only at the sacrifice of the other."

THINKS "JITNEY" WILL BE POPULAR

Will Have Great Future in United States, Says Willys.

"The tremendous influence exerted by the electric street railway interests may succeed for a short period in retarding the sudden and great development of the 'jitney bus,' but it will never be able to suppress that new and popular mode of transportation," declared John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company in the course of an interview on the "jitney" situation at his winter home in Pasadena, Cal. Since arriving in California, Mr. Willys has made a study of the "jitney bus" in the cities where its remarkable rise to popularity started.

"The public in this country is just awakening to the possibilities and advantages of motor transportation," continued Mr. Willys, as he scanned a report from the Overland factory at Toledo advising him of a record-breaking production.

"In London, the electric lines, known over there as 'trams,' are owned and operated by the London county council. This body is extremely jealous of its abilities and has branched out into numerous paternalistic schemes. As soon as the motor bus became a factor in transportation, nine or ten years ago, the council began exerting every effort within its great power to suppress motor buses in the interests of the huge investments in which that body had involved the taxpayers in the construction of electric street railways.

"The public, however, rallied to the defense of the newer and more popular means of transportation and today, notwithstanding the fact that the council's pet street railways are facing certain bankruptcy as a result of motor competition, the people stand by the motor busses and refuse to see them unjustly dealt with."

Mr. Willys believes that the world is just upon the eve of most startling developments along this line.

"Why," continues the head of the automobile concern which stands second only in the world's product of motor cars, "in England the jitney business is no longer confined to the cities. There have been dozens of bus services established between smaller towns. Out of London lines run in all directions carrying passengers into the country to points which have never before been available to the rank and file.

"It is true that a great protest has gone up from the exclusive element which has practically monopolized these rural districts, but the authorities have been true to the motto, 'the greatest good for the greatest number.'

"At the beginning of the war a tremendous movement was on foot to nationalize motor bus transportation, and compete more and more with steam railways, which in their suburban passenger traffic already are being hit hard by bus competition. In historic old Oxford the trams have entirely disappeared from the streets."

Mr. Willys is of the opinion that manufacturers of moderate-priced cars will soon be turning their attention to the production of a special type of automobile which will serve better than the standard touring car as used today for "jitney" purposes. At present the "jitney" service makes a splendid outlet for second-hand cars and promises to solve a most complicated problem for the automobile industry.

GREAT HORSESHOE MOTOR HIGHWAY

A Coast-to-Coast Route Through United States and Canada.

Vancouver, B. C., March 6.—A movement has been started in Canada to map a route through the United States and Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts, to be known as the Great Horseshoe motor highway.

In effect, it would link by means of a Canadian road, the Pacific highway with the route from Florida to Montreal, and the result would be 8,000 miles of motor road. From Florida the road would extend through the main cities of the Eastern states to Montreal, and from there west through Canada to Vancouver, B. C., where it would connect with the Pacific highway running along the coast to San Diego, Cal.

On the map the route would be in the form of a horseshoe, with the tips on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the toe in Canada, hence the horseshoe name.

KISSELKAR NOTED FOR LONG SERVICE

Agent Declares Buyers Emphasize Importance of Car's Endurance.

"In figuring up the cost of a long railroad journey, the traveler does not merely ask the rate to the next station, but for the entire distance," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the KisselKar.

"And so it is with the wise buyer of an automobile. He not only wants to know how much the operating cost of his car is likely to be during the first year of ownership, but in later service as well.

"That sort of a buyer is not blinded to the real issue by economy 'stunts.' Nor is he persuaded by specific trip records. What he demands to know is the probability of low average upkeep during the entire life of the car.

"He passes up experiment for experience, and assertion for reputation. He chooses a car like the KisselKar, for he finds that its manufacturers have built sixes for eight years and fours for ten years, and have adhered closely during that whole period to sound mechanical principles. He finds on every hand evidence that KisselKars have given satisfaction to owners, both as regards stability and economy. He feels that a KisselKar is a safe buy because it has made good in the past—surely the best kind of testimony he can select to guide him."

WAR PROVES VALUE OF MOTOR TRUCK

Has Become Indispensable as Means of Rapid Transportation.

During the raging conflict between the warring countries of Europe it has been demonstrated that the automobile is absolutely indispensable.

The motor car has suddenly taken its place as one of the vitally necessary parts of the modern army. It has been said by not a few military critics that none of the amazing shiftings of the great armies in the field at present, from the sensational advance of the German hosts on Paris to the present time, could have been accomplished without the automobile.

It has adapted itself to nearly every feature of warfare. Great fleets of trucks, heavy and light, are plying the arduous task of the commissariat; motor ambulances are busy by thousands in the work of mercy; armored fortresses on wheels deal death and destruction, and lighter machines equipped with machine guns, perform the duties of patrol and surprise skirmishing. Special motor cars for cutting wire entanglements and carrying guns with which to shoot at aeroplanes are in use by both sides, and motor soup kitchens, automobile wireless convoys in motored forms, with a dozen special adptations, are in constant employment.

The war lords of Europe early foresaw the superiority of the motor truck over horse-driven vehicles as a means of transportation. This statement is verified by the precautions they took to reserve the right to use large batteries of heavy-duty vehicles purchased for commercial use by private individuals or corporations. They realized that in case of war the manufacture of automobiles on their side of the Atlantic would be at a standstill. Consequently they adopted measures to assure themselves of the proper motor equipment even under such straits.

The German army administration was induced to take up the question of motor truck transportation with a dual purpose in mind. The authorities desired to secure an efficient event of war and of preventing the blockading of military roads with horse-drawn vehicles when they desired them open for the movement of troops.

In order that the trucks might be used without damage to the ordinary roads of neighboring countries which might possibly be invaded, trucks were prescribed which, when loaded, ranged from two tons to five and a half tons weight on the real axle. None of the motors subsidized for army use are less than 35-horse power. Trailers also are specified as being particularly desirable for army use.

KISSEL FACTORY OF HUMBLE ORIGIN

First Building Was Little Larger Than a Garage.

The Kissel Motor Car company of Hartford, Wis., was organized in 1905 and produced its first car in 1906. It was then located in a building scarcely larger than the ordinary garage of today. Around this modest beginning has been built a modern plant covering many acres of ground and giving employment to many hundreds of skilled mechanics.

This plant is equipped for the complete manufacture of motors, axles, clutches, bodies and many other less important automobile parts so that the KisselKar is essentially what is known as a manufactured car, as distinguished from an assembled product. Casting, heat-treating, sand-blasting, metal-testing and enameling are among the operations requiring special machinery with which the Kissel factory is fully equipped.

In its first years the Kissel Motor Car company built about one hundred cars, all of which were taken by a Chicago dealer. The car was immediately successful and the subsequent history of the company has been one of constant progress and development.

In the summer of 1907 the Kissels built and marketed their first six-cylinder car, thus being among the pioneer producers of "sixes." The Kissels have brought out several innovations, the most recent of which is the all-year car, combining a one-compartment touring body with a Sedan top that can be quickly attached or detached.

In 1909 the first Kissel truck was offered, and a large trade has been built up in this department. There are six models of Kissel trucks, the capacities being 1,500 pounds, 1, 1½, 2½, 3½ and 6 tons. Several hundred Kissel 1½ and 2½-ton trucks have been exported to Europe since the outbreak of the war.

Before embarking in the automobile business, the Kissels built gasoline farm engines and agricultural implements of various kinds, and to this is attributed much of the conspicuous success they have achieved in constructing unusually capable motors, always a prominent merit of Kissel-Kars.

CHEVROLET ENTERS FOR SPEEDWAY RACE

Famous Driver Comes Back After Retirement of Five Years.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—After a retirement lasting five years, Louis Chevrolet, the famous Franco-American racing driver who once knew no equal either on track or road, has returned to the game, making his reentry via the next 500-mile race at Indianapolis, in which he will drive a Cornelian car weighing only 1,000 pounds.

Chevrolet's last appearance was in 1910, his final race being the Vanderbilt of that season. In this contest he literally hurlded a machine full of spectators, winding up in front of a house on all four, after a trip through the air of about sixty feet. Up to the time he went out he was the favorite, leading the rest of the field by a wide margin. He quit the game shortly afterward.

Entries for the Indianapolis race now number eleven, four more than were registered this time last year. They are as follows: Three Maxwells, Carlson and two others driving; Mercedes, De Palma; two Sunbeams, Resta and Coatalen; Rene Thomas, car unannounced; two Duesenbergs, Alley and O'Donnell; Brown, Brown, and Cornelian, Chevrolet.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

In spite of the popular belief that Alaska is snowbound for a large part of the year, word has just been received from E. E. Beattie of Juneau, the capital, that only for a few days at a time has motorcycling been stopped by the snow this winter. Beattie says that the roads in Alaska at this time of the year are in excellent condition for motorcycling, and that the temperature is not too low to make the sport a real pleasure. There are many riders in Juneau, where there is also a live motorcycle club.

Easy chairs, magazine tables, writing desks, telephones and other conveniences for guests are provided.

The "guests," as Mr. Chalmers calls them, who use this fine new room to the greatest extent, are the scores of salesmen for various lines who visit the Chalmers plant each day. And the fact that the company has gone to the trouble and expense of building and fitting up the beautiful new reception room for the benefit of these men and other visitors is a striking example of the fine spirit of courtesy that characterizes modern business methods.

"We believe," says Mr. Chalmers, "that every man who comes to our factory to sell something does so with the belief that he can render us a service. Accordingly it is our duty to give him a courteous hearing. We believe also that other people who come to visit our plant do so because of a legitimate interest in seeing how we do these things. It is our duty, and our pleasure as well, to receive them courteously and to do all we can to make their visit pleasant.

"Salesmen appreciate courtesy and consideration shown them at the factory when they call. In fact it was a chance remark of some salesman for automobile accessories, which I overheard downtown that is in a measure responsible for our adopting several new rules, which, we believe will tend to make every department at our plant give to visiting salesmen even more consideration than in the past.

"Courtesy, we think, is one of the most important virtues for every man and every woman in the business world. We endeavor to inculcate this throughout our entire organization—not only in our reception room, where perhaps it shows more conspicuously, but in every department, our telephone operators, our correspondents, our purchasing department, our service men, and, above all, our salesmen.

"Every man or woman, every boy or girl in an organization who comes in contact with people outside—no matter in how humble a capacity—represents in a very real sense 'the company.' To that extent they are 'salesmen.' They are selling the person with whom they come in contact. They are giving him a good impression—or a bad impression—of the company. How important, therefore, that everyone in an organization should be taught to be courteous, to render gladly and willingly what ever service they do render, to remember that they represent 'the house,' to take pride in winning the good will of everyone with whom they come in contact.

"Courtesy pays where it is wanted and stays where it is well treated. Courtesy helps both to get and to keep business."

GOOD WAGES FOR CADILLAC GRADUATES

Men in Sixth Year of Practical Work Draw $27.71 Weekly.

At the semi-annual distribution of prizes at the Cadillac school of applied mechanics, maintained at Detroit by the Cadillac Motor Car company, Supervisor M. B. Hughes made the interesting statement that the wages of the graduates' grade considerably higher than those of the average mechanic. Mr. Hughes had compiled a table from information received from 125 graduates, which shows that the pay of graduates who are in their sixth year of practical work averages $27.71 per week.

Close to $4 was distributed among the students for regular attendance and meritorious class work. The Cadillac school was instituted several years ago by H. M. Leland, president of the Cadillac company, with the idea of giving practical mechanical training to young men. Its graduates are fitted to do the work of first-class mechanics, having been thoroughly drilled in both the practice and theory of mechanical construction as applied to the motor car. The school is provided by the Cadillac Motor Car company for the benefit of the country, the industry and the country schools, being conducted without any idea of individual profit or advantage. Mr. Leland takes an intense interest in the school and is very enthusiastic about the assistance it is able to give ambitious young men.

FACTORY VISITORS ARE SURE PROSPECTS

Elbert Hubbard Buys Chalmers Six After Inspecting Plant.

"We have never lost a sale to any prospective purchaser of an automobile who has visited the Chalmers factory in Detroit and seen these cars in the making," said E. J. Fiffatrault, the local Chalmers dealer, the other day.

"Every day finds visitors from many parts of the country making a tour of the great plant in Detroit.

"Among the most recent distinguished visitors was Elbert Hubbard, who after thoroughly inspecting the factory, placed his order for a Chalmers master six torpedo. Mr. Hubbard goes to use this car for himself and Mrs. Hubbard.

"On the occasion of his recent trip, Mr. Hubbard expressed his surprise at the growth which the Chalmers factory has shown since he last visited Detroit. He mentioned particularly the famous Chalmers 'hill,' which in reality is the dynamometer test that scientifically measures the efficiency of every car before it leaves the factory. He was deeply interested also in the giant press which was installed at a cost of $72,000 for making the graceful molded oval fenders which are a feature of Chalmers cars.

"The rigorous methods of securing accuracy and testing every part to see that it measures up to the absolute standards of perfection caused favorable comment on the part of Mr. Hubbard. This is a feature incidentally that has helped to give the Chalmers factory the reputation for turning out a product of such high standard as to cause the Chalmers company to adopt the slogan, 'quality first.'" popular means of transportation," declared John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company in the course of an interview on the "jitney" situation at his winter home in Pasadena, Cal. Since arriving in California, Mr. Willys has made a study of the "jitney bus" in the cities where its remarkable rise to popularity started.

FIRST DODGE BROTHERS CAR ARRIVES AT HAVANA, CUBA

"The public in this country is just awakening to the possibilities and advantages of motor transportation," continued Mr. Willys, as he scanned a report from the Overland factory at Toledo advising him of a record-breaking production.

"In London, the electric lines, known over there as 'trams,' are owned and operated by the London county council. This body is extremely jealous of its abilities and has branched out into numerous paternalistic schemes. As soon as the motor bus became a factor in transportation, nine or ten years ago, the council began exerting every effort within its great power to suppress motor buses in the interests of the huge investments in which that body had involved the taxpayers in the construction of electric street railways.

"The public, however, rallied to the defense of the newer and more popular means of transportation and today, notwithstanding the fact that the council's pet street railways are facing certain bankruptcy as a result of motor competition, the people stand by the motor busses and refuse to see them unjustly dealt with."

Mr. Willys believes that the world is just upon the eve of most startling developments along this line.

"Why," continues the head of the automobile concern which stands second only in the world's product of motor cars, "in England the jitney business is no longer confined to the cities. There have been dozens of bus services established between smaller towns. Out of London lines run in all directions carrying passengers into the country to points which have never before been available to the rank and file.

"It is true that a great protest has gone up from the exclusive element which has practically monopolized these rural districts, but the authorities have been true to the motto, 'the greatest good for the greatest number.'

"At the beginning of the war a tremendous movement was on foot to nationalize motor bus transportation, and consolidate more and more with steam railways, which in their suburban passenger traffic already are being hit hard by bus competition. In historic old Oxford the trams have entirely disappeared from the streets."

Mr. Willys is of the opinion that manufacturers of moderate-priced cars will soon be turning their attention to the production of a special type of car which, while small, will serve better than the standard touring car as used today for "jitney" purposes. At present the "jitney" service makes a splendid outlet for second-hand cars and promises to solve a most complicated problem for the automobile industry.

QUALITY AND LOW COST DESIRED

Auto Manufacturers Are Striving to Attain This Combination.

"It may be said that all manufacturers are conscientiously striving to give the public and dealers cars that combine high quality at reasonable cost," declares an official of the Oldsmobile company, "but it is evident," he says, "that scarcely any two manufacturers have interpreted the demands of the public the same way, in view of the fact that cars are now in the market priced all the way from about $275 to $7,000."

J. V. Hall, sales manager, analyzes the manufacturers' difficulties in deciding the price and quality questions as follows: "Every so often the auto dealer comes to the auto manufacturer with the question, 'Why don't you put more quality in your car?' or 'Why don't you add a few refinements to give your car more class?' Meanwhile both dealers and consumers are urging low prices, light weight and economy in all directions. With the price demand and the quality demand simultaneously confronting him, what can the manufacturer do?

"Naturally he is willing to satisfy all parties, but under any possible scheme of things can't do it. Perhaps his hands are tied by inability to buy raw materials at low enough prices or by limited facilities for producing cars, or any one of a number of causes, and consequently one of these two contrary demands of the public and dealers can be satisfied only at the sacrifice of the other."

THINKS "JITNEY" WILL BE POPULAR

Will Have Great Future in United States, Says Willys.

"The tremendous influence exerted by the electric street railway interests may succeed for a short period in retarding the sudden and great development of the 'jitney bus,' but it will never be able to suppress that new and

A Coast-to-Coast Route Through United States and Canada.

Vancouver, B. C., March 6.—A movement has been started in Canada to map a route through the United States and Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts, to be known as the Great Horseshoe motor highway.

In effect, it would link, by means of a Canadian road, the Pacific highway with the route from Florida to Montreal, and the result would be 8,000 miles of motor road. From Florida the road would extend through the main cities of the Eastern states to Montreal, and from there west through Canada to Vancouver, B. C., where it would connect with the Pacific highway running along the coast to San Diego, Cal.

On the map the route would be in the form of a horseshoe, with the tips on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the toe in Canada, hence the horseshoe name.

KISSELKAR NOTED FOR LONG SERVICE

Agent Declares Buyers Emphasize Importance of Car's Endurance.

"In figuring up the cost of a long railroad journey, the traveler does not merely ask the rate to the next station, but for the entire distance," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the KisselKar.

"And so it is with the wise buyer of an automobile. He not only wants to know how much the operating cost of his car is likely to be during the first year of ownership, but in later service as well.

"That sort of a buyer is not blinded to the real issue by economy 'stunts.' Nor is he persuaded by specific trip records. What he demands to know is the probability of low average upkeep during the entire life of the car.

"He passes up experiment for experience, and assertion for reputation. He chooses a car like the KisselKar, for he finds that its manufacturers have built sixes for eight years and fours for ten years, and have adhered closely during that whole period to sound mechanical principles. He finds on every hand evidence that KisselKars have given satisfaction to owners, both as regards stability and economy. He feels that a KisselKar is a safe buy because it has made good in the past—surely the best kind of testimony he can select to guide him."

WAR PROVES VALUE OF MOTOR TRUCK

Has Become Indispensable as Means of Rapid Transportation.

During the raging conflict between the warring countries of Europe it has been demonstrated that the automobile is absolutely indispensable.

The motor car has suddenly taken its place as one of the vitally necessary parts of the modern army. It has been said by not a few military critics that none of the amazing shiftings of the great armies in the field at present, from the sensational advance of the German hosts on Paris to the present time, could have been accomplished without the automobile.

It has adapted itself to nearly every feature of warfare. Great fleets of trucks, heavy and light, are plying the arduous task of the commissariat; motor ambulances are busy by thousands in the work of mercy; armored fortresses on wheels deal death and destruction, and lighter machines equipped with machine guns, perform the duties of patrol and surprise skirmishing. Special motor cars for cutting wire entanglements and carrying guns with which to shoot at aeroplanes are in use by both sides, and motor soup kitchens, automobile wireless convoys in motored forms, with a dozen special adptations, are in constant employment.

The war lords of Europe early foresaw the superiority of the motor truck over horse-driven vehicles as a means of transportation. This statement is verified by the precautions they took to reserve the right to use large batteries of heavy-duty vehicles purchased for commercial use by private individuals or corporations. They realized that in case of war the manufacture of automobiles on their side of the Atlantic would be at a standstill. Consequently they adopted measures to assure themselves of the proper motor equipment even under such straits.

The German army administration was induced to take up the question of motor truck transportation with a dual purpose in mind. The authorities desired to secure an efficient event of war and of preventing the blockading of military roads with horse-drawn vehicles when they desired them open for the movement of troops.

In order that the trucks might be used without damage to the ordinary roads of neighboring countries which might possibly be invaded, trucks were prescribed which, when loaded, ranged from two tons to five and a half tons weight on the real axle. None of the motors subsidized for army use are less than 35-horse power. Trailers also are specified as being particularly desirable for army use.

KISSEL FACTORY OF HUMBLE ORIGIN

First Building Was Little Larger Than a Garage.

The Kissel Motor Car company of Hartford, Wis., was organized in 1905 and produced its first car in 1906. It was then located in a building scarcely larger than the ordinary garage of today. Around this modest beginning has been built a modern plant covering many acres of ground and giving employment to many hundreds of skilled mechanics.

This plant is equipped for the complete manufacture of motors, axles, clutches, bodies and many other less important automobile parts so that the KisselKar is essentially what is known as a manufactured car, as distinguished from an assembled product. Casting, heat-treating, sand-blasting, metal-testing and enameling are among the operations requiring special machinery with which the Kissel factory is fully equipped.

In its first years the Kissel Motor Car company built about one hundred cars, all of which were taken by a Chicago dealer. The car was immediately successful and the subsequent history of the company has been one of constant progress and development.

In the summer of 1907 the Kissels built and marketed their first six-cylinder car, thus being among the pioneer producers of "sixes." The Kissels have brought out several innovations, the most recent of which is the all-year car, combining a one-compartment touring body with a Sedan top that can be quickly attached or detached.

In 1909 the first Kissel truck was offered, and a large trade has been built up in this department. There are six models of Kissel trucks, the capacities being 1,500 pounds, 1, 1½, 2½, 3½ and 6 tons. Several hundred Kissel 1½ and 2½-ton trucks have been exported to Europe since the outbreak of the war.

Before embarking in the automobile business, the Kissels built gasoline farm engines and agricultural implements of various kinds, and to this is attributed much of the conspicuous success they have achieved in constructing unusually capable motors, always a prominent merit of Kissel-Kars.

CHEVROLET ENTERS FOR SPEEDWAY RACE

Famous Driver Comes Back After Retirement of Five Years.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—After a retirement lasting five years, Louis Chevrolet, the famous Franco-American racing driver who once knew no equal either on track or road, has returned to the game, making his reentry via the next 500-mile race at Indianapolis, in which he will drive a Cornelian car weighing only 1,000 pounds.

Chevrolet's last appearance was in 1910, his final race being the Vanderbilt of that season. In this contest he literally hurlded a machine full of spectators, winding up in front of a house on all four, after a trip through the air of about sixty feet. Up to the time he went out he was the favorite, leading the rest of the field by a wide margin. He quit the game shortly afterward.

Entries for the Indianapolis race now number eleven, four more than were registered this time last year. They are as follows: Three Maxwells, Carlson and two others driving; Mercedes, De Palma; two Sunbeams, Resta and Coatalen; Rene Thomas, car unannounced; two Duesenbergs, Alley and O'Donnell; Brown, Brown, and Cornelian, Chevrolet.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

In spite of the popular belief that Alaska is snowbound for a large part of the year, word has just been received from E. E. Beattle of Juneau, the capital, that only for a few days at a time has motorcycling been stopped by the snow this winter. Beattle says that the roads in Alaska at this time of the year are in excellent condition for motorcycling, and that the temperature is not too low to make the sport a real pleasure. There are many riders in Juneau, where there is also a live motorcycle club.

AUTO SHOW HELPS HAYNES AGENCY

Wide Interest Shown in Light Six at the Auditorium.

"The automobile show was a great success," declares M. W. Turner, distributer in this territory for the Haynes Automobile company of Kokomo, Ind. "The attendance was unusually large, and we are extremely gratified over the widespread interest shown in the Haynes exhibit.

"The Haynes light six has made some remarkable runs that have been the talk of motordom, and of course visitors to the show made it a point to see this unusual car. At Harrisburg, Pa., the Haynes light six averaged 24.3 miles to the gallon of gasoline, carrying five passengers over 111 miles of hilly roads. On Dec. 4 another stock Haynes light six with four passengers traveled 166 miles on low gear without stopping, making the trip from Newark, N. J., to Delaware water gap and return in 11 hours and 7 minutes.

"These remarkable performances were in a measure responsible for the keen interest manifested in our cars by dealers and consumers alike. The advent of the Kokomo six was particularly well timed. This new seven-passenger car was brought out at the show and there is already a big demand for this model.

"We anticipate that 1915 will be an exceptionally prosperous year for us."

HOOSIERS MAKE 4,845 MILE TRIP TO COAST IN FORD CAR

Roy L. and Phil A. Igo of Indianola, Iowa, returned home recently from their trip to Los Angeles, Cal., in a Ford car, a distance of 4,845 miles for the round trip.

The body and fenders had been taken off to make the car as light as possible, and a comfortable seat was placed on the frame. Behind the seat was a fifteen-gallon gasoline tank and a steamer trunk. The first day's run brought the party to Kansas City, a distance of 240 miles. From Kansas City they followed the old Santa Fe trail which runs parallel to the Santa Fe railroad, and affords a variety of scenery from the corn and wheat fields of Iowa, Missouri and Kansas, through the irrigated beet and alfalfa fields of Eastern Colorado, over mountain passes ranging close to 9,000 feet above sea level; on the dobe roads of New Mexico and the rocky roads of Arizona, and across the great American desert of Western Arizona and California.

With the exception of the real mountain roads in New Mexico and Arizona the route leads for the most part over the foothills and wide table lands, through forest reserves and Indian reservations, with many small streams to ford, and dry arroyos or "dry ditches" to cross. Every mile gave something new—the point of view was constantly changing, and once beautiful sights were replaced by more beautiful and more marvelous scenes. While, generally speaking, there were no fences the travelers passed across ranches, where they had to open gates or go over cattle guards.

The desert was the real lonely place with its monotone of travel mile after mile with not a single sign of habitation, except prairie dogs, which would dodge into their holes on the approach of the machine.

The tourists crossed the Colorado river fifteen miles east of Needles, Cal., over the Santa Fe railroad bridge, which has been planked. From Needles to San Bernardino, Cal., the road wound across the sand deserts, where fast time was almost impossible. From San Bernardino to Los Angeles they drove over an oiled boulevard for sixty miles through orange and lemon ranches.

The trip home was made in nine days, and the fastest run was from Trinidad, Colo., to Indianola, Iowa, a distance 918 miles, which was driven in three days.

An average of twenty miles to one gallon of gasoline and 320 miles to the gallon of oil was made for the entire trip.

DANGERS OF SPRING

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

When nature arouses from her winter lethargy and the first faint promises of spring soften the wind, man in common with all animal life harkens to the foretokening.

The desire for change and relief from the winter routine is strong in us all and while this is the time when caution should be exercised our impulses seem to lead up to cast it aside. The high death rate from pneumonia and tuberculosis which is the inevitable accompaniment of the early spring months is an irrefutable evidence that this change from winter habits requires the exercise of caution to prevent evil results.

The city dweller in particular is apt to over-eat and under-exercise during the winter season. As a result when spring approaches his physical strength is below par, he becomes easily fatigued and therefore susceptible to the attacks of disease germs.

Old people who suffer from the cold during the winter and who do not appreciate that ventilation need not mean exposure, are apt to suffer from the sudden changes of temperature at this season of the year. It is particularly due to these winter habits of poor ventilation and insufficient exercises that when spring arrives we feel debilitated.

The sensible liver who sleeps the year round in the fresh air, eats in moderation and exercises rationally is far less subject to spring fever and spring ailments than the more self-indulgent individual.

During March when fluctuations of the temperature are frequent, care should be taken to maintain an even bodily temperature by proper protection in the way of clothing. Better some slight discomfort at noon than to be chilled on the way home from work at night. Moderation in diet is also advisable. This with a reasonable amount of exercise and well ventilated sleeping rooms will aid in resisting the dangers accompanying the approach of spring.

SHE TRIED.

Boston Advertiser: Mrs. Flint, a kind-hearted mistress, was much disturbed that Martha, her new maid, was obliged to sleep in a cold room on the top floor.

"Martha," said she, remembering the good old-fashioned custom in her girlhood, "it is going to be a very cold night, and I think you had better take a flat iron to bed with you."

"Yes'm," the girl quietly assented.

When Martha announced breakfast the following morning the mistress asked:

"Well, Martha, how did you get along with the flat iron?"

Martha breathed a deep, reminiscent sigh.

"Well, ma'am, I got it 'most warm before morning."

CHANDLER SIX $1295

Check Up Any Other at Less Than $2000 With the Chandler, and See the Difference

The Chandler now sells at a lower price than any other six of standard touring car size. Other cars that may be considered in the same general class sell at prices ranging from two hundred to five hundred dollars higher. To convince yourself of Chandler leadership check up any other car in the field with the Chandler.

No other car selling at less than $2000 possesses all the high grade features of design, construction and equipment found on the Chandler.

Motor — What of the motor of the "other car"? Is it a common type of stock motor, built to sell to any manufacturer for any car, or is it a specially designed motor of the car-builders' own make? The Chandler offers you the exclusive Chandler-design and Chandler-make motor, a powerful, quiet, economical, beautifully finished motor that you can be proud of.

Ignition — What of ignition on the "other car"? Has it a magneto? (The highest priced cars all have magnetos). Has it the magneto that everybody recognizes as best? Has it the Bosch? The Chandler has the Bosch. And Bosch spark plugs too.

Starting and Lighting — Has the "other car" a simple, efficient separate unit electric starting and lighting system? Has it the standard Gray & Davis System? The Chandler has Gray & Davis.

Carburetion — Good carburetion is the basic essential in the operation of an automobile. It is important to provide the best. What carburetor is on the "other car"? Is it an unknown or a doubtful? Chandler has the famous Rayfield.

Radiation — There's a lot of difference in radiators. Car builders who put quality above price almost universally select the Mayo Genuine Mercedes Type. That's the Chandler radiator. What do you find on "the other car"?

Motor Base — The Chandler cast aluminum motor base, extending from frame to frame, gives rigidity to the engine mounting, provides pedestals for magneto, pump and generator and does away with the necessity for a dirty, rattly sheet metal drip pan. Check up "the other car" on this point.

Motor Drive — What do you find on "the other car," gears that are bound to be noisy or silent chains enclosed and running in a bath of oil? Chandler has the silent chains.

Upholstery — Your wife will be interested in checking the upholstry. What about "the other car"? Has it thin, flimsy split leather, machine buffed, or has it genuine leather of fine substance and hand buffed, like the Chandler leather? And what is underneath this leather, moss or real hair? The Chandler cushions are hair.

Rear Axle — You have heard a lot of noisy rear axles, haven't you? "Talking axles," someone has called them. There couldn't be anything more annoying. It's a point you want to consider. Investigate. Make sure. The Chandler has the new worm-bevel axle, smooth running and silent. What about the other car?

Workmanship — It is easy to check up the workmanship. Chandler workmanship throughout reflects the greatest care. The finish of the body, the interior of the body and the chassis down underneath are examples of splendid workmanship. Check up any other car with the Chandler on workmanship.

Miscellaneous — Chandler equipment includes Firestone demountable rims, Golde patent one-man top with Jiffy curtains, Bair patent top holders, motor-driven horn, speedometer, instantly adjustable tire carrier in rear of tonneau, and all the usual incidental equipment.

Facts to Remember

The Chandler weighs 2985 lbs. completely equipped. Averages 16 miles or more per gallon of gasoline, 700 miles per gallon of oil and 7000 miles per set of tires. Speed 3 to 55 miles per hour on high gear. Climbs every famous "demonstrating hill" in America on high gear.

WALTER G. BALDWIN, SR., of the Baldwin Players returned from New York yesterday "loaded for bear" to use his own phrase Because of the conditions in the amusement world he has been able to secure some of the newest plays for stock, plays that in ordinary times would not be available for years to come Here are some of them: "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Misleading Lady," "Today," "Willard Mack's "So Much for So Much," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," the big Cohan and Harris success, "The Big Idea," "Within the Law," "Polly of the Circus," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Fine Feathers," "The Ninety and Nine," Henry Savage's complete production of "Excuse Me," "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Madame Sherry."

"No stock company in America was ever able to get such a list of plays" is Mr. Baldwin's way of summing up the situation. "If conditions had been anything like normal I couldn't have touched any of these for at least a couple of years. I have enough plays secured to keep us running all spring and summer."

Willard Mack has suffered a nervous breakdown following his recent successes on Broadway as a playwright and an actor. He has gon to a sanatorium near New York for treatment, and his wife, Marjorie Rambeau, has returned to her home in Los Angeles.

Mack is currently reported to have sold his play "Kick In" for $5,000, and it is estimated to have made its producers $100,000, or to have at least that much in prospect.

New productions of the week in New York were "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," a romantic comedy by Anthony Hope with Phyllis Neilsen Terry featured; and "The Peasant Girl," a Viennese opera with Emma Trentini and Clifford Crawford.

The fame of Emma Calve is still potent. When it was announced that the greatest of all Carmens was to make her vaudeville debut in the Palace theater in New York last week there was a rush for the box office and before Monday came the theater had been practically sold out for the entire week. To appreciate what this means in the way of interest it is necessary to know that an advance sale of $500 is large in vaudeville in New York, a type of entertainment that the general theatergoing public takes casually, dropping in unexpectedly when the desire seizes.

BETTY NANSEN

MR. AND MRS. HARRY ELLSWORTH
In "A Pair of Silk Stockings," Now at the New Grand.

AT THE REX.

Famous Scandinavian Actress Will Be Seen in Photoplay.

The Rex will present for Sunday one of the greatest comedies produced this year by the Vitagraph company, entitled "C. O. D."

The Morning Telegraph, considered the best New York critic on motion picture plays, states: "There are situations in 'C. O. D.' four reels of jollity, that are side-splittingly funny. There are times when the audience actually rocks and writhes in paroxysms of mirth. You had better have your sides insured before going to see 'C. O. D.' Nothing has caused as much laughter in years as this comedy."

Monday and Tuesday the Rex will present the famous Scandinavian actress, Betty Nansen, in "The Celebrated Scandal; or, The World and His Wife." Miss Nansen is to the Scandinavian country what Bernhardt has been to Europe.

The Nansen "tears" and the Nansen "eyes"—these latter said to be the most wonderful mediums of expression possessed by any actress in the world—are already known to millions of theater-goers. As a personal friend of the retiring and eccentric Henrik Ibsen, she inspired and created such characters as Hedda Gabler, Norah and Rebecca in "Rosmersholm," appearing in these roles at the Royal theater of Copenhagen. This classic playhouse is to the Northern Europe countries what the world-famed Theatre Francaise is to France. The fame of her wonderful performances traveled. The actress toured Norway, Sweden, Germany, Russia and France. As a tribute to her extraordinary powers, she has been decorated by monarchs and emperors, and universities have bestowed upon her medals and diplomas never before granted a woman, in recognition of her services to the drama.

It was of Miss Nansen that Henrik Ibsen wrote in his last days to his friend Bjornsen: "She does not act; she is."

Wednesday and Thursday the Rex will present Blanch Sweet in David Warfield's great success, "The Warrens of Virginia." This will be Miss Sweet's first appearance under the Jesse Lasky banner. This young actress is too well known to Rex audiences to need any further introduction. On Friday and Saturday the great New York success of two seasons, "The Country Boy," with Marshall Neilan in the title role, will be presented.

Jack Lait has procured the services of Rock and Fulton, who were seen in "The Candy Shop." What Lait intends doing with them has not been given out, but it is rumored that he will cast them in something or other together with Kitty Gordon, who is already under his management. The fate of "The Candy Shop," which played to unusually poor business, has not as yet been decided.

SCENE FROM "THE THIRD DEGREE,"
By the Baldwin Players All Next Week at the Lyceum.

WHAT PRESS AGENTS PROMISE FOR DULUTH THEATERS

BALDWINS IN "THE THIRD DEGREE"

Famous Drama of Police Methods Chosen for Next Week.

Next week the Baldwin Stock company will be seen in "The Third Degree," the second of the plays of Charles Klein to be presented to their Duluth patrons within a few weeks.

The playwright has chosen to express through his plays much of the wider feeling of social responsibility which is a vital part of the times. This does not by any means signify that "The Third Degree" or "The Lion and the Mouse," recently presented by Mr. Baldwin, are sermons alone, for they are both stirring dramas. In "The Lion and the Mouse" the subtle influence of great wealth and its power to undermine the finer sensibilities and wider responsibilities was shown most clearly. In "The Third Degree," Mr. Klein holds up for public disapproval modern police methods and their cruelties no less keen than the old physical torture.

"The Third Degree" was produced in New York six years ago and met with much success. Helen Ware, who has since established herself as a Broadway star, created the role in which Miss Doris Olsson will be seen next week. The story deals with the fortunes of Howard Jeffries, Jr., a young son of wealth. While at college he met and fell in love with a young waitress, an uncultivated girl, somewhat older than himself, but a young woman of much strength of character. His marriage displeases his father who refuses any further help. Young Jeffries for the first time in his life, thrown on his own resources, finds it impossible to make a living for himself and wife, being entirely unfitted for any sort of work. He drinks a little for comfort and borrows from any one who will lend to him to tide over the evil days.

The play opens in the art studio of Robert Underwood, a man who is facing ruin because of unprincipled business deals. He has written to Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Sr., asking for aid which she has previously given him, and threatening suicide if she refuses. Young Jeffries asks for money and is told the impossibility of receiving it from that source. He helps himself liberally from the decanter at hand and falls into a heavy slumber. When his step-mother is announced Underwood attempts to awaken young Jeffries and get him out of the room but unable to arouse him from his stupor he draws a screen around the couch upon which the boy is sleeping and forgets his presence. Mrs. Jeffries has come to urge the man to do nothing rash but refuses any further financial assistance. When she leaves, Underwood realizing that ruin and disclosure faces him, goes into the adjoining room after locking the door of his studio. A shot is heard and the falling of a body as the scene closes. The next fuses to come to his aid, his wife alone believing in his innocence and although penniless, she leaves no effort undone to secure legal aid for him. Through her cleverness and obstinate determination she enlists the interest of the great criminal lawyer Brewster who at last takes the case. The methods of the police are exposed and the innocence of young Jeffries established. With his vindication his father shows his interest suggesting a European trip to recuperate from his trying experience. The young wife feels that the separation is planned to win her husband from her but the intervention of friends dispels this threatening trouble and the play ends happily.

In the role of Annie Jeffries, Miss Olsson will have the best opportunity of her present engagement. Walter Baldwin, Jr., will appear as young Jeffries and Homer Barton will appear in the role of Brewster the lawyer.

The first performance of "The Third Degree" will be given Sunday afternoon and the play will be repeated every evening for the week with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

PLEASING SHOW AT NEW GRAND

Classy Vaudeville and Prize Feature-Film for Next Week.

A most delightful entertainment is the present bill at the popular New Grand.

The Ernest Alvo Troupe of comedy bar gymnasts, offer some entirely new feats in dare-devil acrobatics and bar work.

Harry Ellsworth and company present their latest skit, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," and bring laugh after laugh with the witty lines and good wholesome comedy in which this little skit abounds. Mr. Ellsworth is a comedian of considerable ability, and his skit gives him ample opportunity to display his versatility.

Chase and La Toure are a song and dance team. Their songs are new and of the whistling kind, and their dances are original and up to date, while their chatter is brimful of wit and humor.

Classy costumes and magnetic personalities, added to their other accomplishments register them an instantaneous hit.

The Four Konerz Brothers, hoop rollers and diablo spinners are experts in their line, and accomplish many seemingly impossible feats with ease. A spectacular finish is obtained by the use of electric lights and mechanical trickery.

The feature play is a two-reel story of Hindustan, "The Red Blood of Courage," replete with thrills and sensations. The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial of current events; "A Tango Spree," a comedy; one of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life. "The Red Signal," and a western play complete the bill.

On the Monday matinee the show will change completely. Heading the new bill are the Seven Castelluccias, musicians and singers. The company includes six men and a girl offering a musical divertisment that has won for them an enviable reputation in the vaudeville world.

Pope and Uno, the act of man and dog, is a novelty of novelties. Uno is the only "good night" dog in the world and is a marvel for the tricks he performs.

Mintz and Palmer offer a new singing and comedy skit, "Never Tell a Lie," which is said to be an excellent vehicle for those artists whose melodies delight both young and old.

The Juenetts offer a European novelty that promises to be a sensational finish for an excellent vaudeville program.

The photoplay feature will be the three-reel New York Sun prize senario play, "Mother's Roses," produced by the Vitagraph company as an all-star attraction. The story is one of the effects of a pure and wholesome mother's love. "The Light That Failed," a drama, and two comedies complete the bill.

AT THE ZELDA

"For the Honor of His Country" is the name of the production that will head the bill at the Zelda theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, under the auspices of the Gesangverein of Duluth, which comes here direct from Germany and was allowed to leave the Vaterland with the approval of the German military staff. It is an appealing presentation and is not one-sided in its treatment of the European conflict. Many of the scenes were taken on the French border, showing the strength of the German army, and in connection with this beautiful drama, another film will be presented entitled, "How Germany Makes War," that will be very interesting. It would require more than a complete newspaper to ttll of the hardships endured in bringing the pictures across the lines into the United States. They will be shown at the Zelda, for three days commencing Monday at the regular admission price. The German societies of the city have been active in bringing this production here. It has a beautiful love story as well as scenes that were taken on the battlefields and firing lines. A comedy film will be shown in connection with this production. Manager Mistachkin has made arrangements to present Lillian Russell in her biggest triumph, "Wildfire," next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and seat reservations may be made a week in advance for theater parties, commencing Monday.

The SUNBEAM

For Sunday's program at the Sunbeam theater, the General Film company presents the Columbus film offering, "When Lions Escape," in three parts. In this thrilling drama we have the opportunity of witnessing in motion pictures a group of the kings of the forest, well-trained and under the supervision of the heroine of the story, a lion tamer, who through her power over the beasts, is able to save her little daughter and husband from certain death. In addition to this splendid film production the first installment of the Patsy Bolivar series produced by the Lubin company will be shown. This is a series of interesting film plays written by Clay M. Greene and should please both the old and young. Monday and Tuesday the well-known Kalem star will make her appearance in "The Girl Detective." This is a decided novelty in pictures under the general heading, the "Girl Detective" series. With the assistance of a detective, whose name is a household word, the Kalem company sets out to solve twenty mysteries, which at various times have engrossed the attention of the country. The central figure of the "Girl Detective" series will be a society girl with a penchant for detective work. This young woman, whose name is Ruth, will endeavor to clear up the problems and bring the evil-doers to justice. Pathe's Weekly, covering many events of international interest and showing scenes of the war also, comes for these two days. Wednesday and Thursday Miss Helen Gardner, the charming player with the Vitagraph company, appears in "Under the Point."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Madam Melba, at a fancy salary, is one of the possible vaudeville stars of the immediate future.

* * *

The Schuberts will enter the vaudeville field in the near future when they present a Russian actress, Mme. Walska at one of the New York two-a-day houses, in a sketch in which she will have the assistance of Teddy Webb and others.

* * *

Over in London they are rehearsing a new comedy by George Broadhurst and Walter Hackett. Its name is "He Didn't Want to Do It" and its premiere will take place today.

* * *

Again has Robert Mantell changed his leading female support. This time it is Florence Auer, who will play opposite the tragedian.

* * *

Paul Dickey, who is in part author of the play, is now playing lead in "The Misleading Lady," in place of Lewis S. Stone. Stone is now the featured star of "Inside the Lines."

* * *

"Help Wanted" is about to go over the Stair and Havlin road.

* * *

"Rolling Stones," The Edgar Selwyn comedy which has been playing at the La Salle, in Chicago, is going to the shelf.

* * *

"A Day in Paradise," which, it is stated, will be the big revue to be presented by the Shuberts at the Hippodrome, will have Jose Collins and James T. Towers among its featured stars. There is also some talk about Trixie Friganza. The show is supposed to open immediately after Lent.

* * *

Among the shows closing, or having done so, are "Polly of the Circus" and "The Girl of My Dreams."

* * *

Leon Errol of the "Follies" recently broke three of his ribs and is now working with a plaster cast about the affected part of his anatomy.

* * *

David Warfield, in "The Auctioneer," will be out on the road five weeks longer than originally intended, the tour having been extended until May 2.

* * *

Contrary to first intentions, Frazee's show, "Secret Strings," will not be sent out upon the road.

* * *

It is stated that when Elsie Janis appears in this country again after the close of her London engagement, she will give up singing and dancing roles to star in a new comedy by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard, entitled "The Missing Link."

* * *

William A. Brady's production of "Life" at the Manhattan Opera house is entering the sixth month of its New York run. In the first two years of its career the Thompson Buchanan drama will have been played in but four cities. It is to finish the present season in New York, beginning its Chicago engagement on Sept. 1, and going afterward to Philadelphia and Boston.

* * *

Selwyn & Co.'s third company of "Twin Beds" opened its season in Springfield, Mass., on Washington's birthday. The new "Twin Beds" company includes Elsie Hita, Cathlyn Florence, Mabel Guilford, Jessie Buckley, Eugene Redding, John L. Welch and Fred Ozab.

* * *

Prof Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, New York, has written to Miss Margaret Illington, expressing his admiration of her acting in Henry Arthur Jones' play, "The Lie," now being presented at the Harris theater, New York.

* * *

Selwyn & Co.'s production of Roi Cooper Mergue's "Under Cover," with William Courtenay, is nearing its 215th performance at the Cort theater, New York, where it will remain until the end of the season. Two other companies, one headed by H. B. Warner, continue on the road.

Richard Bennett is appearing at the Cort theater, Boston, in Edgar Selwyn's farce, "Nearly Married," and Marie Tempest is preparing to make a coast tour in the same play. In these days of one-part plays, it is rather interesting to note that in "Nearly Married" Mr. Selwyn has provided good enough roles to allow for both a woman and a man star. Also the fact is worth noting that this is the first time that Marie Tempest has ever appeared in a play by an American author.

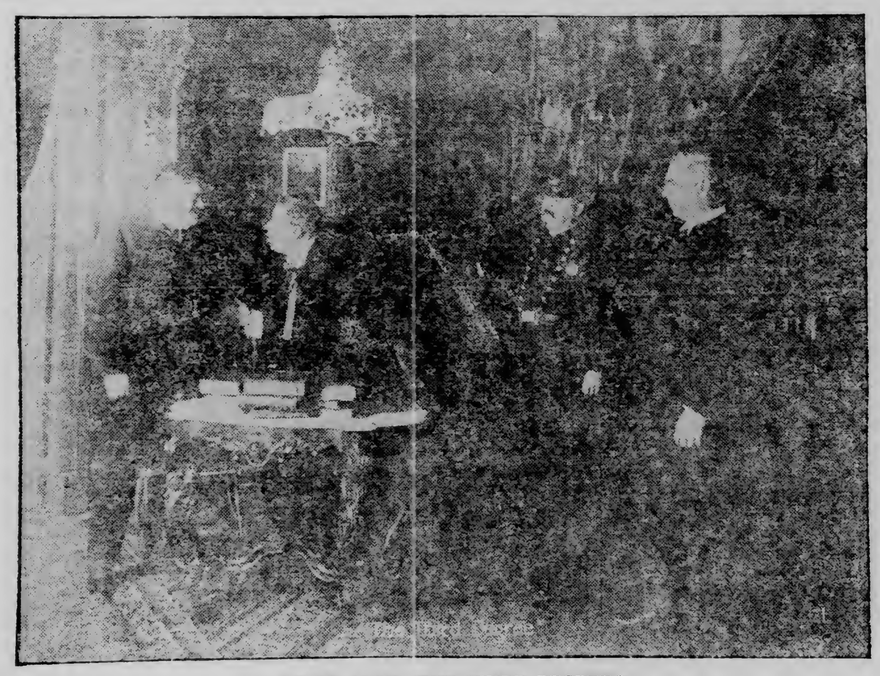
Evelyn Nesbit, as she has willed to be called, raised Cain recently when Hammerstein used the additional name, Mrs. Harry Thaw, in brackets under her own in his advance billing. Hammerstein, it is said, saw the error of his ways when his star theratened not to appear unless the objectionable feature was eliminated.



SCENE FROM "THE THIRD DEGREE,"
By the Baldwin Players All Next Week at the Lyceum.

WHAT PRESS AGENTS PROMISE FOR DULUTH THEATERS

BALDWINS IN "THE THIRD DEGREE"

Famous Drama of Police Methods Chosen for Next Week.

Next week the Baldwin Stock company will be seen in "The Third Degree," the second of the plays of Charles Klein to be presented to their Duluth patrons within a few weeks.

The playwright has chosen to express through his plays much of the wider feeling of social responsibility which is a vital part of the times. This does not by any means signify that "The Third Degree" or "The Lion and the Mouse," recently presented by Mr. Baldwin, are sermons alone, for they are both stirring dramas. In "The Lion and the Mouse" the subtle influence of great wealth and its power to undermine the finer sensibilities and wider responsibilities was shown most clearly. In "The Third Degree," Mr. Klein holds up for public disapproval modern police methods and their enmeities no less keen than the old physical torture.

"The Third Degree" was produced in New York six years ago and met with much success. Helen Ware, who has since established herself as a Broadway star, created the role in which Miss Doris Olsson will be seen next week. The story deals with the fortunes of Howard Jeffries, Jr., a young son of wealth. While at college he met and fell in love with a young waitress, an uncultivated girl, somewhat older than himself, but a young woman of much strength of character. His marriage displeases his father who refuses any further help. Young Jeffries for the first time in his life, thrown on his own resources, finds it impossible to make a living for himself and wife, being entirely unfitted for any sort of work. He drinks a little for comfort and borrows from any one who will lend to him to tide over the evil days.

The play opens in the art studio of Robert Underwood, a man who is facing ruin because of unprincipled business deals. He has written to Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Sr., asking for aid which she has previously given him, and threatening suicide if she refuses. Young Jeffries asks for money and is told the impossibility of receiving it from that source. He helps himself liberally from the decanter at hand and falls into a heavy slumber. When his step-mother is announced Underwood attempts to awaken young Jeffries and get him out of the room but unable to arouse him from his stupor he draws a screen around the couch upon which the boy is sleeping and forgets his presence. Mrs. Jeffries has come to urge the man to do nothing rash but refuses any further financial assistance. When she leaves, Underwood realizing that ruin and disclosure faces him, goes into the adjoining room after locking the door of his studio. A shot is heard and the falling of a body as the scene closes. The next act shows young Jeffries in the hands of the brutal police officers who desire of all things a confession. They bully and coerce and suggest and restate that he shot the man until after four hours of this torture, he confesses that he did. His father refuses to come to his aid, his wife alone believing in his innocence and although penniless, she leaves no effort undone to secure legal aid for him. Through her cleverness and obstinate determination she enlists the interest of the great criminal lawyer Brewster who at last takes the case. The methods of the police are exposed and the innocence of young Jeffries established. With his vindication his father shows his interest suggesting a European trip to regenerate from his trying experience. The young wife feels that the separation is planned to win her husband from her but the intervention of friends dispels this last threatening trouble and the play ends happily.

In the role of Annie Jeffries, Miss Olsson will have the best opportunity of her present engagement. Walter Baldwin, Jr., will appear as young Jeffries and Homer Barton will appear in the role of Brewster the lawyer.

The first performance of "The Third Degree" will be given Sunday afternoon and the play will be repeated every evening for the week with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

PLEASING SHOW AT NEW GRAND

Classy Vaudeville and Prize Feature-Film for Next Week.

A most delightful entertainment is the present bill at the popular New Grand.

The Ernest Alvo Troupe of comedy bar gymnasts, offer some entirely new feats in dare-devil acrobatics and bar work.

Harry Ellsworth and company present their latest skit, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," and bring laugh after laugh with the witty lines and good wholesome comedy in which this little skit abounds. Mr. Ellsworth is a comedian of considerable ability, and his skit gives him ample opportunity to display his versatility.

Chase and La Toure are a song and dance team. Their songs are new and of the whistling kind, and their dances are original and up to date, while their chatter is brimful of wit and humor.

Classy costumes and magnetic personalities, added to their other accomplishments register them an instantaneous hit.

The Four Konerz Brothers, hoop rollers and diablo spinners, are experts in their line, and accomplish many seemingly impossible feats with ease. A spectacular finish is obtained by the use of electric lights and mechanical trickery.

The feature play is a two-reel story of Hindustan. "The Red Blood of Courage," replete with thrills and sensations. The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial of current events; "A Tango Spree," a comedy; one of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life, "The Red Signal," and a western play complete the bill.

On the Monday matinee the show will change completely. Heading the new bill are the Seven Castelluccias, musicians and singers. The company includes six men and a girl offering a musical divertisment that has won for them an enviable reputation in the vaudeville world.

Pope and Uno, the act of man and dog, is a novelty of novelties. Uno is the only "good night" dog in the world and is a marvel for the tricks he performs.

Mintz and Palmer offer a new singing and comedy skit, "Never Tell a Lie," which is said to be an excellent vehicle for those artists whose melodies delight both young and old.

The Jueneits offer a European novelty that promises to be a sensational finish for an excellent vaudeville program.

The photoplay feature will be the three-reel New York Sun prize senario play, "Mother's Roses," produced by the Vitagraph company as an all-star attraction. The story is one of the effects of a pure and wholesome mother's love. "The Light That Failed," a drama, and two comedies complete the bill.

AT THE ZELDA

"For the Honor of His Country" is the name of the production that will head the bill at the Zelda theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, under the auspices of the Gesangverein of Duluth, which comes here direct from Germany and was allowed to leave the Vaterland with the approval of the German military staff. It is an appealing presentation and is not one-sided in its treatment of the European conflict. Many of the scenes were taken on the French border, showing the strength of the German army, and in connection with this beautiful drama, another film will be presented entitled, "How Germany Makes War," that will be very interesting. It would require more than a complete newspaper to ttll of the hardships endured in bringing the pictures across the lines into the United States. They will be shown at the Zelda, for three days commencing Monday at the regular admission price. The German soicetles of the city have been active in bringing this production here. It has a beautiful love story as well as scenes that were taken on the battlefields and firing lines. A comedy film will be shown in connection with this production. Manager Mistachkin has made arrangements to present Lillian Russell in her biggest triumph, "Wildfire," next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and seat reservations may be made a week in advance for theater parties, commencing Monday.

The SUNBEAM

For Sunday's program at the Sunbeam theater, the General Film company presents the Columbus film offering, "When Lions Escape," in three parts. In this thrilling drama we have the opportunity of witnessing in motion pictures a group of the kings of the forest, well-trained and under the supervision of the heroine of the story, a lion tamer, who through her power over the beasts, is able to save her little daughter and husband from certain death. In addition to this splendid film production the first installment of the Patsy Bolivar series produced by the Lubin company will be shown. This is a series of interesting film plays written by Clay M. Greene and should please both the old and young. Monday and Tuesday the well-known Kalem star will make her appearance in "The Girl Detective." This is a decided novelty in pictures under the general heading, the "Girl Detective" series. With the assistance of a detective, whose name is a household word, the Kalem company will endeavor to solve twenty mysteries, which at various times have engrossed the attention of the country. The central figure of the "Girl Detective" series will be a society girl with a penchant for detective work. This young woman, whose name is Ruth, will endeavor to clear up the problems and bring the evil-doers to justice. Pathe's Weekly, covering many events of international interest and showing scenes of the war also, comes for these two days. Wednesday and Thursday Miss Helen Gardner, the charming player with the Vitagraph company, appears in "Under the Point."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Madam Melba, at a fancy salary, is one of the possible vaudeville stars of the immediate future.

* * *

The Schuberts will enter the vaudeville field in the near future when they present a Russian actress, Mme. Walska at one of the New York two-a-day houses, in a sketch in which she will have the assistance of Teddy Webb and others.

* * *

Over in London they are rehearsing a new comedy by George Broadhurst and Walter Hackett. Its name is "He Didn't Want to Do It" and its premiere will take place today.

* * *

Again has Robert Mantell changed his leading female support. This time it is Florence Auer, who will play opposite the tragedian.

* * *

Paul Dickey, who is in part author of the play, is now playing lead in "The Misleading Lady," in place of Lewis S. Stone. Stone is now the featured star of "Inside the Lines."

* * *

"Help Wanted" is about to go over the Stair and Havlin road.

* * *

"Rolling Stones," The Edgar Selwyn comedy which has been playing at the La Salle, in Chicago, is going to the shelf.

* * *

"A Day in Paradise," which, it is stated, will be the big revue to be presented by the Shuberts at the Hippodrome, will have Jose Collins and James T. Towers among its featured stars. There is also some talk about Trixie Friganza. The show is supposed to open immediately after Lent.

* * *

Among the shows closing, or having done so, are "Polly of the Circus" and "The Girl of My Dreams."

* * *

Leon Errol of the "Follies" recently broke three of his ribs and is now working with a plaster cast about the affected part of his anatomy.

* * *

David Warfield, in "The Auctioneer," will be out on the road five weeks longer than originally intended, the tour having been extended until May 2.

* * *

Contrary to first intentions, Frazee's show, "Secret Strings," will not be sent out upon the road.

* * *

It is stated that when Elsie Janis appears in this country again after the close of her London engagement, she will give up singing and dancing roles to star in a new comedy by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard, entitled "The Missing Link."

* * *

William A. Brady's production of "Life" at the Manhattan Opera house is entering the sixth month of its New York run. In the first two years of its career the Thompson Buchanan drama will have been played in but four cities. It is to finish the present season in New York, beginning its Chicago engagement on Sept. 1, and going afterward to Philadelphia and Boston.

* * *

Selwyn & Co.'s third company of "Twin Beds" opened its season in Springfield, Mass., on Washington's birthday. The new "Twin Beds" company includes Elsie Hita, Cathlyn Florence, Mabel Guilford, Jessie Buckley, Eugene Redding, John L. Weich and Fred Ozab.

* * *

Prof Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, New York, has written to Miss Margaret Illington, expressing his admiration of her acting in Henry Arthur Jones' play, "The Lie," now being presented at the Harris theater, New York.

* * *

Selwyn & Co.'s production of Rol Cooper Mergue's "Under Cover," with William Courtenay, is nearing its 215th performance at the Cort theater, New York, where it will remain until the end of the season. Two other companies, one headed by H. B. Warner, continue on the road.

Richard Bennett is appearing at the Cort theater, Boston, in Edgar Selwyn's farce, "Nearly Married," and Marie Tempest is preparing to make a coast tour in the same play. In these days of one-part plays, it is rather interesting to note that in "Nearly Married" Mr. Selwyn has provided good enough roles to allow for both a woman and a man star. Also the fact is worth noting that this is the first time that Marie Tempest has ever appeared in a play by an American author.

Richard Lewis of the basket ball team and Bernie Bierman all-around athlete, are new president and vice president, respectively, of the board, both having been unopposed. Thorgny Carlson, present academic representative, was re-elected by a small majority over Tim Madigan. In the engineering college, Earl D. McKay was elected by a wide margin over his nearest opponent. Albert Baston was named for law representative with a few votes to spare. The medics and dents elected Carl Hedge by the largest vote for any candidate. In the agricultural college the votes were very evenly distributed among the four aspirants for office. Ira C. Montgomery was the lucky candidate. The three amendments relating to appointment and election of representatives were passed by large majorities.

MUSIC and clubs have been the only important features in the social life of the city this week. The Matinee Musicale program Monday afternoon was followed Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by lecture-recitals given by Thomas Whitney Surette under the auspices of that organization.

Tuesday afternoon the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association held its regular monthly meeting, the West Duluth study class of the Twentieth Century club had a dramatics program and the monthly meeting of the Linnaea club was held.

Wednesday afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Aftenro society took place.

Thursday the Duluth Drama Study club considered French, German and Russian drama, the Cecilian society continued its study of Russian music and several members of the Matinee Musicale went to Ely where they gave a program under the auspices of the Mothers' club. The regular weekly dancing party of the Kitchi Gammi club took place Thursday evening.

At the meeting of the Woman's council held yesterday the council decided to pay the salary for three months of a visiting housewife, the Associated Charities to pay for three additional months. A lecture recital on "Indian Myths and Melodies" was given last evening by Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker at the Bryant Social center under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club.

At the meeting of the Saturday club this afternoon the history of Egypt was studied.

Next week is well taken up with club affairs. Among the clubs that will hold regular meetings or present programs are the Twentieth Century club that will have its general social meeting, the art history, Shakespeare, West Duluth study class, education and home, and literature departments of that organization, Matinee musicale, Lester Park Literary club, Ladies' Literature class, Outlook club, Saturday club and the Bishop's club.

As many Duluthians have gone to California to enjoy the climate and visit the expositions and as Lent lacks many days of being over, it is probable that for several weeks only club affairs and very small and informal functions will be given.

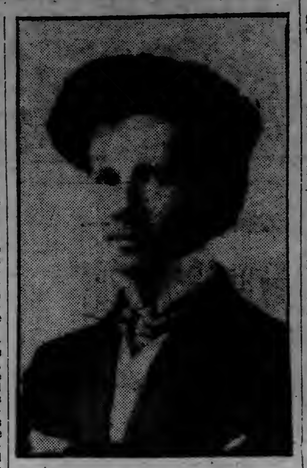
NOTED RUSSIAN VIOLINIST WILL PLAY AT RECITAL



OSSIP GABRILOWITSCH.

The last of the artists' recitals of the Matinee Musicale will be given Monday evening, March 22, at the First Methodist church by Ossip Gabrilowitsch, who is by universal consent at the head of the famous school of Russian pianists.

He made his first trip to America twelve years ago. At that time he was but 23 years old and a player of wonderful freshness and fire. Again he visited this country ten years ago, and again showed himself an ardent lover of beauty and an artist of great intellectual depth. It was not, however, until after Gabrilowitsch had come to America after another lapse of years that the critics of this country deemed him an artist of full maturity as well as of infinite charm and brilliancy. His record since that time has been one of extreme interest, as he has come into prominence as conductor and composer as well as executant. The orchestral concerts which Gabrilowitsch has conducted in Europe have been in many ways unique and have won him wide acclaim.

A prominent European critic writing recently of the pianist said: "As Gabrilowitsch has matured in years, his art has steadily advanced, while his temperamental ardor has remained undiminished. His technique seems even more finely developed. He enters with such a virile spirit into his interpretations that he carries the listener quite beyond his own preconceived imaginings. Such a player would awaken the most unmusical audience to a sense of beauty."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

American Husbands for American Wives.

It is quite within the province of American wives to complain about their American husbands if they want to, and the same might be applied to American girls with American sweethearts, but when the outsider commences to pick flaws in the home product it is time that American womanhood en masse came to the defense of American husbands and lovers.

A member of the English nobility, who might be considered more of a man if he were at the front fighting for his colors, recently allowed the following to escape: "The American woman likes the Englishman for a husband because he knows how to humor her, and while the Yankee is busy making money for his wife, the Briton is making love. For this reason we have the very flower of the American women in England as wives of Englishmen."

The last statement is preposterous. We have the very flower of our American women at home, and though many of our countrywomen who have married abroad may truly love their husbands, they have been credited with loving the title equally well. That Englishmen are more desirable as mates of the American women on the score that they are loving husbands has been disproved too many times in the divorce courts, and, if not there, by rumor which reaches us from the other side every now and then.

Granted that there are American women happily married to Englishmen, however, those that we see and hear most about, and those that were undoubtedly meant as the "flower of American women," are just the ones that a happily married American woman in these United States looks upon with a deal of pity. They have reason to believe that most of the American wives of foreigners would, if they had it to do over again, be wooed and won by one of these same money-making American husbands.

All the Englishmen that I ever met were masters supreme in their own homes. There was very little humoring of the wife and daughters, as a well-humored American wife or daughter understands the art. Other men and women visiting these shores have more often exclaimed upon the predominence of this very thing in the American husband and father, and have said that if American women could be spoiled, their fathers, brothers, husbands and lovers would have accomplished it long ago.

Never have I seen an Englishman who would sacrifice as much for his wife and children as would the average of our American husbands and fathers, who, though money-makers, are also love-makers, and acknowledge the wife's proper position in the home. An American may rule his wife but he uses tact in the ruling, and the wife is made to feel that she is a real mistress of her own home.

PERFECT BEAUTY

The fashion of the present day requires that the complexion of the well-groomed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. The regular use of will bestow the charms that are so admired. Gouraud's Oriental Cream is a liquid powder, far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whitens, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

SURETTE LECTURES AND THE DEFEAT OF SUFFRAGE

Matinee Musicale Speaker Has Aroused a Storm of Discussion and Many Differ With His Views—Suffragists Not Downcast By Their Defeat—Music for Neighboring Towns—Mrs. Bigbee's Death.

BY FAR the most interesting events of the week in the club life of the city, were the lectures by Thomas Whitney Surette under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale.

Mr. Surette's lectures were an intellectual stimulus whether the listener agreed with him fully or not. Apparently there were many who did not; while others found him voicing thoughts which they had long held.

The chief criticism found with Mr. Surette's ideas is that he is so saturated himself with the best in music that he is impatient and hypercritical with anything that falls a little short of his own very high standard.

Fred G. Bradbury, leader of Duluth's orchestra, voiced a rather general comment as follows:

Mental Stimulus.

"I don't want to be understood as criticizing Mr. Surette," he said. "He is a master of his subject, and a man of wonderful ability and with most exceptional training. His lectures were like a cold bath mentally. They stimulated you and jarred you out of your mental ruts. But I do feel that he had a tendency to be too severe with some great men who fell just a little short of his standard. Beethoven and Brahms are to him the last word in music, and he is rather impatient with any lesser lights. He is undoubtedly right about his favorites, but men like Greig, Tschaikowsky, Chopin and others whom he criticized rather mercilessly, have contributed a great deal to musical literature. True, Greig is a nationalist, perhaps, but there are many beautiful themes in his work. If Mr. Surette had taken some passages from Brahms and played them as he did some of the Greig themes, with an effort to bring out the worst in them, he would have secured just about as good results. Then if he had tried to bring out the best in some of his Chopin themes instead of the worst, it might have put a different light on the question.

Not All Giants.

"We can't all be musical giants. We can't all be Beethovens and Brahms, but that fact should not be allowed to detract from the pleasure we get from lesser composers and lesser musicians. It is all right to aim high, but Mr. Surette has aimed too high.

"But, as I said, I am not finding fault, only differing. More power to Mr. Surette, I say, or to anybody who can stir you up mentally as he has done, even if it is only to differ with him."

Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. L. Schmied, whose guest he was, Mr. Surette talked with a Herald reporter.

He commended the plan on which the Duluth Concert orchestra is conducted, saying that an orchestra should grow as it is able to support itself. He considered the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra one of the best in the country, but regarded the $60,000 deficit of one of its seasons as deplorable. That this excellent orchestra is used by Minneapolis as something to brag about rather than as an educational factor he considered a false standard.

Talks to Teachers.

Mr. Surette's lectures on "Music in Its Relation to Education" and "Romantic Music" and his informal talk to the supervisors of music and grade teachers in regard to the music in the Boston schools were interesting to both the persons who have made a study of music and to those who regard it as an amusement and a cultural agent.

His suggestion that children in the grades be taught to sing naturally the first three years, by notes later and be given a four-year course in the appreciation of music in high school, is in conformity with the views held by educators who realize that many children are incapable of producing music, but that all children are capable of being educated to love it.

The Suffrage Defeat.

EQUAL suffrage for Minnesota has been postponed but Minnesota suffragists, like those of other states in which the bills asking that the question be put to the vote of the people have been defeated again and again, are not discouraged. Even if the bill had failed to pass by a large majority the men and women who advocate the enfranchisement of women would keep at work.

During the two years before the question can be brought up again, the suffragists of the state will not be idle.

Mrs. W. W. Lawrence, president of the Duluth Woman Suffrage association; Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, second vice president, and Dr. Mary McCoy, corresponding secretary, and for many years prominent in suffrage work, say they are not disheartened, even if they do admit they are "ashamed that Minnesota should lag behind equal suffrage states" and the states where the question has been put to the people. They are confident the women of Minnesota will soon have equal suffrage, and in the meantime they are going to work for it.

Mrs. Andreas Ueland of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, who was one of the guests of honor at the luncheon given by the local suffrage association last week, has announced the beginning of a vigorous campaign that will end two years hence in the legislature. "Outsiders will be brought into the state within the next two years," she said, "the state movement will be thoroughly organized, and in the cities we will make a house-to-house canvass and show at the end of two years that the women want to vote."

Music for Duluth's Neighbors.

The Matinee Musicale, that has among its objects the making of Duluth a musical center that will exert its influence in the neighboring towns, sent a group of its members to Ely Thursday to give a program under the auspices of the Mothers' club of that place. Through the co-operation of a committee of the Mothers' club and the committee of the Matinee Musicale a program was arranged that included violin numbers by Mrs. Tom Miller and soprano number by Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten, with Isabel Pearson at the piano, and readings by Mrs. George A. Reifsteck.

Chance for Young Musicians.

March 15 is the date that has been set for the state examination of the young musicians who wish to compete for the privilege of being on the program at the meeting of the National Federation of Musical clubs to be held in Los Angeles June 24 to July 2. Voice, piano and violin are the departments that will be represented in the contests. The winners in the state contest, that will be held in Minneapolis, will compete with the winners of neighboring states at the district contest that will be held in Chicago May 1. The winners of the district contests, four in each department, will appear at the biennial festival at which they will have an opportunity to be heard by the representatives of 309 federated clubs. This will be advantageous in that the representatives will be instructed by their clubs to engage these winners, if satisfactory, as artists for their "American day" programs.

The conditions governing the contest are:

"Contestants must have received their musical training in America.

"Contestants must not be over 30 years old.

"Contestants must perform entirely without notes before their state jury and later before their district jury at least three, or, if desired, more compositions, namely:

"Vocalists—One air by Handel, Mozart, Gluck or an early Italian composer; a short group of German (Schubert, Schumann or Brahms) French and American songs; one modern oratorio or opera aria (English language preferred).

"Pianists—One work by Bach or Beethoven, one work by Chopin or Schumann, one work by MacDowell, and, if requested, one work by Liszt or some other important modern composition.

"Violinists—A Bach unaccompanied sonate or early classic Italian work or a Handel sonate; one movement from a Bruch, Saint-Saens, Mendelssohn or other standard concerto; two or three good short character pieces, showing style, finish, color, charm and individuality; one brilliant "show piece," by noted violinist (such as Paganini, Sarasate, Wieniawski).

"Contestants must perform behind a screen and be known to the jury by number only, thus insuring absolute impartiality.

"Contestants need not be members of a federated club, but, to be eligible, they must join the National club within the students department of the National Federation of Musical Clubs (for advanced students and young professionals) by sending with their names and addresses the fee, one dollar, to the vice president of their state, who will remit it to the federation treasurer.

"Contestants must arrange for their own expenses in the contest, but it is suggested that clubs, if willing, help defray the contestants' district and biennial expenses, where necessary, or that the final winners give a 'benefit' concert in their respective cities or clubs."

Additional information will be furnished by Mrs. George S. Richards of 212 South Sixteenth avenue east, who as the state vice president of the National Federation of Musical Clubs, has charge of the contest in Minnesota.

Loss Felt By Club Women.

One of the greatest losses suffered recently by the club women of the state was caused by the death Thursday night of Mrs. C. G. Higbee of St. Paul, who had devoted twenty-five years to reform work and made a plea for a reformatory for women before the house prison committee only 20 minutes before she was stricken with heart disease. She died before a physician could reach her.—E. F.

Alfred Noyes.

ALFRED NOYES, who will conclude the lecture course of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, April 6, is considered as perhaps the greatest poet in the English language since the Victorian age. When he began to publish his poems literary critics and lovers of poetry realized the successor of Wordsworth, Keats, Tennyson and Browning.

Mr. Noyes was born Sept. 16, 1880, and was educated at Oxford, where he was noted as an athlete and rowed for three years in his college eight. He determined upon his graduation that he would devote his life to poetry and also that he would earn his living in no other way. Accordingly he has applied himself to his task with the serious purpose and the steady devotion which a business or a professional man must give to his life work. He has, therefore, at the age of 34, a considerable number of poems to his credit, covering a wide range of subjects and written with many variations in technique. A year ago his collected poems were published in two substantial volumes. His popularity may be shown by the fact that one of his earlier editions, "Poems by Alfred Noyes," with an introduction by Hamilton Wright Mable) was exhausted in this country not long after it left the press.

Mr. Noyes has a home in Sussex in a small fishing village on the English channel, where he can work without interruption, and indulge his fondness for outdoor life and the sea.

TWILIGHT CONCERT PROGRAM HAS A VARIETY OF FEATURES

IN POINT of variety and general excellence the program that Director Fred Bradbury has prepared for the fifth of the concert series by the Duluth Concert orchestra at the Central high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock also promises to be the most interesting.

While Scandinavian composers have been largely drawn upon in preparing the program, Mr. Bradbury has by no means confined his efforts to this particular school, but has also included selections from Wagner, von Suppe and Elgar. Charles Fremling, a Duluth composer and the bassoonist of the orchestra, has written a spirited march, "Yankee Honor," which will also be given.

The program will open with "Einzugsmarsch der Bojaren," describing the entrance of the Bojars into their domain with much pomp and splendor, presumably after victorious battle and the composer, Johan Halversen, evidently intended that the entrance should be a rousing one by the use he has made of the various combinations of the orchestra.

The "Lohengrin" Vorspiel or prelude, considered one of Wagner's most beautiful compositions, is one of the innovations originated by Germany's great poet-dramatist in which he changed the customary overture to a prelude or Vorspiel, giving each act its own introduction. The Vorspiel describes the revelation of the "Holy Grail," and by the characteristic use of the "strings," Wagner has evolved a wonderfully effective composition. Beginning very softly in the extreme upper register of the violins the "Grail" motive is gradually developed until it resounds in thunderous effect with the utmost power of the orchestra, but only for a moment, then gradually fades away, ending as it began in the peculiar, mystic, high tones from the violins at the close of the number.

Peer Gynt Suite.

The "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg deals with the hero of Ibsen's dramatic poem of the same name. Peer Gynt was a mountain peasant of a dreamy, vagrant nature, whose career is made up of a selfish pursuit of experiences in various lands, his name and character being taken from an old Norwegian folk tale. The music of each of the four movements is highly contrasting and the suite has long been a favorite on concert programs.

As a special novelty the orchestra will play von Suppe's "Light Calvary" overture with a marimbaphone solo by Roy Knapp, the tympanist. The marimbaphone belongs to the "percussion" division of the orchestra and is the development of a primitive xylophone used in South Africa except that the present instrument is equipped with metallic bars graduated to the musical scale to which are attached metal tubes correspondingly tuned to act as resonators, giving deep bell-like tones which are very pleasing.

MRS. VALBORG GUNDERSON-FINKELSON.

The orchestra will be assisted at tomorrow's concert by Donna Riblette Flaaten, who will sing, while Valborg Gunderson-Finkelson will play as a violin solo, Ole Bull's "Saenterjenten's Sondag," which is also a famous song of Norway's rugged mountain life.

PRIZE FOR BEST BATHING SUIT

Baggy Bloomers Frowned on By Park Manager Who Wants Comfort and Modesty Combined in Design; Suggests That Duluth Women Unite on Some Suitable Model.

Baggy bathing bloomers for women, the kind used at the Y. W. C. A., will not be advocated by the Park Manager Henry Cleveland for the new Fairmont park beach to open next July, but instead, he is in favor of the short skirt, with tights either full length or to the knees. Boys' suits for women, as worn throughout the East, will be prohibited, Mr. Cleveland said.

Park Manager Cleveland does not favor the baggy bloomers, because they are not comfortable and have been declared by other cities to be a handicap to swimmers and divers. They are all right for bathing, authorities at the various resorts in the East say, but are absolutely useless to swimmers. For this reason Mr. Cleveland said that he favored short skirts, with tights. It is up to the women, he said, if they want to go in bare-foot.

However, Mr. Cleveland declared that he will not decide just what kind of bathing suits are to be worn by the women at the Duluth beach, but will leave the matter to a committee of representative women. He will insist, he said, on comfortable suits, the kind that will not retard swimming or diving.

"It is all right for staid, conservative people to have their say," said Mr. Cleveland, "but there is no use in going too far and ruining the sport of swimming by compelling girls to wear clumsy suits. Again, we don't want the women to wear boys' suits, such as the custom is throughout the East. Not that it is wrong, but there is no need for that kind of costume. We shall avoid unnessary arguments."

Mr. Cleveland is eager to receive suggestions from Duluthians on proper bathing suits for women, and he is willing to give $5 for the best sketch submitted to him. He plans to have an official from the Y. W. C. A., from some mothers' club, and from a church organization act together and decide on the best suit. The one selected will be ordered by the park manager for use at the park, while bathers will be permitted to use their own suits, if they comply with the regulations.

APPOINTMENTS FOR COUNTY SCHOOLS

St. Louis County Board of Education Makes No Changes.

L. A. Ink, principal, and Mrs. M. B. Holmes, supervisor of the schools of the unorganized district of St. Louis county, were each reappointed for one year by the county board of education which held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the courthouse. The four teachers who were employed in School District No. 57 before its dissolution a few weeks ago were retained by the board to teach in the unorganized schools now serving the same territory. They are Miss Vilma Waldron, Miss Elvira Forsman, Miss Emma Bartling and Miss Anna Johnson.

The board passed bills for fuel, teachers' wages and school supplies and transacted other routine business.

SEWING AND ENGLISH ARE TAUGHT TO WOMEN AND CHILDREN AT ELLIS ISLAND

Springfield Republican: Being rejected at Ellis island is tragedy enough at best, but now that the war has cut off their return, Uncle Sam's unwelcome and unwilling guests can neither land in this country nor get back to their own. About 100 women and children from the interior of Europe are now at Ellis island just waiting. So few immigrants come in that there is at least plenty of room for these derelicts, but some of them have been there for months and they have been getting rather bored. Recently the authorities put the children to work in special classes where they learn the English language, and now the mothers are being taught to sew. Eleven nationalities are represented in the sewing class, and Mrs. Sappe, the teacher, is a pretty good linguist or she wouldn't make much headway.

Sewing Schools.

The women have taken kindly to the sewing schools, and most of them sit all day with their embroidery work or their knitting. There is nothing much else to do at Ellis island; and then, too, one can forget one's troubles in the absorption of counting stitches for the knitting or the colored cross-stitch embroidery. There are a few, of course, who haven't any troubles. They are the feeble-minded ones, who smile happily at their fellow-workers. But even they wonder sometimes why some one doesn't come to take them away.

"Most of my pupils are knitting mufflers for the soldiers," said Mrs. Sappe in an interview for the New York Tribune. "A department store furnishes the wool and the International institute pays the women 20 cents for each muffler they knit. They don't make much at it, of course, but it gives them a few cents to buy apples and sweets when the man comes around with his wares. A few of them do native embroidery, like the Russian and Galician peasant work, but many of them know nothing about sewing. We are teaching them now to make their own clothing and garments for their children. Some of the little girls are making their own aprons, and they are very proud of the work. The government furnishes the material for these garments."

The International institute encourages immigrant women to continue their native lace-making and embroidery work after they come to this country. At Ellis island some of the women are doing native work on orders given them by the institute. A Spanish woman, who is to be deported because her husband is an invalid and unable to make a living, is making some unusual dresses for children. Little smocklike frocks they are, with bordering of blue and red cross-stitch in an ancient pattern.

"This is part of a general movement on the part of social workers and industrial workers at various neighborhood houses to revive the art of lace-making, and to interest immigrant girls of different nationalities in this work. Until war broke out these girls had been arriving here in vast numbers. Most of them went into domestic service, and into clothing factories and cigar factories. The International institute has been trying for several years to interest the girls who arrive at Ellis island in their native handiwork. The Greek girls are particularly skillful at various forms of lace-making and embroidery.

DULUTH DRAMA CLUB STUDIES SCHOENHERR AND ANDREYEV

THE two dramatists who will be studied next by the Duluth Drama Study club, Carl Schoenherr and Leonid Andreyev, were the subjects of talks made by Mrs. F. Mondshine and Mrs. M. Cook at the meeting of the club Thursday morning.

Mrs. Mondshine discussed Schoenherr, whose "Faith and Fatherland" will be taken up at the next meeting. She gave an account of his life and writings, mentioning that he was awarded the Grill Tartzer and the Bauern Feld, the greatest honors conferred in Germany, and that he was voted the greatest dramatist of the age at a dinner held by editors of current German literature.

"Faith and Fatherland," as Mrs. Mondshine explained, takes up the religious conditions of the time it portrays and would make Protestants of all the Catholics, or, failing at that, would banish them from the country. The play attempts to show that the love of fireside is above the love of faith.

Mrs. Cook, who took up Andreyev and his "Anathema" that will be studied by the club, said in part: "Madness, horror and 'what is life?' are notes which resound through all Russian literature. Art alone has the right of expressing the soul-stirring problems in Russia. Authors set for themselves the noble task of wiping out boundaries and distances and laying bare all the dark spots in their civilization.

"In the story of 'The Seven Who Were Hanged' Andreyev, the foremost literary artist of Russia today, shows the horrors and iniquities of capital punishment. In 'The Red Laugh,' his masterpiece, he shows that war is responsible for the most common and awful form of disease among Russian soldiers, a disease of the brain. This is the most terrible protest against war ever written. 'Anathema,' a symbolic drama shows the great need of bringing joy to mankind.

Andreyev is a supreme realist. His style is always concrete, always full of the sense of fact. He puts forth every literary effort to diminish human suffering and to bring about a new kingdom on earth."

SURETTE LECTURES AND THE DEFEAT OF SUFFRAGE

Matinee Musicale Speaker Has Aroused a Storm of Discussion and Many Differ With His Views—Suffragists Not Downcast By Their Defeat—Music for Neighboring Towns—Mrs. Bigbee's Death.

BY FAR the most interesting events of the week in the club life of the city, were the lectures by Thomas Whitney Surette under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale.

Mr. Surette's lectures were an intellectual stimulus whether the listener agreed with him fully or not. Apparently there were many who did not; while others found him voicing thoughts which they had long held.

The chief criticism found with Mr. Surette's ideas is that he is so saturated himself with the best in music that he is impatient and hypercritical with anything that falls a little short of his own very high standard.

Fred G. Bradbury, leader of Duluth's orchestra, voiced a rather general comment as follows:

Mental Stimulus.

"I don't want to be understood as criticizing Mr. Surette," he said. "He is a master of his subject, and a man of wonderful ability and with most exceptional training. His lectures were like a cold bath mentally. They stimulated you and jarred you out of your mental ruts. But I do feel that he had a tendency to be too severe with some great men who fell just a little short of his standard. Beethoven and Brahms are to him the last word in music, and he is rather impatient with any lesser lights. He is undoubtedly right about his favorites, but men like Grieg, Tschaikowsky, Chopin and others whom he criticized rather mercilessly, have contributed a great deal to musical literature. True, Grieg is a nationalist, perhaps, but there are many beautiful themes in his works. If Mr. Surette had taken some passages from Brahms and played them as he did some of the Grieg themes, with an effort to bring out the worst in them, he would have secured just about as good results. Then if he had tried to bring out the best in some of his Chopin themes instead of the worst, it might have put a different light on the question.

Not All Giants.

"We can't all be musical giants. We can't all be Beethovens and Brahms, but that fact should not be allowed to detract from the pleasure we get from lesser composers and lesser musicians. It is all right to aim high, but Mr. Surette has aimed too high.

"But, as I said, I am not finding fault, only differing. More power to Mr. Surette, I say, or to anybody who can stir you up mentally as he has done, even if it is only to differ with him.

Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. L. Schmidt, whose guest he was, Mr. Surette talked with a Herald reporter.

He commended the plan on which the Duluth concert orchestra is conducted, saying that an orchestra should grow as it is able to support itself. He considered the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra one of the best in the country, but regarded the $60,000 deficit of one of its seasons as deplorable. That this excellent orchestra is used by Minneapolis as something to brag about rather than as an educational factor he considered a false standard.

Talks to Teachers.

Mr. Surette's lectures on "Music in Its Relation to Education" and "Romantic Music" and his informal talk to the supervisors of music and grade teachers in regard to the music in the Boston schools were interesting to both the persons who have made a study of music and to those who regard it as an amusement and a cultural agent.

His suggestion that children in the grades be taught to sing naturally the first three years, by notes later and be given a four-year course in the appreciation of music in high school is in conformity with the views held by educators who real ze that many children are incapable of producing music, but that all children are capable of being educated to love it.

The Suffrage Defeat.

EQUAL suffrage for Minnesota has been postponed but Minnesota suffragists, like those of other states in which the bills asking that the question be put to the vote of the people have been defeated again and again, are not discouraged. Even if the bill had failed to pass by a large majority the men and women who advocate the enfranchisement of women would keep at work.

During the two years before the question can be brought up again, the suffragists of the state will not be idle. Mrs. W. W. Lawrence, president of the Duluth Woman Suffrage association; Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, second vice president, and Dr. Mary McCoy, corresponding secretary and for many years prominent in suffrage work, say they are not disheartened, even if they do admit they are "ashamed that Minnesota should lag behind equal suffrage states" and the states where the question has been put to the people. They are confident the women of Minnesota will soon have equal suffrage, and in the meantime they are going to work for it.

Mrs. Andreas Ueland of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, who was one of the guests of honor at the luncheon given by the local suffrage association last week, has announced the beginning of a vigorous campaign that will end two years hence in the legislature. "Outsiders will be brought into the state within the next two years," she said, "the state movement will be thoroughly organized, and in the cities we will make a house-to-house canvass and show at the end of two years that the women want to vote."

Music for Duluth's Neighbors.

The Matinee Musicale, that has among its objects the making of Duluth a musical center that will exert its influence in the neighboring towns, sent a group of its members to Ely Thursday to give a program under the auspices of the Mothers' club of that place. Through the co-operation of a committee of the Mothers' club and the committee of the Matinee Musicale a program was arranged that included violin numbers by Mrs. Tom Miller and soprano number by Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten, with Isabel Pearson at the piano, and readings by Mrs. George A. Reifsteck.

Chance for Young Musicians.

March 15 is the date that has been set for the state examination of the young musicians who wish to compete for the privilege of being on the program at the meeting of the National Federation of Musical clubs to be held in Los Angeles June 24 to July 2. Voice, piano and violin are the departments that will be represented in the contests. The winners in the state contest, that will be held in Minneapolis, will compete with the winners of neighboring states at the district contest that will be held in Chicago May 1. The winners of the district contests, four in each department, will appear at the biennial festival at which they will have an opportunity to be heard by the representatives of 300 federated clubs. This will be advantageous in that the representatives will be instructed by their clubs to engage these winners, if satisfactory, as artists for their "American day" programs.

The conditions governing the contest are:

"Contestants must have received their musical training in America.

"Contestants must not be over 30 years old.

"Contestants must perform entirely without notes before their state jury and later before their district jury at least three, or, if desired, more compositions, namely:

"Vocalists—One air by Handel, Mozart, Gluck or an early Italian composer; a short group of German Schubert, Schumann or Brahms). French and American songs; one modern oratorio or opera aria (English language preferred).

"Pianists—One work by Bach or Beethoven, one work by Chopin or Schumann, one work by MacDowell, and, if requested, one work by Liszt or some other important modern composition.

"Violinists—A Bach unaccompanied sonata or early classic Italian work or a Handel sonata; one movement from a Bruch, Saint-Saens, Mendelssohn or other standard concerto; two or three good short character pieces, showing style, finish, color, charm and individuality; one brilliant "show piece," by noted violinist, (such as Paganini, Sarasate, Wieniawski).

"Contestants must perform behind a screen and be known to the jury by number only, thus insuring absolute impartiality.

"Contestants need not be members of a federated club, but, to be eligible, they must join the National club within the students department of the National Federation of Musical Clubs (for advanced students and young professionals) by sending with their names and addresses the fee, one dollar, to the vice president of their state, who will remit it to the federation treasurer.

"Contestants must arrange for their own expenses in the contest, but it is suggested that clubs, if willing, help defray the contestants' district and biennial expenses, where necessary, or that the final winners give a 'benefit' concert in their respective cities or clubs."

Additional information will be furnished by Mrs. George S. Richards of 212 South Sixteenth avenue east, who as the state vice president of the National Federation of Musical Clubs, has charge of the contest in Minnesota.

Loss Felt By Club Women.

One of the greatest losses suffered recently by the club women of the state was caused by the death Thursday night of Mrs. C. G. Higbie of St. Paul, who had devoted twenty-five years to reform work and made a plea for a reformatory for women before the house prison committee only a few minutes before she was stricken with heart disease. She died before a physician could reach her.—E. F.

Alfred Noyes.

ALFRED NOYES, who will conclude the lecture course of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, April 6, is considered as perhaps the greatest poet in the English language since the Victorian age. When he began to publish his poems literary critics and lovers of poetry realized he was a successor of Wordsworth, Keats, Tennyson and Browning.

Mr. Noyes was born Sept. 16, 1880, and was educated at Oxford, where he was noted as an athlete and rowed for three years in his college eight. He determined upon his graduation that he would devote his life to poetry and also that he would earn his living in no other way. Accordingly he has applied himself to his task with the serious purpose and the steady devotion which a business or a professional man must give to his life work. He has, therefore, at the age of 34, a considerable number of poems to his credit, covering a wide range of subjects and written with many variations in technique. A year ago his collected poems were published in two substantial volumes. His popularity may be shown by the fact that one of his earlier editions, "Poems by Alfred Noyes," (with an introduction by Hamilton Wright Mabie) was exhausted in this country not long after it left the press.

Mr. Noyes has a home in Sussex in a small fishing village on the English channel, where he can work without interruption, and indulge his fondness for outdoor life and the sea.

TWILIGHT CONCERT PROGRAM HAS A VARIETY OF FEATURES

IN POINT of variety and general excellence the program that Director Fred Bradbury has prepared for the fifth of the concert series by the Duluth Concert orchestra at the Central high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock also promises to be the most interesting.

While Scandinavian composers have been largely drawn upon in preparing the program, Mr. Bradbury has by no means confined his efforts to this particular school, but has also included selections from Wagner, von Suppe and Elgar. Charles Fremling, a Duluth composer and the bassoonist of the orchestra, has written a spirited march, "Yankee Honor," which will also be given.

The program will open with "Einzugsmarsch der Bojaren," describing the entrance of the Bojars into their domain with much pomp and splendor, presumably after victorious battle and the composer, Johan Halversen, evidently intended that the entrance should be a rousing one by the use he has made of the various combinations of the orchestra.

The "Lohengrin" Vorspiel or prelude, considered one of Wagner's most beautiful compositions, is one of the innovations originated by Germany's great poet-dramatist in which he changed the customary overture to a prelude or Vorspiel, giving each act its own introduction. The Vorspiel describes the revelation of the "Holy Grail," and by the characteristic use of the "strings," Wagner has evolved a wonderfully effective composition. Beginning very softly in the extreme upper register of the violins the "Grail" motive is gradually developed until it resounds in thunderous effect with the utmost power of the orchestra, but only for a moment, then gradually fades away, ending as it began in the peculiar, mystic, high tones from the violins at the close of the number.

Peer Gynt Suite.

The "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg deals with the hero of Ibsen's dramatic poem of the same name. Peer Gynt was a mountain peasant of a dreamy, vagrant nature, whose career is made up of a selfish pursuit of experiences in various lands, his name and character being taken from an old Norwegian folk tale. The music of each of the four movements is highly contrasting and the suite has long been a favorite on concert programs.

As a special novelty the orchestra will play von Suppe's "Light Calvary" overture with a marimbaphone solo by Roy Knapp, the tympanist. The marimbaphone belongs to the "percussion" division of the orchestra and is the development of a primitive xylophone used in South Africa except that the present instrument is equipped with metallic bars graduated to the musical scale to which are attached metal tubes correspondingly tuned to act as resonators, giving deep bell-like tones which are very pleasing.

The orchestra will be assisted at tomorrow's concert by Donna Riblette Flaaten, who will sing, while Valborg Gunderson-Finkelson will play as a violin solo, Ole Bull's "Saenterjenten's Sondag," which is also a famous song of Norway's rugged mountain life.

PRIZE FOR BEST BATHING SUIT

Baggy Bloomers Frowned on By Park Manager Who Wants Comfort and Modesty Combined in Design; Suggests That Duluth Women Unite on Some Suitable Model.

Baggy bathing bloomers for women, the kind used at the Y. W. C. A., will not be advocated by Park Manager Henry Cleveland for the new Fairmont park beach to open next July, but instead, he is in favor of the short skirt, with tights either full length or to the knees. Boys' suits for women, as worn throughout the East, will be prohibited, Mr. Cleveland said.

Park Manager Cleveland does not favor the baggy bloomers, because they are not comfortable and have been declared by other cities to be a handicap to swimmers and divers. They are all right for bathing, authorities at the various resorts in the East say, but are absolutely useless to swimmers. For this reason Mr. Cleveland said that he favored short skirts, with tights. It is up to the women, he said, if they want to go in bare-foot.

However, Mr. Cleveland declared that he will not decide just what kind of bathing suits are to be worn by the women at the Duluth beach, but will leave the matter to a committee of representative women. He will insist, he said, on comfortable suits, the kind that will not retard swimming or diving.

"It is all right for staid, conservative people to have their say," said Mr. Cleveland, "but there is no use in going too far and ruining the sport of swimming by compelling girls to wear clumsy suits. Again, we don't want women to wear boys' suits, such as the custom is throughout the East. Not that it is wrong, but there is no need for that kind of costume. We shall avoid unnecessary arguments."

Mr. Cleveland is eager to receive suggestions from Duluthians on proper bathing suits for women, and he is willing to give $5 for the best sketch submitted to him. He plans to have an official from the Y. W. C. A., from some mothers' club, and from a church organization act together and decide on the best suit. The one selected will be ordered by the park manager for use at the park, while bathers will be permitted to use their own suits, if they comply with the regulations.

APPOINTMENTS FOR COUNTY SCHOOLS

St. Louis County Board of Education Makes No Changes.

L. A. Ink, principal, and Mrs. M. B. Holmes, supervisor of the schools of the unorganized district of St. Louis county, were each reappointed for one year by the county board of education which held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the courthouse. The board also employed J. S. Root as bookkeeper in the office of the county superintendent.

The four teachers who were employed in School District No. 57 before its dissolution a few weeks ago were retained by the board to teach in the unorganized schools now serving the same territory. They are Miss Vilma Waldron, Miss Elvira Forsman, Miss Emma Bartling and Miss Anna Johnson.

The board passed bills for fuel, teachers' wages and school supplies and transacted other routine business.

SEWING AND ENGLISH ARE TAUGHT TO WOMEN AND CHILDREN AT ELLIS ISLAND

Springfield Republican: Being rejected at Ellis island is tragedy enough at best, but now that the war has cut off their return, Uncle Sam's unwelcome and unwilling guests can neither land in this country nor get back to their own. About 100 women and children from the interior of Europe are now at Ellis island just waiting. So few immigrants come in that there is at least plenty of room for these derelicts, but some of them have been there for months and they have been getting rather bored. Recently the authorities put the children to work in special classes where they learn the English language, and now the mothers are being taught to sew. Eleven nationalities are represented in the sewing class, and Mrs. Sappe, the teacher, is a pretty good linguist or she wouldn't make much headway.

Sewing Schools.

The women have taken kindly to the sewing schools, and most of them sit all day with their embroidery work or their knitting. There is nothing much else to do at Ellis island; and then, too, one can forget one's troubles in the absorption of counting stitches for the knitting or the colored cross-stitch embroidery. There are a few, of course, who haven't any troubles. They are the feeble-minded ones, who smile happily at their fellow-workers. But even they wonder sometimes why some one doesn't come to take them away.

"Most of my pupils are knitting mufflers for the soldiers," said Mrs. Sappe in an interview for the New York Tribune. "A department store furnishes the wool and the International Institute pays the women 20 cents for each muffler they knit. They don't make much at it, of course, but it gives them a few cents to buy apples and sweets when the man comes around with his wares. A few of them do native embroidery, like the Russian and Galician peasant work, but many of them know nothing about sewing. We are teaching them now to make their own clothing and garments for their children. Some of the little girls are making their own aprons, and they are very proud of the work. The government furnishes the material for these garments."

The International institute encourages immigrant women to continue their native lace-making and embroidery work after they come to this country. At Ellis island some of the women are doing native work on orders given them by the institute. A Spanish woman, who is to be deported because her husband is an invalid and unable to make a living, is making some unusual dresses for children. Little smocklike frocks they are, with bordering of blue and red cross-stitch in an ancient pattern.

This is part of a general movement on the part of social workers and industrial workers at various neighborhood houses to revive the art of lace-making, and to interest immigrant girls of different nationalities in this work. Until war broke out these girls had been arriving here in vast numbers. Most of them went into domestic service, and into clothing factories and cigar factories. The International institute has been trying for several years to interest the girls who arrive at Ellis island in their native handiwork. The Greek girls are particularly skillful at various forms of lace-making and embroidery.

DULUTH DRAMA CLUB STUDIES SCHOENHERR AND ANDREYEV

TWO dramatists who will be studied next by the Duluth Drama Study club, Carl Schoenherr and Leonid Andreyev, were the subjects of talks made by Mrs. F. Mondshine and Mrs. M. Cook at the meeting of the club Thursday morning.

Mrs. Mondshine discussed Schoenherr, whose "Faith and Fatherland" will be taken up at the next meeting. She gave an account of his life and work, mentioning that he was awarded the Grill Tartzer and the Lessing Feld, the greatest honors conferred in Germany, and that he was voted the greatest dramatist of the age at a dinner held by editors of national German literature.

"Faith and Fatherland," as Mrs. Mondshine explained, takes up the religious conditions of the time it portrays and would make Protestants of all the Catholics, or, failing at that, would banish them from the country. The play attempts to show that the love of fireside is above the love of faith.

Mrs. Cook, who took up Andreyev and his "Anathema" that will be studied by the club, said in part: "Madness, horror and 'what is life?' are notes which resound through all Russian literature. Art alone has the right of expressing the soul-stirring problems in Russia. Authors set for themselves the noble task of wiping out boundaries and distances and laying bare all the dark spots in their civilization.

"In the story of 'The Seven Who Were Hanged' Andreyev, the foremost literary artist of Russia today, shows the horrors and iniquities of capital punishment. In 'The Red Laugh,' his masterpiece, he shows that war is responsible for the most common and awful form of disease among Russian soldiers, a disease of the brain. This is the most terrible protest against war ever written. 'Anathema,' a symbolic drama, shows the great need of bringing joy to mankind.

Andreyev is a supreme realist. His style is always concrete, always full of the sense of fact. He puts forth every literary effort to diminish human suffering and to bring about a new kingdom on earth."

DEFECTIVE PAGE

In the Churches

ONE week from tomorrow will be "Go-to-Church Sunday," the second of what is aimed to be made an annual event. Of course, the idea is not solely based on the hope that people who do not make church-going a habit will attend only on the one Sunday, but, rather, on the hope that, having attended that day, they will determine to continue, and, eventually, become members and participants in the work.

Many of the pastors of Duluth declare that such an outcome was frequent as a result of the "Go-to-Church Sunday" a year ago. Then almost every church in the city was filled to capacity, and, in fact, most of them had to make provision for many extra sittings. The collections were enormous as compared to the usual contributions, and there seemed to be a spirit among people of all classes, and without regard to one-time religious affiliations to attend church somewhere, and at least once during the day. The morning service attracted the most people as a rule, but the evening congregations were far larger than usual.

Many men who had not darkened the door of a church in years attended accompanied by their families, and it is declared that in many such cases this attendance was made the entering wedge for every-Sunday attendance at one or more services since. Pastors have declared that as a result of that day, substantial increases have been enjoyed in attendance and membership.

For instance, in a letter to W. B. Patton of the publicity committee of the movement, Rev. John Allen McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, declares that his work of "keeping tab" on the attendance for the two months following that day, his congregation showed an increase of 14¾ per cent as compared with the two months before that Sunday; and that he and the workers of the church, through the services, got into touch with many people who signed "I was there" cards.

Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, declares that a year ago he had record-breaking congregations and that through the follow-up cards the church won a number of new families; also that the day gave some former attendants a fresh start.

Rev. M. P. Burns, superintendent of the Duluth district of the Methodist Episcopal church, declares that last year's "Go-to-Church Sunday" was preeminently successful, both here and on the iron ranges and that many instances of increases were permanent.

Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of Endion M. E. church, writing as chairman of the publicity committee of the Inter-Church council, says that he regards last year's day as a magnificent success and that it was followed by many permanent results. He adds:

"It seems to me that every man in the community owes it to himself and his family and to his belief in the moral value of the church as an institution to be present at the church of his choice on that day and register by his presence, his faith in the church as a conservative and remedial agency in God's hands for the furtherance of the cause of righteousness on earth.

"It seems to me that this year, of all years, should be a time when every American citizen should turn his steps toward the sanctuary to thank God that we have been preserved in peace and to ask Him to help us to continue to be an example of peace to all the nations of the earth."

Strong efforts are being made to make a week from tomorrow equal and, if possible, surpass the success of the corresponding day last year.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling, and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves, which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool, delicate bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of 5 cents in stamps or coin.

Teachers Elected for School Year of 1915-16—Some Salaries Increased.

Term of Thirty-Eight Weeks Designated—Maximum Salaries Unaltered.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of education, held last evening, the committee on schools made recommendation of the teachers to be employed during the next school year, beginning in September, and in many cases recommended an increase in salaries, the members of the staff who have served for some time, and whose salaries were not raised last year, being the beneficiaries this time. The report was adopted. It was announced that the increase in salaries will swell the payroll approximately $16,000 a year. The committee stated that it had not deemed it wise to recommend an increase in the maximum salary.

In the Churches

ONE week from tomorrow will be "Go-to-Church Sunday," the second of what is aimed to be made an annual event. Of course, the idea is not solely based on the hope that people who do not make church-going a habit will attend only on the one Sunday, but, rather, on the hope that, having attended that day, they will determine to continue, and, eventually, become members and participants in the work.

Many of the pastors of Duluth declare that such an outcome was frequent as a result of the "Go-to-Church Sunday" a year ago. Then almost every church in the city was filled to capacity, and, in fact, most of them had to make provision for many extra sittings. The collections were enormous as compared to the usual contributions, and there seemed to be a spirit among people of all classes, and without regard to one-time religious affiliations to attend church somewhere, and at least once during the day. The morning service attracted the most people as a rule, but the evening congregations were far larger than usual.

Many men who had not darkened the door of a church in years attended accompanied by their families, and it is declared that in many such cases this attendance was made the entering wedge for every-Sunday attendance at one or more services since. Pastors have declared that as a result of that day, substantial increases have been enjoyed in attendance and membership.

For instance, in a letter to W. B. Patton of the publicity committee of the movement, Rev. John Allen Mcgeaghey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, declares that his work of "keeping tab" on the attendance for the two months following that day, his congregation showed an increase of 14½ per cent as compared with the two months before that Sunday, and that he and the workers of the church, through the services, got into touch with many people who signed "I was there" cards.

Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, declares that a year ago he had record-breaking congregations and that through the follow-up cards the church won a number of new families; also that the day gave some former attendants a fresh start.

Rev. M. P. Burns, superintendent of the Duluth district of the Methodist Episcopal church, declares that last year's "Go-to-church Sunday" was preeminently successful both here and on the iron ranges and that many substantial increases were permanent.

Rev. Willcox Forney Hovis, pastor of Endion M. E. church, writing as chairman of the publicity committee of the Inter-church council says that his records last year's day as a magnificent success and that it was followed by many permanent results. He adds:

"It seems to me that every man in the community owes it to himself and his family and to his belief in the moral value of the church as an institution to be present at the church of his choice on that day and register by his presence his faith in the church as a conservative and remedial agency in God's hands for the furtherance of the cause of righteousness on earth.

"It seems to me that this year, of all years, should be a time when every American citizen should turn his steps toward the sanctuary to thank God that we have been preserved in peace and to ask Him to help us to continue to be an example of peace to all the nations of the earth."

Strong efforts are being made to make a week from tomorrow equal and, if possible, surpass the success of the corresponding day last year.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling, and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves, which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool, delicate bloom to the complexion. Sent anywhere on receipt of 6 cents in stamps or coin.

BOARD NAMES SCHOOL STAFF

Teachers Elected for School Year of 1915-16—Some Salaries Increased.

Term of Thirty-Eight Weeks Designated—Maximum Salaries Unaltered.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of education, held last evening, the committee on schools made recommendation of the teachers to be employed during the next school year, beginning in September, and in many cases recommended an increase in salaries, the members of the staff who have served for some time, and whose salaries were not raised last year, being the beneficiaries this time. The report was adopted. It was announced that the increase in salaries will swell the payroll approximately $16,000 a year. The committee stated that it had not deemed it wise to recommend an increase in the maximum salary.

The schools committee also made a recommendation of the division of the next school year as follows:

First term—To open Sept. 6 for a term of fifteen weeks, and closing for a vacation of two weeks on Dec. 17.

Second term—To open Jan. 3 for a term of fifteen weeks, closing April 14 for a vacation of one week. Third term—To open April 24 for a term of eight weeks, and to close for summer vacation on June 16.

The report adds:

"The division provides for thirty-eight weeks of actual school, but the salaries of the teachers are to be divided into ten equal payments. These payments are to be made at the close of each four weeks' service, except the first and tenth payments. The first payment will be made at the end of the first three weeks of teaching service and the tenth payment will be made at the close of the last three weeks of the school year."

MURCHISON IN THE RACE

Report That He Would Not Run Refuted By Filing.

J. L. Norman Springs Surprise By Entering—Evens a Possibility.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the public works division, and James L. Norman, former private secretary to T. F. Cole, filed their nominations for commissioner with City Clerk Palmer this morning. Mr. Norman's entrance into the campaign comes as a complete surprise, as his name had not been mentioned during the last two weeks among the probable candidates.

It is also expected that Christ E. Evens, former alderman, will be entered into the commissionership fight by some of his friends, who claim they have a sufficient number of nominating petitions. Mr. Evens is in California and is not expected back for about ten days.

The head of the public works division denied the report in the morning paper that he may not enter the race and declared that he gave out a statement last night to the effect that he would surely file some time today. He declared this morning that he has a sufficient number of petitions to nominate him and that he will run on his record during the last two years and on a business basis program.

Commissioner Murchison placed the Federal war stamps on each of his petitions, while Commissioner Hicken, who filed last Wednesday, brought stamps down to the city clerk this noon and also placed them on the petitions. Both commissioners and Judge Windom, all of whom are running for re-election, are the only candidates to have made use of the stamps among those already filed.

This morning Commissioner Hicken and John H. Norton, candidate for municipal judge, formally filed acceptances of the nominations and their intention to make the campaign. These acceptances can only be filed with the clerk after the petitions are found to be legal and properly prepared.

Although Monday has been announced as the last filing day, candidates for office, according to the city clerk, should file today and not take any chance on a contest after the election. The ten-day period for filing ends tomorrow, but as it is Sunday, it was recently announced that candidates could file before have an additional day of grace. However, City Clerk Palmer urges all those planning to enter the race to file today and be on the safe side.

On Tuesday, voters will register for the election April 6, while an additional registration day will be held next Saturday. Voters who expect to be out of the city on both these days can have their names placed on the election rolls by filing certificates with the city clerk.

EATON MAY HEAD NAVAL MILITIA FOR ANOTHER TEN-YEAR TERM

Line officers of the Minnesota naval militia will meet at the Spalding hotel tonight to elect a new state commander, vice Guy A. Eaton, whose term of office expires March 10. Commander Eaton probably will succeed himself, as no other candidate has been mentioned.

Brig.-Gen. Fred B. Wood, adjutant-general of the state militia, will arrive in Duluth this afternoon and will preside at the meeting, following the command of Governor Hammond, official head of the naval and military forces of the state.

Commander Eaton has been at the head of the naval militia since 1905, when he was appointed for a ten-year term by Former Governor John A. Johnson. If re-elected tonight he will be commander for ten more years, as the term of his office was made that at the time of his appointment.

Sixteen line officers, all the men bearing commissions, will have a vote in the election. The roster of the state naval force includes all officers of the Duluth companies and Lieutenants Robert Wilcox and Hodge of the Pine City division. The Pine City men will be present to add their share to the tribute to be paid Commander Eaton.

Adjt.-Gen. Wood will return to the Twin Cities tonight at 11 o'clock, the election being held at the Spalding instead of the Armory to allow him to make his train more easily.

CARNIVAL QUEEN GETS A DIVORCE

Freed From Her Husband on the Ground of Cruelty.

Mrs. Pauline Treado, formerly Miss Dudie Delbern of West Duluth, was granted a divorce in Judge Ensign's division of the district court yesterday on a cross bill filed in a contested action. Cyifford Treado, who brought the suit against his wife, charged her with infidelity and cruelty, but failed to appear and prosecute his claims. Mrs. Treado also counter-claimed cruelty and infidelity. The divorce was granted on the grounds of cruelty.

Treado, in his complaint, charged that his wife had been unfaithful, that she had pleaded guilty in district court to a charge of attempted forgery and that on one occasion she had stabbed him with a hatpin. Mrs. Treado appeared in court and testified that he had been cruel to her. She claimed that on one occasion while they were riding in a street car he struck her in the face and caused her nose to bleed. The infidelity phase of the case was not gone into.

Mrs. Treado, as Miss Dudie Delbern, was known to many West Duluth people. In a popularity contest in 1911 she secured first prize and was queen of the West Duluth carnival.

SETTLEMENT REACHED.

School Board Will Pay Doctor's Bill for Injured Boy.

A communication was read at the meeting of the school board last night relative to the injuries sustained by Earl Carlson, a student at the R. E. Denfeld high school. The communication was from his father, M. T. Carlson, stating that no action for damages would be taken, providing the board would pay the bill of the physician, amounting to $6.

The board went on record as willing to accept this, but the acceptance would not be formally made until the father had legally been appointed guardian of the boy and could sign a release as such from further action.

The boy was injured last fall while assisting in moving heavy machinery in the manual training department. A lathe that was being moved crushed the boy's foot, making it necessary for him to be confined at his home for two weeks.

"BREAD LINE."

Baker's Team Runs Away and Scatters Contents of Wagon.

West Duluth experienced a real "bread line" yesterday. Several citizens on Central avenue, as a result, helped themselves, it is said, while the helping was good.

The "bread line" extended from Ramsey street to Bristol street and was caused by the runaway of a team belonging to the Crescent bakery. The loaves were scattered along the street.

The team came to a sudden stop by running up against a hydrant in front of Nygren's drug store. The front axle of the wagon was smashed and the team received slight scratches. No one was injured.

Study Club Meeting.

The West Duluth Study club will meet at the West Duluth public library Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. R. Y. Dunn will be leader. Norway and Sweden will be the subject. The speakers of the afternoon will be Mrs. John J. Moe, who will talk on "The Origin of the Red Cross;" Rev. Swaney Nelson, who will speak on "Sweden," and Mrs. Fantson, who will talk on "The Government of Norway."

NO ADDITIONS TO MERRITT SCHOOL

There will be no additions made to the Merritt school this year, according to action taken last night at the meeting of the school board. A committee representing the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club presented a request for enlarging the building, owing to it being overcrowded, but following the conference, agreed to certain changes to be made in the district.

Members of the board pointed out that there were some rooms in the Oneota school that were vacant. The congestion at the Merritt school will be relieved by shifting the district lines so that some of the children will go to the Oneota school. This will, it is claimed, temporarily relieve the situation.

Next fall the Lincoln junior high school will be ready to receive pupils, and many of the children wishing to take the higher studies will go from the Merritt district to the Lincoln. Others living farther west will go to the Irving junior high school.

TRIPS OVER VALVE PIPE.

West Duluth Woman Sustains Painful Injuries in a Fall.

Mrs. A. L. Fleischer, 831 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, is confined to her bed with a fracture of the arm and other serious injuries as the result of a fall on the sidewalk on Fifty-sixth avenue between Grand avenue and Cody street Monday evening.

While walking home along the sidewalk she tripped over a valve pipe of the water and light department. Her right arm was fractured. She sustained other injuries about her head and body.

The valve pipe is said to have been left in that position for several years unguarded and a number of people prior to this have tripped over it without sustaining serious injury. On a number of occasions it is claimed attention of the department has been called to it.

With the Curlers.

Morgan Parkers will attempt to retrieve themselves in a game between curlers of that organization of the Western Curling club this evening. A challenge was thrown out by Dr. O. S. Olson, president of the former club, to play a rink skipped by T. F. Olsen. It is expected that enough men from the park to make up another rink will also attend.

Last evening only one game was played. F. W. Wade won from Mallory by a score of 11 to 9 in the Grand Avenue Pharmacy event.

Duluthian Recovers.

C. T. Johnson, 907 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, has returned from Brainerd, where he has been confined to a hospital on account of injuries to his foot. NEW BROOM FOR COMMISSIONER

An ordinance giving the city the power to raid disorderly houses, so that the authorities will not have to depend on the state laws, will be introduced by Commissioner Hicken at the regular council meeting Monday afternoon.

At present the only ordinance in force regulates houses of ill-fame and owners and agents of buildings renting for such purposes. Commissioner Hicken claims that in the past it has been impossible in many cases to secure conviction on the above ordinance, when the charge was keeping a disorderly house. Rather than attempt to secure a conviction under the state law against disorderly houses and going through the red tape of special examinations and grand jury trials, it has been the custom to place a disorderly charge against the person arrested.

However, with this new ordinance, Commissioner Hicken expects to be able to convict many operators of disorderly houses, who have escaped the law in the past.

The ordinance provides that a person operating a house against the "peace, comfort and decency" of a community, shall be liable to arrest and, on conviction, fined not more than $100 and imprisoned in the county jail for a term not exceeding eighty-five days.

In addition the ordinance makes the owner or agent of a building liable, if he knowingly rents his property to a person planning to operate a disorderly house.

PROTEST AGAINST SLIPPERY PAVING

Because members of the Glen-Hunt-Wood club recently entered a protest against the use of any pavement at Woodland that might become slippery and dangerous to animals, Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, will call a conference of the property owners to be affected by the proposed pavement, members of the Woodland club and officials of the Duluth Humane society.

"The city is practically ready to start negotiations for the paving of Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road," said Commissioner Murchison this morning, "and I am eager to have this matter settled at once. The property owners favor asphalt, concrete or bitulithic pavements, but the members of the Glen-Hunt-Wood club object to a slippery pavement.

"Some time next week I shall call a meeting for all those interested and I plan to invite the officials of the humane society, so that we can get their views on the matter."

The Woodland avenue paving job will be one of the largest of the year and will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000.

MORE TROUBLE FOR SHERIFF

Troubles pursues John R. Meining, St. Louis county sheriff, like a detective follows a fresh clew.

Sheriff Meining's latest batch of worry, strange as it may seem, is removed from prison school superintendents and jail schools and centers around a barrel of "bug juice."

On Nov. 25, 1914, the sheriff ordered a barrel of bug exterminator, three spray pumps and other articles for use in disinfecting the county jail and eliminating its insect population, from the Norman S. Havner company of New York.

The disinfectants were badly needed, and the sheriff did not go through the red tape of securing them through the county board in the usual manner. He ordered them and had them charged to the county. The bill was $90.

At the last meeting of the county board the committee on claims and accounts disallowed the bill, which had been incurred by the sheriff, on the ground that the goods had not been properly requisitioned for by the board's committee on purchases and supplies.

After the bill had been disallowed, the bug exterminator company engaged the services of J. H. Whitely, a local attorney, to bring suit against the sheriff and the county to recover the value of the goods delivered. Papers in the case have been served on the county board members and the sheriff.

The matter may be taken up for consideration this afternoon at the adjourned session of the board.

BOOZE.

It was to be expected that the passage of the county option bill would bring up the prohibition question in one way or another, but not many people were expecting it would come as a serious proposal from Minneapolis. Yet that city was the origin of the first proposition made. It seems to have been based on the theory of not disliking prohibition less, but St. Paul more; and once the Twins get started on something involving their old time quarrel, it's a little hard to see just where it is going to end.

But whatever the cause, the move constitutes another attack on Booze, and makes the position of the liquor cause even a little more wobbly than it was before. It has been assailed by temperance advocates of one kind or another, and by employers of help who want to have their help as efficient as possible. If now it is to be assailed as a result of the spirit of jealousy, where is it to look for friends?

The truth is that the time is coming when Booze won't have any friends to speak of. The lesson of abstinence is spreading every day. The man who wants his wits always about him and always at their best knows he can't afford to drink, and by his example he is doing more for temperance than he could do with many times the same effort in a purely temperance advocacy.

It may be a deplorable trait in human nature, but it is true for all that, that men pay less attention to a moral issue than to one that hits them in their pocketbooks. They are beginning to realize that Booze is a pocketbook issue, and today Booze is getting the worst of it.

But it won't be prohibition, either county, state or national, that will bring about the final change. Ten men, says the old proverb, cannot make a horse drink. Nor can the same ten keep a man from drinking, under ordinary circumstances. But let that man see reason enough for not drinking, and if he is half a real man he will cut it out. And that is the strength of the fight on Booze as it is waged today. Men are learning that Booze and ability don't travel in the same body, and therefore those who care for ability are cutting out Booze.

That is the way Booze is going to lose out—not by any man's telling his neighbors they shall not have access to it. Ten men may smash up all the saloons in town, but they can't keep their neighbors from tapping a private supply. But once let those neighbors thoroughly understand what their indulgence is doing to them, and the saloons will lose patronage and the private supplies will cease to exist. And that—and not by legislation—is the way Booze is finally going to be put out of business.

Now comes the report that a submarine has been sunk by a collier. Those congressmen who have been crying for submarines can now change their tune and holler for a few coal carriers.

THE CATALOGUE INVASION.

The annual invasion of different sections of the country by the mail order house catalogues has begun, and newspapers in all parts of the state are rushing to the defense of local dealers as against the outsiders. Which is mighty good of the newspapers, when you come to simmer down a few of the cases in point.

For instance, a newspaper in one community in this state figured out that one big Chicago mail order house had spent altogether a thousand dollars in advertising in that community alone so far this year—the amount being made up by an estimate on the cost of the catalogues sent out, the postage on them and the postage on preliminary correspondence. Then that newspaper turned over its books for the last year and found that certain tradesmen in that community had spent less than ten dollars in advertising during the last year.

What call is there for any newspaper to defend such merchants as that against the mail order business? None whatever. The merchant will complain of the invaders, and likes to have others back him up; but in many instances that is all he will do.

We wonder sometimes if those dealers ever consider the evenings spent in different homes in studying the mail order catalogue. If they would go to a little trouble and expense that time would instead be spent over their own advertisements in the local paper.

A current jest gives a conversation in which a physician orders a business man to rest. On the latter's assertion that he hasn't time to rest the doctor tells him, "Then quit advertising." There really is a good deal more than jest in this.

The man who wants and deserves business will go after it. If he doesn't want it badly enough for that he isn't worth worrying about. The newspapers would do just as well to forget such a man, as everybody else is bound to do sooner or later. Then the dealer will be forced out of business and a live one will take his place—one who, because he is alive and awake, isn't afraid of the catalogue invasion.

The Turks say the forts that guard Constantinople cannot be captured. The last place that had such things said about it was Liege.

WILL PEOPLE NEVER LEARN?

Within the last day or two the state papers have been printing the account of an explosion in which a child was instantly killed and its mother so seriously injured that she died after suffering terrible agony for many hours. It was one of the most pitiable cases in recent years, and could not fail to stir the emotions of anybody who read it.

What added to the tragedy of it was the fact that it could have so easily been averted. It could not have occurred, in fact, if the old, old and so often disastrous experiment had not been tried of lighting a fire with kerosene. "Oil in the kitchen stove," that was the explanation of the incident.

Of course there are dozens—perhaps scores—of people who will smile indulgently at the idea that there is anything really dangerous in such a practice. They will say that they have used oil that way hundreds of times, and nothing ever happened to them. And perhaps, for all anybody can know to the contrary, that same idea went through the mind of this mother a few minutes before this last attempt was made.

The truth is that this practice is dangerous, exceedingly dangerous, and the deadliness of it is repeatedly proved by the death of new victims. Oil and fire cannot safely be mixed in the presence of inflammable substances, or of human beings, and the danger is multiplied when the oil is confined in even so open an affair as a kitchen stove. The lesson has been taught and emphasized over and over again. Will people never learn?

Anyway, the fewer candidates there are, the fewer disappointed ones there will be on April 7.

STYLES AND HUMAN LIFE.

Away with the man who ridicules styles in clothing! Take him to the outermost part of the nation and there let him be dealt with as severely as his captors may find in their power. For verily he is a traitor and an unworthy member of society, and should with all his kind be wiped off the face of the earth.

Not that styles need to be defended for their own sakes. No indeed! But they have been vindicated. They have been weighed in the balance and found up to the standard. They have earned the right to be classed with the pure food law and the safety first campaign as savers of human life. Then down with their enemies, whoever and wherever they may be.

New Jersey furnishes the first instance, and the garment that achieved the honor is none other than the long despised petticoat. It happened like this: One Harry Reiter of New York city was wandering among the mountains of New Jersey, according to the New York Times, when he fell over a cliff. None saw him but a bevy of nine young women who also were wandering in the mountains—eight of them from New York and the ninth from San Francisco, so you can see for yourself how completely the whole nation was represented in the episode.

Harry wasn't killed, though it looked as if he must be. Instead he got hold of a projection of rock, when he had fallen some thirty feet, and was hanging on there when Ruth Levy, one of the young women, looked over the ledge to see what had become of him. Harry looked up at Ruth and Ruth looked down at Harry, and in that moment there came into being the great justification of the up-to-date costume.

There wasn't time to go a mile back and get a rope. Harry couldn't hold on that long. But Ruth knew what to do, and a few minutes later nine new and perfectly good petticoats had been torn to strips, the strips tied into a rope and then lowered where Harry could reach it and climb up while the girls held onto the other end.

Then there was Carl Olson of Chicago, who fell from a window ledge ten stories high and was saved because his long coat tail caught on a corner of the ledge. If it hadn't been that long coats were once in style and later went out of style, Olson wouldn't have been wearing that coat to work in, and if he'd been wearing a shorter coat he'd have been killed.

So there are two cases to vindicate the principle of the styles. Olson is sixty-two and married, so probably his case will just have to end where it is. But with Harry it's different. It may bother him a little to choose between the nine, but—well, maybe the styles will help him out once more.

"At some of the balls in society, I have seen costumes worse than those worn in the worst of the so-called dance halls," says Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago. Is the mayor trying to draw comparisons between "the submerged tenth" and the emerged twentieth?

GET YOUR MIND MADE UP.

It's coming, so get your mind made up.

You might just as well.

It will save time later on—time and bother.

Maybe you won't get it made up at all if you don't start now.

That's why we are giving you this tip in advance.

You don't have to do it right now, you know.

The idea is to start now, and then you'll be more likely to be all ready when the time comes.

Don't know what it is?

Not the least idea?

Really?

No?

Well, it's just this——

March 14, 1915, (don't forget the date), will be go-to-church Sunday in Duluth. Don't forget it.

Incidentally, it might be a good plan to go tomorrow.

Kind o' get used to it, you know.

The incorporators of the "American legion" had to amend their articles because they forgot to include among their purposes the phrase "for the promotion of patriotism." Which may, after all, indicate about the extent to which that purpose figures in their plans.

A ROOSEVELT DOCUMENT.

Few objects are more deserving of pity than the man who has fallen from power to puerility, from a commanding position to one in which he shrieks puny epithets and wild vagaries at those whom he fanatically hates or envies.

For the first time in the history of this country the people are being treated to the spectacle of an ex-president so filled with spleen that it boils over into print; so reckless in the bitterness of a defeat now two years old that he seeks opportunity to embarrass and discredit a national executive who is confronted with problems and difficulties so stupendous that to the mind of his assailant they are, to use that assailant's own expression, "literally incomprehensible."

In the March Metropolitan Magazine, Theodore Roosevelt contributes an extended article devoted to an attempt to discredit the Wilson administration so far as its foreign policy is concerned, and especially with regard to Mexico. To try to review the entire article in this space is out of the question, but some features of it are hardly to be passed by. They are especially interesting in view of Col. Roosevelt's appeal to President Taft that he be authorized to raise a regiment and invade Mexico, an appeal that was very properly ignored. But to quote the colonel:

> He asserts that President Wilson is "endeavoring to serve, sometimes properly and sometimes improperly, the interests of the business men." No doubt the colonel would resent any reference, in this connection, to the Tennessee Fuel & Iron company matter.

He declares that the refusal to let our troops fight battles across the Rio Grande with Mexican bandits, is "a frightful source of demoralization among the American troops." The inference is that no soldier is fit for duty unless he has the privilege of killing somebody if he thinks fit.

One thing, at least, he makes plain—that ever since he himself left the White House everything has been rushing to ruin. Here is how he puts it:

> The record of the preceding administration as regards Mexico is not a pleasant object of contemplation for Americans brought up to honor the flag; but the present administration has made Americans in or near Mexico feel that they have no flag to honor.

That, we presume, is not to be taken to mean that there is no flag left under which the colonel would not be willing to take again a certain oath. But it would have been vastly different under other management, he says, for to him it is "literally incomprehensible" why Washington did not announce long ago that if shots continued to come across the border, then

> American troops will promptly be sent over to the locality where the outrage occurs and will drive all the contestants to beyond extreme rifle range of the border.

Of course an actual invasion and the shooting of a few hundred Mexican partisans by hostile Americans would have soothed the Mexican spirit and put a quick end to all fighting in that country. Still, he would not put all the blame on the administration, for he says:

> The condemnation should be visited upon us as a nation, for * * * we have declined to make our indignation felt by President Wilson and Mr. Bryan.

What we should have done was to march on Washington, a la Coxey, and snort like a herd of bull moose in the hope of scaring the present administration out of its official shoes.

The colonel quotes liberally from the speech of Senator Fall in which the senator denounced President Wilson for not intervening in Mexico, and cites many incidents in which he says he understands outrages were committed on Americans, though he admits there is nothing in the nature of official and authentic information on which to base these stories. He declares Americans in Mexico are renouncing American citizenship and adopting citizenship in other countries in order to be safe—and evidently forgets this declaration when he writes later of attacks made by Mexicans on Spaniards, Germans, Englishmen, Italians and Frenchmen, as well as "decent and well-behaved Mexicans."

After reciting the unauthentic and unproved instances, he remarks that these are merely given to show that there are "multitudes" of cases like them. Then he declares that

> If any of the statements quoted above are erroneous, the responsibility lies entirely with the president and Mr. Bryan, for they have consistently carried out a policy of secrecy.

It is interesting to contrast the colonel's habit of shouting "Liar!" at those who spoke words unsanctioned by himself as president, with this cheerful assertion that anything not specifically stated otherwise at the White House must be the truth.

He tells at length of intolerable conditions in Mexico, and says:

> President Wilson's action has been responsible for death, outrage and suffering which have befallen hundreds of Americans and hundreds of thousands of Mexicans.

It rather seems like rubbing it in to lay all that happens down there at the door of the president of another country, but after all that theory is easily to be understood by anybody who will subscribe to the colonel's statement regarding President Wilson's declaration of his policy of letting both Europe and Mexico alone. This, the colonel holds, is "fundamentally evil" and "inefficient." He even maintains that

> The Hague conventions bound us to protest against the dreadful wrong done to the men, women and children of Belgium.

Since that convention never was ratified by the nations that considered it, the bonds which bound us would seem to have existed only in the imagination of the colonel. Nor does it anywhere appear that there would have been no war if we had protested. And does the colonel remember Korea?

To return to Mexico: The colonel fairly raves over "the awful misery brought upon Mexico by President Wilson's policy." Perhaps he would intimate that it was one of President Wilson's historical writings that prompted the Madero revolution and all that followed it. He sneers at the efforts of the president to maintain peace for this country, and describes the landing at Vera Cruz as a "war of a peculiarly futile and inglorious type." Then comes this, which rather "takes the palm" in some respects:

> Thanks to the dishonorable timidity of the administration, the conditions of life in Mexico are worse at this moment than the conditions of life in the regions over which the contending armies in Europe have fought.

All this, he maintains, has brought this country distrust and contempt the world over. He fails to specify whether that distrust and contempt are greater or less than those that resulted from his own method of handling the Panama canal zone matter.

Here is one of the choicest paragraphs in the whole screed:

> The laughter of little children has been stilled in Mexico because Messrs. Wilson and Bryan, in their handling of the Mexican problem, as in their handling of every other branch of our foreign affairs, have placed this country in the position of shirking its plain duty, of seeking its own ignoble ease beyond everything else, and of declining to protect its citizens or to fulfil its international obligations or to interfere for the weak and helpless, when rapine and murder stalk in insolent mastery over the land.

But there is a day of reckoning coming, he says, and the colonel seems to find a certain amount of satisfaction in that belief. This is the way he puts it:

> Sooner or later the war in Europe will come to an end; and then the great armed nations, after a more or less brief interval, will certainly turn their attention to us and to Mexico.

Will this country then be so fortunate (?) as to have a Roosevelt in the White House? Probably not, for the tone of his article is such as to indicate that he will be found among the ranks of the invading army, perhaps looking for a chance to repeat the experience which he describes in his own account of certain Spanish war fighting, when he says "I shot him in the back."

To prove the certainty of this coming attack he gives the following summary of what is being done in Mexico and how it is regarded throughout the world: The warring factions in Mexico, he says, > bring destruction by fire and steel, by disease and famine, on humble men and women and little children. * * * The self-respecting and powerful nations of the world will not permanently permit such a course of action.

Evidently it also makes a difference, he thinks, whose ox does the goring.

The Roosevelt article is such a document as might reasonably be looked for in the heat of a bitter political campaign. As something written and published under present circumstances, it would be thoroughly disgraceful as the output of an inexperienced theorist; as the work of an ex-president who should realize something of the acuteness of the present situation, it is unspeakably unworthy.

And yet there is one thing that perhaps justifies it in part, and that is that it will make every careful reader more thankful than ever, if that is possible, that the present occupant of the White House, whoever else he might be, is NOT Theodore Roosevelt.

To use a current expression, Gen. Winter has retreated to a more removed position.

FROM FARM TO TABLE.

Before the parcel post was put into operation, it was predicted that the new system would make a difference in the food supply in cities, if not by actually cutting the cost of living, at least by making it possible to get really fresh articles for the table. That prediction has been fulfilled in many places, and to some extent in Duluth. Now it is proposed to extend that feature of the local service.

Postmaster McEwen has announced that he has a list of farmers who would be glad to sell things directly to consumers, and that he will be glad to give addresses to any who are interested. The movement is a good one, and ought to bring in many applications from city folks who are tired of being served with eggs and poultry of uncertain age and butter in which they have no confidence.

Through the medium of the want advertisements a number of families have been put into communication with farmers who had produce of one kind or another to sell by mail. The list of sellers kept by Mr. McEwen represents farmers who are in a position to fill orders and who are anxious to get and hold business, so here is a chance for the city beneficiaries of the system to become still more numerous.

It is an excellent chance, all around. The rural mail service will take your order to the farmer, and the parcel post will bring back the article ordered. Uncle Sam will collect on delivery, if desired, and you will renew your acquaintance with real freshness in certain lines of eatables.

The chance is there—make use of it.

When a Republican is returned to the White House there will be a "return to prosperity," prophesies Chairman Charles D. Hilles of the Republican national committee. Charley is some prophet—in 1912 he predicted the re-election of Taft.

LICENSING COOKS.

Among the multiplicity of bills before the legislature is one to provide for licensing cooks. It would have the state issue the licenses, and though no examination or other test is proposed to determine who should be entitled to have a license, it provides for the revocation of the license of any cook found addicted to drunkenness, or incompetent.

It might be a bit hard, sometimes, to show that a cook was incompetent, but there is one class of cook that ought to be put out of business in some way; and that is the one that prepares spoiled food of any kind for service to a human being, and tries to hide the bad character of the dish by spicing or other means.

The one who does that is in the same class as any other poisoner, and as a matter of fact, the loss of his job is too mild a punishment. But maybe this license plan would reach that sort, and protect the public. If it would, let us by all means have a cook license law, and enforce the law.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Douglas Scott, a new congressman from one of the Upper Michigan districts, was seated in the dining room of the leading hotel in a lumbering center up in that state when three or four lumberjacks shuffled in for the purpose of having what in the effete East would be called luncheon. Imagine a lumberjack just in from juggling saw logs eating a meal entitled luncheon! At any rate it was the noon hour, and the squad of lumberjacks sat down at the same table with Scott.

A waitress, ample of bodice, and with the kind of complexion non-purchasers of facial creams are threatened with by the advertisers, flat-wheeled up to take the orders.

"Porkchopsmuttonhamandeggs," she remarked, significantly.

"Whuss that?" inquired one of the lumbermen.

"I said we had porkchopsmuttonandhamandeggs," repeated the waitress.

"Well, bring 'em in," directed the lumberjack.

"Say, are you kiddin' me?" asked the girl, obviously piqued.

"Naw, kid nothin'. I said bring in that stuff yuh got to eat."

"You mean you wanna eat everything we got?"

"You've guessed it."

"Mister," suggested the girl, "it would save a lot of totin' of vittles if you would just move your chair out to the kitchen."

A young man living in the town of Carrollton, Ga., which is the home of Congressman Charlie Adamson, had won the hand and heart of a delightful young woman in Atlanta. Everything was all arranged except that he had not yet asked his prospective father-in-law to place his formal O. K. on the project. Somehow the idea of walking up to the girl's father and laying the proposition before him loomed up as a nerve-racking ordeal. While in this state of mind, so the story goes, the young man chanced to meet up with old Charlie Adamson and told him his troubles. Adamson made a suggestion, in consequence of which a telephone conversation between the engaged couple took place, substantially as follows:

"Have you fixed everything with your father and mother?"

"Why no; it's up to you to do that."

"Well, I'll tell you what—you fix it with your folks and I'll make it all right with mine."

When a man gains a place on the appropriations committee of the house of representatives, he usually becomes much more economical in government expenditures than theretofore. The appropriations committee has been called the Mount of Transfiguration. Even a man who has been in the habit of spending government money with a certain offhand lavishness feels a sense of awe at the demands made upon the appropriations committee, and he grows interested in reducing expenses.

On the other hand, each member of the committee may be expected to be extravagant on some one line. There is nearly always some branch of the government activities with which he is particularly familiar and which he thinks should have more money. The one exception to this rule is Representative Joseph T. Johnson of South Carolina. Johnson is a man entirely free from fads that might lead him into any extravagance. He is in favor of taking an ax and chopping away at every item of appropriation until the other members begin to beg for mercy.

"Johnson, if you were the entire appropriations committee?" observed Mondell of Wyoming, at the close of a meeting one morning, "do you know what would happen?"

Naturally Johnson inquired eagerly what would happen.

"Why," declared Mondell, "the total appropriation for running the government would not exceed about $40."

Daily Strength and Cheer.

How did the world get started, son?
Why, some one said, "It can't be done!"
That settled it. The troglodyte.
Came out of darkness into light.

"It can't be done!" somebody said,
And lo! the green fields gave us bread.

With that taunt ringing in his ears
Has man gone upward through the years.

You should have seen the mill wheels run
When some one said, "It can't be done!"

"It can't be done!" they said before
A sail put out to sea from shore.

Since world's remote and dismal dawn
Those magic words have spurred us on.

It drove Columbus where the sun
Went redly down, "It can't be done!"

"It can't be done!" the weaklings said,
And lo! the Wrights flew overhead.

"It can't be done!" was what they cried
When Fulton offered them a ride.

They said it, and Marconi sent
His message through the firmament.

That is the way it happened, son,
Praise God for this, "It can't be done!"

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

"He Got His."

It was after the trial and a group of acquaintances were discussing the verdict. "Well, he certainly got his!" remarked one in awestruck tone of the late defendant now being escorted under guard from the courtroom. It was easy to see how inevitably in the light of the past career the present unhappy situation had arrived. At last the law breaker had surely gotten "his."

After all doesn't everyone in this moral world get "his?" Aren't the prizes reached the ones we have prepared for, and the things we miss those we have voluntarily rejected? The Bible says: "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Does that represent poetry or fact?

That it represents fact is one of the first life lessons that must be learned. I doubt whether there is any conviction whatever more essential to the moral health of a boy or girl than that this is an ordered world—that in it we gain the rewards for which we are willing to pay the price in terms of labor, self-denial and strength and also it meets the losses our sins or our deficiencies make inevitable.

In a thousand specific cases the connection between sowing and reaping cannot be clearly traced. I do not know why it is that a good man should suffer or why a bad man should flourish on this earthly sod like a green bay tree. The world to come will doubtless shed light on these problems. But, meanwhile, it is useful to believe at least that neither success nor failure is achieved by luck—by any blind play of irrational forces. What we attain or lose is appropriate to our endeavors. We come into our own.

Proverbs in abundance embody this truth that men have learned: "No pains, no gains;" "No mill, no meal;" "Diligence is the mother of good luck," and so on. Through centuries of experience the race has discovered the fact that, in the long run, life plays fair with us.

It is one of the mysteries that, with all the accumulated experience of the years, so many make unreasonable demands of life. They expect to dance without paying the fiddler. With the solid testimony of centuries against him, debonair young John Henry will run up an account with nature and then attempt to side-step the bill. Why should he imagine himself to be so much smarter than his ancestors? The one safe prediction regarding John Henry is that he is going to pay the bill. Moreover, interest is charged and there are no rebates.

The success that comes to one likewise is his own, because he has prepared for it. In the larger sense it is true that each man shapes his own fortune, each woman hers. Success comes because one has fulfilled the conditions. We learn how Leon Gambetta, the French orator and statesman, leaped into fame at one bound. A single speech of his raised him from oblivion to the post of premier of France. When a friend remarked on his "luck" in conquering fame by a single speech, Gambetta broke out impetuously: "I was years preparing that speech. Twenty times I wanted to deliver it, but did not feel that I had it here (touching his head), though it palpitated here (thumping his breast), as if it would break my heart."

For years he had been mastering the facts of the political situation and preparing a line of argument to be used in the crucial hour. He got his triumph because he had earned it.

Of Judas, the traitor, the Scripture records that he went "to his own place." Judas went to his own place and so did John and Paul and Nero. So does every man. That is the law of life. It is the first step in our education to learn that one reaps what he sows, that from now to the end of time he is going to "get his."

Neutral.

Washington Star: "What side do you favor in this European war?"

"I'm neutral."

"What do you mean by that?"

"I'm not going to tell which side I favor."

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — Blaze of Glory Is Right — By "HOP"

THE PATRIOTISM THAT IS THRIFT

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The clamor for a strong navy and a large army still is heard from certain quarters. We are pointed to the big war in Europe and told that unless we arm to the teeth we are sure to be involved in just such a cataclysm, when the fact is that if no nation in Europe had been "prepared" there would be no war in that unhappy land at this time. Let us hope that the dream of Victor Hugo is not distant of realization—when the beautiful prophecy of Isaiah shall be fulfilled.

It has been asserted without denial that certain units of war material are manufactured in government works for $15. It is established that the government has bought of such material to the cost of $175,000,000, paying $25 per unit. There you are. It does not take a Solomon or a Sherlock Holmes to discover the graft of this annual raid on the treasury in the name of patriotism to prepare for a war that is so unlikely to occur.

Well, just now the jingoes have gained new energy. They say that war with Germany is imminent, that Germany is likely at any moment to sink an American craft in the merchant service and that we must prepare for the event. Germany would be a great fool to provoke us in that way, and should she do so she would lose enormously, even if we sent not a ship or a soldier to fight her. We have money and could fight her with that. Besides, the moral effect of a war with us would be very disastrous to Germany. With our country at war with her other neutrals would join in.

I don't believe Germany intends to enforce her submarine blockade against American ships. It would be madness, and if she should do so our money, and not our military and naval energies, would be aimed at her. Of course our foods and other resources would be at the disposal of the allies.

If congress should not be convened between the 4th of March and the first Monday of December this year you will not hear a word about "unpreparedness" until about Thanksgiving, in November. Then certain depraved newspapers would begin the agitation. Everybody knows that in this town, and it has become a standing joke in congressional and journalistic circles. When I first came here a certain solon from the North Atlantic coast was constantly on his feet demanding "armament." When he got up the boys in the press gallery used to flee with the remark, "John Roach has the floor."

Now it is a fact that for the twelve years Roosevelt and Taft were president our navy cost $400,000,000 more than Germany's and yet we are told that the German navy in a fair fight on the water could lick ours the first round. I don't believe a word of it. I don't believe, ship for ship and man for man, any navy in the world can beat the American navy.

* * *

If you will put in the naval appropriation that the ships may be purchased abroad if there they can be had cheaper—then and in that event all this clamor for a bigger navy will cease to be the roaring of the lion and change to the cooing of the dove. If no American is to make any profit of this patriotism, then patriotism be hanged! The thrift of the thing is what makes it so importunate. I do not say that all newspapers that support this policy are corrupt; but I do say that every newspaper that can be "seen" is for it, and to those who feel aggrieved by my poor little preachments of and concerning the matter all I have to answer is:

"Full many a shaft at random sent Finds mark that archer never meant."

Or words of that import, as that is quoted from memory and possibly is not quite accurate, though it will suffice for this occasion.

The filibuster against the shipping bill could have been stopped in five minutes if Senator Fletcher had propose to incorporate in the measure that every vessel purchased under it shall be turned out by an American shipyard. Mr. Lodge, bless his poor guileless, innocent heart, introduced such an amendment. All such amendment means is this and only this—that a ship that can be bought abroad for a quarter of a million, shall be furnished by the American shipbuilder for three-quarters of a million of dollars. That was the issue on Capitol Hill and all the issue there was. That was what the filibuster was about and all it was about.

That titanic struggle in Europe cannot last many years. It is sure to awaken mankind to its senses whatever the issue. When peace comes, as surely it will, there will be a general demand for disarmament by all tongues and peoples—victors as well as vanquished. There can be no sort of doubt about that. Then we will be the purse-bearer of the world. All of 'em, even England, will want to borrow our money. Maybe Europe will turn republican and kings be out of jobs.

However it be, this is no time for our country to arm to the teeth. Even if we go to war with Germany over the sinking of one of our ships, we cannot get to her to fight nor she to us.

Take the graft out of the clamor and you will hear little of it.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

A Well Told Irish Story.

MRS. MARTIN'S MAN. By St. John G. Ervine. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.35. net.

Not contented with the unusualness of starting his story sixteen years after the principal couple are married, instead of at the beginning of their courtship, Mr. Ervine adds to the unusualness of his book by telling of just the everyday commonplaces of the characters' lives. He does not try to present high lights and deep shadows. His is just a plain narration of the events that come into the experience of common folks, and he makes every one of those folks so distinctive in your mind that you feel a personal interest in each of them. If simplicity is art, then the style of this book is close to the highest in artistic writing. And yet it lacks nothing of interest for the reader.

Mrs. Martin's man left her some sixteen years before the story opens, after a few years of married life that would have driven insane anybody who lacked the Mahaffy pride or who was not naturally philosophically inclined. You are not surprised, when you learn the details, that Mrs. Martin did not grieve very deeply over his going, even "with her the way she was." He has left her a little money and she starts a shop, and prospers. The opening chapter finds her with a letter from James saying he is coming back to her.

If the story is intended to teach anything it must be that the way of the transgressor is hard, and yet it is the woman transgressor who is made to suffer the most. Maybe that is one reason for the intense feeling of truth to life that you get while reading the story. Esther is the sister of Mrs. Martin, and in spite of her unsisterly conduct, she is allowed to stay in the house even after Mrs. Martin's man has gone. Only on hearing of his pending return does Esther realize the extent of her feeling for him, and the greeting he gives her is her first rude shock. But it isn't the whole of her punishment.

Among the other characters are Jamesy and Aggie, children of the Martins, and Henry and Jane Mahaffy, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Martin. Like the rest they stand out in a striking individuality that helps to make the story interesting. "Mrs. Martin's Man" is an odd piece of work in many respects, but it is much more than merely readable. Its strength, and that is more than can be said of a vast majority of the general run of fiction.

A Novel of the Far North.

GOD'S COUNTRY—AND THE WOMAN. By James Oliver Curwood. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.25 net.

Imagine that you have spent two years north of the fifty-third parallel and are at last on the way home. Your companion died recently enough so that you remember him well, but the sting of loneliness has gone. You figure that a few days more will bring you where you may see a white man again—and you suddenly find yourself confronted by a white woman—a very, very beautiful white woman, who asks you to help her.

That is the situation in which Philip Weyman finds himself in the opening of this story. He doesn't know where the woman came from; only that she is there, for some reason that is not revealed to him, and that she is very, very beautiful and is asking him to help her. He promises to do anything—anything she asks, and is met by a request that he pose as her husband and the father of a baby that is already on hand.

Weyman's consent to this arrangement launches him into a series of complications and the reader into a series of mysteries. With material like this there is no lack of interest, and Mr. Curwood again makes use of his knowledge of the dogs of the north country, as well as of the people who live—or exist—there. The story is strong and full of romance and adventure.

Poetic Mysticism.

SONGS OF KABIR. Translated by Rabindranath Tagore, assisted by Evelyn Underhill. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

Miss Underhill tells us that Kabir, a weaver by trade, lived about the year 1440 and was a follower of Ramananda, a Hindu revivalist. Kabir became imbued with the idea of personal, individual, passionate love for a deity who was an integral part, not of some existence far away or in another life, but of this present life and of all the things by which men are surrounded. This idea, which he enlarged upon from a study of various religions and creeds, he sought to express in poetic form, and it is the Tagore translation of these expressions that is here given.

The work would be interesting from the fact that Tagore was the winner of the Noble prize for literature; but once read enough of these translations to comprehend the idea the writer seeks to bring out, and there arises an interest far beyond any mere curiosity as to work of the translator.

To try to give an adequate conception of the character of the ideas expressed in the songs would be impossible without very extended quotation. There is an absndon in portions of them, with a wealth of imagery that in itself would stamp them as Oriental in origin. The form, and somewhat of the substance of certain of them, can be learned from the following:

Why so impatient, my heart?
He who watches over birds, beasts and insects,
He who cared for you whilst you were yet in your mother's womb,
Shall He not care for you now that you are come forth?

Oh, my heart, how could you turn from the smile of your Lord and wander so far from Him?
You have left your Beloved and are thinking of others: and this is why all your work is in vain.

He exalts the present, but in vastly different manner from the more familiar Omar. Kabir sings thus:

O friend I hope for Him whilst you live, know whilst you live, understand whilst you live; for in life deliverance abides.
If your bonds be not broken whilst living, what hope of deliverance in death?
It is but an empty dream, that the soul shall have union with Him because it has passed from the body.
If He is found now, He is found then.
If not, we do but go to dwell in the City of Death.

Whether or not Tagore, through his translation, is to succeed in making Kabir's thoughts familiar to most English readers, he has opened to them a new field of quotation and expression that is at least worthy of study.

CONCILIATION AND ARBITRATION IN THE COAL INDUSTRY OF AMERICA. By Arthur Elliot Suffern, M. A. New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $2 net.

This volume won the thousand dollar prize in Class A in the Hart, Schaffner & Marx prize essay competition. It deals with the questions of wages, organization and conditions of labor in the coal industry in America, and the things that led up to the application in that industry of the principle of collective bargaining. It covers the field from the earliest development of the coal resources of this country to the present, and presents the problems that are soon to be faced by the American people as regards this fuel. As a means for study, a chapter is devoted to conditions and methods in the British coal industry.

Phillips a Socialist?

THE STORY OF WENDELL PHILLIPS, SOLDIER OF THE COMMON GOOD. By Charles Edward Russell. Chicago: Charles H. Kerr & Co., (co-operative). 50 cents net.

The life story of Wendell Phillips, the great abolitionist and friend of the common man, is always an interesting theme and the author is fully equal to the task. In his breezy style Mr. Russell tells entertainingly how the noted Bostonian faced and experienced ostracism at the hands of the social clique of the Hub to plead the cause of the slave. The description of his first great speech in Faneuil hall when, like Antony and Brutus, Wendell Phillips swayed the multitude, defied the attorney general of Massachusetts and by his superb oratory and heart-winning plea for human liberty led the people to adopt resolutions relative to the death of Lovejoy, just contrary to the object back of the meeting, is splendid. Other stirring incidents in Phillips' life are vealed to him, and that she is very, very beautiful and is asking him to help her. A First Novel.

THE HARBOR. By Ernest Poole. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.40 net.

It isn't every writer who can make a "first" book strike a sympathetic chord at the very start, and then hold to it through chapter after chapter. But neither is it every writer who can get a conception such as is here given. The interest begins at the beginning of the story, with an account of something that probably every person who began life more than a score of years ago can understand to the utmost.

"You chump," I thought contemptuously. I was 7 years old at the time and the gentleman to whom I referred was Henry Ward Beecher. What it was that aroused my contempt for the man will be more fully understood if I tell of the grudge that I bore him.

I was sitting in my mother's pew in the old church in Brooklyn. I was altogether too small for the pew, it was much too wide for the bend at my knees; and my legs, which were very short and fat, stuck straight out before me. I was not allowed to move, I was most uncomfortable, and for this Sabbath torture I laid all the blame on the preacher.

Haven't you been there? Haven't your legs ached for the same cause and haven't you "laid all the blame on the preacher," though that man may never have been so eminent as this Brooklyn divine?

So the story goes on, from one impression to another, steadily gaining in seriousness, though to tell the truth you hardly appreciate that fact in the interest you feel in each successive incident. The boy becomes imbued with the desire to create literature—"gets the writing bug," in the ordinary modern phraseology—and casts about for something to write about. The harbor—New York harbor—attracts him more and more and he translates its influences into words.

But the human element is strongly operative, and he begins to connect the harbor itself with the men who have passed across it—the big men, the strong men, the men whose names are known from one end of the land to the other. Of these he writes, and lands those who "do things," and he imagines he is writing of the greatest things in life.

Until one day he is brought into contact with a side that he never realized existed, though it has always been within only a short distance of the life with which he is familiar. He sees in it, not a submerged class, but a humanity akin to all other humanity, and after a time of wonder and doubt he turns from his almost hero-worship of the "great" and becomes the friend of humanity in the broader sense. He goes through experiences that help him to realize the breadth of his new conception. And he gives us not only mental processes, but scores upon scores of concrete experiences, his own and those of others, yet always with the viewpoint of the sympathetic observer.

There are many points in the book that are rare in "first" books, but none is rarer than the skill in narration and the vitality that feature "The Harbor."

Germany in American Eyes.

GERMANY EMBATTLED, an American Interpretation. By Oswald Garrison Villard. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons.

To any who have failed to be reassured by the pro-American declaration of Herman Ridder, Congressman Barthoidt and others, this small volume by an American of German ancestry, birth and training, will come as a sure source of relief. Mr. Villard has made a careful study of Germany and German affairs, a study the very thoroughness of which is an indication of the keen sympathy with which it was undertaken and prosecuted. But he is an American, and he is capable of interpreting even the circumstantial evidence in the war from the standpoint of an American. And so, though his book may not prove of immediate value to those who today are most familiar with the rushing events in Europe, it will be an invaluable reference work a dozen years from now, and for a considerable period after that.

In view of the excellence of the American interpretation given by Mr. Villard, it is interesting to note that he can also see the German side. Early in his opening chapter, for example, he says:

To the Germans their cause is just, their conscience clear. No such outburst of lofty enthusiasm for kaiser and country would be possible had there been anywhere as serious doubts as troubled, in England, Charles Trevelyan, Ramsay MacDonald, John Burns and Lord Morley.

His pages on German "kultur" are extremely interesting. He portrays "two Germanys," and maintains that by "kultur" the Germans mean, not the same as we do by our word "culture," but "the spirit behind both these divergent Germanys," but not that which produces autocratic or militarist excesses, for it signifies the supreme expression of their life as a nation—the youngest of "nations." The "two Germanys" he describes thus:

The Germany of the university professors like Treitschke, who demand not only that Germany shall have "her place in the sun" but that she shall aggressively fight for it; the professors who dream of ever-sea dominion, of making Germany the Rome of the twentieth century, who are so certain of the superiority of what they consider German civilization as to be ready to impose it upon all the world.

(Second.) That other Germany that all the world has come to love and praise, the Germany of kindliness, of learned men to whom tens of thousands of Americans owe a never-ending gratitude; the Germany of poetry and music, with her rare love of nature; the Germany of humanitarian ideals that has led all the world in her efforts to solve social problems, elevated civic administration to the rank of a science and builded the city beautiful, while caring for her poor and her aged under laws all advanced nations are copying.

In his chapter on "Militarism and Democracy" he gives an interesting picture of the different classes of army men in the country. That on "The Propaganda in America" includes shrewd analyses of the elements back of that propaganda and the manner in which it is received. His discussion of "The Kaiser and the War" includes the never-failing comparisons between the kaiser and Ex-President Roosevelt, but it also gives a very plain portrait of the German emperor as Mr. Villard understands him and his relations with the nation and its people. "Imperialism and the German Parties," one of the two remaining chapters, deals with internal affairs in Germany, and the last chapter—"The United States and the Peace Treaty"—is an earnest plea that this country may "add to its long list of contributions to the welfare and progress of all mankind, the magnificent one of leading the way to universal and permanent peace."

Mr. Villard's book is not only timely, but exceptionally interesting in its sympathetic viewpoints and its frank treatment of the subject matter. It may easily prove to be one of the most valuable of the books brought out as a result of the great European war.

Among the Magazines.

Col. Goethals, the man to whose genius and skill we owe the successful building of the Panama canal, begins his own story of the great work in the March Scribner. It is just such a narrative as you would expect from him. A direct and straightforward account of his succeeding Mr. Stevens as engineer-in-chief, of the difficulties of reorganization, of the entire "Success of Government Methods," in building the canal without the customary employment of contractors. He has some pertinent things to say about a certain congressional committee's attitude of criticism toward army methods. No monarch in the world has had more sympathy than the King of the Belgians, and the intimate personal study of his career and character, written by the historian of the Belgians, Demetrus L. Boulger, will be read with the greatest interest. "King Albert of the Belgians," the third ruler of a nation that is young in years, is one of the most lovable monarchs in history. He is a soldier and is the idol of his men and his nation.

In the March Woman's Home Companion is started a movement for better motion pictures throughout the United States. Many highly entertaining and instructive articles are also included in this issue, such as Ida M. Tarbell's discussion of "A Young Girl's Thoughts," and an article entitled "The Lies We Tell to Men," which is the personal confession of a women who maintains that women rarely tell the truth to men and that it is the men's fault. Riccardo Martin, the celebrated opera singer, writes on "What Is Good Music?" and in the better babies department scientific information and suggestions about the spring diseases of children is presented for the benefit of mothers. Sophie Kerr Underwood begins a new serial romance entitled, "Love-in-a-Mist," and other fiction of great power and lively interest is contributed by Mary Heaton Vorse, Mary Brecht Pulver, Mary Stewart Cutting, Ellen Duvall, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins and Sidney Carter.

In the March American Magazine appears an interesting photograph of Thomas A. Edison, recovered from the great fire which partially destroyed his factory in December. The frame that surrounded the photograph was burned, but the photograph itself was uninjured, and Mr. Edison, as he handed it to the editor of the American Magazine, wrote on the margin the words, "Never touched me." This comment is illustrative of the man's spirit, for, as the whole world knows, he set to work immediately, with incomparable energy and courage, to rebuild his plant. In connection with the photograph is published a chronology of the principal events of Mr. Edison's life, compiled by William H. Meadowcroft, who has been associated with him thirty years. In the same issue Ida M. Tarbell continues her series of business articles entitled "The Golden Rule in Business." This month she takes up wages and profit sharing and tells many interesting stories of individual businesses conducted in various parts of the country.

The March St. Nicholas opens with "A Page of Bearn," a tale of adventure in France in 1563. The author, Laura Fitch McQuiston, has drawn a very lovable hero indeed in the clever lad who brings a message safely to his queen in spite of many difficulties. The illustrations by Reginald Birch are in the spirit of the story. This number of St. Nicholas has another of its plays for children, which, besides being interesting reading, have solved the problem of amateur dramatics for generations of young folks. This time it is a dramatization by Maude Morrison Frank of an episode in the life of Oliver Goldsmith, introducing Samuel Johnson. It is called "A Friend in Need; or, How 'The Vicar of Wakefield' Found a Publisher." Mabel Albert Spicer takes her readers for "A Visit to the Home of the Indian Elephants," and narrates the capture of the elephants from the elephant's point of view. Louise Brigham, who has been telling St. Nicholas readers how to make furniture from boxes, shows how some fascinating toys can be made of the same inexpensive material. Boys who like to make their own playthings will be interested, too, in, "Sailing on Wheels in New York City," a description of the wind-wagons, or wheeled boats, some ingenious youngsters in New York City have invented.

"The United States the Most Militaristic Nation" is the title of the first of a series of articles on "Pork Barrel Pensions" by Burton J. Hendrick, that begins in the March number of the World's work. The military strategy of the campaign in Poland is explained and illustrated by diagrams in an article on "The War on the Eastern Front," and there is an article about the French campaign entitled, "The Deadlock in France." "Do Wars Really Cost Anything?" is the title of a remarkable article by Theodore H. Price, who shows the "fallacy of 'economic waste' of wars to be refuted by all modern history." How the commercial greatness of England, Germany, France, and Belgium has been built upon their investments in the development of other countries, and why we shall not be able to command the trade that depends on borrowed money, because we are still a borrowing nation, are described in an article by C. M. Keys, entitled, "How Capital Brings Trade."

The March Issue of The Popular Science Monthly is a Pacific coast number, prepared in view of the exposition and the fact that the American Association for the Advancement of Science will meet in California this summer. The number contains a series of articles by scientific men resident on the Pacific coast describing the scientific research that has been accomplished there.

The world at one's fireside describes the contents of the March number of the Wide World Magazine, which include bristling true stories of adventure in all parts of the globe. From cover to cover this magazine encompasses the world in narration, description and exposition. Humor and pathos, nerve and grit, love and hatred, and thrilling adventure fill its pages.

"Is a Permanent Peace Possible?" Under this arresting title, Bertrand Russell, the English philosopher, discusses the future of Europe in the March Atlantic. He finds war to be a "tragic absurdity," explaining clearly that it is a survival from an earlier economic age; and he outlines the steps to be taken for securing a lasting peace. He claims that no mechanical arrangements can stop war until education has "altered man's conceptions of glory and patriotism," but his article is most interesting perhaps on account of its freedom from national bias. Among the Atlantic's other war articles, Ernest Dimnet sketches the career and personality of Gen. Joffre; Stephen Grahama, who knows more about Russia than any other Englishman, reveals the spirit of the Russian soldier in war and peace; Elizabeth Robins Pennell paints a brilliant picture of "London Under the Shadow of War"; Herbert W. Horwill adds up "The Cost to Humanity" resulting from the loss, by war, of the men who should be the leaders of European civilization; T. Lothrop Stoddard explains the position of the Scandinavian nations; and Agnes Repplier replies briefly and forcibly to Prof. Delbruck's pro-German paper in the February issue.

The Metropolitan for March contains two separate articles by Theodore Roosevelt under the general heading of "Uncle Sam and the Rest of the World." The first tells of the conditions in Mexico and the attitude of the present administration toward that stricken country. The second is about Japan and tells why the United States and Japan should always be friends. "German France" is written by John Reed, who has just returned from the war. He tells in his usual vivid and picturesque way of the German occupation of Northern France and conditions in the small towns. "Twilight Sleep in America," by Mary Boyd and Marguerite Tracy, gives an interesting account of experiments made in hospitals in New York. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw's autobiography is continued, as is "Angela's Business," Henry Sydnor Harrison's new novel.

Manufacturers throughout the United States are devoting much thought at present to the study of German economics: Why labor is cheaper in Germany than in America? how an article can be made there and sold here at half what it costs to make in this country? what the attitude of their government toward the manufacturer is as opposed to the attitude of our government? In the leading article in the March Engineering Magazine, H. H. Campbell discusses these issues, and comes to the interesting conclusion that even though labor is cheap, that fact has less to do with Germany's industrial prosperity than the hearty relations that exist between the manufacturer and the government. America's course may be Utopian, but meanwhile Germany gets the trade.

The March number of the Strand Magazine holds forth much that is likely to prove interesting and highly entertaining to its readers. To begin with, its fiction is headed by a story by Tom Gallon, and others contributing short stories include Gerald Villiers-Stuart, Richard March, Morley Roberts, C. Fleming Williams, Elsie Lenton and W. J. L. Kiehl. Among the interesting articles are to be found the adventures, views and experiences of the late Thomas J. Barratt, a pioneer of advertisers; an "under the skin" contribution by R. I. Pocock, F. R. S., superintendent of the Zoological society's gardens of London, on furs, and the animals that produce them, both real and fake.

The Writer for March is filled with matter helpful and interesting to literary workers. It opens with Hildegarde Hawthorne's "Rudyard Kipling, Maker of Magic." Edward W. Hughes continues his series of "Common Errors in Writing Corrected." In the department of "Personal Gossip About Authors" there are interesting articles about M. E. Braddon and Anna Warner, and under the heading "Writers of the Day" timely information is given about the writers of noteworthy contributions in current magazines.

No writer of school athletic stories is more popular with the boys than William Heyliger, and his "Against Odds," the opening installment of which appears in the current issue of The American Boy, promises to exceed in merit and popularity all his previous endeavors. This story of baseball is the latest work of the St. Mary's series and is sure to attract the boys. The boy who likes the movies will find many a thrill in "Getting Action," by T. S. Stribling, which is an unusual story of the movies in the making. "Blood Tells," by Harold Titus, is a vigorous story of the Great Lakes sailormen, and there are other stories of stirring adventure by James William Jackson and Maurice Anderson.

March brings forth the spring fashion number of Women's World with many attractive designs and a special article on the "Fitting Out of the Family." In this issue a country pastor begins a series of articles on his experience of life in a small country town, with "My Congregation" as the subject of the first. It is good to know that men of his caliber are living in this mercenary age. "The Change in Beulah Marsh," a new serial by Lillian Bell, beside being a very pretty love story, shows how a young girl developed certainties out of possibilities. Under Jeanne O. Loiseaux' entertaining story, "Perils Lurk in Petticoats," there runs a vein of humor delightful to those who love children.

The March Popular Mechanics Magazine contains, in all, 267 articles and 364 illustrations. The editorial comment, by H. H. Windsor, includes the following topics: "Harmony Out of Discord." Safety-First Results," and "Our Export Trade." "By Rail Through Darkest Africa" describes the all-steam route from the Cape to Cairo, the longest link of which will be finished this year. Particular interest attaches to this great undertaking at the present time because of the European war. For if the German arms are victorious, the Cape-to-Cairo Railway, with the territory it serves, will be one of the richest prizes to fall to the victor. Several interesting illustrations accompany the article.

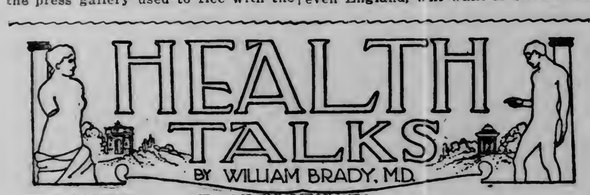
The March Outing has an interesting article, "Getting Real Photographs of Landscape," telling why many people fail to get the most out of their camera and how they may do so. "Taming Shank's Mare" is an amusing account of a walking trip from the standpoint of a soft-muscled office man who walks twenty-five miles and climbs a mountain one day and then climbs down the mountain and walks twenty-five miles the next. In "Some Golf Courses of the East" the author takes up the great courses, tells what he likes and dislikes about each one and what, in his opinion, makes a really great course.



Causes of Backache Often Overlooked

It cannot be too often repeated that backache usually does not indicate "kidney trouble." And in the few cases of actual kidney trouble accompanied with backache, ready-made kidney pills and alcoholic nostrums highly recommended by those who profit by their sale are pretty sure to do more harm than good.

Any person, child or adult, who suffers from backache should be examined with all clothing removed. Only in this way can hidden causes be discovered and properly treated.

For instance, one common cause of backache in young people is a slight curvature of the spine which no one but the doctor can detect. And the doctor can only detect it by examining the patient with all clothing removed.

A child with a slightly protuberant abdomen, hollow chest and general lack of muscular tone is apt to complain frequently of backache between the shoulder blades or at one side. This is often mistaken for "growing pain." If not recognized and properly treated the condition will perhaps develop subsequently into a rotary lateral curvature—which is more easily prevented than cured.

It May Be Your Feet.

Weak feet or "pronated" feet, as doctors say, may cause backache low down, especially toward evening. The feet show no falling of the arch, but the ankles tend to turn inward. This is a frequent cause of backache in adults. The back may ache long before the condition of the feet is noticed by the individual.

Strain of the sacro-iliac or pelvic joint is another frequent cause of backache in young adults. The pain may run down one or both thighs and be mistaken for sciatica. This condition may develop suddenly, as in lifting a weight in a stooping posture, or gradually, as in women with pelvic troubles. It is aggravated by certain changes of posture, and relieved by wearing a snug, wide surcingle low down around the hips. In severe cases apparatus or a plaster belt is necessary.

Questions and Answers.

Cracked and Chapped Hands: Can you suggest a remedy that will relieve badly cracked hands? I have to wash frequently during the day and my hands chap and crack open and get very sore.—J. P. L.

REPLY.

Two drams (¼ ounce) beta-naphthol, ½ ounce glycerine, 1 dram (⅛ ounce) tragacanth, thoroughly dissolved in pint of boiling hot water. Shake occasionally till all dissoved. Apply after washing.

* * *

Diet Not a Factor: What should one eat to prevent salivation while using mercurial ointment?—W. E. P.

REPLY.

The diet has no particular influence, so far as we know. The important thing is to give exquisite care to the teeth and, if necessary, have any cavities filled.

* * *

Grinding the Teeth in Sleep: My 5-year-old son grits and grinds his teeth when asleep, so hard that I fear he will break them. He is stout and in fine health. Does this indicate need of medical attention?

REPLY.

Trismus or grinding of the teeth in sleep sometimes occurs in cases of indigestion, from dietetic errors or from round worms, sometimes in boys who require circumcision, sometimes in children who are quite well—but have unpleasant dreams.

* * *

The Doctor and the Law: Is not a physician bound to answer a night call when he is summoned? If he refuses to come isn't he open to prosecution under the law?—E. H. C.

REPLY.

No. It is fortunate for the doctor and the public that he is not a public servant but a professional man accepting or refusing work like any other free agent.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. NORTHWESTERN BOWLERS WILL INVADE DULUTH NEXT WEEK

Pin Men From Twin Cities and Smaller Surrounding Towns Coming to Northern Tournament—Duluth Boat Club Faces Great Rowing Season—Pal Brown and the Twenty-Round Bout.

BY BRUCE.

STARTING with the present week bowlers from various parts of the Northwest will invade Duluth. The Northern Bowling association tournament is scheduled to start Friday of the coming week. The entries received to date assure the largest and most successful tourney in the history of the association.

One of the features of the tournament promises to be the presence of an unusually large number of St. Paul and Minneapolis pin spillers. St. Paul is going to send five teams here, while the Mill City is even more enthusiastic over the approaching meet, having already entered twelve five-man teams.

Bowling has this season enjoyed the most successful year in the local history of the pin sport. It is appropriate and fitting therefore that the largest tournament in the short history of Head of the Lakes gatherings should reflect the greater interest in the game.

Duluth bowlers have advanced to the stage where they can successfully compete with the cracks from St. Paul and Minneapolis, long established as hotbeds of the alley game. Bowling is a comparatively young game hereabouts. Its growth has been marked by leaps and bounds. Scores registered regularly this season are an accurate indication of the development of new players and the steady improvement of the older pin spillers.

Teams from the ranges, some of the Michigan towns and some of the towns down in Wisconsin, will also be represented in the Northern Bowling association tournament. This tournament is to this section of the country what the I. B. A. is to larger territory.

It is gratifying to the followers of the game and to the officials of the two leagues, as well as to the officials of the Northern association, that so great an interest should have already been exhibited in the forthcoming tourney. The meeting cannot fail of having a most salutary effect on the sport hereabouts, as well as in all of the smaller towns of the contiguous territory.

Officials of the Northern Bowling association, as well as the members of the two Duluth leagues, who have labored diligently to make the tournament a success, deserve the sincere gratitude of followers of the game for the efforts they have made during the past months to assure a real tournament in a city that is each season exhibiting a greater interest in the pin sport.

Regarding the Rowing.

ON THE precipitous brink of another rowing season, it might be stated that followers of the aquatic sport feel that this is to prove another great season for the Duluth Boat club—and consequently for the city of Duluth.

Time was when the start of a season was either productive of humorous jests or opprobious utterances. The boys from force of habit and because of the earnest pleadings of those followers of the club, hoped against waning hope that some day Duluth would produce a crew able to win just one race.

Passing years have been rich in reward for this persistence upon the part of Julius H. Barnes and the little coterie of helpers who stood with him during the lean and drab years.

One season at Winnipeg the complexion of the whole situation was magically changed. Peoria followed in the wake of the triumphs of Winnipeg; here the crews under Ten Eyck startled the folks at home by breaking into the limelight of a national win.

Since that eventful occasion wins have followed close upon the heels of one another. The national at Boston and Philadelphia stand out as bright letter periods in the history of the Duluth Boat club. This is not forgetting the winnings registered at several of the Northwestern regattas.

With the veteran material represented in more than fourteen senior oarsmen, and with a large number of candidates out for junior and bantam crews, there is reason to feel assured that this season is going to be productive of added fame and honor.

Jimmy Ten Eyck has ably and quite amply demonstrated that he is one of the greatest rowing coaches in the United States. This is indeed a broad and sweeping statement; but the foundation facts are secure.

Ten Eyck's success has really been phenomenal. His name and fame have spread abroad with that of the Duluth Boat club. From Bangor, Maine, to the farthest reaches of the East coast of Florida, the name of the local club is bandied forth in a rowing sense. All this has transpired within the period of four years.

It requires a lot of hard work to climb to the top of any sport—likewise it requires a prodigious labor to sustain a reputation already won. Duluth is up there now; but, and the word is ominous, there can be no slackening of effort, no resting on past laurels, lest some of the defeated rivals of the glorious past will rise with renewed determination and turn the rosy present into a ghost night of sorrowing regrets.

Pal Brown's Intentions.

FOLLOWERS and admirers of P. Lawrence Brown will welcome the announcement that the range battler secures a twenty-round encounter with some of the leading lights of the lightweight division. The announcement made yesterday that Brown and Harley Davidson are going to New Orleans in quest of bouts over the derby route, is one therefore of considerable interest.

The showing Pal made against Red Watson was such as to make the fight fans in this section of the country believe that over the longer route the Chisholm lad has a great chance, possibly more than an even chance against any of the boys in his class.

Brown has never been a short route star. He has always got better as the bout lengthened out. His endurance and toughness are qualities in the boxing repertoire of Brown that should be utilized to gain the little range boy ring success.

While lacking the intense aggressiveness of Battling Nelson, nevertheless the fighting ability of the two men are somewhat aliged. The battler was a proverbially slow starter. Innumerable fighters made the Durable Dane look bad over the jump route; but when the other fellow began to feel the effects of terrific exertion, the mayor of Hedgewisch was there with lasting qualities that no other lightweight, with the possible exception of Kid Lavigne, has shown.

Nelson was not a knockout fighter, and was ever ready to admit it; but his endurance was as unimpaired at the end of twenty rounds of vicious milling as when he started the going, and it was this quality, coupled with his freakish ability to assimilate punishment, that really gained the lightweight crown for Oscar Battling Nelson.

FIRST RACE OF SEASON

Crack Head of Lakes Horses to Meet on the Ice.

Jim Henderson, American Boy, and Boy Prince, Are Matched.

The class of the Head of the Lakes harness horses will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on the ice course of the lake and settle a long standing controversy as to the relative speed of three nags that are classed among the best horses in this section of the Northwest.

Jim Henderson, with a mark of 2:21¼; Boy Prince, who has stepped the mile in 2:19¼, and American Boy, with a mark of 2:09¼, are to meet in a triangular duel, the affair being for the total stakes that have been put up by the owners of the three nags.

While American Boy clearly has the best of it in the question of time, the followers of Jim Henderson, the little stallion that created a sensation last winter on the ice, are willing to back the chances of this horse.

American Boy and Boy Prince are geldings and both have been campaigned throughout the West during the last season. American Boy was campaigned down through Wisconsin and went over the Dakota tracks, winning a large share of events in which he started.

Boy Prince was likewise campaigned during the past summer and fall, starting on many of the state circuit tracks.

Jim Henderson was sent out some during the past season, but in the matter of track experience has not the advantage of the other two nags. But little Jim is some ice horse at that, and followers of the nag are willing to back him liberally.

Tomorrow's event is the first horse race of the year. The race will be in 3-mile heats, each owner contributing to the purse, all of which will be dragged down by the winner.

CUTTING DOWN THE SALARIES OF THE BASEBALL PLAYERS

Club Owners in Both Major and Minor Leagues Convinced That Curtailment Is Necessary.

New York, March 6.—The financial side of baseball promises to be one of the most important factors of the professional game during the coming season. Recent readjustments in the sport have confronted the magnates with problems which can only be answered at the expiration of the 1915 pennant races. Far from the least of these is the question of the player's salary. A large majority of the club owners in both major and minor league circuits are convinced that the limit has been reached in this direction and curtailment is necessary. Just how and when to put this economy into effect is a proposition over which there is a wide variance of opinion.

Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics has shown Spartan qualities by pruning his former world's championship team by sale and release until Coombs, Bender, Plank and Collins are no longer Athletics and Baker's connection with the club is uncertain. President Edward Barrow, of the International league, has notified the various club owners in his circuit that reductions in player's salaries were in order. Other league executives and club owners favor similar moves but are deterred by long term contracts which cannot be violated. The move toward economy can be seen, however, in the unconditional release of players wherever possible. Not in many years has there been the number of unconditional releases, recorded since the close of the 1914 season.

* * *

A prominent baseball official said recently that the average follower of the game did not realize the increased cost of the game due to the advancement in players' salaries. Various angles in the business side of the sport made it necessary, including the increasing popularity of basket ball, independent opposition and the banding together of the players themselves. Looking at it in a broad minded manner, he said that there were conditions in the situation which warranted increases but in many cases increases were out of proportion to the services rendered.

* * *

It has been estimated that the average salary paid by major league clubs has been doubled in the last ten years. In the case of a majority of the players the increase is less than $700 a year but when the contracts of stars like Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson, Jake Daubert and Sam Crawford are figured in, the general advance reaches a surprising amount. The salary limit of the National league was $2,400 fifteen years ago. Today the salary of the mediocre player exceeds these figures and there is no limit for the stars.

* * *

Baseball authorities who have studied the situation carefully point out that under the conditions that prevailed in the early nineties a star infield and outfield containing such players as Delehanty, Lajoie, Cross, Flick and Thomas, could be secured for an annual outlay of approximately $17,000. Today a similar combination would require a yearly expenditure of five to seven times that amount. Yet the gate receipts prove that attendence has not increased in anything like the same ratio. Eddie Collins' acquisition and contract is said to represent an outlay of more than $100,000 during the next five years. A Chicago statistician has figured that he will have to draw well over a quarter million extra attendance to the White Sox park if he is to individually repay the investment.

DULUTH TAKES EASY GAME FROM THE ONTARIO SEPTET

Team That Defeated Cleveland Is Beaten By Score of 14 to 5.

The Duke of Wellington Plays a Star Game With the Locals.

If the Western university hockey team played its original cast against Duluth last evening, then the curling club septet is about the greatest in the country. The team that opposed Duluth last evening is credited with defeating Cleveland two straight games. Our side came niftily through and splashed the mud of a 14-to-5 beating over the pure athletic raiment of the visitors.

"There was one feature of the game—and that was the playing of Duluth. Never during the present season has the Linder aggregation exhibited the class that was uncovered against the Ontarians. Whether the exhilarating presence of the duke of Wellington was responsible for the remarkable playing, it is hard to say, but the buoyant fact remains that Duluth outdid itself in the thorough and artistic manner in which it trimmed, lambasted, larruped and otherwise rode over the prostrate hockey forms of the visitors in our midst.

There Is One Alibi.

One timid and humble alibi was allowed to crawl on all fours around the dressing floor of the visitors after the game. "Our boys have been on the train for two days, have played two hard games this week and are without the services of McAvoy," was the plaint of this mild excuse.

As a matter of fact the Western university team was outplayed from every angle of the game. Duluth's team work was like a well-oiled machine, with every part in excellent working order. Wellington, Mahan and Mohon on the forward line gave a scintillating exhibition that has never been rivaled heretofore.

The duke behaved as if he had been brought up on the local team. Just to prove the strength of this assertion it might be stated that Wellington scored seven goals.

Visitors Are Outclassed.

At the start of play it looked for a few fleeting minutes as if the visitors might give Duluth a game. This belief vanished with the advance of the minutes. Lacking team work, utterly without combination play such as Duluth exhibited, slow at times to take advantage of openings, the collegians were unable to cope with Duluth.

Never has the curling club septet exhibited the alertness, the quickness to take advantage of openings and the speed of last evening. Wellington, Mahan and Mohon were the stars. Their ubiquitous presence was disconcerting to the visitors; one of the aggressive and fast-skating trio was in every play on the forward line, while Bogan, Linder and Nicholson effectively checked many efforts to rush the puck down the precincts of the home cage.

It would be quite unfair to leave Arnie Olson out of the glory spread. The West Duluth boy, like the rest of the team, played one of his best games and checked every attempt to shoot from his side, in addition shooting one of the prettiest goals of the evening.

Chapman at goal at times played a stellar game—and at other times seemed to sleep a trifle on the job. However the opposing cage was peppered constantly. Ritchie and Edwards showed a flash of form, but in no single instance did any player of the opposing team compare with the Duluthians in any question.

Feature Shots Scored.

Jack Mahan scored one of the prettiest cages of the evening, from the boards, about fifty feet from the net. "Kiffi" lifted the rubber off the ice and sent it straight as a die into the net. Olson scored another daisy from back on the side ice, and Bert Mohon scored another beautiful loft from the boards, lofting the rubber and whizzing it on a line past the guard of Chapman.

At the end of the first half the score was 5 to 2 in favor of Linder & Co. Some hopes, slight as they might have been, were entertained that the visitors might rally in the succeeding period. This hope was speedily dissipated. Wellington, Olson and Mohon scored three successive goals in three minutes at the opening of the second period. "Zip goes the film—good night."

Some Sidelights.

Commissioner W. A. Hicken was one of the interested spectators at the game of last evening. "I like this game," said the commissioner. "Back in the Copper Country days I used to watch Doc Gibson play. Oh yes, hockey is a grand sport; wish I had more opportunities to get out."

P. Lawrence Brown, the well known fighter of Chisholm, was also an interested spectator. "She is a great game," muttered Mr. Brown, "but fighting for mine. I would sooner take chances with a pair of boxing gloves. Yes, to watch hockey is O. K.; as I say, I am perfectly satisfied to box."

Harry Phillips, who played in the place of McAvoy last evening, has been chosen as a junior on the all-star team that is to play against the champions of Ontario. This is a signal honor.

At one stage of the game Bert Mohon became huffed at something someone on his own side said to him and left the ice. In the seclusion of the dressing room the oil of human kindness was poured on the troubled waters of Bert's wrath and he came dashing out and plunged into the play.

Despite the blustery blizzard of last evening, a large crowd was on hand. The reputation of defeating Cleveland two straight games gave the visitors some prestige hereabouts.

THE WELLINGTON ONE IS QUITE SOME LAD— RATHER FANCIES DULUTH.

The Duke of Wellington would like to come down here and play next season. The Duke also said that he would like to get McTiegue, another Canadian star, here. In one of the games against Winnipeg this McTiegue person stopped forty-seven shots at the goal position. Some stopping, eh? Yes, some stopping!

It might be said that the presence of the Duke would add lustre and brilliancy to the local team and mold it into about the best aggregation in the country. Wellington, Mohon and Kiffi Mahan—some forward line! Yes, verily, bo.

After watching the Duke play at last evening, there is no longer a surprise that he was able to score repeated goals against Duluth. Some say he scents the puck; however, this rumor has not as yet been verified by your correspondent.

Outside of his hockey regalia Wellington is quite a character. He can carry a speaking part in a robust cast of players. Jaunty is the best word. The Duke has played hockey on the coast and has also performed with some of the best teams on the other side of the imaginary line. A fluent conversationnlist, with a counteenance that resembles Raymond Hitchcock, the Wellington one eases himself into your graces with a radiant and wide-faced smile. The Duke's debut was auspicious—even so.

TWO PROCTOR TEAMS LOSE

Central Gym and Girls' Team Too Much for Visitors.

Former Claims Northwestern Intermediate Basket-Ball Championship.

Two representative basket ball teams from Proctor which came down last evening to play Central high school quints, returned home in a less jubilant state of mind than that which marked their arrival, for both were beaten, the Central "gym" class five granting the Proctor Y. M. C. A. team only 5 points while they garnered 19, and the Proctor girls losing to the Central girls 27 to 2. The games were played at the Central high school gymnasium.

The regular school team remained idle because of the cancellation of the scheduled Cloquet contest.

The Proctor Y. M. C. A. team, not having forgotten the hard 21 to 21 tie that they played with the "gym" team on the Proctor floor some time ago, came down last evening with a determination to beat the local men. The Proctor Y. W. C. A. girls' five, having once been defeated by the Central high school girls' team, had even a better reason to be seeking revenge. Neither team, however, succeeded in getting satisfaction.

Both games, despite the somewhat one-sidedness, were well contested and exciting and were witnessed by a large and noisy crowd.

Easy for Girls.

In the girls' game, the Central high "hair-yankers" had a rather easy time and kept their opponents from scoring until just before the call of time. The score at the conclusion of the initial half was 13 to 0, while the local girls made 14 more in the second period, and thus rolled the final count up to 27 to 2. The Proctor girls played hard, nevertheless, and were in the game at all times. The decided feature of the contest was the playing of Capt. Kugler of the locals. She made nine baskets and shot one free throw, aggregating 19 points. "Fuzzy" Farah, as referee, was somewhat fussed, but he performed very commendably.

The boys' game, while won by the crack gym" five, by a safe margin, was fast and exciting at all stages. It was rather rough at times, each team playing with a strong determination to win. The gym men led 5 to 0 at the first half's conclusion. Proctor made 5 in the final period and the locals 14, thus fixing the final count at 10 to 5. Proctor played hard and consistently, but experienced considerable hard luck in locating the basket, due, of course, to the strangeness of the floor. The vastly superior team work of the fast gym aggregation was too much for the visitors and they finally succumbed under a brilliant and sensational attack. The gym men were in great form and played with wonderful regularity. They demonstrated unerring precision in finding the basket, and the guards kept the fast Proctor forwards down to 2 baskets.

Brilliant and Regular.

In the first half, Goggins showed up well although as usual the entire team played in their usual machine like regularity. Pedrizetti opened up with a burst of speed in the second half and caged five neat baskets.

The officials of the gym team now come out with the broad statement that they lay vigorous claims to the Northwestern Intermediate basket ball title. Their claims are substantiated by the clean record of the team this season, not a defeat having marred their record, although they have played heavier and older teams. The team is willing to meet all reasonable comers in the gym team's class. The line-ups and summaries of last evening's games follow:

Gym—		Proctor—
Predizetti	f	Matthews
Mason	f	B. Murray
Goggins	c	C. Murray
Shaw	g	Bjornas
Christoferson	g

Summary: Goals—Pedrizetti, 5; Mason, 1; Goggins, 1; Christ, 1; B. Murray, 2. Free throws—Matthews, 1; Goggins, 3.

D. C. S. Girls—		Proctor—
Kugler	f	Boimeir
Morterud	f	R. Braden
Lutes	c	McTaggert
Whiteside	g	McCabe
Kenley	g	E. Braden
Fisher	g	Simons

Summary: Goals—Morterud, 1; Lutes, 3; Kugler, 9. Free throws—Kugler, 1.

SECRETARY OF THE NORTHERN BOWLERS

NICK JENSON.

As secretary of the Northern Bowling association Nick Jenson has labored prodigiously for the success of the approaching tournament. Much of the detail work has fallen on his shoulders. Mr. Jenson is one of the most enthusiastic followers of the sport in this section of the Northwest, and has long been identified with the game here.

JOHNSON BACK; LANDIS DECISION EXPECTED.

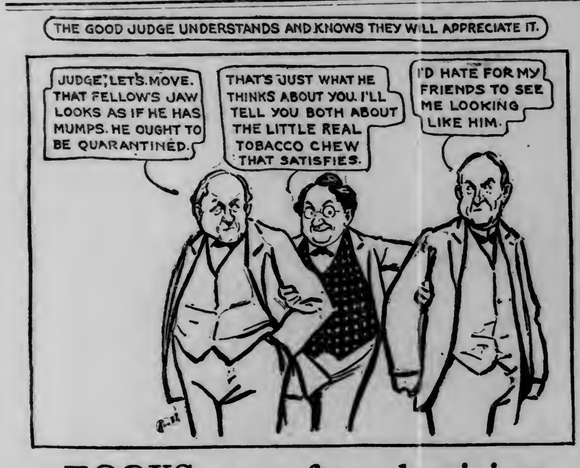
Chicago, March 6.—The return from San Francisco yesterday of B. B. Johnson, president of the American Baseball league, gave rise to a rumor that the long delayed ruling in the baseball trust suit before Judge Landis in the Federal court might be forthcoming soon.

Johnson went to the Pacific coast with Comiskey and the Chicago Americans and had planned to make a longer stay, it was said. He said that Henry O'Day, former National league umpire, had not asked him for a job.

Earl Cooper Very Sick.

San Francisco, Cal., March 6.—Earl Cooper, one of the entrants in the Vanderbilt cup race to be run today on the course within the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds, will not compete. The noted driver is seriously ill with pneumonia, contracted during the grand prix which was run under poor weather conditions last Saturday. Harry Grant will drive Cooper's car, No. 8.

THE GOOD JUDGE UNDERSTANDS AND KNOWS THEY WILL APPRECIATE IT.



LOOKS are often deceiving. In the old days everybody could spot the tobacco chewer just by the hump in his cheek.

"Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, gives men fine, satisfying tobacco comfort—and nobody can notice that they are chewing.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary sanded tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

GOPHER QUINT TAKES GAME

Humble Coyotes By Score of 23 to 10; Baseball Coach on Job.

Track Meet Program Arranged; Entries Made for Handball Tourney.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a game featured by slowness on both sides and by the large number of fouls, the Gopher basket ball team humbled the confident Coyotes Tuesday evening by a score of 23 to 10. The North Dakotans made the trip with the expectation of repeating their victory of last year. Up to the end of the first half neither side appeared to have any advantage, the score being 7 to 7. From the blowing of the whistle in the second half until the finish the Gophers outplayed their opponents and easily displayed their superiority, scoring 16 points. Lawler and Capt. Pynn were the stars for the Minnesota team. "Bee," as usual, showed his skill by making field goals, and found the basket four times. Capt. Pynn came a close second with three to his credit. The Minnesota team will conclude its home season by playing Northwestern next Saturday night.

Baseball Coach Arrives.

Coach "Frosty" Thomas, who will lead the Gophers through the coming baseball season, arrived in the city Wednesday. He took up his duties as coach immediately by calling a meeting of all baseball candidates. Thomas does not think much of the indoor practice, except for the purpose of limbering up the men. He says real work will not start until the team is able to get out on the diamond. The net indoors will be used only for warming and getting the arms in shape. As soon as the snow is off the ground the men will practice outside. The large number of new men and a large number of veterans have declared their intention of trying out for places.

The program of the all-university track meet was announced Thursday by Coach Frank. The meet is the largest intramural event of the track season. It will take place Saturday, March 13, in the Armory. More than 100 athletes have registered, and it is expected that many more will take part. Events will include the high jump, pole vault, 60-yard high hurdles, 50-yard dash, ½, ¼ and 2-mile runs and the shot-put. There are no eligibility requirements for entering the meet, and every man in the university has been urged to compete. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded.

Intercollegiate athletics will be discussed by faculty members at the midyear meeting of the college department of the Minnesota Educational association, March 13, at the university. Questions on the subjects scheduled for discussion are: Whether one year's residence will be required to make a student eligible for participation in sport, and whether a student can be a member of an intercollegiate team in two sports only, and also whether a student must make normal progress towards his degree and carry twelve hours of work between one season and the next. Should these questions be converted into rules, they will apply in all the colleges in Minnesota, beginning Sept. 1 of next year.

Faculty Handball Tourney.

Entries are now open for the faculty doubles handball tournament. Three teams have already entered. Sanderson & Klopsteg, Northrop and Walton, Pierce and Poucher. No faculty tournaments have been played this season, but many of the faculty members have played consistently during the winter, and are in shape to play a fast game. Winners of the faculty tournament will play Kahner and Ott, the all-university student champions for the all-university championship.

Trials for the intercollegiate handball tournament were held Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Two teams of two men each will be chosen from each college and two men for singles, who will play a round-robin with all the teams except their own college teams. The championship will be decided upon a percentage basis.

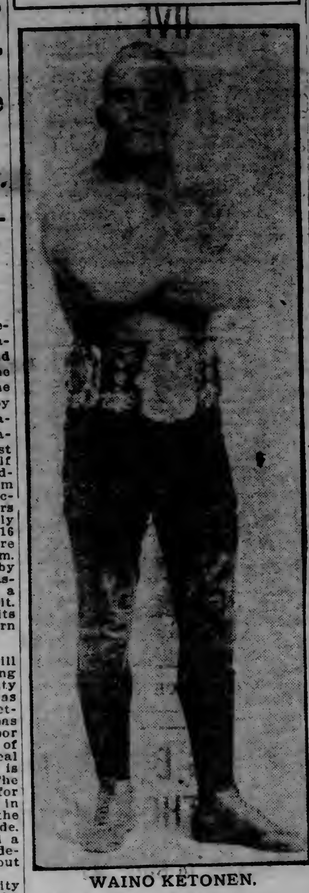
FINN MAT STAR TO MEET MIKE YOKEL



WAINO KETONEN.

WAINO KETONEN IS RIGHT FOR THE MIGHTY YOKEL

Little Finn Is in More Nearly Perfect Condition Than When He Met and Defeated Walter Miller—Salt Lake City Wonder Is Tumbling Opponents Right and Left.

BY BRUCE.

"Do you think Ketonen can beat Mike Yokel?"

That question is being asked upon all sides; wrestling fans here, on the ranges, and in various parts of the Northwest, where the fame of the little Finn has spread are interestedly speculating upon the outcome of the meeting between the famous Rocky Mountain Lion and little Waino.

Ketonen will step into the big Auditorium ring Tuesday evening in the best shape he has ever shown here for a bout. Before coming to Duluth, Ketonen trained for two weeks at Lincoln. Immediately after his decisive defeat of the aspiring Tom Doctor of Belleville, Kan., the little Finn hopped back to Lincoln, canceled all impending matches and buckled to the work of getting ready for Old Mike Yokel.

There will be no post mortems in regard to the condition of Waino. The Demon Finn is in better shape today than he was for the contest with Miller.

Yokel Going Strong.

On Monday, Feb. 22, Mike Yokel won a handicap match from Leo Pardello, the famous Italian heavyweight. The match was held at the De Luxe theater, Newark, N. J.

On the following Thursday the Rocky Mountain Lion decisively defeated Prof. Atlas in a finish match at the Star theater, Brooklyn. Yokel won two falls in less than eleven minutes.

Shortly after this, in New York City, the Salt Lake City wonder defeated Herman Girig, instructor of the German Athletic Club of New York City, getting two falls in less than eighteen minutes.

Yokel put on the preliminary touches to his training at Brown's gymnasium, New York City. The finishing work is being done in Chicago. Mike, in tow of Emil Klank, former manager of Frank A. Gotch, will arrive in Duluth early Monday morning and will taper off for the battle of Tuesday evening.

Ketonen Is Confident.

Ernie Ostberg, the Worchester, Mass., boy who is looking after the work of Ketonen here, says the people of the little Massachusetts city, Ketonen's home town, will back the Finn to the extent of $2,000 against the imperial Mike. The belief of the fellow townsmen of Ketonen is amply reflected in the confidence of the little wrestler. Waino is more confident of the outcome of the contest with Yokel than he was with Walter Miller. The little Finn believes that he is going to take the mat measure of the wonderful athlete from the Jackson Hole country.

While many of the countrymen of Ketonen believe he is going to win, following his wonderful showing against Miller, and his run of twenty-seven consecutive mat victories during the last nine months, there is also a vast following of the mat game that believes that Yokel is too wonderful a grappler, to powerful, too aggressive, and will pin the shoulders of the Finn, remarkable as Waino is in all of the science of the sport.

Ketonen is wrestling better now than ever before in his life. Ketonen is 26 years of age and Yokel is 33. For a wrestler 33 years is not old. But still the advantage in age is with the little Finn. There is no cleaner liver than Ketonen. He does not smoke, drink or dissipate in any way. If it comes to a long and gruelling contest, Ostberg is confident that Ketonen's endurance will turn the scale of battle in his favor.

Chris Person May Appear.

Kaarensarri, the Finnish wrestler who has been throwing everything in this section of the country, and Chris Person may go on for a finish contest. The powerful Finn is anxious to meet Chris and it is expected that Person will satisfy the aspirations of the Lehto protege by agreeing to meet him. This will be the first appearance of Person on a local mat for many months.

Yesterday's blizzard did not in any way deter Ketonen from putting in a day of hard work. The little Finn hit the road and covered some seven miles over the drifting roads. The road work was a variation of the grind he has been doing on the mat. The mat sessions of little Waino have averaged nearly two hours a day. As the day for the contest approaches he will knock off a trifle in his work and vary his training program. Today the little Finn will put in one of the hardest grinds of his preparation.

Advance indications point to the largest attendance of the year. Fans from the ranges, Mellen, Wis., Ashland, Ironwood and nearby towns will land, Ironwood and nearby towns will be around the ringside when the two famous little gladiators walk out for the call of time.

KILLIAN MAY JOIN LEAGUE

Former Winona Manager After Baseball Berth in Northern.

Joe Killian, with all of the players that were with Oshkosh last season, and including Catcher Meyer, wants to place his entire list of players in the Northern league. The matter has been referred to John Burmeister for action.

If Killian should come into the Northern he would bring to the league a strong list of players. Killian is familiar to the fans hereabouts, having been manager and catcher of the Winona team for several seasons.

There is a deal on at the present time for a pitcher and catcher for the Sox and Darby has also a deal on for a ptcher from Terre Haute, Ind.

WINNIPEGS ARE APPRECIATIVE

Canadian Hockey Manager Writes Glowing Letter to Duluth Club.

The following communication, received from the management of the Winnipegs of Winnipeg, the hockey team that recently played here, speaks for itself, and is fairly redolent of the sense of appreciation of the visitors for the fine time they had and the courteous treatment they received while in Duluth:

Winnipeg, Man., March 4.

"Mr. E. Jacobi,
The Duluth Curling club,
Duluth, Minn., U. S. A.

"Dear Sir:—

"It is not often that the officers and players of the Winnipeg Hockey club look back with so much pleasure on their various hockey jaunts as they do to the recent trip to your town. Not only the officers which accompanied the team, but each man on the team felt that he had a royal time and that the Duluth Curling club and Hockey club did everything possible to have them enjoy themselves.

"We think that the maximum amount of satisfaction from the series resulted in having each team win a game. They can each cherish the feeling that if it had not been for one or two little incidents, which will in each case be different, each team would, no doubt, have won the other game; they can at least take that much pleasure in that. We were very much pleased to win one of the games, and perhaps would have been more pleased to win both of them too, but a further source of satisfaction was in being able to give the lie to the various newspaper reports which were current regarding your team and we have had no hesitation in saying to anybody who made the inquiry from us, and even to those who did not make inquiries, that we have never played against a cleaner bunch of boys than you have in your club, and we are all of the same opinion that we have never seen a better-conditioned team.

R. W. PATTERSON.
Winnipeg Hockey club."

BASEBALL BARGAINS.

One Fed Deal Not Sanctioned; Another Jumper Jumps Back.

New York, March 6.—It was announced at the Federal league office here yesterday that Nicholas Cullop, pitcher who was recently traded by Newark to Brooklyn, had been returned to Newark. The deal was made before the new owners of the Newark club took control and they refused to sanction it.

No announcement was made regarding the disposition of William Bradley, Albert Shaw and Bert Maxwell, players sent to Newark in the trade. They may remain at Newark.

Chicago, March 6.—Confirmation has been received by the Chicago Federal league club that Rip Hagerman, the pitcher, had rejoined the Cleveland Americans, though he had signed a contract with Manager Tinker. In a letter from Hagerman, Tinker was informed that the pitcher's lawyer advised him to stay with Cleveland.

COSON WINS COLUMBIA

R. B. Knox Defeated in Final Curling Game, 14 to 13.

New Event May Be Scheduled Before Season's Close.

Leslie Coson won the Columbia Curling event last evening, thus bringing to a close another of the trophy events that have been played down for during the season that is nearing an end.

Coson won from R. B. Knox by the score of 14 to 13, the game being close and fought tooth and nail all the way down.

The Bagley will be wound up this evening. Bradley and Ditzel will fight it out in the finals. There are but two events left on the program, not counting the "Blaze o' Glory," the Manley-McLennan and Universal being as yet uncompleted, with the Bagley as good as finished.

In the Universal, Squad No. 9 has some games left. Sam Richardson and Ray Bishoff are to meet and the winner of this game will meet E. A. Forsyth. The winner will then play Billy Dinham, and the winner of this game in turn will be opposed by the winner of the Walter Harris-John McLeod game. This will bring the Universal to a close.

There are seven games remaining in the Manley.

May Have New Event.

John Oldham stated today that it was possible, weather holding out, that another event would be scheduled before the close of the season.

"If the weather holds out," said the intrepid John, "we will schedule another event to keep the boys curling. I anticipate that there will be curling at the club for some little time yet. All of the regular events will be cleaned up the coming week. The Blaze o' Glory event will be extended by running out the losers' end and permitting the defeated rinks to play down on the other side of the card.

"However, after the close of all of the regular events there will be some of the boys who will want to curl, and if the weather man is at all well disposed, we will schedule one more event."

Following are the results of the games of last evening and the draw for this evening:

Universal Event.

HERALD BEGINS GAME ON BIBLICAL GROUNDS

The Herald rink, which has an unbroken record of losses during the present curling season, had the honor on Thursday night to be chosen in the "Blaze o' Glory" event in a biblical way—with alterations, of course.

The first game of the new Oldham-constructed event was held that night between The Herald rink and that skipped by F. G. German, and the former was defeated as usual.

There is something in the Bible about casting the first stone, so John Oldham paraphrased it thusly:

"Let him that is without a win among you, cast the first stone."

And he added:

"Go to it Herald!"

And the Herald did, beginning the game.

For the first nine or ten years it would come and go but each appearance would be longer and more severe until it refused to leave at all until I got so bad that I could not do any work. At times there was not a place on my entire body, excepting my face and hands that was not covered. Weeks at a time I would be in such misery that I did not get a night's rest. My body was covered with shiny white scales and under them was as red and inflamed as blood. They would crack open some half an inch in length.

"My husband was telling a friend of the condition I was in, and he too had been a sufferer of the same trouble and had been healed by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I at once commenced the treatment. In eighteen weeks I was entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Edwin Mitchell, June 22, 1914.

EXPORT CALL BULLS WHEAT

Market Advances Sharply on Foreign Inquiry and Short Covering.

Trading in Flaxseed Limited, But Moderate Advances Are Scared.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 6.—The wheat market had a sharp reversal of form today, quotations showing substantial advances. An impetus was furnished in a wave of buying and short-covering on the low spots set yesterday. Exporters came in freely at the seaboard, and that inquiry was also a factor at Duluth and Winnipeg. Export sales of wheat at New York during the morning were estimated at 1,000,000 bu, and sales put through on the break yesterday were placed at 2,000,000 bu.

Liverpool and Argentine cables came substantially higher in cash wheat and a bullish feeling was created through the intimation that sailings of steamers from America to British and French ports would be canceled upon at least three days next week. That led to fears of some congestion in shipping being brought about.

Satisfaction is felt by exporters over the good showings being made in foreign shipments, which continue to average well over the 1,000,000-bu mark daily. Clearances today were 918,000 bu, while primary receipts were light, amounting to just 155,000 bu of wheat.

Special strength was evidenced at Winnipeg today, with heavy cash inquiry and liberal export business being worked. The market there opened nearly 4c up. Cash markets were also strong at Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha. Locally the premium on cash wheat was unchanged at 2c over May. The demand for durum was light, and it was difficult to sell.

May wheat opened ¾c up at $1.37 and advanced 2⅛c more to a close of $1.39¼. July opened 2¼c up at $1.34⅛ and closed 2⅝c up in the day at $1.34⅝ asked. Operations in it were limited.

May durum opened unchanged at $1.40 and closed 1½c up at $1.41½. July closed 1½c up at $1.39½ nominally.

Oats were strong, with elevator men bidding actively for everything on the tables. They closed ⅞c up at 53c for on the track. The call for rye was negligible, and it reached 1c to $1.06@1.07. Barley was a dead proposition and has been that way for some days back. It closed unchanged at from 61 to 72c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed 1c up at 62⅝c bid and July ½c up at 62c.

Flaxseed Trading Quiet.

Trading in flaxseed was very much on the dead order and its price changes were moderate. The distant futures were strongly held and closed fractionally higher.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.85¼ and closed on the same basis. July opened ¼c up at $1.86¼ and closed ⅝c up at $1.86⅝. September opened unchanged at $1.85¼ and closed ⅜c up at $1.86 asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ½c up at $1.66 bid and July ⅜c up at $1.68¾.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The general market is dull, but with a decided steady undertone with offers light on some apprehension of shipping. American winters are 7½d higher and Plates 9d dearer, with spots in better request. Strength in Buenos Aires at the close, unfavorable Argentine weather, firmer Indian offers and rumors that shipping to United Kingdom ports will be curtailed were factors. It is believed here that the decline was too rapid.

"Corn was weak with pressure of nearby Plate parcels and decline in spots. Weather mild and consumption lighter."

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled last night that rain was general throughout the Buenos Aires district. Rain has also fallen this week throughout the state of Rosario Santa Fe.

* * *

It is officially reported that the Chilian import duty on wheat and flour has been removed. Free buying is reported in Argentina for immediate delivery.

Paine Commission company had the following from Logan & Bryan at Chicago: "Buyers in wheat will find encouragement in the cable news this morning. Higher prices were reported at Buenos Aires at Friday's close because of general rains, and there was a good advance at Liverpool this morning. Large export business at seaboard and some here and in the Southwest is confirmed. Back of everything else is the war situation, especially the moves and events in the Dardanelles, and advices from that quarter will surely prove the chief influence in this trade. Local corn receipts were much smaller, the storms making country roads bad and many reports claim corn raisers are dissatisfied with the prevailing cash corn bids. The small net decline in oats futures would indicate that the market is in shape to be helped by any important shipping or export business."

Minneapolis cash market was steady, with good demand for heavy wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5c over May and velvet chaff 1@2c over May. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.35 to $1.39, and No. 2 northern at from $1.31 to $1.36½.

Firmness in Liverpool Causes Sharp Advance in Wheat Prices.

Chicago, March 6.—Wheat made a sharp advance in price today influenced by firmness of quotations at Liverpool and by reports of a continuance of urgent cash demand on this side of the Atlantic. In addition, there were advices from Petrograd saying the belief here that immense shipments of wheat from Russia would be made as soon as the Dardanelles were open was unfounded. Unfavorable weather in Argentine counted also against the bears. After opening 1½c to 3½c higher, the market scored a moderate further gain and then steadied at a reaction of about 1c.

It was estimated that export sales in the United States today aggregated 1,000,000 bushels. The close here was steady at 2⅛@2¼c above last night.

Lively buying on the part of commission houses carried corn upgrade. Offerings were limited and in the main were from pit speculators. The opening, which varied from the same as last night to ⅛c higher, was followed by a decided general advance.

Strength of wheat formed the chief prop for corn. The close was firm at ⅝c to ¾@⅞c net advance.

Oats ranged higher with other cereals. Demand from the seaboard was again in evidence.

Strength in the hog market gave a lift to provisions. There was unusually free buying in small lots.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, March 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Review of Trade says:

"Conditions in business are very much mixed. Total transactions are still below those of recent years. There is a large attendance of retail distributors in the textile markets and they buy often, but as a rule, in comparatively small lots for immediate needs and keep their stocks low. Many of the cotton mills are running on full time and there is a satisfactory business in clothing. Some improvement is noted in the shoe industry, but conditions are still far from normal. Ship building is very active. Large sales are reported of automobiles. Commodity prices generally are lower. Conditions in anthracite coal are better, but the bituminous situation is unsatisfactory. Exports continue very heavy, notwithstanding the risks of shipping. During the last week of February there was a trade balance for the United States of nearly $20,000,000, while for the last three months it amounts to $411,000,000. Evidence accumulates of a transference of financial and power and commercial opportunities to the United States from the warring nations across the Atlantic, and that international exchanges will favor this country to such an extent that there will be a heavy balance in our favor, not merely in merchandise, as usual, but in the entire aggregate of foreign transactions.

"Bank clearings for the week totaled $3,114,331,717, a decrease of 1.2 per cent as compared with the same week last year.

"Commercial failures for the week number 478 against 350 the corresponding week a year ago; in Canada the failures for the week were 54, compared with 48 a year ago."

NO "DAM" IN ROAD.

Mistake in Name of County Highway Corrected By Board.

When Grant McMahon of Ely, county commissioner from the Fourth district, had a certain road established in his district last year, he requested the board to name it the "Damberg" road. The name was given in honor of one of the settlers in the district which it served.

Since, Commissioner McMahon has learned that he was slightly mistaken in the name and that the road should have been christened the "Handberg" road. The board today passed a resolution providing for a change in the name of the highway in order to have the name as it was originally intended.

MAY BE OUT $5.

James E. Gardner Likely to Lose Money in Politics.

Holding down the position of court commissioner in St. Louis county does not insure the incumbent a lucrative income.

According to a statement filed with the county board today by William J. Archer of Virginia, court commissioner for St. Louis county for four years prior to Jan. 4, 1914, the revenue last year in fees amounted to $5.

James E. Gardner of Duluth was elected court commissioner to succeed Mr. Archer. The cost of filling for the office is $10.

TENDENCY IS DOWNWARD

Trading in Stocks Curtailed By Storm in Middle West.

Rise of Fourteen Points in Harvester Corporation Common.

New York, March 6.—Trading in stocks today was curtailed by the storm which interrupted communication with the Middle West and other points. The tendency was downward, prices of leading issues indicating profit taking. Heaviness of American stocks in London was a bearish factor. Gains were almost entirely confined to specialties, including the tobacco group, Republic Steel preferred, California Petroleum preferred and local tractions. Harvester corporation common rose 14 points, the preferred, however, declining 4½. American Locomotive preferred fell 3 points to its new minimum of 75, and Pressed Steel Car common and preferred also dropped to new established prices. The closing was heavy.

Bonds were steady.

SHIP SAID TO HAVE BEEN TORPEDOED

London, March 6.—According to the Daily Express, it is reported that the Dutch steamer Noorderdyk, which was said to be returning to Rotterdam, with broken machinery after having sailed for the United States, had been torpedoed in the English channel.

The Nooderdyk, a Holland-American line freighter, sailed from Rotterdam on March 2 for New York, Baltimore, and Newport News. On Thursday she was reported as turning back for Rotterdam while off the Isle of Wight, for the purpose of making repairs on her machinery.

Twice during the last two months she has gone aground, but has been pulled off each time. On Jan. 13, while leaving Port Talbot, England, for Baltimore, she went ashore in the harbor. She was refloated the next day and proceeded. On her return voyage to Rotterdam from the United States, she went aground near Porters Haven in Rotterdam harbor.

SHIPMASTERS WILL BE W. A. BOURKE'S GUESTS.

This evening the Twin Ports lodge of shipmasters will hold a social gathering at the rooms of the Lake Carriers' association at the foot of Fifth avenue west. Families and friends of the members are invited to take part. Considerable of a program has been arranged, and those taking part will be the guests of Commissioner William A. Bourke.

FIVE RAIDS BY POLICE

Twelve Women and One Man Arrested in Lodging Houses.

Drastic steps to clean up rooming houses in the downtown district, taken by the police last night, resulted in the arrest of twelve women and one man. All of the suspects were charged with being connected with a house of ill-fame, or with selling liquor illegally. The warrants were sworn to by Chief of Police C. H. Troyer. All of the defendants pleaded not guilty to the respective charges in municipal court before Judge F. H. Cutting this morning.

Five separate raids were made by the police, starting at 11 o'clock and keeping the force busy until nearly 1 o'clock this morning. Recent reports that law violators in the down town section were becoming more open in their practices, led to the raids.

Detectives F. A. Schulte and Donald Irvine, with Patrolmen W. Monahan and Lading, searched a rooming house at 119 West Michigan street, shortly before 11 o'clock, and arrested Corine Hackley, age 37, the proprietress, on two charges, keeping a house of ill fame and conducting an unlicensed drinking place. Bertha Thore, age 21; Ida Usher, age 21, and Mrs. Mary Hubbard, age 32, were arrested at the same time. The Wiberg woman's bail was set at $200, $100 for each count, and the others were fixed at $50. The Thore woman was charged with being an inmate of a house of ill-fame, while the other three were charged with visiting such a place. Attorney Walter Gonska appeared for them, and they will be given a hearing March 10 at 2 p. m.

The third raid was conducted by Sergeant Butchart and Patrolmen Grinager and Nelson Perry, the Columbia hotel, 113 West First street, being their objective point. Mrs. Stella Mickolajczak, age 34, the proprietress, was arrested and charged with keeping a house of ill-fame and conducting an unlicensed drinking place. Attorney T. J. McKeon appeared for her, bail being fixed at $200. The hearing will be held March 11.

Officers in the second raiding party, headed by Sergeant Roberg, made another visit after their first trip, this time arresting May Scott, age 39, on a charge of being a common prostitute. She was found at the Lowell block, 29-31 East Superior street. She was represented by Attorney Benjamin Goldberg, bail being set at $50.

Detectives Schulte and Irvine later visited rooms at 426 North Fourth avenue west and arrested Hilma Nevar, age 31, who was charged with keeping a house of ill-fame and selling liquor without a license. Bail was fixed at $200, and she will be given a hearing March 15. Attorney O. J. Larson appeared for her.

Sergeant Butchart early this morning arrested the last one for the night, picking up Mrs. Clara Erickson, age 19, who was charged with living at the Nevar place. Bail was fixed at $50, the hearing to be conducted in connection with that of the Nevar woman.

None of the prisoners had secured their release early this afternoon, although most of them probably will find bail before night, according to the various attorneys.

INDOOR BALL CHALLENGE

Employes in the water and light department this morning challenged the "laborers" at the city hall to a game of an indoor baseball and the challenge has already been accepted.

The challenge was presented to J. Harris Trux, secretary to Mayor Prince, by C. R. Pattinson of the water and light department. The former immediately accepted and has taken charge of the city hall team.

Although no definite arrangements have been made, it is probable that both teams will decide that the losing nine shall pay for a dinner at the Commercial club.

HOSTESS OF DULUTH WOMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Edward Armstrong, circulation manager of The Herald, received a telegram last night from Mrs. Armstrong, who has been visiting in San Francisco for some months, that her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. William Kolb, whose guest Mrs. Armstrong was, died yesterday. No particulars are given, but Mr. Armstrong believes that death must have come with very little, if any, warning, for he received a letter yesterday morning from his wife, written five days ago, which stated that all were well.

Mrs. Kolb was the wife of Mrs. Armstrong's brother, C. William Kolb, the well-known comedian.

ANACONDA PLANS TO SAVE ZINC AND COPPER VALUES

Intends to Install Mineral Separation's Oil Flotation System.

Sulphuric Acid Plant Expected to Begin Operations in April.

Butte, Mont., March 6.—The Anaconda Copper Mining company is carrying on important tests at the Washoe smelter, by which it aims to separate the zinc and copper values in Butte ores and save both. Heretofore the zinc values have been allowed to go to waste. The success of the process, it is stated, is certain. The company is also planning to discard its entire blast furnace smelting system in time, and the Minerals Separation, Ltd., of London, will install its oil flotation system, which will have an ultimate capacity of 12,000 tons of ore per day. John Ballot of London, general manager of the Minerals Separation, has been in Butte looking after the installations that are now being made at the Clark Timber Butte Mill and at Anaconda. In talking of the flotation process and its adoption so widely in this country in so many plants, Mr. Ballot said:

"The process is by far the most effective method for securing practical returns in the shape of metals of all kinds. We have a record in experiments of securing recoveries of 88 per cent, but we do not make any such claims for it. We are satisfied with placing the average recovery of all metals at 90 per cent, and the actual operation proves that this can be maintained. At present the new Inspiration plant in Arizona, which is under contract with us to use our process, is the largest plant of its kind in the United States. The plant will be ready for operation soon and will have at the start a capacity of 10,000 tons of ore per day, and this will be increased to 15,000 tons. In addition to this plant, the Phelps-Dodge people have a plant to use our process at their Arizona mines, and the Arizona Consolidated is also using it.

Plant at Timber Butte.

"At the Clark mill at Timber Butte they have put in one unit that handles 600 tons of ore per day, and this will be greatly enlarged until the Timber Butte plant will rank with the largest flotation plants. It was constructed primarily to handle the output of the Elm Orlu mine, but already there are tremendous demands on it from other mine owners, who wish to have their ore handled by this process. At Anaconda a plant that when completed will consist of twenty units of a capacity of 600 tons each, or a total capacity of 12,000 tons of ore per day, is to be constructed. The first part of the plant with a capacity of 2,600 tons will be used for handling the slimes."

Mr. Ballot declined to talk about the company's litigation with the Butte & Superior Copper company. "You know in England we never deem it proper to discuss in the newspapers a case that is before the courts. Our case here has been appealed to the United States supreme court, and it is there yet. I would under no circumstances say a word that in any way might have a bearing on the case. The same is true of other concerns that are using our process without any arrangement with us. I would not even state what concerns are using it."

In the establishment of the oil flotation process for handling ores, Mr. Ballot said, reverberatory furnaces take the place of blast furnaces, and where there is copper, zinc, lead, silver and gold, all found in the same ore, as in Butte, it is possible to separate and save all of these metals. In the tailings and slimes of some of the big companies there are millions of dollars in metal values that have gone to waste, and by the flotation process it is possible to recover them.

Claim Different Process.

The Anaconda and Timber Butte companies seem to recognize the rights of the Minerals Separation to the oil flotation process used by them and by other concerns in this country, but the Butte & Superior company is contesting the claims of the London company, and its engineers have maintained that the oil flotation used by that company is a very material departure from the process employed by the London company. It is also claimed that the process is an ancient one and not patentable. The Butte & Superior process is called the Hyde system, after the man who introduced the process in a modified form. The United States district court in Montana sustained the contentions of the London company, but the United States circuit court of appeals at San Francisco reversed the district court, and then the London company took an appeal to the United States supreme court at Washington, where the case is now pending. An oil flotation process has just been installed at the Hunter mine in the Coeur d'Alenes and is working successfully on the silver-lead ores of that property. At the recent Northwest mining convention at Spokane the oil flotation process was thoroughly discussed. The president of the Mining Men's club, addressing the convention, was not so considerate and backward as Mr. Ballot in discussing a case pending in court. The president of the club, Frank A. Ross, speaking of the growing importance of the oil flotation process, said: "As to the threatened litigation that serves to suppress information upon this subject, the United States supreme court has consented to review the now famous decision of the court of appeals which decided against the Minerals Separation Company, Limited, in its attempt to control all flotation methods, even to the point of extortion. In the interest of the mining industry it is to be hoped that this decision will be sustained and that the process will soon be thrown open to the public, for it would seem almost contrary to public policy to deprive an industry of so valuable an improvement, especially since the fundamental patents have long since expired."

Will Make Fertilizer.

The Anaconda company has been examining several phosphate rock deposits in the West with a view to utilizing it for the manufacture of fertilizer in connection with its manufacture of sulphuric acid, and has practically decided that a large deposit south of Butte, near Malden Rock, will be the most available. The company wants to use about 1,000 tons of rock per day, if it can get it. All the phosphate beds in the West have been withdrawn from entry by the government so that they cannot be tied up by speculators, but they are available for leasing purposes to persons or corporations in a position to handle them for the benefit of the people. With the sulphuric acid plant of the Anaconda company in readiness for operation, the company will be in a position to negotiate a lease with the government that will enable it to handle the phosphate rock and go extensively into the manufacture of fertilizer. The sulphur that once went out from the Washoe smelter in fumes and damaged the agricultural country for miles about, causing years of expensive litigation, will now become a big commercial bi-product through its conversion into sulphuric acid and that, in turn, being utilized in the making of fertilizer from the phosphate rock. The sulphuric acid plant, it is expected, will begin operations in April. The plant will have a capacity of about 100 tons of acid per day. A part of this will be used in the proposed leaching of the tailings that are piled up in enormous quantity at the Washoe smelter. It is estimated that there are about 20,000,000 tons of these tailings at the Washoe, and eventually these will be disposed of through the leaching process at the rate of 10,000 tons per day. For the present the leaching plant will handle from 2,000 to 2,500 tons per day. The tailings carry about thirteen to fourteen pounds of copper per ton and the leaching of these will add about 600,000 pounds of copper per month to the output of the Washoe smelter.

Davis-Daly.

The development work at the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company is progressing steadily, and the crosscut on the 2,500-foot level is in about 225 feet, but will have to go about 90 feet more before the principal vein is encountered, and this may take about three months. It will be about the first of July before anything definite is known as to what the development will show. The small vein that showed such high grade ore when cut several weeks ago is still showing in the crosscut, but has not enlarged any, and not much importance is attached to it. Some of the miners employed in the Colorado got excited when they found the high grade ore, which assayed nearly 50 per cent copper, and they circulated some big stories about it. Until the big vein is cut and it is found to contain an important body of ore there is nothing to get excited about, said an officer of the company in Butte. Small strikes of ore are made frequently in the Colorado mine, but so far they have not developed into anything of importance.

Barnes-King.

Supt. McGee of the Barnes-King Development company, who has been in Butte several days in consultation with officers of the company, says the February returns will be especially gratifying. The Montana Power company is pushing work on the power line to the Marysville district, and a force of about ninety men is employed in stringing wires. They are extending the line at a rate of two miles a day. It is expected that the line will reach the Plegan-Gloster mines of the Barnes-King company by March 15. The transformers, which were ordered a long time ago, have not yet arrived, but it is expected that the power will be in by April 1. The mill is ready for operations. No mining will be done at the Plegan-Gloster until the power is in and the mill started. The property is in good condition for mining, and all the ore that the mill can handle will be easily produced when the power is in.

RICHEST ORE IN DEEPEST WORKINGS

Recent Developments in the Lowest Levels of Anaconda's Mines.

Butte, Mont., March 6.—An official, high in the councils of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, unofficially has stated that recent developments on the lowest levels of the Butte mines are such as to warrant "the most optimistic predictions for the future of Butte as a copper producing district."

This official said:

"In the Leonard, the Original and the Stewart mines the workings on the 2,800-foot level are the deepest and they are also the best from the standpoint of ore showing. In fact, I might say that the showing between the 2,600 and the 2,800 levels of those mines is 100 per cent better than the showing on some of the levels that have been mined above that. The High Ore's development on the 2,800 is also flattering and at 3,400 feet the shaft has exposed some exceptionally fine copper ore in this property. Butte people do not appreciate the vastness of the ore deposits at depth in this camp. It means that the reserves of the mines of Butte are to be materially enlarged. Fifteen years hence the public can better appreciate the ore richness at depth, for this ore will then be coming out."

This, coming as it does from an Anaconda company official who knows whereof he speaks, is the best possible news that could break for Butte as a mining district and an industrial and railroad center. In a word, it means that, although a thousand millions of dollars in ore have been mined in the Butte hill, yet many times that amount are still stored in the earth here, to be mined for the benefit of future generations.

ELM ORLU OUTPUT BREAKS RECORDS

Timber Butte Mill Surpasses Expectations—Running at Capacity.

Butte, Mont., March 6.—With the Elm Orlu mine and the mill of the Timber Butte Milling company both operating at their limit of capacity and with every man at work who can be used to advantage, plans are under way for a still further development that will mean much more to Butte than the establishment of the Timber Butte mill in its present shape. Such was the statement made by W. A. Clark, Jr., who has entire charge of the Clark mining interests in this district and who has just returned to Butte.

"We have been carrying on important experiments and these experiments have proved successful," said Mr. Clark. "They will mean much more to this community than anything we have done so far. We have found a method of handling the ores that run high in iron, a difficult proposition heretofore. Under this method, as soon as we have been able to reduce it to a profitable commercial basis, the zinc ores of mines like the Lexington can be handled to advantage.

"In the past the large amount of iron has prevented this. At present our experts are trying to reduce the method to a profitable basis from a commercial standpoint.

"The Elm Orlu mine is now being run at the limit of its possibilities with the present hoisting arrangements. Friday we made a record-breaking day of it and hoisted 837 tons of ore, the largest amount of ore we have ever taken out of the Elm Orlu in twenty-four hours since it was opened up.

"Of course, that was an exceptional day. If we were to keep up that record, we could not handle the ore at the Timber Butte mill. The average tonnage at the Elm Orlu for the month of February will be about 600 tons per day, which exceeds the capacity of the mill. We are not hoisting any waste, either. A part of our ore containing a large amount of copper we send to the Washoe smelter."

SHIPMENTS ARE HEAVY

Calumet & Hecla Smelters Shipping More Copper Than Usual.

Increase in Dividend By the Quincy Regarded as Probable.

Houghton, Mich., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calumet & Hecla has equipped one of its furnaces for special castings with the system in use at Dollar Bay, of dipping and pouring by having two ladles attached to the end of chains that are suspended from a track by means of a trolley, thus relieving the dipper, as the man who does this work is called, of carrying the ladle and its contents. The smelters of this company are shipping much more than usual at this time when the consumption generally falls off, that at Hubbell having sent out for several days ten cars, 500,000 tons, daily, and now having orders for about 12,000,000 tons ahead. At the Quincy there is but little copper on the docks except that of the Winona, which was shipped before the war and which is being held for higher prices. The Copper Range Consolidated has about the usual amount on hand for the season of the year. The second large shipment of silver will be sent to the mint at Philadelphia soon from the electrolytic plant, from which the Quincy shipped two tons last week to the same destination. This silver was formerly shipped from Buffalo until the electrolytic plant was transferred to Hubbell, as it is all recovered from the copper by the electrolytic process.

Quincy.

Quincy has, from designs by Manager C. L. Lawton, adapted a mounted jackhammer to the use there, making it slightly lighter and somewhat differently and more easily detached, as it has only one fastening. This new pattern is called the "Quincy Kid" and in a run recently made 143 feet and 6 inches in 6 hour and 15 minutes, which is at the rate of 185 for an eight-hour shift. The air pressure here is now 100 pounds, an intensity that greatly aids the light drills. The dividend declared March 2 of $1 has been easily earned this quarter. The great improvement in the Quincy's record in the last two years is due to the return of the mass copper found so largely in the earlier openings. An increase of pay of about 10 per cent has been given to the employes at this mine, beginning with the first of this month.

South Lake.

South Lake has entered by the crosscut from the shaft another lode which is the fifth mineralized lode encountered thus far and the copper values average very good. George Davis was elected a member of the board of directors in place of I. J. Sturgis at the annual meeting held last Tuesday, this being the only change.

Osceola.

Osceola will hold its annual meeting Thursday next, and it is thought here, where the stock is quite largely held, that there will be an increase of dividend to $1.50 or to $2. This view is based upon the facts that there is a large surplus, over $1,600,000, and the price of the metal has been so high for the year with good prospects of its continuance during the rest of the year.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale is at No. 1 shaft getting ready the hoisting engine, which was formerly at shaft "A," and the boiler that was brought from the Ahmeek, so that the repair work on the shaft can be resumed at any time. This shaft will be devoted almost wholly to opening up the Portage lode, which is destined to add greatly to the mine's tonnage.

Hancock.

Hancock started off with about 100 men the first day of the month and will gradually increase the force. The rock will be sent to the Franklin mill. It will take a little time to get back into full swing.

Naumkeag.

Naumkeag, on the branch of the Quincy or Pewabic lode, that has been opened for quite a long extent, and which, although narrow, has for some time disclosed commercial values, is sinking a winze or downward passage so as to ascertain if the copper continues at depth. This vein is believed to be that on which the Quincy is doing the most of its mining, and is therefore the main branch, which is ordinarily called the Pewabic or Quincy lode. It is said to have many of the characteristics of that lode.

Lake.

Lake, as declared by its president, has been awaiting the results of the exploration of South Lake by the crosscut, and will most likely wait at least until drifting sufficient to disclose the continuance and character of the mineralization in the four lodes, so as to know how to proceed before resuming mining operations. Dr. L. L. Hubbard's conclusion, from a study of the Lake lode and the four lodes revealed by the six diamond drill cores, that this lode and the "East" lode, from their curvature and close resemblance, were Nos. 3 and 4 as discovered in the cores

ON THE IRON RANGES

DEER RIVER OPIUM JOINT IS UNEARTHED

Deer River, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six government agents, including Chief Larson, acting under the Federal Indian bureau service, made a raid on former saloons here Tuesday afternoon and found small quantities of liquor in various saloon buildings and restaurants, which was dumped out. The discovery made by the agents of an opium den in one of the places was a surprise to the village.

The agents seemed to know that there was an opium outfit located in the former Siversen saloon, but it took the third search to find it after several yards of boards were torn off the walls of a back room. About a pound of opium and pipes were found in the "hole in the wall." Frank Inscho is alleged to have been conducting the place and he was taken to Bemidji and arraigned before the United States court commissioner and held to the Federal grand jury in the sum of $1,500 bonds, which have not yet been supplied.

Arrest Bail Club Man.

At Bena, the agents arrested John McGarrity, a Ball Club Lake resident, who was caught with whisky in his suit case on the train. The charge is introducing liquor into the Indian country. The United States court commissioner at Bemidi bound him over to the Federal grand jury under bonds in the sum of $1,500.

NETT LAKE INDIAN WOMEN BUY BONNETS.

Virginia, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Nett Lake Indian women do not propose that their white sisters will have anything on them in the way of Easter bonnets and other finery, as there are half a dozen or so here today carrying their papooses and buying Easter bonnets. All seem liberally supplied with money. They came by train from Orr and will return this evening.

STRIPPING RESUMED.

Removal of Overburden From Great Northern Property Going On.

Calumet, Minn., March 6.—The stripping of the new Great Northern mining property near Marble and Calumet was resumed this week and from now on the work will be rushed by a large crew of men, and it is expected that this mine will be among the producers later on this season. Sanford & Co. have the contract for stripping this property, and suspended work during January and February owing to the frost. Nearly all their former crew have returned and many new men are now at Calumet looking for work on the new job.

CAUGHT "WITH GOODS."

Pair From Port Arthur Arrested With Stolen Article in Possession.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dick Reese and Bert Cameron, claiming to hail from Port Arthur, Ont., where Reese says he is known as a professional pool player, were held to the grand jury yesterday after a preliminary hearing on the charge of stealing a dress suit case from a local cafe. They were arrested at Cohasset with the stolen article in their possession.

In the suitcase was found a set of pool balls which had been reported stolen at Keewatin, a bottle of whisky and some other articles which presumably had been stolen elsewhere.

INDIAN LID HAS REACHED RANGE TOWN

Bemidji, Minn., March 6.—For the first time since the enforcement of the provisions of the Indian treaty of 1855 was begun, the government has extended the "lid" to the iron range and Hohnan, a little town on the Great Northern, between Coleraine and Marble, has been ordered to close its saloons. Reports reached Bemidji that the saloons received the closing orders by mail Wednesday.

BIGFORK MAN KILLED.

Bigfork, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas McLaughlin of this place was instantly killed Thursday while cutting logs in the woods near here with his 12-year-old son by a tree falling on him. The son sawed the tree off over his father's body before going for help. Mr. McLaughlin leaves a wife and five children, living here. He was about 50 years old.

CRUSHED TO DEATH AT VIRGINIA DOCK

Virginia, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Anderson employed by the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway, on the local coal docks of the company, was killed this morning.

He was superintending moving a car up the docks about 9 a. m. when his clothing became caught in the cable and he was drawn into the cable drum, both arms and some ribs being crushed. He died on the way to the Lenont hospital.

Mr. Anderson was about 43, had lived here several years and is survived by a wife and several children living at 703 Second street, North side. He belonged to the Woodmen. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

EVELETH'S VOTE IS FORMALLY CANVASSED

Eveleth, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council yesterday afternoon formally canvassed the vote cast at the gas franchise election Tuesday and found the majority in favor of granting the franchise to Messrs. Kennedy and Leech, as sixty-nine, the same as printed in Wednesday's Herald. This action formally carries out the mandate of the people and the franchise is thereby awarded to Kennedy and Leech. They are planning to start work on the plant as soon as they decide upon a site for their generating plant. As they are seeking franchises from Biwabik, Aurora and Gilbert they will not reach a definite conclusion until the people of those villages have acted on their request. A central gas generating plant will be built near Sparta and Gilbert and it is expected to furnish Eveleth, Gilbert, Aurora and Biwabik providing the other towns grant the francises.

PLAY PLANS SOON READY

T. S. Settle Outlines Broad Recreation System for Duluth.

Fourteen playgrounds from Lester park to Fairmont park, social centers in schools nearest these grounds, municipal golf links, a bathing beach at Fairmont park, with a general supervisor in charge and a corps of assistants directing the work at each playground and social center, are among the more important features of the all-year recreational system now being prepared by Thomas S. Settle, field secretary for the Playground and Recreational Association of America, and forecasted by Mr. Settle this morning.

Mr. Settle is proposing a unified and co-ordinate system of recreation for the children of Duluth. The carrying out of this program for the first year will require an expense, Mr. Settle said, of from $8,000 to $15,000.

If Mr. Settle's plan is adopted all the parks in the city will be utilized and so will other property owned by Duluth. The bathing beach will be located at Fairmont park, while the golf links will be either at the West Duluth park or just above Lincoln park, where the city owns considerable property. Apparatus will be installed at each playground for use in the summer, while in the winter skating rinks will be prepared for the children.

A general supervisor will have charge of the entire system, while assistants will direct the work at each playground and adjoining social center. Mr. Settle plans to outline a course of study for these assistants, under the direction of the supervisor.

"I am highly gratified with the cordial co-operation and general sympathy for our work that so many people of Duluth are showing. I feel that the unusual strong sentiment for playground, park and social center work is due to the excellent work that has already been done and is being done in your city along these lines," said Mr. Settle.

"This plan will be presented within the next week, and it is the purpose of the committee to do all in its power to have this system put into operation at a very early date. Such systems are already established in hundreds of American cities. The activities conducted by these systems vary in order to meet the recreation needs of each city.

"This field of co-operation is one in which some work should yield rich returns in the way of health and happiness to the people of Duluth. I have been much impressed with the excellent facilities of the park department and your public school system. I am equally impressed with the excellent talent, musical, dramatic, etc., among the citizenship of Duluth."

Convicted of Killing Father.

Houghton, Mich., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Lahnala, 18, who has been on trial here for three weeks, accused of the murder of his father, was today found guilty. Lahnala shot his father Sept. 5, 1913, on a farm near Houghton.

Rublee Appointed.

Washington, March 6.—President Wilson today gave a recess appointment to George Rublee of Cornish, N. H., as a member of the new Federal trade commission. Mr. Rublee's nomination was not confirmed by the senate at the last session.

COUNTY BOARD IN SESSION

Postpone Action on Petition to Incorporate Village of Cook.

Action on a petition requesting that a special election be ordered among the settlers in 62-18 for the purpose of determining whether or not it is desired to incorporate the proposed village of Cook, was not taken at the March meeting of the county board this morning. It is probable that the matter will be taken up and disposed of at the April meeting.

The boundaries of the proposed village of Cook include certain lots and outlots within the old plat of Ashawa and certain section lines within township 62-18. The petition for a special election was signed by E. W. Carey and thirty-two others. Among other things, it is represented that the census of the territory proposed to be incorporated was 220 at the time the petition was drawn.

Eighteen road petitions were received this morning by the county board and dates for hearings were set. The commissioners appropriated $5,560 out of the county special fund for road improvement in the Seventh commissioner district and let the contract to cover the work. Jacob E. Kaukola was awarded the contract for the building of a three-mile stretch of the Town Line road for $3,800 and C. A. Hughes secured the contract for the construction of two miles of the Leander road for $1,760.

County Auditor Odin Halden was directed by the board to call for bids for the improving of the Miller Trunk road between the Industrial and Culver roads along the lines suggested by E. K. Coe, county road engineer, last year.

The board this morning granted permits to use the public highways to the Forest Telephone association in the Sixth district and the Bear River Valley Rural Telephone company in the Seventh district.

The Forest Telephone association asked the board for permision to place its poles along a portion of the Miller Trunk and Morrison roads and the Bear River Valley Rural Telephone company requested a like privilege on the Tower and Itasca and Sturgeon Lake roads.

The board received reports from the various county officers of money collected and expended. The sheriff's receipts were $551.75, disbursement, $517.75; clerk of court, receipts, $1,468.65; no disbursements; register of deeds, receipts, $837.35; register of titles, receipts, $588.19 and judge of probate, receipts, $65.40. The county work performed by the various department follows: Sheriff's office $3,144.66; clerk of the court, $67.15, and register of deeds, $19.50.

Max Neupert, proprietor of the Skibo hotel at Skibo, is seeking a saloon license and the matter of granting it may be given consideration by the board this afternoon. A petition signed by sixteen names favoring the saloon has been filed with the board and a counter petition containing twenty names opposing it has also been sent in. The board recently turned down two applications for saloon licenses at Skibo and the Neupert application may meet the same fate.

At the April meeting of the board, bids will be opened for the furnishing of assessment books and personal property listing blanks. The county auditor was directed to advertise for bids at the meeting this morning.

The board received a communication this morning from Sheriff Meining asking that the county have an "old" phone installed in the residence of Victor Dash at Smithville. Mr. Dash is chief deputy in the sheriff's office. No action was taken at the morning session on the sheriff's request.

FAIR ASSOCIATION WILL GET $9,500

St. Louis county, through the board of county commissioners, today granted its annual appropriation to the St. Louis County Fair association, which has its headquarters at Hibbing. The board voted $9,500, of which $2,000 will be spent for maintenance and the balance for new buildings and additions.

The board at its session this morning also appropriated $2,000 from the county revenue fund for the use of the Northern Minnesota Development association, of which George D. McCarthy of this city is secretary. The money is to be expended in advertising the agricultural resources of St. Louis and other northern counties of Minnesota. The appropriation was authorized by special legislation.

INSANE MAN SHOOTS EVERYONE IN SIGHT.

Brunswick, Ga., March 6.—Four men were shot and killed and five seriously wounded here today by Monroe Phillips, a lumberman, who fired at random on the street. Phillips himself was killed by a policeman who sought to arrest him.

One of the men killed was H. F. Dunwoody, a prominent attorney. The others killed were: W. M. Hackett, an undertaker;; Rex Deavers, a policeman, and W. P. Padgett, a former policeman. Several of the wounded are prominent citizens of Brunswick.

BAD COLD? TAKE CASCARETS FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No Headache, Constipation, Bad Cold or Sour Stomach By Morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

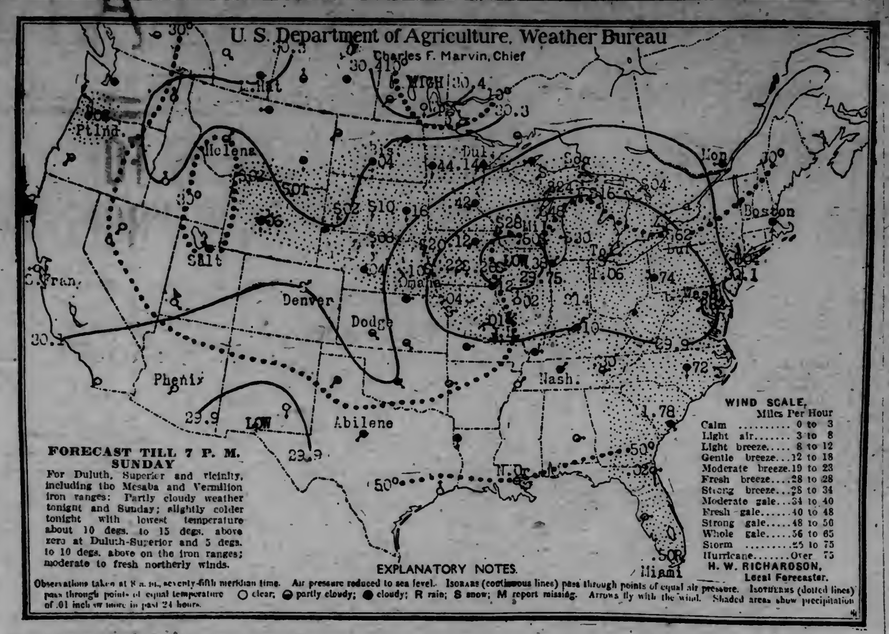
Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



COLDER

The lion of March evidently blew himself to his heart's content last night and, in fact, most of yesterday, and some time during the night evidently laid down to rest. Nobody cares if he never wakes up. Today is real "ca-a-m" and pedestrians can "pedest" with some degree of comfort and surety. Colder weather is promised for tonight, and Sunday will be partly cloudy.

Snow fell a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:38 and will set this evening at 6—dinner or supper time, according to one's designation.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The storm has diminshed in intensity and its center has advanced to northern Illinois. During the last twenty-four hours light to heavy snow or rain resulted throughout the Missouri, Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, the Lake region and Atlantic states, and strong easterly winds over portions of the Lake region. Temperature changes were generally unimportant. The highest wind velocity at Duluth was forty-six miles per hour from the northeast at various times Friday forenoon."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 6.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; possibly snow flurries in southeast portion tonight; slightly colder tonight.

Wisconsin—Unsettled with snow tonight and probably in east and south portions Sunday; slightly colder tonight.

Iowa—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; probably snow flurries in east and central portions.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Lower and Upper Michigan—Snow tonight and probably Sunday.

DULUTH MAY ENTER A NEW HOCKEY ORGANIZATION

Initial steps of a movement that may result in the organization of an international hockey league, were taken today by Dr. H. J. Stevens, manager of athletics of the Western University of London, Ont., and J. H. MacGregor, secretary and a member of the board of directors of the Duluth Curling club.

The exquisite Manley-McLennan trophy, valued at $500, is reposing in the custody of the directors of the Duluth Curling club. The trophy has never been offered for play, simply because of the fact that no league has as yet come into existence that suited the requirements of so valuable a trophy, in the belief of the curling club directors.

Dr. Stevens today suggested that the initial steps be immediately taken toward the organization of an international hockey league, tentatively suggesting Duluth, Detroit, St. Paul and Cleveland on the American side of the line and Hamilton, Toronto and London, Ont., with one other Canadian team to represent the Dominion.

On Saturday evening of the coming week the Western university septet will meet Detroit. It is the suggestion of Dr. Stevens that this game be one to start play for the Manley-McLennan cup.

John McGregor late today stated that in all probability a meeting of the directors of the Duluth Curling club would be called and that Dr. Stevens would be asked to meet with the board members and present his proposition.

LIGHT AND SHADOW OF POLICE COURT

MOOSE DINNER EXPENSIVE.

A. L. Rynning and Hans Brakstad Admit Game Warden's Charge.

MOOSE steak for Christmas dinner is a delicacy that few Duluthians can boast of having, but it has proved rather costly for A. L. Rynning, who did have some, as well Hans Brakstad, who bought part of the steak from the hunter.

Deputy Game Warden G. H. Huseby arrested Brakstad several days ago on a charge of having a part of a moose in his possession. He pleaded guilty before Judge F. H. Cutting in municipal court, but sentence was not imposed, pending the arrest of Rynning.

The deputy found Rynning after a long hunt, and he was charged with killing a moose on Dec. 23. Rynning, who appeared in court this morning clad as "Davy" Crockett, might have been, is alleged to have killed a large bull on range 15, north of Rice lake.

He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $52.50 or serve sixty days at the workfarm. Sentence was suspended for three months, to give him an opportunity to pay the fine.

WAS COSMOPOLITAN.

Prisoner Not Particular as to Land of His Birth.

"What are you, a Bohemian?" asked Fred Johnson, assistant police secretary, last night.

"Yup," said Paul Nemets, aged 50, alleged "vag."

"Hungarian?" continued the secretary, who doesn't believe in humanity any more than the average member of the police department.

"Yup," repeated Paul.

"Are you Polish?"

"Yup."

"Are you Austrian?"

"Uh-huh."

"You're not a Slav, are you?"

"Yup," said Paul in a monotone.

"Are you a Chinaman?" said the secretary finally, growing tired of the conversation.

Paul awoke. "Chinaman? No!" he said with emphasis.

He finally was recorded as being Bohemian by birth. His case was referred to Probation Officer Hicks in municipal court this morning.

MAN OF 70 FULL OF FIGHT.

John Sullivan, Not "John L.," Held on Assault Charge.

The oldest man ever arrested in Duluth on a charge of assault was brought to headquarters this morning by A. H. Cook, superintendent of the poor farm. He was John Sullivan, age 70, an inmate of the poor farm.

Sullivan, who is said to be rather hot tempered, walks with a cane, and has a habit of using it to correct the manners of people around him. He is alleged to have struck another inmate across the face with his stick, cutting him severely.

His case will be brought before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting today for disposition.

COURT RESPECTS JEWS' RELIGION

Russian court methods, by which no privileges or customs of the Jewish people are respected, do not prevail in the United States, according to Municipal Judge W. L. Windom, who said:

"This is not Russia," this morning, when an attorney attempted to have a case tried in which several Jewish witnesses were to be called.

"Christians have the Jew to thank for the foundation of our own religion," declared the judge, "and we should honor and respect their views. I will not hold court unless the witnesses will volunteer to act, and state that they are perfectly willing to do so."

None of the witnesses wanted to go on the stand, the day being their Sabbath, although each one stated that he was willing to obey the court's command.

"It isn't a case of commanding," said the judge, "but of following the dictates of your religion, and this court will interfere with no man's religion."

The case was one involving a contract between S. Goldfine and Levine Bros., both parties being engaged in the horse and cattle business. It is not customary to try jury cases on the municipal court civil calendar during Saturday.

CHECK CLEARING MAY START FIGHT

What some financial interests of the state look upon as likely to cause a controversy between the banks of Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis and the Ninth District Regional Reserve banks, is an order issued yesterday from Washington that the regional banks begin the clearing of all checks. Minneapolis banks look for trouble in connection with it.

However, in Duluth, bankers are inclined to feel that the new order will not affect city banks half as badly as it will country banks, although some country bankers, at first blush, say that they are pleased about it. One Duluth banker said this morning:

"We do not care to discuss the matter much here as we have not yet received a copy of the order and are therefore ignorant as to how the treasury department interprets the law. But the way we have figured it out here is that the country banks will be the ones to suffer mostly. The law provides that in clearing checks banks shall make no charge, that is take exchange. That, in small towns and cities, affords a large part of their profits, and if they will have to cash checks at par, it is going to cut down their revenues severely. Such business is not part of a city bank's profits."

Some Twin City banks are preparing to fight the order. They take the position that the regional reserve banks are reserve institutions only, that their functions are not lending money and clearing items. These bankers declare they will fight any effort of the government to enter the active banking field.

YIDDISH PLAYERS AT THE ORPHEUM

Edward A. Bernard and his Yiddish players will appear at the Orpheum theater with two of his best productions, "The First Love" and "The Live Orphans," tomorrow afternoon and evening.

"The First Love," which will be played tomorrow afternoon, is said to have a wonderful climax and a lesson in it for young and old. Madame Bessie Bernard is in the leading role. The night performance will also be a good production, it is said. "The Live Orphans" have played more than 200 nights in New York and was one of the successes of the season.

RAILROAD'S EARNINGS SHOW AN INCREASE.

Officials of the Great Northern railroad express gratification over the volume of traffic now being moved over the system.

For the seven months ended Jan. 31, its net operating income was reported to be slightly larger than in the corresponding period last year. The total revenue for that period came to $44,026,205, and total operating expenses were $21,671,638. The net income over taxes and other charges was $19,682,749.

The turning point in the road's traffic is believed to have come in January. The net operating income for the month was given at $795,427, or $146,859 less than in January, 1914.

Preliminary figures on earnings and loading reports for February indicate a steady gain in traffic, which is expected to gain impetus with the passing of winter. Tourist travel is counted upon to swell passenger earnings considerably this year.

DANCE FOR STRANDED

Duluth may not be a very good "show town," but its people are "of the finest," according to the members of the Manhattan Musical Comedy company, who have been stranded here since Monday, when the Empress theater was suddenly closed by Manager W. M. Abrahamson.

Twenty odd members of the company, who had been playing at the Empress, were behind on salaries, and when the house was closed they were "up against it," they said. Since that time they have been practising Fletcherism and all forms of dieting, with great success.

Mrs. W. J. Olcott, 2316 East First street, touched by stories of the hardships of the chorus girls, as well as of the men in the company, arranged for them to have meals at the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. until they could get assistance.

Last night John J. Haley, proprietor of a West Superior street restaurant, turned host to the company and gave a dinner for the thespians.

Not to be outdone by individuals, various fraternal orders of the city have started plans for an enormous dance and entertainment at the Auditorium Monday night, proceeds to be used in buying railroad fares back to "little ol' New Yawk." Vaudeville features will be staged during the dance. Tickets will be sold by members of the lodges.

Manager W. M. Abrahamson of the Empress theater at first agreed to furnish money to take the company back to New York, according to Ray M. Hughes, their attorney, but losses sustained in the fire which nearly destroyed the theater building Wednesday were so extensive that he was unable to raise the amount, which aggregated nearly $700.

BANQUET READY BUT NO GUESTS

Alumni of Hamline university almost had a banquet at the Spalding hotel last night.

None of the alumni knew about it, but the banquet was all ready for twenty-five of them, with a private dining room nicely decorated and the table "groaning," as the poets would say.

When, after waiting in vain for the festive grads, one of the waiters proposed a toast to the "Absent Brothers," no one said a word and they sorrowfully gathered up the silverware and ate the perishable things themselves. At least so the story goes.

Early in the week some one called the Spalding and asked that a banquet be arranged for twenty-five Hamline alumni. The clerk was unable to understand the name, and he asked again and again, until finally, ashamed of his poor hearing, he let it go.

Yesterday afternoon the same voice called again, and asked that a room be reserved as a cloak room for the ladies, and this also was done.

The cloak room attendants joined the waiters at a sub-rosa "feed" when they found that some one had "put something across" or else a mistake had been made and Proprietor George W. Reynolds is looking for that Hamline man today.

MERCHANTS AID GARDEN CONTEST

Prizes aggregating $27.50 cash and $56.50 in merchandise have been pledged towards a garden contest to be held in the West end this year according to a statement given out this morning by Dr. O. A. Oredson. The prizes are to be awarded to the children who raise the best vegetables and have the best gardens in this end of the city during the year.

Dr. Oredson stated that he had not intended "butting in" on a contest planned by the West end Commercial club, but that he had asked for the names of the children before any action had been taken by the club and that he had done that for the purpose of forwarding the names to Washington before March 1. The names he said, had to be in Washington before that date in order to insure getting good seed. He says he is willing to turn the contest over to the club.

The following contributions have been made by business concerns in the West end toward the contest, according to Dr. Oredson:

LARGE FACTORY BUILDING PROPOSED IN WEST END

John Wahl Candy Company Decides to Erect New Premises.

City Permits This Week Reach Largest Total in Several Months.

Announcement that a modern factory building of reinforced concrete construction for the John Wahl Candy company on Michigan street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues west will be placed under contract immediately, was the outstanding feature of the week in building trade circles. The structure will be three stories and a basement and will, it is announced, embody in its interior details the latest ideas in structures of its class. The plans will go out to contractors for figures next week from the office of J. J. Wangenstein, architect.

Unmistakable evidence that building work is assuming activity was furnished in the list of permits issued this week. They numbered thirty-six with the cost of improvements involved placed at $40,120. This was the longest list in several months back, and what is regarded as a gratifying feature about it is that it authorized mainly new house construction and improvements to present buildings. With the issuing of permits in connection with other contracts recently awarded, it is predicted that the building figures for March will reach a large aggregate.

The largest permits in the list were for $6,500, $6,000 and $5,500 respectively. A permit for $6,500 was taken out by O. L. Davis for a brick house on Second street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues west; one for $6,000 by T. K. Hicks for a frame home on Third street between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues east, and one for $5,500 by John Dahl for a brick dwelling on Fifth street between Lake avenue and First avenue west.

* * *

P. McDonnell is building a concrete barn and storehouse on Third street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues west to cost $3,500, and P. Jensen a frame home on Fifty-fourth avenues west, between Nicollet and Main streets.

Big Week in Sight.

It is intimated in architectural circles that a number of plans for high-class homes are likely to go out for figures within thirty days, and decision regarding an important business structure is expected to be reached shortly. The trade is also interested in the prospective rebuilding of the Empress theater and the Superior street cost stores destroyed by fire this week.

* * *

A modern frame home is to be built for A. C. Barthe at Twenty-eighth avenue east and Birch street. The general contract has been let to James Flaconer at $6,000. The plans were prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, architects.

* * *

James H. Peterson has been awarded the general contract for the Meadowlands State bank at $8,000. Holstead & Sullivan were the architects.

* * *

Plans for the proposed home for W. C. Agnew in Congdon park will be ready to go out to contractors for figures in the latter part of next week from the office of F. W. Perkins, architect.

* * *

Plans have been prepared by Arthur Hanford, architect, for two homes in Lakeside, for Louis Lohmann and Mrs. Emma Schultheis. The cost of each is estimated at $3,000.

The same architect has prepared plans for a frame house for Joseph Wilde to be built at Sixteenth avenue east and Superior street at an outlay of about $4,000.

* * *

The contract for remodeling the Echo theater at 515 West Superior street into a store has been awarded to H. C. Brown. The plans were prepared by C. E. Nystrom, architect.

It is expected that plans for the proposed consolidated grade school at Fertile, Minn., will be ready to go out for figures next week from the office of E. F. Broomhall, architect. It will be a handsome brick structure, estimated to cost $40,000.

"Business is opening up well for us this spring," said C. S. Nixon of the Paine & Nixon company today. "We are finding a remarkable broadening out in our plate glass trade. Shipments all over the Northwest are being made at present, as we are landing orders that formerly went to houses in the Twin Cities. That result has been attained through the working out of the policy adopted a year ago in carrying large glass stocks in our warehouse here."

DEMAND CONTINUES FOR RESIDENCE PROPERTIES

Provide Bulk of Real Estate Transfers of the Week.

Negotiations for Factory Sites and Central Business Properties.

While business in the real estate market was not marked by any special features during the week, the number of transfers recorded reached a gratifying aggregate.

Sales of residence properties again accounted for the great bulk of the business put through, but negotiations in some interesting deals in factory sites and central business frontages are said to be progressing favorably with every probability of definite results being reached in the near future.

It is regarded as certain that the home-building movement will attain increased momentum during the next six months. Operators say that the inquiry for desirable building lots was never more promising of results than at the present, and they are sanguine that contracts entered into during the next three months will be fully up to the record of any previous spring. It is pointed out that the movement will be facilitated by the easy financial situation. Funds upon mortgage security are now readily obtainable at 6 per cent upon inside properties, or at 7 per cent in the more outlying residence districts.

All Think Well of Duluth.

N. J. Upham, president of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, has returned from an extended trip, during which he visited Kansas City, Omaha and Memphis, Tenn., and after taking into account present conditions, he is more enthusiastic than ever regarding the general business and realty outlook.

"Everywhere I went I found that very favorable views are entertained regarding the prospects for Duluth," he said. The opinion was expressed in some quarters that the territory west of a line drawn from Kansas City to Duluth offers the most inviting opportunities of any area in the United States. The reasons given are high prices likely to prevail for farm products for some time to come as a result of the war and the preparations being made to seed an enormously increased acreage this spring.

Mr. Upham attended a meeting of the National Real Estate association executives at Memphis, when plans for the annual meeting of the association to be held at Los Angeles, Cal., at the end of June, were discussed. A record crowd is expected at the gathering and it is intimated that no pains to entertain visitors will be spared by the Los Angeles committee. Special trains will be run from the Twin Cities, Chicago, Kansas City, and other points to the rendezvous.

The Pulford-How company sold for Helen B. Haire to F. B. Johnson, a building lot on Fourth street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east at a consideration of $2,000. The purchaser proposes to improve this spring in the building of a modern home.

* * *

A satisfactory week was reported by the Hoopes-Kohagen company, both in point of actual transactions and inquiry. A house and lot at Fourth street and Fourth avenue east was sold to Robert Freeman. Other transactions included sales of two lots at Lakeside, and of two lots in the Park Drive addition.

* * *

The Ebert-Walker company sold forty acres of land near Grand Lake to a buyer from near Fargo, N. D., who proposes to settle upon it at once. That office also disposed of four Lakeside building lots.

* * *

W. C. Sargent sold for J. Teigland, a five-acre tract on the Jean Duluth road. Inquiry for houses and lands was reported by him to be showing steady improvement, leading to expectations of good activity later in the season.

* * *

The N. J. Upham company commented upon the increased interest being shown in Waverly Park lots. Five lots were disposed of by that office during the week, of which four were re-sales at fair profits by investors who bought them when the plat was placed on the market last summer.

* * *

Stryker, Manley & Buck also reported the sale of a lot in Waverly park for improvement this season. It is intimated that plans for four homes in the park are now in preparation, and that the erection of several houses there this year is assured.

* * *

Charles H. Tanner has purchased from B. E. Baker, the home formerly occupied by him at Sixtieth avenue east and Tioga street. The amount of the consideration was not made public.

* * *

The Benamin F. Schweiger company reported the sale of 1117 East Ninth street, from Alexander J. Mergener to Theresa Bitterle at a consideration of $1,450. The property consists of a four-room dwelling and twenty-five-foot lot.

It also reported the sale of lots 499 and 500, block 42, Crosley Park, from Clark Pierson to Alexander J. Mergener, at a consideration of $450.

* * *

Fred O'Donnell has joined the sales force of the N. J. Upham company, to assist in placing on the market some interesting investment propositions about to be taken up by that office.

Preparing for Realty Convention

Members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange who attended the seventh annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate exchanges at Pittsburg last July, and those who were not present but read the proceedings, were tremendously impressed with the earnest manner in which real estate matters were discussed. Some people have an idea that a great national convention is one continual round of pleasures and entertainments; but, while there are divertisements provided for those who attend the real estate convention, on the contrary they do not in any way conflict with the business for which the delegates assemble.

The eighth annual convention will be held in Los Angeles June 21 to 24, and those in charge of the program are assured by the members of the Los Angeles realty board, who are to be the hosts, that they are prepared to make the visit to Los Angeles a notable one, and that their entertainment will be in the nature of sight-seeing trips to the ocean, Mount Lowe and the Riverside orange district but that they do not want to detract in the least from the discussions and business program.

It has been stated by many prominent members of the national association, in both the United States and Canada, that these annual conferences are a university for real estate information and offer an opportunity for a post-graduate course.

It is only within the last few years that real estate men have been brought together to consider the development of their business, which intimately affects practically everyone in the country, and the progress they have made has been remarkable.

Doubtless every citizen of Duluth realizes the changed conditions since the organization of the Duluth Real Estate exchange and the fine work it has done in standardizing the business in this city.

The national association offers an opportunity for Duluth real estate men to exchange ideas with the boards in ninety-four other cities, and the annual conventions of the national association are clearing houses for this purpose.

WILL BUILD JUNIOR HIGH

School Board Advertises for Bids for Lincoln School.

Lambs' Club Asks Remodeling of Central High Stage.

At the monthly meeting of the board of education last night, aside from the election of teachers for the next school year, dealt with in another column, the chief business of interest was the determination of the board to advertise for bids for the erection of the Lincoln junior high school. The clerk was instructed to begin the advertisement immediately, and it was decided that the bids will be opened at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of March 29. The contract will not be let, however, until the next regular meeting, which will be only a few days after the opening of the bids, being on the evening of April 2.

The only discussion in the matter arose over a slight difference of opinion as to the time required by the tractors to prepare their bids. The matter came up when a communication from the architect, F. G. German, was read. Mr. German announced that the plans and specifications for the school are all ready, and that the copies necessary can be given out to the bidders next Tuesday. He recommended that the bids be advertised for at once and opened on March 23. Director Getchell thought that that was rushing the contractors too much, but Director Cobb and others thought otherwise, with the result given. March 29 was chosen because Director McGiffert will be away until March 28, and President F. A. Brewer will be absent, so it was thought best to wait until Mr. McGiffert's return to ensure a quorum of the board.

The matter of the sale of bonds to Wells & Dickey of Minneapolis was talked over, and it was decided that it is safe to go ahead and ask for bids, for even if the Minneapolis concern will not take the bonds, a local concern will.

Last night was the first time that President Brewer had been present at a March or April meeting for five years, he remarked, and only delay in getting away on a trip caused his presence then.

The architect also reported that the additional work of the Chippewa Falls Construction company on the R. E. Denfeld high school at West Duluth had been completed and that the company can now be paid. The net amount due is $3,332.25. The matter was referred to the committee on maintenance, buildings and grounds.

Want Hours Shortened.

A petition, signed by a long list of mothers of children affected, was presented, in which the request was made that the hours in certain grades in the C. C. Salter school be changed. It was asked that the third, fourth and fifth grades' hours be shortened, and that in the first and second grades the morning class be released at 11:30 and the afternoon class let out at 3:30, instead of at 11:50 and 3:50, respectively, as now prevails. The matter was referred to Supt. Denfeld.

A petition was received from the Lambs club, a Central high school dramatic organization, asking that the stage in the auditorium of the school be remodeled by changing the rear of the stage from curve form to right-angle form with a flat back-wall, and that the proscenium arch be moved out further. The petition stated that the club has a fund of $100, obtained in presenting plays, which it has voted to use in the purchase of scenery for the stage.

Director Getchell declared that he does not favor such petitions. He asserted that it is taking the matter out of the hands of teachers and the proper authorities, and he believes that, as a rule, such petitions coming from the pupils should not be countenanced. He cited a case where a delegation of small children called on Mayor Prince and asked the change of a drinking fountain to a point which, the director declared, is far inferior in every way to the place where it was; and that the request was granted.

Stage Change Needed.

However, Director Cobb came to the rescue of the petition and asserted that the requested change in the stage, if found practical as regards to the construction of the building, would be very advisable, for the board has to have additional stage room constructed and then torn down each time there is a graduation or other special event, and that much money is wasted in this way. The matter was referred to the committee on maintenance, buildings and grounds, for consultation with the architect that drew the plans for the building.

A copy of resolutions adopted by the Duluth Dental society was read, in which the members of the society expressed willingness to examine the oral cavity of each child with a view to finding out what further attention is necessary, and recommending the designation of a clinic room in the Central high school and the employment of a nurse. The committee on schools recommended such designation and employment, and expressed the opinion that the room used at present by the medical examiners be used for the dental work. The matter was referred.

IS UNABLE TO GIVE CAUSE

State Fire Marshal Thinks Bad Wiring Caused Empress Fire.

After two days of investigation, Deputy State Fire Marshal Robert Martin of St. Paul has reported that he is unable to determine the probable cause of the fire which caused damages estimated at $16,000 to the Empress theater building Wednesday night.

Fire which destroyed the Seekins floral establishment, Third avenue east and Superior street, as well as two adjoining retail stores, with a loss estimated at about $20,000, started in the basement of the Seekins place, near the Michigan street rear entrance, according to Deputy Martin. He was in conference with Louis Visias, proprietor of the place, today, and will resume his investigation Monday afternoon. He left for St. Paul this afternoon, to be away over Sunday.

Interesting developments in this last investigation are promised by the deputy, who says he is not entirely satisfied as to the origin of the blaze. It started some distance from the furnace, at a point where inflammable material would not be stored, he said.

Nothing suspicious was discovered by Deputy Martin in the blaze Wednesday night which caused $100 damage at the Elgin hotel, 321 West First street. A similar report was made on the small blaze the same night at the Cold Storage and Warehouse dock, Seventh avenue west and bay front.

"I was unable to reach any conclusion in the Empress case, said Deputy Martin this morning. "I am satisfied that it was purely accidental, however. Electric wiring in the front part of the basement was in bad shape, and the only possible source of the blaze, as far as I can determine, was from these wires.

"There was $41,500 insurance on the building, its contents, and the rental. In case of fire, however, all of the insurance was payable to the mortgagors in lieu of rent for the full term of the lease, forty years, unless it was used by Mr. Abrahamson in rebuilding the structure. Lottie M. Koons, owner of the land, held rental insurance covering any possible loss through the destruction of the building, which might endanger the revenue from rent. None of the insurance goes to Mr. Abrahamson."

FEBRUARY LAKE LEVELS IN MINUS CLASS.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for last month as follows:

	Feet Above Mean Sea Level.
Superior	601.70
Michigan-Huron	579.54
Erie	571.41
Ontario	244.99

Lake Superior was .11 foot lower than last month, .61 foot lower than a year ago, .09 foot below the average stage of February, 1901, and .94 foot above the low stage of February, 1871. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the March level will be .2 foot lower.

Lakes Michigan-Huron were .10 foot higher than last month, .54 foot lower than a year ago, .54 foot below the average stage of February of the last ten years, 3.18 feet below the high stage of February, 1886, and .38 foot above the low stage of February, 1896. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the March level will remain about stationary.

Lake Erie was .32 foot higher than last month, .30 foot lower than a year ago, .27 foot below the average stage of February of the last ten years, 2.34 feet below the high stage of February, 1863, .78 foot above the low stage of February, 1892. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the March level will be .1 foot higher.

Lake Ontario was .29 foot higher than last month, .88 foot lower than a year ago, .78 foot below the average stage of February of the last ten years, 2.68 feet below the high stage of February, 1886, and 1.16 feet above the low stage of February, 1897. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the March level will be .1 foot higher.

BLACK HAND LETTER TO CROOKSTON MAN

Crookston, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable stir was caused by the receipt of a black hand letter by Charles H. Kiewel, prominent brewer and farmer, demanding that $2,000 be left in a certain place at the south end of the Great Northern depot between 10 and 11 o'clock on a certain night, otherwise dire vengeance was threatened him and members of his family. The police and sheriff's force have been working on the case, together with a special representative of the postoffice department and a special detective from St. Paul, for two days, but no arrests have been made. Mr. Kiewel announced that he has no intention of "coming across."

COUNTY AGENT TO HELP FARMERS

Would Aid in Securing Better Stock and Seed.

One of the functions of the office of the county agricultural agent is to assist farmers in securing the best seeds at reasonable prices and also to act as a sort of clearing house for the exchange of livestock, according to H. G. Larson, St. Louis county agent, in his weekly agricultural letter. Among other things, Mr. Larson says:

"Spring is approaching and the farmer appreciates the fact that he will soon need his yearly supply of good, sound, lean seed of the highest standard for purity and germination. There has never been so strong a demand, nor so much inquiry as there is today, for seed of quality, and the county agent's office is becoming more and more a sort of clearing house where persons, who have good, first-class seed for sale, may come in closer touch with men who are intending to purchase.

"It is one of the functions of the county agent's office to assist the farmers in securing the best seed at reasonable prices, and also to aid in the exchange of livestock. Often a farmer finds himself with more stock on hand than he can profitably care for. If the stock is of high grade, the county agent would like to be informed, if not, farmers should take the usual course and dispose of the animals for beef. No first class animal, however, should be sent to the shambles without first making an attempt to give some other man who wishes to buy, an opportunity.

"Good seed potatoes are in demand despite the low prices that have prevailed. Of passing interest is the fact that very little, if any, seed will be planted this year except such seed as has been approved by the Minnesota Potato Growers' association, which recommends the Carman type for the late variety and the Early Ohio for the early variety, so that in the near future potatoes will be confined to a few standards, well known sorts, just as the dairy breeds of cattle are becoming closely established and identified. This gives a greater degree of satisfaction, pleasure, and profit to the men engaged in the business of growing and developing standard breeds and varieties."

WOULD ADOPT A STANDARD SPUD

Movement on Foot for Uniformity in Types Grown in Minnesota.

Steps towards the standardizing of Minnesota potatoes are being taken by the Minnesota Crop Improvement association and the Minnesota Potato Growers' association.

A sub-committee on potatoes in the Minnesota Crop Improvement association has outlined a tentative scheme for standardizing varieties and giving a simple and efficient classification.

The scheme, as devised, calls for the elimination of all duplicates and of classifying all the oval types.

Among the late potatoes there are two main types—the Rurals and the Green Mountain. The Rurals are distinguished by purple flowers and purple stalks and include Rural New Yorker, Carman No. 3 and Sir Walter Raleigh. The Green Mountain type is distinguished by white flowers and green stalks, and includes the Green Mountain, the McKinley and Carman No. 1. A third group, known as the Burbank, has for its representatives the Burbank and Russet or Netted Gem. The Russet or Netted Gem is recommended for special localities.

Among the early potatoes, classified according to the color of the tuber, are the Early Ohio, Triumph and Cobbler.

This scheme, in the preparation of which the improvement association's sub-committee co-operated with the Potato Growers' association, has met with high praise and it is believed when the plan for standardizing has been fully developed, Minnesota's standards and classes will rank as the equals of those of other prominent potato-growing states.

Minnesota is making rapid strides as a potato state and this movement to organize the industry for uniformity and high quality of product will do much to advance the business and give Minnesota potato growers higher prices for their output.
